PRIMARY TO BE HELD ON MARCH 4TH.

Will Choose 18 Nominees For Circuit Judge From Field of 222

The Wayne county primary election will be on Monday, March 4.

At that time voters of the township of Northville will go to the polls to choose one candidate for each of the offices of county auditor, and school commissioner, and 18 candidates for the office of circuit court judge.

The circuit court judgeship race is attracting the most attention here, since there are no less than 222 aspirants who have filed petitions for nomination to this office. Of this number, 183 are democrats and 39 are republicans.

For the office of county auditor there are 60 candidates, 52 of whom are democrats and eight are republicans. John Cowan, the present auditor, is listed among the candidates.

For the office of school commissioner, ten candidates have filed, nine of whom are democrats and one a republican. Eber Yost, present school commissioner, announces he will not be a candidate for re-election.

The polls in Northville will be open from 8 a. m. until 8 p. m. Monday. Voters of the first precinct who live on the west side of Center street, will cast their ballots at the village hall. Those living on the east side of Center street and listed in the second precinct will vote in the room below Gunsells drug store at Main and Center streets

WARNER NEAL HAS EYES INJURED AT U. OF M. ATOM TEST

Warner Neal, University of Michigan student, had a close call to being blinded Tuesday, Feb. 19, in the physics laboratory of the university when he caught the full force of an electrical explosion while "covering" an experiment for the Michigan Daily, the school newspaper of which he is a reporter.

Before he returned to school again Sunday, however, he was able to see almost as well as ever once more.

BIDDLE HAS IDEAL DEFROSTER THAT IS HIS OWN IDEA

An entirely original and unique method of keeping snow and ice off windshields of cars is used by T. P. Biddle in the buses that he operates on the Dearborn Coach Company's Northville-Five Points run.

Mr. Biddle uses a small electric fan of the type that is used in an auto heater. He has the fan mounted on the instrument panel to the left of the steering wheel in such a manner as to draw the heat from the heater up on the windshield.

In this way the windshield is kept warm enough so that no ice can form on it. Mr. Biddle says that this method is the best defroster that he has ever had or heard of.

By using a small ventilator on the window at his left, which is also home-made, and which allows air to escape only, Mr. Biddle has a unique ventilation system which brings in warm pure air through the heater and fan and takes the bad air out through the ventilator.

In addition to being a defroster and ventilation system, the fan gives his body the full benefit of the heater, and he never gets cold, even on zero days, Mr. Biddle says.

HAMILTON RECEIVES AGRICULTURAL JOB

After holding the office of supervisor of Novi township for the past seven years, Charles W. Hamilton announced this week that he will not be a candidate for re-election in the Novi township primary.

Mr. Hamilton has accepted a state position which he feels will take all of his time. It will be that of agricultural supervisor of Oakland, Macomb and Lapeer counties.

Mr. Hamilton withdrew the petitions Thursday, February 21, that his friends had filed, nominating him for re-election. This was the last day for withdrawing.

His decision will automatically make Frank Clark supervisor of the township, since he is the only nominee on either ticket. Mr. Clark had filed also on the republican ticket, opposing Mr. Hamilton. There is no democratic nominee. Township officials think Mr. Clark is assured of the position since there is little possibility of a "sticker candidate," or enough "write-in" votes for another aspirant.

This leaves only one contest in the Novi township primary March 1, that between William Mairs and Fred Smith for the office of high-

FULL TICKET PROMISED AT EACH CAUCUS

Northville Township Voters Will Pick Candidates On March 4

Both the republican and democratic parties of the township of Northville will nominate full tickets at their respective caucuses on Monday, March 4.

The republican caucus will be at 2:30 p. m. in the high school. The democrats will choose their ticket at 7:30 p. m. also at the school.

Most of the present office-holders have declared their intention to run for nomination again at the republican caucus with the exception of Mrs. Jennie Cousins, township treasurer. Mrs. Mollie Lawrence has announced that she will be a candidate for that office.

A. C. Balden has made known his intention to be a candidate for supervisor at the democratic caucus.

The other incumbents are Willard A. Ely, supervisor; Elmer L. Smith, clerk; E. A. Kohler, highway commissioner; Arthur S. Nichols and Dean P. Griswold, justices of the peace; Arthur J. Gotts, overseer of highways; G. C. Benton, member of the board of review; Frank N. Perrin, James Black, Ulie A. Tibbits, and Philip H. Donon, constables.

Arthur S. Nichols' term of office as justice of the peace will not expire until July, 1938. The other justice of the peace, Dean P. Griswold, will finish his present term of office this year, however. No one has yet publicly announced his intention of running for this office.

The democratic committee includes M. J. Murphy, R. H. Babbitt, F. E. VanAtta, Lillian Blake, and Mrs. Izetta M. Cavell.

PLYMOUTH PLANS NEW WATER SUPPLY

In the first step of a plan to improve Plymouth's water supply, a contract to be drawn up by the city manager of Plymouth and the Ohio Drilling Co. for the drilling of three test wells within its city limits was authorized by the city commission at a meeting of that body last week. This move was made in anticipation that federal funds for municipal projects might be released this year.

The test wells are to be drilled to determine whether the plan to develop a water supply in the city is feasible. If a source of water is found, it is planned to then drill a larger well which will supply a portion of the water required by the city.

The maximum capacity of the present water plant on Beck road is 879,840 gallons a day, or 611 gallons a minute. This capacity is obtained by running the two centrifugal pumps together, which is a very expensive operation, officials of Plymouth say. This capacity is inadequate for the peak days of the summer, when the reservoir is often drawn quite low.

To increase the capacity of the present water system, a larger cast iron water main, which would cost about $150,000, would be necessary. The advantage of locating the new water supply within the city is that the cost of the well and pump would cost only about one-tenth of this amount.

SALEM WILL HAVE FATHER AND SON BANQUET TONIGHT

This Friday evening the fathers and sons of Salem will get together in the Federated church for their round-up at a seven-thirty o'clock dinner.

R. T. Baldwin will speak, and an enjoyable program has been arranged for the mutual benefit of all. The ladies of the church have "let it out" that good things will come from the kitchen in order that the fathers and sons may feast well.

Tickets may be had at the banquet for twenty-five (25c) each and all "the big boys of this village should come and bring the little boys in order that no boy will be left home," say the committee.

More Than 500 Patients At San. Will Soon Enjoy Radio Reception From Hookup Made By Patients

The "radio fans" at the Maybury sanatorium are working hard these days in an effort to have radio reception at every bedside in the institution. At the present time these patients have hooked up 450 headphone sets at as many beds, and hope to have another 100 sets hooked up to the line within a short time.

Pat Dennis

All of these headphones are hooked up to one radio, which is a small table model, five-tube set. John Augustine, president of the Goodfellows' club there, and who was engaged in radio work before coming to the sanatorium, is in charge of the work.

The headphones have been largely contributed by people throughout the county who have heard Pat Dennis' plea broadcast over Detroit radio stations, and printed in his radio column in the Detroit Times. Recently several hundred headphone sets came to the sanatorium in this manner, and the patients all feel very grateful to Mr. Dennis for what he has done.

Every morning during the hour of exercise, this crew of "radio technicians" is busy on this project. Augustine says that a simple output transformer is all the system uses in addition to the regulation wiring.

Augustine is now working on a "sound head" for the motion picture projector in the auditorium. He hopes to have this finished within a week. At the present time, the projector can only show silent films.

He says the sound equipment will consist of only a transformer, a special electric lamp, a photo-electric cell, a lens, a slotted drum for the light to pass through to the photo-electric cell, an amplifier, and a loud speaker.

REV. W. R. BARBOUR ACCEPTS PASTORATE OF TWO CHURCHES

The Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, former pastor of the Baptist church here, has just accepted a call to two churches in what he considers a very important rural field.

The pastorate will include the First Baptist church of Union, located on U. S. 112 highway and the Mason Baptist church some five miles away in Cass county. The latter church is somewhat the larger of the two.

The Rev. Mr. Barbour will begin his new ministry Sunday, March 3. He says he feels that this is the best opportunity that has been furnished him in his entire career, and that these churches, while they are country churches have active congregations, and that he feels that he will enjoy serving them very much.

During the four years Mr. Barbour was pastor at the Baptist church here, the vacation Bible school was inaugurated, a teachers and officers monthly meeting started, and the church incorporated, a procedure which required much thought and labor.

Although there have been many deaths and other changes in the congregation in recent years, there is yet a large group of active members who united with the church during his pastorate there.

The Rev. and Mrs. Barbour plan to move to their new home shortly after March 15.

DR. LUCKIESH WILL SPEAK MARCH 7 ON EYESIGHT PROBLEM

Dr. Matthew Luckiesh, noted scientist, will speak in the auditorium of the Detroit Edison Building, 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit, at 2 p. m. on Thursday, March 7th, on a subject of vital interest. All principals and teachers of public, private and parochial schools; members of Parent-Teachers associations, health officers and social workers, oculists, optometrists, opticians and other people interested are invited to attend.

Dr. Luckiesh is the founder of what is known as "The New Science of Seeing," the new science which aims to save eyesight by preventing eye abuse. His scientific researches over a long period of years have brought to light a mass of valuable facts about eyesight, which forms the basis for his talk on "The New Science of Seeing."

NORTHVILLE WINS LEAGUE TITLE

N. H. S. COMPETES AT YPSILANTI IN DISTRICT PLAY-OFF

Northville high school's championship basketball team was in Ypsilanti competing in the first game of the district tournament there as the Record went to press Thursday evening. Their opponent was University high of Ann Arbor.

This is the same team that Northville defeated in the second game of the current season, 12-11, on December 7, 1934. University high eliminated Northville three out of four years in Regional and District tournaments. Followers of the team feel that Northville will be a serious threat for the state championship if they have won this game.

Providing the Orange and Black squad was victorious Thursday evening, they will play either Lincoln Consolidated of Ypsilanti or Romulus Friday. These two teams were to have played Thursday. Northville will have to win another game Saturday also in order to compete in the Regional tournament, which begins Friday, March 8, at Ypsilanti.

The local gymnasium floor is being torn up now in order to lay new "creeper" supports, the foundation timbers that set in the concrete base, and the floor boards under the top maple floor. Coach Ted Watts took the team to the Wayne County Training school and the Plymouth high school gymnasiums Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings this week for practice.

Record Crowd Sees Northville Climax Undefeated Season By Taking 14th Straight Victory

Northville high school basketball team climaxed an undefeated season Thursday night, February 21, when it won the Suburban league court title by defeating Melvindale, 22-16, in a thrill-packed game before a crowd of more than 400 persons in the local gymnasium.

It was the fourteenth straight victory of the season for the Orange and Black players. The issue was never decided until the last quarter.

The outcome looked doubtful, and with Melvindale having a slight edge until the last quarter. All through the first three quarters of the game Northville's much vaunted attack seemed unable to click, although through close guarding the Orange and Black five managed to hold the score down.

The action that finally decided the game in Northville's favor took place late in the last period. This quarter opened with Melvindale enjoying a lead of 14-13. Hoffman tied the score with a free throw in less than a minute after the period opened, but a field goal by Collins on the next play gave Melvindale a 16-14 lead again. Donald Bray, on a well executed play shortly afterward tied the score at 16-16.

