WORK BEGINS ON NEW FAIRBROOK PARK THIS WEEK

Plans Prepared and Suggestions Made as to How to Beautify Place

First steps have been taken to make Fairbrook Springs into a city beauty spot. At a meeting of the special council committee Tuesday afternoon with the special committee from the Rotary club, the grounds were visited and a plan for the improvement that had been prepared by Henry Wells, who has charge of the landscaping of the grounds for the Wayne County Training school, was carefully gone over.

Mr. Wells has worked out in detail a most attractive plan whereby the work can be carried forward, a step at a time, each year a bit being added to make the place more beautiful.

The plan presented by him to the city without cost provides for the grading of the terraces around the springs in a gentle slope down to a gravel walk which will run near the concrete wall that surrounds the place.

Along the fence that protects the spring overflow will be planted roses and clematis. Iris will be added to the ground within the wall. Shrubs will be placed in such a way that in a year or so the pump house will be practically hidden from view.

Trees and other plants are to be set out in various places and the part that is not covered with flowers and shrubs will be made into an attractive lawn. On the north end there is some sodding to be done.

The city started to do some work on the pond last year, and that is to be completed in the next two or three days under the direction of Howard Cole.

Ray VanValkenburgh, chairman of the commission committee, and Mr Cole have gone over the plans carefully and Mr. Cole will have the greater part of the work that was not finished last year completed before the end of another week.

There is some tiling to be done. A low spot in the north end is to be drained so that the water will not run into the spring, but will flow through a tile on the west side to the outlet on the south end of the pond.

It is probable that a "bee" will be requested within the next few days, and members of the Rotary club and others interested in seeing that this improvement is completed with very little cost to the taxpayers will be asked to bring their shovels and rakes down to the spring and work for a part of a day. The date for this will be announced shortly.

From present indications, excepting the work that the city did not finish last year, the entire cost of the improvement will be under $100, providing there is a good turn out at the time fixed for the community "bee."

It is known that there are a lot of men around town in great need of exercise, and they are going to be given an excellent chance, says the committee members, to reduce several pounds in one afternoon. They are not only going to help the town, but they are going to help themselves.

BACK FROM TRIP OVER EGYPT AND THE HOLY LANDS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foreman Spent Winter Touring in Old World

Mud in Jericho
Snow in Jerusalem
Ice in Constantinople
Rain in Palestine
Sunshine in Cairo.

That was the weather encountered by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foreman, well known residents of this section, who have just returned from what Mr. Foreman declares one of the most delightful trips a person could ever experience.

They reached home last Friday evening after spending the winter touring countries lying around the Mediterranean sea, as well as a trip to the Holy Land.

"But we didn't go to see what kind of weather they had on the other side. We went to see the amazingly interesting country—and it was well worth the time and expense. I have spent much time in reading about the history and the people of the places we visited and for that reason it was more than of ordinary interest," said Mr. Foreman.

They first visited Spain, then over to Egypt, on to Constantinople, then to the Holy Lands. Mr. Foreman has for years been a great Bible student and the visit to the Holy Land was therefore of intense interest to him.

It is his purpose to give a talk in the near future out at the Salem Federated church. He is going to devote most of the time alloted to him to a discussion of what he saw in the Holy Lands.

Miss Rhea Wasson and Noble Leonard were married Saturday by the Rev. Frank Knowles at the Presbyterian parsonage. Both of the young people are students at the University of Michigan. The parents were present at the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Wasson, old friends of Rev. and Mrs. Knowles spent Easter at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs E. L. Larned and Miss Virginia Dunn of Plymouth, and Miss Beth Northrop of Plymouth, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs Larned, drove to Elkhart and spent Easter Sunday at the home of Mrs Larned's brother, Mr and Mrs Charles Dunn of that place.

Charles Shipley has moved from Salem to Waterford.

DUKE ROBERTS NO LONGER SMOKING, NOT EVEN GIFTS

City Engineer Says He Has Had "Smokes" Knocked Out of Him

Wellington Roberts is no longer smoking. He is all through. He didn't quit because he had will power sufficient to do so, and he hasn't been forced to comply with any request of a doctor.

You have heard of folks having their senses knocked out?

Well this didn't happen to Wellington—but he did have the smokes knocked out of him.

The village civil engineer was in a bus wreck on the Seven Mile road a month or so ago.

The other day down at a Rotary club meeting Floyd Shafer was passing the cigars around. No—it was just his birthday.

Duke refused to take a smoke. Those sitting around him looked on in amazement, because such a thing had never happened before.

"Since I got hurt it makes me sick to smoke—so I can't smoke any more. In fact the smokes have been knocked right out of me," said Mr. Roberts.

BOYS, HERE IS A CHANCE TO WIN A FEW REAL DOLLARS

American Legion to Sponsor a Bird House Contest in Northville

Boys of Northville

Here's a chance for you

The American Legion has announced that it will offer cash prizes for a bird house contest

Contestants will be classed by ages so the lad of six or seven years has just as good an opportunity to win as the boy of 12 or 15 years

Begin right now, boys, to make the bird houses Soon the details will be announced by the officials of the American Legion

At the meeting Tuesday Eight Legion members discussed the matter thoroughly, and they may even offer as first prize as much as $25, although this has not yet been definitely decided upon Anyway the prizes will be worth working for

If you know any member of the Legion ask them about it If they should not happen to know about it, watch the announcement that will be made shortly in the Northville Record

All details will be given out but it is not necessary for you to wait as you can begin right now building bird houses

Build all kinds, build them for wrens, swallows, in fact for every kind of bird

The Legion wants to make the whole Northville district a bird sanctuary, and they have started out in the right way

You will not only be building homes for birds, boys, but you will be putting yourself in a position where you may possibly win a dandy prize

The Plymouth Ladies' Aid will present a musical comedy at the Plymouth high school auditorium, April 19th and 20th, called "All Aboard." Harold Hubert, Elmore Carney, Virginia Giles, Ruth Forsyth, Forest Hubert, Mrs Ada Murray, Lyle Alexander, Jack Taylor, Olivia Williams and Mena Bolton are among those who take part in the event. Mrs Esther Hillman is in charge of the committee.

The Michigan State Dental society will hold its regular state meeting next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, in Detroit at the Statler Hotel. All of the local dentists will attend, and appointments with them for local people will probably be scarce.

GEORGE BAKER IS DEAD FOLLOWING ILLNESS OF YEAR

Was Active Citizen of Town for Nearly Quarter of Century

Following an illness of over a year's duration, George H Baker, aged 69 years, who for the past eight years had served as a justice of the peace, died at his home in this place, Monday evening shortly after 8:00 o'clock.

Mr. Baker was taken ill late in the winter of 1927, and in the hopes of recovering his health he went to the University hospital at Ann Arbor, but physicians there were unable to do anything for him. He returned to his home in Northville and for a time was about the streets, but his condition gradually became worse, and for many months previous to his death was confined to his bed.

He was conscious a part of the time during the past few days, and recognized and spoke to members of the family the day before he died.

Mr. Baker during the 25 years he had resided in Northville took an active part in community affairs, always working for what he believed to be the good of the community He had a wide circle of friends who mourn his passing with his family

He was born in Morenci, Michigan, where his parents were among the pioneer settlers of that section. He spent the early part of his life there It was 49 years ago when he married Miss Alice Neal, of the same place. Soon after their marriage they moved to Elsie in Clinton county, where he went into the meat market business and for a number of years conducted a very successful mercantile place

In 1903 he sold his market and moved to Northville During the early part of his residence here he spent considerable time traveling for the National Fireproofing company It was nine or ten years ago when he gave up active work and was elected justice of the peace, an office he filled with credit to himself and the community

He was a member of the Presbyterian church Mrs Baker, two children, Mrs Lena Daggett and Don Baker, a son of Detroit, survive. Mrs Daggett has remained constantly at the bedside of her father during his entire illness

Milford Baker, a brother, resides in Northville. Mrs. Addie Neal and Mrs. Charity Truesdale, sisters, both reside in Orion, and another brother, Eugene Baker, lives in Huntington, Indiana There are also three grandchildren who survive Postmaster F. S Noal is Mrs Baker's brother

The funeral was held from the home Thursday afternoon at 2 30 o'clock, Rev Frank P. Knowles and Rev Wm Richards officiating Burial was in Rural Hill cemetery

AIR MAIL MARKS

To facilitate the identification of mailmatter intended for air mail, approval has been given by the Postoffice Department to the use of envelopes of a new and distinctive design. The outstanding feature of the new design consists of a border containing alternating blue and red oblique parallelograms with intervening spaces between the two, the color of the envelope being white, producing a distinguishing blue, white and red border not exceeding 5-32 of an inch in width extending around the edges of both the front and back of the envelope The words, "Via Air Mail" will appear on the upper right, immediately below the space for the postage stamps These envelopes will not be provided by the postoffice, but concerns may print these envelopes for their own use or for sale

The Flower Acres Nursery has sold to the House of the Good Shepherd, over 8,000 strawberry plants and 1,500 rhubarb roots, besides many other goods from the new nursery place on Beck road.

FOR CHARITY

Here is a way you can do something for charity and eat as well. The King's Daughters are giving their Annual dinner, Tuesday evening, April 17th, at the Presbyterian church in order to raise funds Plates are only 60 cents for this remarkably good menu. Creamed chicken on hot biscuits, mashed potatoes, brown and white bread and butter, cabbage salad, jelly, olives, radishes, pumpkin pie with cheese and coffee

Let's try and make this the most profitable dinner ever served by the organization.

EXCHANGE CLUB TO PUT UP TENNIS COURT FOR KIDS

Club Decides to Provide Worthwhile Place for Tots to Play

Members of the local Exchange club laid plans at Wednesday's meeting for the construction of a tennis court for the children of Northville to use during the summer months. A committee composed of Rev. Frank Knowles, who sponsored the idea, and Scott Lovewell, donator of the court, were appointed by President M. J Murphy to make plans to put the court in shape for immediate use.

The court is the one that is now lying dormant on the Lovewell property, and the owner says that with a little effort by tennis enthusiasts they will be able to have one of the finest courts that could be built. Plans are to turn the grounds over to the children and let them keep it in shape. The club will furnish the net, and the condition of the court will depend entirely on those who play on it.

A committee was also appointed by the president composed of Lucius Blake and Charles Dolph, to select a loving cup for the club to donate to the fair association for that organization to present with the other cups that are given out each year as premiums

GIBRALTAR

(By Fred Foreman)

Feb 9th we have had a very pleasant day, the sun shone brightly and the waters of the Gibraltar bay were smooth and clear. Gibraltar is a great mass of solid rock, 2½ miles wide towering into the heavens It will impress you with a feeling of strength, providenced and unique in its location, and purpose, at the base of the mountain along the waters edge nestling peacefully among the trees and livemost vegetation and flowers A clean and well built city of 24,000, population consisting of Jews, Moors, Arabs, Italians, and British. But governed and policed by British. No Spaniards live there but many work there during the day but must return to Spain by 8 o'clock every night under penalty of arrest No strangers are allowed there without permission There is only one long street called Main st, or Waterport. One need only to cross the neutral boundry line into Spain some three miles and visit the city of Linea of 30,000 population, and pass through some of the filthy streets which have no sight of modern sanitation, and if you visit their schools, you will likely find all the boys and teachers smoking cigarets, and very few show much interest in education and after visiting that city and then returning to Gibraltar you will be impressed with the much higher ideals and standards of living of the British and English speaking people. The streets of Gibraltar are clean with an average of 20 ft wide and the first city we have visited where we did not have to use the sign language or an interpretion in fact we appreciated being among people who understand our language

Our guide took us through the Alameda or public gardens, situated some little distance up the mountainside. It commands a fine view of the straits and a view of the coast of Africa, and one is surprised at the great variety of trees, shrubs and flowers. The stone pine, cypress, eucalytus cedar, pepper, dragon, olive trees; bouganvullea, geranium, pansies, calla lilies narcissus, iris.

The air is clear, clean, fresh and invigorating, and a very even climate. People seem very healthy

One of the very old historic buildings is the old Moorish castle many centuries old, which is now used as a ballroom

The Fortress of Gibraltar was owned by Phoenicians, Romans, Moors and Spaniards In 1704 Sir George Rooke captured Gibraltar from Spain During the four years seige late by Spain to recapture it, Gibraltar was attacked on the north, and a reward was offered to anyone who could devise some means of fighting back at the Spaniards from the north Tunnels were in 1779 blasted out of solid rock and openings were made from which they could pour deadly fire from the most modern cannons upon the enemy No visitors are allowed any higher than the tunnels But the view from the top is said to be the grandest in the world, overlooking two continents and embracing two seas dotted with vessels from every nation in the world. From the lookout on the top you get a clear view of the straits.

All ships entering the Mediterranean must signal what she is and where she is going and if there is any doubt about her a small war ship is sent out to make sure.

The distance across the strait is nine or ten miles, but don't look half that distance, and as at the end of a sightseeing and shopping, we bid good by to old Gibraltar, we feel thankful that we have had the rare privilege of viewing this wonderful place, much spoken of in history.

LOCAL SUPERVISOR GOES ON IMPORTANT BOARD COMMITTEE

Willard Ely is Made Member of Ways and Means Committee

Willard Ely, newly elected supervisor of Northville township, has been appointed a member of the important ways and means committee of the board of supervisors at the first session of the board since the recent spring election

Mr. Ely found many of his old friends still serving on the board It was a number of years ago when he was a member, and he was surprised that some of his old associates on the board were still retaining their places

He plans to begin taking the assessment of the township immediately. Duties of a supervisor in Wayne county are numerous, and during the next few weeks practically all of his time will be taken up with township matters

ALBERT STANLEY DIES FOLLOWING AN OPERATION

Former Well Known Local Business Man Buried in Royal Oak

Friends of Albert Stanley, former owner of Horton's drug store, will be grieved to learn of his death, Saturday, at Pontiac. Mr Stanley left Northville ten years ago, when he sold his drug store to Ralph Horton, but from that time on he was a regular caller here among his large group of friends

His death came as a surprise, as doctors who were attending him in the Pontiac hospital thought that his condition after a serious operation was improving steadily

He died Saturday noon while confined in the hospital following a relapse he had suffered after an operation that had been performed about seven weeks ago

Mr Stanley was employed in the First National Bank of Royal Oak, and lived in Rochester. Born in England, he died at the age of 46 years Mrs Stanley and a mulutude of friends survive him Funeral services were held in Royal Oak, with the Presbyterian minister officiating Many from Northville attended

BEAT UP LAD, GET FINES FOR THEIR BRUTAL ASSAULT

Two Detroiters Arrested for an Attack on Tom Woodbury, Jr.

