FORD PLANT PLANS AWAIT APPROVAL

Manufacturer Will Return to Inspect Layout and Plans Here

Plans for the new Ford valve plant in Northville to employ 1,000 men are awaiting approval of Henry and Edsel Ford, pending their next visit here, which is expected within a few days.

The preliminary lay-out of the new structure on the designated location east of the present plant was staked out by surveyors Thursday, April 25, the next day after Henry Ford and his party of officials and engineers had looked over the grounds here and chosen a site.

When Mr. Ford comes to Northville the next time, it is expected that he will finally approve the site that was tentatively selected last week and also choose between two sets of plans that have been made for the building.

The temporary lay-out shows that the new factory, erected about 60 feet east of the present building, will command an imposing position where it can be plainly seen by motorists approaching it on Plymouth avenue.

Specifications on the building give it a length of 200 feet facing on East Main street, and a depth of 100 feet. The main factory is expected to be one story in height pierced by large windows to give plenty of light and with a saw-tooth roof construction.

In all respects it will be much larger than the present factory which measures only 90 feet in length and about 60 feet in depth. This building which has housed the valve plant here ever since 1920, will be torn down since the new factory will be ample to manufacture all valves that will be necessary for the Ford industry, or as many as 150,000 each day.

No plans for the foundry for making the valve castings have been revealed as yet by Ford officials. Henry Ford, when here last week, however, said that the foundry would be built.

Spokesmen for the Ford company were reticent this week to make any further statement regarding the plant. It is expected, however, that after the next visit of Mr. Ford here, that construction work will soon begin.

MRS. CHRISTY FALLS AND FRACTURES LEG

Mrs. Lucinda Christy, affectionately known as "Grandma Christy," to a wide circle of friends, suffered a fracture of the leg above the knee Sunday evening when she lost her balance as she rose from her chair in her own room at her home on West Cady street.

Mrs. Christy was taken to the University hospital where the fracture was reduced. Her grandson, Sherrill Ambler, and Mrs. Ambler, in calling on her Tuesday, found her bearing her affliction with her customary good spirit.

"A broken leg isn't very nice," she said, "but I might as well laugh as cry about it."

Already Mrs. Christy has become a favorite with the doctors and nurses who call her "Grandma" and enjoy her ready wit and love of anecdotes of the past. A great many things of interest have happened to her in her 88 years since she came as a young child with her pioneer parents on a scow from "New York state to the wilds of Michigan."

Mrs. Christy's accident is the more regrettable since she had only recently been able to walk out after a long winter of confinement. Just a few days previous to her fall she had been down town greeting her friends.

Her room is 4611 on the fourth floor of the hospital where she is able to receive her friends for short calls.

SERVICE LEAGUE TO MEET ON TUESDAY

The regular meeting of the Service League will be held at the home of Mrs. Gerald C. Woodworth, 365 North Rogers street, at 8 p. m. on Tuesday, May 7. Members are urged not to forget clothes for the coming rummage sale.

MISS MARIE TANNY—Will be at the Penniman Beauty Shoppe on May 6 to May 15th, to give permanents. Featuring combination, $5.00, spiral, $4.00, Croquignole, $3.00. Call 480 for appointment. 44p

WOMEN INMATES AT D. H. O. C. TO GIVE PLAY NEXT FRIDAY

A farce comedy, "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy," given in three acts, will be presented by the Woman's division of the Detroit House of Correction Friday evening, May 10 at 8 p. m.

The parts in the play are all taken by inmates of the institution. It will be directed by Mrs. Martha Polluna, matron there. Tickets can be purchased in Northville at the Record office; they are priced at 25 cents.

BAPTIST CENTENNIAL SET FOR MAY 19-26

The Northville Baptist church society is rapidly completing plans for the centennial observance during the week beginning Sunday, May 19.

A committee, composed of C. B. Turnbull, as general chairman, Mrs. Earl Montgomery, Supt. of Schools R. H. Ackerman, C. F. Winters, and H. W. White, are in charge of the program and arrangements for the week.

On Sunday, May 19, former ministers will participate in the services and old members will gather in a memorial service and home-coming day.

On Monday there will be a social evening under the leadership of Clifford Winters at the high school gym. Tuesday is community night, when various organizations of the village will bring greetings through their representatives.

Wednesday night will mark a centennial banquet. Dr. H. C. Gleiss, Supt. of the Detroit Baptist Union and Missionary society, will be the principal speaker. Mrs. Earl Montgomery is general chairman of this banquet and tickets will be on sale shortly.

Thursday is concert night and on Friday night a historical drama will be presented.

Sunday, May 26, the congregation will have as its speaker, the Rev. Drury Martin, director of convention churches in Michigan, at the morning service. In the evening a union community memorial day service will be held.

A church history is being compiled which will be ready and on sale for a nominal sum at that time.

MOTHERS, DAUGHTERS WILL HEAR SPEAKER ON THE ORIENTALS

All the mothers and daughters of the community will want to attend the annual Mother-Daughter banquet to be held on the evening of May 17 when a speaker of exceptional charm is to appear on the program.

Mrs. S. A. Sullivan of Pontiac, who with her husband has spent 28 years in Africa, will tell her hearers about "Oriental Mothers and Daughters." Mrs. Sullivan is said to be a very interesting speaker.

Mrs. Sherrill Ambler, who is in charge of the program, is arranging other features of interest, among them music and a part to be taken by some of the smallest daughters of Northville. Representatives from the various churches will respond to toasts.

The price per plate is 60 cents for adults and 40 cents for children under ten years of age, and tickets may be obtained at the Holmes Gift shop, Persford's store, the Sally Bell bakery and the Northville Record office.

ELY SUES FARMINGTON FOR TAXES

Charges 1927 Assessment Was Fraud And Asks $23,000

Suit against the city of Farmington and the auditor general of Michigan to declare null and void the assessment made in 1927 on the old Ely farm for which $23,242.40 was collected in taxes that year has been filed in the Oakland county circuit court in Pontiac by Carl R. Ely, administrator of the estate of the late Charles H. Ely.

The bill of complaint charges that this amount was grossly excessive as to amount to fraud.

It further asserts that the assessment of $488,705, placed on the property in that year was made in utter disregard of the true cash value of the land, which, it is asserted, is the requirement of the law.

Prior to 1927 the land consisting of 187 acres running on the north side of Shiawassee street from a point west of Power avenue to Orchard Lake road, was sold by the late Mr. Ely to Charles Burton of Detroit on land contract.

This was at the time of the real estate "boom" and plans were made for selling the subdivision, as a high priced development with big prices for all lots. Billboards were erected, and 540 lots staked out with roads laid out running diagonally through the subdivision.

All of the property has come back to the heirs of Mr. Ely through default on the land contract it is understood, except the portion of the corner of Shiawassee and Power streets purchased by the Catholic church and occupied by the rectory and church buildings. This part of the property comprises about seven acres.

According to the bill of complaint, the contract purchaser, Mr. Burton, did not pay the 1927 taxes, and on September 30, 1929, the late Mr. Ely "in order to protect his interest in the property, was compelled to pay" to the county treasurer, the taxes that had been assessed, which amounted to $19,655.02, plus interest and fees of $3,587.37, making a total of $23,242.40.

The plaintiff, son of the late Mr. Ely, in his bill states that the assessing officer at the time, Arthur Lamb, "did not exercise his best judgment in making the assessment" but was guided entirely by matters foreign to his own judgment and information, and acted wilfully and fraudulently with an intention to place upon said lands more than a just and proper proportion of the taxes legally leviable in the city of Farmington."

The State Board of Tax Commissioners, the bill also declares, in approving and directing the assessment, acted fraudulently and with a reckless discharge of duty in opposition to what must have been necessarily the judgment of all competent persons, and with an intention to impose upon the property an unjust proportion of the taxes assessed in the assessment district.

If Mr. Ely wins the suit, he will receive checks from the city of Farmington, Oakland county, and the state in the proportion to the amounts they received.

Farmington officials are studying the bill of complaint and will probably file an answer within the 15 days provided by statute.

U. OF M. LITTLE SYMPHONY OPENS FESTIVAL MONDAY

The University of Michigan Little Symphony orchestra, which will start off Northville's May Festival Monday, May 6, is in demand throughout the state and nation. While its members, who are assistants and faculty members of the University School of Music, have been actively organized only a short time, as a symphony orchestra, they have already won almost national acclaim.

Two weeks ago its members returned from a tour of the southern United States. Thor Johnson, conductor, says two nation-wide tours are planned. This week the Little Symphony will play at the State P.-T. A meeting in Saginaw. Next week it will be taking a prominent part in the May Festival in Ann Arbor. Only as a special favor, did Mr. Johnson "squeeze" in the date for Northville.

Perhaps the two most outstanding numbers on its program Monday will be those arranged for the two soloists, Miss Ruby Peinert, violin-cellist, and John Krell, flutist. As the fourth number of the evening, Miss Peinert will play the "Concerto in A minor," by Saint-Saëns, and as the tenth number, Mr. Krell will play Chopin's "Minuet Waltz."

COURTS, DIAMOND AT PARK ARE READY

Northville baseball and tennis enthusiasts should be able to take advantage of the facilities at Cass Benton park by Saturday, according to Guy Hancock, chief maintenance man at the park.

The tennis courts are already in shape, he says, and the only thing lacking now is the fence to be put around them. A shipment of fence material arrived at the park about a week ago and it was discovered after it was delivered that it was of a poor grade and had huge holes in it.

The four courts have a clay-surface. J. M. Benifiett of Plymouth, superintendent of Wayne county parks, of which Cass Benton is an important unit, is going to test the practicability of clay tennis courts here and if they prove satisfactory four more will be installed at the same location. If they are not found to be satisfactory, the present ones will be surfaced with concrete and the four additional ones built of the same material.

The backstop of the baseball diamond is expected to be finished this week. Mr. Hancock says the field is in perfect condition and that it will be one of the best in this part of the county. The ground is hard and smooth, making it a fast field.

Permits for use of the ball field must be obtained from the main office of Wayne county park trustees in the Barlum tower in Detroit. Teams playing on the field without a permit must relinquish it to the teams who have permits to play here at that time.

The territory of Cass Benton park was enlarged this week so that the southern boundry of it is now the Five Mile road. This makes the park a mile longer than it was formerly.

Already, it is reported, picnic parties are in evidence, four parties bringing their lunch baskets to the park within the last week. Thousands of evergreen trees have been planted during the last two weeks to enhance the natural beauty of the park.

BELLEVILLE PEOPLE DO GOOD WORK IN "SIMON, THE LEPER"

The group of high school students from Belleville who presented the drama "Simon, The Leper," Sunday evening at the Methodist church here, did a fine piece of work and those who saw it are expressing their satisfaction with it.

The play was first staged in Belleville April 14 under the direction of Miss Verna Deline, the instructor of dramatics at the Belleville high school.

The Rev. Wm. Richards, pastor of Belleville Methodist church, was so well pleased with the drama that he suggested the idea of giving it in Northville to Rev. H. H. Mallinson and he gladly accepted.

The platform was neatly decorated for the three acts of the drama. The characters were well costumed and spoke their lines plainly and effectively.

Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served to the players and their friends after the program ended.

DR. RENO BACKUS AND WIFE RETURN TO SOUTH DAKOTA

Dr. Reno W. Backus, after spending several months here where he has studied the treatment of tuberculosis, left Thursday morning for Mitchell, South Dakota, Dr. Backus' home town.

There they will remain for a few months, before departing again for Peiping, China, where Dr. Backus will resume his work as superintendent of the Hopkins Memorial hospital. At least seven years will elapse before they return once more to the United States.