Foul shots by Marburger and Myers put Northville in the lead then for the first time of the last half, 18-16. Then with only about 45 seconds left to play, Dayton Deal made a beautiful shot from the side of the floor to register another two points for the home team, and Bray followed with another shot from the other side to clinch the game and the championship for Northville.

From the opening whistle, the game was desperately fought, and played at a furiously fast pace. Melvindale seemed to get started earlier than Northville and was leading at the end of the first quarter, 5-2 by virtue of two field goals from right under the basket made so quickly that the Orange and Black's defense could not cover their men.

In the second period action speeded up somewhat with Northville finding the basket for 6 points to obtain an 8-7 lead at the half. Westphall, who entered the game in this quarter in place of Myers, made the deciding field goal just before the half ended by making good a shot from the middle of the floor.

It was in the third quarter that Northville's hopes looked slimmest, with Melvindale leading most of the time. The quarter began slowly, neither team willing to take chances, but action began within a minute. Melvindale's attack was functioning better than at any other time during the game, and although Northville tied the score more than once, their rivals were ahead at the end of the period, 14-13.

Myers came back into the game at this time, and was a greatly improved player. His work on defense in the last period was one of the deciding factors of the game, combined with the smart ball handling of his team-mates.

Northville finished the game much stronger than it started it, and this was largely due to the fact that the local lads managed to keep the ball in their possession most of the time during that heetic last quarter.

STAR-MASONIC BALL IS WELL ATTENDED

Northville's social set was largely present at the second annual Masonic-Eastern Star ball Friday evening at the high school gymnasium, and according to officials of the event, the dance was a gratifying success financially as well as socially.

Strassen's orchestra provided the dance tempos that lasted from 9:30 p. m. to 1:30 a. m. This occasion differed from other dances in Northville in that only the modern popular music was played.

The decorations were distinctive from other dances with the flags symbolizing Washington's birthday and the lighted star, and square and compass suspended in the center of the gymnasium beneath a canopy dotted with silver stars that formed the ceiling. Strings of colored lights across the gymnasium lent a festive atmosphere.

Refreshments were served, beginning at 11:30, consisting of assorted sandwiches, pickles, doughnuts, and coffee.

Mrs. Norman F. Dunne was the general chairman in charge of the affair. E. M. Bogart was the chairman of the Masonic committee.

The decoration committee was headed by Chub J. Smith and consisted of Eastern Star—Harry Bolton, Mrs. Harry Wagenschutz, Mrs. Willard A. Ely, Mrs. Clifford B. Turnbull, and Mrs. Helen Zimmer. Masonic: Willard A. Ely and Ralph Foreman. Miss Zona May Harris was chairman of the refreshment committee.

BOGART TO OBSERVE HIS 95TH BIRTHDAY

Marvin Bogart, well-beloved citizen of Wixom, and well-known in this community, will be honored at a gathering of the Wixom Farmer's club at a birthday party to be given at the Wixom Community hall on March 13. He will reach his ninety-fifth birthday on March 17. This will be an expression of the good will felt by a large numbers of friends who have known this good man from their youth. The affair will be a pot-luck dinner to which all his friends are welcome.

Marvin Bogart is in excellent health and has the energy of a man much younger. He engaged in a number of critical encounters in the Civil war and loves to talk of the days when he fought for the union.

Mr. Bogart is grandfather of E. M. Bogart of this village. He is the only living charter member of the Wixom Farmer's club.

GEORGE A. SMITH OF PLYMOUTH RECEIVES STATE APPOINTMENT

The appointment of George A. Smith, superintendent of the Plymouth schools to the state institute commission by Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald was announced this week.

Mr. Smith was a former member of the commission under previous administrations. He was retired two years ago when former Governor Comstock named a Lansing politician in his place.

One of the institutions over which the commission has control is the Coldwater public schools, for which Mr. Smith has a great interest, since it was there that he gained his early education and training.

Eighteen Judges Are To Be Elected In Wayne County, But The Voters Must Choose From 222 Candidates

Editor of the Northville Record:

No matter what we think of the principle of the primary election, no matter if we would prefer to have our judges elected on a non-partisan ballot or appointed by some commission in which partisanship has been eliminated, we can all agree that the unlimited primary election plan has this spring brought about a most ridiculous situation. It would be amusing if it were not so tragic.

In Wayne county we are to elect 18 circuit court judges. For these 18 judgeships there are 222 candidates, 39 republicans and 138 democrats.

Not all candidates on either ballot are qualified to fill these important judicial posts. Of the 222 candidates it is safe to say that not more than one-quarter of them expect to be elected or are worthy of the trust.

But the question that faces the earnest and careful voter is how to tell which 18 of the 183 democratic candidates are worthy of consideration, if he wishes to vote the democratic ticket. And to a lesser degree, the same question faces the voter who wishes to select the 18 best qualified judges from the 39 republican candidates.

Fortunately the voter has some aids offered him, in the task of soberly and carefully selecting the best judges. Without these aids, the average voter can only be at sea in making his selections. It may be of interest to our readers if we call attention to these aids for, after all, what we really want, deserve and should insist on having is the very best judges we can obtain, be they republican or democrat.

Practicing attorneys know the qualifications of their fellow attorneys and the judges before whom they practice better than the average layman can expect to. The following paragraphs will show what these attorneys think of the various candidates.

The Detroit Bar association recently held a primary in which its members voted for 18 candidates on each ticket. There were 1,132 ballots cast, and the 18 candidates selected as the best material contained the names of every one of the present circuit court judges.

The Wayne County Bar association held a similar primary a few days later. There were 1,715 votes cast and the same incumbent judges were overwhelmingly selected.

The Detroit Times, at about the same time, held a poll of attorneys in Wayne County, whether members of any bar association or not. There were more than 3,000 ballots cast, and the highest 18 names again included the present circuit court judges whose names appear elsewhere in this issue.

There then is the concrete judgment of the 3,000 citizens in Wayne county best qualified to pick the most desirable candidates from the long list of applicants. This expressed opinion has thus given the average uninformed voter a safe guide for his ballot at the spring primary which will be held on March 4th.

—Northville Citizen.

Charles A. Dolph Is Honored By His Bible Class As He Retires After Leading It For 30 Years

Thirty consecutive years of teaching a Sunday school class are deserving of some recognition, thought the members of the "Dolph Bible Class, who planned a get-together of all the members who could be rounded up Thursday evening at the Methodist church house. The occasion was made a "family night" and a large number sat down together in pleasant sociability to honor one of their number, Charles A. Dolph, who is retiring after 30 years of faithful service.

Beginning with a small class of six young folks back in 1905, the class grew to a membership of 50 whose faithful attendance was further encouraged by the fact that a number of romances budded and blossomed right under the very eyes of this understanding teacher.

Like a veritable patriarch does this teacher feel after watching the third generation come along during his tutelage. Altogether Mr. Dolph (who is strong on statistics) counts up the total attendance as 21,000 and the total amount contributed by this class as $1,000.

Of this number it may be said to the teacher's credit that, to his knowledge, none has "gone wrong" though several have come to a tragic end.

The original six members were Guy Pilkins, Glenn Wald, Grace Dickerson-Knight, Lydia Lanning-McCardle, Ethel VanValkenburgh-Potts and Jennie Vanderhoef-Higgins.

During his teaching Mr. Dolph has piloted his class through six of the nine series of the International Bible lessons and has thrown into the lessons a generous amount of sound, practical philosophy.

At the close of the dinner Orlow G. Owen led the company in a "sing" which put them in proper mood for the program following.

Dr. H. H. Mallinson introduced the toastmaster, John H. Kenyon of Detroit, a one-time member of this class, who in turn presented the speakers.

S. S. Stalter, superintendent of the Sunday school, bespoke the appreciation of the school for the services of Mr. Dolph. Mrs. Gladys Cobb-Ballard and Mrs. Leo Lawrence were representatives of two periods in the class history. Mrs. Lawrence concluding her remarks with a token of the affection of the class.

Mr. Dolph responded appropriately and the event closed with the benediction in song. It is estimated that at least 30% of the members of the class

WHAT ABOUT THE GOLD DECISION?

The newspapers and the stock markets paid a great deal of attention to the gold decision by the Supreme Court which upheld President Roosevelt in putting less gold into each gold dollar.

The Supreme Court took a lot of time to find out what it was all about—just as college professors with their Ph. D. degrees are a long while in learning a lot of theories that sometimes have later to be limited or qualified.

The average run of common people know about as much of the technicalities of the gold decision as a ten-year old knows of the Einstein theory. So we all looked wise and using the little smattering of ideas we did have about the matter, gave our opinion, pretty much in keeping with the things we read in our favorite daily paper.

Five judges thought it was all right to make the gold stretch out farther. The other four were pretty bitter—one in particular very much so — in saying that the right of contract had been broken. A pretty tight decision, so the truth can't be all on one side.

Practically speaking, we should say that the decision made little difference in the purchasing power of any one's gold bonds—U. S. currency is still good.

And yet we are not sure that the whole thing was settled in the right way. We have just carefully read the five reasons that Herbert Hoover, former president, gives for his appeal for a return to the gold standard. These reasons are pretty convincing and we still have the great faith in Mr. Hoover to believe that he said all this with the best interests of his country at stake.

The decision has helped business—pretty much because we are opportunists, the Detroit Free Press says. Yet with such an authority as Walter Lippman saying that the "administration is weaker" in the way it is handling public policies, we are not so sure that we have the end of the gold business. We shall see what we shall see.

A BIG ASSET FOR NORTHVILLE

"Without water we perish."

It is a significant fact that the Plymouth city water supply which comes from springs on the Beck road supply the life giving fluid to our neighboring town at the rate of nearly a million gallons a day. To be exact, 611 gallons are pumped every minute. That amount per day is an amazing amount of water.

A good supply of healthful water is one of any community's finest assets. Underlaid as it is—figuratively speaking, by lakes of water, Northville has a great advantage. We have the water supply now for our present population, and best of all, we seem to have enough locked up under feet—perhaps many hundreds of feet—for a continued growth of our community. In California, as cities and towns grow, it is a constant fight to get and keep a sufficient amount of water, without which the land goes back to the desert. What wouldn't some of those California places give for Northville's flowing water!

The pure water that runs out day and night from the spring by the Pere Marquette station brings to our village every month hundreds of people. None of these hundreds who come from Detroit, Wayne and points between, ever ask any more: "Just where is Northville?" Water and more water have told them where Northville is.

Speaking of water, wouldn't Northville make a wise community investment to build and maintain a swimming pool, which in the winter could be used for a skating rink? Other places are building these pools and finding that they will fill a real need in the lives of the people, especially the younger generation. A few summers such as we had last year would almost pay for the construction of a swimming pool. Northville has the unfailing water supply. When shall we build the pool?

THE CHANGE IN SAFE INTEREST

Up until about 1929, if a successful farmer had been thrifty and had saved $10,000 in cash he could sit down and say with perfect accuracy:

"Well, wife, we have ten thousand dollars all saved and if we wanted to retire we could put this out on mortgages and get six per cent a year. That would make us $600 a year. We have the home and farm paid for and with the children gone, why not retire and take it a little easier. We have enough to live comfortably."

