VILLAGE GETS ITS SHARE OF AUTO TAXES

$1135.33 Check Received; Money Will Go Into Paving Fund

The village of Northville received a check for $1135.33 this week from the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners as its allotment of the state automobile weight and gas tax for the year of 1934.

At the meeting of the village commission Monday evening at the village hall, it was voted to put the funds into the paving fund.

A total of $818,613.20 remained for distribution among the cities and villages of Wayne county after providing for highway debt service and segregating the portion belonging to the county at large according to the formula of the state acts which made the funds available.

Northville participates in this sum to the extent of .1869 per cent which is its percentage of the total population in all the villages in the county.

Under the rules of the statutes which deal with this tax money, the municipalities receiving the funds must use it for certain definite purposes and in a definite priority. All of these several ways of using the money are associated with the maintenance and improvements of roads and the paying of expenses on streets and highways.

Northville will use its funds most likely to pay some of the back interest on bonds issued by the village for the construction and improvement of highways, streets and bridges. It was estimated by village officials that nearly $10,000 in interest on bonds is outstanding at the present time.

It was anticipated in the budget for 1934 of the Wayne County Board of Road Commissioners that there would be $930,225.10 available for distribution to the cities and villages in the county.

Subsequent to the preparation of that budget, however, the state legislature reduced the weight tax by approximately 36 per cent, from 55 per cent per cwt., which accounts for there being a lesser amount now available.

LEGION POSTS OF 17TH DISTRICT MEET HERE LAST FRIDAY

The Lloyd H. Green post No. 147, American Legion, was host Friday evening, March 1, to the posts of the 17th district at the Legion home on East Main street.

Seven communities were represented, including Hazel Park, Plymouth, Farmington, Pontiac, Rochester, Royal Oak and Birmingham, which sent a total attendance of almost 75.

This was a stag session at which routine business matters were discussed. Clyde Murdock, district committeeman from Rochester, acted as chairman.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served and the men remained to have an informal time together.

FRED HICKS HAS RUG MADE FROM WOLF HE BAGGED

Fred Hicks, Northville fire chief, was proudly displaying a coyote-wolf skin rug to his friends around town Monday. It is the pelt from a wolf he killed while he was deer hunting in Baraga county, in the upper peninsula November 22.

The skin was mounted by Harvey L. Guntzviller, local taxidermist, and is described as a semi-mount. The head is completely mounted in a way that makes the wolf look almost alive at first glance.

Mr. Hicks will use the rug in the living room of his home. He says that he also bagged a 160-pound buck while he was there.

MAIRS WINS IN NOVI TOWNSHIP PRIMARY

The race for the republican candidacy of highway commissioner between William Mairs, the incumbent and Fred Smith and won by the former, was the highlight of the Novi township and Oakland County primary election, Monday. Mairs got 187 votes to 108 for Mr. Smith to make a total of 295 votes cast.

This was the only contest for any township offices, the other republican incumbents having no opposition, and no democratic slate being entered in the field. Frank Clark is automatically the republican candidate for supervisor, since the incumbent, Charles W. Hamilton, withdrew his name from nomination because he has accepted a state position as agricultural supervisor of Macomb, Lapeer and Oakland Counties.

Judge Frank L. Doty, the only present judge running for re-election in Oakland County, received the highest vote in the township in the circuit judge contest getting 159 votes. Calvin N. Smith was next with 101 votes, and H. Russell Holland followed with 84. George B. Hartwick, who received one of the three republican nominations along with Judge Doty and Mr. Smith, was next in the township standings with 70 votes.

Only 13 democratic votes were cast in the township for the judgeship race out of a total of 313 ballots. Five of this number were discarded because they were not properly filled out.

E. J. Lederle, who received the republican nomination for school commissioner, was the leader for that office in Novi township, getting 96 votes. Walter J. Tripp was a close second with 95 votes. Mrs. Rhoda Star Green, who finished second for this office, received 46 votes in the township.

Other candidates on the republican ticket for township offices, who automatically will be candidates for re-election April 1, and who will meet no opposition then are Earl Banks, township clerk; George R. Simmons, treasurer; A. L. Hill, justice of the peace, to fill vacancy; and Edmund Yerkes, justice, full term.

Exchange Club Entertains 22 Boys Of High School Basketball Squad At Its Meeting Wednesday Noon

Twenty-two husky basketball players came to the well-laden table at the Exchange club dinner Wednesday noon in the Methodist church house as guests of the club.

R. H. Amerman, superintendent of schools, Coach Ted Watts and Paul Thompson, high school principal, accompanied the boys.

After the dinner Supt. Amerman was called upon to speak and expressed his appreciation of this honor paid to the boys and what a fine year it had been in athletics.

Coach Ted Watts testified to the fine spirit of co-operation among the players and from the parents and townspeople and attributed much of the success this year to these factors.

Benjamin Van Alstyne, basketball coach at the Michigan State college, was introduced by Principal Thompson as the speaker of the day.

In part Mr. Van Alstyne said: "You boys look like an outstanding group, and it is splendid that you are given this honor by the Exchange club and I am very glad to be here. If you come to East Lansing you will have a chance to show what you can do for basketball or football."

Mr. Van Alstyne stated that he had noticed the passing of the big beefy players in favor of the speedier lightweights who could think their way through a game.

He cited the experience of Branch Rickey who had often spoken on the subject, "The Desire to Win." He said it was unnecessary to worry about any man's sleeping, smoking, or over-eating prior to a game if they had the desire and will to win.

The Exchange club presented a large cake with a numerative basketball surmounting it to the team. The cake was skilfully cut for the boys and club members by Coach Watts.

The boys applauded vigorously for their hosts and the meeting adjourned.

CIRCUIT COURT JUDGES WIN IN PRIMARY

Republicans Lead With 244 Township Votes To 80 For Democrats

All the incumbent circuit judges—16 republicans and one democrat were overwhelming favorites in the primary election in Northville township Monday as well as throughout Wayne county, and have earned the right to be candidates for re-election on April 1.

The republican votes greatly exceeded the democratic votes in the township, with the G. O. P. candidates getting 224 votes to the democrats' 80, to make a total of 304 votes cast in the two precincts.

Judge Clyde I. Webster and Arthur Webster were the leaders in the township, getting 173 and 165 votes respectively. DeWitt H. Merriam was next in the race with 163 votes.

The remaining 13 republican judges who led in the race were Joseph A. Moynihan, Harry B. Keidan, Homer Ferguson, Ira W. Jayne, Guy A. Miller, Robert M. Toms, Vincent M. Brennan, James E. Chenot, Theodore I. Richter, Adolf P. Marschner, Lester S. Moll, Harry J. Dingeman and Allen Campbell, in that order.

Henry C. Nicol, at present a circuit court commissioner, and Judge Sherman D. Callender of the traffic court, who received the other two republican nominations to complete its field of 18, came next in the standings, following close on the heels of the incumbent judges in the township voting.

Thomas J. Murphy, the only democratic judge on the circuit bench at the present time, led the other candidates in his party with 23 votes. He was also the democratic leader in most precincts in the county. Patrick J. O'Brien, former state attorney general, and Charles C. Lockwood were next with 17 votes each.

John C. Cowan, republican incumbent in the county auditor race, was first in the township returns with 146 votes. William H. Green, Jr., former county auditor, was his closest rival, and polled 34 township votes. John H. Callahan, former state representative, was third in the township and total standings, with 10 votes. All of these are republican candidates.

There was no contest for the republican candidacy of school commissioner, as Fred C. Fischer, who has been deputy school commissioner for 21 years, was the only republican nominee. Simon P. O'Shea, with seven votes, led the democratic nominees in Northville township for that office. Michael Latowski, who won the democratic nomination for this office, received only two votes in this township.

Those who served on the election board in the two precincts were:

First precinct: Harold G. White, Mrs. Alice Hinkley, Mrs. Georgiana Lovewell, Averil Henry, Ulie A. Tibbits, William Dingman, and Miss Ruth Gillis.

Second precinct: Wellington Roberts, Edward Bryan, Lester D. Stage, Miss Jessie Clark, Mrs. Ethel Casterline, and Myron Robbins.

CIRCUIT JUDGES TALK AT MASS MEETING

Four Wayne county circuit court judges were the main speakers at the public mass meeting Wednesday evening, February 27, sponsored by the Northville Young Republican club in its club-room over the Kroger store.

The judges were Guy A. Miller, Homer Ferguson, James E. Chenot, and DeWitt H. Merriam. One of the club members estimated that the judges cancelled six political meetings in Detroit, where they could have addressed many more people at each meeting, to come out to Northville.

All the judges stressed the long period of time they have spent on the circuit bench, and the great amount of experience they have all had. The statement was made several times during the evening by visiting speakers that all of the republican circuit judges have been on the circuit bench for from five and one-half to 20 years.

Judge Miller pointed out that the circuit bench has a splendid record of integrity, and that it has had 15 per cent less reversals than the circuit court judges in any other part of the state. Judge Ferguson declared that it

P.-T. A. To Hear Lecture On Lighting

"Better Light and Better Sight" will be the theme of the Parent-Teachers' association program to be held in the assembly of the high school at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, March 14. The speakers will be Lee Taylor and Marquita Dygert, representatives of the Detroit Edison company, who gave a similar program at a joint meeting of the Rotary and Exchange clubs recently. The talk is being repeated for the benefit of parents.

Preceding this part of the program will be the art exhibit to be held in the kindergarten room at 7 p. m. when reproductions of the works of masters will be shown. It is hoped that the public will appreciate this opportunity. Admission will be charged, 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. The proceeds will go to purchase fine pictures for the school rooms.

