$7,000 Expected From State To Assist Completion Of Nine-Month Year

The Northville schools will close June 7, Supt. R. H. Amerman announced this week.

The decision, which set the year at nine months, was reached by the school board after considering the financial situation. Approximately $7,000 in state aid needed to keep open nine months, according to Superintendent Amerman, is expected any time from Lansing.

The amount needed from Lansing is not definitely known, the superintendent said, as the report on tax receipts of George Simmons, Northville township treasurer, is not yet in. The sum to be received from the state, while $7,000 is expected, is not absolutely ascertained, either, he stated. The state advanced $3,200 to the local schools two weeks ago, and indicated that more would be forthcoming. However, Superintendent Amerman declared "even if enough money should come from the state capital to enable us to run ten months, we cannot do it now. We have set the deadline."

School officials termed themselves "satisfied" with the school year and the length of time it has been able to run.

The nine month year which will end this June corresponds to the last school year. The school year of 1932-33 continued for nearly a month longer, ending June 23.

THREE LOCAL BOYS WIN HIGH MARKS AT YPSILANTI NORMAL

Four grades of "A" were issued last week to the second year chemistry class at the Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti. And three of these were won by members of Northville high school's 1933 graduating class.

Richard Shipley, John Steencken, and Robert Christensen, all sophomores, were the young men so honored. Richard and John are planning to become chemists, while Robert is studying medicine.

Richard was the president of his class, the associate editor of the Orange and Black, and the fourth highest in scholastic standing in the school. John, who was salutatorian, was assistant Orange and Black editor, and business manager of the Palladium. Both played on the high school football team and were on the Normal freshman squad. Robert was the mayor of the student council and took a leading part in all high school activities while attending school here.

JOHN SCHOULTZ, 67, PASSES WEDNESDAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

John Schoultz long-time Northville resident, died at his home at midnight Wednesday after an illness of two years at the age of 67.

For many years a farmer at the East edge of town, Mr. Schoultz moved to his home on North Center street shortly after 1925. He has been living there in retirement since that time. Mr. Schoultz was known as a quiet, home-loving man.

Mr. Schoultz is survived by his wife, three sons, Carl, Charles and Clyde, all of Northville; Henry and Fred of Detroit, and August, of Wayne; three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Hudson, Mrs. Lizzie Gleason, and Mrs. Fanny Schrader, all of Plymouth; and five grandchildren.

The funeral will be at 2:30 p. m. Saturday from the home. Burial will be made in Rural Hill cemetery.

SENIOR PROM TO BE HELD APRIL 26 IN HIGH SCHOOL GYM

GAINS OBJECTIVE

SUPT. R. H. AMERMAN

Supt. Amerman has scored two triumphs this week: being able to keep the Northville schools open for nine months and being praised by the state department of public instruction inspector. Information regarding commencement is on the Orange and Black page of this issue.

EXCHANGE TO DRESS TOWN WITH FLOWERS

Landscape Gardener Tells Club How Village May Be Beautified

Preliminary plans for a campaign to beautify Northville with flowers, with marigolds as the dominant note, were outlined by the Exchange club Wednesday noon, in the Methodist church after listening to Edmund E. Gunther, of Southfield, a noted landscape gardener, tell them how to go about the job.

The meeting next week will be entirely devoted to the details of organizing this project. Mr. Gunther advised the club to purchase about 10,000 bulbs for the first year and to keep adding to this amount each year declaring that within three or four years Northville would likely have 200,000 marigolds.

The club, if it approves this plan will specify that all bulbs be planted in the front yards of homes. With this many plants, Northville would soon have a wide spread reputation for beauty, Mr. Gunther said, and it would be a tremendous advertisement for the town.

He also advanced the suggestion of putting window boxes of flowers all along Main street, including the business section, to be placed just above the first floor of stores. Along with this he advised lining Main street on both sides with evergreen trees. These could be put along the curbs in old candy tubs, all painted green. These two ideas could be carried out with a very small expense, he said, and the result would give Northville a uniquely beautiful appearance that one

N.H.S. KEEPS RECOGNITION OF UNIVERSITY

School Inspection To Result In Recommendation, Amerman Thinks

Following inspection last week by a state department of public instruction representative, Northville high school will, "almost, without any doubt," be again recommended for the University of Michigan list, Supt. R. H. Amerman disclosed yesterday.

The state inspector, Ralph Van Hoesen, supervisor of secondary inspection of the public instruction department praised the local school to Superintendent Amerman. "You are running a very good school," he said. He also mentioned the school board as doing "outstanding work."

Mr Van Hoesen inspected the school both for the University and for the state. His report to the University will determine whether or not Northville will be replaced on the preferred list, and his reports to the state will merely be referred back here.

"Undoubtedly our recommendation on the University will be renewed," Superintendent Amerman predicted. "The inspector's praises speak well for the school."

In 1934 the University put Northville high school on its preferred list. This meant that N. H. S. graduates could enter the University without taking an entrance examination. Previous to 1933, Northville was on the three-year list. According to Mr Amerman this school will either be placed on the preferred list again or on the three-year list. The requirements for recommendation are very high, Inspector Van Hoesen said.

The requirements that a school must meet in order to get on this list include the following:

All teachers of academic subjects, such as English, history, science and mathematics, must have at least an A. B. degree. They are expected to teach in their major field, and cannot teach any course in which they have had fewer than ten college credit hours.

The ratio of students and faculty must be an average of one teacher to every 20 pupils. All teachers must have at least 15 semester hours of professional training in education. All four year schools must employ at least five full time teachers.

The records of all students must be safely kept and in such a manner as to be easily understood. In this last requirement, the inspectors are quite strict.

KING'S DAUGHTERS TO MEET TUESDAY EVENING

The King's Daughters will meet Tuesday, April 16, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Mae Berendt, at 150 Orchard Drive. All members are urged to be present.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. W. Warden Speaks Of Wonders Of South Africa At Fourth Annual Army Day Banquet

The story of his adventures and unique experiences in South Africa during and after the Boer war as told by Lieutenant-Colonel J. W. Warden of the British army, a native of Sandwich, Ontario, was the climax of the fourth annual Army Day banquet Friday evening at the Presbyterian church house, sponsored by the American Legion post No. 147.

He went there in 1900 immediately after enlisting in his country's service. Africa so impressed him with its geographical beauty and ideal climate that it is one of the dominant things in his mind today.

Colonel Warden addressed his audience for about 40 minutes about this far away land.

He said that Californians may boast of their state but that there is absolutely no comparison between it and south Africa, that it is impossible to imagine the extent of its beauty unless you go there.

The temperature there on the coldest days of the year, which come during July and August, is about 85 degrees, that the air is very dry and unusually exhilarating. One must use blankets at night, he stated, and if he is unused to the climate he feels the cold greatly, but only until he becomes accustomed to it.

It is a healthy place to live, he said. The first 15 months he was there he never slept in a bed, in a house or even under a tent. He gained about 50 pounds during that time, and when his wife came down there to live at the end of that time she hardly recognized him. And he found it almost unbearable to accustom himself to sleeping in a bed in a house again.

During the rainy season of the year the rain comes down in torrents. He said that he has seen it rain so hard that he could actually see waves of it as the wind blew through the grass.

There the natives purchase their wives like we do our cars—on the installment plan. The number and value of a man's wives determine the extent of his wealth. The wives do all the work, and they thus earn money so that the man buys more wives. The British government is by

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

MR. AND MRS. FRANK C. HAMILTON

To do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Hamilton on the occasion of their Golden wedding a company of nearly 50 relatives and close friends gathered at their home on the South Lyon road Thursday, April 4.

Around the bountifully-laden dinner table sat the company, the bride and groom of fifty years being seated at the place of honor. Very appropriately Mr. Hamilton wore a becoming gown of green silk lustre in material to her wedding gown. A corsage of yellow rose was a gift from a friend added to their appearance as a little.

Following dinner the company gathered in friendly groups and talked of olden days, as they looked through family albums and recalled interesting incidents.

The wedding took place in the home of Aunt Ida Hendrys, who is reality is aunt of Mr. Hamilton. She was the only witness of the ceremony who was present Thursday. Rev. Chas. Dentry of Farmington was the clergyman who "tied the knot."

Mrs. Hamilton was Lucy Tiffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tiffin, who was born in Canada, coming to Walled Lake where her future husband lived.

The sons, Charles and Frank, live near their parents, and with the grandchildren make happy the life of the Hamiltons.

Throughout all these 50 years the Hamilton home has been a focal center for the whole community and of few may it be more truly said than that they lived in the love of the land and have been blessed unto many.

Evidence of the genuine good will of many friends was shown in the twenty local bouquets presented to them expressing loving tribute to Mr and Mrs. Hamilton, two original poems were read of Mrs. Hendrys and by their brother-in-law Chas. Burgess of Kalamazoo.

PALM SUNDAY TO BE CELEBRATED HERE

Special services are planned at all churches in Northville for Palm Sunday with emphasis on sermons and appropriate music by the choirs to commemorate the occasion.

Included in the special music at the Presbyterian church will be violin and tenor solos and a selection by the mixed quartette of "Ride On, Ride On, Majesty."

At the Baptist church Sunday morning, the Rev. Kendall S. North will speak on "Our Christian Obligations."

A week of services there under the leadership of the Rev. Floyd Crompton, pastor of the Coronado Baptist church of Detroit, has just been concluded to which good sized audiences attended.