And most of us who have lived long enough can remember many a good farmer who did just that very thing. He either sold the farm or made a deal with his son to run it and then he and Friend Wife came to the village or city, to settle down and live on the returns from the farm and that saved-up ten thousand dollars. In nine cases out of ten, of course, both the farmer and his helpmate had worked so hard and had taken so little time to learn how to play or to live leisurely, that when they got "to town" they were lost without their daily routine and they were not as happy as they were in the old days of "grubbing and." But that wasn't the fault of the $10,000 that was bringing in the six per cent every year. That seldom failed us until about five years ago.

What would happen to the farmer now who took his thousand dollars to town to "take it easy?" Unless he were an exceptionally good business man of experience, he wouldn't know where to turn to invest that money at six per cent. In fact the other day a Detroit banker told us that it was very difficult now to invest safely and get a return of more than four per cent. Until our national monetary policies are more settled, it might be hard even to invest with perfect security for more than three per cent.

We hear lots of talk of inflation. Well, we submit that right here in the drop of safe interest rates, we have one example of inflation, no matter by what name you call it. And neither Mr. Hoover, the persecuted, nor Mr. Roosevelt, the adored, had anything to do about this change. The world simply broke in pieces over our heads in 1929 and we are just starting to get over the headache.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Everyone thinks he (or she) has to have a car. One in a thousand thinks that he can travel abroad. Yet the cost of the car and of the trip to Europe are not far apart—in fact the trip might be made more cheaply. Explain that, will you?

* * *

Pressed by some of his friends to give his idea of the New Deal policies, an old farmer of Ohio said: "Well, men, all I've got to say is that President Roosevelt has a lot of hay down." You folks who were raised on a farm will know what he was "driving at."

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Who is Northville's most useful citizen?

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

About 50 members of the Northville bowling fraternity gathered at the Meadowbrook Inn on the Ten Mile road Friday evening at which time the winners of the House League were presented with prizes at this informal party sponsored by Bob Lee, proprietor of the Recreation bowling alleys.

Dr. A. T. Holcomb of Novi has made a splendid record during his 50 years of service as a country physician.

To do honor to their members of longest standing, the members of Orient chapter, No. 77, of O. E. S., and the Northville lodge, No. 186, F. & A. M. held a dinner party Friday that was one of the biggest of the year.

There is frost in the ground to a depth of four feet, says one of our observant citizens.

Ernest Taylor is the new postmaster at Walled Lake. He succeeds Cameron Rose, who resigned.

Robert Jaffray, 77 years old, veteran printer and resident of a farm near Walled Lake, and his wife, Mrs. Clara Isinger Jaffray, 72, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday. The festivities took place at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Grace LeVoy, in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stillwell announce the wedding of their daughter, Margaret Louise, to Jack Linwood Dewsbury of Detroit, on November 18 1933.

5 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White were honored Wednesday, March 5, on the occasion of their fortieth wedding anniversary, when friends and relatives gathered at their home and held a delightful evening together.

Mrs. Mary L. Woodworth, at the age of 83 years, passed away Tuesday, March 4 at the home of her son, Frank Woodworth. Funeral services were held at Schrader's funeral home Thursday, March 6, with the Rev. William Richards officiating.

Supt. William Gordon, who has been at the head of Northville's schools for the past four years, announced his resignation this week. It came as a surprise to everyone in Northville, since he had never intimated any desire to leave.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

A BAD EXAMPLE

(Muskegon Heights Record)

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., has reached a belated decision. He says he will not again be seen in a court room on a charge arising from the use of his automobile. This is good news for the traveling public. Young Roosevelt is not a less menace to safety as the son of the President of the United States than he would be as the son of the town crier of Painted Post, Nev.

During the last two and a half years he has been arrested four times for speeding. Last March he struck a 60-year-old woman in Boston. In April he was fined $20 for having out-of-state plates on an automobile without permission of the state authorities. On New Year's morning at Wayne, Pa., his car skidded and struck another car. In Orange, Conn., last week he was fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge.

The record establishes the fact that Young Roosevelt belongs to that reckless and irresponsible class of motorists who should be denied the use of the highways. Wrecked cars and sudden death lie in their wake. Unless he adheres to his determination to reform his license should be revoked.

THIS ONE THING ENDURES

"Then what has endured? Just one thing throughout the ages, and that is the love and the tenderness and the mercy and the forgiveness of God as interpreted by Jesus Christ His only Begotten Son. It is the justification of the poet in his statement that

"Only the actions of the just Smell sweet and blossom in the dust."

"In order to live, there must be the justice of Christianity.

"And Christianity itself is in the balance today. It is not that Christianity is in danger, but that the human vehicle is again to be wrecked upon the rocks of its own insufficiency, unless it turneth itself to God in repentance, and in humility and in dedication to the only Source of life on this earth and of immortality beyond.

"Wars and wickedness do not pay. Only God and goodness and mercy endure."

CLOSE TO THE PEOPLE

(J. John Pope in Grandville Star)

Gov. Fitzgerald is said to have made the following statement to intimate friends: "After the highbrows get through injecting their thoughts, after they have made their declarations and emphasized their views I usually sneak back to Grand Ledge, my old home, and ask the opinion of my humble neighbors."

This statement comes from a man who had endeared himself to the hearts and in the minds of the citizenry of a great state ever since he came to the attention of public notice. The Governor's reaction to highbrow views is much like the opinion of many of our big daily newspapers.

If you want to get cross-section opinion of many important considerations seek thee some country newspaper editor—who hobnobs with the high and lowly, who feels the pulse of the citizenry most intimately. Which leads me to remark that we have become altogether too technical and too specialized, too smart, too individualistic, too narrow, standing in our shadow as it were and therefore cannot see the other side or a horse-sense side of an argument.

OUR "COW COLLEGE"

(From the Michigan Farmer)

A Lansing editor, who gets out a weekly "unbiased portrayal of state affairs and politics," seems to be greatly disturbed over conditions at Michigan State college and in first page editorials he points with alarm to the fact that the institution has apparently degenerated into a "cow college," as he flippantly calls it, and it is on the shoulders of President Robert S. Shaw that he has seen fit to place the blame.

This editor is to be commended for his keen observation. One of these days he will discover that Michigan State College is the first and oldest land grant institution in the United States, and that its original purpose was the creation of more efficient and scientific farmers. He is paying the present administration a real compliment for keeping that fact in mind.

George M. Cohan In "Gambling" At Penniman-Allen Saturday; "Bachelor Of Arts" Wednesday

The next attraction at the Penniman-Allen theatre next Saturday, March 2, will be "Gambling," starring George M. Cohan and based on his own famous mystery melodrama of the same title, in which he appeared on the stage for two years. It has been produced by Harold B. Franklin, a showman long familiar with the exhibition end of pictures, for Fox release, and has been adapted and directed by Rowland V. Lee, who megaphoned such recent photoplays as "Zoo in Budapest," "I Am Suzanne" and "Count of Monte Cristo."

Featured in Cohan's support are Wynne Gibson and Dorothy Burgess, with Ted Newton, Walter Gilbert, Percy Ames, Robert Strange, Cora Witherspoon and Harold Healy in other prominent roles. Camera work was handled by Jack Mackenzie, who photographed Harold Lloyd's latest picture, "The Cat's Paw." Sets were designed by the noted artist, Clark Robinson, and the gowns by the New York modiste, Hattie Carnegie.

Cohan apparently is his own inimitable self in the picture—the personality that made historic successes of his many plays and musical pieces and that brought such magnetism to the leading role in the Theatre Guild's production of Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness." Cohan is now touring in the latter play and has resumed his highly successful radio appearances. He composed a new song, which he himself sings, for the picture version of "Gambling." It is entitled "My Little Girl."

Described as a fast-moving, witty and honest story of college life—"a college picture without a football game"—Fox Film's "Bachelor of Arts" will be at the local theatre on Wednesday, March 6.

America's foremost satirical humorist, John Erskine, author of "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" and other notable books, wrote the novel from which this Fox production was filmed. Erskine knows college life intimately (he is himself a professor at Columbia university) and he has confessed that he was irked by the far-fetched and fantastic college stories and films recently current.

It is anticipated then that "Bachelor of Arts" will prove the truest and most authentic picture of a university world yet produced—an honest and "debunked" picture, in which all college life isn't rah-rah-rah!

Tom Brown and Anita Louse have the two chief roles in this gay new production and important parts are also assigned to Henry B. Walthall, Mae Marsh, Arlene Judge and Stepin Fetchit.

Lemar Trotti adapted the story from the best-selling John Erskine novel and Louis King directed the film. John Stone was the producer.

Northville Five Defeats Melvindale 22-16 to Win Suburban Title

NORTHVILLE FIVE ENTERS TOURNAMENT

Northville Basketball Quintet Defeats Melvindale To Capture Its First Suburban League Basketball Championship; Team Wins 14 Consecutive Games

The Northville high school basketball team clinched its first Suburban league championship by defeating Melvindale, 22 to 16, in a very hard-fought game here last Friday night.

Don Bray and Dayton Deal were the high-point men of the game, each chalking up eight points.

The game was played before approximately 500 spectators who had come to witness the game which determined whether Northville would win the championship or whether they would tie for the lead with Melvindale.

This was Northville's fourteenth consecutive victory of the season and they also have won two practice games against Walled Lake and Milford.

Northville defeated University high of Ann Arbor, Redford Union and defeated the following teams twice: Plymouth, Van Dyke, Farmington, Trenton, Melvindale, and Berkley. Northville scored 402 points while its opponents scored only 206.

Coach Watts was successful this year in developing a smooth team which its opponents found impossible to beat.

Marburger, guard for the local team, sank the first basket of the game putting Northville in the lead over the Red and White. Collins of Melvindale followed with two points for his team. Bobik scored a foul shot, putting Melvindale in the lead, three to two. Hyder scored the last basket of the quarter, giving Melvindale a three-point lead over Northville as the quarter ended.

Northville came back to open the second quarter with renewed hopes, scoring three baskets to one for the Red and White. Bray scored the first two baskets of the quarter for the Orange and Black. Bobik sank a basket for Melvindale, making the score seven to six in favor of Melvindale. Westphall scored the last basket of this quarter and put the Orange and Black in the lead 8-7 as the half ended.

Melvindale Regains Lead

The Orange and Black cagers had a one-point lead over its rivals at the opening of the second half. The period started off with Marburger sinking a foul shot for Northville. Next Collins of Melvindale tied the score 9-9 by sinking a basket. Northville made two baskets during the remainder of the quarter while Melvindale made two baskets and one foul shot, putting them in the lead as the quarter ended by the score of 14 to 13.

Northville Edges Ahead

Northville finally got into its usual stride during the fourth quarter. Hoffman scored a foul shot for the Orange and Black cagers and Keehner made a basket for Melvindale.

This proved to be the last point scored by Melvindale and Northville scored three baskets and two foul shots, putting them in the lead, 22 to 16, as the game ended.

Northville proved very good on both defense and offense during this last quarter.