The annual election of officers will occur at this time.

NORTHVILLE CENSUS OF EMPLOYMENT IS ALMOST COMPLETED

The nine Michigan Unemployment census enumerators here expect to complete their task of obtaining the employment record of everyone in Livonia and Northville townships and the village of Northville within the next few days.

M. J. O'Neil, in charge of the enumerators, says the census is coming along as well as could be expected, but that many people seem a little suspicious of the undertaking and are reluctant to give out any information regarding their incomes or employment records. He wishes to again emphasize the fact that all information is strictly confidential, and that all who are working on the census have taken an oath not to reveal any information. The results will be used to secure statistics about communities as a whole rather than about individuals.

When the enumerators finish their job every person in Livonia and Northville townships and the village of Northville, regardless of their age or experience, will have been interviewed, and a detailed record made of them.

Those working in the above territory are Miss Ruth D. Roberts, Miss Dorothy C. Kirken, Arthur Trapp, William Morrow, Kenneth Young, Edward Lynnes, Hugh Dallas, Harold Murray and Sherwood Stevens.

ELMER E. PERRIN TO MAKE EASTERN TOUR WITH DEBATE TEAM

Elmer E. Perrin, Jr., son of Mr and Mrs Elmer E. Perrin, student at Michigan State college, is making a name for himself on the varsity debating team this year.

The debating coach at the school announced Monday members of the team who would make the extended eastern tour including debates with some of the famous schools of the country, and Elmer Perrin was one of three who were selected for this honor.

These men, with their coach, will leave the campus on Friday, March 22. Their trip will include debates with Syracuse university, Dartmouth college, New York university, Fordham university, Columbia university, Rhode Island State college, Boston university, Allegheny college, Western Reserve (Ohio) and Ontario Agricultural college. Two or three other schools are to be added to the schedule as the tour progresses.

Publicity and pictures of the debating squad are being mailed to the larger newspapers in Boston, New York and other cities where they are stopping. A group picture will be in the American Collegiate digest, which is a part of every college newspaper.

ALUMNI PLANS TO GIVE CARD PARTY TUESDAY AT SCHOOL

The Northville high school alumni association will hold a benefit card party Tuesday evening, March 12, at the high school.

The party will be open to the general public, and undergraduates as well as grownups are invited.

Prizes will be offered for the winners, and refreshments will be served.

COUNTY CANDIDATES ARE SPEAKERS AT DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Patrick J. O'Brien, former state attorney-general under Governor Comstock's administration, and several other Wayne county democratic leaders were the speakers at the democratic rally Thursday evening, February 28, in the high school auditorium.

M. J. Murphy was the chairman of the meeting which was held in conjunction with the Roosevelt Democratic club, of which he is president.

Other speakers on the program included John H. Slevin, candidate for county auditor, Carl H. Weideman former congressman and circuit judge candidate, Ben C. Hughes, Charles C. Lockwood, and Ferris H. Fitch, circuit judge candidates, Leo J. Nowicki, Wayne county drain commissioner, and candidate for county auditor.

Arthur F. Lederle, chairman of the Wayne County Democratic committee, and a circuit court judge candidate, was scheduled to speak but was unable to attend, and sent a representative in his place.

M. O'Brien, who is also a circuit judge candidate, made the main speech of the evening. He explained the meaning back of the democratic party, saying that the party stands for the people and not the capitalists.

The attendance at the meeting was affected by the Northville-Ypsilanti high basketball game at Ypsilanti, and the Father and Son banquet, which were held on the same evening, but officials reported that a considerably large crowd was present.

C. T. THORNTON IS NEW ROTARY HEAD

Announcement of the election of Charles T. Thornton as president and E. H. Lapham as vice president by the board of directors was the main event of the Tuesday noon meeting of the Rotary club at the Presbyterian church house.

The meeting was later devoted to short talks on current events by Dr. H. S. Willis, Fred Foreman, Father Joseph G. Schuler, Charles A. Schoultz, E. M. Bogart, E. L. Millis, E. H. Lapham and Leslie G. Lee.

Visitors at the meeting were N. C. Schrader and Oliver Goldsmith of Plymouth.

Mr. Thornton, president-elect, will take office July 1. He had a perfect attendance record from February 15, 1926, when the club was formed, until January, 1934.

FATHERS AND SONS HAVE FUN TOGETHER AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Approximately 125 fathers and their sons, or sons loaned for the occasion, gathered in the Methodist church house Thursday, Feb. 28, for their annual "get together."

With Orlow G. Owen as toastmaster, much fun and frolic prevailed, even to the point of Mr. Owen keeping the speeches limited as to time with an alarm clock. The speakers were Rev. H. G. Whitfield, Father Jos. G. Schuler, and R. T. Baldwin, all who stressed the point of character building.

Bob Angove, with his apple story, Ed Angove's imitation of a speaker, and Alf Parmenter's patented cigar lighter caused a lot of laughs. Young Ray Groomer played acceptably on the violin.

The committee of arrangement for the program was: Chub J. Smith, E. M. Bogart, Roy Clark and Orlow G. Owen, and the February group of the Ladies Aid, Methodist church, provided the excellent supper.

A son, Conrad John II, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John C. Burkman, of Detroit, Feb. 28, in the Sessions hospital. Mrs. Burkman was the former Miss Ruth Yerkes.

LINCOLN HIGH ELIMINATES N.H.S. 25-23

Northville Rallies In Second Half, But Game Is Lost In Last Few Seconds

Northville high school's basketball team was eliminated from the district tournament Friday evening at Ypsilanti by Lincoln Consolidated high of Ypsilanti, 25-23, in a thrilling game that was not decided until the last 20 seconds of play.

Northville followers were greatly chagrined by the result, for many of them had seen their team win from University high of Ann Arbor the previous evening, a team considered at least as strong as Lincoln, by a score of 20-16.

The game was featured by the uphill fight of the Orange and Black players in the second half of the game. They made a brilliant rally in the third quarter in an effort to overcome the 10-2 lead that Lincoln held at the half, and during this stage of the contest their fast passing and accurate shots made them appear much superior to their rivals.

In the fourth quarter, however, they were matched point for point, Northville was never in the lead at any time during the game, although the score was even several times during the second half.

Northville was unable to get its offense working in top form in any other period than the latter part of the game. In the first quarter the Orange and Black was keeping possession of the ball a large part of

HOUSING LOANS ARE NOW AVAILABLE HERE

The local committee of the Federal Housing Act has made plans to make the obtaining of loans for Northville home owners as simple as possible in their hope that a large number of loans will be applied for in Northville during the month of March.

Under the plan of Title One, which the Depositors State Bank is now qualified to make loans for property improvement to any property owner, individual, partnership or corporation with a regular income from salary, commissions, or any other assured source, and it is not necessary to be a depositor in the bank or other financial institution consulted.

People desiring to obtain a loan may apply to the Depositors State Bank, or to Donald P. Yerkes, Jr., chairman. Applicants may specify any amount from $100 to $2,000, depending on their income. The annual gross income of the applicant should be five times the annual payments to be paid on the note.

The notes can be repaid over a period of any number of months to five years, depending on the individual's ability to pay, and the discretion of the bank, which may require loans to be repaid over lesser periods as justified by the amount the individual can afford to pay each month.

About the only security needed is an adequate income and a good credit in the community. The loan applicant must give assurance that he owns the property in question, that any mortgages on the property are in good standing, and that he will use the proceeds solely for property improvement.

The loan is to be repaid in regular equal monthly payments (seasonal payments for farmers). They can be repaid before the maturity date, and in this case a reasonable rebate will be allowed, if charges have been collected in advance.

The Northville committee expects to have a supply of bulletins, posters, and pamphlets available soon which will assist those interested in obtaining loans.

This committee, composed of Donald P. Yerkes, Jr., Superintendent of Schools Russell H. Amerman, John A. Boyce, Edward L. Millis, Floyd A. Northrop, Elmer E. Perrin, and Elmer L. Smith, will be glad to be of all possible assistance to anyone who desires to obtain a loan.

"BABY BONDS" ARE IN DEMAND HERE WITH LOCAL FOLKS

The federal government "baby bonds," which were placed on sale Friday, March 1, at the post office, have "made a hit" in Northville.

On Wednesday evening, only five week days after the bonds were offered to the public here, a total of $9,000 worth of bonds were sold, and $1,850 worth more had been ordered, but had not been taken yet, making a total of almost $10,000 worth sold.

Postmaster Fred E. Van Atta said Wednesday that the only bonds remaining at the postoffice were of the $1,000 denomination. He said that more were expected within the next few days, but that it was also probable that the government would issue only a limited number.

RIDER NAMED FOR SALEM SUPERVISOR

Albert Rider won the nomination for the office of supervisor over Harry Atchinson by a margin of 52 votes at the Salem township republican caucus Monday afternoon.

He received 124 votes against Mr Atchinson's 72.

Floyd Perkins won the candidacy for township clerk from Mayford Sisloff, 129 votes to 53. Leverne Lewis who held the office during the past year, declined the nomination.

Myrtle Savery the present treasurer, won the nomination for that office again by polling 126 votes against Will Cole, her only opponent for that office.

On the remainder of the offices only one candidate was nominated and the rules were suspended and the tellers were instructed to cast a unanimous vote.

Frank Huers was nominated for the office of highway commissioner. Fred Geiger obtained the nomination for justice of peace and Bert Nixon was nominated for the board of review.

The constable candidates chosen were Frank Hugg, Horace Barrett who was the only incumbent, Charles Kaercher and John Hoban.

The assembly voted to retain the same republican township committee that has been in office during the last year. They are Forest W. Roberts, Bert Stanbro and Leverne Lewis.