The Rev. Horace H. Mallinson at the Methodist church will preach on "The Triumphant Entry" of Jesus into Jerusalem at the morning service.

At the Church of Our Lady of Victory there will be blessing and procession of palms at the 8 o'clock mass, and distribution at both masses. It will also be Holy Name day and the men are asked to be present at the first mass.

The Rev. Leo J. Eckstaedt, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, has chosen as his theme for the morning service on Palm Sunday "The Amazing Cleansing Power of Jesus' Blood."

All the churches are also planning services during Holy Week, including the annual union service on Good Friday at the Presbyterian church at 1:30 p. m.

GAIN IS SHOWN IN 1934 VILLAGE REPORT

A balance of $5,717.38 was shown by the auditor's annual report of the financial condition of Northville, printed in The Record this week, because the survey of the treasurer's books was made Feb 28, three weeks before the end of the fiscal year.

The total disbursements amounted to $78,910.67. Last year the audit showed disbursements at $25,908.48 creating a balance on hand of $5,005.54. Thus, in 1935, Northville stands, as far as cash in the general fund, $711.99 better off.

An interesting addition to this year's detail receipts is $29.75 from fines. There was no revenue from this source a year ago.

While the audit reveals that $12,361.12 were paid in current taxes, the survey last year showed but $11,211.70 in the then current 1933 taxes.

More than $9,978 came in on delinquent taxes in the past fiscal year the audit shows. It is believed that this sum is greater than the one paid in back taxes during 1933.

Other items making up this year's receipts include water revenue, which is nearly $3,000 more than was received during 1933. Liquor refunds totalling $644.83.

The one "dark spot" on the audit comes in the general fund liabilities where an overdraft of $314.97 is left, when an overdraft of $23,262.20 was offset by only $22,947.23. This occurred, however, village officials pointed out because the undistributed 1934 tax roll which amounted to $50,220.65, had not yet been turned in when the books were audited.

The total amount of bonds outstanding at present is $290,550, of which there is $58,550 in default. This is compared with $324,550 worth of bonds outstanding one year ago, $48,550 of which was in default.

The original paving bonds of Northville, amounting to $32,000, were retired from the sinking fund this year, leaving $16,000 due in 1936, $6,000 due last summer, $8,000 due last summer, $8,000 due last summer, $8

A PROFIT ON FARMS

There is still a chance for the man who farms industriously and scientifically, to make money, in spite of the fact that farmers in general have been very hard hit by the depression and the drop in prices on farm products.

We talked the other day to a farm-manager who has charge of several farms. To our amazement, he told us that every one of the farms had shown a profit for the year 1934. And it was the more startling, in view of the fact that the manager, although once a successful farmer, now lives in the city and runs the farms like some baseball managers do, viz., "from the bench."

All of these farms are on good land, it must be admitted, yet not what we should call the best land in Michigan. One of the tragedies of Michigan farming, it has always impressed us, is the number of farmers in our northern sections who are trying to make a living from sand barrens and land that is "marginal" land, that is, too poor to ever be profitable. Farming is enough of a battle against soil and weather conditions that one should not be handicapped with trying to work land that is too poor to produce good crops.

Analyzing this manager's success, we found that alfalfa was one of the corner stones of his showing a profit. Every one of the farms has a large quota of this wonderful hay. Another reason for his success is that he has stuck to dairy cattle and has kept the farms from running down. A third cause for his making good is that the farm implements are not left outdoors to gather rust. Further, buildings are kept up.

It is encouraging to hear this kind of a report on farming. There will be no complete prosperity until the great majority of our farmers can run their farms with a profit.

THE HOUSE OF THE FUTURE

In the year 1940 if you don't like the location of your house, you may find it possible to call the moving van and take it to another part of town—or say, one could move it from Plymouth to Northville.

The Christian Science Monitor of April 3 has an amazing story of just that kind of a house. According to Owen D. Young, one of our great scientific leaders, this revolutionary house, made of steel and aluminum will be so light and easily "zippered" apart that it could be carried to a new site and installed in two weeks or so. If you don't like your neighbors, just get up and move.

This house of the future will be air-conditioned, just as President Roosevelt's office now of the White House. The air will be humidified. The house will be fireproof, of course.

In the center of the house will be a "moto-unit" that will provide all the modern conveniences—some of them found now only in the more expensive homes.

This whole plan of a new style home may seem wild and fantastic but no more than many of the "gadgets" that now surround us all would have a few years ago. For example, what would our grandparents think if they could return to the old farm and see black objects with people in them streaking by the house with the speed of a comet. They would surely think "the devil is coming." What would be their weird sensations to turn on a switch and with no one coming through the windows or doors, suddenly hear singing or orchestra music?

So don't be surprised if Northville some afternoon in 1940 if your neighbor decides to move his aluminum house out to the Base Line road. It can be done—for stranger things have been done in the past 25 years.

MOVIES ARE GETTING BETTER

The movies are getting better. —Smut — we are not thinking of shows given in Northville — is on the run, as it were. Producers are finding that good wholesome plays are bringing in dividends.

Witness the crowds that "pack them in" when Will Rogers comes to the theatre.

Look at the crowds that throng the show when "David Copperfield" and "Little Women" are shown.

Northville is proud of its Penniman-Allen theatre and of the fact that the managers realize the importance of getting the best films possible.

THE AFTERMATH OF ELECTION

Two of our best citizens, A. C. Balden and Willard A. Ely, were candidates for the supervisorship of Northville township. For years they have been great friends. Before the election both agreed that "personalities" would not be a part of the campaign. And they were not. We heard not a word against either candidate — in fact we heard praise for both men. [illegible] After election we saw the two men talking together [illegible] In some communities election differences [illegible] make rifts that last for years. Northville can be grateful that such battling is the unusual thing here. No office is worth the price that is being paid for it in some communities, in the way of embitterments and hatreds. We all have to live together long after the ballots are counted. Life is too short to spoil it with petty differences.

o—o—o

WANDERING THOUGHTS

We have found the man with a hobby usually a pretty good citizen. Northville needs a few more folks who are hobby riders.

With no discredit to anyone, a lot of Northville homes have been "going down-hill" in the past five or six years. Why not use the benefits of the National Housing Act to improve them?

Some startling facts: Nearly one-sixth of our national population is dependent upon government aid: The cost is five millions of dollars a day. Three billions of dollars have been spent on relief in the past two years. And the most deplorable feature is that some people are getting into the state of mind where they like to be "on the dole."

"The democrats muffed their big chance"—that is the consensus of the editorial comment of the great majority of the country editors in writing about the republicans' victories at the polls April 1st. "The 'blue pencil' incidents and stealing of ballots in Detroit were about the rawest things ever attempted in the state." says Schuyler L. Marshall of the newspaper at St. Johns.

Governor Fitzgerald wants $20 200,000 for the schools for the coming year. The house of representatives has passed a bill that would appropriate twenty-five millions for aid to the schools. If the senate should pass that amount, the governor says that he will veto it. He can't see where the extra five millions will come from. Can you? As a matter of record, last year fifteen millions were appropriated and only $6,600,000 were received. It is easy to talk millions, but harder to raise them from the people's pocketbook.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

WHAT WE'LL BURN UP

(W. S. Seed In The Rochester Clarion)

The country's richest men are the tobacco kings. You never stopped to think of that, did you?

Their fortunes are already away out of proportion to the service the owners have rendered to society.

Statistics show that in 1921 Americans set fire to 45 billion cigarettes. In 1931 we touched off 119 billion cigarettes during the present year. 150 billion of them in 1935. The great increase has been due to the feminine sex taking up the so-called art of smoking.

Were we to touch off 150 billion cigarettes in 1935, it would mean 7 billion 500 million packages containing 20 to the package. Estimating them at ten cents a package, it would mean that the American people will burn up $750,000,000 for cigarets during the present year. Who is receiving the benefit? The tobacco king. His fortune is growing by leaps and bounds because the American people feel they have found the only way out for jang'ed nerves — cigarettes. They give you that "lift." Well, they sure are a "builder-upper" for the tobacco king's fortune.

RIDING THE STORM

(Randolph, (Vt.) Herald-News)

President Roosevelt adds immeasurably to the strength of his administration and to the prestige of his policies by his remarkably engaging personality. Thus, while Congress, even many Democrats in that body, demur inwardly to what is being done, they surrender to the charm of the man in the White House when the real test comes. They may criticize his agents and subordinates harshly, but Roosevelt himself rides serenely above it—as yet.

DR. VOELKER TO RETIRE

(Rep Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News)

Dr. Paul F. Voelker, democratic superintendent of public instruction, was defeated in the election Monday. Just two years ago he was swept into office when the democratic tide was at full crest. He was left stranded when the tide ebbed two years later.

Dr. Voelker is an estimable gentleman. There has never been a superintendent of public instruction who has had abler men on his staff than has Dr. Voelker. We have not always agreed with the doctor but we have always admired the brilliance of his intellect and have recognized the inherent honesty and sincerity of the man. He is a good citizen.

It is one of the fortunes of politics that Dr. Voelker was defeated. So it was when he was elected.

FAVORITISM IS CHARGED TO COUNCIL AS BASEBALL GETS $120 APPROPRIATION

Controversy Rages At School When Students Contend Track Team Should Receive More Than $1.50

Council Members, Track and Baseball Men Present Arguments

A large number of students have been protesting this week what they term the "unjust appropriation" of the student council to the track team.