Tom Woodbury, son of Mr and Mrs Tom Woodbury, works part time at a gas station down on Plymouth avenue

A few nights ago he had closed the station for the day and was just leaving for home

An automobile drove up. Two big fellows jumped out and demanded that he re-open the station

The lad fearful of the intent of the visitors, refused to do so.

He started to walk on towards home. One of the fellows hit him on the side of the head. Then the other one placed a few blows in his face. They hopped into their machine and drove away. The boy secured their license number, and following an investigation by Chief William Safford, their names were found to be Thomas Rowe and Lester Trevithick of Detroit.

Judge Perrin fined them $10 each and costs, following a plea of guilty in his court to charges of assault and battery.

WEST POINT PARK BASEBALL SEASON WILL OPEN SUNDAY

Earl Wolfe Has Been Made Manager and Russell Catherman Captain

West Point Park's baseball season opens Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, according to announcement just made by Earl Wolfe, manager of the West Point Park team. At a meeting just held of the baseball players of that community Mr Wolfe was elected manager and Russell Catherman was made field captain.

Sunday's game will be played with the Dacor Indians, said to be one of the speediest independent teams in the state. The game will be played at West Point Park, the field being near the intersection of Seven Mile and Farmington roads.

The West Pointers have been going through some hard practice during the present week and by the time Sunday arrives it is expected that they will be in fairly good shape. The team has joined the County League and will take part in the series of contests that will be played during the summer.

The sweet pea trench can be prepared as soon as the ground is open.

SOFT DRINKS ARE NOW MADE AT THE SILVER SPRINGS

One of the Finest Bottling Plants in Country Placed in Operation

Workmen have just completed the construction of a big addition providing over 8,000 square feet of floor space and the installation of considerably over $15,000 worth of modern machinery at the plant of the Silver Springs Water Company, providing the company with one of the finest bottling plants in the country.

Sometime ago work was started on the plant, the company have decided to move its soft drink establishment from Detroit to Northville so as to have the bottling works for the soft drinks in manufacturers right at the source of the purest water supply in the state

Not only is the company producing the purest soft drinks manufactured, but it has also increased the bottling capacity for the water supply.

For years the Silver Springs Water company has provided many Detroit homes and establishments with the pure, clear water from the springs located just to the east of Northville.

Mr H J. Johnson, manager of the plant and one of the best known soft drink makers in the state stated yesterday that the company was now prepared to handle 1500 cases of pure water each day as well as produce 1000 cases of bottled soft drinks

Mr. Johnson will be permanently located at the plant and he expects to move to Northville sometime during the summer He is an expert in his line of business and a trip through the big plant that is now in operation shows that he is determined to conduct the cleanest bottling place in the country

Everything about the plant is as clean as clean can be The syrup that is used in the making of the soft drinks is run through two big filters and before it enters into the mixture it is absolutely pure It is the same with everything about the plant The purest of cane sugar is purchased, and all bottle washing is done in boiling hot water.

A new boiler room, the boiler being run by an oil heater in order to provide the cleanliness that the company insists on maintaining, has been constructed and all the water is run through brass pipes in order to do away with any metallic contamination

Not only is the entire new structure a model of cleanliness but workmen will soon begin making the grounds surrounding the springs into one of the most attractive spots about here The vacant lot to the east of the plant will be made into a big lawn, and the grounds surrounding the buildings will be landscaped and made most attractive

W D Stark, who has been with the company for many years will be retained in his present capacity His many friends about town will be pleased to know of this fact In addition to the new manager, there have been added four other employes, and if the company's business grows as rapidly as present conditions indicate it will be necessary to add more help

WATER FROM THE FOUNT OF YOUTH USED IN SERVICE

Rev. Richards Brings Baptismal Water from Florida for Easter

Water from the Fountain of Youth—that magic spring discovered in Florida by Ponce de Leon, when he explored the new world in the search of eternal youth—was used Sunday in the baptismal services at the Methodist church by Rev. William Richards.

Rev. Richards during his recent trip to Florida visited many of the historic places of that state Among them was the spring that has lived through history because of the fact that the noted Spanish explored thought it was a spring that would give those who drank it, ever lasting youth.

Northville churches were packed Sunday morning for the Easter services. In spite of the raging windstorm nearly everyone in town went to church—and each one of the pastors conducted most impressive services

LAKE CAPTAIN WHO FOUGHT STORM IS WELL KNOWN HERE

Waves Sweep 23 Automobiles Off Deck into Lake Michigan

News dispatches Tuesday told of the battle of big Lake Michigan steamers in the gale that lashed that lake Monday night, and of the loss from the steamer Sultana of 23 automobiles that were washed overboard.

The captain of that ship, William MacDougall is a brother-in-law of Dr Kestell of this place Dr Kestell declares that Capt MacDougall is one of the best seamen on the lakes and this is indicated through the fact that he brought his ship safely to port thru one of the worst storms of the season. The trip of the boat marked the opening of navigation on the lakes.

The boat docked at Milwaukee and was not damaged although waves washed 23 of its cargo of 300 automobiles into the lake Capt. MacDougall has many acquaintances in Northville.

Mr and Mrs Art Nichols of Detroit, visited Northville friends one day last week. Mrs. Nichols will be remembered as the former Mrs. Emma Burtows.

Burning Up Italy's Paper Money

This photograph shows 300,000,000 lire in paper being tossed into the furnace of one of the Italian government buildings at the port of San Paolo. This was done by the order of Mussolini in his effort to put the lira on a gold basis. The lira is now worth 5.28 cents.

CARRIER SERVICE IS SATISFACTORY TO THE COMMUNITY

Everyone Seems to Like Idea of Having Mail Sent to Homes

The City Delivery is going along nicely and local citizens as well as the business men are more than pleased. The carriers are not yet able to make two deliveries to all the residential parts of the town, but a double delivery is made in most cases to make up for that. A part time parcel post Carrier is now employed in the person of Fred Wendt and that is proving a great convenience.

The city carriers Harold Sonnenberg and Harry German, Jr., blossomed out this week in spang new uniforms, and they look very spiffy.

Insured parcel post, and registered mail will not be delivered by City Carriers for the present, but notices will be left with the addresses of the arrival of the same and for them to call at the Postoffice.

Patrons of the postoffice should bear in mind that the success and the promptness of the City Delivery service will in no small measure depend upon mail being directed to a street and number. Where no number is indicated on letters or other mail the Carriers must of necessity, unless they known the street and number, leave the mail in the postoffice until the directory clerk can have time to look up the location of the residence of the addressee. It is just as important to have the street and number on mail received at Northville as it is that received in the city of Detroit or Chicago.

The Postmaster calls the attention of public to the fact that there is no longer such a thing as drop letters at the Northville postoffice. Therefor there are no longer use for one cent stamps. It now costs just as much to mail a letter here for a person living in the village or within 50 feet of the postoffice as it does to send one to London, England. It is 2 cents in either case.

A new Parcel Post window has been added to the other conveniences at the Northville postoffice.

The tragedy of Easter is that we make it the end when it should be the beginning. How often we slump in our church attendance. It is one of the saddest features of Christian observance today.

Somehow many churches feel that with the celebration of the Resurrection over, all is done. Yet the Resurrection was only the starting point of the greatest period in the life of the church, culminating in Pentecost. Seven weeks from now is Pentecost Sunday, May 27th.

Let us work and look forward to this and make it the finest season of the year of re-consecration on the part of all our people in the upbuilding of the spiritual life. Is it not true that the church everywhere suffers from lack of spiritual power. More than fine buildings and programs is the dire need for the baptism of the Holy Spirit in a Pentecost today.

Is it not possible to lessen our social affairs and social activities, laying aside some things and concentrate on the spiritual upbuilding of ourselves and the consecration of all that we have and are to God.

Let us make things count for Christ and His church. At 10:30 at our morning service, and 7:30 our evening service. The pastor will preach at both services. The church school will meet at 12:00 noon. The Young People at 6:30.

Every Wednesday our people are welcome at the mid-week service at 7:30.

COMING ATTRACTIONS at the PENNIMAN ALLEN

"THE PATENT LEATHER KID" HERE FOR TWO EVENINGS

One of the sweetest love stories ever told, with the World War as a background and with dramatic interest, suspense, tragedy, and flashes of clever comedy. This, in a nutshell, describes the great epic of the tank corp, "The Patent Leather Kid," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday and Monday evenings, April 15 and 16, following its sensational Broadway hit.

"The Patent Leather Kid" is the first big super-production that First National has sponsored in several years. It was chosen because of the dramatic value of Rupert Hughes' great story, and was carefully cast, with Richard Barthelmess starring and Molly O'Day, a real screen find, playing opposite him.

"The Patent Leather Kid" is an Alfred Santell production and the greatest this successful director has ever produced. It was made under the production management of Al Rockett, who, with his brother, Ray, produced "Abraham Lincoln," and who has a number of First National winners to his credit.

"The Patent Leather Kid" is the story of an East Side boxer, who fell in love with a cabaret dancer, who was forced into the war against his wishes, but who emerged a hero. At The Kid Barthelmess does the finest work of his career, and the role again stamps him as one of the finest actors on the screen.

Molly O'Day, a petite and charming Irish lassie, played her first dramatic role in "The Patent Leather Kid," and as the result of her characterization of "The Golden Dancer," is now hailed as a screen sensation.

The war scenes in the picture are sensational. It is the first big picture that deals with the tank corps of the American army. Many tanks and thousands of troops were used in these sequences.

"The Patent Leather Kid" has all the elements necessary for a great screen story, and is one of the truly big pictures of the decade. To miss it is to miss the season' greatest pictures.

"FEEL MY PULSE" WITH BEBE DANIELS, A HIT

When it comes to providing excellent motion picture entertainment and a steady series of laughs, Bebe Daniels, Paramount star, has no equal among comediennes.

The dark eyed star of the screen has again proved this in her latest farce, "Feel My Pulse," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, April 18th.

Funny situations, fast action and many thrills go together with Miss Daniels, and this production is no exception. It is a combination of "Senorita," "Swim, Girl, Swim" and "She's a Sheik," her recent successes, all rolled into one, and although the story is different, it is refreshingly so and is real entertainment from the start right through to the finish.

In the opening reels one is led to believe that the Paramount star will be given little chance to show her athletic prowess, for she is shown as a young American girl who is interested in nothing else but her health. One tiny germ disrupts her day. She goes to a sanatorium of which she is the owner, on a desolate island and there finds it in possession of a gang of bootleggers, who are using it as a base of operations for their work.

At first, Miss Daniels is led to believe that the patients are legitimate, but it soon developes that she has landed in the midst of a tiny war between the bootleggers and the hijackers. Here it is that the star is given ample opportunity to demonstrate just how healthy she really is. The finish is fast, furious and highly amusing.

TOM KENNEDY PROVES A PRIZE MOVIE ACTOR

It's an easy matter for a famous champion heavyweight to break into motion pictures. Fans are anxious to see him.

But what of the championship contenders who almost get on the top only to fall back into oblivion, forgotten by the public?

Which is another way of calling attention to the fact that Tom Kennedy, once a rival for championship honors, succeeded as a motion picture actor purely on his merits. Not as a prize fighter, but as an actor.

His fistic fame long since gone, Tom played the part of the hard-boiled sergeant in "Behind the Front," with Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton. He was so good that his services were retained for "We're in the Navy Now." Then Paramount signed him to a contract, and his menacing comedy is again to be seen in "Wife Savers," the latest Beery starring production, arriving at the Penniman Allen theatre, Thursday, April 19th.

Ralph Cedar, director of the picture, dubs Kennedy screen's finest comedy heavy. He shows his talent in conjunction with such personalities as ZaSu Pitts and Ford Sterling.

GLYN STORY SITUATIONS EFFECTIVE FOR MISS BOW

Clara Bow, the "It" girl in "Red Hair," will be the entertainment given patrons of the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, April 21st, when the Paramount's star's latest comedy comes to Northville.

The flaming haired flapper of the screen is shown as a beautiful manicurist who causes complications, when she carries on three flirtations simultaneously. Clever situations are presented by Elinor Glyn in her story, and those situations were just what Miss Bow were waiting for.

The production of "Red Hair" was made by virtually the same Paramount unit that turned out "It." The story is by Elinor Glyn, Clara Bow is the star, and the direction was by Clarence Badger, who directed "It."

In the supporting cast are William Austin and Jacqueline Gadson, both of whom are remembered for their performance in the first production. In addition, Lane Chandler, leading man, Lawrence Grant and Claude King support the star.

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, APRIL 13, 1928.

VERY GRACIOUS

It was kind indeed of the Detroit News to justly admit the correctness of Northville's claim to Eddie Stinson and the plant of the Stinson Aircraft corporation. We stated last week that the News was a great newspaper It is not only great in size, but in policy as well. The News says pertaining to Detroit's efforts to confiscate something that belonged to Northville:

"Anyhow, Hurrah for Eddie."

"The Northville Record takes us to task. It accuses us of grand larceny for saying that Eddie Stinson has brought the world's endurance flight record to Detroit, because Mr. Stinson lives in Northville and the factory which made his plane is in Northville

"These things are true Nevertheless, Detroit can still claim Eddie Stinson. He acknowledges Detroit's hold on him in a certain broad sense, when he calls his plane the Stinson-Detroiter For in that sense Detroit does not stop at River Rouge, or at the Eight Mile road, It is not pounded by the activities of its Council and Police Department That Detroit is not a circumscribed area, it is an idea, a concept an inspiration

Still, in the concrete sense Northville is right, and it should treat Eddie kindly turn out the band and parade when he does something big, help him all it can, and claim his record for its busy, pretty delightful self And when Northville citizens travel to New York to Miami, to San Francisco And hear talk of Eddie Stinson of Detroit, or read in the papers about Eddie Stinson of Detroit we are sure they will appreciate that it is the figurative Detroit that is meant and not that literal Detroit which is not a part of Northville

Anyhow, Hurrah for Eddie Stinson!"