There being no democratic candidates being placed in the field, the above republican slate will be certain of election on April 1.

Forest W. Roberts acted as chairman at the caucus, with Deforest Thompson as clerk, and Harmon

ELY, BALDEN HEAD TICKETS IN TOWNSHIP

Republicans And Democrats Elect Slates In Record Time At Caucuses

Willard A. Ely and A. C. Balden will head the republican and democratic tickets respectively as the candidates for supervisor in the Northville township election on April 1, having been named at the caucuses held Monday at the high school.

The republican caucus began at 2:30 p. m., and was conducted with a certainty of opinion and business-like procedure that brought it to a close less than 30 minutes after it had been called to order by Township Clerk Elmer L. Smith.

The republican slate is: Willard A. Ely, supervisor; Elmer L. Smith, clerk; Mrs. Mollie Lawrence, treasurer; Dean P. Griswold, justice of the peace; Harold M. Parmenter, highway commissioner; Arthur J. Gotts, highway overseer; Philip H. Donon, Ulie A. Tibbits, James A. Black, and Frank N. Perrin, constables.

Dr. L. W. Snow, in nominating Mr Ely for supervisor, said that he was the most capable and best qualified man for the job, and should be nominated again for the office, that his long experience in handling township affairs had given him a splendid record.

The vote was then taken by ballot, and the result was unanimous in Mr. Ely's favor with 56 votes cast. Ballots would not have been used for so certain a vote except for the fact that a law in regard to caucuses says that it is necessary to take a vote by ballot for the first office in order to gauge the strength of the caucus.

In electing all of the remaining officers the rules were suspended and the tellers were instructed to cast a unanimous vote in favor of the respective candidates.

C. A. McCullough presented the name of Elder L. Smith for township clerk, and no other nominations being made, the unanimous vote was given him.

As nominations were called for the office of township treasurer Mrs. Ruth S. Hinton nominated Mrs. Mollie Lawrence saying that it had been her pleasure to nominate several candidates for offices in past years, and that she was whole-heartedly in favor of Mrs. Lawrence. No further nominations being made, a unanimous vote was taken.

Dean P. Griswold, who finishes his term of office as justice of the peace this year, was nominated to

Mr. And Mrs. Sidney Frid Are Home After 23-Day Trip That Took Them To Haiti, Jamaica And Panama Canal

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Frid are back in Northville after a 23-day southern cruise that took them to Haiti, Jamaica, Panama and British Colombia. Of all the points they stopped at they say they enjoyed the city of Port Au Prince, Haiti, the best, even though it was a city of great contrast to others they were in.

They left New York on January 31 on the S. S. Pastores and for two and one-half days the cold weather continued even when the ship was opposite the Florida coast, and then next morning they had a swim in the ship's pool. Mr. Frid says that he could hardly believe the weather could change so quickly, but it was because they had passed into the Gulf stream.

"Both Mrs. Frid and myself were poor sailors," Mr. Frid says, "and more than once we fed the fishes. But our sufferings were well rewarded when we saw Port au Prince on the island of Haiti. The view of the city as our ship approached it was the most beautiful sight we saw during the entire trip. It is nestled down in a valley with huge and picturesque mountains surrounding it on every side.

"Port au Prince is a city that has some beautiful cathedrals," Mr. Frid said. "It is a city of contrasts. Within a stone's throw of these majestic buildings are homes of the natives that eloquently speak of the tragic poverty there.

"The people seem to be less advanced than any other so-called civilized country, Mr. Frid said. Everywhere one looks there are women carrying bundles on their heads. The men apparently do not work at all."

One of the things that impressed Mr. and Mrs. Frid most about both Haiti and Jamaica was that the natives told them that there were no flies or mosquitoes there. This statement was born out by the fact that none of the houses had screens on the windows or doors.

Jamaica, the British possession, is fully modern, Mr. Frid said, but it was not nearly so interesting as Port au Prince. Other places they stopped were the republic of Colombia, and where they saw the oldest church in South America, 400 years old.

From there they went to the republic of Panama and the Panama canal. Near Panama City they saw the ruins that were still standing from the time when Henry Morgan, famous pirate, laid waste to the city centuries ago. The city of Cristobel in the canal zone, in sharp contrast to Panama City, was the most modern city they saw on their trip.

Their course then led back to Kingston, Jamaica, where the ship took on 10,000 stalks of bananas. They disembarked here to climb some of the mountains that were so high that the clouds, which were of every color of the rainbow, seemed to rest right on the tops of the peaks.

They were then on the homeward trip. The temperature averaged 80 degrees throughout the time they were in the southern waters, Mr. Frid said, and they were rather reluctant to return to the land of

THE FAILURE OF THE NRA AND AAA

It begins to appear that the thousands upon thousands of bureaucrats who have been trying to "run things" at Washington for the past two years may soon be on the retreat. Let us all hope so.

Two years ago and since a whole army—or to change the figure of speech, a whole city, larger than Kalamazoo, Michigan—invaded the national capital. The attempt of the government to centralize the whole affairs of the nation at Washington was on. The NRA and the AAA and the whole list of alphabetical groups that were planned to wipe out the depression sprang into being. Washington was literally overrun with the hordes of new office holders, led by the "Brain Trusters."

The attempt to run the business affairs of everyone from Washington began The NRA set out to control big and little business, from the steel corporations down to the last peanut stand. The AAA plowed under every third row to cut down production and along came the drouth of 1934 which made the feeble attempt of college professors to defy natural laws look foolish.

For two years we have had this centralization of power and the attempt to run every one's business from Washington.

Now what has happened?

Just this: The NRA is a failure. Few responsible people deny this. It simply wouldn't work in a democracy that is flung from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Its former head, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, himself is the most severe critic of the failure of the NRA. Court decisions are helping to wreck it.

The AAA may have been nobly inspired, but it too is a flat failure. Right now housewives are facing a ten per cent increase in the costs of foodstuffs. The AAA helped to make it by their plans of destroying food.

With the breakdown of the NRA and the AAA, there is a good chance for a return to a more sensible system of running the affairs of business and farm life. The bureaucrats have had their chance. They have failed miserably. College professors, no matter how brilliant, know little about the practical affairs of the business world and few of them know much about farming.

Our government has overdone itself in trying to centralize everything at Washington. The army of bureaucrats should soon be on the retreat. They will hate to go, but go they must. And their going will bring little regret, except that of finding ways and means to pay the terrific bills they have created.

NORTHVILLE LIKES BABY BONDS

Regardless of our criticism of our public officials and of the policies of our leaders at Washington, all good citizens rejoice in anything that indicates faith in our great American democracy.

There are plenty of demagogues trying to stir up trouble; there are many wild-eyed men who have a new panacea for bringing prosperity; we have many vicious leaders who would undermine our constitutional government. And yet, there is left a vast majority of men and women who love their homes; who have faith in our plan of government; who believe in the sincerity of their public officials—even though they may greatly differ with them on matters of public policy; and who have enough brains and common sense not to be mislead by the agitators and radicals who are around us.

Northville still throws its faith with the last mentioned class of people. Witness what happened to the Baby Bonds that were put on sale at the local post office. They were eagerly bought by many of our citizens. Northville's residents believe in their government and are anxious to help it in its financing. They want a share in the responsibility of paying the costs and that is all very fine. The faith that people here and all over the country showed in these bonds for small investors is a very heartening thing.

THE ETERNAL MIRACLE

"Mother, it would just pay you to stick your head outdoors and get all these smells of spring," called out the red-headed boy in the editorial home Tuesday morning when March turned a flip-flop and put on a balmy spring day.

There you are again—the eternal miracle!

After days of ice-bound streets and highways; after periods of biting winds; after the long grip of winter, the resurrection of the spring time has its first stirrings in the great outdoors.

Winter is worth living through just to get the thrill of the coming of spring. He who would believe in the resurrection of the soul of man, can take heart when he views the mystery and the never-failing return to life of the growing things all around us. The lifeless trees take on the glory of a thing of matchless beauty; the cold earth sends forth the millions of flowers to rejoice the hearts of folks. Life springs from what has seemed to be death.

Who can explain it? Behind the "smells of spring" there is the eternal miracle. Life begins again. Hope is new; hearts are brave. A new world is ahead for those who work, plan and believe in the great goodness of God.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

CHARACTER EDUCATION

(E. O. Gildart in Utica Sentinel.)

For years we have claimed that training the character of the future citizen is necessary as a defensive act on the part of the state, beset by the ever-increasing army of crime. Declaring that character should be the supreme objective of education and not the intensification of earning power, Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the state university, in his latest report stresses the institution's need for funds to enable it to unfold a program in this direction. He says: "Schools may profitably devote much to developing habits of thoughtfulness, tolerance, honor, fidelity, kindness and truthfulness. Schools should not neglect the cultivation of the intellect, but they should also freely admit and be prepared to act on Emerson's thesis that 'character is higher than intellect'."

WHERE'S THE INVENTORY?

(Springport Signal)

The bunch who have been running things down around the state fair grounds at Detroit don't seem to like Jim Thompson, which is probably one reason why most of the state will form a favorable opinion of him. The new state commissioner of agriculture wants to see the inventory of the equipment on the fair grounds, bought and paid for by the state, and Mr. Lehr, the state racing commissioner, who is now in charge there, says he knows nothing about any inventory, and "it's just a bunch of damn farmers shooting off their mouths anyway." Looks like the state needed a few damn farmers to look after a few things for the state.