Dr. Backus has done quite a bit of experimental work at the Maybury sanatorium. He plans to enlarge the tuberculosis department of the hospital after his return to China.

Mrs. Backus, who arrived here a few days ago, accompanied her husband.

SMITH ADDRESSES ROTARY ON HOUSING

Speaking before the Northville Rotary club, George A. Smith, superintendent of the Plymouth schools, stated that the Federal Housing Act is the first real constructive attempt on the part of the New Deal to solve the problems of today.

Mr. Smith who is chairman of the Plymouth Federal Housing committee, outlined briefly the whole plan of the Federal Housing Act and stated that it does not involve the spending of Federal funds but rather a guarantee by the government to the loaning or banking agency against loss on these housing loans.

The housing act, said Mr. Smith, is divided into two parts, Title One and Title Two. Title One pertains to repairs, replacements, landscaping and other improvements on homes. The interest rate on these loans is five per cent and the payments are made in twelve equal monthly amounts with the payments extending through as many as three years. In the case of these loans there is no lien on the property.

Title Two is the newest phase of the housing program, stated Mr. Smith, and really is not fully in operation as yet although it is intended to promote new home construction and refinancing.

Berg D. Moore, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the housing project and outlined the steps taken by Plymouth in getting six propects under way. Mr. Moore said that there is more lumber business in Plymouth than in any time in five years.

E. H. Lapham, vice-president of the Depositors State Bank, added that the local bank had already made loans under Title One of the Housing Act.

Leslie G. Lee, chairman, turned the meeting over to Willard A. Ely, who introduced the speakers. Oliver Goldsmith and Maylon Hinman, Hinman were guests of the day.

DR. CARROTHERS COMING

Dr. George E. Carrothers, dean of the education department of the University of Michigan, will speak at the Methodist church here on Sunday morning, May 19.

PLYMOUTH OPPOSES WOLVERINES SUNDAY

The Northville Wolverines will open the local baseball season Sunday afternoon with a game with Plymouth on the latter's ground.

Those associated with the team feel that the same success that took the Wolverines to the finals in the Detroit Triple-A league last year will accompany the team this year.

All team spots have been bolstered with new players. At the present time the team has a new pitcher and three other new players. All men are already in good condition, Arnold Jackson, manager, says.

Jack Hartner, who was one of the good pitchers in the 1934 campaign, will be back in uniform again. Jackson yet is not completely rounded into perfect shape, Jackson says.

So far no schedule can be announced for the season. The Michigan-Ontario league, which the Wolverines were to have played in again this year, has been disbanded and so the team will be free to book games as it chooses.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF DETROIT TO VISIT LIVONIA CHURCH

A group of young people from the Mayflower congregational church in Detroit with the Rev. George E. Gullen, pastor, is planning to visit the Livonia Center Community church on Five Mile and Farmington roads Sunday evening at 6 p. m. for a vesper service.

Mr. Gullen extends a cordial welcome to everyone of this vicinity to attend the service. He and his group are especially anxious to meet the young people.

The program includes special music and a brief talk by Rev. Gullen. There will also be a social half hour.

TO SPEAK IN HIGHLAND PARK

The Rev. H. H. Mallinson will give an address at the St. Paul's Methodist church in Highland Park on Sunday evening.

MORE THAN 125 LOCAL VOICES WILL BE HEARD IN MAY FESTIVAL CONCERTS

U. Of M. Little Symphony Orchestra Opens The Series Monday Evening At Presbyterian Church

Northville's first May Festival—a full week of excellent music free of charge—will begin at 8 p. m. Monday, May 6, with a concert by the nationally known University of Michigan Little Symphony orchestra in the Presbyterian church house.

Five full programs of choral and instrumental music on five different days of the week, May 6-12, will comprise the Festival's activities. More than 125 local voices will participate in rendering what musicians term the finest music available.

Sponsored by a group of civic-minded citizens led by Leslie G. Lee, head of the Northville school's music department, the May Festival is a non-profit enterprise and will be presented without charge. A collection will be taken to cover expenses.

Its purposes, according to those sponsoring it are "to bring a week of excellent music to Northville; to give the participants first hand experience with good music; and to further here a love for the best in music.

The Little Symphony orchestra, composed of 15 outstanding Ann Arbor musicians, all of whom are associated with the University school of music, will be conducted by Thor Johnson. Its program will include eleven numbers, the best known of which is perhaps "The Flight of the Bumble Bee," by Rimsky-Korsakov.

Charles Hutton well-known Walled Lake baritone, will sing a group of three solos in this concert.

The highlight of the entire festival will come on the concluding Sunday, May 12, when Mendelssohn's great oratorio, "Elijah," will be given by the Festival chorus in the Methodist church auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

The second event in the Festival program will come at 8 p. m. Tuesday, May 7, when the Northville Community school band will present a concert in the high school gymnasium. This program is noteworthy because the band has been practicing it for a considerable length of time and because it will be the largest appearance in Northville of Conductor Edward Head who built up the organization from a group of young novices to one of the finest high school bands in the state.

With Wednesday as an intermission for purposes of rehearsal, the Festival program will be resumed at 8 p. m. Thursday, May 9, when the Northville-Plymouth Male Chorus, composed of 28 voices, will sing in the Baptist church auditorium. Led by Mr. Lee, the chorus will present a group of outstanding numbers, many of which have never been heard before in Northville.

Friday, May 10, at 8 p. m., Northville's noted a capella choir, with 50 mixed voices and the senior and junior high girls' glee clubs, composed of 25 and 37 voices respectively, will make their first appearance of the spring in the high school auditorium. They will sing a group of entirely new songs. Each of these will be directed by Mr. Lee.

With Saturday as an intermission, the Festival will be climaxed and concluded with the "Elijah." The Festival chorus, which will present this great oratorio, is composed of 36 local voices, trained over a considerable period of time by Mr. Lee. Miss Hannah Strasen of Plymouth, will be accompanist and soloists are Mrs. M. J. Koldyke, soprano; Mrs. Victor Lumley, alto; Ray Van Valkenburgh, and Maurice Giles, tenors; and Carl Bryan, bass. These soloists, together with Mrs. Mary Alexander, Miss Florence Johnson and Merrill Sweet, will comprise an octette which will have a special part in the program.

Those in charge of Northville's first May Festival declare that they would like to see it made a yearly community enterprise in which a community chorus would present at least one famous choral composition, opera or oratorio. Speaking for the group, Mr. Lee stated that he hopes the Festival will become popular enough to bring into town at least one noted artist, and for this, he said, a small charge may be made in future years.

JUNIPER TREES TO LINE MAIN STREET

The Main street business district will be beautified soon if the work done by President Maurice J. Lapham and Past President Nelson G. Schrader of the Northville Exchange club means anything.

At the end of two weeks hard labor on the project about 70 small Irish Juniper trees have been ordered, approximately 60 of which will be delivered Saturday.

Boxes for this around have been completed this week at the farm vocational room of the high school by Mr. Lapham, Mr. Schrader, Paul Thompson, Robert G. Yerkes and William F. Forney, who volunteered their services for this work.

These boxes are built of wood, square in shape and painted green.

Window boxes will be next on this program and every citizen on Main street is asked to co-operate in making this highway a beautiful one.

The foregoing report was given to the Exchange club Wednesday noon at the Methodist church house by Exchangite Schrader.

Dr. Dan Brief also gave a report on the Crippled Childrens seals. Half of the club allotment was taken and paid for.

Neal Hannaford was the only guest present.

ROYAL ANN CAFE WILL MOVE

The Royal Ann Cafe, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Fry, closed its doors this week and will open on the opposite side of Main street soon, occupying the place recently vacated by the Wadsworth bakery.

Johnson Family Claims Four Countries As Birthplaces Of Its Six Members

Born in four different nations, the Johnson family live on in peaceful unity at their home on First street in our village.

Alex Johnson was born in Sweden and Mrs. Johnson in Norway. Both came to Canada where they met with romance blossoming into marriage.

Their two older children, Alex, Jr., and Florence were born under the Canadian flag. Later when Mr. and Mrs. Johnson came to Detroit, two young Americans blessed their home whom they named Violet and Helen.

Upon her marriage to "Big Alex" Mrs. Johnson became a subject of Sweden and even his naturalization in the United States did not include her as an American citizen although all four children took their citizenship in this country from their father.

When the Johnson family went back to visit their parental homes in the year 1927 it was necessary to obtain for Mrs. Johnson a special passport from Sweden, the land of her adoption by marriage.

And now all the young Johnsons chuckle over the family joke that their mother, though born in Norway, is now the only Swedish member of the family.

From their rugged Scandinavian ancestors the children have all inherited an unusual gift for singing with which they contribute to the pleasure of the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are looking forward to the celebration of their silver wedding anniversary.

EASTERN STAR WILL HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

A special meeting of the Orient chapter No. 77, O. E. S. will be held at 6:30 p. m. tonight (Friday). Members are asked to bring one passing dish and bread and butter.

There will be a short and enjoyable program between the dinner hour and the work of the evening. The Farmington chapter will exemplify the initiation.

Clean-Up Week In Northville Will Begin Moriday; Rubbish to Be Picked Up

The annual Clean-up week in Northville will begin Monday and last until Saturday.

This is the one opportunity of the year when everyone may dispose of all tin cans, brush, ashes and other debris on their property at no cost to them other than placing the rubbish on the curb in front of their lot.

The only conditions asked by Street Commissioner Earl H. Montgomery are that everything to be picked up be put in wood or metal containers and be ready at the curb in front of the homes not later than Monday morning.

This latter condition is especially important, Mr. Montgomery said, since it is hard to forecast just what streets will be covered at any certain time during the week. Those engaged in picking up the rubbish will be kept busy to cover the entire community in a week without making special trips, he said.

This, he pointed out, was one of the difficulties encountered in the clean-up campaigns of previous years.

If people desire to retain any containers that they have put rubbish in, it is suggested that they tag them plainly to that effect and have their name on them. Residents are also requested not to place any automobile bodies or other objects in front of their property to be picked up that are too heavy to be handled readily.

In case of unsightly conditions on adjoining lots, it is suggested that neighbors co-operate to clear them of all debris.

The purpose of the campaign is to make clean streets and alleys and to eliminate germ-breeding places. Mosquitoes, flies, rats, roaches and other pests can be destroyed in large quantities in this manner, village officials said recently. Vacant lots are improved in this way and fire losses are reduced also, it has been pointed out.

All are urged to co-operate in the campaign and have their rubbish ready to be picked up on Monday morning.

Salads to Serve in the Springtime

WHEN WE consider the delightful variety of salads available to us today, it is hard to believe there was ever a dearth of choice recipes. Yet so minor a role did salads play in the hearty feasts of grandmother's day, that it is difficult to find more than a few references to them in cook books of the period. One book, dated 1863, vaguely describes a salad as fresh gathered greens that have stood in cold salted water, and further advises as the "Mode of Dressing Salads" to "take the yolks of one or two eggs boiled hard, mash them fine, mix with them pepper, salt, mustard, oil and vinegar to your taste. Then cut up the salad and mix it with this preparation. This is usually done at the table." Thus briefly did they dismiss salads in grandmother's kitchen. But today we are fortunate in an array of salads ranging all the way from a simple bowl of spring greens to elaborate molded salad desserts. Grandmother would, indeed, be surprised and delighted with these new salad variations:

Ripe Tomato Luncheon Salad (serves 6)—Dip 6 tomatoes in hot water for a few seconds, plunge into cold water, then skin. Chill well. Combine and mix thoroughly 1 cup coarsely ground cooked pork or veal, ½ cup either finely chopped or shredded raw carrot, ½ cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons India Relish, 3 tablespoons Mayonnaise and salt to taste. Place each tomato, with stem end down, in a cup shaped leaf of lettuce. With a very sharp knife, cut the tomato within about ¼ inch of the bottom, dividing into 10 or 12 sections. Pull sections gently apart and fill with meat mixture. Garnish with watercress and serve with additional Mayonnaise. Note: this makes an excellent mock chicken filling.