WHITE GRAND RIVER BENT

Under that heading Editor Babcock of the Redford Record has quite a lot to say about the obnoxious situation existing at Five Points Northville folks are just as much interested in Five Points as Redford because it will not be long now before it will be our direct connection, we hope, with Detroit city traffic lines

He says:

"Out Grand River avenue at Five Points there is a cute little detour, that, it seems, almost everyone connected with road building hereabouts has forgotten exists. On the trip out the avenue the motorist comes unexpectedly to the little detour to Seven Mile road over good pavement, it's true. But why is it necessary for the state highway department to permit such a condition to exist for nearly a year now on one of the state's most important highways? This detour will not detour anyone who wants to find any of the popular blind pigs in the vicinity of Five Points or its fashionable gambling establishment. Those institutions are there and a quagmire would not prevent their patrons from enjoying the "rendezvous" Putting this feature of the case aside, one is then convinced that the state has forgotten about our little jog in the road.

Allen Bros of Highland Park own the property abutting on the avenue around which we detour. New stores are being constructed at Five Points; business frontage is increasing in value as the years go along. This 50 feet owned by the Allens could have been purchased for around $250 per front two years ago; today its value approximates $500. The longer the delay in purchasing or condemning this Allen property, the more the state will pay. Question Why delay and in the interim deprive the motoring public of a through right-of-way?

Now, if we who live out Grand River avenue are content with the situation as it exists at Five Points, the state highway department will undoubtedly permit us to always detour in our somnambulance The department will turn its attention to highways in other parts of the state where residents are appealing for improvements. If we don't arouse ourselves into action, someone else will do the arousing while we sleep peacefully on and they will reap the benefit.

While we are considering the subject of Grand River avenue paving, how would you like to learn about the progress being made for the development of the south side of the avenue from Berg road to Five Points? Well, so would I The right-of-way for the new and wider pavement through Grand Lawn cemetery has been procured, but so far as can be learned none of the other land necessary for this improvement has been purchased Because of the necessary "fill" being still empty at the River Rouge it looks as though another year would roll by before anyone will ride ting, aling, aling over the new pavement.

It is to be presumed the state highway department knows what it's all about, but it is evident that a very necessary and vital roadway is being neglected and left in the ice box until called for.

FOREST WEEK

Once in a while there is something quite worth the space that comes along with the batch of propaganda that is sent out weekly by the state conservation department. Probably the best "piece for the papers" that the director has issued in his appeal pertaining to Forest Week It is so good that the Northville Record is glad give it the space requested:

The emphasis that the Michigan American Forest Week committee is placing upon Michigan's own special forest situation, forest needs and forest opportunities in mapping out plans for the state's observance of Forest Week April 22 to 29, meets with the hearty approval of Acting Director George R. Hogarth of the Department of Conservation.

The matter of the utilization of our abandoned lands is of the highest importance to the people of Michigan declares Mr. Hogarth These lands which are coming into the hands of the state at the rate of hundreds of thousands a year through the operation of the tax delinquency law have in the past been looked upon as public liabilities They have not, in their present condition, borne their share of the state's taxes, nor are they contributing to the economical development and well-being of the commonwealth.

But in the light of recent research and in view of changes that have come to the state, we may look upon these lands as potential assets that some day promise to be of great value to the people of Michigan By turning them into forests and games refuges, and, in some cases, into state parks, we can build up and preserve Michigan's wilds as breeding places for wild life, as hunting grounds, as outing places as recreational attractions, as almost immediate supply for certain forest products, and as timber reservoirs for the future.

In the state are estimated to be 12,000,000 acres that seem suitable only for the growing of crops of trees. The sooner we begin growing these trees in organized forests whether in state forests, in the Michigan national forest, or in county forests the sooner Michigan as a whole will begin to reap the rewards That is why American Forest Week is of such direct concern to our state.

"I am particularly in favor of the Michigan committee's suggestion to clubs, school children, and the people at large that they take action for the formation and planting of forests on waste lands in their own neighborhoods—community forests and county forests. There isn't a county of Michigan that hasn't many acres of land now ugly, useless eyesores, that be turned into beauty spots and future forests, game sanctuaries, and outing places it set apart to be planted by the children and their enthusiastic elders. County and local forests will help make the people of Michigan, and particularly the children of Michigan, forest-minded. Seeing trees grow, that one has planted oneself, is a spur to constructive enthusiasm. And we need constructive enthusiasm in solving the problem and realizing the opportunities of our 12,000,000 acres of unorganized, neglected cut-overs."

Don't miss "All Aboard" musical comedy, Plymouth H. S. Auditorium, April 19 and 20.

Experiences That No Words Can Picture

These come to all men who are in any wise sensitive to beauty in life.

There are imprisoned splendors in each life and under right conditions will become ablaze with heavenly glory.

Christ went up to Mt. Herman with three of his quick thinking responsive disciples—Peter, James and John.

That occasion was of supreme worth to these four men. Christ Himself became radiant even to His clothing—the power stored within shown through flesh and covering and there was the visitors from the other world who talked of Christ's coming death.

All men may have heavenly help for homely tasks. Every mountain top experience is followed by valley service.

Which One?

It only takes one sin to keep us out of heaven.

It may be a sin of omission or commission—And how is no way except to follow the rules And where shall we find these rules? Why, in the Book of Books. The life and teachings of Jesus tells all that any man need know who wants to travel the right road and lead the right life If a man try with all his might to live the kind of a life that Jesus portrays in the Sermon on the Mount he won't get far off the right road.

Carl Ely has started up his ice plant for the coming season. The plant will not be put in full production for several weeks, but he states that there is quite a demand at present for ice, so he has found it necessary to start production.

Frank Perrin refuses to wear an overcoat. He returned from Florida about two weeks ago, landing home right in one of the worst blizzards of the late winter. It's time for spring, so why should one wear an overcoat, he contends.

Carl Ely has returned from a hurry-up trip to Florida. He drove down there about two weeks ago to bring his father and mother back north. The trip was made in an exceedingly short time. Roads were good all the way, states Mr Ely.

Carl Hatten of Farmington, well known about Northville, Sunday celebrated his 75th birthday anniversary. Mr. Hatten recently returned from Hot Springs, Arkansas. While there he had his left hand removed, but he is now getting along very nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lorswell, Mr. and Mrs. William Yerkes, Mr. and Mrs Ed. Hinkley and Mr and Mrs Dresbach were in Ypsilanti, Tuesday evening, to play one of a series of bridge tournaments that these local people are conducting with a group from Ypsilanti.

The White store closed its doors this week, after doing business in Northville over a long period of years. Mr. and Mrs. Harold White expect to continue to reside in Northville. The store had existed continuously for over half a century, although under different ownerships.

The following ladies of the Presbyterian church of Northville were delegates to the meeting of the Presbyterial of the Detroit Presbytery at Monroe, Monday and Tuesday. They are, Mrs. F. P. Knowles, Mrs. M. Sloan, Miss Flo Millard, Mrs. Ray Baker, Mrs. Harold Bloom, Mrs W. H. Yerkes, Mrs. Dr. Johnston and Mrs. Kuhlman.

Local Lodge, No. 27, of the Switchman's Union of North America, consisting of the employes of the Pere Marquette yards at Plymouth, who live in Northville and Plymouth, will give their first annual ball in the I. O. O. F. Temple at Plymouth, Friday evening, April 20th. Schaffer's orchestra will provide the music. Dancing will start at 8:30 o'clock.

A letter from Mrs F. H. Tousey of 275 Huntington Drive, Pasadena, California, states that she met 24 former Northville residents on April 4th. She adds that all of the many former local residents are well and happy in their new homes. "The Record keeps us well posted on the wonderful improvements that are being made there. We are glad the town is growing, and we wish it great success," she adds.

Mr. and Mrs. William McIntosh, one of the pioneer settlers of West Point Park, has just moved back to that fast growing locality, after spending three years in New York city. During his absence, he has constructed two big subways, one under Columbus Circle and the other at 42nd street. It was Mr McIntosh who constructed the big ship canal through the Detroit river. He declares that western Wayne county is the fastest growing section of the country, and that he is glad to be back here among his old friends and associates.

Mrs. Ida Hendryx is visiting relatives in Detroit for a week or so

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Whipple of Northville, spent Easter Sunday with Mrs. Bella Mosier on Northlawn avenue in Detroit.

The district spelling contest will be held in Northville on April 20th, according to an announcement just made by Superintendent Gordon

The Royal Neighbors of America initiated five new members into the mystery of the order, Monday evening, April 9th. A pot-luck supper was held.

A typographical error last week placed the total vote received by Willard Ely at 435. It should have been 495. Mr. Ely, the candidate for supervisor, had the highest number of votes of anyone on the ticket.

The Northville Woman's club will hold their annual meeting, Friday, April 13th. There will be a basket luncheon at 1:00 p. m. Each member will bring her own sandwiches and one other dish. Do not forget your silver.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kalbfleisch have returned from Florida, where they spent a very pleasant winter. The trip was made there and back by automobile, and without the slightest machine or tire trouble. They drove down the west coast of Florida and returned on the east coast.

Friday evening, April 20th, at the high schol auditorium, beginning at 7:45, there will be presented a play, "An Old-Fashioned Mother," directed by A. D Mosher. The play is being given for the benefit of the Northville Hi-Y boys. Louis Tiffin is president of the newly organized group, and Rev. Richards is giving much of his time to get the work well started in Northville. A good attendance at the show will be a benefit to the boys.

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Maxwell of Carleton, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary, Tuesday, April 10th, at the home of Mr and Mrs. Harry German, Mrs. German being their daughter. It was also the wedding anniversary of the Germans. Besides the above the figure ten enters into the career of Harry a number of times. He started banking at Northville on September 10th, opened the South Lyon bank on March 10th, was married on April 10th, started housekeeping on February 10th, his granddaughter arrived January 10th and now he says he wants to pitch still ten more years and he will be satisfied.

Fred Harmon has returned from Greenville where he had been spending a few days with his brother, who has been seriously ill. While in Greenville Mr Harmon saw a piece of furniture that had been purchased for a small price by one of the dealers in the town from a farmer. The furniture was stored away in an old barn. She had it cleaned up and after it had been made presentable, furniture experts from Grand Rapids were called in to view it. They stated that it was worth nothing less than $50,000, and that it represented inlaid work that has become a lost art. They estimated that it was something like 200 years old.

Federated Church

Services Sunday, April 15th—Morning worship at 10:30 Music by the choir. Sunday school will meet at 11:45. Motion and still picture service Sunday evening at 7:30 Collection.

Public preaching service in the church, Wednesday at 7:30

Young people present musical play at South Lyon Methodist church on Friday, April 20th.

The church will heartily welcome you in the services on Sunday, both morning and evening.

Special services were held throughout Easter at Salem Federated church. The program commenced on Good Friday evening with an illustrated service of song, which was effectively rendered by the choir, the connective readings being given by Mrs. John Melow. The services were continued on Sunday morning when the major part of the proceedings were contributed by the scholars of the Sunday school, who delighted the audience with songs, recitations and dialogues. The platform was prettily decorated with flowers, plants and ferns, which had been specially loaned for the occasion. Thirty candidates who had applied for definite church membership were publicly received and recognized in the service on Easter morning. Sunday evening brought a splendid congregation to see and hear the still and motion picture program, which dealt with the subject of the resurrection, scenes of foreign travel, and modern industry. The choir rendered Easter music throughout the day, and the pastor took charge of all the services. The Easter activities of the Federated church included the Easter bazaar, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, which was held on Saturday, April 7th, and a goodly number gathered for dinner served in the church basement at noon.

Salem and Worden
Congregational Churches
Rev Lucia M. Stroh, Minister

Two beautiful and glorious services marked the observance of Easter in the church of Salem. The junior and adult choir contributed beautiful selections of music, so well rendered. Five new members were received into fellowship of the church and two were baptized. Holy communion was administered. The pastor spoke on "The Wonders of Easter in the Seven Gardens of the Bible." In the evening the Sunday school scholars did admirably well in songs and recitations, Rev Cora Pennell gave a beautiful Easter thought in story form. Both choirs sang, and the pastor read and spoke on the Easter lesson. Approximately $35 00 was raised for missions. The church was a beautiful sight to behold, with banks and banks of flowers, ferns and other decorations, all carried out in lavender and yellow. People gathered from South Lyon, Northville, Ann Arbor, Livonia, Plymouth and surrounding country.

The Good Friday service will long be remembered. Rev. Parker attended with his congregation and assisted in the service. Rev. C. M. Pennell gave a very touching message on "The Seven Words of the Cross by our Saviour." Three schools and their teachers all marched in by groups, and the Salem Union school sang the beautiful hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." Mesdames Spears and Stroh sang, by request, two duets, "Bearing His Cross" and "Ivory Palaces." The entire church was filled, and all felt the sacredness and blessed brooding of God's presence.

Wednesday of last week the Worden Ladies' Aid gave a maple syrup social.

Thursday the Salem Ladies' Auxiliary society met at the home of Mrs Nellie Corwin.

This Friday evening rehearsal for the junior choir will be held in the church.

Next Sunday services as usual—Salem, 10:00 a. m. Sunday school, 10:30 a. m. Worden services, 11:30 a. m. Evening services in Salem 7:30 o'clock. C. E leader, Emil Springer.

The Ladies' Aid of Worden will meet next Wednesday, April 18th, at the home of Mrs William Naylor of South Lyon, for dinner at noon. Meeting in the afternoon. All are cordially invited.

The pastor and congregation wish to send greetings and loving sympathy to the many who are ill at this time and to those with sorrowing hearts, assuring them of our prayers that Almighty God will keep, comfort and sustain them. Motto of the church. "Somewhere, sometimes, some way, each day,
I'll turn aside and stop and pray—
That God will make this church the way of righteousness to men."

COLORS IN THE PAN

Your map of the world should include heaven.

The soul is a reality, for it can be bought and sold.

The man who exercises authority usually resists authority.