THEIR HEADS ARE NOT TURNED

(From the article "Same Old Abe" by Carl Schurz Lorden in Christian Science Monitor)

Sometimes election or appointment to an office spoils a man. He walks down the street with his head high in the air. But a real man will be grateful for his success. He will know his friends in the same old way. He will speak to them and chat with them. He will make them feel happy and pleased at his progress. He will be genuinely the same courteous, sincere person that he was before.

GOVERNMENT FREEZES BANKS

(By W. H. Berkey of the Cassopolis Vigilant)

A lot of banks were closed in the spring of 1933 because of "frozen assets;" and a lot of banks are open in 1935 with "frozen assets, but the process of freezing is entirely different. The freezing in the latter case has been brought on largely by government restriction and regulation. With plenty of money on hand, loaning is limited because of governmental demand for fluidity on the one hand, and by the fact that business fears further regulation and restriction on the other.

THE SUBSERVIENT CONGRESS

(Claremont, (Calif) Courier)

Occasionally a congressman rises to the occasion. After being browbeaten for two years and having to submit meekly to legislation drawn up by the so-called brain trust, Congressman Short of Missouri turned loose in the House one day the following:

"I deeply and sincerely regret that this body has degenerated into a supine, subservient, soporific, superfluous, supercilious, pusillanimous body of nitwits, the greatest ever gathered beneath the dome of our National Capitol, who cowardly abdicate their powers and in violation of their oaths to protect and defend the Constitution against all of the nation's enemies, both foreign and domestic, turn over these constitutional prerogatives, not only granted but imposed upon them, to a group of tax-eating, conceited, autocratic bureaucrats—a bunch of theoretical intellectual, professional nincompoops out of Columbia university, at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue, who were never elected by the American people to any office and who are responsible to no constituency.

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

One of the characteristics of the economic debacle which we have recently gone through is that so many economists and philosophers have tried to explain it.

Whether there is anything to gain or profit by so doing is a matter of conjecture. But one must be a little startled to think that it cost the United States to help promote the World war $50,000,000,000, to say nothing of the $12,000,000,000 owed to us by foreign powers.

If we place these figures on the constructive side of the ledger of human progress in our national life we would get some interesting results.

A report I recently saw went on to say that a $1,000,000 high school could be built in every town with a population of 10,000 or over in the United States. We could build a $10,000,000 university in each state and provide a $40,000,000 endowment for each seat of learning.

There would be no danger of having to cut a teacher's salary, for it could be doubled for ten years and $1000 could also be given to every family in the United States.

There would still be enough to settle the soldier bonus question, but then, there wouldn't be any question.

When such fundamentals as economic securities, education, morals and religion suffer because our nation paid out $50,000,000,000 to promote war, there is little to explain why the business of a great society has in the last few years seemed a little defunct at times.

This is something to remember when we are thinking along the lines of peace and war.

A Twilight Dreamer

By "Kit"

As I relive the yesterdays of bygone years
I smile back on memories through a mist of tears.
The present and future aside are cast;
As I strive in thought to recapture the past.
The days of youth have all too quickly fled,
The romance of those early years Has long been long been dead;
The worries of maturity
Have suppressed joyous mirth;
Unscrupulous ambitions have
Crushed ideals of worth.
The modern era worships the Demon of speed.
For ancient traditions they
Give little heed;
Yes, Father Time is a crafty Schemer
Who created this and left me
Merely a twilight dreamer.

Supt. Amerman Tells of Ideal Pupil

The ideal pupil is first of all a good citizen. He raises the general standards of conduct, courtesy, discipline, etc. by his presence. He is a versatile person and assumes full responsibility for his acts at all times He does not need to be watched.

Secondly, the ideal student is a good scholar He is not necessarily the best student in the sense that he earns the highest marks, but he does his best at all times, and is satisfied with nothing less He is not content with "getting by."

The ideal student is also punctual in attendance. He feels the responsibility and the necessity for regular class attendance and is never absent or tardy without good reason.

Lastly, the ideal student is careful of his mental and physical being and appearance. He gives his body proper exercise and rest, and sees to it that habits of mental and physical cleanliness are a part of his daily living.

In summary, the above statements can be condensed into a single phrase, the ideal student possesses plenty of GOOD COMMON SENSE.

Graduation Dresses

In a short meeting in the sewing room Monday, February 25, some of the seniors mothers decided on the graduation dresses. We are sorry to say that only eleven mothers attended this important meeting.

These mothers decided that the dresses should be long, made of the of cotton or silk, and not to exceed five dollars in cost.

Mr. Thompson attended this meeting and after the meeting was finished led the discussion of other senior problems.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Violet Johnson

Violet was born in Detroit, Michigan on November 26, 1916. The family moved to Northville two years later. She has lived here since that time and has attended Northville schools.

Evidently she has no middle or nick name, as she has never mentioned any. She was secretary of her class in her sophomore and junior years. She is now secretary of the student council.

She had a part in the junior play "The Sweeping Victory."

Her hobbies and pastimes are dancing, singing, and she is fond of all sports.

After graduation she would like to go to college and train for nursing. She is not certain what school or college she will attend.

Ronald Keeping

Ronald was born on December 19, 1917, which makes him as old as his feet and a little older than his teeth. He was born in Scio, North Dakota. The family moved to Sarnia, Ontario and later to Detroit. After finishing the eleventh grade at Cooley high, the family moved to Northville in the spring of 1934.

He was in the senior play "The Poor Rich." He now has the honorable position of vice-president of the I. S. T. club.

His hobby and pastime is traveling. His ambition is to go around the world, especially to see the South Sea Islands and China (He really wants to travel).

After graduation in June, he would like to attend college at Ypsilanti Michigan.

In Mrs. Congo's third grade room the boys side won the spell down. Louis Girardin was the winner and Lorraine Lapham was runner up on the girls side.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

The Worm Turns

"All aboard! all aboard!" shouted the conductor and slowly the train that was bearing Bonnie Jordon to New York began to move.

"Goodbye, mother," Bonnie called through the open window and gayly waving a handkerchief, she watched the pathetic figures of her mother grow dim in the twilight.

The little town of Clarksville was soon left behind leaving only memories of the happy years Bonnie had spent, carefree and contented, with her many friends. A lump rose in her throat as she recalled the sad events of the past month. The tragic death of her father had followed the loss of the little cottage that had been her home all her life. A kind neighbor, informed of their circumstances, had employed Mrs. Jordon as his housekeeper.

At the request of her sister, Jane Porter, Mrs. Jordon consented to send Bonnie to New York, where she could do the housework in payment of her expenses.

After a hectic day of traveling, Bonnie reached New York. Taking her suitcases from the porter, she went into the depot to wait for her aunt.

"Bonnie Jordon," called the sharp tone of a woman who had entered the depot.

"Yes," came the reply, and rising slowly to her feet, Bonnie walked toward the woman.

"I'm Mrs. Porter, your aunt," the woman said, her eyes taking in every detail of the slim, pretty girl, clad in shabby clothes, who stood hesitatingly before her.

"Well," she said at length, "you aint exactly what I expected, but come along now. I have some work for you tonight."

Then, leading the way, Aunt Jane walked out of the depot, into a car that stood waiting outside, with Bonnie following silently. The car sped through the lighted city, and finally stopped before a small frame house in the suburbs.

"Uncle George will take your suitcases in," Aunt Jane said curtly, getting out of the car. Then taking Bonnie's arm she led her into the house.

Bonnie followed her aunt through disordered rooms and up the stairs where she was shown a small attic room.

"Hurry now, take off your wraps and then come downstairs," Aunt Jane said as she noisily shut the door, leaving Bonnie alone.

A big tear splashed down Bonnie's cheek, as she gazed mournfully at the bleak, drab, walls, the bare floor, and the scanty furniture of her bedroom. Slowly she took off her hat and coat, and sank wearily on the bed.

"Bonnie, are you ever coming down?" asked the shrill voice of her aunt. Quickly Bonnie slipped out of her room and descended the stairs Going into the kitchen she found her aunt busily sweeping the floor.

"Young lady, if you want your supper, you had better straighten that living room while I fix you something to eat," and saying this, she handed Bonnie a vacuum cleaner and a dust cloth

After Bonnie had cleaned the room, she went into the kitchen and ate a solitary meal.

"After you wash the dishes you may go to bed, but tomorrow morning you get up at 6:30, prepare breakfast, clean the house, and then you may leave for school. I have notified Miss Princeton of your enrollment," and saying this Aunt Jane left the room

Next morning Bonnie was awakened by the shrill ringing of an alarm clock. Getting out of bed, she hastily dressed and ran downstairs.

LINCOLN HIGH ELIMINATES NORTHVILLE

Score 25-23; Our Chance Of Winning District Meet Is Gone

Coach Watts' five suffered its first defeat of the season, losing to Lincoln Consolidated, 23 to 25, in a very spectacular game at Ypsilanti last Friday.

This was Northville's first defeat of a very successful season, and was hard to take after winning from teams which were much higher rated than Lincoln.

"It just wasn't in the book" for Northville but the Orange and Black five put up a splendid fight in the second half.

With an eight point lead to overcome Bray started the rally and Marburger helped with a foul shot and a field goal. Marburger made another foul shot and Hoffman a field goal. Bobicz and Jones were the only Lincoln players to make points in this quarter. Hoffman and Deal wound up the scoring for Northville in this quarter, each making one basket.

Westphall fouled Wright, who made a basket and Jones continued to put Lincoln in the lead by making another field goal. Northville lost four points to Lincoln by fouling. Hoffman helped the Northville cause in this quarter with six points and Deal with three. Deal made two of these points with ten seconds left to play, tying the score. On a lucky shot from the center of the floor Bobicz made the winning basket of the game, eliminating Northville from the tournament. The score at the end of the game was 23 to 25 in Lincoln's favor.