Apple Vegetable Salad—Sprinkle 2 cups unpeeled, cubed red or green apple with 2 tablespoons Cider Vinegar. Add 1 cup shredded raw carrot, 3 stalks of celery, chopped, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon sugar and mix well. Slightly moisten with Mayonnaise and arrange in nests of lettuce and garnish with additional Mayonnaise. The combination of yellow carrot and red or green skin on apple makes a pleasing combination of color.

Tomato Aspic Salad with Molded Cheese (serves 6)

Tomato Aspic—Soak 1½ tablespoons granulated gelatin in ½ cup cold water for 5 minutes. Combine 2 cups Tomato Juice, 1 medium onion, sliced, 1 stalk of celery, 3 sprigs of parsley, 2 tablespoons Cider Vinegar, 4 cloves, ½ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon Pepper Sauce and simmer for 15 minutes. Strain, and heat liquid to gelatin and stir until dissolved. Pour into pans to about ½ inch in thickness and chill. Cut into 3 inch squares and serve on bed of crisp lettuce [illegible] of Molded Cheese [illegible] with Mayonnaise [illegible] or pickle.

Molded Cheese—Blend 2 packages cream cheese [illegible] cup milk [illegible] teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon paprika [illegible] until very smooth. Soak 1½ tablespoon granulated gelatin in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes, then dissolve over hot water. When gelatin is dissolved stir into the cheese mixture. Add 8 Stuffed Spanish Olives, diced and ½ cup finely diced celery. Pour into pan to ½ inch in thickness and chill. Cut into squares and serve one on top of each serving of Tomato Aspic.

Fruit Ginger Ale Salad—Soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in 3 tablespoons cold water for 5 minutes, then dissolve in ½ cup boiling water. Add ¼ cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 cup ginger ale. Cut ½ cup Malaga grapes in quarters and remove seeds. Separate 2 oranges in sections and dice. Drain bananas. Slice 1 small banana. When ginger ale mixture begins to thicken, fold in fruit and ¼ cup chopped nuts. Turn into a mold which has been dipped in cold water. Chill. Remove from mold, garnish with crisp lettuce leaves. Serve with Fruit Salad Dressing.

Romaine and Endive Salad—Separate leaves of romaine and endive, wash thoroughly and put in ice water to keep crisp. Lay three or four slices of avocado lengthwise on a leaf of romaine. Garnish with strips of red or green pepper and serve with French Dressing. For a more hearty salad, add equal quantities of chopped celery and chopped green pepper with a little Mayonnaise to hold them together. Fill the stalks of endive with this mixture and lay on the romaine leaves. This may be served with French Dressing or any other desired variation.

"The Gift With The Giver"

"Here, take this little plant. I want you to have it because I love the bowl it is growing in. I brought it back from the home state and have always treasured it."

"Then why do you give it to me when you love it so?" we protested.

"That's what makes it a gift," she replied, "my loving it and wanting you to have it?"

Thoughtfully we carried home the plant in its quaint little yellow bowl with two handles. We gave it an honored place in the room where we could see it often. Here was a real gift. A gift with the giver. Some one cares and made a sacrifice to show it. Small wonder that life seems a bit sweeter and we lift our heads with renewed confidence.

It is this kind of a gift with the giver that many a Northville woman has been making to her life companion during the past few years—and half of the time he never guesses the cost.

It is the kind of gift that many parents are making to their children to give them the education they missed. One mother told us recently that she went through the winter with one good pair of stockings, washing them at night while her son was in college. (We hope he wasn't "sporting" gay ones.)

It is this kind of gift that calls folks from the cozy comforts of home to brave bad weather to be loyal to their churches. They do not call it sacrifice.

It is this gift with the giver that makes grown-up children look back with happy memories upon homes where mother and father read, sang and played with them. Was the carpet threadbare or the furniture worn out? What of it?—

Treasured in memory for years are the small acts of generosity that sprang from the hearts of neighbors. That warm pie handed over the back fence when we were new comers, the offered ride to see the new places of interest in the western home, the invitation that came with no "paying a debt" feeling that rosebud for the new baby—

After all, it isn't so much the value of a gift as the way it is given that counts (which reminds us of the preacher who thanked a friend for the brandied cherries saying, "I especially appreciate the spirit in which they were sent."

Cream Rhubarb Pie

This is the season when the tang of rhubarb will be the right spice. Stew enough fresh pie plant for pie. Add 1 cup sugar and the yolks of two eggs. Add a little flour or cornstarch for thickening. Stew and flavor. Put in baked crust. Make a meringue of the egg whites. Put rhubarb in a baked crust. Cover with meringue and brown.

The Availability of Good

MANY individuals, voyaging on the troubled sea of mortal existence, may be likened to boatmen rowing against the tide. With strenuous and ceaseless effort they work as though against a power which they believe will, if not opposed, sweep them in a direction the very opposite to that in which they have set their course.

To each individual the desired haven is his highest concept of good, that state of human experience which he believes will bring him satisfaction and freedom from further struggles. Some strive to gain possession of something which they believe has been denied them, and others to recover something which they appear to have lost, such as health, harmony, opportunity, success, home, companionship, and the like. The tide against which men row is belief in evil in all its forms, including lack, limitation, poverty, and discord, and the boat in which they embark is the craft of human thought, which, when not steadied and borne along by the spiritual understanding of God, may be turned completely out of its course.

The teachings of Christ Jesus never indicate that men must struggle against evil as something real in order to gain good, since he said, "Fear not, little flock: for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." We may take this kingdom as denoting all that is good, satisfying, and needful, and the daily life of the Master was a testimony to the truth of his statement, for never at any time did he experience lack or limitation. Who that has studied the Gospel narratives can picture the gentle Nazarene struggling against evil as if it were real or powerful? He knew, without a shadow of doubt, the power, presence, and availability of good, and refused to acknowledge evil in any form as having power, presence, or reality. He accepted good and used it. Health, opportunity, supply, and dominion he proved to be available to all men, for he did not limit the availability of good to his own experience. On the contrary, he said that his followers should repeat his works. The great necessity of mankind is to awaken to these facts and to realize that Christ Jesus spoke no idle word. He meant what he said, and would not have said it if he had not known that what he demanded of his followers was possible of fulfilment by them.

When a right-thinking individual finds himself confronted with the choice between two things, one good and the other bad, he chooses the one he believes to be good.

On page 4 of her book "Pulpit and Press," showing the individual ability to utilize good, Mary Baker Eddy writes, "You have simply to preserve a scientific positive sense of unity with your divine source, and daily demonstrate this." In Christian Science we learn that the source from which man springs is perfect and infinite Mind. Therefore, in order to feel this "sense of unity" we must entertain thoughts which are pure, good, true, wise, and intelligent. Such thoughts are natural to us, for they are the substance of our true selfhood. This perfect selfhood is not in matter, but in divine Mind, for Mind expresses itself only in spiritual ideas, and man is that very expression. When we cease our vain struggling against evil as real and turn humbly to God, praying with confident expectancy for that which will meet our need, and leaving the issue in God's hands, we shall find that positive thoughts come freely to our consciousness. Holding to these with firmness and assurance and mentally declaring the supremacy of good, we shall find ourselves lifted above the tide of error, and steadily carried in the right direction by the current of good.

From the foregoing facts it will be seen that we do not reach our desired haven by ignoring evil and drifting with the tide. There is much work to be done, but it is primarily mental, and has behind it the omnipotence of God. Our mental state determines our human conditions. With positive and fearless thoughts within, we shall find our human affairs taking on a new aspect. And if at first it seems difficult to listen for God's thoughts, let us begin by expressing the blessed qualities of cheerfulness and gratitude. These are buoyant qualities, uplifting, joyous, and free.

The cheerful and grateful heart will be receptive of the most lofty and gracious ideas of Infinite Mind. Faith and goodness, hope and assurance, intelligence and wisdom, are all ours if we will but avail ourselves of them. And when the frail bark of human effort is steadied and borne onward by the spiritual understanding which comes to all who earnestly seek God, it will bring us safely to the haven of our best cherished desires.—The Christian Science Monitor.

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

One cannot help but often wonder why two men with equal ability are not equally successful.

The secret lies in the fact that one has learned the power to concentrated effort and the other has not.

The unsuccessful man fails to see why he has not succeeded while the more fortunate one does more work easily and subsequently better. No one has ever been successful without having a definite goal in mind yet at the same time being cognizant of the details necessary to obtain that goal.

By the same agreement the unsuccessful man not only loses sight of the goal but also of the details that would carry him there. He is too apt to think the details of no importance and become lost in the things he considers trivial.

Concentration is not only essential to obtain the objective but it is equally necessary to know just how to ferret out the needed details. We live in an age of specialization and in order to succeed one must fix their attention on one thing.

A brilliant mind can scatter his talent heedlessly while one less gifted can succeed by harnessing his concentration on one definite objective, and keep the mind focused there.

Long, hard, arduous practice is the answer to such a habit and though it may exhaust us at times physically and mentally we can master it eventually and ultimately succeed.

Once we have the knack of this imbedded within our conscience our power of succeeding and reaching the goal is unlimited and that is the answer to any successful quest in life and also the answer why some men fail and others succeed.

Earliest Libraries Private

The earliest libraries in the Colonial period of America were private. Among the notable ones of this kind were those of Elder Brewster of Plymouth, Governor Winthrop of Connecticut, Dr. Cotton Mather of Boston, Col. Ralph Wormeley of Virginia and Rev. John Harvard. Toward the end of the Seventeenth century the Bray parish libraries began to appear. These were collections mainly of religious books sent to America through the efforts of Rev. Thomas Bray of London. The first subscription library in the colonies was projected by Benjamin Franklin in 1731 in Philadelphia.

Kensington Palace

Kensington palace, in the southwest corner of Kensington gardens, is a quiet, somber brick house, says a London correspondent in the New York Times. Its very early history is obscure, but it appears to have been bought for 18,000 guineas in 1689. William and Mary were the first royalty to live there and they had Christopher Wren rebuild it for them. This palace, too, is celebrated for its gardens. Mary had some of them planned in the ornamental Dutch style. The house contains some fine work by Wren, especially the plain oak staircase and paneling.

Senator Sherman and Alabama

Although an Ohioan—Senator John Sherman introduced in congress the bill providing for the readmission of Alabama to the Union in 1868, the Ohio legislature protested. The Buckeye lawmakers were opposed to what they termed "forcing on a sister state a constitution made by disfranchising anyone who refused to take a test oath in favor of negro suffrage."

James—Three.

The best offer I got was $40.00, which seemed ridiculous so I decided to keep it, when a woman I knew advised me to polish it with Liquid Veneer and that I would easily get more money. I did and made such a swell job that I sold it for $90.00.

This TRIAL PLAN

enables you to try an electric range in your own kitchen—

WITHOUT ANY OBLIGATION!

WE WANT to give you an opportunity to TRY electric cooking in your own home before making an investment. We want you to learn for yourself just what electric cooking will do. To this end and for a limited period, we will install an electric range without initial charge, and let you use it for six months, removing it without charge if you do not like it.

During the trial period, you pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense.