The Orange and Black accordingly prints facts relating to the controversy, and O. and B. reporters have interviewed several students and members of the faculty concerned.

This argument was caused by the act of the student council in spending $125 on baseball while they gave only $1.50 to the track team.

The members of the baseball team claim that they "haven't had any equipment in more than six years" and on the other hand the track sprinters claim they have had nothing except a few dollars spent on track last year. "It is obvious that both of these teams are in need of equipment," said Coach Paul B. Thompson.

It has been found out through various persons formerly connected with the student council that the baseball team earned $60 for equipment in the year 1933. It was impossible to find out the exact amount spent on track last year. Last year track had more money spent on it than did baseball, neither having received all the equipment needed, according to officials.

The baseball team needed suits or it couldn't play this year, members say. Also it is known that the track team has paid for different articles before it was able to go out for this sport.

Here is a list of people who were interviewed on the question: "Do you think the appropriation made to the baseball team was inequitable compared to the appropriation made the track team?"

Mr. Thompson. "Both teams need equipment, but due to the fact that no new uniforms have been purchased for the baseball team since 1927, that I know of, it was only a question of necessity that new uniforms be purchased. More equipment should have been purchased for the team, but this will have to be purchased sometime in the future."

Spencer Van-Valkenburg, treasurer of the student council: "Both the baseball and track teams need equipment but the baseball team needs the equipment most. A track man can run in a gym suit, so he can afford to buy his own because it only cost about a dollar, but a baseball man can't afford to buy his own suit because it costs around six or seven dollars. The baseball team has not had any new equipment for nine or ten years and the suits and other equipment have worn out so that it had reached the point where the baseball team either had to have new equipment or do without baseball. The baseball team takes in enough money to pay for at least half of its equipment, while the track team does not take in any money to help pay for its equipment."

Don Bray, track co-captain: "Although the baseball team needed the things they bought very badly, the track team needs things just as much as does the baseball team. How does the school expect fellows to stay out for track when they even have to buy their own track pants and then not have sweat pants or shirts to wear?"

Tom Carrington, track co-captain: "I think that the money should have been split up between the two teams. The track team got some things last year for the first time in a number of years. They need a lot more. Why shouldn't the money go to both teams instead of all to the baseball team?"

Donna Ferguson, mayor of the student council: "Considering the years that the track team received equipment and the baseball team did not, I think it was no more than fair to purchase suits for the baseball team. The track team got theirs last year and probably will receive more next year. The baseball equipment will last for a few years. Why not give each team a chance to have some new equipment?"

Dayton Deal, council member: "The track team last year got sweat suits. This year the baseball team got nine new complete outfits for the first time in over ten years. I don't see why there should be a lot of talk about it and besides there's an income to baseball and there never has been in track.

Coach Ted Watts refused to give any comment on the matter.

There is an editorial appearing in this issue, headed "An Unjust Appropriation".

The list of words from which the champions will spell is supplied by the Detroit News.

On Friday afternoon, May 10, the Metropolitan championship bee will be held. The district champions will gather in Detroit at the Coliseum on the grounds of the Michigan State Fair, and will be spelled down according to the rules. C., May 28. A silver medal will be awarded the winner of the second place in the Metropolitan championship bee.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

AN UNJUST APPROPRIATION

We feel that an injustice is being done to the track team. We feel that it is being deprived of equipment which is due it and which it needs if it is to make a showing worthy of a Northville track team.

The sum of $120 exclusive of umpires has been appropriated by the council for baseball. The track team has received $1.50. The two male members of the council are members of the baseball squad and voted for this inequitable appropriation.

We feel that the council has acted unwisely. We can see no reason to justify the great disparity in the amount granted for the two sports. It is the opinion of The Orange and Black that the students of the Northville high school whom the council is supposed to represent, do not favor this situation. We feel that the council, to be a truly representative body, should look to the opinions of the students. We view with alarm a condition where members of the council use their influence on that body to further personal aims.

Members of the baseball team who favor the grossly unjust appropriation to the nine justify it by declaring that "for several years baseball has received little or nothing from the council while the track team has gotten more than its just dues."

We do not wholly agree with this statement, but even if it were true, we hold that the present baseball appropriation is unfair. The track team could have been given $25 or $30, as contrasted to a meagre $1.50, and the baseball team would still have had $80 to $95. Even here there is a wide disparity in the sums granted to each athletic division.

Therefore The Orange and Black cannot help but sincerely feel that the council has done wrong in what appears to be completely neglecting the track team. The track team needs the equipment—you have only to ask its coach. The baseball team needs some equipment, yes—but surely not over $100 worth more than the track team.

The students of Northville high school, we believe, think that their council has made an unjust act. We believe the council, if it wants to be truly representative, will take immediate steps to remedy this situation.

JUNIOR PLAY WINS PRAISES

By MELVIN STROMOSKI

The junior class of the local high school presented "Here Comes Charlie" under the direction of Miss Dorcas Cornn on the evenings of April 4 and 5 in the high school auditorium before two very large audiences.

The cast portrayed their parts very nicely. The ease and skill with which they executed their parts is to be commented upon.

Ida Altman and Maryanna Condit were both very good in the role of "Charlie." They represented the true character of a "hill-billy."

Tom McLoughlin and Evelyn Ambler portrayed their role of the young society "belle" in a fine manner, and Thyrza Lester and Dorothy Vroman made perfect models of a sophisticated old lady trying to marry her daughter off to a lot of money.

Bob Angove made a very good "papa" for Charlie, Charles Strautz was the college pal of Larry's; while Donald Himes and Herman Toussaint were both very good as the typical English playboy.

Alice Masters and Rita Sprenger played the part of the charming Irish maid. Frances Alexander did well as Larry's aunt. Sam Witt deserves credit for his part as the good natured Irish cop "Witty," and Jack Stubenvoll very cleverly enacted the part of an old hill-billy.

The clothing that was worn in the play was pretty. The writer wishes to commend upon the fine acting shown in this play, especially by Ida Altman and Frances Alexander.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Jay Leavenworth

Jay was born on a bright fall morning 'way back in 1917, September 1, at Novi. In 1925 he moved to Oak Grove where he attended school until 1930 when he moved to Howell. He attended school there for the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. In 1933 Jay moved to Northville and has lived here ever since. Jay was the football manager last fall and basketball manager this season, until he secured a job downtown and had to resign. Jay is also a member of the N-club. He says he has no favorite pastime, but his favorite hobby is hiking.

Stanley A. Taylor

Stanley was born in Detroit on June 17, 1917. He lived there for about one year and then moved to Birmingham, and from there moved to West Point Park where he started school. He continued through the tenth grade and then came to Northville. While attending school in West Point Park, Stanley was grade champion in the Detroit News Metropolitan spelling bees for three different years and was twice the school champion.

Stanley is the senior class treasurer. He was a reporter on the Orange and Black staff in his junior year and is now editor.

He was in the junior play "The Sweeping Victory," and is the treasurer of the I. S. T. club. He was out for track during his junior and senior years.

Stanley likes all sports and his hobbies are selling, and of course doing problems in arithmetic.

He would like to attend some accounting school after being graduated in June.

The pupils in Mrs. Johnson's one-bird class have started reading in their primers.

JUNE 6 SET AS DATE FOR GRADUATION

Largest Class In History Of School Will Receive Diplomas

Fifty-nine seniors, composing the largest graduating class in the history of Northville high school, will receive their diplomas June 6, Supt. R. H. Amerman announced Tuesday.

At the same time June 4 was set as the date for class night, and June 2 for the Baccalaureate services. While it is not definitely known where the commencement will be held, school and class officials believe that it will be in the Penniman-Allen theatre. Class night exercises will, as usual, be held in the high school auditorium.

The Baccalaureate services will this year be held in the Methodist church, according to Supt. Amerman where the Rev. H. H. Mallinson will deliver the sermon.

Senior class officials are now busy working out complete programs for these events, and they expect to have them ready before long.

Each year the senior class appears to be growing larger. Last year 45 students were graduated, a record up to that time. In 1933 another greatest number class of 44 received its diplomas. Forty were graduated in 1932, while back in 1926 the first year Supt. Amerman was here as principal, the senior class had but 18 members.

The size of the present eighth grade indicates that this trend will be continued. There are 70 eighth graders and while, according to school officials it is probable that they will not all become seniors, this may in 1939 compose the largest graduating class in N. H. S. history.

The officers of the 1935 senior class are, Tom Carrington, president; Marion Turnbull vice-president, Stanley Taylor treasurer; Mary Louise Boyden, secretary, and Dayton Deal alderman to the student council.

Much deserving thanks were given to this promising group of singers by the audience, which was made up of very attentive people from both Northville and Plymouth.

1-MINUTE SAFETY TALKS

By Don Herold

Something Has Been Done

I'm always inspired to throw rocks at people who say "Nothing can be done" about anything.

They say Nature has to take its course.

They say it about disease, they say it about war, they say it about panics, they say it about automobile accidents.

I'm just young enough and foolish enough to believe that something can be done about most things.

In 1903, there were 2,000 deaths in New York City from diphtheria, in 1913 there were 1,200, in 1923 there were 700; last year there were 86.

That's doing something about something.

And figures already show what can be done about automobile accidents when an effort is made. The most intelligent attack on this problem that has been made has been among children of early school age.

Children are now guarded to and from school by policemen or by school-boy "cops." The elementary schools have been drilling safety into the minds of their pupils.

Result: there has been an actual reduction in the number of automobile deaths of children of elementary school age.