Reserves Win 22 to 12

The reserves also defeated Melvindale by the score of 22 to 12. This was the reserves' thirteenth victory of the season. The record of the second team was spoiled by Plymouth in the return game. Junod was high-point man with seven points.

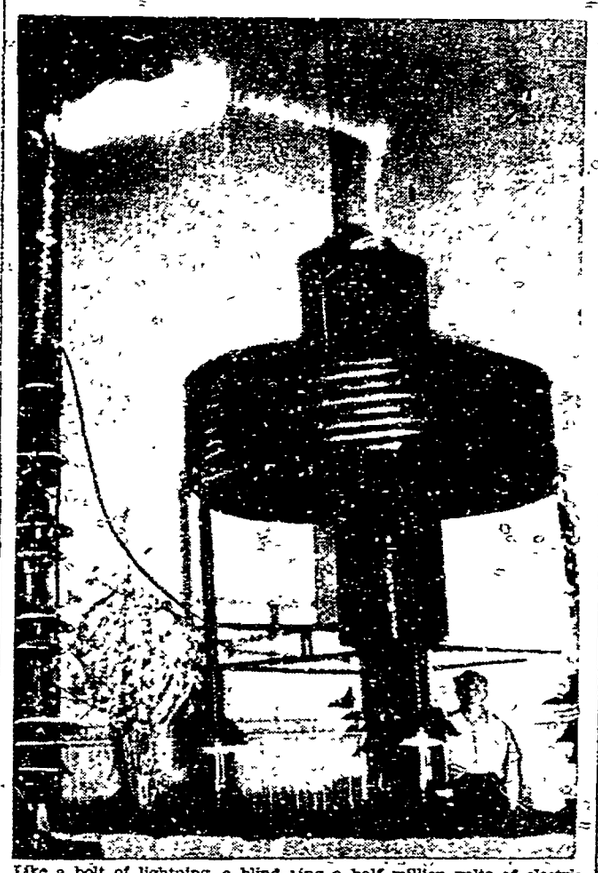
FEATURE OF ELECTRICAL LECTURE



Like a bolt of lightning, a blinding blue flame leaps from the weird looking machine shown above. It is a huge coil constructed by students and faculty at the School of Engineering, and is capable of throwing a half million volts of electricity in an arc through the air. The result of years of work, it will be exhibited publicly as one feature of the demonstration lecture "Wonders of electricity" at the Northville high school on March 7.

Back Stage

By Ida Altman

It is really very interesting to go back stage in some of our large theatres. When you first enter the stage door there is a man who turns away all autograph hunters and lets only actors get through. If you can get past him you are set for excitement.

You see men in their shirt sleeves on the stage working on the sets and doing the last bit of checking up. There seem to be hundreds of ropes to be pulled. You see the curtain which is drawn, and admire how beautiful it is.

If it is a musical show, you see beautiful girls coming out and going to their dressing rooms. The chorus boys also go to their rooms. When they come in they always go to the stage doorman's room and ask for their mail. Some of them have those affected voices.

As the time before the performance begins to grow shorter, the stars of the show come hurrying in. Generally, the stars are the last ones to enter. They generally have a dressing room of their own with a big gold star on the door. On the dressing tables there are loads of creams and different things for make-up.

These interesting people never seem to be a bit nervous, even a minute before the curtain rises and the theatre is filled to capacity.

There are usually two wardrobe ladies who take care of the costumes. They are interesting to talk to. Some have been famous stars in their day, and younger people have taken their places. These women seem to be sewing all the time; the costumes are forever ripping, and it is part of their job to keep them in repair. They also check up the girls before they go on to see if the costumes are all right because if a chorus girl goes on the stage with a glove or any other article missing she may lose her job.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Do you think the students will support a baseball team this year?

Eddie Bender—Yes, I think they would if the school could produce the good team which they are capable of.

Irvin Marburger—Yes, I think so, by all means. We have a large number of students who would like to play baseball, and the cost of supporting a team is very small.

Helen Christensen—Yes, I believe the student body will back the team this year. I believe the students could be just as interested in this sport as they are in basketball and football if we have a good team.

Nancy McLoughlin—I think if a choice must be made this year the students will support track rather than baseball. School spirit went toward track last year.

Sallee Richardson—No, I don't think the school will support the baseball team this year. Track is easily the favorite.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

N. H. S. Wins Championship

We on behalf of the student body wish to congratulate the Northville high school basketball team and Coach Watts for winning the Suburban league championship.

The N. H. S. cagers set a record which has never been equaled by any previous N. H. S. basketball team. They won 14 consecutive scheduled games and two practice games and didn't meet up with a single defeat during the season.

The Orange and Black team will enter the District Tournament at Ypsilanti this week and we hope that they will continue their winning streak. Why not make it 20 straight victories and win the state championship?

Last Friday, the Orange and Black team played one of its hardest fought games of the season when they defeated Melvindale. Although Melvindale was ahead of Northville twice and tied with them three times, the Orange and Black cagers came out at the end victors.

We are proud of such a team as we have this year. This team will go down in the history of Northville school sports.

We have been wondering whether Warner Neal was trying to disguise himself when he was home last week-end or whether he really had to wear those dark glasses. You'll have to give an account of yourself, Warner.

Catherine Gibson was a visitor at school last Thursday and Friday. She was called out of chemistry class. Someone opened the door and said, "Catherine's wanted on the 'phone." We have been wondering ever since whether it was Big Rapids or from some other place.

On behalf of the student body of Northville grade and high school we wish to express our deepest sympathy to Ruth and Norman Campbell in their recent bereavement.

America Means Opportunity

Individuals are sometimes inclined to believe that their lack of wealth has barred them from success. However, outstanding examples may be given that neither wealth nor poverty have detained men from climbing the ladder of fame.

Neither George Washington, born to wealth, nor, Abraham Lincoln, born to poverty, was barred from rising to the highest office a citizen of America may attain. Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller, reared in moderate circumstances, became the wealthiest men of the United States.

These great men have attained such positions only through sheer courage, ambition, and a desire for greater objects in life. If only a minority of the people would refrain from "drifting along," and make the best of their talents; they would benefit not only themselves, but also their community.

Honesty

"Honesty is the best policy" is an oft repeated phrase, a truth which is profound and searching.

Who is the most respected man in the community, for whom everyone speaks a good word? The honest man. No matter how lowly his occupation how limited his resources, the desirable trait of honesty distinguishes him from the individual who has accumulated his material possessions by unscrupulous dealings with unsuspecting victims.

ELECTRICAL SHOW WILL BE GIVEN ON THURSDAY, MARCH 7

On March 7, everyone in Northville will have the rare opportunity of actually seeing the electrical exhibit that they have been reading about, for the nominal sum of twenty-five cents.

The school children will have the opportunity of seeing the same exhibit on the afternoon of March 7 for only 15 cents.

This feature program is being brought here under the auspices of the senior class of Northville high school not for the sole purpose of making money, but to give the people of this section an opportunity to witness the latest advances in the electrical world.

This will be one of the most unique and interesting entertainments ever given here and will be worth coming a long distance to see.

Television, the electrical eye, talking arc light, man-made lightning and others will be demonstrated by Oscar W. Meissner, Engineer-Lecturer, who will present the "Mysteries of Electricity."

An artificial flash of lightning will be shot through the body of a well-known native of this town, who has volunteered as a subject for this experiment.

SIX SENIORS HAVE ENOUGH CREDITS TO FINISH SCHOOL NOW

Seniors Are Not Certain About Graduating From Local Theatre

Among the fifty-eight seniors of this year's graduating class, only six could have graduated at the end of the first semester. They are David Martens, who is not attending school the second semester, Tom Carrington, Violet Johnson, Mary Elizabeth Elkington, Mary Louise Boyden and Dorothy Richardson.

Mary Louise and Dorothy have almost the same amount of credits. Mary Louise has 20 1/2 and Dorothy has 20.

SENIOR CLASS WILL SELL TICKETS FOR STATE EXPOSITION

The senior class of Northville high school will be the only organization in Northville selling tickets for the Detroit and Michigan Exposition which recently coined the name "Little World's Fair."

The exposition begins March 9 at Convention hall and remains open until the evening of March 17.

The tickets sell for 25 cents each and by buying your tickets from the seniors before March 9 you will help them towards going to Washington, as they are given a commission by the exposition for all tickets they can dispose of before the "Little World's Fair" opens.

The main interest of the committee (of which Charles E. Rogers of Northville is a member), is to show the people of the state how Michigan "serves the world."

This exposition has been designated by the Michigan Historical Society and the Detroit Historical Society as the first major event of the State's two-year Centennial.

A daily cooking school will be conducted by the Detroit Free Press and a daily style show will be conducted by the Detroit Times. Free merchandise will be awarded every afternoon at 4:30 and an automobile will be given away every evening at the exposition. Your ticket gives you a chance to win some of these prizes.

The Count and Countess Alfred Von Niezychowski, the Princess Sofie Maksoutoff of Russia, the Baroness Eitel Friedrich Rodiger von Manteuffel of Berlin and other colorful internationals will serve on the committee with Michigan women for society night.

The State Legislature will adjourn and attend the exposition and Lanny Ross will make four appearances daily. An auditorium is being built inside Convention Hall, where the exposition will take place to seat Ross' listeners.

Hysterical Hitch-Hikers Fail To Hike And They Find It Is "Simply Too Invigorating, Or Something"

By FLORENCE JOHNSON

"There is nothing like taking a good long hike on a cold frosty afternoon," I remarked to Squirt and Winnie, as we were tramping along the highway to Plymouth.

"Yeah, I guess you're right," Winnie says. "It's so refreshing, if you get what I mean—oh heck, skip it."

Just then a car slowed down and the driver leaned out the open window and asked: "Would you like a ride?"

Did we pause? We lusty hikers? Well I guess not. Forgotten were the joys of hiking and the open road.

Reaching Plymouth, our destination, sooner than we had anticipated, we had to kill time till the show opened. Much to the dismay of the proprietors, we proceeded to inspect the wares of the various shops. While Winnie and Squirt were trying to convince the clerk in one of the grocery stores that he should sell them three apples for a nickel, who should walk in but Helen Chris, the gal with the giggle in her voice. She joined our party and we all embarked to the matinee to witness one of those Chinese murder pictures. Aside from the incident where someone sat in the seat in front of [illegible] and my letting out a heart-rending shriek, and Winnie trying to peg the backs of various people with apple cores, nothing much happened until after the show. The mysterious Mr. Wong was nicely disposed of, much to everyone's relief.

We were already seated in Helen's royal chariot when she remembered that something was wrong with the brakes and we would not be able to back out very well. (My knowledge of automobiles. Oh my!)

Luckily, the majority of the "Simps" were passing by and we urged them to push our ornary vehicle. (Naturally, we couldn't get out and help ourselves.) Some of the Plymouth citizens were present and bade Helen to drive on over the sidewalk so that she could get a better start. By this time our chauffeur was nigh into hysterics, she was laughing so hard. She managed though, and after barely missing the window of the building, backed up, with the aid of the crowd, which had increased doubly by this time.

When we finally left the block, we heaved a sigh of relief, thinking our troubles were over, but we were wrong again. [illegible] entered the store, she discovered her money was gone. So—we returned to the theatre and with the assistance of the usher's flashlight, and of Squirt, who kindly pointed out where we sat, by the candy wrappers under the seats, we managed to retrieve the money.