We want you to discover that electric cooking is not expensive and that it gives you better cooking, with more certainty, and less effort. Once you have enjoyed the delicious flavor electric cooking imparts to foods, its cleanliness, its coolness and its convenience, we believe that you will never again go back to any other method of cooking.

Applications for ranges on trial installations will be taken care of in the order they are received. Call any Detroit Edison office.

Enjoy These Advantages of Electric Cooking!

- CLEAN. Electric heat is as clean as sunlight. There is no smoke or soot to soil kitchen walls and curtains. Cooking utensils remain bright and shiny after long use.
- HEALTHFUL. Electric cooking seals in nourishing juices and natural elements in meats and vegetables. Important food values are retained.
- WATERLESS COOKING. With your electric range you use no water for roasts and only half-a-cup for vegetables.
- MODERN. In attractive and striking designs, these electric ranges do much to brighten and add a feeling of movement to your entire kitchen.
- FULL FLAVORED. Electric cooking has a deliciously different flavor—a natural flavor in foods. Meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices.
- INEXPENSIVE. Electric cooking costs less than a cent a meal per person.
- SAFE. An electric range supplies only pure heat from a glowing wire—there is no flame, no smoke, no fumes.

A study of one thousand families using the electric range showed a cooking cost of LESS THAN 1¢ PER MEAL PER PERSON

GOOD SCHOOL IS DEFINED BY AMERMAN

Inspector Praises Northville School and School Board After Visit Here

If seven persons were to answer the above question, as many different replies would be forthcoming. However, I believe that all seven answers would contain certain common ideas. Let me suggest a few:

We can all agree that the type of people in the community, their progressiveness, and the quality and quantity of the public spirit has much to do with the school system and its policies.

If the community wants good schools it will have them. It will elect public-spirited, self-sacrificing men to the school board who will see to it that schools are supplied with the best in buildings, equipment, and teaching staff. In other words, the community will insist on providing the best possible means of education with every school dollar invested.

Our state high school inspector found many of these elements in the Northville schools. He had praise for the board of education for their tireless efforts to keep the school open, and to meet salaries, bills, and bond payments on time. He commended them for their business-like methods in keeping records, in employing an efficient teaching staff, and otherwise conducting the affairs of the schools. They serve without pay.

It was apparent to this official that the teaching staff is well qualified, alert, and efficient. Through personal sacrifices they have enabled the board of education to keep the schools running through many weary months. Without such a group of loyal teachers, no community can have a "good" school.

The attitude of the community is reflected in the manners, habits and responses of the pupils. I am glad to say that Northville can boast of a student body second to none in the practice of good citizenship, and in the ability and desire to receive an education.

What makes a good school? Again I say that opinions vary, but that certainly the elements mentioned are among them. Let me repeat them in closing.

1. The proper community spirit toward good schools.
2. A conscientious, business-like board of education.
3. A loyal, and professional-minded faculty possessed with the desire to serve.
4. A keenly awake student body, filled with the ambition to learn and to grow into useful citizens of tomorrow.

Northville has a good school, and no one person should be given the credit for this condition. All factors working together can make of our school one of the best in Michigan. This is our goal.

R. H. Amerman,
Superintendent.

GERALD'S HOBBY

Here is a hobby that is the envy of most every boy—collecting baseball players' autographs. Gerald began this hobby last year during the baseball season. He goes down to the locker rooms at Navin field and waits for the players to come.

Gerald has autographs of the great Greenberg, Gehringer, Jo-Jo White, Marvin Owen, Morgan and Goose Goslin. He hopes in time to get many more to fill this interesting book of his.

Gerald has also had the pleasure of speaking to these star baseball players. He has spoken with Greenberg and Gehringer. He says they like to talk about some other subject than baseball. Baseball is Gerald's favorite sport and of course this hobby means a lot to him.

PROM HIGHLIGHTS

The biggest social event of the year, the senior prom, opened with the strains of "Clouds," April 26, 1935.

Max Gail, well known in Ann Arbor and Detroit college circles, furnished the music which was exceptionally good.

The gym was decorated with fourteen hundred balloons. The orchestra platform represented a terrace with yellow and blue awnings and ferns and plants attractively aranged.

Punch was served during intermission by Dorothy Schweizer, Jessie Hanna and Catherine Bongiovanni.

The grand march took place at 10:30 p. m. and was led by Tom Carrington and Helen Christensen, very pretty in light blue taffeta.

The senior class was honored by the presence of the "Dancing Ballers" who put on specialty dances.

The programs were handed out by two lovely children all dressed in white, Anna Jean Flaherty and Robert Boyden.

During intermission at 11:45 the majority of the balloons were broken.

Mary Anna Condit in yellow pique, was seen with Dayton Deal.

Catherine Robb, in white crepe, enjoyed the evening with Monroe Weston.

All of a sudden, all I could see was ruffles but after careful observation found Winifred McCardle under the pink ruffles and with her was Melvin Leland.

Sallee Richardson, dressed in pink lace, was escorted by Jack Watson.

Another alumna, Gertrude Deal, attended the prom with Hugh Horton.

Marion Turnbull made the crowd gasp in a white crepe formal and was well taken care of by Henry Hoffman.

Dorothy Flaherty, in pink net, was escorted by Jack Flaherty.

Olive Soper looked very pretty in light blue crepe with Melvin Kliken.

Phyllis Flaherty, in blue lace, was escorted by Robert Litselberger.

Dorothy Richardson, clothed in green taffeta, danced with Don Bray.

Flora Mae Conklin, looking unlike a school girl, dressed in a pink crepe formal, was escorted by Kenneth Porter.

Peggy Blake, gowned in flowered organdy, was with Warner Neal.

Ada Wheaton, in pink crepe, enjoyed the evening with Bob Gotro.

Jane Grosvenor looking very lovely in blue taffeta, was attended by Harry Richardson.

Avis Perry, with Wert Van Slyke, was in pale blue satin.

Evelyn Ambler in yellow taffeta, was properly escorted by Irvin Marburger.

Frances McLoughlin, very gorgeous in red and white organdy, enjoyed the presence of Charles Strautz.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The girls are still working hard on the Morse code. Marjorie Hein has passed her second class Morse code test.

Monday afternoon after school the girls are going to hike to Yerkes woods and have dinner there. The second patrol will furnish the food.

Orange And Black Reporter Tells About Marianne Nelson And Her Trip To Sweden Next Month

(By Ida Altman)

We have found the happiest girl in school. Marianne Nelson and why? Because she is sailing for her native land, Sweden, May 25. Who wouldn't be happy? Marianne is going to visit the town in which she was born, which is Eskilstuna. This town has about thirty thousand people. It is very famous for making knives and other articles of iron.

Mrs. Nelson is going with Marianne. They plan to visit Stockholm and various other little towns and cities. The boat leaves Sweden on August 30, so they will have three glorious months in Sweden. The boat they are sailing on is the Gripsholm.

Marianne plans to visit her grandfather who will celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday on August 7. He lives near Eskilstuna.

Marianne is fortunate in knowing how to speak the Swedish language, so the trip will be educational as well as a pleasure.

The boat is stopping at Halifax on the return trip.

We all envy Marianne I am sure, and wish her mother and she bon voyage.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Thank You

The senior class and others who have anything to do with the class wish to thank the owner and manager of the Penniman-Allen theatre for allowing them the opportunity to use the theatre for their graduation exercises which will be held on June 6. We feel sure that not only the seniors appreciate this, but also many others of the citizens who live in Northville. In the previous years the seniors have used the Wayne County Training school.

Seniors To Skip! But When?

We believe that the senior class is planning a skip day but when it is going to be we couldn't say. That is a question which is upon every senior's tongue these last few days. Where are the seniors going on this day which is usually taken off by all seniors? Why is it that the skip days are always kept so silent between the various class members? We will leave that question up to the former alumni.

N. H. S. WINS RECOGNITION OF MICHIGAN STATE

One day each year at Michigan State college a program is given for the selected girls of various high schools in the state to help them decide whether or not they would be interested in taking a college course in Home Economics and to have them meet girls from other schools wishing to do similar work.

This year the program will be given on Friday, May 10.

The two girls chosen to represent Northville high school are Helen Christensen and Winifred McCardle, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Zimmerman.

All girls must be registered by 10.00 a. m. After registration the program will begin. First, a demonstration on interior decorating. Then a demonstration and selection of clothing. After this there will be a talk on the opportunities for trained Home Economic girls.

The day will end with a special luncheon and trip around the campus, pointing out the places of beauty and interest.

This will be the first year that Northville has ever been represented at such a program. If it proves a success three senior girls will be chosen to represent Northville next year.

DEPARTMENT NOTES

Miss Palmer's Latin 1 pupils are preparing for their Roman banquet. Nancy McLoughlin is chairman of the group who will select the play.

Mrs. Zimmerman's cooking pupils are now cooking foods for dinner.

The ninth grade sewing girls are sewing on their last project which is a summer dress out of finer material.

The typing II classes, under the instruction of Mrs. Taylor, are taking speed and accuracy drills. The pupils with the highest averages are: Alice Masters, Dorothy Richardson, Edith Barley, Isabel Tewksbury, and Mary Louise Boyden.

The pupils are now working on their budgets. A few have already completed them, and the whole class is striving to reach the 60 words per minute goal.

In the typing 1 class Kathleen Rinck has twice typed 32 words per minute without an error. This is excellent work, as the goal for this class is 25 words per minute. Bob Lyke is next with 22 words without any errors.

There have been great numbers of pupils out of school in the past few weeks with the two popular diseases, measles and whooping cough. The number absent from the grade school on April 29, was thirty-five although some have returned since that time. Pete Spagnuolo is the only one in Mrs. Babbitt's room who has been neither absent nor tardy the second semester.

Pictures Are Taken

Last Tuesday the students seemed to be very busy having their pictures taken. Almost every class was interrupted by either Donna or Spencer who stuck their head in and shouted "Baseball pictures taken next." Then the teacher would announce this to the students and sometimes half of the class walked out. Why can't the teachers have one day without being interrupted by someone?

Just One More Month

Just one more month from now the seniors will be leaving on their trip for Washington, D. C. The seniors are planning on having a wonderful time on this trip to the nation's capitol. Already thirty-one members of the class are sure that they are going on this trip. However, this is not definite as yet. The ones who will go on the trip will probably be named in about three or four weeks. Also they haven't decided as yet to the trip which they will take. They have two to choose from, a five-day and a six-day trip.

SENIORS GIVE SPECIAL THANKS

The senior class of 1935 wishes to thank the people of Northville for their kindness and co-operation during the senior prom.

Special thanks go to:

N. H. S. MEETS BERKLEY HERE ON MAY 3RD

Northville Opens Track Season at Home With Hopes of Being Champions

After the first two scheduled track meets were postponed, Berkley comes for the first meet on Friday, May 3, at four o'clock. This meet will be held at the fair grounds.

Last week Northville toook every first place in a meet held at Milford, but Berkley is a very strong team and it is undoubtedly between Northville and Berkley as to who will be the 1935 track champions of the suburban league.

Last year the Northville boys were league champions and are hoping to repeat again this year. So far things look very good for Northville, with more men out than there were a year ago and everyone turning in better time.

The final score will undoubtedly be very close and there are bound to be some very exciting races.

SENIOR PROM RATED A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Another attendance record was made at the Walled Lake high school Friday evening when the senior prom attracted the largest group ever to participate in such an event here.

Japanese-like decorations, soft lights, a perfect floor, and excellent music by the Red Theis orchestra combined to make a delightful evening. Refreshments of iced tea and wafers were in keeping with the decorations and about 150 couples were served.

Another attractive social event will be the J-Hop on Friday evening, May 10, invitations for which are now being distributed.