That's doing something about something.

But the biggest increases of automobile deaths, according to The Travelers Insurance Company, have been between the ages of 15 and 24—the ages when youths are in high schools, prep schools and colleges—many of which do nothing to carry on the safety work which elementary schools started, and when parents fail to recognize their responsibility toward their children as drivers as they did toward their tots as pedestrians.

Nature doesn't have to take its course in this automobile accident situation because—well, for one thing, automobiles are not Nature. We made 'em and we ought to be able to control 'em.

Drive To Sell 15,000 Easter Seals In Northville During Coming Week Launched By Clubs And Schools will be well able to care for the majority of cases throughout the state.

The plan for the drive here is that each organization accept some seals to be sold to all of its members, and that they be sold to as many school children as possible. The suggested amount for each child to buy is one for each year of age. The business men will also be solicited by personal canvass.

In addition to these, some seals have been placed on sale at the Record office for people who desire to support this cause and who have not been reached by any of the above means.

Ninety per cent of the proceeds from the sale of the seals goes to the work of the Michigan Society For Crippled Children, the remaining ten per cent to go to the International society, the parent organization.

Percy C. Angove, the executive secretary of the Michigan society, said that the need for funds is great: since out of the 22,225 children reported in the state as being crippled, only 4,000 have been corrected, 15,000 are now on the active files, and 6,000 are not attending school. Many of these are in need of wheel chairs, braces and other appliances, and a large number are not receiving systematic clinic follow-up and after care due to the lack of funds.

With the money from the campaign, the Michigan society will be able to provide hospitalization and expert diagnosis, transportation to clinics and hospitals, provide wheel chairs, braces and crutches, provide funds for special departments for the children in schools, safety education and numerous other benefits.

The seals are sold for one cent each or a sheet of 100 for one dollar. Easter seals they are, purple, green and gold in color with a white lily to complete the sybolism. The design of the seal also includes in silhouette a boy with his crutch, and a crippled girl in her wheel chair, gazing towards the sun whose rays illumine and beckon them to a life of hopefulness and opportunity.

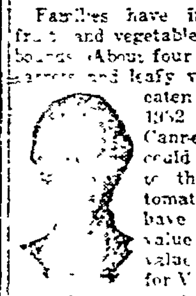
The organizations which already have signified their intentions of supporting the drive are the American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Rotary club, the Exchange club, the Woman's club, King's Daughters, Maybury Sanatorium and Parent-Teacher association.

The local committee, composed of members from each of these groups will meet again on Monday evening, April 22, at 7:30 p. m. to give its reports of the amount of seals sold.

Use More Fruits and Vegetables

Many Families Do Not Yet "Measure Up" In These Health, Economy Foods

By Mary Spalding
Consultant in Nutrition, Massachusetts State Department of Public Health



Families have increased their fruit and vegetables by leaps and bounds. About four times as many carrots and leafy vegetables were eaten in Boston in 1932 as in 1922. Canners tell us they could hardly keep up to the demand for tomato juice. People have learned its value as well as the value of citrus fruits for Vitamin C. [illegible] large [illegible]

It is satisfying to know that the homemaker can keep on encouraging her family to eat plenty of potatoes, cooked in skins, and more leafy green, yellow, and some red vegetables, cooked for a short time or served raw in salads to retain valuable minerals and vitamins. In spite of increasing consumption, most families do not "measure up" yet in fruits and vegetables.

Earliest Libraries Private

The earliest libraries in the Colonial period of America were private. Among the notable ones of this kind were those of Elder Brewster of Plymouth, Governor Winthrop of Connecticut, Dr. Cotton Mather of Boston, Col. Ralph Wormeley of Virginia and Rev. John Harvard. Toward the end of the Seventeenth century the Bray parish libraries began to appear. These were collections mainly of religious books sent to America through the efforts of Rev. Thomas Bray of London. The first subscription library in the colonies was projected by Benjamin Franklin in 1731 in Philadelphia.

Many Seminole Relics Found

Thousands of Seminole Indians inhabited the narrow-necked peninsula of Florida before the coming of the white man. Evidences of the great colony of Red Men often are found within the city of St. Petersburg. The dead were buried in shell mounds in a sitting posture, facing the east, and their personal belongings were buried with them.

Strength of Oaks

Neither black nor red oak are as strong as the other oaks. Their wood is softer and easier to work, porous and takes preservatives, stains paints, and varnishes readily.

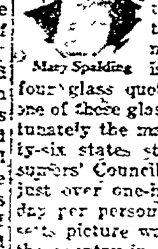
Milk Vital To Economy Diet

There Is No Substitute For Milk, Says Massachusetts Nutritionist

By Mary Spalding
Consultant in Nutrition, Massachusetts State Department of Public Health

The item of the balanced diet under consideration this week is: Milk—1 qt. a day for each child —or at least 3 cups. 1 pt. a day for each adult.

The amount of milk used last year does not "measure up." In studying forty-seven thousand lunches of school children in eighty-seven cities and towns in Massachusetts, we found only one-quarter of these children were taking milk or a milk dish. If a child is to get his three or four glass quota, he should have one of these glasses at noon. Unfortunately the many families in forty-six states studied by the Consumers' Council were only getting just over one-half pint of milk a day per person, so the Massachusetts picture was probably that of the country in general.



Mary Spalding

Milk Is Plentiful

Fortunately the agricultural economists assure us that there will be as much milk this year as usual. With a slight increase in price, the [illegible] has to watch [illegible] the most important food for building, repairing, and improving vitality and resistance to disease [illegible] The little child [illegible] family needs it for bone, teeth and muscle building, but the high school boy and girl with their tremendous spurts of growth must not run the hazard of [illegible] Dr. [illegible] tells us also that adults [illegible] are more efficient [illegible] when milk is taken.

The housewife [illegible] can't plan to leave it out of her day's meals. To keep up her milk supply at a low cost she may [illegible] grade B milk [illegible] too, such as creamed [illegible] cream like a tomato [illegible] with two-thirds [illegible] and one third cup of tomato juice [illegible] a very protective drink. A quarter pound of American cheese may be used to take the place of a quart of milk.

No Substitutes

There is no substitute for milk. Most people will use the [illegible] pasteurized milk for drinking and when necessary other kinds, including evaporated and dried for cooking.

Pine Most Useful

For general construction purposes no wood excels pine. This does not mean that hardwoods should not be used but rather that pine has that combination of acceptable properties which especially adapts it for structural use. These qualities are: Strength, stiffness, ability to hold shape and ease of working. They also season well and hold paint.

Early Spectacles

The earliest spectacles were designed to improve "old sight," and hence, were worn almost exclusively by the aged.

Trumpet Was Important Even in the Trojan War

The trumpet was widely known in ancient times, playing its part in the fall of Jericho, and even in the Trojan war. Trumpets were martial and royal instruments through the Middle ages, and the trumpeters' guild became important and influential.

The trumpet is a cylindrical tube about 8 feet long doubled back on itself for ease in handling. The trumpet has three valves or pistons, the use of which enables the player to produce all the tones in the chromatic scale within the compass of the instrument.

The trumpet, like the horn, is provided with a mute, a pear-shaped affair that can be held in the bell in the place of the performer's fist.

The cornet, sometimes mistaken for the trumpet, notes a writer in the Washington Post, is a tapering brass tube a little over four feet in length. Its natural key is B-flat, though crooks may be used to set it in A, A-flat or G. The cornetist can give rapid passages, trills, and other embellishments with great ease, but the tone-color of the cornet is below that of the trumpet, which has a bold, martial tone that can be heard through the entire orchestra.

In the classical period of Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven, the trumpet was not very prominent. Wagner employed it extensively in some of his operas, and he used muted trumpets to imitate the tiny trumpets of the townsmen's guild in "The Mastersingers."

Irritation of Mantle Is Cause of Pearl's Growth

A pearl is a growth in a pearl oyster or other shellfish caused by a persistent irritation of its mantle. The persistent irritation which causes pearl formation is usually due to the presence of some foreign matter which has entered the shell —sometimes a grain of sand or a fragment of broken shell. Probably in most cases it is the larvae of a parasite worm or a minute crustacean. Whatever the nature of the cause, the mollusk endeavors to reduce the irritation by inclosing it in a layer of the same kind of nacre of pearl nacre of which the inside of its shell is made. Once started, the covering of nacre continues to grow by the addition of layer over layer until after a lapse of years the minute seed pearl formed may have grown into a pearl of large size.

As a natural pearl is a consequence of the accidental introduction of an irritant, it would seem that pearls could be cultivated by merely introducing the irritant by artificial means. But the successful cultivation of pearls has proved to be a complicated process accomplished by the Japanese only after years of study and experiment. The nucleus of the culture pearl is a small seed pearl or it may be a minute ball of mother of pearl or other substance. This is first inclosed in a sack made from the mantle of a pearl oyster.

Ancient Egyptians' Love for Cats Never Equaled

C-A-T spells Cat.

From the blackboard of the little red schoolhouses and those of metropolitan cities, this line brought our first lesson in spelling. It started our education, observes a writer in the Los Angeles Times, which later brought us, through the historical stories of the ancient Egyptians, who accorded Miss Puss their whole hearted worship. We learned of their religion, which decreed that whole families and whole cities go into mourning at the death of a cat; learned that the death of a kitten called for the shaving of the worshiper's eyebrows; that troops of cats were maintained within temple walls, choicely fed; that any "noble Roman" causing injury or death to a cat, whether it be accidental or intentional, was torn to pieces. Later, we learned that Miss Puss served as a symbol of witchcraft.