All went well then and we reached Northville without further mishaps. We all agreed that it had indeed been a lovely hike and we would like to go again sometime. It's so invigorating—or something.

Graduation Dresses

By Phyllis Flaherty

Why is it that at graduation the girls have to dress similar? And why is it up to the mothers to decide on the style of the dress? Every senior girl is capable and old enough to select her own clothes.

Some girls want sport clothes and others want semi-formals. Why not let them wear what they want and be satisfied at least one day. The problem has been solved that way at other schools, why not here?

It would look more attractive on the stage to see girls in all colors and styles of clothes, and see a happy, satisfied smile on their faces than to see them in one style and one color of dress with a forced smile and a look of dissatisfaction. This is their day, why not let them have

FRANK D. SMITH IS PRIMARY CANDIDATE FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

In supporting Frank Day Smith, republican candidate for circuit judge in the primary election, March 4, the Seventeenth Congressional District Republican club feels that certain outstanding facts of Mr. Smith's life and career are due the voters of the district.

His interests are those of the average man—home, school and society. Schooled by experience, practice, hard work and a kindly heart, Frank Day Smith is the ideal man from this district to sit upon the judicial bench.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of the John Marshall Law university of Chicago and of the Detroit College of Law. His affiliations are: Exchange club, Optomist International, Masonic, 32nd degree, Michigan State Guard, a member of the Wayne County Republican committee, member of the Board of Governors, Wayne County Republican Delegates league, Michigan Bar association, and past president of the Wayne County Bar association.

It should mean something to you to know that a man who is qualified, sincere, trustworthy, incorrupt, and, in addition to that, a resident and homeowner in your own district will sit on the bench of the circuit court. If it does, ask for a republican ballot March 4 and put the X by the name of Frank Day Smith.

Remember, the primary vote is important. It will elect your candidate or defeat him.

Be there, vote, and vote republican!

SPEEDY COURT SYSTEM NEEDED, SAYS VAN AUKEN

Court procedure should be speeded up so that trials are concluded in a shorter time than they now are, says Howell Van Auken, candidate for circuit judge on the Democratic ticket.

Here is how Mr. Van Auken thinks a more efficient tribune could be established and he pledges himself to fulfill each point of his program:

1. Each judge to put in a full days work each day.
2. Decisions to be made within a reasonable length of time.
3. An early trial, once the case is started.
4. Every litigant to be granted an impartial counsel.

WHICH IS SERVANT, PUBLIC OR JUDGE, ASKS J. E. FRAZER

Are circuit court judges to be considered public servants or is the public to be subservient to these judges?

James E. Frazer, candidate for circuit court judge on the democratic ticket, charges that the present judges take an attitude of superiority and disdain.

"The rights of attorneys are not recognized by the vast majority of Circuit Court judges," Mr. Frazer said in amplifying his charges.

"When an attorney cannot get proper recognition or an opportunity to represent his client, there is another grave injustice done to the public, who, through their taxes, are paying the salaries of these judges," Mr. Frazer pointed out.

"I pledge to treat every lawyer with the respect due him, both as a representative of one who is in trouble, and has come to the Court for assistance and as a fellow lawyer."

SESSIONS HOSPITAL

Miss Evelyn Bovee who has been a medical patient in the hospital since Dec. 24, is now able to sit up half of each day.

Mrs. Ella Klawunder and Carl Miller, the latter of Plymouth, are soon to be discharged after recovery.

Betty Baatz underwent tonsilectomy Feb. 23.

Roy Warner and Chester Budd were taken to the hospital for first aid treatment and stitches after cuts and bruises received in an auto accident.

Miss Eleanor Gendrum of Plymouth received first aid after an auto accident.

Limitations

Broadly speaking, the period of limitation is six years. The law states specifically that absence from the district where the offense was committed shall not be taken as any part of the time limitation by law for the commencement of such proceedings.

Northville Meets University High At Ypsilanti On February 28

Having won the Suburban league championship, the Orange and Black basketball team will now compete for the district championship to be held at Central high gym in Ypsilanti Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. With University high as the opposing team, it promises to be an exciting game.

The coaches assembled together and drew numbers in order to find the school their team would be compelled to play. By eliminating the losing school every time, it will finally be reduced to two teams. Both winner and runner-up are then eligible for the regional meet.

There will be seven teams competing for the district championship. Coach Watts states that this meet will probably be one of the toughest district tournaments in the state.

All basketball fans of Northville should turn out for this event and lend their hearty support to the Northville boys.

EUGENIA STANFORD NAMED YOUNGEST JR. HIGH MEMBER

An age census was taken last week in the junior high. It was discovered that Eugenia Stanford was the youngest. She is now eleven years of age. Eugenia was born in Sheffield, Alabama, September 30, 1923. She has attended this school for six and one-half years and is now enrolled in the seventh grade.

SENIORS HELD CLASS MEETING LAST MONDAY

Plans For Graduation Are Discussed; Diplomas Are Ordered

A special senior class meeting was called by Tom Carrington, the president of the senior class, Monday morning during the first hour to discuss plans for graduation.

As is the custom, the Board of Education has already placed the order for the diplomas. Fifty-eight have been ordered, and only one or two are uncertain of graduating. If the students desire to have suede on their diplomas, they should place their order now with Mrs. Yerkes. The price of the cover must accompany the order.

Tom Carrington has charge of the commencement announcements. If more than fifteen announcements are wanted, he should be notified. The school board furnishes each student with fifteen invitations. These invitations will be distributed late in May through Mr. Baldwin.

As this is being written, it is not certain that graduation exercises of the class of '35 will be held in the Penniman-Allen theatre, but further information will be given later. If it is possible to acquire the theatre about 200 more people can be accommodated.

The composite picture for the seniors will soon be available. Every senior is entitled to this picture, whether or not he had his picture taken from the Camp studios.

Mr. Amerman urged the boys to get together and decide what they are going to wear for the three occasions, class night, baccalaureate, and graduation.

Rev. H. G. Wolfhelt has charge of the Baccalaureate services this year. The service will be on Sunday evening, June 2. Class night is June 4, and commencement, June 6. These are the dates now, but they may be changed if the school term is cut to 8-2 months.

The scouts were asked to apply committees for class night. The faculty committee has already been appointed by P. B. Thompson. It is also probable that members of the junior class will act as usher for the class night.

Mr. Amerman also announced that the valedictorian and the salutatorian would be read publicly within a week or ten days.

DEPARTMENT NOTES

They're off! No, not off their seats but off for a trans-continental flight.

The second semester typing classes, under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Taylor, are now working for a new goal. Last semester the typing pupils each had a graph on which their accuracy tests were recorded and the number of errors they made. This semester Mrs. Taylor has devised a clever scheme. Each pupil has an airplane.

The airplanes all have names, such as "Hi-Speed," "Spirit of N. H. S.," "75," "S. O. S." and other odd, clever names.

A large chart with Newfoundland on one end and Paris on the other is tacked on the board. This route was chosen, because it was the most well known. Lindbergh also chose this route to Paris because it was the shortest way across. The route is marked out from 30 to 60 words. The point is to type sixty words with not more than four errors. The pupils first reaching this goal win the race.

About twenty-five planes are on their way already. Some of the pilots have not yet started, the planes being on the field and looked over for repairs.

Plane "75," piloted by Edward Angove, is about three fourths of the way across, it being on number 50. In case Eddie should fall in, he can swim to shore. Quite a few planes are between 40 and 45. It would be too bad if they fell in now. However, none of the planes will, we hope. The 45 mark is just about in the middle of the ocean; probably a whirlpool and sharks are right below.

Mrs. Taylor thinks 60 words is not too high a goal to work for. In previous years 50 and 55 words was generally the goal. However, this year's classes are so speedy and accurate that she feels 60 will easily be reached by quite a few pupils, and perhaps passed.

Scottish Terriers

While most of the Scottish terriers are black, they are also steel gray, brindle, sandy and other colors. As their name testifies, the Scottie originally came from Scotland. There he is the great vermin dog, roving after the woodchuck and badger, either above or underground. (Continued on page 5)

THE OBSERVATION COLUMN

(From the Orange & Black)

The person observed this week is of an average build and has brown hair, brown eyes, a pug nose, and two pretty dimples. She is a very smart dresser and is always thinking of something unique in the way of clothes.

School bores this junior to distraction, although her grades are very good. She loves sports, especially swimming, tennis, golf and basketball. It really should be mentioned that she is one of the pillars of the high school band having belonged to the association several years. Being very musical, this ambitious young person has been thinking seriously about making music her career.

Have you guessed who it is? If not, it might be well to add that she has been making a certain Northville boy very jealous by wearing a Redford pin.

Here is a senior boy:

This lad is quite tall, has brown hair, and hazel eyes. He participates in athletics and is now a present member of the basketball team. He shows quite an affection for a certain senior girl for whom somebody else also does. He really can't be called a man yet, although he did have a birthday not so long ago.

Here is another:

He is about medium height, has brown curly hair, blue eyes. If the saying is true "that a person is a man when he has a beard," this fellow has been a man for a long time. His pastime is reading books and magazines and he is very good at telling jokes. He is most always in a cheerful mood. He has the habit of chewing gum constantly. Although he does not live in Northville, he knows the town like a book. (I wonder why?)

Ways To Prevent Catching A Cold

Avoid Chills. Super-Heated Dry Air Is Bad; Stay Away From Cold Sufferers

By Dr. Wilson G. Smillie
Professor of Public Health Administration, Harvard University School of Public Health

How can we prevent a cold? Since we know that colds are catching, we should make every attempt to avoid close contact with those who have an acute cold. This is particularly important during the first three days of the disease.

Some exposure is unavoidable. There are a few simple rules to follow, however, which probably aid in preventing colds, even if one is exposed. The rooms in which we live should have a suitable temperature and humidity. The super-heated air of an office or apartment may reach a temperature of 80 degrees. The air becomes as dry as that of the desert so that the membranes of the nose and throat become parched and cannot perform their normal protective functions. This condition predisposes to colds.

Are Wet Feet Harmful?

The body surface should be kept warm and dry. If the skin becomes chilled, one is apt to catch cold. Mothers worry when their children play in the snow or rain and get their feet wet. Wet feet are not harmful so long as the child is active and exercising, but if a person sits quietly in school or office all day with wet feet, the body surface becomes chilled, thus predisposing to a cold.

Many people believe that alcohol is of value in preventing colds. When one is chilled, alcohol does give a feeling of warmth, but causes flushing of the skin and great loss of heat. If one is continuously exposed to the cold, as on a long drive in freezing weather or working all day in the cold rain, a series of drinks of whiskey may do real harm. When one finally comes in from a long cold trip, however, all wet and chilled, shivering and cold, and does not need to go out any more that day, a reasonable drink of alcohol is of definite value in bringing about a rapid flushing of the skin and a warm, comfortable glow. The same effect may be obtained, though somewhat more slowly, with a hot mustard foot bath and a drink of hot coffee.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. EDITOR

The Model Home

Just as true as "all the world loves a lover" is the fact that "all the world loves a home."