THE OBSERVATION COLUMN

A very prominent junior girl is going to be observed. Describing her is an enjoyable task. Her hair is a natural wavy brown and her eyes are hazel. Often times people speak about her nose, which is very well shaped and a little pointed. She belongs to the choir and glee club.

In her spare time she practices the piano which she plays very well. She reads a great deal and likes to dance, swim, play tennis, hike, go to the Cass theatre, and entertain a certain junior boy. Last, but not least, she is a member of the Simple Simon's.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Spencer Van Valkenburgh

"Spence" is a home town boy. He was born in the flourishing little town of Northville on March 28, 1916 and has lived here since that time.

"Tarzan," as he is called by all the boys, is an active member of the N-club and an extremely active member of the senior class.

Spencer is very much interested in baseball. He was manager of the high school baseball team in the ninth and tenth grade. "Spence" also has a fine baseball scrap-book in which he keeps all the baseball pictures he can find. He was manager of the basketball team in the tenth grade.

He likes to handle money. He was the treasurer and secretary of the N-club in the eleventh and the twelfth grades. He was treasurer of the student council in the twelfth grade. He was also president of the class in his freshman year.

"Spence" has fond hopes and expectations for himself after his graduation from N. H. S. He hopes to attend Michigan State college and take up Mechanical Engineering.

Ada Muriel Wheaton

Ada was born in Levering, Michigan, on September 26, 1916. She stayed up north until she had completed the tenth grade. She then came to Northville to attend school here.

She has no special hobbies except chewing gum. She likes to dance and hike and her favorite sport is baseball.

Ada had a part in the senior play. She was a member and officer of the 4-H club for a long time before she came to Northville.

After graduating Ada wants to go to the St. Joseph's hospital in Pontiac and go in training to become a nurse.

Francis J. Woodley

Francis was born in the large city of Detroit, Michigan, on March 19, 1915. He stayed in Detroit until he was four years old. He heeded the slogan, "Go West, young man," and decided that he would go west and try to make his fortune. He went to Des Moines, Iowa. Here he stayed until he was ten years of age. It was getting quite dusty out there, so Francis came back to Detroit to live. Francis went to school in Detroit until he had completed the seventh grade and then went to West Point Park. He attended school there until he had finished the 10th grade. The West Point Park school did not have the proper means of widening Francis' mental capacity so he came to Northville for the remainder of his high school work.

Woodley is very fond of football. He has been out for the team during his entire stay in Northville high school. He also likes dancing and swimming.

His main hobby is reading books. He hopes someday to become quite a learned man.

Francis does not know definitely but he wants to attend college and take a course in Fine arts after graduation.

The sophomore class will hold a bake sale in Lyke's Hardware on May 4. It will begin at 9:30 a. m.

Christian Science Churches

"Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 5.

Among the Bible citations is this passage: (Matt. 9: 4, 5): "And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise and walk?"

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (p. 404): "Healing the sick and reforming the sinner are one, and the same thing in Christian Science. Both the sinner and the sick require the same method and are inseparable in Truth. Hatred, envy, dishonesty, fear, and so forth, make a man sick, and neither material medicine nor Mind can help him permanently, even in body, unless it makes him better mentally, and so delivers him from his destroyers."

St. Paul's Lutheran

"Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed." John 29, 29.

Besides the peculiar warning which these words of the Lord conveyed to doubting Thomas, there is a larger meaning in them that applies to the Church in all ages.

Our Lord by no means has sanctioned a faith that does not seek convincing information regarding the matters to be believed. The Lord Himself offered Thomas the evidence which led to the glad and adoring profession of the doubting disciple: "My Lord and my God."

The Bereans who subjected the preaching of Paul to the rest of the Scriptures are commanded for so doing. "Prove all things," is a standing rule among Christians. There is indeed a vast difference between scepticism which habitually questions and impugns the validity of the best evidence that can be offered and the spirit of examination which is eagerly seeking for that very evidence, and is glad when it obtains the evidence.

Doubt is not a necessary element in the search after truth, but that search can be instituted with devout reverence, in obedience to Christ who said: "Search the Scriptures." Doubt, however, leads to unbelief if not promptly checked. The searching of the Scriptures in which a believer is always engaged is not for the purpose of detecting in God's book, or for having his misgivings concerning points in his Creed verified, but to dissipate any fears that he may have entertained and to have his faith vindicated afresh.

It is to faith that God has appealed in all ages and the evidence which in all ages He has offered to faith has been in the Word that He had spoken

The hour for worship and Sunday school every Sunday morning is 10 o'clock The pastor will preach

Plastic Surgery

One of the most remarkable achievements of plastic surgery was the entire rebuilding of a girl's face after a motor car accident. In 20 operations, the surgeon made new eyelids, nostrils, and ears with skin from the girl's legs; new eyebrows from her scalp; reconstructed her mouth with an abdomen graft, and then completely rebuilt her face with skin from her arms.—Freling Foster in Collier's

THIS BUSINESS WORLD

by Robert K. Doran

THE movie industry employs some 30,000 persons in Hollywood alone. Throughout the country, in cities and towns, more than 260,000 are employed in motion picture houses. As for attendance it is estimated that close to 100,000,000 Americans attend the movies each week. A stupendous industry indeed!

GREATLY increased returns from his direct mail were felt by an Eastern businessman after inaugurating the practice of placing a sticker at the bottom of each sales letter and circular. Printed in red on white stock, the sticker read:

"If you are uninterested so is the wastebasket!

"Why not pass this along to some one whom you think might be interested? But don't forget that some day you might want to put your fingers on this self-same document. So why not just show it to your friend and then file it away for future reference?

A COLORADO store is cashing in big on an idea. Once a week this store publishes the picture of a lady leaving the store in question. An unseen photographer operating in a car at the curb, does the snapping. Thousands of local women watch the ads each week to learn the identity of the "lady of the week." The Lucky Lady is given a pair of hose. Plan is to build up mailing lists.

Cuthbert—No. I ate some German noodles and French fried potatoes for supper. I ought to have known they wouldn't agree.

The WORLD of GROCERIES

ALICE LOUISE KEOGH

Hawaii Is Farther Away From Land Than Others

Hawaii is situated in the middle of the Pacific ocean, farther away from the nearest land than any other spot on earth, writes a correspondent in the Chicago Tribune. It has been piled up by volcanoes until now the heights of Mauna Kea rise 14,000 feet above sea level and more than 32,000 feet above that profound abyss known as the ocean floor.

If the position of Hawaii is unusual, its people are even more so. They include almost every race on earth, orientals predominating. Sugar is by far the most important industry in this isolated land, and its cultivation requires a squatting position for the worker. Orientals, the prime squatters of the world, were therefore induced to go to Hawaii. A century or so ago it was Chinese who predominated. Then came a wave of Japanese, after their crowded country was opened to the world in the sixties and seventies. When the immigration restriction law on orientals was passed, a tremendous labor problem arose. Hawaii was now (1898) a territory of the United States, and labor was sought all over the world. They tried everybody from Cubans to Portuguese, but a solution was reached only with the comparatively recent importation of Filipinos (not affected by the immigration laws) who are now squatting all over the place, and mixing up with the others.

Spain's Night Watchmen Relieve Police on Duty

Every visitor to Spain, writes the Madrid correspondent of the London Sunday Observer, notices the "sereno," or watchman, who, with his pouch of keys and small oil lamp dangling from his chest and with his metalshod staff in his hand, forms one of the chief notes of city life after dark. Madrid's "serenos" come in large part from Galicia. They form the butt for much good-natured fun on the variety and musical comedy stages.

The fact that the "Madrilenos" live almost exclusively in large blocks of flats usually at least five or six stories high makes the work of the watchman relatively simple. The house porter, unlike his unfortunate colleague in France, is free of all responsibility for the comings and goings of the occupants of his house while the "sereno" is on duty.

In some Spanish towns the "sereno" wears a typical uniform, but in Madrid a flat-topped hat is his only official distinction. He ranks, however, as belonging to the "armed forces," and two years imprisonment is the minimum punishment for even the slightest assault on his person. His presence in the streets avoids the necessity for police patrols, and Madrid is probably the only capital in Europe whose streets are not regularly patrolled by policemen throughout the night.

To enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. A. D. Gallery, the members of the Five-Town club made their way to her home in Caro.

On Tuesday afternoon the members from Northville, Mrs. Wm. H. Yerkes, Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips and Mrs. Thad J. Knapp, left for Caro, being joined at Milford by Mrs. Clarence W. Hubbell. On the following day the remaining members, Mrs. J. R. McColl, Mrs. Margaret Edmund and Mrs. Lulu Wilson, all of Detroit, and Mrs. Frank Schuell and Mrs. Mosher of Bloomfield Hills were added to the merry house party.

As the women worked on their hooked rugs, inspired by their instigator in this handicraft, Mrs. Hubbell, they were given an informal resume of the current events of the world by Mrs. J. R. McColl.

Mrs. McColl is a keen student of civic affairs, being a teacher of classes in five towns.

The pleasantest kind of a time was enjoyed by these women in their visit in the "thumb." Mrs. Gallery, while not a member of this club, holds a sort of "honorary" membership, having been present in their gatherings at frequent intervals with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Yerkes.

Merry Go Round Girls Meet For Luncheon With Mrs Helen Morris—

The Merry-Go-Round girls were made welcome at the home of Mrs. Helen Morris Wednesday, April 24, for a one o'clock luncheon when she and her assistant, Mrs. Elizabeth Olde of Detroit were hostesses for the day.

Places were laid for sixteen, Mesdames Flora Babbitt and Elizabeth Clark being unable to attend.

No need to say anything about the tables. They were as always, pretty to look at and so inviting to sit down to.

All were glad to welcome Mrs. Mary Yerkes Simmons back to the fold after her winter spent in the southland; and all congratulated her on her latest achievement. We love her and want her to be always happy.

After knitting, crocheting, piecing quilt blocks and visiting the meeting was adjourned to meet with Mrs. Mary Dean, assisted by Mrs. Flora Babbitt Wednesday, May 29. It is hoped that all will be on hand to answer to roll call.

Miss Snyder of Monroe, and John Blackburn Are Wed April 26—

At a quiet wedding in the Presbyterian church on Friday evening, April 26, Miss Verell Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Snyder, of Monroe, became the bride of John Wheeler Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Blackburn. Only the immediate family witnessed the event.

Organ music softly played by Richard Shipley, added impressiveness to the ring ceremony which was performed by Rev. H. G. Whitfield.

Mrs. George Kesky, sister of the groom, acted as matron of honor and James Snyder, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Blackburn.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a brown suit with white accessories and wore a corsage bouquet of white gardenias and lillies-of-the-valley. Mrs. Kesky also was dressed in brown with harmonizing accessories and wore a corsage of yellow talisman roses.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the Detroit Yacht club for the bridal party.

After May first, Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn will be at home to their friends at 1511 Cott Ave., N. E., Grand Rapids, where Mr. Blackburn is manager of the D. and C. store.

Miss Hamilton Honored by Friends At Pre-Nuptial Events—

On last Thursday evening, April 25, Miss Edna Kreeger entertained at her home with a bridge and a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Marion Hamilton, whose marriage to Lawrence LeFevre will take place at the St. Paul's Lutheran church on May 29th.

The evening was pleasantly spent at bridge after which the honoree was presented with a pin to break each balloon which decorated the room. Each balloon contained a note informing the bride-to-be where to find the hidden gifts.