Ida's Hobbies

By Tom McLoughlin

How would you like to have an autograph book filled with the autographs of the most famous actors and actresses of the legitimate stage? Ida Altman has just such a book. When Ida was just a small girl her father, being connected with the show business, started collecting autographs for her. They are all kept in a small green book, but in that book are the signatures of some of the best known stars of stage and screen.

When the four Marx brothers came to Detroit in the show "Animal Crackers," Mr. Altman decided that it was high time for him to begin to get famous autographs for Ida. It was the four Marx brothers who initiated this book with their autographs.

Pauline Frederick signed her name with the caption, "Think much; write little; say less;" and when the great opera star Madame Schumann-Heink came to Detroit and found that her autograph was requested wrote beneath Pauline Frederick's name: (of whom she is a very good friend) "how right she is."

Among the other famous signatures are those of Katherine Cornell, Eva Le Gallienne and Eleanor Painter.

Walter Hodge, Walter Hampton, Cornelia Skinner, Alfred Lunt, Lynn Fontaine, and Grace George, are others who have written in this precious little book of Ida's. Helen Hayes gave her an autographed picture saying, "To Ida, Best Wishes." George M. Cohan has written in the book, but better still, Ida has met him.

Then there are those who are both stage and screen stars such as Barbara Stanwyck, Frank Fare, her husband, Paul Muni, and the very famous Ethel Barrymore. Among the comedians' autographs are George Sydney, Ed Wynn and Charles "Chic" Sales. The well-known Al Jolson said "What a little girl learns she never forgets."

Perhaps, if you are interested, Ida will show you this little book filled with the signatures of many important celebrities.

In Miss Kreeger's fifth grade room Geraldine McKenna won the spell down Friday. The third graders made silhouettes of Washington and Lincoln. They also studied the life of Washington. Mrs. Babbitt's room had baby pictures of his home. These were used to add them in their study of him.

It was in New Jersey that Mrs. Averill's daughter, Peggy, started first grade. From New Jersey they moved to Jackson where they lived for two months. Then they couldn't resist the lure of Northville so they moved here in May, 1934, where Peggy enrolled in the ninth grade.

She is an attractive girl with brown hair and blue eyes and touches the tape at 5 feet 1 inch.

At Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. H. Vaughn the young women of the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary were pleasantly reminded that it has been nine years since the girls of the Martha chapter of the Women's Guild decided to graduate from the junior society to their present organization. The activities of the Guild in contributing to the church and to missions have been carried on throughout these years and in the course of the program, Mrs. Don P. Yerkes, who has been the sponsor and "guiding star" of the young women for twenty years gave an interesting survey of the past nine years since the organization of the auxiliary which bears her name. Mrs. H. G. Whitfield led devotions.

A large birthday cake was the feature of the dainty table where pink and lavender snapdragons and stock were the centerpiece. Mrs. Whitfield presided at the coffee urn. Informal games were played.

The Merry-Go-Round ladies were entertained at the home of Mrs. Adaline Knapp Wednesday, February 27, at a one o'clock luncheon with places laid for fourteen.

"Hell In The Heavens" Starring Warner Baxter Here Saturday; "Straight From The Heart" Wednesday

Described as a thrilling romance of death and danger in the skies, the new Fox Film production, "Hell in the Heavens," starring Warner Baxter, will be at Penniman Allen Theatre, Saturday, March 9th.

Star of a long and notable series of screen hits, including "The Cisco Kid," "Grand Canary," "In Old Arizona," "Stand Up and Cheer" and "Paddy the Next Best Thing," Warner Baxter is said to contribute his greatest performance in seasons to the new Fox Film. This time he is cast as an American flier in the Lafayette Escadrille, who is promoted by death to fill his captain's place.

Haunted by the fear that he will be afraid, the lieutenant struggles to combat it. Love helps, in the form of dashing Conchita Montenegro. At length Baxter meets the "Baron," most daring and dangerous of German aces, in close conflict high above the clouds—and solves his destiny through courage.

Fox has surrounded the star with one of the most distinguished supporting casts in years. Conchita Montenegro, who appeared with Baxter in "The Cisco Kid," is again his leading woman. Russell Hardie, seen recently in "Pursued" and "As the Earth Turns," has an important juvenile role.

Other members of the cast are Herbert Mundin, Andy Devine, Ralph Morgan, Vince Barnett, William Stelling, J. Carrol Naish and Johnny Arthur.

"Hell in the Heavens" was directed by John Blystone, with Al Rockett named as producer.

Byron Morgan and Ted Parsons fashioned the screen play, adapting it from a play by Hermann Rossmann titled "The Ace." It was a huge success last season on the London stage.

There is a little bit of elephant in Baby Jane. She never forgets. Starring in her third Universal picture, "Straight from the Heart," which has a political background, she mann titled "The Ace." It was a little politician herself. She has one of the prime qualifications for political success, a tar-bucket memory. She never forgets a name or a face. She knew everybody on the set while making "Straight from the Heart," which comes Wednesday, March 13th to the local theatre, from Director Scott R. Beal and the leading players, Mary Astor, Roger Pryor, Henry Armetta and Grant Mitchell to the carpenters and grips. And she had a handshake for them all.

Little Jane's memory extends to other matters than handshaking. She learned all her lines before the picture went into production and never forgot one of them. She picked up the lines of the adult players while they rehearsed and she was playing with her toys off the set. Sometimes she would embarrass them by prompting when they suffered a lapse of memory. All in all this tot of three had more than fifty "slides" or responses of dialogue to learn, a remarkable feat for a child of such tender years.

The baby's part in "Straight from the Heart" is a large one. She is not just a pretty child carried on the set like a doll so the audience can breathe, "Ah, how cute!"

The tiny girl really acts. She is cast as the child of a jobless widow who is forced to leave her little daughter at a day nursery. Baby Jane gets into all sorts of scrapes. She robs ice boxes and eats all the jam. She gets Roger Pryor into an embarrassing predicament by calling him "Papa," when he is not her papa at all. This innocent misconception almost causes a change in a city government and brings about an unemployment crisis.

In fact Baby Jane justifies her starring position in the cast by playing the key role in the production. The picture was written especially for her by Doris Anderson. In the end, although the screen pranks of the little one brings all the leading adult players into distressing complications, she also unravels the skein she has woven and brings Roger Pryor and Mary Astor together in the final reel.

Baby Jane is only a little creature lacking two inches of being a yard tall. She weighs thirty four pounds. She was born in Hollywood. Her favorite sports are eating candy and playing with the numerous pets sent her by her fan following.

King's Daughters Hold Successful Card Party Tuesday—

Sixty women participated in the benefit card party given by the King's Daughters at the home of Mrs. W. P. Chapman Tuesday afternoon.

Fourteen tables of players made up the party, the games ranging from Bunco to the intricacies of contract. One table was made up of Farmington guests, Mesdames Hilburn, Heeney, Lamb and Johnson.

Each table received a prize and two door prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hilburn of Farmington, and Mrs. M. N. Johnson.

As the result of the afternoon $20 was added to the treasury to be used in charity work. In addition to supplying a number of school children with shoes and rubbers this winter, the local chapter has made generous contributions to the educational fund at the University hospital, the Convalescent Home and to the summer camp for girls. The Northville chapter has the distinction of being the first to pay all its obligations.

A large supply of clothing for the University hospital will be begun soon.

Mrs. LeRoy Stewart and Mrs. Chapman were the committee on arrangements for Tuesday afternoon, assisted by Mesdames Wm. E. Forney, E. J. Cobb, Ida Hendrix, Jos. Denton, and Miss Jessie Roe and Miss Ruth Gillis.

Percy Angore Addresses Woman's Club Friday Afternoon—

"Equal Privileges for the Unequal" was the theme of Percy Angore in an appealing talk to members of the Northville Woman's club Friday afternoon.

The real problem of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, of which Mr. Angore is Executive Director, is to combat the ignorance of parents who neglect the early medical or surgical care of their children because of fear or selfishness. Many instances were cited by the speaker showing that a cure might have been effected if taken in time.

To prepare these young unfortunates to take their places in adult life requires education during their period of hospitalization. Often the finest minds live in crippled bodies.

In Michigan alone there are approximately 22,000 crippled children, a large proportion of whom are neglected through ignorance.

Mr. Angore was introduced by Mrs. Don P. Yerkes.

Preceding the talk the club listened to the high school a capella choir of forty voices who sang three numbers and responded with a fourth after hearty applause. Leslie G. Lee directed the choir.

FATHERS AND SONS OF SALEM ENJOY A SUCCESSFUL BANQUET

The Father and Son banquet held in the Federated church in Salem on March 1 was one of the happiest events thus far. It was planned by the North Circle with Mrs. Charles Payne and Mrs. George Roberts in charge. It was not given to gain profit but as a tribute to the men and boys of the church and community.

All the guests seemed to enjoy the supper and were especially pleased with the strawberry short cake made with fresh strawberries.

There was a patriotic theme running through the banquet and the tables were decorated with this in view. George Roberts helped the ladies by making the centerpieces for all the tables, small log cabins of real "logs," and these with little hatchets, under miniature trees helped even the youngest sons to think of Lincoln and Washington.

Mrs. Harmon Gale played while the guests marched down to the dining room and Rev. Fred Levis of Rushton asked God's blessing on the company. Ronald Lyke with his inimitable wit and manner filled his position as toastmaster in a most entertaining way. He was honored by having his father and grandfather at the table with him. Ray Pennell gave the toast to the sons, and Junior Mankin toasted to the fathers. Curtis Hamilton entertained with an excellent monologue.