In the cat can be found a more universal response to her prime utility. Long haired or short haired, Siamese, Manx, Persian or just "common alley cat," she offers the best self-setting mousetrap that has been found in all her 3,000 years of domestication. In this utility, she has saved a world from vermin that might have otherwise destroyed it.

Behind the intense glance of attentive big eyes is a brain centuries old in intelligence, responsibility and resourcefulness that has brought her triumphantly through the long period of maltreatment by humans, pursuit by larger animals and battles for existence.

LEE of Conshohocken TIRES

No hum, no squeal, [illegible] exceptional stability when rounding turns at high speed: greater non-skid braking efficiency than ever before thought possible . . . These are some of the unequalled qualities of this tire, an original development by LEE, which improves the operation of cars with individually sprung front wheels over any tire equipment yet developed. Carcass six full bead to bead plies. Tread extra deep and heavy. Finest material, LEE craftsmanship. A masterpiece.

LEE bevel-weld INNER TUBES

The new Bevel Weld Inner Tube Splice has entirely removed the old objectionable over-lap. When inflated, it expands absolutely uniformly throughout the circumference, with no restricted areas, and it is almost impossible to detect the point at which the splice was made. Special and unique advantages: no loss of tube strength from splicing, no unbalance with resultant wheel shimmy, irregular tire wear or tramping at high speeds. Riding qualities improved.

EXTENSION CLASS IN ACCOUNTING BEGINS HERE ON MONDAY

A university extension class in accounting and office training of LaSalle Extension university of Chicago with Mrs. Howard Atwood as its instructor will open in Northville Monday, April 22, at the high school.

Classes will be held every other week beginning at this date. M. S. Mossler, registrar for the class, said that students to take the course, if they are Northville high school graduates, must have the approval of Superintendent R. H. Amerman, and that in all cases they will be selected on a basis of "intelligence and ambition."

LaSalle university has graduated 340,000 students into the business world and ten per cent of all the certified public accountants, giving it the record of being the world's largest business school, Mr. Mossler said.

MRS. GRINNELL FALLS FROM STAMAN CAR

Mrs. Gladys Grinnell, South Wing street, is thanking her lucky stars that she is alive after a fall from a car going about 40 miles an hour.

Mrs. Grinnell was riding with Mrs. Fraser Staman, her former neighbor, coming down the hill on West Main street from the Staman home Saturday evening. Thinking the door was not tightly closed, Mrs. Grinnell reached out to slam it shut when she was thrown violently out, rolling over several times.

Fortunately no bones were broken, but Mrs. Grinnell has been obliged to spend the time in bed since her accident recovering from a number of severe bruises on her head and limbs.

As if to make amends for the unavoidable accident, Mrs. Staman has been assisting in caring for her old neighbor.

CLASS IN THE CORNER DEMONSTRATES STUDY

Bearing the flags of America, Japan and the church, the lively class of boys, taught by Miss Mabel Chamberlain of the Dukay school, marched upon the platform of the Methodist church school Sunday morning and demonstrated the worth-while efforts of their teachers.

The class has been studying Japan especially lately and in an exercise in which all took part they answered questions about that country.

The boys also brought out the part each should play as young Christian citizens. Miss Chamberlain's efforts were appreciated by the audience.

Those taking part were: Lawrence Bogart, Edwin Erwin, Carl Oldberg, Lloyd Clark, Bob Boyden, Buckle Earhart, Earl Sessions, Philip Baldwin and Harold Schoultz.

This class is known as the "class in the corner" and succeeds in keeping the teacher busy.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CLASS WIELDS PAINT BRUSH

With the zeal of youth to make Christianity more than rhyming singing," the class of young women who call themselves the "Cobethian class" in the Methodist Sunday school, gathered at the church late Monday afternoon to reform the unattractive kindergarten room.

Pulling on smocks over their school or business dresses these young women seized their paint brushes and transformed the ugly old tables with a coat of doll blue. Cupboards and shelves were also treated with the same color and while some applied the paint others replaced ancient certificates in frames with cheerful pictures of happy children.

The bottom of the paint pot and hunger were all that made the workers pause in their labor to continue later their beautifying of this room. Elaborate plans are being made.

Down in the kitchen with Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Mallinson and Mrs. E. J. Cobb, their sponsor, as their guests, the following young women sat down to enjoy heartily a potluck supper: The Misses Helen Leonardson, Ann Richards, Ellen Peincle, Doris Shefpol, Grace Angell, Velma Blake, Geraldine Ferguson and Viola Gilman.

THE VOICE OF THE PULPIT IN NORTHVILLE

The season has come when the shadow of the cross falls across all Christendom and only the most hardened and careless hearts can pass upon their way without seeing that sign of God.

These past days we have been trying to find out when and from where the Cross came. It did not come from God. It was of man's most cruel manufacture. What tyrant was it who first conceived the idea of nailing criminals to a tree as men might nail a snake to a barn door? The horrible practice arose in the East. The Persians, Phoenicians, the Egyptians used it. The Romans adopted it and reserved it for their slaves and for the most brutal criminals. But in "shadowed ages" before the thing entered into history some Eastern tyrant, crazed with cruelty, drunk with contempt, invented the death of the cross and flattered himself on having discovered a new way of dealing with dangerous and seditious persons. He did not know it—that crazy man, but he invented the supreme paradox of history. He created a symbol in which all "opposites might meet."

The Cross now speaks to all the world of human nature at its worst and at its best. It is an emblem of cruelty and a banner of love. It is the device of tyranny and the badge of self-sacrifice. It is the last word of human contempt and the mercy seat of the world's only Gospel. And because there is no other message that can satisfy the heart it is well to spend a little time thinking about the Cross. Try to visualize the face of Jesus as we stand under the shadow of His Cross, the purpose being that He may get possession of us in order that we may exhibit His principles in our Christian living as citizens of our commonwealth.

As citizens we have clearly defined duties and obligations but very often we fail to put them into practice, because they involve self-sacrifice. Standing under the shadow of the Cross we learn that such a mood is selfishness for the central lesson of the Cross is sacrifice. In these days what splendid opportunities are offered us to display the spirit of the Cross in the home, school, church and nation. Evil is socialized, institutionalized and militant; the kingdom of God is being displaced by the selfishness of man. What a challenge for real sacrificial living! Those who are conscious of qualities of leadership should come to the front. Let the average man of us do the average duties, but let the strong men shoulder the pact. If we have an exceptional outfit, we must do the exceptional work. Our training entitles us to some "hard knocks." Is it not selfish for trained minds to leave social service, protecting the weak, teaching the Sunday school scholars, bearing office in our cities' governments to folk who have not had the training that we have, but use all their energy to win the little? They do it and a good job, but surely this should shame us.

Christ's whole life was one of self-giving. It was a life of complete sacrifice of Himself. We can think of nothing that we hold sacred that He did not give up. He carried His Cross steadily for the 30 years of His life. Self-denial, self-sacrifice, these were the central things in His life. They are the secrets of practical Christian living today. "If any man would come after me let him take up his cross and follow me."

The motive of the world seems to be just the opposite. It has rejected sacrifice as its aim in life and its temptation is to put self indulgence in its place. It takes for its motto, "Live, be Happy, and be as Christian as you can. In doing this the world has rejected Christ, for he cannot be divorced from His Cross bearing.

The primary interest of the Cross is not in its historical fact nor in its different theories of theology, but in its relationship to the individual—that Christ died in our stead that is the potency of the Cross is its power to purify lives, mend breaking hearts and right social ills. When the individual accepts this he begins to live the heavenly life. The Cross motive becomes the power of this new life. He loved me and gave Himself for me. He laid aside His Imperial glory for me. "O love that will not let me go," "My Jesus I Love Thee," "My Face looks up to Thee." These hymns of the church testify to the individual love Christ has for us. The Christian is the individual who does ordinary things in extraordinary ways because his motive is Christ-like. Reader, what is your motive in life? Do you know any better investment than that of taking Jesus Christ into your life and uniting with His church?

Horace H. Mallason,
Methodist Episcopal Church
Minister

Donald Starr Tells Of A Winter At St. Ignace Where The Trout Caught Through Ice Average Eight Pounds

Donald Starr returned recently from St. Ignace in the northern peninsula were he has been ever since May, 1934, where the trout caught through the ice average about eight pounds, and where there is all the wild game one could desire to find.

Up there where the country can really be described as wild, Starr made fishing and hunting his hobby. By trade he is an aircraft mechanic, and while there he worked at the Mackinaw County airport.

The difference in fishing there, he says, is that those who live there use their own hand-made fishing tackle and lines, and that they would be greatly insulted if any commercially manufactured equipment were offered to them.

They have all used this same kind of hooks, tackle and lines made by themselves for generations. The hooks are of the same kind and shape as those made 100 years ago, and all of them are identical as if they had been made from a pattern.

These hooks are large with a heavy sinker to bring in the big trout that are to be found below the ice of Lake Michigan and Lake Huron in the winter. The line Starr has been exhibiting to his envious friends, also made by the natives there, is 30 fathoms long or 182 feet. It is coated with fish-net tar, and will not stretch over one-half an inch when tensed out.