The guests were: The honoree and her mother, Mrs. C. W. Hamilton, Miss Geraldine Huff, Mrs. Jack Dewsbury, Miss Dorothy Kitken, Miss Margaret Norton, Miss Ruth Sessions, Mrs. Jas. Copeland, Mrs. Ferdinand Kreeger, Mrs. Richard Palmeter, of Wayne, Mrs. Aubrey Gates, Mrs. Edward Campbell, and Mrs. W. Curtis of Plymouth.

A bridge tea and miscellaneous shower will be given in honor of Miss Hamilton by Miss Margaret Juttner, of Pontiac, at her home this coming Saturday afternoon, May 4, at two o'clock.

Geo. Dixon Is Surprised By Relatives on His Birthday—

George Dixon was happily surprised Sunday afternoon when a company of 21 relatives from Romulus, Dearborn and Detroit walked in upon him to extend their best wishes.

At four o'clock a bountiful dinner was served, the Dixon table being stretched to its utmost limit.

The secret of Mr. Dixon's age was out when a large pyramid cake lighted with 53 candles was brought in.

Mrs. Dixon was assisted in serving the dinner by her daughters-in-law, Mrs. Howard Dixon and Mrs. Robert Dixon.

Miss Doris Leavenworth Becomes Bride of Floyd Darling—

A double wedding, a wedding anniversary and a birthday were all included in an evening full of events at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kehrl on North Wing street Friday, April 26.

Under a canopy of cherry blossoms, massed to form a beautiful bower in the living room, wedding vows were spoken by Miss Doris Leavenworth, daughter of Mrs. Edward Behrendt, of Novi, and Floyd Darling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Darling of South Lyon, in the presence of 75 relatives and friends.

To the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march played by Mrs. Loren Leavenworth, an aunt of the bride, the bridal party entered the room.

Little Peggy Ann Thompson of Detroit strewed flowers in the pathway of the happy pair and little Dorothea May Davis of Lincoln Park, carried a calla lily bearing the wedding ring.

The bride was becomingly gowned in pale blue crepe and carried roses, while her bridesmaid, Mrs. Floyd Salow of Farmington, wore a gown of a harmonizing shade of darker blue and also carried roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Wellington Armstead of East Lansing. Rev. K. S. North performed the impressive ring ceremony.

Just as the newly-weds turned to receive congratulations, the clergyman asked Mrs Leavenworth to repeat the wedding march, and to the utter surprise of the entire company, Miss Angeline Whipple and John Oliver, both of South Lyon, took their places before the improvised altar and with Mr. and Mrs. Darling attending them, these two were united in marriage.

Both young couples were heartily felicitated by their friends and the company was invited to the dining room where a dainty buffet supper was served. The bride cut the pyramid wedding cake.

Adding further interest to the occasion it was announced that two of the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Row of Walled Lake, were celebrating their eleventh wedding anniversary and Miss Maxine Jenkins of Walled Lake, another guest was celebrating her 19th birthday.

Mrs. Darling graduated from Northville high school with the class of '32 and has many friends here who extend best wishes. Mr. Darling is inspector in the Michigan Seamless Tube factory in South Lyon. The new little home was already furnished and awaiting the arrival of the young couple in Brighton.

The bride is a niece of Mrs. Kehrl who was hostess to the wedding party.

Large Liners Carry Less Cargo Than Small Ships

The larger and more modern liners carry far less actual cargo than freight and tramp steamers which are half their size. Transatlantic and transpacific express liners usually carry nothing except mail and a few automobiles.

Visitors are not allowed to enter the bridge or wheelhouse of a ship at sea during stormy weather. Some captains are very strict about this, rightly so, says a writer in the Chicago Tribune, and prohibit passengers in both fair and bad weather from visiting the bridge or wheelhouse. The helmsman (or quartermaster) has both hands on the wheel; both eyes on (1) one or the other of two compasses, (2) course indicator, (3) rudder indicator, all of which are actuated electrically. The first (or chief) officer is another name for the first mate. His duties usually are those of navigating officer. He gives the orders, direct or indirect, to the quartermaster, who always repeats the order and shifts the helm accordingly. Behind these orders are scores of intricate navigating and piloting jobs that take up 60 minutes out of every hour the vessel is at sea. Mathematics, skill, and judgment are the main elements. These involve the use of instruments like sextants, fathometers, radio, compasses, barometers, anemometers, thermometers, charts, dividers, and binoculars.

Harvesting Brazil Nuts Unusually Hazardous Job

Not a harvest in the world is gathered under more perilous conditions than the Brazil nut crop. Before even arriving within sight of the wild groves, where these delicacies thrive in the "green hell" of Amazonia, the peons or native pickers, have to fight their way through hundreds of miles of swampland, infested with alligators, swimming snakes, and electric eels, while in the jungle itself the merest scratch from a liana, orchid or some other poisonous plant spells death. Jaguars are among the lesser perils.

Then, when the tiniest breath of wind runs through the giant castanha trees, 80 and 100 feet high, on which the nuts hang in great pods, each weighing, when mature, not less than four pounds, these pods hurtle to earth with the velocity of bombs. Hundreds of natives are thus bruised and maimed every season.

The deadly nuts, shells finally collected from the forest floor—climbing the trees would be impossible—are immediately packed on the backs of mules, and carried to the nearest stream, where they are washed, in readiness for transport by boat to the barracas or collecting station. Brazil, curiously, has no appetite for these luscious fruits. Great Britain and America are the largest importers.—S.D.B.19 Mag. also.

Zoo Animals Acquire Complexes

Among the curious characteristics of animals confined in zoos noted by Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of mammals and reptiles at the New York zoo, is the apparent love of sunshine shown by California sea lions which are accustomed in their native habitat to warm ocean currents and sunny beaches. On the other hand those heavily furred denizens of the Far North, often seen swimming between deep ice crevices in the wild state, the polar bears, show themselves very reluctant to plunge into the pools provided for them in zoos in midwinter. In this latter connection Doctor Ditmars declares that the polar bears probably suffer less from the intense heat in mid-summer than some of the animals imported from tropic climes. The reason for this is that the bears can quickly get relief from the heat when they do find it unbearable by plunging into their own private pools.

Ancient Shorthand

The art of condensed writing is no modern invention. The Egyptians used shorthand more than 1,700 years ago, according to evidence collected by H. J. M. Milne of the British museum, London. The language of the shorthand was not Egyptian, but Greek, and Mr. Milne recently announced the discovery of a key to the ancient Greek shorthand, opening up to archeologists and historians many priceless, but hitherto indecipherable scripts.—Literary Digest.

Old Prison, Family Home

In Madrid the small building used as the prison for its Inquisition still stands on the narow street named for Queen Isabella. This building, close by the university (which itself occupies the confiscated buildings of a Jesuit monastery), was stormed by the revolutionists of 1820; it was later used as a soldiers' barracks and is now owned by a private family. It has about it still the air of a prison.

Florida Entertained More Tourists In Past Winter Than Ever, Even In 'Boom' Years, T. G. Richardson Says

Full of vigor for all his years and well bronzed from the tropical sun, T. G. Richardson, better known as "T. G.," came to Northville the latter part of last week from Clermont, Florida, where he has been operating his Palm Park Inn for the past 11 years.

He was also full of enthusiasm for Florida, praising it as the ideal vacation land and declaring that it is fast becoming the "Garden Spot of the United States."

The past winter saw the greatest tourist crowd that ever came to Florida, he said, and that does not except the "boom" years either.

"We have it all over California," T. G. said. "We undoubtedly have a better climate. Of course we suffered an unusual cold wave there for two weeks this past winter that damaged the fruit, but with the exception of that the temperature remained between 75 and 85 degrees.

"And Florida is much more easily accessible to the eastern and central states than is the west coast. That makes a big difference," he said.

Mr. Richardson greatly admires Florida people, and mentioned the storm of 1928 which caused such vast property damage and loss of life in the Lake Okeechobee section, and the disastrous hurricane of 1926 which swept the east coast. But those people down there would not be discouraged but came back to make their land more beautiful than ever.

His life there at Clermont is a busy one, T. G. said. He is up early and in bed late and is on the go all day long taking care of his business which, incidentally, he said, enjoyed one of its best seasons during this last winter.

Notwithstanding all of his enthusiasm for Clermont, which, he said is one of the prettiest places in Florida, T. G. still thinks there is no place like home and that Northville looked better to him when he returned than any part of Florida one could mention.

GRADE NOTES

The morning section of the kindergarten is making a movie of the story "Little Black Sambo." The afternoon section visited the post-office last Thursday. They mailed a letter to Betty Baughman who was ill. They also learned a song about the postman.

They went for a walk in the woods and picked a few flowers. Miss Jarvis' first grade went with them.

Miss Corrin's pupils made exercise and accident posters. They are now making outlines in geography on the northeastern states.

Lorraine Lapham, Gerald Miller, Gladys Bedore, Kenneth Bartrum, all of Mrs. Congo's room, have been neither absent nor tardy.

Lorraine Reiger of the first grade has returned to school after a long illness. The first grade has the P.-T. A. picture in their room this month, which is given to the room having the most parents present at P.-T. A. meetings.

Mrs. Renz's pupils are learning a new song, "Rainy Day," also discussing rain and its aid to humanity. In addition problems involving carrying, they have been doing very good work. They have also been bringing in spring flowers, learning the names of them and drawing free hand pictures.

Peggy Ely of Miss Leonardson's room brought her Easter plant to school so that the rest of the children could enjoy it with her. Miss Leonardson's children are making May baskets to deliver at the homes of the children who are out due to illness. May Day is Child Health Day and they are planning a varied program.

Miss Reincke's room had a party in honor of Sidney Lamy as the fifth grade spell-down winner. They made some nice free-hand drawings of spring flowers.

Theorbo, Large Lute

The theorbo was the large double-necked bass lute much used during the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries as general bass in the orchestra. The body of the instrument was constructed on the same principles as that of the lute, being made in two sizes, the ordinary instrument in use measuring about 3 feet 6 inches, and the Paduan, also known as archlute, about 5 feet. The Roman theorbo frequently stood over 6 feet high.

LEGION, AUXILARY TO SELL POPPIES SATURDAY, MAY 25

On Saturday, May 25, Poppy Day will again be held in Northville by the Lloyd H. Green American Legion post No. 167.

Members of both the Legion and the Legion Auxiliary will distribute the bright red flowers on the streets.

Wearing the poppy is the individual act of tribute to the world war dead, Legion officials said. Poppies will be offered in exchange for a contribution for the welfare of the war's living victims.

No price is asked for these little flowers which have been made by disabled veterans. The amount of money is a voluntary matter. A few pennies or a ten-dollar bill will both be welcome. The same symbolic poppy will be given for each.

The money going into the coin boxes of the poppy workers will all be expended in the welfare work of the Legion and Auxiliary in the coming year, and the bulk of it locally.

Saturday, May 25, is the only day upon which the Legion will sell poppies, Claude Ely, post commander, said. Any poppies sold here on other days will be sponsored by outside organizations.

Irish Wolfhound Tallest of Nobility's Guardians

No color could better describe the Irish wolfhound than purple. Majestic, impressively stately and aristocratic, this tallest of all dogs was developed amid the very purple of royalty, asserts an authority in the Los Angeles Times. Guardians of nobility and their companions in the chase since the year A. D. 391, one readily associates this picturesque being with polished armor and tarnished tapestries, his huge body relaxed at great length before the open hearth of kings, or his great symmetrical form bounding gracefully over the purple of his native hills, deep-roiled in the excitement and enjoyment of the chase.

Regarded as a worthy gift by friendly kings, his history, while cloaked with much uncertainty, nevertheless is plentiful in legend. The best known of these pertains to a hound named Gelert, which was presented to Llewelyn, king of Wales, by King John of England in 1205.