Let your desert of practical common sense have one oasis of dreams.

In the concoction of a modern novel vice seems more important than virtue.

Truth, passion and power are appealing in fiction, but they make their best appeal in life.

The poor can afford nothing but self-denial. The rich man can afford everything except self-denial.

Popularity is the crown of laurel which the world puts on your head. Christ was crowned with thorns.

There may be such a thing as an exaggerated altruism, but exaggerated egoism is manifest on every corner.

The value of an idea does not depend upon the sincerity of the man who expresses it, but upon its intrinsic truth.

The desire for wealth creates the petty thief and puts him in jail. The same desire creates some big thieves and seats them on thrones of imperial power.

Christ is still performing miracles of grace. He will "raise you from the death of sin unto the life of righteousness" if you will come to Him by repentance and faith.

The books that are immoral are not those that show the world its own shame, for the Bible does that—but those that lead the world to shine by portraying it in loving colors.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Idealism and practicability make a fine team.

Remorse is when conscience insists on having the last word.

Conscientiousness is no trustworthy guarantee of wisdom or intelligence.

If you can conquer the little things you can conquer the big things, for the little things are more powerful than the big things.

I know of no occupation in life more barren of results than the permanent seeking of pleasure. Pleasure is a by-product of life. President Lowell.

It makes a great difference whether we look at duty desiring to see its charms or whether we look at it desiring only to see some way of slipping it.

Oh, there is a thrill in the joy of doing. It is the most magnificent recreation to which a man ever puts his hand or his head or his heart.—T. DeWitt Talmage.

BITS OF WISDOM

Every player in the game of life holds a winning hand at some stage.

Authority can be conferred upon one, but not wisdom. It has to be earned.

A regret for the mistakes of yesterday must not blind us to the tasks of today.

No man can tell what the future may bring forth, and small opportunities are often the beginnings of great enterprises.

Many men seek fortune in order to be independent; they should rather seek character, the only true source of independence.

MORE OR LESS TRUE

Not every painted face is a work of art—not by several million miles.

Even the man with an inferiority complex finds it hard to look up to people who look down on him.

Probably the greatest objection children find to loving their parents too devotedly is that it is apt to cramp their style.

An observing man is one who can tell his wife not only what another woman didn't have on but also what she did.

It's a safe bet that in the homes where they still get homemade bread mother braids her hair at night and they ride in a flivver, if at all.

Maybe there are not as many boys spoiled by indulgent parents as there are by neglectful ones, but they surely are a heap more badly spoiled.

The meanest man is the husband who is too disagreeable to live with and won't earn enough money to make it worth while suing him for alimony.

Knees probably haven't any false pride and they'd doubtless be willing to be kept warm in anything even as hideous as galoshes now used to protect the feet and ankles.

Often when a woman is listening to other women praising her husband her face says, if her lips don't, ignorance is bliss and you are lucky not to be wise.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

AROUND THE CITY

If you would travel the road to glory, keep out of the ruts.

You never can tell. Many a man's trousers bag at the knees who never says his prayers.

A fool and his money are soon parted, but a fool and his folly are more closely wedged.

Some people who extend the glad hand keep the other one doubled up in case of emergency.

If thine enemy smite thee on one cheek does it suggest that one good turn deserves another?

The Bible tells us the earth was created for man, and the average fellow thinks he is the man.

Most of the discord in this vale of tears is coming from the people who are singing their own praise.

Adam may have been more or less gullible, but at any rate he didn't believe in hereditary influences.

Kindness is sometimes wasted. The only way you can make some people listen to reason is with a club.

GATHERED GEMS

Action is eloquence; the eyes of the ignorant are more learned than their ears.—Shakespeare.

Title and ancestry render a good man more illustrious, but an ill one contemptible.—Addison.

Philosophy does not regard pedigree. She did not receive Plato as a noble, but made him so.—Seneca.

An ideal may seem unattainable but when it is distinctly acknowledged as the object of aspiration, it will be found close at hand.

There are worse things than superstition. To see gods everywhere is better than to see God nowhere.—Dr. Alexander McKenzie.

It is a shame for a man to desire honor only because of his noble progenitors, and not to deserve it by his own virtue.—Chrysostom.

BUNK DEFINED

What is bunk? Let the Forum's definition competitors answer:

Bunk is mental junk.

The three-ring circus stuff of intellectual Barnums.

Bunk—a mighty poor apology for a oed, or an equally bad substitute for a fact.

The limbo to which the average man consigns everything he doesn't understand.

Finally this from a feminine hand. Bunk is what is left of the world's wisdom and experience after youth has picked out the things it considers essential.

OUR AUTO CLUB

Few people realize the benefits of an automobile club. Few know of the work that the local club has undertaken in the last three months Under the direction of President Nelson C. Schrader, the Northville association has done much in the promotion of new roads and the paving and repairing of old ones.

Only a short time ago a delegation sponsored by the local club called upon Frank Rogers, state highway commissioner, in regard to the paving of Center street from Plymouth to Northville. No definite answer was given to the delegation of men from Plymouth, Novi and Northville, as to the exact location of the road, but they were promised a paved road connecting these towns in the near future.

The club is not only active in the promotion of new roads, but takes an equal part in the upkeep of older roads around Northville This service has made the association invaluable to the general public and so the people living on country roads surrounding the town

Another feature that the organization should be commended for is the part they have played in placing road signs in this vicinity. The club has a special sign committee that considers all suggestions as to the location of new signs, headed by Charles A. Dolph The committee has placed a sign on the Plymouth road, leaving Ann Arbor, and is contemplating placing new ones at Novi, and at the turn of the road at Yerkes corner above the Pere Marquette culvert

Work of this nature is commendable and the Northville Automobile club in its efforts is rendering a real public service.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Court Northville, No. 65 F. of A.

WHEREAS, Our Heavenly Father, in his wise providence, has seen fit to remove from our midst our dear brother, Stewart Montgomery, and

WHEREAS, his family—a loving wife and son—have experienced a great loss and sorrow, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That Court Northville extends heartfelt sympathy to the Montgomery family, and be it further

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be recorded in the minutes of the Court.

Respectfully submitted.

Mrs. Cora Cunningham of Detroit, is visiting her sister, Mrs George Stamp.

Mr and Mrs Mark Robinson of Fenton, were callers Monday at the Goodell home.

Mrs. Anie Montgomery and son, Scott, visited the Crawford family at Milford, Sunday.

Eighteen young school friends of Elden Biery assisted him Wednesday evening in celebrating his birthday anniversary, at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Goodell. The evening was spent in a most pleasant way

A rabbit foot may not be lucky, but four of them are a great help to the rabbit when a dog gets after him

Nothing pleases a man with a well developed sense of humor so much as setting two chronic bores to boring each other

That the pheasant is naturally polygamous, while the Hungarian partridge is naturally monagamous?

That although Pacific salmon are supposed to die after spawning few people have ever seen a dead salmon?

That trout if they are raised in tanks, very frequently develop goiter, although no one would suspect them of having a neck?

That the bluefish swordfish breed in the Mediterranean sea during the winter and immediately thereafter depart on a world cruise, reaching our Atlantic coast about the middle of June?

ABOUT MEN

When a man says he has given up women, it usually means some woman has just given him up.

When a man says he wants his freedom he usually means he wants to get free in order to tie himself up again with another woman?

Most husbands expect their wives to combine the arts of a siren with those of the proprietress of a French restaurant.

Adam was the first man to be tempted by a woman, and his descendants have been trying to get their own back ever since

When a man is in love with you he thinks you are the smartest little thing that ever happened He says "You are so different from other women!" A fortnight later, when things are wearing off a bit he complains: "I can't understand a girl with your taste in clothes choosing a hat like that!"—Buena de Mesquito, in "Men and Pigs."

JUST WISE CRACKS

IRVING ULRICH ISSUES CALL FOR THE MILK BOTTLES

He Asks that the Forgotten Ones be Sent Back to Milkman

Milk bottles—milk bottles—what becomes of the milk bottles?

Irving Ulrich sells Northville folks its big milk supply. He delivers the rich, pure milk in bottles that he buys for that purpose.

"But every month I have to buy hundreds of new bottles, hundreds of them! Of course I know some are broken. And I know that some are set aside and forgotten. It's these forgotten bottles that I am after," he declared the other day.

"We would appreciate it greatly if our many customers will return our bottles to us. Now that this is housecleaning time, and you will find some you didn't know you had, put them out on the porch, and you can bet that we will gladly pick them up right away. Or just call us and we will do the rest.

"The stores that handle our milk would like to have their bottles returned, too. We know that they are in your way, but they are not in ours, so help us to collect in our surplus bottles."

William H McWilliams spent Tuesday afternoon calling on old school friends. Mrs Mary Renwick and Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Callen of South Lyon, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith of New Hudson

Mr. and Mrs Lionel Grant have been spending their Easter vacation at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene VerDuyne. Mr. Grant is a student at the Marquette University in Milwaukee. Both families were entertained for Easter dinner at the home of their other daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lake, in Northville.

Last Friday forenoon the eighth grade entertained the school by giving a negro minstrel. Miss Patricia Gaffney and Malcolm McGregor played the leading parts. It is planned that each week a program will be given by one of the grades. In the afternoon a program befitting the occasion, consisting of readings and songs, was given.

Through the efforts of the Sunday school superintendent and primary teacher, Mrs. and Mrs. W. D. Flint, a short Easter program was given in the Sunday school. Amid the potted plants and flowers the little tots seemed less disturbed as they participated in the services than their elders, who evidently were disquieted by the howling blizzard outside. The pastor based his morning address on the Resurrection as the greatest event in history, theology, philosophy and incentive for future hope. Carl Leavenworth led the evening B. Y. P. U. service, using the last year of Jesus' ministry as the topic. At 3:00 o'clock a baptismal service was held in the Northville Baptist church, when three were baptized.

The Greater Novi Improvement association met Thursday evening in the M. E. church. Following the business meeting, several musical numbers were given, solos by Mrs. C. H. Smith, trio by Harold and George Gullen and Nelson Renshaw; also violin duets by the Gullen boys. Miss Alice Gullen presided at the piano. Walt Clyde, national authority on city planning, was introduced and gave the address of the evening. Among other things he said, "A house is not a home without the home spirit inside." In building a city he said, "A family first settled by a stream, then a cow path was made and other families gathered near. To get what you want, you must know what you want. Having a correct plan to build a proper enterprise, combined effort is the greatest asset. Have faith in Novi, have a pledge signed by every Novite, I believe in Novi, I have faith in Novi, how much?" A discussion of city planning was led by Lloyd Gullen. A number of residents of Novi were called upon who spoke briefly. Ernest Schaffer, assistant general manager of the Novistov Cab corporation, was introduced and expressed his desire to be of real service in the upbuilding of Novi. Henry C. Bietre, secretary of the company, was introduced. He sat down with the remark, "I'll give you a look, but I won't give you a blooming word."

Yarn mills in Japan making the fine grades of cotton for mills in China and elsewhere are buying almost all their material from American souces this season. For the first five months of the current season the Japanese bought 727,020 bales. This was only a little more than three-quarters of the demand in the same period last year, because conditions in the Japanese spinning industry are not favorable

TO MAKE PLACE A BEAUTY SPOT PLAN OF WAYNE WORKERS

Nearby Community Working Out System for Improving Place

According to the Wayne Dispatch the fast growing little community over on Michigan avenue is taking steps to beautify that place The dispatch says

Chairman C. C. Maben and Victor Lorden of the Wayne Association Town Planning Committee held a joint session with President Harley Smith for the purpose of systematically mapping out a program that will be of advantage to the residents of Wayne as it concerns the future growth of their village.

The committee consisting of C. C. Maben, Charles K. Miller and Victor Lorden will adhere strictly to the established principles laid down at the National Conference of Town Planning and also in the curricula of the University of Michigan and all leading universities of the country it was decided at the meeting.

The committee foregoing to the fore will make a study of the territory and first of all definitely lay out the Wayne District and present it to the directors and association for their support. The so called Wayne District has never been defined geographically and as soon as a logical conclusion has been drawn by the association this will be known.

The definite trend of this committee will be to plan a program that will have the cooperation of every member and citizen of Wayne and its adjacent territory. After the meeting C. C. Maben said, "as a community we have paid little attention to town planning; many buildings being constructed without the slightest regard for their appearace or their appreciating values." This first remark lead to another very important suggestion by the committee chairman when he said, "Wayne will have to be more attractive in order to influence industry and thereby grow and this latter cannot be accomplished with the heretofore very evident lack of method." The original cost of an artistic house compared with an ugly one is practically the same; one appreciates in value the other depreciates stated Mr. Maben.

The committee earnestly hopes that no more ramshackle buildings shall be built in Wayne in the future.

President Harley Smith in closing the after meeting discussion said, "Wayne's chances of becoming a fast growing community depends on our ability to make the place worth while, good to live in and look at. The whole hearted cooperation of all in this important matter will give us better front and back yards, playgrounds for the kids, recreational places for the workers, woman and children and in short it will give us a community in which to enjoy life as every individual has the right," concluded the President of the Association.

Yarn mills in Japan making the fine grades of cotton yarns for mills in China and elsewhere are buying almost all their raw material from American sources this season. For the first five months of the current season the Japanese bought 727,623 bales This was only a little more than three-quarters of the demand in the same period last year, because conditions in the Japanese spinning industry are not favorable.

"BETTER HOMES" TO BE OPENED APRIL 22 FOR INSPECTION

Wayne County Example is Located Over on South Side of Plymouth

The latest returns in the 1928 campaign of Better Homes of America indicate an extraordinary increase since last year in the number of communities taking part. Chairmen of local committees are appointed anew each fall by Better Homes in America. A few weeks ago the appointments for the 1928 campaign were sent out. At this stage in last year's campaign the central office of this educational organization at Washington had received acceptances from local and county Better Homes chairmen in twenty-eight hundred and thirty-one communities. So far in the 1928 campaign the number has reached the neighborhood of three thousand. When we consider that last year the final number of local and county chairmen, at the ume of Better Homes Week in April, had grown to nearly four thousand, it is plain that this year the number of communities taking part may reach a large figure. The campaign has been given added impetus this year through the organization of state units. The states, which have already perfected their committee under state chairmen are: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington and West Virginia.