They use an ice-boat, Starr says, to get out about 17 miles from shore before a spot is reached where they want to chop a hole through the ice. This being the first winter he spent in northern Michigan, he did not have enough experience to catch as many of the big ones as the natives do. The trout range in weight from five pounds to 18, he says.

The country around St. Ignace abounds with deer, too. He was very much amused to find that people went away up into the northern peninsula when there is much game near where he was located.

Some hunters are very merciless in their shooting down of the deer, Starr says. On an island near there 1,000 does were found shot by a conservation officer after the deer season closed last year.

To live up there any length of time you must just about be a Daniel Boone or an Indian, of which there are many in that territory, he declares. There is hardly any means of livelihood there, especially during the winter. One must live on what his gun and his fishing tackle will bring him if he is to survive. The natives are of course in destitute poverty.

Starr says he plans to go back when the deer season comes next fall. For the past four years he has been making trips up there during the summer, this being his first winter stay.

Starr has consented to place his fishing tackle on display in the window of the Northville Hardware Co where it is being exhibited along with other fishing equipment.

ARMY DAY SPEAKER TELLS ABOUT AFRICA

means of ordinances curbing this practice in an indirect manner but yet an effective one he says.

None of the natives use any clothes, he pointed out. When approaching a town they take some garments from a box they have been carrying on their heads and adorn themselves.

Another feature on the program that was enthusiastically received was the Ford Dixie Eight, a negro [illegible] quartet who sang two groups of [illegible] different times on the program.

Clark Smith past department chairman of the Americanism committee of the American Legion, also [illegible] report for on "Americanism" in which he gave a sharp [illegible] of Communism in this country, saying that American citizens should do everything in their power to see that this "menace" is stopped.

Salem Union School News

Miss Patricia Felter, sister of our teacher, visited the school Monday.

The seventh and eighth grades are busy reviewing for the last county test.

Betty Curtis has left us to attend school in Plymouth.

The students in the upper room planned and carried out a surprise party for Miss Felter on her birthday, March 25. She received a lovely cake from the pupils besides many other gifts. The cake was iced in white with lifelike pink roses and green leaves. There were refreshments and games, and a good time was had by all.

The upper school room is beginning to look like spring with all the spring and Easter posters.

Save your pennies for a "Shadow Social" to be held at Salem Union school in the near future.

NEW STYLE POLITICKING

Anybody knows that the proper thing for a congressman to do is to write back to the home folks that he is giving careful study to their proposal to move the capitol building from Washington to Pumpkinville and that they have his very hearty cooperation and enthusiastic support.

But here comes a new congressman from California who is just "plum disgusted" with the whole thing and writes back to a constituent:

"One of the countless drawbacks of being in Congress is that I am compelled to receive impertinent letters from a jackass like you, in which you say I promised to have the Sierra Madre mountains reforested and that I've been in Congress two months and haven't done it. Will you please take two running jumps and go to hell?"

The Earthquake

An earthquake is a shaking or trembling of the earth's surface, due chiefly to the faulting of the rocks, but also to volcanic explosions, and perhaps to other subterranean disturbances.

Tap on Hollow Trees

Indians in Brazil have been observed to send messages by tapping on hollow trees, the signals being received by other Indians a long distance away by placing their ears to the same kind of tree.

The Heart of the Community

THE yellow moon drops below the horizon. One by one the houses darken as silence settles over the countryside. It is a time of rest, of slumber.

But there is one building where rest does not enter, where the windows never darken; for the work of the telephone exchange, like the work of a sleeper's heart, must go on by night no less than by day.

Here trained operators, alert and skilful, sit at the junction of many wires. Here are linked all who would speak across the miles of darkness. . . . Somewhere an anxious mother is wakened by a childish, fretful cry. . . . Somewhere furtive footsteps betray the presence of a prowler. . . . Somewhere, in a cellar, smouldering rags send warning smoke drifting through a home. . . . At some lonely crossing two cars crash and overturn.

In these emergencies, help is as close as the nearest telephone. Over a waiting wire speeds the call for aid—for the doctor, police, fire department, an ambulance. If that wire were not waiting, there would be heavier penalties of grief and loss; help, at times, would arrive after help had ceased to be of use. Faithfully rendering a vital service both night and day, the telephone exchange plays a part which makes it, in a sense that is very real, the heart of the community.

Eyesight PROTECTION THROUGH GOOD LIGHTING

Old eyes and young have one thing in common. Both need GOOD LIGHTING to see properly. A youngster has keen vision that must be kept sharp and clear. A man has eyes that are perhaps tiring a bit, and need all the help that good lighting can give them. But proper lighting helps to protect eyes good and bad, young and old. Your home should not be without it.

Good lighting is not hard to attain—nor is it expensive. Here are 5 simple rules for good lighting that it will pay you to follow: (1) Use correct size lamp bulbs—"WATTS." In table and floor lamps with three sockets, use 40 watts in each socket; with two sockets, 60 watts; with one socket, 100 watts. (2) Have at least one-tenth as much light in the rest of the room as you have on your book, newspaper, sewing, etc. (3) Use SHADES on all lamp bulbs to prevent GLARE. (4) Use shades with light-colored linings to get the most light. (5) Have enough lighting fixtures or portable lamps to insure the proper intensity of light throughout the room. In addition, have a periodic examination by your eyesight specialist.

Try these 5 principles of good lighting in your home and see what a difference they make in the comfort and seeing ability of every member of your family.

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

We rarely find anyone who is entirely satisfied with life as it is. We always feel that if we were in the other fellow's place our lot would be different and life would be alright.

It is really up to us and if we do not learn to live it to the fullest extent and to the best there is in us it is just too bad. We have no one to blame but ourselves if we are restless and unhappy and discontented with our lot.

We are quite apt to feel that if we had so much money and a certain position in life and we had the good fortune that comes to the other fellow everything would be perfect.

Draw a line through your life or any other life and we will no doubt find the fortunate and unfortunate things about evened up, providing we have normal health and bodies and a fair amount of the opportunities that go to make life successful and happy.

I could not help but think this as I sat with a number of people at dinner the other night in the Dearborn high school where we had gathered to inaugurate a drive for Easter seals to raise funds for handicapped and crippled children.

These children whose ages range from three or fours years to the late teens, put on a very fine program to show us what they were doing to meet and cope with life though less fortunate than we are, and there was a genuine note of happiness as they showed how they were facing life with problems that would stagger many of us who were normally gifted.

I felt as if we all who were there were on trial before these youngsters and not life itself. It was a direct challenge to us, for they were making life a thing of real beauty and a legacy of inspiration to those more fortunate.

As I left this dinner I could not help but feel that any failure on my part to meet life and face the facts was my own fault and that the secret and enchantment of life lie in its inspiration as I interpreted it.

Surely we can make it a wonderful thing or we can make a sorry mess of it. The crux of the matter lies entirely with the inside of you and me and what we do with time as it marches along before us.

We, only, can run our lives or make them shining successes and an inspiration for those about us and ourselves. It is up to us.

A MONEY MORAL

(W. H. Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant)

We read an article in the Saturday Evening Post by a New York painter who won $58,000 on a race track ticket and thought it was "easy" money. He is now back at his job of painting houses and says it was "uneasy" money, so uneasy that he couldn't keep it, and he thinks that is usually true of money which costs the recipient no effort. This would apply as well to all who seek money without earning it, for it seems to be one of nature's laws that the things we have to strive for—have to earn for ourselves—are the things we most appreciate. It is also the reason why America will be a better country when we get back to where every man can earn his own and his family's living without having gratuities handed him by his government.

"The Little Minister" To Be Played At The Penniman-Allen Theatre, With Katherine Hepburn Starring

Katherine Hepburn in "The Little Minister," will be at the Penniman-Allen theatre on Friday and Saturday, April 12 and 13.

The films' outstanding young star, in the most famous and popular romance ever penned by the great Scotch author, Sir James Barrie.

This brilliant combination of names and talents brings one of the most vivid and colorful love stories ever written to the screen. "The Little Minister" gives Miss Hepburn another great character that is beloved by millions all over the world.

Nothing has been spared in the effort to make "The Little Minister" an unforgettable experience in entertainment.

RKO-Radio gathered a notable cast. John Beal, one of the most popular of Hollywood's younger leading men, plays the little Scotch dominie with whom the Gypsy girl, Babbie, falls in love. Others in the company are Alan Hale, Frank Conroy, Reginald Denny, Beryl Mercer, Andy Clyde, Lumsden Hare and Dorothy Crisp.

Pandro S. Berman produced "The Little Minister," and Richard Wallace directed.

Miss Hepburn and Beal play the immortal romance, first performed in the theatre by Maude Adams and the late Robert Edeson, against the background of the tiny Scotch village of Thrums, and the hamlet's loves and hates, joys and sorrows and laughter form a colorful and thrilling plot for the story.

The rich role of Babbie in "The Little Minister" is another great Hepburn contribution to the screen world—fit to challenge her memorable Jo March in "Little Women."

"Mystery Woman"

One of the most thrilling and colorful screen dramas of the year, according to all preview accounts, will arrive at the local theatre on Wednesday, April 17.

"Mystery Woman" offers an initial starring role to Mona Barrie, the glamorous and arresting young actress from Australia, who one year ago was brought to Hollywood by Fox. In the single year she has had important roles in seven films, including such successes as "Carolina," "One Night of Love," and "Such Women Are Dangerous," but "Mystery Woman" brings her her first opportunity to head a cast.

Advance accounts state that she fulfills this opportunity in notable fashion, and Fox Film executives are said to be confident that shortly she will take her place among the foremost stars of the screen.