Standing three feet at the shoulder and carrying 100 pounds of concentrated strength and speed, the Irish wolfhound outclasses all other dogs in height, although the St. Bernard and Great Dane are heavier. Size only distinguishes him from his smaller 100-pound Scotch relative, the Highland deerhound. Priority of their respective origin is uncertain, the general belief being that the wolfhound, or wolf-dog as he was once called, is but a gigantic deerhound, produced by the introduction of Great Dane and Russian wolfhound to establish greater size. Both reveal their ancestry in the foundation stock of the rough-coated greyhound.

Species of Maple

Of the three common species of maple, hard maple is the most valuable and ranks second to the oaks in general farm use. Its wood is hard, stiff, strong, and it holds its shape very well. It takes and holds a polish and for this reason is well adapted for use on moving parts and platforms. It rots rapidly when left in contact with the soil.

Speed of Air Bomb

An air bomb dropped from a plane a mile high reaches earth in ten seconds, falling at an average rate of 189 miles an hour. A man falling from a plane with his parachute unopened travels at a rate of 118 miles an hour. Descending with his parachute opened, man moves at a rate of eight to nine miles an hour.

Early History of Rome Dates Back to 500 B. C.

Legend speaks of Rome as being founded in 754 B. C., but the actual date was much earlier—possibly as remote as 1,000 years before the beginning of the Christian era, according to a writer in the Washington Star. Originally, the settlement was only a tiny market place at a point where the territories of the Latins, the Sabines and the Etruscans met. The first step toward metropolitan status was that of fortification, and the community expanded because it was a relatively safe place to live. Its central position, certainly, favored its growth as, later, it favored its domination of the peninsula. Also, its inhabitants acquired a reputation for courage of the highest order—they fought many wars and invariably were successful. Seven kings reigned during the period up to 510 B. C., when the people revolted against tyranny and set up a republic somewhat resembling that of Athens.

Such a republic, however, did not signify a representative democracy. On the contrary, it meant rule by a minority, a small class of property owners known as patricians. For the majority, the so-called plebs, there were few privileges, few civic rights; and the circumstances led to a tedious struggle which endured for generations and was adjourned temporarily only when an alien enemy threatened.

The Gauls destroyed a large portion of the town in 390 B. C., but it soon was rebuilt and its prosperity thereafter was enhanced by successful campaigns against a long list of foes. In 264 power enough had been developed to challenge the naval might of Carthage, and the ensuing Punic wars left Rome mistress of the Western Mediterranean and of all southern Europe from the Apennines to the Straits of Gibraltar.

Argentine Gauchoes of American Cowboy Variety

The early occupation of catching and taming wild cattle and horses on the great pampas of Argentina produced a type of frontiersman somewhat like that of the American cowboy of the years between 1800 and 1880, yet more distinctly resembling the Cossack of southern Russia during the decades preceding the World war.

The gaucho was above all things a horseman, never dismounting except to sleep beside his animal. His weapons against cattle and men were the lasso and the bolas, the latter being made of balls of metal or stone, fastened together by a thong and so hurled as to coil around the legs of the man or beast aimed at, producing an immediate halt.

Round the gaucho clings all the romance of the pampas, for he was accepted as the embodiment of the primitive virtues of daring, endurance and loyalty.

Indian Head on Nickel

No particular Indian, according to the Treasury department, posed for the design on the buffalo nickel. The head is the composite of several models. James Earl Fraser, an American sculptor, designed the nickel, which was first issued in 1913. "The head," said Fraser, "is an idealized portrait and represents no particular Indian." Several Indians have obtained considerable publicity by being introduced in different parts of the country as "the chief whose likeness appears on the buffalo nickel."

Polyglot Bible

A polyglot Bible is a Bible which is published in many languages. The most important polyglots are editions in which the original Hebrew and Greek texts are given along with the chief versions in other languages. The chief polyglots are: The London polyglot, published in 1657, giving versions in whole or in part in Hebrew, Greek, Chaldee, Syriac, Arabic, Ethiopic, Latin, etc.; the Complutensian polyglot and the Antwerp and Paris polyglots.

Lemon Known to Greeks

Lemon seems to have been known to the ancient Greeks and Romans, and was probably introduced by the Arabs into Spain between the Twelfth and Thirteenth centuries. In 1494 the fruit was cultivated in the Azores and shipped to England. It is a variety of the citron, and the European lemon is the product of careful selection and cultivation.

And Here We Are

A Russian fanatic predicted the end of the world in 1008 and caused one of the greatest mass suicides in history. Within a few days, says J. W. Frost, Los Angeles, Calif., in Collier's Weekly, a wave of paralyzing fear swept over all northern Russia and the inhabitants of many whole villages killed themselves at once. In some towns large areas were soaked in pitch and bitumen, set afire and hundreds of persons at a time, holding hands, ran into them and were burned alive.

Little David listened with deep interest to the story of the prodigal son. At the end of it he burst into tears.

"Why, what's the matter?" his mother asked.

"I'm so sorry for that poor little calf," sobbed David. "He didn't do nothin."

First Real Estate Deed in Ohio Executed in 1762

Probably the first real estate deal in Ohio took place in 1762 in what is now Tuscarawas county.

Christian F. Post, a Moravian missionary of Pennsylvania, went to that section to determine the practicability of establishing a religious post there. Believing the Indians would receive him kindly, he began clearing the land and building a cabin, said to be the first cabin on Ohio soil, except the temporary shacks of traders.

With a village on the opposite side of the stream, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the redskins became suspicious and an investigation committee called him over for a conference. Post explained that he had come to instruct them in the arts of living and agriculture and to administer the word of God. The land, he told them, was needed for raising vegetables.

His manner of presentation, manifesting sincerity, so impressed them that they agreed to let him lay off a square tract 50 steps on each side. Captain Pipe stepped off the plot, drove stakes at the corners and in Indian fashion deeded to the missionary his right to the land. The agreement was evermore respected by the Indians.

Time Standards

The earth turns on its axis every 24 hours, rotating from west to east. Sun time is taken from the time when the sun apparently crosses the meridian at a given place. Since this changes as one goes east or west, it has been necessary to establish different standard time zones, based on the meridians, 75, 90, 105 and 120 degrees West, in this country. Places within about 7½ degrees of each of these lines of longitude take the time at these meridians as their standard, no matter what their local or sun time may be. Many cities adopted a daytime saving time for the summer months, advancing their clocks an hour so as to take advantage of the early morning light and to save light and fuel in the evening. The United States time zones, running from east to west, are eastern, central, mountain and Pacific. The continental railroads adopted these standards as early as 1883 hence the term, railroad time.—Detroit News.

Smooth; Smoothe

There is no known reason for spelling smooth without a final e, for it rimes with soothe. In the period about 1870, in England, an attempt was made to introduce a final e, but the effort gained no permanent following. In 1887, the verbs to wreathe, to lathe, to seethe, and to soothe, were all spelled without a final e, although breathe, bathe, sweltre, and clothe (though spelled clothes) had the final e to indicate a soft th. This inconsistency was remedied in most instances; but we still have the verbs to mouth and smooth, and the properly [illegible] and with without a final e though in each instance the th is properly soft.—Literary Digest.

FARMERS WATCH ORCHARDS, HOPING FOR WARMER DAYS

Fruit growers are watching their orchards with suspended hope these days. So far prospects are good, but one experienced farmer calls attention to the fact that for a number of years a freeze has come about the middle of May.

Last year a promising peach crop was utterly blighted by a freeze and the cherry crop too was shortened.

This same observer reminds us that a few years ago small apples were frozen upon the trees in May.

"If we get by the next two weeks we are safe for a good fruit crop," he predicts.

The frost of Tuesday night and the continued cold weather of Wednesday night when sleet and snow mingled with the rain had no harmful effects on the fruit crops, local farmers say. Until after the blossoms have appeared, the fruit will stand quite a lot of cold.

MEETING HENRY FORD

One of the most satisfying experiences of the Record editor for years was a visit for a few minutes last week with Henry Ford. Meeting him in Northville as he talked over the site of the proposed new plant here, we found what thousands have learned, that Henry Ford is a most human and delightful personality. It was truly an inspiration to talk with him.

Mr. Ford does not impress you with his automobile genius when you visit with him. The world knows him for that genius, of course, but as you talk with him, you are captivated by his great interest in life. Alert, keen and with a great interest in people and in the happenings of such a small community as Northville, Mr. Ford shows a side that you had not anticipated. When he stops to listen to the birds you are touched by his imagination and love for the beautiful. When he talks about his good Northville friends and shows interest in them, you forget about his world-famous achievements in the industrial world. When he asks whether you have been to see Greenfield village recently, you realize that the sweep of his mind and heart reach far beyond automobiles, factories and power plants. That is a refreshing experience for one who is talking with Mr. Ford.

The many-sidedness of Henry Ford can teach us all a lesson. With all the burdens that must press down on him, he is wise enough to take time for the singing birds, time to visit with old friends—and new. Small wonder that he looks the picture of health and that he shows a zeal in living that is captivating. His many interests in life make him more than an automobile genius. His love of beauty, of the outdoors, his thrill from simple things, his friendships for those around him—all these fine qualities make you almost forget for a moment that he is one of the world's greatest business and industrial leaders. No wonder it was a real tonic to meet Henry Ford.

It is a really remarkable achievement that Northville is to have a week of "May Festival."

People who are familiar with such ambitious events—usually carried on only in college towns, or in cities at least four or fifty times the size of Northville—will tell you that it is an amazing fact that Northville attempts such a pretentious affair. Of course the May festival at the University of Michigan is one of the greatest affairs of its kind in the United States, costing thousands of dollars and bringing people from distant cities for its presentation. It would not be fair to compare Northville's musical week with that at Ann Arbor, yet, with a smattering of knowledge of such events, we would say that Northville's week will compare favorably with those given at some colleges and in some towns of ten thousand population.

Northville needs the reviving and inspiring touch that Leslie G. Lee, and those associated with him, are bringing to our community. Music not only has "charms to soothe the savage breast, to soften rocks, or bend a knotted oak," but it has power to bring a little more joy of living to all of us who love the "old songs," the new ones, yea, even a little jazz.

Shall we not all boost the Northville May festival with a "bang" and say with Shakespeare:

The man that hath no music in himself,
Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds,
Is fit for treasons, stratagems, and spoils;
The motions of his spirit are dull as night.
And his affections dark as Erebus.
Let no such man be trusted.

FRAGMENTARY PICTURES FROM LANSING

A writer on a small daily paper of Michigan points out that the metropolitan newspapers can only give "fragmentary pictures" of what is going on in Lansing. The reason is that the legislative machinery is so complicated and the under cover movements also so complicated that it is impossible in short space to give the exact status.

Big daily papers naturally have to print stories that the people will read "on the run"—as the metropolitan papers are usually read thus. They often print the sensational, without giving a lot of background that should be a part of the picture. They pick out the "high spots" of certain sessions and in so doing give an altogether wrong impression of what actually happened.

Then, too, some of the correspondents at Lansing have their own personal friends at the capital and it is natural that they might color news to please their friends. Certain it is that they sometimes are not as fair-minded in their presentation as they might be. Within the past two or three weeks there has been a district "editorializing" on the part of these correspondents. That is not fair.

The other day one of the correspondents of a big daily wrote a sarcastic article because of the "do nothing" legislature. In the name of reason and common sense, have we reached the point where the mere passage of laws is the yard stick for measuring the worth of our legislators? My own idea is that too many hundreds of laws have been passed. In fact the law books have been so cluttered up that every day practically every one of us is apt to break some law—knowingly or unknowingly.