Secretary Hoover, as president of Better Homes in America, made the appointments of local chairmen. The central office at 1653 Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C., is engaged in active supervision of the work of the various local committees. The local committees have already begun to organize their communities for the Better Homes Campaign. Their purpose is to show their communities how to have more attractive, more comfortable homes at moderate expense.

In some parts of the country local committees report that they themselves have selected designs for houses of from three to six rooms, at costs including lots, ranging from $3,000 to $10,000, and that they will build the houses and furnish them as an object lesson to their communities in achieving beauty and comfort with small expenditure. Committees in other communities report plans to borrow attractive homes recently completed, furnish them on a carefully prepared budget and demonstrate them to their communities during Better Homes Week this month. Still other committees plan to remodel and to refurnish old houses.

The house selected for Wayne county, Michigan, is a story and a half English type house in the southeast section of Plymouth. The house is rapidly nearing completion, will be completely furnished and grounds landscaped, and will be open for inspection the entire week of April 22-23.

BUSINESS MUCH IMPROVED STATES CHEVROLET HEAD

Finds General Tendency All Over World Toward Prosperity

Keen enthusiasm over the industrial outlook for the coming summer and fall was voiced here today by officials of the Chevrolet Motor Company upon their return from country-wide dealer meetings that brought them into direct contact with representatives of every city, town and hamlet in the United States.

Thirty-six such meetings, held at as many key centers during the past ten weeks, afforded the Chevrolet executives an excellent opportunity to see and study at first hand the various factors that determine the business future.

Confidence that the abnormal prosperity enjoyed last year would continue in accelerated measure well into 1928 was expressed both by H. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales, whose official party traveled throughout the East; and H. J Klingler, general sales manager, who headed a second group that covered the West.

Among the favorable factors noted were: Small and relatively few areas of depression; no disturbing political issues; widespread employment, with unemployment at normal; a winter and spring advantageous to the farmer; large building and construction programs under way; and a general realization that the "presidential year" bugaboo is purely a mental hazard and not a deterrent to business.

The Middle West farmer is in a particularly advantageous position, Mr Klingler reported. Farm prices are now for the first time since the War on a level with other commodities, the weather this winter and spring is favorable to good crop yields, and inflated land values have generally subsided. Farming is now on a stabilized, healthy, normal basis. The farmer is prosperous and his prosperity, because of the basic nature of the industry, is reflected throughout our economic system.

In the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast states industry is humming, curtailment of over-production of oil and lumber has had a healthy and stabilizing effect in the South and Northwest section, and crop prospects are everywhere excellent. Coast exports also are growing. Huge building projects under way throughout this district, and the unqualified optimism of the people backing them, show the tremendous importance which the West Coast is destined to have in our national growth and welfare.

Similar healthy undertones of optimism prevail throughout the East, Mr Grant said. He pointed out that New England made such a phenomenal recovery from the several natural calamities which befell it last Fall that during the early part of 1928 New England led the entire United States in percentage of Chevrolet sales ever quota, with every indication that the fundamental economic soundness that made the showing possible would continue.

Reports of unemployment in the North Atlantic states were discounted by the Chevrolet sales head on the basis of personal observation and from reports of Seretary of Labor Davis stating that there are 42,000,000 people gainfully employed in the United States.

Mr. Grant paid high tribute to the South for the forward programs that are bringing that section rapidly to the front in national importance. This was recently evidenced by the Chevrolet Motor Company with the opening of regional headquarters at Dallas and Atlanta to maintain more intimate contact with the section, and with the building at Atlanta of a $2,500,000 assembly plant to supply cars exclusively to the Southern market.

Among the favorable factors noted by Mr. Grant were huge road building programs, that will bring increased wealth to the South, crop diversification, and opening of textile mills and other industries that are giving the South a manufacturing character.

In line with these enthusiastic predictions, the Chevrolet Motor Company is proceeding with the heaviest production and sales schedules it has ever undertaken. Old records have consistently fallen every month so far this year, while the 1928 program calls for a substantial increase over even the record outlet of a million cars and trucks in 1927.

According to a recent survey of the terminal livestock cooperative commission agencies made by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, there were 35 of these agencies operating in 19 markets in 1926. These associations and their employees are bonded for a total of more than $1,000,000 to secure the performance of the obligations incurred as marketing agencies. The associations also carry various types of insurance such as fire insurance, mortgage, theft and workmen's compensation.

SOUTH LYON WILL LOSE EFFICIENT SCHOOL OFFICIAL

Superintendent Has Been Made a Member of Pontiac Faculty

Announcement is made in the South Lyon Herald this week that J. Carleton Covert, who has been superintendent of the public schools of South Lyon, has accepted a position on the faculty of the Pontiac schools

The Herald says:

"Mr. Covert has done much for the school in South Lyon during the three years of his superintendency. He has placed the school on the two-year credit list of the University of Michigan. He organized the high school orchestra, now so popular at social events in the community. The domestic science and kindergarten departments and the school paper are all due to the efforts of Mr Covert, and to him should go every credit for the establishment here.

"Mr. and Mrs. Covert are prominent in the social life of our town and on every hand we hear regrets at their removal.

"We have been fortunate in having a man of Mr. Covert's calibre and personality to hold the responsible position as head of our school and we believe it will be hard to replace him with one who will take the welfare and advancement of our young folks to heart as he has. A live wire in every sense, we bespeak great success for him in the splendid position he has accepted in Pontiac."

Like the boll weevil and the cattle tick, the woods burner drags down business and undermines the general welfare in the South. Because of him only a small percentage of merchantable second growth timber, which could have replaced the virgin stand, is now available on cut-over lands. Because of him land values have suffered, industries and population have moved out, and idle acres have multiplied. Because of him millions of young forest seedlings which in a short time would have constituted a valuable asset to landowners, have been annually licked up by the flames, to say nothing of other forms of injury to forest growth. Woods fires can be stopped in the South because man is almost the sole cause.

ROBINSON SELLS STOCK ON SENATOR COUSINS' BIG FARM

Prominent Auctioneer Made Record Sale at Wabeek Place

Harry C. Robinson, local auctioneer, conducted an auction sale last week Thursday that was of more than usual interest. The sale was held on the big Oakland county farm known as Wabeek, owned by Senator James Cousins. The farm has been operated by Williamson whose occupancy of the farm soon will come to an end.

Nearly 1,500 farmers from surrounding counties assembled for the sale. The bidding, spurred on by the efforts of Mr. Robinson, was lively.

Fifty-eight head of dairy cattle, five horses, 190 chickens, a quantity of hay and grain and miscellaneous farm machinery and tools brought a total of $11,273

The 58 head of cattle sold for $7,615, an average of $131 apiece. There were eight Holsteins, six Durhams, 29 Jerseys, and 15 Guernseys. Of these a Guernsey bull, three Holstein cows, two Jersey cows and one Guernsey cow were registered. In addition, three senior calves and one junior yearling were eligible for registration. The rest were grades. Included in the number sold were six baby calves.

The top price for a cow was $250, paid by J. B. Laurie of Northville. The bull brought $123 50.

One team of horses sold for $440, another for $325, and a single horse for $77 50. The chickens brought $237.50, or $1.25 apiece.

Other prices paid were as follows: Oats, 250 bushels at 67 cents, $167 50; straw 14 tons at from $8.25 to $8.75 a ton; hal loader, $77 50, cultipacker, $55, tractor plow, $80; two wagons, $18 and $37 50; manure spreader, $110; tractor, $500; mowing machine, $39; three-horse cultivator, $46; corn binder, $142 50; cream separator, $25.—Plymouth Mail

SCOTCH CHOCOLATE CAKE

One-half cup butter or shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 1 square chocolate dissolved in ½ cup of boiling water, ½ cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, mixed with 2 cups of flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Bake in sheet or two layers about 30 minutes.

MALTED MILK CAKE

Cream ½ cup butter, add 1 cup sugar gradually. Beat in 1 egg; then add 3 heaping teaspoons chocolate malted milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt. Add 1 teaspoon soda to 1 cup sour milk and then add alternately with 2 cups sifted flour to the first mixture. Bake in buttered layer-cake pans. Put together and cover with white icing.

1-2-3-4 CAKE

One cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 3 cups flour, 4 eggs, 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon soda, spices.

Cream butter and sugar; add eggs and stir until creamy. Add the sour cream and soda dissolved in cream and lastly the flour containing the spices

POPPYSEED CAKE

One cup poppyseed, 1½ cups milk, 1½ cups sugar, ½ cup butter, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 4 whites of eggs, beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Grind poppyseed. Heat ½ of the milk; pour over poppyseed and let stand over night. Cream butter and sugar and add the poppyseed mixture. Add flour and baking powder mixed alternately with milk. Add the beaten whites and flavor. Turn in a well-greased spring form and bake in moderate oven 45 minutes.

WHITE NUT CAKE

Cream 1 pound butter, add 1¼ pounds sugar and beat until smooth. Add 1 dozen well beaten eggs. Mix and sift 1 pound flour, 1 grated nutmeg, and ½ tablespoon each of mace and cinnamon. Add alternately with ½ cup white grape juice to the first mixture. Add 2 grated cocoanuts, 2 pounds thinly sliced citron and 1 pound shelled blanched almonds. Mix well, turn into buttered pan lined with buttered paper. Bake slowly and let cool in pan.

APPLE SAUCE CAKE

One large cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 piece butter size of good egg, 1 cup sweetened apple sauce, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cocoa, 1 tablespoon molasses, 1 teaspoon soda, 1½ cups flour, nuts. Add the ingredients in order given and mix thoroughly. Bake slowly 30 minutes in moderate oven. This is a deliciously moist cake to make on Saturday for the Sunday night lunch

QUICK DEVIL'S CAKE

One-third cake chocolate dissolved in ¾ cup hot water, 2 eggs, 2 cups brown sugar, ¾ cup butter, 1 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups flour

Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven

CHOCOLATE CAKE

Two squares chocolate, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon soda, yolk of 1 egg, 1 cup sour milk, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar, add egg yolk and beat thoroughly. Add egg, melted chocolate and flour which has been sifted with soda and baking powder. Add vanilla. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees) 25 minutes if in layer, 45 minutes if in a loaf.

Reasons why you should buy your used car from a Chevrolet dealer

1 —Chevrolet dealers have been selected by the Chevrolet Motor Company on the basis of their financial responsibility and dependability.

2 —Chevrolet dealers offer used cars on a plan originated and endorsed by the Chevrolet Motor Company.

3 —Chevrolet dealers have the necessary tools and equipment to properly recondition used cars.

4 —Chevrolet dealers desire the good will of used car buyers the same as they now enjoy from new car buyers.

SHE'S OVER

Well, the Easter vacation is over and most of us are anxious to be back in school, even some of the teachers. It's always nice to go away, but its nicer to come back.

Some of us worked during vacation, while others left town to spend the week. Maybe some read books to make a report, but most probably not.

Back again and just lots of things to hold our interest. The carnival, "spring fever," and oh, just lots of things.

PITER PATER CROSS OUR LAWN

Sometimes if we want to keep dogs, cats, or something like that off the grass or out of the garden it is necessary to put up a fence. You can't blame the dogs, cats and chickens, they don't know any better.

It may be necessary to put a fence around the high school lawn, not to keep off dogs, cats and chickens, but Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors, who like to take shortcuts.

I'd advise you to use the sidewalks, because sometime you may be caught making one of these home-runs across the lawn, and it'll be a sure OUT. Take a base at a time when you're coming to school. Better safe than sorry.

CREPE HANGERS

Do you know any crepe hangers? Read on, maybe you do. If you know a person who delights in taking the joy out of life for someone else, by bringing up things that have long passed; by discouraging someone when he is trying to do his best; by making remarks that he himself may soon forget, but that may hurt someone's feelings, and by saying things that may discredit someone, then you know a crepe hanger.

The crepe hanger hasn't the school spirit. We should never say anything about one of our classmates unless it is something to his credit; don't make remarks that may hurt someone's feelings, and don't discourage someone when he is doing his best.

It won't pay any of us to be crepe hangers for—

"There's so much bad in the best of us,
And so much good in the worst of us;
That it would hardly pay any of us,
To talk about the rest of us."

MISS VAN VLEET TAKES MRS. CHAPMAN'S PLACE

Miss Mable VanVleet, who received her A. B. degree last month from M. S. N. C., is taking Mrs. Chapman's place at Northville high school, starting Monday, April 9th. Miss VanVleet is teaching classes in the seventh grade and eleventh grade American history. She lives at St. Johns, Michigan, and is a graduate of St. Johns high school.

"SPRING FEVER" ISSUE IS NOW AVAILABLE

Another issue of the paper that is "full of bunk" has been published this week by the journalism staff. The paper is called "Spring Fever," and the price is three cents for five papers. Everyone is able to afford that much to hear about the latest scandal.

We have some very good novels, among which is "The Boy Scout's Revenge or the Best Way to Grow Onions." In this novel a girl casts her lover aside because he has false teeth. Then he takes a sword and cuts off half an inch of her shoestring for a remembrance. Ten years elapse. The girl on the eve of her wedding goes down the aisle on the arm of her step-mother. There she sees her former lover and flings herself into his arms. He says she needs punishment, and the punishment is to wash dishes all her life. The moral to the story is, "Never trust a man with false teeth."

TEACHERS DISCUSS GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS AT MEETING

Mr. Doeksen was chairman of the teachers' meeting held Monday after school for the purpose of discussing the personal characteristics of a teacher.

"The General Appearance" was discussed by Mr. Thompson. He brought out that the first impression gives a fairly good idea of the person's character. "One should dress according to one's job," he said.

Mrs. Kinsey led the discussion on "Personal Habits" of the good teacher. A teacher's habits of promptness will establish the same habit in her pupils. "Self control, which is often given very little thought," she said, "does much to add dignity to the teacher."

"Health" was discussed by Mrs. Stalker, physical education director. "A positive program of 'do this for health' is being carried out now," she said.

Miss Christ talked on "Enthusiasm." "It must come from a well-rounded idea of life and from inner happiness. It is a definite expression of profound interest in those about you," she stated.