You could tell that by the big crowds that flocked through the "model home" down in the city. In spite of a stiff north-wester and biting snow there were long rows of cars parked before the little modern home open for inspection on the evening of our visit.

"Small, isn't it?" we comment with a brief glimpse of the symmetrical lines of the brick house called English type by the architects. Into the vestibule we are swept with the throng and on into the surprisingly large living room. Later we learn that the secret of all this spaciousness is that it is both living room and dining room. At one end near the kitchen door stands a drop-leaf table which at first might appear just a library table. Opened, it serves as a dining table.

Come to think of it, who decreed that there should be a separate room for eating and living? Why a room set apart for use only three times, and often only twice, a day? How fine this nice large room seems and the idea grows on the housewife as she passes on into the cheerful kitchen at one end of which stands a pretty breakfast table and four chairs near a casement window where plants were blooming.

What, eat in a kitchen! Yes, in such a kitchen, gleaming with porcelain and tile. One young couple has taken possession of the table and sit looking about as the man says with satisfaction: "Well, this would suit me as a place to eat."

How our grandmothers would marvel at that kitchen! That pale yellow range they would want to put into their parlors as an ornament. No smoke or ashes, and no guesswork about baking. Makes us wonder how Grandmother ever turned out such cookies and quantities of home-made bread.

As proof that the kitchen is in reality the "heart of the home," the largest crowd thronged this room, examining its plumbing, cupboards and refrigeration, so large a crowd, in fact that it was hard to imagine it a work room for just one aproned housewife. Yet every woman imagined herself that housewife and left the room with a backward look and a sigh.

The other two rooms in this four-roomed house were two airy bedrooms with bathroom and hall-way between. (The bath had the oddest tub—square with triangular seats on two corners.)

And closets! These took the eye of everyone, electric lighted and having shelves with many compartments on one side.

Wide stairs led to the basement where the gayest recreation room just called for hospitality. Modernistic chairs, (the kind with bent rods for legs) and, to give the place a "swanky" look, there was an imitation of a "bar" for refreshments which we overheard someone say was "cute".

Wives lingered long in the laundry equipped with everything to make wash day fun while their husbands went on to the furnace room and looked over the ventilation and heating plant.

The interesting part of the trip was the home-loving folks who were enjoying every detail of what represented the last word in home beauty and convenience. Many were young folks who were taking note of details to put into the house of their dreams.

Some lucky woman is to be queen of this little realm. If it could be picked up and set down here in Northville where there's room for a garden and flowers, it would be great to be that lucky woman, wouldn't it?

THIS WEEK

By H. R. WHITE

Some people seem to have a grudge against life and demand that everything be served to them on a silver platter. They are unable to enjoy life in any aspect as it is and not something else.

If they have a moment of supreme happiness they feel it is too transitory and that a great trial awaits them, perhaps, on the morrow. The beautiful flower they now enjoy will soon fade and good health will only lead them to an invalided old age.

When they go to a musical comedy they criticize the fact because it was not Shakespeare or Handel, or if they are in some place, they wish they were in another.

They seem to delight in gathering up grievances when one complaint should be enough and more would be an absurdity. When friends are sympathetic it is in inverse ratio to their troubles. Often when trying to explain to a friend why they have given mortal offense it is usually uncovered such was not intended.

We so often spend needless time and worry over what may be thought about us, which is of little import, forgetting to take most things at their face value. What we should try to remember is that the opinions of the few nearest and dearest to us should matter.

If you do not know the art of living, how to love and help your fellowmen be glad to live and not frightened to die, trying to make friends and being friendly to yourself, you might as well give up the ghost.

When one fails to believe in God, cannot trust his fellowmen, cannot live and let live, there is little or no help for one.

LIBRARY NEWS

One of the chief activities these days at the Northville Library centers about the work planned with the schools. It covers a visit of all grades from the third to the eighth inclusive, with the teacher, to the library.

The purpose is to acquaint the children with the library, to interest them in exploring its great wealth, in developing the reading habit, also to provide them with certain "keys" that they may unlock and interpret the resources of the library.

The course of instruction being given includes the meaning of a public library, the rules governing the joining of the library, and the labor of books, care of books, and behavior in the library.

For the intermediate grades there will be included also a brief explanation of the classification of books, use of the catalogue, use of a table of contents and index, a brief explanation of the use of the encyclopedia.

The library staff hopes that in starting with the elementary grades and giving a little at a time each year, this knowledge may be assimilated; that by repetition and application the pupil will get certain necessary library facts firmly established in his mind.

These facts which teach the student how to find information for himself will stand him in good stead through high school and later in the larger and more specialized field of college and university.

The Antarctic ice sheet, spread over about 5,000,000 square miles, is a remnant of the most recent Ice age.

PAYING THE EDITOR

(From the Foley, (Ala.) Onlooker)

A kindly gentleman, his shoulders somewhat rounded by honest labor, but as agile and young as ever, came into this newspaper office the other day.

His visit was no different from that of many of our other friends. He had merely come in to pay his subscription. He had come a distance of 12 miles. But more than just "paying up" for his paper, he offered profound apologies for being in arrears on his subscription a little over nine months. As he paid the $3.00 for two years he remarked, "It's a shame to owe for your home town paper. We all get it, read it, and enjoy it. I knew I owed you, and recently told my wife I was going to put away a quarter, or dime, occasionally so that I'd have enough to pay up the next time I came to town. Country editors should be paid for their work. They need it. Editors do a great service for us, not only furnishing news about people we know, but somehow we understand your editorials better than those we read in other papers. Reckon its just because they are written so plainly! Yes, sir, we all ought to keep our subscription paid up better than we do."

And he went away smiling.

To have one of our friends speak so knowingly of the actual work and expense connected with publishing even a small weekly paper, and to thus pay tribute to our writing, which sometimes we wonder whether the paper would not be better off without, makes us proud of our job, even if it isn't of proportions which warrant the wearing of a white collar and necktie.

There is no substitute for the services of your Eyesight Specialist!

AN eyesight specialist can lengthen the life of eyes young and old. He also knows that correct lighting is essential to perfect vision. Unless you use exactly the right amount of light for each seeing task—unless you have enough light for comfortable, EASY SEEING—eyestrain will result and your eyes will be injured. We suggest these four simple rules to guide you in obtaining good lighting for your home: (1) Use correct size lamp bulbs—"WATTS". (In table and floor lamps, use 40 watts in each socket for 3-socket lamps; 60 watts in 2-socket lamps; 100 watts in 1-socket lamps.) (2) Use SHADES on all lamp bulbs to prevent GLARE. (3) Use shades with light-colored linings to get the most light. Wide shades, open at the top, are best. (4) Have at least one-tenth as much light in the rest of the room as you have on your book, newspaper, sewing, etc.

HOLSTEIN HERD AT TRAINING SCHOOL IS MAKING FINE RECORD

During the past year 225 herds of registered Holstein-Friasians were tested in the Holstein herd test and the 4871 cows and heifers of all ages included in these herds averaged 10999 lbs. milk and 380 lbs. fat. Comparing this production with the average for all U. S. dairy cows which is 4500 lbs. milk and 170 lbs. fat per cow yearly, according to government figures, we find that these purebred Holstein herds produced considerably more than double the national average per cow.

The herd of registered Holsteins owned by the Wayne County Training school at Northville has maintained a daily average yield of 1.2 lbs. of fat per cow during the first 312 days of the annual production test. One cow has topped the 500 lb. fat mark and four cows the 400 lb. fat mark for the 312 days. High honors for fat and milk production are held by Wacots June Marathon with a credit of 555.9 lbs. fat and 17524.1 lbs. milk. Six cows have completed lactation records in Class B ranging from 387.0 lbs. fat to 567.9 lbs. fat. Charlevoix Ormsby Maid is the cow with a record of 567.9 lbs. fat and 16971 lbs. milk. Another cow completing a record of over 500 lbs. fat is Rose Brook Pieterje Sylvia with 543.9 lbs. fat and 17633 lbs. milk. Wacots Lady Lou Ormsby is also included in this group, with a record of 520.6 lbs. fat and 14305 lbs. milk.

Speediest of Birds Can Fly 100 Miles Per Hour

Game birds, such as the quail, prairie chicken, ruffed grouse, snipe, mallard, black duck, spoonbill, pintail, wood duck, and pigeon, fly 60 feet a second, or at the rate of 40 miles an hour. Geese and brant in flight do 70 feet a second, or at the rate of 47 miles an hour. Redhead ducks and bluebills fly 85 feet a second, which is a rate of 57 miles an hour. Canvasback ducks attain a speed of 61 miles an hour in flying 90 feet a second. Blue-winged and green-winged teal are capable of 100 feet a second, a speed of 68 miles an hour.

Rapid as are the rates of flight of the above mentioned birds, says the Chicago Tribune, they are by no means the greatest for feathered flyers. Speediest of birds are credited with flying as fast as or faster than 100 miles an hour. The duck hawk, for instance, according to apparently authentic records collected by the American Museum of Natural History of New York, does well over 100 miles an hour, or more than 146 feet a second.

The rate of speed of birds on the wing depends a great deal on whether they are flying with or against the wind and on the velocity of the wind at the time. It is recalled that in a famous pigeon race in Europe in 1876 the winning birds flew 270 miles in 3¾ hours, flying at the rate of 83 miles an hour. All conditions were favorable for record speed. In the race of 1877 it took the pigeons 30 hours to fly the same 270 miles.

First Musical Art Forms in 1100, Writer Relates

Lacking concrete materials, music lagged behind the other fine arts until 1100, when the same spirit that was stimulating architecture began pervading music. Construction of definite musical art forms resulted. Music became measured, and the multiplicity of details which grew up showed definite proportions and relations each to each, says Lynne B. Greene, in the Kansas City Times.

A monk of St. Amands, Hucbald, is responsible for the staff in musical notation. This invention made a remarkable change and paved the way for part-music not heretofore used.

This system of harmonies Hucbald called organum for they were played upon a large instrument of that name, unknown since the fall of Rome. In these harmonies a melody was supported by a second voice singing a third above or a fifth below.

In the Fifteenth century musical composition in its present form began, and early in the Eighteenth century composers became more numerous, many of whose names are household words today. Music, unlike painting and sculpture, scarcely can be said to be national in its schools. The great musicians belong to the world, and their compositions are familiar.

We are given a higher psychic that responds to the highest, truest and most beautiful in life. Music is one of the principal means through which nature is expressed.

Airplane Machine Gun Inventor

Roland G. Garros, French aviator, is credited with the invention of the synchronized airplane machine gun. He is known in France as the father of air dueling, which changed the mode of air fighting considerably. In February of the year 1914 he mounted a gun in such a position that it was able to fire through the propeller of an airplane, which was a mode of fighting. In 18 days he is credited with shooting down five enemy planes. He was brought down on the day of his last victory, April 19, 1915, and was taken prisoner by the Germans. He was unable to destroy his plane, which the Germans copied, and his invention was no longer a secret. He later escaped and returned to France. He was killed in aerial combat in October, 1918.