In "Mystery Woman" Miss Barrie plays an unusual role—that of a woman, young and beautiful, who is dangerous to men, dishonest with the world—yet true to love above all else. For a purpose kept secret to everyone, she sets out on a career of intrigue which leads her along devious and dangerous paths. At last, she is triumphant, but only at the cost of many perils and the death of a man whom she has come to honor and respect.

In addition to the exotic Miss Barrie, the cast of "Mystery Woman" includes Gilbert Roland, John Halliday, Rod LaRocque, Mischa Auer, William Faversham and others.

Eugene Forde directed the film and the producer was John Stone. Philip MacDonald wrote the screen play from an original story authored by Dudley Nichols and E. E. Paramore, Jr.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN

BY HARRISON CHANDLER

A Nice Bit of Acting

Once more we offer our praise to the Northville high school students, this time congratulating the juniors and Miss Dorcas Currin who directed them in the fine dramatization of their play, "Here Comes Charlie."

When one considers the handicaps under which they labored, their success is all the more remarkable. In a small school there is no teacher who devotes his or her full time to dramatics, and in Northville high school's case, there is not a large and well-lighted stage, like so many larger schools enjoy.

It just goes to prove the old adage that it is our adversities and the extent that we conquer them that determines our greatness in this old world.

Only one little criticism can we offer, and that is on the "fade-out" of Friday's performance. Why couldn't those two have made that clinch a little more realistic? We will wager that they could have done much better in private, and that therefore they should have accomplished more on the stage. It was not the lack of ability. But really, we liked the play very much.

An Interesting Speaker

To you who elected to stay at home last Friday evening rather than attend the Army Day banquet we want to say that you missed a delightful evening.

Colonel J. W. Warden is one of those speakers who can talk to an audience for an hour without losing anyone's interest. He talked naturally and with such dry wit about South Africa that he reminded us of Will Rogers. He needs an alarm clock to stop himself or else he will talk much longer than he intends to when addressing an audience, and no one will ever remind him of the time because no one seems to tire of listening to him.

WILLIAM TOUSEY, tall, spare of build, ready and willing worker, interested in civic affairs, attentive to his farming interests and liked by a wide circle.

WILL C. NICOLLS, trained finisher, good handler of men, kindly, thoughtful, widely read, friendly and humorous.

J. HAMILTON WOODMAN, of medium height, builder by trade, brisk in movement, keen of mind, a hard working democrat, good fraternal man and progressive.

SPRINGTIME IN VERMONT

(Bellows Falls (Vt.) Times)

Mud season again. Back roads probably next to impassable for the next few weeks, black top roads heaved or full of holes. Mud season is also the season for the cement road enthusiast, the one time in the year when every motorist joins the cement chorus.

If the state ever gets to the point where all the money collected in taxes from the users of roads is spent on the roads, then it is probable that the highway board will see the light and build more cement roads. Black top may be cheaper, but if year round use is considered cement roads are at the top of the list in the opinion of most road users.

WELFARE IS CAUSE

(The Olivet Optic)

The defeat of so many democratic candidates at the spring election—for both township and state offices—is attributed mainly to one thing and that is a protest to the welfare as it is being conducted. There is an ever-growing feeling that people, except in cases of sickness, old age, unemployment (particularly in metropolitan centers), should be able now to support themselves now.

The welfare plan was conceived by the democratic party and the democratic candidates are compelled to accept the responsibility for it—rightfully or wrongfully. The welfare burden must be borne in taxes by those who are working and with the increasing national debt the load is becoming more and more burdensome.

One ray of hope lies in the new plan of the government to create employment by the financing of public works and thereby giving men work, thus supplanting the dole. Most idle men would rather work anyhow than to have rations dealt out to them and that is what is coming.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. EDITOR

Arranging Flowers

It was a group of flower-loving homemakers who listened to their county leader of Home Economics, Miss Emma DuBord, at the meeting of the class last week. One of their number, Mrs. T. R. Carrington, who is noted for her beautiful back yard with its lovely rock garden, gives us the study of flower arrangement discussed at the last lesson. From it we glean the following outline of pointers in making flowers give the most beauty to our homes:

Even the most ordinary flowers and leaves are beautiful if they are artistically arranged and placed properly.

Flowers should be chosen with regard to their placement. For the hall where they are seen from a distance, large pottery jugs with a massive arrangement may suggest hospitality. In the living room medium sized bouquets are more suitable, while for the dining room dainty flowers harmonizing with the china arranged in low bowls are used. A single bud or blossom is used in the bedroom.

Emphasis is placed on the choice of the right vase. A simple vase with no decoration is best, giving the flowers themselves the attention. Soft dull green is perhaps best, though brown, pale yellow or dull blue are good. Flower holders need not be expensive. A water pitcher, mixing bowl, stone crock, bean jar or even an olive bottle may make a more suitable container than an elaborate vase.

Each home should have three useable vases — a bud vase for one blossom, a low broad bowl for medium sized bouquets and a vase of simple design 8 to 10 inches for long stemmed flowers. A bouquet should be 1 1-2 times as high as the vase (but don't measure with a yard stick).

Next in importance to the choice of vase is the proper arrangement. Do not crowd. Work for naturalness of arrangement. Put one blossom in at a time. A few flowers are more beautiful than a large number. Every flower should be visible—not huddled into a mass. Use the flowers' own foliage. Nature knows best what greens harmonize. Occasionally a single flower or simple spray will have more decorative value than a crowded mass.

The Japanese who are versed in the art of flower arrangement have taught us not to cut flowers with even length stems. An uneven number may make a more artistic arrangement than an even number.

For a mixed bouquet the garden itself is a guide to the combinations which are pleasing. Do not use too many kinds of blossoms. A single kind of blossom should dominate.

Artificial flowers, says the authority, are a "disappointment" when they are discovered to be false.

Use the beauties of nature according to the season.

There are no more lovely things grown during the year than the early manifestations of spring. Beautiful bouquets may be made from the first colored twigs, new leaves and buds.

Summer offers a wealth of blossoms. Fall brings its late flowers, many colored leaves, dried weeds and interesting shaped seed pods.

Even in winter the green pine and a few late berries make charming decorative arrangements to brighten dull rooms.

Summing up this information are the following points to remember:

Use plain vases.

Arrange flowers loosely.

Make three heights in a bouquet.

Place every bouquet to lend decoration to a room.

"Yummy" Balls

From our California sister-in-law, Mary Baldwin-Wheeler, famed as a good cook, comes this appetizing recipe:

1 lb. lean beef, 1-2 lb. lean pork, ground, 1 onion minced, 1 egg, 1-2 cup bread crumbs, 1-2 cup uncooked well washed rice. Salt and pepper to taste.

Make in little balls (make about 30 the size of a golf ball), put into casserole, cover with a can to tomato soup diluted with water. Bake about 1 hour in moderate oven.

Apricot Cocoanut Snow

Beat two egg whites very stiff, having them ice cold. Add one teaspoon confectioner's sugar. Have the contents of one No. 2 can of apricots very cold, drain and mash the fruit with a fork. Add two tablespoons lemon juice, then add the apricots, and fold into the egg whites. Pile lightly in tall glasses. Sprinkle liberally with canned moist cocoanut and serve at once. This serves six persons.

Christian Science Churches

"Are Sin Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 14.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ephesians 4:17, 18): "This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind. Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 297): "Sickness, sin, and death are the vague realities of human conclusions. Life, Truth, and Love are the realities of divine Science. They dawn in faith and glow full-orbed in spiritual understanding."

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Tuesday, the Camp Fire Girls went on their first hike of the season. They gathered at the home of their guardian, Mrs. H. H. Burkart, after school and, with their lunches tucked under their arms, they swung briskly off down the Middle Rouge Boulevard, twenty strong, gaily singing their walking song.

This is the first of a series of hikes, each one to be a little longer so that the girls will be ready for the all-day trips they are planning to take this summer. They not only had a grand time but each girl earned health honor number 205, which is to demonstrate the proper clothing and treatment of feet to prevent blisters on a long hike. [illegible] The girls are very busy filling orders for wreaths to be delivered May 3 and 4. Each girl is trying to earn the money [illegible] camp. [illegible] selling 20 dozen, and of course hoping to be one of the ten highest in Detroit and neighboring towns and thus get a free week at Camp Wathana this summer.

The money made from the sale is spent on improvements at the camp. So many of our girls have enjoyed being at Camp Wathana that they hope to show their appreciation of it and all it means by ranking among the groups showing the largest amount of doughnuts sold.

There are 2,000 Camp Fire girls in and around Detroit so they have shouldered a big task but they will go over the top. These girls have a habit of doing what they set out to do.

Next week they meet on Monday at 4:30 at their guardian's home where they will start making their cookies.

St. Paul's Lutheran

"The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." John 1, 29.

Jesus had just returned from the desert and the temptings of Satan. John was baptizing in Bethabara beyond Jordan. Seeing Jesus, he exclaimed, "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." Truly a famous word. The lamb was the symbol of sacrifice. The sacrifices of the Old Testament, however, were mere types of things to come. The original genuine sacrifice for the sin of the world was Christ. He is the Lamb of God, selected by God, come from God, provided by God, slain by God, approved by God. He took, He bore, He carried the sin of the world. All sins were laid upon Him when He became man's Proxy. The many oversteppings between good and evil, the violations of the Holy will of God, the want of obedience, the total loss of the soncreated holiness, the natural enmity against God, the Lamb of God took away.