Mr. Gordon spoke on "Voice." "We should all work to cultivate the type of a well-modulated voice which we shall be glad to hear imitated by our pupils," he said. "A teacher's voice should appeal to the children in the class."

Mr. Ammerman talked on the "Sense of Justice on a Teacher's Part." "We must be just with our students if we expect the right response from them. We must be fair in assignments, as well as in discipline," Mr. Ammerman stated.

Miss Hoag gave an especially interesting talk on "Interest and Sympathy with Children."

The meeting closed with Miss Elden's discussion of "Sincerity and Integrity." She said that children have confidence in a teacher who is sincere.

GERALDINE FERGUSON WINS SPELLING CHAMPIONSHIP

Geraldine Ferguson again won the school spelling championship, March 30th. Geraldine was the school champion last year, and was also the runner-up in the Plymouth district.

Shirley Preston school champion and district champion of two years ago, was runner-up, but she met defeat on the word "criticize."

The grade champions taking part were: Fifth grade, Mary Elizabeth Elkington, sixth grade, Vera Horsfal, seventh grade, Wilma Rattenbury, and the eighth grade champion was the victorious Geraldine.

Geraldine will next go to the district contest, April 20th. If she comes home a winner, she will then go to Detroit on May 11th, to battle for the Metropolitan championship.

GRADE NOTES

Kindergarten—

Edna Lemmon has returned after a serious attack of scarlet fever.

First Grade—

Ritha and Donald Lemmon, who have both been ill with scarlet fever, returned to school on Monday.

Second Grade—

We have received a new pupil, Taylor McLain of Detroit.

Charles Martin returned to school Monday. He has been sick at his home.

Fifth Grade—

Vera Lewis is a new pupil in the fifth grade.

Sixth Grade—

Two of our pupils, Richard Feighner and George Adams are leaving us very soon. They are moving to a different vicinity.

Vera Horsfal, champion speller of the sixth grade, went to Detroit Saturday, where she received her dictionary from the Detroit News. A guide took her through the large building and she was very much impressed by the strange machinery and the ways and processes by which the paper is produced. Vera was the runner up for the school championship, but it was won by an eighth grader, Geraldine Ferguson.

Seventh Grade—

Marion Lewis is a new pupil this week.

ERNEST MILLER SPEAKS TO BOOKKEEPING CLASSES

Typewriting Awards Presented to Students

Ernest Miller, president of the board of education of Northville, gave an interesing talk to the students of the beginning and advanced bookkeeping classes, Thursday afternoon, March 29th.

He explained business forms to them in a very interesting and educational manner. From his talk questions and discussions arose.

Mr. Miller was asked to speak before the business law class some time in the near future.

Before the assembly, Friday afternoon, March 30th, the following typewriting awards were presented.

Bronze pins for 40 words a minute were given to Esther Lockman and Margaret Safford, from the Underwood Typewriter Co.

A gold pin from the Woodstock company for 40 words a minute to Grace Biery.

Thirty-word Certificates of Proficiency were given to Catherine Lutzenberger, Madeline Cole, Ethel Sterner, Alvera Smith and Dorothy Vogt from the Underwood company.

Twenty-five-word bronze triangle from the Woodstock company were given to Irene Bennett, Helen Hackney, Gladys Ludwig and Dorothy Kliken.

HI-Y CLUB OF NORTHVILLE MAKES PLANS FOR PLAY

The Hi-Y Club of Northville high school are making plans for a play, "The Old-Fashioned Mother," to be given in the high school auditorium, Friday evening, April 20th. The club is having professional players from Detroit, under the direction of A. D. Mosher. The play is a riot of laughter, built around a moral that everyone will enjoy.

Tickets will be on sale this week at 50 cents each. Get yours early from the Hi-Y members.

NEW ADDITION TO LIBRARY

The addition of a 30-volume set of Americana Encyclopedias will be a welcome announcement to most of the high school pupils. These books are the gift of George B. Yerkes, and are extremely valuable. They are the most recently published books of their kind and are very interesting. We are sure that all of the students appreciate Mr. Yerkes' interest in our school.

"CARNIVAL" PLANNED FOR NORTHVILLE HIGH

Russell Atchison, president of the student council, made the statement Monday morning that the "carnival" would be held at Northville high school either the last of this week or the first of next, and as each club, each class and each organization is to have from one to three booths, their committees must get busy.

Tickets will be sold at different places, and with these tickets one may visit the different booths, according to price.

The classes having booths will be from the ninth up. The ninth grade will have a "photo gallery," a "dog show" and a "Bridal Scene." The tenth grade will have their booths with the Science and Travel club—"Horseshoes," "Wheel" Ball Game and cloak room." The eleventh grade will have "Lindy's Last Take Off," a "Trip Through France," "What all Girls Love to See," and "Swimming Match." The Seniors will have "Liverwart," "California Bat" and "For Men Only."

The different clubs are: T. M. B. who will have "Police," "Novelties" and "Fortune Teller." The Alpha Sigma will have "Black Bottom," "Fish Pond and Tea Room." The T. A. H. A. K. club will have, "Music Nook," "Mice Swimming Match," "Double Your Money." Then the student council will have a "Dance," "Refreshments," and a "Shooting Gallery."

ORGANIZATION OF BRAE BURN GOLF CLUB IS STARTED

Christian Whitmire Farm on Five Mile Road is Purchased

During the past few weeks there has been considerable discussion among the residents of Northville about the proposed Brae Burn Golf Club, to be established on the Christian Whitmire, Stanbro and part of the Snyder Bros. farms, at the southwest corner, at the end of Five Mile road and the dividing line between Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Payments already made on lands, and other payments arranged this week to be made, through the Northville Banks, put this project in concrete form and give the best assurance that this project is going to go through.

A number of Northville people are already interested in the club, and, with work to start on the construction of the club this summer, Northville, by next spring will have another near-by country club—one of the best around Detroit.

This property has been under consideration for several months, during which period it has been carefully investigated by the engineers and others of wide experience, some of national reputation in the golf field.

The concensus of opinion has been that this tract furnishes an exceptionally attractive site for a Country club, with one of the best pieces of natural golf terrain to be found anywhere. It has rolling land, woods, exceptional drainage, and never-failing spring fed streams, with an ideal opportunity for an artificial lake.

The club house site is one of exceptional attractiveness, and it would be difficult to find a general lay-out with more natural advantages or better adapted for a high-class Country club. Those of our Northville residents who are already interested in the club are enthusiastic about the property and the prospect of the kind of club this is going to be, within a ten minute drive from Northville. According to those who are active in the club organization, the purpose of Brae Burn Gold club is a Country club that will embody and have in accordance with the best standards, everything that goes to make up an attractive and exceptional club—at minimum cost of annual expense, with assessments eliminated.

All members have an equal right and interest in the club and an equal voice in its conduct and affairs.

Expense of operating and upkeep is provided for as governed by an annual operating budget which, to be effective, must be authorized by and have the approval of the membership body.

Lands which are to be occupied and used by the club will primarily be held under a thirty year lease, at an approved fair and equitable rental valuation—the club having the right, at its option, to purchase the property at an equally favorable purchase valuation, with payments spread over the same thirty year period.

Everything having to do with engineering, planning, development and construction is to be carried out under the direction and supervision of persons of wide experience and proved successful achievement in this particular field.

No promotion profit is permitted in organization development and construction expenses or as part of either one.

The golf course will be eighteen-holes, of championship requirements and distance—over as fine a piece of natural golf terrain as can be found anywhere—designed and built by persons whose experience and record assures one of the best and most satisfactory courses around Detroit.

Other outdoor sports will be tennis, archery, trap-shooting, winter sports.

The Club house will be a real country club house—not an attempt to establish a city club, in the country—with every convenience—homelike comforts—coziness and restful spaciousness in balanced proportions.

It will embody a big, comfortable lounge, sun parlor, room for dancing, dining room, lunch room and grill, broad covered veranda, open terraces, for outdoor refreshments and dancing, comfortable roomy locker and shower rooms for both men and women; a club complete in every feature and detail for enjoyment and comfort.

The membership personnel will be fully safeguarded, by limiting eligibility to only such persons, as the committee controlling memberships have favorably reported on; and to persons nominated and sponsored by members, who also must be favorably reported upon by this committee.

Measure your windows with care before curtain material. Allow at least nine inches extra for hems and shrinkage? Cut the goods by a thread if possible. Accuracy in cutting and neat sewing help insure well-hanging curtains. Many people like to put hems in by hand but if a great number of curtains must be made at one time this is not always possible.

ROY CROWE TELLS OF TELEPHONE CO. EXPANSION PLANS

Long Distance Cables Will Soon Connect All Michigan Cities

In carrying out its plan to connect the cities on both sides of the state by means of a long distance telephone cable, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company is building approximately 200 miles of cable at a cost of nearly $2,000,000, during 1928, according to Roy E. Crowe, manager of the company's Northville exchange.

When completed in 1930, the big telephone highway will connect with Port Huron, Mt. Clemens, Bay City, Saginaw, Flint, Pontiac, Birmingham, Royal Oak, Detroit, Wyandotte, Trenton, Monroe, Toledo, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Niles, Benton Harbor and other points along the route of the cable, and will join the New York-Chicago-St. Louis cables. The total length of the cables in Michigan will be more than 850 miles. Over parts of the distance there will be parallel cables. The total ultimate cost of the project is estimated at $10,000,000.

To this cable, at various points, will be connected several thousand miles of open wire toll circuits, tying in every telephone exchange in the state. More than 22,900,000 long distance calls are now passing annually over the cable and open wire circuits of the Michigan Bell Company, and by the end of 1930, it is expected the number will be increased to 30,000,000. During the next two years another 200 miles of cable will be added to complete the plan.

"This does not mean, however, that the Michigan Bell Company will cease to build toll cables after 1930," states Manager Crowe. "Their construction will continue indefinitely. This is merely a definite plan that has been arranged, and a goal to be reached at that time. As long as the use of long distance continues, our company will continue to build cables.

In the eastern part of the state, the Detroit-Bay City cable was completed last year, as was a parallel cable to Pontiac from Detroit. That second cable will be extended to Flint and Flushing Junction in 1930. A third parallel cable for the use of calls from the Royal Oak and Birmingham exchanges is now under construction and will be completed next fall. It is anticipated The Detroit-Port Huron section, completed and in use as far as New Baltimore Junction, also is scheduled to be finished in June. Smaller cables already completed connect Detroit with Roseville, Centerline, Redford, Dearborn, Farmington, Northville, Plymouth, Wayne, Wyandotte and Trenton.

For the past several months construction has been progressing on the link of the cable that will connect Ann Arbor and Kalamazoo. This section is scheduled for completion before the coming summer. Kalamazoo and Niles will be connected next year. The Benton Harbor-Niles leg was placed in service in 1926, and the Niles-South Haven branch will be built during 1929 and 1930. Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids were connected by cable last fall, and the cable will reach Grand Haven in 1930. Lansing will be connected with the trans-Michigan cable at Jackson, during the coming year.

Detroit and Toledo were connected by cable several years ago, and by early summer a second cable connecting the two cities also will be placed in service. These two cables are of particular importance in that they connect Detroit and all of eastern Michigan with the big transcontinental cable extending from the Atlantic to Chicago and St. Louis. It is over these cables that all the calls between Michigan points and European countries are routed.

RADIOTIC

According to a recent survey of the terminal livestock co-operative commission agencies made by the bureau of agricultural economics, there were 25 of these agencies operating in 19 markets in 1926. These associations and their employees are bonded for a total of more than $1,000,000 to secure the performance of the obligations incurred as marketing agencies. The associations also carry various types of insurance, such as fire insurance, mortgage, theft and workmen's compensation.

UNIVERSITY WILL DEDICATE WORLD'S GREATEST ORGAN

Event Has Been Fixed for Wednesday Evening May 16th

The blue curtain that has hung over the stage of Hill Auditorium at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, during the present year will soon be removed. In its place will appear many rows of great organ pipes, back of which in a large chamber will be complicated mechanism of one of the world's most perfect pipe organs. It is just being completed at a cost of $75,000 by the Skinner Organ Company of Boston, and will be dedicated at the first concert of the next May Festival on the evening of Wednesday, May 16th. Palmer Christian, University organist, one of America's most outstanding performers on the "king of instruments," will officiate, appearing with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, with Eric Delamarter wielding the baton over a composition of his own written especially for the occasion.

The size of the largest pipe will be thirty-two feet long and approximately two feet square, whereas the smallest pipe will be about four inches long with the diameter of a straw. In between are innumerable pipes of all lengths and diameters, some of which are conical in shape, some straight tubes resembling a tin whistle; and others with a ball at the top, while still others are triangular and of many off shapes and forms.

The keyboard of the organ will be about as large as a good-sized grand piano, and may be moved about on the stage. It will be connected with the organ proper by a large cable containing innumerable wires each of which carries an electric current and transmits to the organ and produces the proper sound when the key is struck by the player.

The dedication of this monumental instrument will be one of the attractive features of the May Festival. Other features will be the appearance of a large children's chorus containing hundreds of boys and girls from the public schools of Ann Arbor, the University Choral Union of 300 voices, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra of 70 players, and the following concert stars gathered from the world's greatest opera houses: Leonora Corona, Leone Kruse and Marie Montana, sopranos; Margaret Matzenauer, Merle Alcock and Marion Telva, contraltos; Tudor Davies and Paul Althouse, tenors; Raymund Koch and Mario Basiola, baritones; Chase Baromeo, bass; Beno Rabinof, violin; Percy Grainger pianist; Palmer Christian, organist.

The University Choral and the Children's Chorus, with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra will offer the following great choral works: Verdi's "Aida;" Pierne's "St. Francis of Assisi;" "The Marching Song of Democracy," by Grainger, who will appear in the role of guest conductor, and "The Quest of the Queen Prince," by Lyde, a work for children's voices.

Six concerts will be given beginning Wednesday evening, with matinees on Friday and Saturday, the Festival closing Saturday night. Many great musical authorities such as Walter Damrosch, Fritz Reiner, Oscar Saenger and others from all parts of the country have been enthusiastic in their comments on the importance of the event.

Do Husbands Really Trust Their Wives?