Worship the Buffalo

Experienced and hardened world travelers not infrequently giggle themselves into a state of hysterics when they get around to visiting the Todas of India, says the Detroit News. In cone-shaped temples the Todas bow down and worship the buffalo. The notion that the buffalo is sacred is only one of their many ideas. Among the Todas woman occupies a very inferior position and upon meeting man greets him by touching his feet with her forehead. On the other hand, polyandry prevails. It is customary for several brothers to share the same woman.

Symphony Orchestra Instruments

A symphony orchestra, on the average, is made up of the following instruments: Violins, 35; cellos, 10; violas, 12; double basses, 8; flutes, 2; oboes, 2; clarinets, 2; bassoons, 2; horns, 4; trumpets, 4; trombones, 3; tuba, 1; timpano, 1.

Long, Hard Battle

There are no definite figures giving the number of Indians killed, as the whites settled this country. However, 6 or 7 per cent of the Indian population was estimated to have been exterminated.

Introduced the Olive

Jesuit missionaries introduced the olive to Mexico and California in the Seventeenth century.

Tympani Have Pitch; Not Like the Ordinary Drums

The tympani, or kettledrums, belong to that group of percussion instruments which possess definite musical pitch. They resemble huge copper kettles, observes a writer in the Washington Post. Over the top of each is stretched a layer of sheepskin called "the head." Around the rim are six set screws which are turned to tighten or loosen the head, so that it can be kept in tune.

Two tympani are usually used, although four and sometimes six are employed in certain orchestral compositions. Tympani, in Italian, means "drums." Other drums only make noise and do not have a definite musical pitch. In order to show the difference in musical quality, they are called tympani.

Not only do the tympani have pitch, but a skillful player can make their tone vary in quality also. Several pairs of sticks are employed to play the tympani. The sticks are topped at one end with felt of varying degree of thickness and weight enabling the player to produce loud or soft tones.

The performer can vary the tone of the tympani by striking it at different places. A stroke near the side gives the sharpest and brightest tone, while the one in the middle is duller. The usual spot is about halfway between these two.

The tympanist has few notes and long rests in orchestral music. He must count these, but in practice he either knows the music, or has a bit of it written out to give him the cue, or gets the signal from the conductor.

Island of Rhodes Still Point of Great Interest

In the beginning of the Fourteenth century the Crusaders and the Knights of St. John occupied the island of Rhodes, crossroads of the occident and the orient and once the great intellectual center of the ancient world, and made it one of the strongest fortresses of the Middle ages. About 200 years later the knights were overwhelmed. Then for centuries the island was forgotten, until in 1912 the Italians defeated the Turks and occupied the island and kept it by the treaty of Trianon after the World war. With such a colorful background, the place retains many influences of its early history. Wandering around the mighty walls visitors have to look out lest to stumble against one of the stone cannon balls which are lying in the grass, half or all covered by the earth of 400 years.

Nearly ever peasant has his own windmill, and on Sunday evenings the whole population gathers on the terrace in front of the old orthodox church, in their colorful, gold-embroidered costumes. They are a simple people, satisfied with the pleasant routine of life on an island in the Mediterranean, and oblivious to the fact that their home is a half western, half eastern city with fascinating medieval fortifications and walls.

Curacao

Curacao is 40 miles long and three to seven miles wide. It lies 41 miles north of the coast of Venezuela. The island is very dry and produces little vegetation. Sometimes there is no rain for several months. Nearly all food has to be imported, even drinking water being brought from the mainland for those who can afford it. Others, as in the case of Bermuda, drink rain water caught from the roofs of houses and stored in immaculately clean cisterns. The most conspicuous tree in Curacao is the sapodilla, the fruit of which is delicious, but peculiar in flavor. Here also grows the bitter orange, the peel of which is shipped to Amsterdam or Hamburg for the manufacture of Curacao liquer, popular throughout the world, but not made in Curacao.

"Little House of Divine Providence"

The "Little House of Divine Providence," a home for the sick and destitute—in Turin, Italy, is a monument to faith in humanity. It was started more than 100 years ago with four beds. It takes care of 10,000 inmates at a cost of more than $15,000 a week. Yet every cent that it has received in its history has been voluntarily deposited by benevolent souls in a money box stuck in the wall near its front door.—Freling Foster in Collier's Weekly.

Six Species of Hickory

Six species of hickory are native to the woodlands of the eastern states. The wood of all six species possesses a combination of quality not found in any other hardwood. These are extraordinary hardness, strength, toughness and flexibility. In addition the wood is straight grained and moderately elastic. It is, however, hard to split, difficult to season and work, and does not hold its shape.

Speed of Light

Light traveling at a rate of 186,284 miles a second, is many times faster than sound, which in dry air moves of a mile in less than five seconds. In water sound travels five times as fast as in air, and in iron or steel 15 times as fast as in air.

I hereby pledge one-half (½) of my salary to the Welfare Fund and the unemployed of Wayne County when elected.

I promise to devote all of my time to the one position. NO ONE MAN CAN EFFICIENTLY HANDLE TWO JOBS. I am of the opinion that the increase of jobs, not the decrease of them, will eventually cure the present depression. Voluntary donations, however, from those fortunate enough to have jobs, especially public servants in high positions, will ease the TERRIFIC TRIALS OF POVERTY FOR THE TIME BEING.

I am also in favor of the Townsend plan, or a similar plan of old age pensions.

Therefore, I take the initiative in this matter in MICHIGAN POLITICS.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN

By Harrison Chandler

At the Game

What a ball game! Boys and girls, that one had more thrills in it for us than any other we have seen for many a moon. When the end came we were almost as worn out as the players, and almost automatically rushed into the locker room with them to take a shower.

We naturally wonder how those feminine cheer leaders ever make themselves heard, when asking for cheers. Our suggestion is that they use a few megaphones.

At the Dance

We will have all you people who did not attend the Eastern Star-Masonic dance last Friday night know that you missed a very nice evening. Most of Northville's stepper-outers were there, and we saw quite a colorful crowd. And by colorful we mean colorful personalities as well as some smart gowns.

And what we like about these Northville dances is that the committee in charge serves refreshments about 11 p. m. That is our idea of giving the best sort of a dance.

Was There a Depression?

When we dropped into one of the downtown banks Saturday morning we couldn't help being impressed with the tremendous amount of business they were doing. On the savings department floor alone there were long lines to each of the eight or ten windows.

So we asked one of the distinguished looking vice presidents back of the marble rail about it, and he roughly estimated that there would be approximately 850 transactions completed when the bank closed at noon for the three-hour period. He did not estimate the amount of money that was handled but it must have been plenty. There must be a lot more people now that save their money.

A Lesson Learned

We guess now that Bill Forney will know better the next time. He thought Saturday afternoon that he would stalk the lion in his den and beat him at his own game, the game being bowling, and the lion being big Bob Lee.

Bill was so certain that he was going to take Bob in a game at the Recreation that he made a bet with that the loser should purchase the refreshments that were to follow.

After losing the game amid much jeering by the round proprietor, Bill sourfully announced that if they bowled another game he would win it. But Bob was not taking any chances, and was getting a lot of strikes and spares that sort of made the final outcome out of the question in the second game as well.

When it was all over, Bill said: "If I ever bowl with you again, you'll expect me to pins! Come on now, it's on me."

It Happened One Evening

The manager of a certain restaurant is more careful of the words he attempts to use now. One evening last week a most serious misunderstanding took place in his place on Main street. Harold Rose, Art Zeller and Allen Grover, typographical technicians at the Record office, (printers, to you), were there to get a little sustenance for the inner man. Harold ordered a lettuce and tomato sandwich.

This descendant of the race of Plato nodded his assent and went to the kitchen to place the order, but came back in a minute and said something that sounded like:

"Would you like some ma-gon'-aese?"

Harold pondered a moment in wonder, and then answered:

"No, of course I don't want any bacon and eggs—I ordered a lettuce and tomato sandwich." The restaurant manager made several more futile attempts to make himself understood, and then his face lighted up and he said:

"Would you like some salad dressing on your sandwich?"

This solved the mystery, and John does not try to say "mayonnaise" any more.

First Prayer in Congress

Dr. Jacob Duchesne a native born American Episcopal clergyman, offered the prayer at the meeting of the first Continental congress in 1774. He later feared the cause of the colonies was lost and fled to England in 1777 after urging Washington to do likewise. His property was confiscated and he, himself, declared a traitor. But in 1790 he was permitted to return to Philadelphia, where he died in 1798.—Pathfinder Magazine.

THE VOICE OF THE PULPIT IN NORTHVILLE

The following is the digest of a sermon delivered February 17 in the First Presbyterian church by Harold G. Whitfield, minister.

The Fever of Life and Its Cure

No fair reader of the New Testament can doubt the fact of the healing power of Jesus Christ. It is also beyond dispute that when our Lord worked physical cure, there was underneath the healing another purpose. Sometimes we are inclined to place little importance on this healing ministry; there is not sufficient understanding of the cases recorded, and the art or science has been so grossly exploited that many are willing to dismiss the matter.

"He touched her hand and her fever left her." The hymn says, "His touch has still its ancient power—" You will say, "How can that be?" He is no longer here to touch us as He touched men in the days of His flesh; He does not lay a finger of flesh upon these bodies of flesh. Yet, because we know there are different ways of touching, we believe His ministry in the connection, is real and continuous. How many of us have been touched by a song, or a simple act of kindness? And this secondary meaning of the word "touched" gives us a clue to a kind of contacting that Jesus still does, with all His ancient power. We are changed in our innermost being by a hymn whose message transforms us. Lincoln, when a young man, witnessed the spectacle of slavery—men and women sold in the public place. It touched him, and its effect registered in the resolution, "By God, if I ever get a chance to strike this thing, I'll strike it hard." And he did.

Not the physical alone, but the whole of life was the deep concern of Christ. It is held by some that even to this day, He directly heals men of their bodily diseases; and it is no doubt true, that by healing men's minds, He does minister to the healing of their bodies. Most Christian people look upon medicine and surgery as the continuation of Christ's healing ministry. And it is obviously true that if we would observe and respect the Christian science of all life, we would be saved from many of the excesses and ravages that result injuriously upon these bodies of ours. We must live sanely and it is my belief that a true respect for and appreciation of the spiritual laws of life, constitute the best guarantee of the physical.

The miracles of Jesus were "acted" parables. The "spoken" parable illustrates a truth, while the miracle—the acted parable—demonstrates a power. And while we cannot define the virtue of His touch, since we see only its effect, it might not be amiss to conjecture, that the fundamental and profound wholesomeness of Jesus had much to do with the virtue of His touch. Perhaps if we were as pure and clean and as full of love and faith as Jesus there would be more virtue in our touch, too.

The world is in the grip of a demoralizing and demoishing fever. These fevers, whatever their nature or origin, may be, have devastating effects. They burn up our substance and leave us empty and bankrupt in body and soul and they usually spring from a spending of our substance on that which is not bread for either body or soul and of our labour for that which does not satisfy. There is a plomaine poisoning in the soul when we feed too exclusively on the seductive but tainted meat of materialism. The end is bitterness and despair. And it is mighty hard for most people, who live amidst this contagion—who are constantly exposed — to escape its effects altogether. The solution, as I see it, is to set up a contagion of wholesomeness, which is the most effective way of combating the contagion of fever.