The songs by the trio, Myron Atchison, Arthur Wheeler and B. E. Stanbro, and duets by Grant Currie and his son, John, were appreciated enthusiastically.

Richard T. Baldwin, editor of the Northville Record, gave the address on "The Character of Washington" in commemorating the birthday anniversary of the father of our country.

Recording of Time

Until the Fourteenth century whatever time recording was done followed, with only minor improvement, the methods laid down by the Egyptians. Then in 1370 Henry DeVick constructed for Charles V of France the first mechanical timepiece—a true clock, even though it varied as much as two hours a day.

Green-Winged Teal Swift

Green-winged teal are among the swiftest of ducks. They range from the Arctic Circle to Central America, but nest chiefly north of the United States. In the Canadian and Alaskan wilds they build a nest on the ground of grass stems and lined with down or feathers. Their five to twelve eggs are greenish buff.

JOHN WESLEY KENNER PASSES AT 82 YEARS

John Wesley Kenner passed away at his home on Grace avenue Tuesday, March 5, at the age of nearly 82 years. Mr. Kenner had been in declining health for a long time, having been confined to his bed for the past four weeks.

Of German parentage, John Wesley Kenner was born on board an ocean liner just before his parents, Godfrey and Margaret Kenner, landed in the United States.

Just a few days previous to his death, Mr. and Mrs. Kenner had reached the 48th anniversary of their life together.

For years Mr. Kenner owned and operated a farm near Novi and during these years was noted as a buyer and salesman of goods. Of him a friend who had known him for 60 years pays this tribute: "He was as honest as the day is long and could be trusted implicitly." He was a good neighbor and a kind and devoted father.

Of late years Mr. Kenner had lived in retirement at his home on Grace avenue. His wife and four children survive, Maude (Mrs. Ford Recker), of Pittsford, Roy, of Northville, Ross, of Novi, and Merle of Calgary, Alberta, Canada. One brother in McCutcheonsville, Ohio, and one sister of Fostoria, Ohio, also survive in his immediate family.

The funeral service was held at the home Thursday afternoon with his former pastor, Rev. Wm Richard officiating, assisted by Rev. H. H. Malhison.

"St. John's Bread"

The "husks" eaten by the prodigal son in the Bible parable are identified in a Mediterranean legume with a sweet edible pulp, which is called "St. John's bread."

All Business Threatened By Public Utility Bills

Forced Liquidation of Billions of Securities and Blow to Recovery Foreseen.

All business would be threatened with bureaucratic control by enactment of the utility bills now before Congress, and their passage would compel liquidation or sale of billions of dollars of securities, according to public utility executives.

In reply to the recent radio talk of Congressman Rayburn, which attempted to justify the bill to wipe out holding companies and hamstring operating companies, J. F. Fogarty, President of The North American Company, declared that it constituted a clear warning to customers, security holders and workers of the public utility industry which should arouse them to the necessity of studying the bill and understanding what it proposes to do to them.

"The bill is based on an unwarranted, sweeping indictment of the public utility industry," Mr. Fogarty said, "and a threat against all business lies behind it. It would discourage the expenditures of a billion dollars each year normally made by the public utility companies for purchases of equipment principally from the heavy goods industries now suffering acutely from unemployment. Should such a situation develop it would be a serious blow to national recovery."

H. Hobart Porter, President of American Water Works and Electric Company, Inc., also emphasized the dangers in the bill to all business and stated that the proposal to destroy the holding companies not only directly affects the operating companies but threatens the ultimate nationalization of some [illegible]

Mr. Porter listed the following harmful results indicated by the proposed legislation:

1. Crippling of the nation's electric and gas service, directly by reason of unfair restriction of operating companies and indirectly through the abolition of holding companies.

2. A condition apparently equivalent to government management and operation of electric and gas production and distribution, with all the attendant risks of loss and a heavy burden of taxation still resting upon the owners.

3. Breaking up of all utility holding companies, to be possibly followed by the destruction of other holding companies such as those that exist in the steel industry, automobile manufacture, food products and practically every basic commercial enterprise.

4. Destruction of the value of securities held by millions of investors in electric and gas companies, both operating and holding companies, and thus checking the nation's efforts toward recovery.

"So far as it is the goal of the bill to prevent unsound practices not already controlled by present regulation and law, its intentions are commendable," Mr. Porter stated. "But a study of this bill indicates that that would not be its effect by weakening the operating company through the elimination of holding company services and by the partial [illegible] power of the Federal Power Commission the bill apparently looks to [illegible]

Sallee Richardson—My idea of an ideal student is one who has good marks, and yet has a good time; by this I don't mean skipping school, but one who has a really good time in school and has time for school affairs and friends.

Alice Eaton—Comprehension and cooperation with teachers. Not being too smarty. Willingness to work. Interest in class work.

Robert Bray—Intelligence and a desire to work, although I don't consider a person who has his nose in a book all the time an ideal pupil.

Kenneth Porter—One who gets through school with the highest marks is not, in my opinion, always the ideal student. We still have to consider their honesty, ability, cheerfulness and courtesy.

PROVES TO BE A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

The pancake supper given by the faculty for the benefit of the Free Lunch Fund was a financial success.

The supper was given in the lower hall of the high school due to the fact that the gym is being repaired. The hall looked very neat and attractive. Six tables were set and very neatly decorated.

A large number of people attended the supper. The serving was done by the students of the high school, some of the teachers, and Harry White.

Miss Huff had charge of the dining room and Mrs. Zimmerman had charge of the kitchen.

The faculty of Northville schools wish to thank the townspeople for supporting their venture.

Whenever possible, use shades with light-colored linings to get the most light. (Wide shades, open at the top, are best.) St. Paul's Lutheran

"And He is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world" 1 John 2 2

The Lenten season with its prayerful meditations upon the Passion of our Lord will be a blessed time for us if the Holy Ghost opens our eyes so that by faith we may see the great purpose behind it all—the redemption of the world. Our sins were propitiated by our Saviour, your sins, my sins, the sins of the world. There is no exception. Christ redeemed the world. That is the good tidings of the Gospel to every sinful human being. When you look at the cross on which your Saviour died, may you say with a believing heart "It was for me; thank God it was for me!"

For me the Savior Christ was born,
For me He lived and suffered scorn
For me He taught as never man taught,
For me His signs and wonders wrought,
For me His mercy made Him poor
To make me rich forevermore;
For me He made a feast indeed
My hungering, thirsting soul to feed.

For me in Gethsemane He knelt,
And there death's pangs for me He felt.
For me condemned and crucified,
For me He prayed, for me He died!
For me His life as ransom gave,
My soul from sin and death to save.
For me entombed, the Everblest
Prepared eternal, glorious rest.
For me He rose triumphantly,
For me He gained the victory.
For me exalted to God's right,
For me He rules with grace and might
To Him, my Lord, all glory be
In time and in eternity!
Let all in heaven and earth rejoice
And praise Him with exultant voice.

CATHERINE LORION AND ELMER SCHULTZ MARRIED SATURDAY

Miss Catherine Lorion, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs. Ed Lorion, became the bride of Elmer Schultz Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at a very impressive ceremony, performed by Father Joseph Schufer at Our Lady of Victory church at Northville. Two little flower girls, Dolores Lorion and Betty McWilliams, led the bridal procession scattering flowers in the path of the party. Miss Helen Lorion, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a dress of green silk taffeta with matching hat and carrying a flower bouquet. Miss Laura Tolletene in a gown of peach silk and hat to match and Miss Ruth Campbell, who chose a blue silk dress and hat were bridesmaids, each carrying a flower bouquet.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white silk taffeta and a wedding veil, held in place with lilies of the valley and carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. She wore a gold chain and cross, a gift when she was 2 years of age. She came up the aisle on the arm of her father, who escorted her to the altar where she was met by the groom, and the vows were spoken and nuptial mass followed.

Guests were present from Utica, Detroit Toledo, Walled Lake, and Northville. A reception followed the wedding at the home of the bride's parents with about 40 guests present. The young people received many beautiful gifts. They will live in Detroit where the groom has a position as circulation manager of a magazine.

Edward Lorion, Jr., brother of the bride, was best man, and Elmer Tolletene and Louis Campbell were ushers.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN

BY HARRISON CHANDLER

One of The Best of The Year

More than 100,000 people saw "David Copperfield" in its recent showing in the United Artists theatre in Detroit, Robert Corbin, manager, announces. That establishes a record at that theatre. Those people consumed over 200,000 hours to see the epic that has caused more favorable comment by both movie reviewers and the public as we than any other film in some time back. Many returned to see it a second time. Mr. Corbin says. It certainly goes to show the public can still appreciate a picture of real merit and one in which there is no filth.

At The Songfest

We had a most unusual experience Sunday afternoon at Webster Hall hotel in Detroit. We dropped in there with friends and discovered that Emerson Gill, the orchestra leader there, was conducting an audition for amateur crooners both men and women, for a chance to sing with his orchestra one evening, the winners to get a week's contract with some other band.

It was really more entertaining than one of the downtown cinemas. There were several hundred aspirants there in the cocktail grill, ranking in age from six to about 50, and the committee listened to quite a good number of them.

It was a good index to the popular tunes of the day, and "Blue Moon" was away out in front. We enjoyed watching the manner some of them approached that microphone. One not too handsome individual stepped up and seized it in a mighty grasp which made it appear that he would attempt to climb it like one would scale a tree, and then he bellowed through the instrument something that sounded like "Dina."

"Ain folk"

"For its ob, but I'm longin' for me ain folk"— she sang as she rattled the dishes in the pan. Outside the melting snow made big pools in the lawn, buds were swelling and already hints of spring were doing those strange things to hearts.