What a comfort John sees in Christ. The Christian church is made up of those who have seen Jesus coming to them and have recognized Him as the Lamb of God, which bears the sin of the world. John's information came through the Old Testament and from the witness of the Spirit. Even so we must learn to behold Christ as the Lamb of God from the Bible. We must see Him with the eyes of faith. What rich comfort indeed. Are you depressed and burdened? Behold the Lamb of God. Are your sins torturing you? Behold the Lamb of God. Do you need strength to resist Satan's tempting power? Behold the Lamb of God. The blood of Christ is a powerful preacher of the evil of sin and the power of sin, but also of the surpassing power of grace. The triumphant cry of the Christians is merely the chorus to the words of John. Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world. This will prove an efficient mainstay and support in trials and anguish and in the hour of death.

This Sunday is Palm Sunday. Worship and Sunday school will be held at the usual time, 10 o'clock. The pastor will preach on the text 1 John 1:7, choosing as the theme for his discourse: "The amazing cleansing power of Jesus blood."

In connection with our Easter service the Lord's supper will be celebrated. Those intending to commune, may announce themselves either after the service next Sunday or on Good Friday.

A special Good Friday service will be held on said date, beginning at 7 30 in the evening.

Be sure and tune in on the Lutheran Hour broadcast every Sunday afternoon, one o'clock over stations WXYZ and WLW.

We are indeed grateful to see such a large attendance at our services. May we again take this opportunity in inviting all visitors and strangers in the community as well as people without a church home to come and hear the sweet Gospel of the Changeless Christ to a Changing World. You are always welcome at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Roman Surgeon's Forceps

Several forceps and other surgical instruments found in Ljubljana, in Jugoslavia, by workmen digging the foundations of a church, are believed to date from Roman times. The instruments were in an earth en urn, which also contained ashes, and it is assumed that the ashes were those of a doctor whose instruments were buried with him.

The word flour is a collective noun, coming under the classification of substances of indefinite quantity like butter, water, etc. These nouns are generally used in the singular number, but when different sources or kinds of the substance are indicated may be used in the plural number.

FRUIT TREE BUDS FORECAST BIG CROP, G. SIMMONS SAYS

"The buds on the fruit trees look good this spring, and we should have a good season from all present appearances," said George Simmons, well known Novi township fruit grower, this week.

"Our only fear is a late frost if the buds come out too early," he said. The farmers in his neighborhood are busy these days spraying their trees and clearing away dead brush.

The buds on the plum trees will appear first, and will probably come out about in the latter part of this month. Other trees on Mr. Simmons' property are apple, pear and peach trees.

He said that the last few seasons have been rather normal, but that fruit growers can never be sure that their crops will be saved until the last danger of frost is past.

Mr. Simmons says that the snow and cold weather of this week will not effect the buds since they are not developed enough yet.

EXCHANGE CLUB TO BEAUTIFY VILLAGE

would have to go far to equal.

Exchangites favored both of these suggestions since they say it is their hope to make Northville's summer beauty even more talked of than was the attractiveness of the Christmas decorations on the business streets last winter in the contest sponsored by the club. Their goal is to beautify Northville in the summer and in the winter as well.

"We in America are far ahead of Europe in the homes we build," Mr. Gunther said. "But when it comes to decorating grounds around the homes we are woefully lacking. We spend thousands of dollars on the home itself and five or six dollars on the grounds, and then forget about it."

Before Mr. Gunther came to the Exchange meeting Wednesday he spent some time with Robert G. Yerkes seeing all parts of the town. His reaction as voiced at the meeting, was that Northville is blessed with more than the usual amount of natural beauty of location in its rolling hills ravines and many shade trees and that the people here should take advantage of the opportunity to make the town more attractive.

PERRIN BEGINS 57TH YEAR AS CONSTABLE

[illegible] N. Perrin, who was [illegible] elected constable of Northville township [illegible] this year, has the distinction of having served the community in that capacity for 57 consecutive years.

He came to Northville in 1871. [illegible] to work for L. W. Hutton, for whom he [illegible] horses for [illegible] year. He was first elected a constable in 1878 and has held it [illegible] ever since.

According to the Gregorian calendar, the one now in general use it is provided that of the centesimal years, 1600, 1700, etc., only those exactly divisible by 400 should be leap years. Thus 1900 was not a leap year, but 2000 will be.

Curious Cacti

Few of nature's creations are more curious than many strange and weird members of the cactus family, says Tit-Bits Magazine. The curious shape of the cactus is due to the fact that these plants have discarded their leaves, and the parts one might think are leaves are merely thickened stalks. An ordinary plant gives off moisture through its leaves, but the cacti cannot afford to do this, for in countries in which they grow no rain may fall for the greater part of a year. The plant, therefore has to store up moisture in case a rainy day does not come. An experiment with one of the giant American cacti found that it did not lose all its moisture for nearly one and a half years.

Fort, Fortification, Fortress

A fortress is a fortification of especial size and strength; a citadel is a fortification within a city, or the fortified inner part of a city or fortress within which a garrison may be placed to overawe the citizens, or to which the defenders may retire if the outer works are captured. Fort is the common military term for a detached fortified building or enclosure of moderate size occupied or designed to be occupied by troops. The fortification of a modern city usually consists of a chain of forts.—Literary Digest.

"According to Hoyle"

Edmond Hoyle (1672-1769) was the first systematizer of the laws of whist and author of a book on games. For the use of his pupils in whist he drew up a "Short Treatise" (1742). The laws of Hoyle continued to be authoritative until 1864, after which they were gradually superseded by new rules adopted. The weight of his authority is indicated by the phrase "according to Hoyle," which doubtless first applied to whist, and has gained currency as a proverb. Hoyle died in London, August 29, 1769.

Amber Long Known

Amber, the rare substance from which pipe stems are made, was first introduced about 700 years before Christ by worshipers of idols who burned amber dust as an incense in their temples. The genuine amber is found only in the Baltic states and along the shores of the Baltic sea where it is washed up from the bottom where a vast forest, long extinct, lies. So-called Chinese amber, or burmite, is a fossil resin and inferior to the Baltic product.

Memorials to Widows

Widows who have not remarried are held in such high esteem in China that pai-lous, or memorial arches, are erected in their honor. These gateways, which are made of elaborately carved wood, sandstone or marble, are often 30 feet high and usually built over streets and roads, sometimes only a short distance apart when the community has a number of them.—Collier's Weekly.

Quetzalcoatl's Temple

The pyramid on which Quetzalcoatl's temple once stood was not only the greatest in the New World, but in mass exceeded the pyramid of Cheops on the banks of the Nile. The remains of the great structure, now crowned by a Christian church, are still to be seen on the outskirts of the modern town of Cholula. Hither in ancient times came pilgrims from all parts of Mexico. As tribal god of the Toltecs, Quetzalcoatl came to be considered the greatest civilizer of Mexico.

Changing Civilizations

Jerusalem and the Holy Land have been violent enough, from the days of Isaiah and Sennacherib to the present, but the marks of violence are overshadowed by the peaceful reverence that lies over the land. A crusader's tower reminds one of the Saracens and Richard the Lion-Hearted. The British cemetery recalls the World war. Jaffa was besieged by Napoleon. But the most important memories are those surrounding the many Christian, Jewish and Mohammedan shrines. Bethlehem, the Mount of Olives, the Garden of Gethsemane, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the Mosque of Omar, the Wailing Wall, Rachel's tomb, Bethany, the Sea of Galilee, round out a picture of changing civilizations.—Chicago Daily News.

Cracking of Oil

The cracking of oil is said to have been discovered by a refinery workman who day dreamed on the job and let the still get too hot and build up too much pressure. How this careless person escaped being blasted into the next world is not told by the legend. As a matter of fact, the first successful cracking process was patented by Doctor Burton of Standard Oil about 1912. Cracking consists of heating the heavier fractions of oil under high pressure.

Odd, If True

The quantity of current consumed by the average electric clock is so small that it does not register on the meter when all other electrical devices and lights are turned off. Thus about 10,000,000 of these clocks—in homes, stores and offices—operate during part of the night at the expense of the central electric stations.—J. K. Thomas, Ithaca, N. Y., in Collier's Weekly.

Istanbul Name Changes

Istanbul is quite accustomed to name changes. Back in 660 B. C. it was called Byzantin. Constantinople, in the year 330, called it New Rome. Then the Turks baptized it Stamboul. For a long time it was called Constantinople, and then the Russians, with premature expectations of annexing the city, called it Czarigrad. Since the birth of the new Turkish state it has been given the name of Istanbul.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

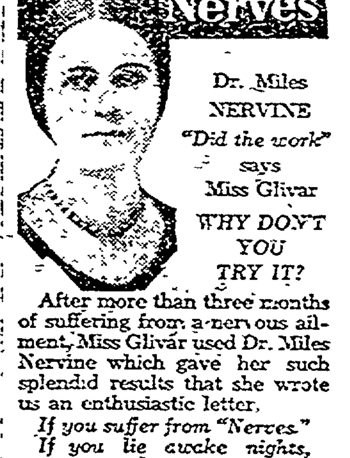
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.



After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Glivar used Dr. Miles Nervine which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

If you suffer from "Nerves." If you lie awake nights, start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order.

Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

At Drug Stores 25c and $1.00.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and ¾ of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped mongrel, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, aches and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢. C.M.Co.