It is here that the touch of Jesus applies. The fever of life will begin to subside when He touches us or we touch Him. "We touch Him in life's throng and press, and we are whole again." Then we shall discover poise and purpose in life, detachment from the hideous scramble; we shall see life in its true perspective, in the long perspective of eternal life and we shall become radiating centres of quietness. Not only shall we shed the fever of the hectic strain but we shall create and develop around us cases of peace and sanity even in the midst of the maddening crowd.

I hope we may have the wisdom and the courage to compel us to take time to break away from the prevailing "vanity fair" and to seek out the true bread—the living Christ and make firm and unyielding contact with Him and say to Him:

Dear Lord and Father of mankind, forgive our feverish ways

Discovery of Magnetism

Discovery of the simple principles of magnetism possessed by magnetite, or loadstone, was made by Chinese 3,500 years before magnetism was known in Europe.

LIBRARY NOTES

"MICHIGAN IN LITERATURE"

"Michigan in Literature" was the subject of a talk given by Miss Kneeland of the Detroit public library at a Wayne County library staff meeting held February 19th at the Lincoln Park branch. For early history and social life in the state, she recommended "Memorials of Half Century," by Hubbard; "A Daughter of New France" by Crowley; "Dune Land," by Reed. Novels written in late years dealing with Michigan include the following:

FIREWEED, by Mildred Walker. The scene of this novel is a small lumbering town in the Upper Peninsula.

STRANGER ON THE ISLAND, by Brand Whitlock. Pierre Lenoir, a French Canadian of the roving type, after laying a man low in a tavern brawl, fled for refuge to Beaver Island, located just off the Michigan shore. This island was the domain of the so-called King Gorel, ruler of a strange religious sect, which included polygamy among its tenets. The time is the 1850's.

INVASION, by Janet Lewis. The story of a northern Michigan settler and his family. Behind the story of a family in the wilderness and on the frontier is the story of the Indians who witnessed the passing of their lands into the hands of the white invaders, and the transformation of their ancient rituals and beliefs into the material of folklore.

WHERE THE LOON CALLS, by Harry S Drago. A love story of the early French settlements along Lake Erie. Toinette defies her family to run away with the swash-buckling Placide Labades, Captain of the Heloise.

ONCE A WILDERNESS, by Arthur Pound. The central figure of this family chronicle is Captain John Mark, whose pioneering parents brought him into Michigan in a prairie schooner. The story itself is nearly universal in its appeal, and every American of native stock should read it with deep enjoyment.

Mrs. Grace Davis read from a volume which she owns, published in 1837, by Harriet Martineau called "Society in America." The sections on travel in early Michigan were very interesting.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY CONSUMES MORE WATER THAN CITY OF DETROIT

Although it may not have occurred to the average motorist, figures made available by the Ford Motor Company recently show that considerable more water goes into the making of a modern Ford V-8 car than the water which is used to fill the radiator.

The River Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company, the figures showed, averages 625,000,000 gallons of water per day. This is more water than is used in the cities of Detroit, Cincinnati and Washington, D. C. combined.

Cooling equipment for electric condensers, vats for treating metals, and thousands of other phases of motor car construction require the tremendous gallonage utilized in the Rouge plant.

As a comparison, available figures show the entire city of Detroit uses approximately 238,000,000 gallons of water per day.

LOCAL GRADS HEAR ALBION BROADCAST

Mrs. Leslie G. Lee, Mrs. Claude Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Baldwin and son, Paul, attended the Albion college reunion in Cooley high school Wednesday evening. At 11 p. m. they listened to the broadcast of "Albion Round The World" to old students east and west here listening in.

There were similar groups in Chicago, New York and other cities.

RELIGION IS NEEDED

(Utica Sentinel)

Catholic women were urged to united action last week by Bishop Gallagher, to save the youth from the contagion of communism and infidelity that is spreading on every hand. There is great cause. Catholics and Protestants alike should pray for a great revival of religion in this land.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and happy and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a bilious headache and your breath is foul, skin gets broken out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those gentle, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and at." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't take just any pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25 cents at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

The social activities will be under the direction of Clifford Winters, who has had considerable experience in this line.

Christian Science Churches

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 3.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 2: 19,20): "But when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, saying, Arise, and take the young child to his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the young child's life."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 30): "As the individual ideal of Truth, Christ Jesus came to rebuke rabbinical error and all sin, sickness, and death,—to point out the way of Truth and Life. This ideal was demonstrated throughout the whole earthly career of Jesus, showing the difference between the offspring of Soul and material sense, of Truth and of error."

Church of Our Lady of Victory

St. Paul's Lutheran
High Street

"Judge Me, O Lord, for I have walked in mine integrity. I have trusted also in the Lord; therefore I shall not slide." Ps. 26, 1.

Next week Wednesday begins the Holy Lenten season which again brings to mind the God-man's substitutional life, suffering and death for the lost world. No one but He, the Sinless One, always trusted in the Lord without wavering, walking in integrity and being free from any kind of wickedness since the moment of conception and birth. This gave the eternal value of Christ's work of salvation.

Any sinner is privileged and urged to become a partaker of the gracious gifts offered in the Gospel. David, the writer of our psalm, was such a recipient. He rejoiced in the knowledge of possessing God's grace and forgiveness for the Messiah's sake. Deep thankfulness made him careful and moved him to trust in the Lord without wavering, to rely upon the evangelical promises and daily to walk in integrity, in purity of heart. His uprightness he affirms by calling upon the Lord to judge him, to acknowledge him as a true servant.

The hour for worship this Sunday morning is 10 o'clock. In connection with this service the Lord's supper will be celebrated. The pastor will preach.

During the season of Lent, midweek services will be held in our congregation every Wednesday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The first of this year's series of sermons will be held next Wednesday.

Be sure and tune in on the Lutheran hour, broadcast every Sunday afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock over station WXYZ.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to worship with us!

MRS. GEO. MILNE DIES FEBRUARY 20

After two years of declining health, Mrs. Geo. Milne, Eaton Drive, passed away Wednesday morning, Feb. 20, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Iva Hatton in Farmington where she had been taken for care.

Carrie Adele Grinnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Grinnell, was born April 7, 1882. In young womanhood she came with her parents to Northville where her father was engaged as a carpenter.

On Dec. 12, 1906, Miss Grinnell was united in marriage with George Milne. One son, Alec, was born to them, who, with his father, survives.

Mrs. Milne was a member of the local Presbyterian church and for years served as its treasurer and also as treasurer of the Woman's Union.

Of her own choice she believed that "homekeeping hearts are happiest" and she took the deepest satisfaction in providing for the comfort and welfare of her family. To her only son she poured out a wealth of mother-love and was rewarded by filial loyalty.

Reserved by nature, only her closest friends knew Mrs. Milne well, but these found her a woman of genuine Christian character and of unusual intelligence gained through wide reading.

Through all her illness she kept courageous and hopeful. She will be missed by many friends.

The funeral service was held in the Schrader funeral parlors with her pastor, Rev. H. G. Whitfield in charge. Interment was made in Rural Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Milne was the eldest of three sisters of her immediate family. One sister, Mrs. Hatton, an aunt, Mrs. Carrie Belle Bond in Seattle, Wash., and the husband and one son, Alec, survive.

way commissioner, the former being the incumbent.

All other candidates for the various positions are the incumbents, all of whom are republicans. They are as follows:

For township clerk, Earl Banks; treasurer, George R. Simmons; justice of the peace, full term, Edmund Yerkes; justice of the peace, to fill the vacancy, A. H. Hill; board of review, Frank Martin.

Nov. township is thus assured of an all republican administration even before the primary since only republicans are filed.

In addition to the contest for highway commissioner, Nov. township voters will choose three members for the Oakland county office of circuit court judge, for which 17 candidates are filed, 12 republicans and five democrats and one for the office of county school commissioner for which three candidates are filed all republicans.

Mr. Hamilton wishes to take this opportunity to express his appreciation to the voters of Nov. township for their support of him during the seven years he has served as supervisor of the township.

USE RECORD WANT ADS

TEN LITTLE KIDDIES RECEIVE DAILY MILK

Ten little children, just a step from babyhood, are receiving at the Kindergarten of the public schools their daily bottles of milk without cost. This pause for refreshments comes as a regular part of the day's program and means as much to these little folks as learning to write.

One glance at the weight chart tells the story of radical gain and their teacher, Miss Ann Richards, states that there is a marked improvement in their alertness and attention. One child who was deprived of this milk one week dropped two pounds.

This milk is provided to the children by donations from the public. There is probably no better investment than in giving the right start to our little ones which reacts amazingly on their mental and moral tone.

Empty milk bottles are placed in many business places about the village so that customers will take the hint to drop a bit of change now and then for this cause.

Those in charge say the funds at present are in need of help.

Not alone in the Kindergarten but in the other grades milk is given to those who need it. Those who are able, pay for it.

were the high scorers of the game, each making eight points. Both played an outstanding brand of ball.

Collins and Bobik were best for Melvindale, chalking up six and five points respectively.

Hoffmann was again a prominent cog in the Northville offense, and was also strong on defense. This was one of the few times of the season that he was not high scorer of the game. Marburger played during the entire game, and was a constant threat to Melvindale's scoring hopes. Westphall, the only Northville substitution, was instrumental in gaining the slim lead for Northville just as the first half ended.

In the preliminary Northville's B team defeated the Melvindale subs in a rough contest that was very fast during the last half, with Northville winning, 22 to 12. This second team has won all but one of its 14 games.

The line-up:

Northville		Melvindale
Deal	F	Collins
Hoffman	F	Bobik
Bray	C	Ryder
Marburger	G	Kamnski
Myers	G	Keehner

Substitutions: Northville, Westphall, Melvindale, Stahnan and Kato.

FIVE NEW HOMES BEING CONSTRUCTED AT MAYBURY SAN.

Several FERA improvement projects are nearing completion at the William H. Maybury sanatorium with about 140 men employed, Dr. Henry S. Willis, superintendent, reports.

The most important of these is the building of five new houses on the sanatorium grounds that will be occupied by doctors of the staff. Two of these are already occupied, and the others will be ready by April 1, it has been estimated.

Other projects include painting and remodeling various parts of the hospital buildings, and sewage disposal.

Earliest Libraries Private

The earliest libraries in the colonial period of America were private. Among the notable ones of this kind were those of Elder Brewster of Plymouth, Governor Winthrop of Connecticut, Dr. Cotton Mather of Boston, Col. Ralph Wormeley of Virginia and Rev. John Harvard. Toward the end of the Seventeenth century the Bray parish libraries began to appear. These were collections mainly of religious books sent to America through the efforts of Rev. Thomas Bray of London. The first subscription library in the colonies was projected by Benjamin Franklin in 1731 in Philadelphia.

Termite Not an Ant

The termite is not an ant. The portion of the termite colony that takes wings and swarms are black and are unlike the white termite seen working in wood and more nearly resembles true ants. After such swarming the winged termites break off their wings and start a colony.

Crow Shooting Not Molested

Crow shooting offers a real opportunity for the wing shot who likes to keep his shooting eye and trigger finger trim. This sport is spreading fast in many central states. There is no bag limit or closed season on these cunning creatures.