HERBERT: (to Betty, his wife) I'm sorry, but you'll have to stop going to Guido Petti's studio. His affairs with women are the talk of the town.

Betty: That's silly. No matter what Guido's relations with other women may be, he is a perfect gentleman—with me. I shall continue my studies with him.

* * * *

Weeks pass. Guido Petti and Betty are in the studio alone.

Guido: (drawing her to him) So beautiful you are. Soon we shall go abroad—just you and I.

Betty: But—my husband—

Guido: Bah! What does he know of your desires? So young you are—so lovely—

Suddenly he clasps her in his arms—kissing her with a fierce passion she is powerless to resist. Unheard by either, the door opens — someone starts to enter—then retreats, closing the door softly.

* * * *

Two hours later Herbert bitterly accuses his wife.

Betty: Stop, Herbert! You don't know what you are saying. I swear to you—

Herbert: (flinging her aside) I'm through with you. I should have killed you as you lay in your lover's arms. Take what you want and get out.

What happens to Betty after she is driven from home by her husband completes one of the most pathetic dramas ever enacted in real life. Don't miss "First in a Woman's Heart," in May True Story Magazine.

TWO PIONEERS, OLD TIME FRIENDS, DIE MINUTES APART

Nankin Township Mourns Passing of Well Known Residents

Two aged pioneers of Nankin township, friends over a long period of years, died the other day just a few minutes apart. The following is from the Wayne Dispatch:

"Two old pioneers of Wayne county, Mrs. Anna Marie Doletzky and Mrs Elizabeth Martin, and very intimate friends, died at their respective homes on Tuesday morning. For many years they had resided around Wayne and rather an unfortunate circumstance occurred when their deaths came within five minutes of each other. They had inquired just a day or so before of the health of each other from their physician who was attending both of them.

"Mrs Anne Marie Doletzky, born at Tirgart, West Prussia on February 6, 1848, was married to Anthony Doletzky at Bross Plaut and came to this country, April 27, 1869 After residing at Detroit for a short time they moved to Springwells and from there to this section of Nankin township. Surviving are three sons, August, Henry and Herman; four daughters, Mrs. Mita Priestkorn, Mrs. Hattie Moers, Mrs. Elizabeth Ditmar and Mrs Johanna Laverence; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Wagner and Mrs. Laura Borer; two brothers August and Henry Keiser, forty-three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at the Lutheran church Saturday, Rev. Peters to officiate and interment at Glenwood.

"Mrs Elizabeth Fisher Martin was born February 21, 1843, at Plymouth, Michigan, and in 1886 she was married to William Martin, the couple living on a farm north of Wayne for many years Recently, she had been residing at the home of her niece Mrs Jerry Parrie She was the oldest member of St John's Lutheran church of Wayne and at the golden anniversary of that church some time ago she was the guest of honor Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Curtis of Wayne and Mrs Carrie Deckinger of Edwardsville Illinois, a brother, Christian Fisher of Dearborn and a niece, Mrs Jerry Parre of Wayne Funeral services were held from St John's Lutheran church on Thursday afternoon at 2 30, and interment was made at Glenwood cemetery Reverend Peters officiating."

FARMINGTON IS FACE TO FACE WITH SEWER PROBLEM

Farmington is face to face with a sewer problem. Unlike Northville the nearby community did not give its sewage disposal question at a time when it would have been easier to do so.

Speaking of the situation, the Farmington Enterprise says

A situation in regard to city sewers, the outcome of which might, it is believed, set a precedent in city procedure was brought to the attention of the City Commission Monday evening The question of whether the city should extend sewers to care for the needs of property owners was presented when Al J Laing, Farmington businessman made a request of the City Commission

Mr Laing stated that he plans to build on property on the north side of Thomas street, in the rear of the Peoples State Bank building He desires to have a basement, but found he said, that there was no city sewer within 100 feet. The nearest line ends approximately 100 feet east of the east line of his property, at Olin Russell's garage.

Mr. Russell stated that when he built, there was no sewer in Thomas street, and that he arranged with the village whereby an extension should be made from Thomas street. Mr. Russell and the village each paying half the cost. Mr. Russell said he did so because of his great desire to have the sewer, although he believed the village should have laid the sewer for him.

Assessor Lamb stated that it had been agreed that if the drain became a city sewer, Mr Russell should be reimbursed for his share of the expense. The Commission discussed the question of as to whether, when there is no sewer, the property owner should pay for bringing a city sewer to his property line The matter was referred to Commissioner Clarence Bicking with power to act. Because of the importance of the question, it is likely that an opinion on the question will be asked of Corporation Counsel John J. Schulte.

Because of the increasing amount of city business, the commissioners voted to hold two regular meetings each month instead of one, as has been the custom. The meetings will be held on the first and third Mondays of each month.

The budget for the coming year will be considered at the meeting on April 16, as a special order of business It must be completed by May 20 according to the charter.

The new system of keeping records of city work, through time cards kept by all employes, is to be started soon.

One card can be ejected at a time from a new card case that can be carried in a vest pocket and manipulated by one hand.

Measuring twenty inches in length when extended, a new telescoping cigarette holder can be closed to a length of four

German police have developed a whistle to summon dogs which the animals can hear but which is inaudible to human ears.

Thoughtful enough to be handled with one hand when extended a new set of steel measuring tape rolls into a case about the size of a watch

Thursday—Be not afraid for I am with Thee.

Friday—Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

Saturday—Man goeth forth to his work and to his labor until the evening.

USEFUL THOUGHTS

Salt water will set all shades of pink.

Skimmed milk will stiffen fine organdies and dainty laces.

A little borax sprinkled under rugs will keep away troublesome moths.

Sawdust sprinkled evenly over the floor before laying linoleum will make it wear longer.

A splendid healing solution for cuts and burns is made by dissolving one teaspoonful boric acid in one pint of water.

FOR ANY COMMUNITY WHOSE BUSINESS AND AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS COOPERATE FOR THE BETTERMENT OF ALL—WEALTH AND PROSPERITY MUST SURELY FOLLOW.

Warner Dairy Company

H. M WARNER, PROP.

The Warner Dairy Company Located at 125 West Grand River Avenue in Farmington are Well Known Buyers of Milk and Cream Who Do An Enormous Business in This Line Throughout This Entire Locality. They are Shippers of "Clover-Land Farms" Milk. If You are Not Doing Business With Them by All Means See Them or Phone Farmington 12-F 2 and Take Advantage of the Fine Prices They Offer.

One of the most popular concerns of the community is this well known firm engaged in the buying of milk and cream. The firm is popular for many reasons. Efficient management assures the public that it is getting service of maximum efficiency at all times. The high character and business ability of the men owning and managing the plant inspires the confidence of all of the people of this section.

Milk has long been recognized as the most fundamental food product of the nation. The popular slogan of the day is "Drink milk for better health." It is a known fact that milk is a highly nutritive and valuable food and we ask our readers to drink more milk, feed it to the kiddies and grownups at meal times and between. You will surely enjoy better health if you [illegible] drink milk.

This firm also attributes a part of its success to the good will of the farmers it has gained, from whom it buys its milk and cream. These men have learned to rely upon the prices paid by this ideal plant as being the highest prevailing market price possible to be paid. The farmers know, too, that they will be courteously treated in every transaction he treated with fairness and assured of a square deal when dealing with this concern and its able managers.

In addition to being among the most popular business men of the community, the owners of this plant are noted for their fine community spirit in boosting for every proposition intended for the good of the people of this section. They are not content to serve the public only in their business, as they believe it a duty of every man to contribute something to the welfare of the community outside of his business life.

In the completion of this review we wish to urge that the readers of this edition extend their patronage to this firm who has endeavored to produce the best to be had in dairy products of all kinds and whose activities in the line have rendered them as being among the communities most efficient industries.—Adv.

Persian City Leads in Production of Henna

An important industry of Yezd, Persia, is the manufacture of henna. This product is used to wash and color the hair and to stain the finger nails red—yes, many people here have red finger nails. I saw colored lambs, and several horses whose manes and fetlocks were dyed fox red with henna.

Henna leaves come from the south, principally from the Bam district, and Yezd supplies all Persia and the surrounding countries with this dye. The 30 or more henna mills in the city are so completely hidden that it is difficult to see what goes on within.

In the late evening a camel, covered with henna dust, operates the mill, plodding in a circle in the half dark[ness]. A small round basket covers his eyes to prevent him from getting dizzy. One receives an impression of the reality of something brought from an old world.

The mill is very primitive, standing about six feet high, where the millstone and the circular path around it are sunken. Everything is covered with henna dust. From time to time a little boy shovels the powder into heavy jugs.—Bernhard Kellermann in Berliner Tageblatt (Living Age).

Summer Clouds

As a rule the clouds of midday seen on a clear day known as cumulus clouds have a well marked straight base. As the ground and the air nearest it began to warm the warmed air rises into the higher, cooler regions where, cooled mainly by its own expansion against the colder air about it, some of its moisture is condensed, forming a cloud. As by continuing ascent more of the stream of air comes in the region of condensation the cloud is [built] up higher. The base of the cloud remains at the height where condensation begins, which [illegible]

Dr. G. R. Switzer

FARMINGTON'S PROMINENT VETERINARY SURGEON

When Our Readers are Desirous of Obtaining High Grade Veterinary Services We Suggest That They Get in Touch With Dr. G. R. Switzer, Whose Offices are Located on West Grand River Avenue in Farmington and Whose Phone is Farmington 97. Dr. Switzer is Known Far and Wide for His High Grade Services, and Our Readers are Assured of Receiving Satisfaction When He is Called.

With the advent of state, federal and national laws demanding the utmost in the way of sanitation, hygiene and best possible qualities in meats and other foods, the veterinarian has come to be regarded as a professional man, occupying as much importance in the lives of animal nature as the M. D. is to the health of our families.

Perhaps among the greatest accomplishments of the present day veterinarian is the treatment and partial elimination of tuberculosis. This accomplishment which is said is worth more than passing mention for the simple reason that the treatment and partial eradication of tuberculosis among cattle and chickens has been instrumental in the saving of thousands of human lives.

Hog cholera, at one time, was very common. Thanks to the veterinarian profession, the loss which the farmers in this community sustained from this disease is practically negligible. Vaccination is about the only safe prevention and because of its moderate cost there is not the slightest excuse for any farmer not to avail himself of this precautionary measure.

Dr. G. R. Switzer, veterinarian, urges our farmers to have their hogs vaccinated as early as possible, because aside from being able to handle them more easily, permanent immunity against cholera is obtained and early vaccination means a saving of from 50 to 75 per cent.

It would be difficult to weigh in terms of dollars and cents the vast amount of good Dr. Switzer is rendering farmers.

Our farmers are particularly fortunate to have at a time [like this] the services of such a skilled professional man as Dr. Switzer, who has spent years and years in studying his profession and is most successful in his efforts to give our farmers the very best that is given at all times.

An ounce of prevention is truly worth more than a pound of cure in raising cattle and in maintaining high health standards. The one safe and sure way to preclude stock losses is to frequently consult Dr. Switzer. He is your friend—you need him. Consult him often and abide by his advice. You will find it to be the one sure and safe way to bigger profits on your farm and to bigger, healthier, more valuable—more profitable stock.—Adv.

It is under the direction of men who understand this business thoroughly and render a service unequaled anywhere in the state.

It is the duty of each and every farmer to see that he gets the maximum returns from every acre of his land and to do this it is absolutely necessary that he use modern and scientific methods.

This firm has gathered together a line of the latest and best known feeds and seeds [illegible] offer [illegible] [illegible] caused [illegible] increase in the number of people buying [illegible] this community.

Their large and complete stocks [illegible] of dependable quality [illegible] through their system of purchasing in enormous quantities and their wide experience they are enabled to offer [illegible] values to the public. The [illegible] large volume of business [illegible] and warrants a continuance of their policy of small profits on all sales.

They enjoy the fullest confidence of a large number of planters and farmers of this section as their years of experience and vast knowledge have enabled to serve most satisfactorily in each and every instance over a great many years. Their advice in this line is sought by all who would be properly advised in regard to matters about feeds, seeds, etc.

An outstanding feature of their business is their dairy feeds which yield compensative returns by the way of increased poultry and dairy production in a very short time. Only the best [illegible] known and reliable brands will be found in their stocks. It is always good economy to buy the very best of feeds and seeds and this establishment supplies just such merchandise.

In this Commercial Summary depicting the progress of this section of the state we cannot fail to mention the progressive and up-to-date activities of the Farmington Mills of Farmington and to state that the firm has continually been an impressive and beneficial factor in the industrial as well as social life of the community and predict that in the future the firm will show even greater progress. We heartily commend their service to the people of this community and assure them of most satisfactory returns when transacting business with them.—Adv.

The population of the port district is approximately 9,000,000.

POULTRY

ALL-MASH FEED GOOD FOR EGGS

Poultry keepers who have used the all-mash method of feeding chicks and growing pullets may continue the method for laying pullets. The plan has proved satisfactory for fall and winter egg production at the Ohio experiment station, and is being used by many successful poultrymen.

The only change in the all mash for egg production, according to D. C. Kennard, station poultryman, is to increase the meat scraps from 5 to 10 per cent and decrease the corn from 70 to 65 per cent. Coarsely ground wheat may be used instead of middlings in the mash. And for best results, Mr. Kennard would also use milk in some form.

Success with all mash feeding the laying pullets, especially for winter eggs, is largely determined by the kind of mixture and manner of feeding it. The mash should be as granular as possible rather than finely ground. A suitable type of feeder should provide 20 to 24 feet of eating space per 100 pullets. Fresh mash should be fed daily in the evening, the amount being about what will be consumed during the next 24 hours.

Electric lights may be used to advantage. A warm, moist mash fed in the evening, especially in cold weather, may prove beneficial.

Details relative to the all mash method of feeding layers may be had by writing the Ohio experiment station at Wooster.

Laying Hens Must Have Ration Rich in Protein

During the course of twelve months a high laying hen will produce from 18 to 25 or more pounds of eggs—or from four to seven or more times her own body weight, depending upon the weight of the hen. And it is a well-known fact that eggs are high in percentage of protein. Logically, therefore, it follows that laying hens must be fed a ration which is rich in protein if they are to turn out this amount of protein-rich product and still maintain the muscle tissues and blood in their own bodies.