Dreamily she let the suds drip om her fingers as she looked out f the window.

"A letter for you, mother! It's from Uncle Foster!"

Wiping her hands on her apron she eagerly tore it open. — "Come on back to the old home, sister," it ran, "and spend one day with me prowling around the old scenes."—(Oh, could she!)

What mother leaves her brood without misgivings? — But it was the call from the "litte brother" whem she had mothered since the days when his baby plumpness bulged the sides of her doll cab as she proudly wheeled him up and down.

Of course she went.—And what a day!

A warm spring sun shone on brother and sister as they roamed again out old Maple street to the first "stationary" home they had in their itinerary childhood.

There it stood among the same old trees.

"How big the cedars have grown!" "And where is the old snow apple tree in the side yard,—and the sweet cherry tree by the barn?"

There's the loft in the barn where Paul and I played hide and seek, said the brother, but the sister was hunting for the roots of the bleeding heart that grew by the porch. (There was a romance hidden in that bush.)

Gone were the old neighbors, all except the one across the road who seemed not a day older than when her "Babe" played with this brother, then a barefoot boy.

On went this brother and sister to travel again the winding road to Devereaux where they used to ride with their father to the litte school house each Sunday afternoon. Behind old Major the five miles seemed long and they recalled how they shivered against the big fur coat of their father in a creaking cutter or in summer time watched the sand roll lazily off the wheels as they were bidden "to keep quiet on the way out so that I can think."

It was then they learned to listen to the distant songs of meadow lark and killdeer and to love the smell of growing things along the rail fences. There was plenty of time with the old horse plodding slowly up sandy hills on quiet country roads. (Wonder if our children in motor cars hear the birds?)

So soon there! Why it used to seem so far.

Memories long dormant were revived, laughed over (and once the tears were frankly wiped away) by these two who had shared hardships and joys through childhood and youth so that they could look at life together with that understanding which none can have but "Ain folk."

Here are three recipes for dainty cookies to be served for tea.

Form into balls three-fourths inch thick and place in pan 1 inch apart. Press with tines of fork each way and bake at 400 degrees.

Cocoanut Cake

Chocolate Fancies

Ida Altman Tells Of Her Meetings With Several of Hollywood's Most Celebrated Motion Picture Stars

By Ida Altman

It's really a thrill meeting a great star. You probably think you would be rather timid, but you shouldn't feel that way. Great people are human after all. People imagine a star being temperamental. Of course there are a few that way, but not very many.

I was quite small the time when I met Al Jolson. He was in the lobby of the theatre early in the morning. My dad had known him for a great many years, and introduced me to him. Mr. Jolson had on an old cap and was dressed just like a workingman. He was very pleasant and I had a long talk with him.

George Sidney is another star that was very nice. He is quite fat and jolly. He told me how he and my dad had been friends for years, and asked me to clap hard for his show.

It's funny, but most every actor and actress I have met always end their conversation by asking you to enjoy and applaud their show. Most of them look you straight in the eye and say how pleased they are to meet you. They have grand voices, rather low and clear.

When Ed Wynn's show was in I went back stage and met the drummer. Ed Wynn hadn't arrived as yet, so I wandered into his dressing room. To my surprise, there were rag dolls of all sizes all over his dressing room. Later I saw Ed rush in so I didn't get a chance to meet him, because he is one of the busiest persons of the theatre. You see, he writes all his own radio programs, besides acting when he is on the road.

A lot of the actors and actresses have had grease paint all over them when I have met them, and others have had their make-up on. They look so very different when you see them on the stage a few minutes later.

These stage people have such grand personalities. I suppose that is why they are so great, and why they are what they are because of that. When you meet them they act as if they are honored to meet you, instead of visa versa.

Just a few weeks ago I met George M. Cohan. He was grand. He told me he hoped I would like the show and gave me an autographed picture of himself.

All these people are so interesting and grand that they really deserve to be where they are.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

What characteristics do you think go to make up the ideal pupil?

Phyllis Flaherty—I don't think a person who studies all the time is an ideal pupil. In order to be anyone's ideal you must have personality as well as intellect. One must have time for their friends as well as their books.

Lois Chapman—Honesty, good sportsmanship, neatness, cheerfulness, diligence, loyalty and friendliness.

Salke Richardson—My idea of an ideal student is one who has good marks, and yet has a good time; by this I don't mean skipping school, but one who has a really good time in school and has time for school affairs and friends.

Alice Eaton—Comprehension and cooperation with teachers. Not being too smarty. Willingness to work. Interest in class work.

Robert Bray—Intelligence and a desire to work, although I don't consider a person who has his nose in a book all the time an ideal pupil.

Kenneth Porter—One who gets through school with the highest marks is not, in my opinion, always the ideal student. We still have to consider their honesty, ambition, cheerfulness and courtesy.

Senior Girl Answers Discussion on Dress

By Dorothy Richardson

Someone last week publicly raised the question of "Why do girls have to dress similarly on graduation night?" The answer is for the simple reason that everyone is on the same level. It isn't like the Prom or Hop where the dance means something different to each person. Why aren't sport dresses worn to the Prom? Just because it isn't the custom and no one likes to be too different. I know a girl who would rather wear jodphers, but knowing how she would feel she calmly submits to a formal when attending a prom because it is a semi-formal affair and so are the graduation exercises.

This problem has not been solved in other schools by letting each wear what she wishes. They either all wear caps and gowns, or similar white dresses. We had the experience of letting some wear sport dresses and others formals not so very long ago. It was decided then and there that the girls would thereafter dress similarly. It was altogether a very unpleasant situation, seeing three dresses of one kind, perhaps one of another, and so forth. It looks too much like a style show or flower show to see so many different patterns and colors.

There are always a certain few who delight in seeing just how much they can out-do the other person, and this always causes some one's feelings to be hurt.

It would be much better if one saw a look of dissatisfaction on some faces than a hurt look on others.

As it is a day of graduation, and since we aren't wearing caps and gowns, white is still the symbol of graduation.

It really isn't what you wear that matters so much, it is what you are.

BASKETBALL COACH GIVES GIRLS' TEAM A BANQUET FEB. 28

Thursday evening, February 28, Miss Gladys Ludwig, coach, gave a dinner at the Lone Pine Tea Room for the basketball girls.

The table was very attractively decorated with little black dogs and after dinner mints wrapped in orange cellophane carrying out the school colors.

During the meal the girls played games and chatted. The dinner was delicious and the basketball girls certainly can eat.

After dinner the girls went to Ypsilanti to the boys' tournament game.

PANCAKE SUPPER PROVES TO BE A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

The pancake supper given by the faculty for the benefit of the Free Lunch Fund was a financial success.

The supper was given in the lower hall of the high school due to the fact that the gym is being repaired. The hall looked very neat and attractive. Six tables were set and very neatly decorated.

A large number of people attended the supper. The serving was done by the students of the high school, some of the teachers, and Harry White.

Miss Huff had charge of the dining room and Mrs. Zimmerman had charge of the kitchen.

The faculty of Northville schools wish to thank the townspeople for supporting their venture.

Youngest Boy in Senior Class on the basketball squad for one and a half years.

In his junior year he was a member of the student council. He is now president of the senior class.

He has been a Boy Scout for four years and is now an eagle in rank.

He belongs to a well-known club in this community, the I. S. T. C. Tom is general manager of the "union."

"Junior" is a blond, has blue eyes, and is five feet eight inches tall. And, oh yes, he can blush (very unusual for a person in the twelfth grade).

His favorite sports are track and basketball.

Tom's pastimes are dancing, traveling, and he just loves to have his picture taken (with a certain person) on boat trips.

GRADE NOTES

Miss Leonardson's first and second graders had a snow picnic not long ago and took food to the birds and squirrels in the park, just as the little girl did in their story. The second grade wrote letters to Mrs. Handorf and sent them to the boat she sailed on as a surprise to her. They received a reply from her on Monday and a picture folder of Baltimore. She mailed it from the boat.

The first and second grade room has a large world map which they have painted. They also made a paper boat, and they are sailing across the Atlantic as Mrs. Handorf's boat moves on its journey.

Mrs. Reng's second graders made red, white, and blue badges and wore them for Washington's birthday and listened to George Washington stories and a play. The second grade room also made Lincoln and Washington decorations and the children brought flags to school for a display.

In Miss Jarvis' room most of the pupils have returned to school after being ill with chicken-pox. The robin class has started on its Edson book 1. The pupils of her room have started on library reading. Each pupil reads and studies a story and when they can read it well they are allowed to read it to the class and they receive a gold star on their library chart.

Four pupils of the third grade room are absent with chicken-pox.

Mrs. Hawkins' sixth grade boys have finished sanding and refinishing the desks, and they now have a very fine appearance. The sixth grade class is studying hard for the spell-down of March 8. For art work they made fussy willows.

In Miss Kreeger's fifth grade room, Robert Voglin, Ralph Hay and Julia Politz are absent with the chicken-pox. The pupils of this room made a Lincoln's log cabin of paper and Betsy Ross and Washington pictures for board decorations.

Miss Reincke's fifth and sixth graders had a spell-down. Betty Lou Hollis was the sixth grade winner and Sidney Laney of the fifth grade. For an art lesson they made sailboats to illustrate a story they had read. They also had a Lincoln and Washington picture collection.

THE OBSERVATION COLUMN

The person observed this week is a junior boy. He is of medium height with black hair and dark eyes. He is an outstanding student in sciences.

One day a short time ago he greatly amused the public speaking class by giving his own interpretation of how a bird flies. Often after school he can be seen hiking out the Fishery road towards home. Oh, yes, he lives on a farm. Another hint might be that this is "Willie's" first year at Northville high school. He claimed a part in the junior play which will be given in about three weeks. He is very interested in hunting and is an excellent tap dancer.

We are all BLIND in the dark!

EYES need light. You can't see anything without light. And there is a proper amount of light for every seeing task. Of course, you could read by the light of an open fireplace. But it strains vision and does much more damage than our eyes tell us. The few simple rules which follow form a good guide to adequate home lighting. In the table or floor lamp next to your easy chair, you should have correct size lamp bulbs —"WATTS." If it is a three-socket lamp, there should be 40 watts in each socket; if a two-socket lamp, 60 watts in each socket; if a one-socket lamp, 100 watts. All lamps in your house should have SHADES to prevent GLARE. Whenever possible, use shades with light-colored linings to get the most light. (Wide shades, open at the top, are best.) Finally, have at least one-tenth as much light in the rest of the room as you have on your book, newspaper, sewing, etc.

CIRCUIT JUDGES

was a gross absurdity to think of changing this group of men on the bench now who have all shown so much ability and honesty for such a long period of time.

Judge Merriam said that the whole heart of the republican party is wrapped up in the members of the circuit bench, and that any voter would be foolhardy to vote the democratic ticket and overlook the character of the present judges, who he feels should be non-partisan.

These men, he said, were real republicans. They were in that party before the nation voted democratic in the last presidential election, and they have never changed to get votes.

Judge Chenot said that while he had been on the circuit bench the shortest time of the republican members of it, he had previously had nine years experience as assistant prosecutor and prosecutor of Wayne county.

Following the addresses the men remained to have the refreshments furnished by the club.

The Ladies Association met at the home of Mrs. Albert Heichman, Thursday. Nine ladies were present and after a business session a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

Miss Jameson, assistant teacher in Wayne county rural schools, visited Pierson school Thursday morning.

Mrs. Annie Heichman spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. Hawkins, of Detroit, who fell on the ice and hurt her arm and face quite badly.

The church school and church combined held their service Sunday. Rev. Roy Miller was present and taught the Bible class.

Miss Edwards' room at Pierson school is having their final candy sale this week to finish paying for the radio.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heichman entertained her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bonsner and Mr. Tour from Walled Lake Friday.

The Ladies Association will give a penny lunch at the Community hall Wednesday, March 13, at the dinner hour for the school children.

A box social will be sponsored by the Ladies Association Saturday, March 16.

Some of the third, fourth, and fifth grade pupils are enthused over the new scrap books they are making.

The supper and entertainments sponsored by the community club Wednesday evening, prepared by the ladies, was an enjoyable affair. The glee club sang several numbers, with Mrs. Zalda Wolfe at the piano. Mr. Johnson spoke on the merits of Fred Fisher for school commissioner for Wayne county. Short talks were given by township officers, John Hartell, Dan McKinney, Ray Owen, and Mr. Grace. Fern Ault and Billy Owen gave a dialogue. Mr. Owen and Harry Wolfe Jr. sang a group of songs.

succeed himself, and was elected to be a candidate in like manner.

Eber W. Lester then placed the name of Harold M. Parmenter for highway commissioner before the assembly, and again the rules were suspended and a unanimous vote cast.

Willard A. Ely nominated Arthur J. Gotts for highway overseer and the rules were suspended once more, since he was the only candidate, and a unanimous vote taken.

The only contest that developed was in choosing the four constable candidates. Philip H. Donon, Ulie A. Tibbits, James A. Black, Ward W. Masters, Albert M. Zimmer, and Frank N. Perrin were all nominated for this office.

Mr. Masters then withdrew from the race, and Dr. Show withdrew the name of Mr. Zimmer, whom he had nominated. This left four still nominated, and these were elected by a unanimous vote.

The assembly then voted to retain the same republican township committee for the ensuing year, and Mrs. Lawrence asked that her name be withdrawn from it. The others on the committee are Dean P. Griswold, R. T. Baldwin, Lydella Ely, and Mary Stewart.

Justice of the peace Arthur S. Nichols presided as chairman at the caucus, with Eber W. Lester and Mrs. Fred W. Lyke as tellers.

The democratic caucus which began at 8 P. M. was as orderly and almost as rapid in the selection of its candidates as the republican.

M. J. Murphy, who has been president of the democratic township committee for the past year, was chosen as chairman, Dr. Wilbur H. Johnson as Clerk, and Mrs. E. B. Cavell and Leland Smith were sworn in as tellers.

Dr. E. B. Cavell nominated Adolph C. Balden for the office of supervisor, and the ballots revealed a unanimous vote of 26 for him.

Miss Ruth Gillis was nominated for township clerk, and the rules were suspended and the clerk ordered to cast a unanimous vote in her favor.

This procedure was repeated in the selection of the remainder of the candidates.

Leland Smith was selected as candidate for treasurer, and Wellington Roberts was chosen for justice of the peace.

The democratic constable candidates elected were Fred Hicks, Charles A. Sessions Jr., Martin Schrader, and Roy H. Graham.

[illegible] elected democratic township committee is Mrs. F. B. Carroll, Mrs. Lillian Blake, Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston and Bert C. Stark. M. J. Murphy, who has been serving on the board, asked that he not be considered for the position again.

The group voted to give the democratic committee full power to fill all vacancies that might occur on the ticket. No candidates were elected at the caucus for the offices of highway commissioner or highway overseer.

Just before the caucus was adjourned, it was decided to extend a vote of thanks to the school board, to Superintendent R. H. Amerman, and to the janitor for their kindness to those present in permitting them to use the auditorium free of charge for the caucus and for the Roosevelt Democratic Mass-meeting Thursday evening, February 28.

James Black withdrew as a candidate for constable in favor of Ward Masters.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 24 of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't know we feel like if whipped tomcat, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Go at the cause. THE VOICE OF THE PULPIT IN NORTHVILLE

A FRANK TALK TO NON-CHURCH MEMBERS

Some of us join the church because we are in sympathy with its general purposes. We think in spite of its many faults and weaknesses it is doing more good than harm, and we want to help a cause which stands increasingly for righteousness. We accept its big fundamentals and are willing to go ahead on their basis with open minds, anxious that our faith shall expand and our character shall grow more like that of Jesus Christ.

We do not stay out of a club because there are some things about it we don't like. Why should we remain out of the church for that reason?

We shall never appreciate the church and for what it stands, unless we give it a chance in our lives. Get its atmosphere. Bible reading, hymn singing, prayer life, contact with the preacher and exchange of thought with those who have experienced something that we have not found. These are some of the things which gives life value.

Are there hypocrites in the church? Yes. Are there a lot of people outside of the church who are finer than some of the people inside the church? Yes. Both facts are arguments for getting in, not staying out. One should join the church to help to make it and the hypocrites better. I respect opinions of those outside of the church but think how much finer they would be inside of the church. There are probably more hypocrites outside than there are inside. There are a lot of fine people outside who hold to the big fundamentals and who ought to be inside. They are unfair to themselves when they stay outside.

What are the big fundamentals? Belief in God. Faith in Jesus Christ. The influence of the church. A desire to express religion in right action at all times. Very simple—but it takes all one's manhood to live them.

Can a person be a Christian and not go to church? Perhaps—on somewhat the same basis as one can be a citizen and not vote. Are all church members real Christians? No. If every one in the church were perfect there would not be any need of the church.

Let us face the facts, non-church man. We are afraid and unwilling to give God a fair chance in our lives, because it means a change of program for us. Why be content to be just good when we can be so much better? We all want to be at our best; we want to be remembered at our best. Would we not be nearer our best if we united with the church? The church stands for everything that is solid and noble in the community. You have no quarrel with Christ. Then don't turn your back upon the institution which He and his disciples founded. Come and join the church of your choice this Lenten time.

"I would not live in a churchless town,
I'm here in my slippers and dressing gown.
If all of the people were just like me
How righteous a place this town would be!"

Horace H. Mallinson,
Preacher of Methodist Episcopal church.

Basketball

the time, but lacked the scoring punch. Many times the ball was worked close to the opposing basket only to see it lost by a bad pass or a wide shot at the basket.

Lincoln profited by the fouls made by Northville during the first half, when the Orange and Black five committed a total of seven fouls. Lincoln gained four of its points in this manner. They also made three field goals in the second quarter to pile up a lead of 10-2 at the half. Marburger scored the only Northville basket during the first half late in the second quarter, when Northville's attack was gaining in strength.

The Northville offense was at its best in the third quarter and was working much too smoothly for Lincoln to stop. Before this period ended they had made eight points to Lincoln's none to tie the score at 10-10. Bray led off with a field goal soon after the quarter opened, after which Marburger scored with a free throw and a field goal in quick succession. Lincoln was being rushed off its feet at this time, and called time out. Marburger made another foul shot a minute later, however, and Hoffman followed with his first basket of the evening.

The fourth quarter opened with play faster than ever. Marburger's leg was twisted in one of the first plays and time-out was called for Coach Watts to massage the injured member into working order. Two field-goals were made by each team in rapid succession following this to tie the score again at 14-14.

Wright of Lincoln made a free-throw immediately after this to put his team back into the lead. On the next play Bobicz was knocked out as he made another basket for Lincoln, and time-out was called again. Bobicz stayed in the game, and was given a big hand. He showed he was recovered from his shock by making another field goal, however, and then still another to make the score 21-14. This made the situation look bad for Northville, but a foul shot by Hoffman, and three field goals by Hoffman made it 23-21, still in favor of Lincoln. Deal then came through with two foul shots to tie the score at 23-23, but on the next play a long shot by Bobicz won the ball game for Lincoln.