Home-grown grains, such as wheat, oats, barley and corn, while they all contain a certain proportion of protein, all rank as carbohydrate rich feeds, necessary to maintain body flesh and provide heat and energy, but lacking in sufficient proportion of protein to meet the requirements of heavy egg production. Millfeeds, such as bran and shorts, contain proportionately more protein than do whole grains, but they, likewise, fail to supply the needed amount. If the ration fed to laying hens consists of these feeds only, without the addition of some protein-rich supplement, they cannot expect high egg production, the hen simply cannot produce eggs, but can only turn the carbohydrates into surplus body fat.

Specialist Tells How to Get Better Eggs

Care used in the mating of poultry and in the selection of hatching eggs will in a short time develop a flock that produces practically uniform eggs, says L. M. Black, extension specialist in poultry husbandry at the college of agriculture of Rutgers university.

Experiment has shown that certain characters are transmitted to future layers through the egg. The pullet that is hatched from any particular egg tends to lay the same type egg as that from which she came. Successful poultrymen take advantage of this fact and select only typical, large, uniformly colored eggs when setting the incubator. She also says, too, exert an influence upon the type of egg laid by the pullets, males selected for the breeding pens are from ancestors that were noted for their heavy production of large, uniformly colored and shaped eggs.

There is an old German adage which when translated reads, "As the bird, so is the egg." It probably was not originated for poultrymen alone, but it holds great significance for them.

Vitamines for Fowls

Vitamines should not worry the good poultryman so much in summer as in winter. Green foods and sunshine supply the vitamines that are most apt to be lacking in the winter ration. During the early spring months these factors are apt to be lacking unless the poultryman takes special pains to see that the birds have green stuff and sunshine. Alfalfa leaves, when put in a rack where fowls may eat them, will help to supply the need for green matter at

Sunlight Helps Hens

Direct sunlight will help the hens to lay strong shelled eggs as well as eggs with a high degree of hatchability. If hens have been closed up they should be turned out into the sunshine on bright days. If it is necessary to keep them closed up, then the windows should be thrown open during the middle of the day so the direct rays of the sun may get in. Glass substitutes may also be used in place of some of the window glass to let in more.

In a review of the professional and business life of this section due mention should not be omitted of the professional activities of Spencer J. Heeney of Farmington.—Adv.

THE DAIRY

DOMESTIC BULL MOST DANGEROUS

A big game hunter on returning from Africa said that the most dangerous animal in the world was not the lion or the tiger, but the farmer's domestic bull. An Eastern farm journal for many months has been editorially mentioning fatal experiences of farmers with bulls and in nearly every issue the name of some farmer is recorded who has lost his life through placing too much trust in the herd sire.

There are few neighborhoods in which one or more farmers have not been killed by bulls in the last 20 years, and many bearing scars of attacks which through some miracle did not result in death, says a writer in the Michigan Farmer. It is the gentle bull which usually becomes enraged and attacks its owner. A farmer who works around a docile bull for many months may become careless and forget the tremendous power of that animal which with the powerful head and shoulders can easily crush a man in spite of every effort to fight back.

A few months ago we visited a prominent Holstein breeder who entered the box stall of his herd bull with the animal on a stout metal staff. The bull charged, the owner but by placing the staff in the corner of the stall he was able to keep the animal braced away until help arrived. It proved the value of keeping the bull on a staff when [illegible].

At the Michigan state college and on farms where bulls have metal and concrete stalls and exercise yards there are few fatalities. But herd bulls in pastures and ordinary barnyards are a constant menace. This is true also when feeding them and cleaning their stalls. Every moment one's attention is taken from the animal there is danger of being knocked down and trampled. Farming is a hazardous business if carelessness prevails in looking after the bull.

New York College Gives Plans for Ventilation

Careful and detailed studies made by the New York State College of Agriculture during two months of each of the past five winters show that the walls and ceilings of dairy stables, as well as the lofts of hay barns can be kept dry by proper ventilation. It has been found also that ventilation can be accomplished with less material, less labor and at less cost than was formerly supposed, according to A. M. Goodman at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

Most dairy barns need only one good chimney or out-take flue, few of them need more than two. The construction of the chimney is the greatest expense of the whole installation. The part of these chimneys that goes from the floor of the mow to the eaves of the barn must be built while the mows are empty. The upper part of the chimneys and, in fact, all the rest of the system may be put in when the loft is full, he says.

By building the upper part of the out-take flue when the mows are full, no high climbing is necessary and practically no scaffolding is needed, but it should be remembered that part of the out-take flues must be built before hay is put in the mows or while the mows are empty.

Barn Space for Cow

The cubic space allowance per cow is not the most important thing in a barn. Proper ventilation is of much more importance than the number of cubic feet of air allowed per cow. However, 600 to 800 cubic feet of air space should be provided for each cow and in addition an efficient ventilating system must be provided. The recommended cross sectional area of outlet flues is 20 square inches per cow, and a somewhat greater total area is required in the intake flue.

The DAIRY

MUST FEED COWS FOR PRODUCTION

If the dairy industry of North Carolina is to profit most from the introduction of pure-bred cows and bulls brought in by farmers in recent years, the offspring from these animals must be well fed.

"In the three dairy improvement campaigns conducted in this state during the last three years about 850 pure bred, well selected dairy bulls have been placed on that many farms," says John A. Arey, dairy extension specialist at the North Carolina State college. "This does not include a number of other fine animals brought in through private sales. If the dairy industry is to derive any great benefit from the use of the animals, their offsprings must be well fed. This is true from the time the calf is dropped until it has passed its usefulness as a milk cow. Many heifers sired by good bulls have been disappointments and have been stunted in growth and production by underfeeding when they were young."

Mr. Arey states that good breeding is very important in building up the milk and cream production of a herd, but it is ineffective unless the good breeding is accompanied by good feeding. Underfeeding, he states, is largely responsible for dairy cows of this state averaging only about 150 pounds of butterfat a year. This quantity of butterfat selling for 45 cents a pound brings only $67.50 which will not pay for the feed the cow eats. In many cases, the production may be increased from 150 pounds to 225 pounds by liberal feeding. At 45 cents a pound the 225 pounds of fat will bring $101.25 which is enough to give the farmer a good profit for all the feeds he produces on his farm and feeds to his cows.

These animals which will not produce as high as 225 pounds of fat when well fed should be culled from the herd and sold to the butcher; but, no cow should be so condemned until she has had a chance under good feeding and care, states Mr. Arey.

Winter Water-Supply Is Important for the Cows

Dairy cows which are giving from 25 to 30 pounds of milk daily will need from nine to ten gallons of water daily, while cows that are giving only a small amount of milk can get along on half of this amount. This fact alone demonstrates that a good water supply is a prerequisite of successful dairying.

When dairy cows are forced to go out into a cold northeast wind and shiver while they are trying to drink out of a trough partially covered with ice, it stands to reason that they will not drink a sufficient amount to produce efficiently. From a cost standpoint of feed alone, it is cheaper to heat the water with coal or oil than it is to heat it in the cow's body by the use of high priced feed.

If the question of economy alone were the only point to consider, it would not be so important. However cows will not produce to their maximum capacity when they are forced to drink ice water. When such conditions exist, it is only natural that cows will drink only sufficient to keep up their body requirements.

Electricity Is Needed to Operate Water Motor

It is easy to install a water system that will give a supply of water at all times under pressure. The old-fashioned elevated tank in the attic or out side on a tower will work, but the latest development is a little compact self-contained automatic pump that costs less than $75. It consists of an automatic electric-pump a little pneumatic tank and the necessary pipe connections. Set it at the pressure desired—when the pressure drops the pump starts working and keeps on until the pressure is up again. The tank helps to maintain a steady pressure, which means a uniform flow. Of course electricity is necessary to operate the motor, but this is rapidly being made available almost every where.

Cream Separator

A cream separator properly installed, lubricated and operated under normal conditions from day to day should not have a wide variation in tests, but there are so many factors, such as temperature, speed of the machine, etc., that affect the tests that it is well to give all of these factors consideration before becoming suspicious of your cream buyer. When the cream screw is turned toward the center it will deliver a much richer cream.

Modern Dairy Methods

The saving of time and labor which is possible with modern dairy-barn construction may easily make the difference between profit and loss. Handled by old methods, the management of a dairy herd was a hard grind which took all the strength a man had, and gave a basis for the assertion that dairying was a dog's life. The newer methods and modern equipment make it possible to handle the job with much less labor and yet do it better.

The new Chevrolet is a car in which every feature of advanced design and completeness demanded in the finest cars is offered. It is sold in Farmington by Farmington Motor Sales, a truly wide-awake automotive firm.

Never before has the public demanded quality at moderate cost as they do today. And only through developing their own sources of raw materials and mass production has Chevrolet been able to meet this stern demand. Not only have the manufacturers imposed this rigid criterion upon themselves but they have also demanded that the rule be enforced through all State and County representatives, as well. The Farmington Motor Sales in Farmington have complied with every demand and requirement and even more. The manager has always in his dealings with the public taken a firm stand on the motto "Never distort the facts". Always a reputation for honest and fair dealings, it goes without saying that these methods have been compatable with the principles underlying the product sold by them.

Chevrolet offers to the motoring public in both passenger cars and trucks a multitude of new and exclusive features, which includes an improved motor of the valve-in-head type, a deeper and larger honey comb radiator, improved electrical equipment constituting the ignition, starter, generator, and battery, new non-locking four wheel brakes, new 4 and three quarter deep steel frame which is four inches longer, drop-forged front axle, ball bearing and gear steering mechanism, improved shock absorbers, highly improved single plate dry-disc clutch, gear, transmission and rear axle. In general equipment the Chevrolet gives the purchaser more and new added improvements than will be found in cars selling for double the amount at which the Chevrolet automobile is sold. Every new feature of advanced design found in the automobile world today has found its ultimate home and function in this wonder car that is being offered in 1928 by the General Motors. Coupled with this completeness of mechanical design is the finest of coach work, which is built by Fisher and the name of Fisher alone is sufficient coach work and also insures purchasers that they are getting the finest bodies that it is possible to build. No car near the price of the Chevrolet can list so many essential and desirable features. For reliability, dependable performance and economy of upkeep no car made today can surpass it, always quality at low cost.

This modern and up-to-date automotive establishment is ever ready and glad to serve you in any way possible and will gladly demonstrate any car or truck at your earliest convenience. They maintain a complete parts and service department which embodies the latest in machinery and methods and the most skilled mechanics to be found to care for your motor troubles. This firm is also always able to furnish the purchaser with a used car that gives quality in service at a price that pleases. They also have a complete accessory and tire department.

The publishers of this edition wish to congratulate this firm upon the thoroughness and completeness of their high grade service and upon the merits of the car which they have chosen to offer the public.—Adv.

GOOD ROADS

GOOD ROADS HELP TO TRUCK GROWER

When railroads fail to give satisfactory service in handling perishable truck crops, growers find that they can use the good roads of North Carolina to obtain results.

Growers of early cabbage and garden peas in the territory around New Bern are using trucks to haul their crops inland. Some farmers bring the crops to New Bern where they are loaded on railroad cars for quick shipment to Eastern markets, while others rely entirely on trucks to ship their products directly to the consumer. Some of the leading growers of the New Bern section state that they can get their crops into central North Carolina in less time and with more profit by using fast trucks. Several of these trucks loaded high with cabbage and peas were observed recently making their way inland to such towns as Wilson, Rocky Mount, Raleigh and Durham. Some of the shipments have been made even farther west to Greensboro with profit.

A fleet of trucks has been in operation out of the Chadbourn strawberry section this spring. One man reported that he was able to leave the vicinity of Chadbourn late in the afternoon and have his berries on the markets of Richmond, Washington and Baltimore early the next day. In many instances the buyers paid at least one dollar a crate more for berries so delivered.

The county agents of the state college extension service are encouraging this form of quick marketing and they find in many instances that farmers are overlooking the good, local market which exists for early truck crops right in North Carolina. Harry Shriver of New Bern disposes of nearly all the produce from his 400-acre farm by truck shipments. He states that it is more profitable to ship in this way than to depend on carlot shipments to the large eastern markets.

Forty-Seven States Plan 26,841 Miles of Road

The construction of 26,841 miles of road and the maintenance of 230,847 miles are included in the 1927 state highway programs of 47 states, according to reports received by the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture. The programs include also the construction of large bridges and the reconstruction of roads previously improved. In carrying out the programs it is expected there will be expended under the supervision of the state highway departments in the 47 states a total of $618,183,000. In addition to the state expenditures approximate estimates indicate that counties and other lesser subdivisions of government will expend during the year $450,000,000. Of the expenditures by state highway departments approximately $421,000,000 is the estimated amount for road construction and, according to present plans, more than $30,000,000 additional will be spent for new bridges. For reconstruction of existing roads it is estimated that the expenditure will be nearly $27,000,000 and for maintenance approximately $120,000,000.

British Columbia Plans Building of New Roads

Construction of new highways at an ultimate cost of $10,000,000 will be undertaken by British Columbia, according to an announcement by Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works.

"Projects in the new road building program," said Mr. Sutherland, "include a main automobile highway connecting British Columbia with Jasper National park in the Canadian Rockies, a motor road from Vancouver to Prince Rupert, a new highway through the coast mountains from the Chilcoten country to Bella Coola and a road following the course of the Columbia river."

Best-Lighted Rural Road in the United States

The Hylan boulevard on Staten Island claims the distinction of being the best lighted rural highway in the country.

The highway is used extensively by farmers, who find it convenient to bring their products to the city during the night.

There are 166 lumens per running foot of road. The lights are placed on high posts along the sides of the road. Formerly three 100-candle power lamps were used on each post but they are being replaced with a single 250-candle power unit which gives more efficient lighting.

Tax Boosts Roads

Highway improvement and road construction have received a great impetus in the Middle West due to increased funds available for this purpose from license fees and gasoline taxes. From a survey made of 14 states' reports on last year's highway activities, it is shown that these territories licensed 8,950,000 passenger cars and trucks, and from the revenue derived from this traffic the state governments were able to either pave or improve 9,000 miles of roads.