If you want to get the whole picture at Lansing better subscribe for all three Detroit daily papers and combine the writings and then you will still not have the whole story.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Favorite saying: "There is no law against thinking."

Don't fret because of May's cold days. They will help a lot in bringing Michigan a big fruit crop.

We hear rumors that Northville is to get some new houses. Splendid! The town needs 'em.

A courtesy test: Ride one hundred times in one of the elevators in Detroit's big buildings and see what proportion of the riders add a "please" when they call for their floor. Our own observation is that about fifteen per cent do the operator that courtesy.

Says a Northville man: "Put this in your paper: The family automobile didn't leave the garage all day Sunday—and there was nothing wrong with it." "Mirabile dictu." There is a lot of fun just walking around Northville, but the most of us miss that thrill.

We can all be glad that President Roosevelt's radio talk Sunday evening brought cheering news that things are decidedly better in the country. Unquestionably there are many signs of business getting better, of more men going to work, of more building, of a better morale. Certainly in Northville there is the best outlook for many months. The time for gloom is gone. Let us all do our little bit to keep business moving. That brings us to the question: "Who will build the first new house in Northville in 1935?

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Do you give the Northville merchant the first chance for your business? If not, why not?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

1936 CAMPAIGN STARTS

(M. H. DePoe in Charlotte Republican Tribune)

Everyone in Washington is alive to the fact that the 1936 national campaign is already on.

The republicans, aided and abetted by one Huey Long (D.) of Louisiana, are drawing the political lines. Every speech made in congress from now on will be considered in the light of the '36 election. As soon as congress adjourns both parties will dispatch their leaders to all parts of the country to elaborate on the success or failure of the many sided phases of the New Deal.

It is practically a certainty that out of all this three-way radio debate will come a new alignment if not a new party. Some observers actually believe that President Roosevelt will be the "conservative" candidate when the thing boils down; that Wall street will accept his "radicalism" rather than take a chance on something even more hazy in government experimentation. In any event, the country is facing the longest presidential campaign in its history.

BETTER MOVIES COMING

(E. O. Gidart in The Utica Sentinel)

The wheels of justice move slowly under a democratic government, but how they do grind! The victory, won largely through Catholic leadership, over rotten movies in this country, bids fair to be clinched in the long-sought legislation to abolish block-booking—the hated system that compels the theatre manager to take the producer's output, "run of mine." He "gets it in the neck" having to pay for pictures he cannot use and keep his self-respect. The Pettingill bill, now before the national House, is aimed to do away with this compulsory "blind selling" of pictures. Among the leading groups that are backing it are:

American Federation of Teachers, Council of Women for Home Missions, National Y. M. C. A., National Y. W. C. A., National Congress Parents and Teachers, National Education Association, Catholic organizations, and Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Persons who are interested in the progress of the measure are asked to write to Mrs. Mary T. Bannerman, 1201 16th Street, N. W. Washington, D. C.

Every public-spirited citizen who loves decency and wants pure ideals for his children should give this bill his active endorsement. The churches, schools and civic organizations should pass resolutions and send them in.

DUST STORMS AND JACK RABBITS

(Upland, Calif. News)

We do not take much stock in the claim that the section of the great midwest—from the Dakotas down to the Texas panhandle — will be turned to desert on account of the recent dust storms, as bad as they were. Some people have left certain parts of the district, but with a year or two of normal rainfall we believe the land will blossom as before and almost normal conditions prevail. Those hardy midwesterners are going to put in a lot of hard work before they give up all that it has taken them years to accumulate.

While the dust storms did great damage, they resulted in at least some good in certain parts of Kansas where jack rabbits were so numerous it was impossible to raise crops. Thousands were killed by the dust. Previous to that it was the custom to organize large parties of men and women, surround a large area, corral the rabbits and kill them by the thousands.

THE FUN OF NOT BEING RICH

(Fred D. Keister in The Ionia County News)

There are advantages in not having more worldly goods than one needs for comfort.

Rich John D. Rockefeller lives in secrecy or under guard to keep from being harmed.

Ultra-wealthy persons are robbed of independence through fear of kidnappers or other criminal elements. Wealthy individuals have to be watched to save them from becoming the victims of nefarious schemers.

Not so with a fellow in comparatively poor circumstances. He may go when and where he pleases without inviting or suspecting molestation. If he has little, he escapes curious or covetous eyes. If he pays as he goes without ostentation, and expects no favors not granted others, he enjoys all the freedom guaranteed under the constitution. While he is eager for more riches, his liberties excite the envy of the overly rich man who is hemmed in by barriers of caution.

A SUGGESTION TO BOYS

(The Crystal Falls Diamond Drill)

Every boy who has attained the age of twelve or more will discover that Dad and Mother will be a lot easier to get along with this summer if he will keep the lawn mowed and free from rubbish; will do his best to raise a prize garden and flower bed and be generally useful around the house. He will discover that he will have plenty of spending money, plenty of time for fishing and swimming. And who knows—it might be arranged that he can go on that camping trip, where he can cook his own meals over an open campfire?

STUDENTS AND WAR

(Eaton Rapids Journal)

The students at Wayne University in Detroit adopted a pledge at a mass meeting which is much more to our liking than the pledge adopted by a small group at Ann Arbor earlier in the month.

The pledge goes: "We abhor the enormous evils of war and we implore the heads of our government to use every effort to avoid it, but if called upon as citizens of America to defend their country in a just war, we pledge ourselves to fulfill our duty. We are for peace, not pacifism."

TOWNSEND DECLINES PRESIDENCY

(Cassopolis Vigilant)

Dr. Townsend says he is not suited to be president of our country. That makes it unanimous.

FOR BEST RESULTS USE RECORD WANT ADS

1-MINUTE SAFETY TALKS

By Don Herold

Five Minutes a Day?

A motorist writes me:

You talk as if I wanted to have accidents. I'm not exactly craving accidents. And I don't suppose the 880,000 people who were killed or injured in automobile accidents last year were exactly out looking for accidents. An accident is an accident. That's why they call it an accident. What do you expect me to do to prevent the unexpected? I'll try anything. What do you suggest?

My answer to Mr. Motorist is: Will you contribute five minutes a day to the cause of safety?

Just slow yourself down about five minutes a day.

I believe if every driver would do this we could reduce accidents about 50 per cent in this country in a jiffy.

Our great American weakness is to "step on it." It's just a nervous habit. We wham the accelerator down to the floorboard, and then have to wait just that much longer at the next stop light.

We hurry like maniacs all day, and at night it all adds up to a saving of perhaps five minutes for the day.

Well, that's the five minutes per day I ask Mr. Motorist to give to the cause of safety.

Statistics gathered by The Travelers Insurance Company show that a definitely large percentage of accidents are caused by undue haste—by people trying to save five minutes they don't particularly need to save in the first place.

Just amble along more. Enjoy the journey as you go. Start five minutes earlier. And you may not only avoid killing somebody, but you'll keep your blood pressure down and live a few years longer yourself—and thus more than get back the five minutes a day you have contributed to the cause of safety.

Wool From Rugged Sheep Used for Carpet-Making

The bulk of carpet wool comes from Thibet, China, Egypt, Argentina, Iceland and Scotland. It is necessary to import practically all the carpet wool used in this country. A staple of great length and high resiliency is required for pile surface weaving; and in order to grow this sort of wool the sheep must live in a rugged region where they fight the forces of nature yet are able to live in the open all the year around.

Woolen yarns are bulky and soft with a tendency for the shortest fibers in the cut pile surface to work out as fuzz. Worsted yarns are finer, more wiry and tighter in twist. Worsted yarns are necessary in Brussels and tapestry weaves and are commonly used in the better grades of closely woven Wilton and the best type of washed American Orientals.

Woolen is necessary to secure plush heavier pile qualities in Chenille, Axminster, Axminster and velvet weaves.

Cotton yarn is used for warp and filling yarns because it is lighter and stronger than wool or worsted yarn.

The "Squirrel Hunters"

The "Squirrel Hunters" of Ohio and Indiana were so called because of their motley attire and wide assortment of firearms, mostly rifles, when they were hastily summoned to Cincinnati in September, 1862, to defend Ohio state against a Confederate army under Gen. Kirby Smith. They numbered 15,000 and were commanded by Gen. Lew Wallace, famous Indianian. They crossed the Ohio river at Cincinnati into Kentucky September 10, 1862, and returned three days later. They were never mustered into the United States service.

What Chiffon Means

The term chiffon has different meanings in different countries. In France it means a rag, in Rumania a bleached cotton shirting, in Germany and Austria a stout fine plain-woven linen fabric with a smooth finish, and in the United States a delicate, gauzelike silk fabric.

Automobile's Wind Resistance

The Bureau of Standards says that there is more wind resistance at the rear of an automobile than at the front. In studying problems of this kind the round drop which is curved at one end and tapers to a point at the other is a standard example of nature.

Mother—Now Harold, you must not eat all the peanuts even if you are pretending to be a monkey. You must give sister some.

Harold—But, mother, I'm pretending that sister is the kind of an animal that doesn't eat peanuts.

ONE STATEMENT WE LIKE TO MEET HEAD ON—

"All Gasolines are Alike"

IF you feel that all gasolines are pretty much alike, we make only one request. • Take on a tankful of Standard Red Crown, the Live Power Superfuel for 1935. Test it carefully for getaway, speed, hill climbing and mileage. Be critical—but fair. • We can forecast the result. The point is we know what the extra Live Power in Standard Red Crown Superfuel will do when released in any engine, new or aged. We want you to know. • Standard Red Crown also contains Tetraethyl Lead, the finest anti-knock agent. It's ready now, at the price of "regular," where you see the familiar sign—STANDARD OIL SERVICE.

Base Line School

Before 1836 our school was in Oakland county on the north side of the Eight Mile road. It was built there in about 1848. The old schoolhouse was used for about 38 years and was then torn down. Part of it is being used now by Mr. Weaver, the school director, for a granary.

In 1836 this school was built on the south side of the road which is in Wayne county. This land was donated by Mr. Gardner. It was put on a corner of his property so that it would be easier to plow around it.

Many mothers and fathers of children now going to this school attended here or taught here. When my brothers and sister came to school here their teachers were Mrs. Crowley, Miss Larson and Miss Ely, who is now Mrs. Bluhm. I have gone to the Base Line school for eight years and my three teachers have been Miss Thomas, Miss Kreeger and Mrs. Egge.

When they redecorated the schoolhouse last fall we had a new stove put in and the walls and blackboards painted.

After about a week we started to learn some of the festival songs. The first new song was "The Lotus Flower." We also started to learn "Sailor's Hornpipe," which we thought was very hard, but isn't anymore. Since then we have already learned eight songs and two dances.

One day our teacher asked us if we would like to take an imaginary trip to some of the national parks. We had two groups of children and we took two routes to Yellowstone national park. As we went along, we wrote little compositions about the different cities and places of interest which we passed. After we left Yellowstone national park we visited and wrote about nine other national parks. When we finished Mrs. Egge brought stamps to represent these parks and we put them on a map which we had traced. The compositions were put into book form and put up for exhibition with the map.

In our school we have a dental honor roll with the names of all the children with perfect teeth. We have the names of ten pupils on it.

One day a reporter of the Northville Record, Warner Neal, came to our school and asked if we would like to have a weekly news item in The Record. We thought that would be very nice and since then always have or tried to have something in the paper every week. Every month we appoint a different person to write the articles for the paper.

We have a Citizenship club in our school and have duties for the older children to perform. One person has a duty for two weeks and then we appoint someone else for another two weeks. We also have a code which all the children try to obey. I think we obey it very well. Our school belongs to the Safety club. We have patrols in all directions to keep the children out of the road. There is also a school ground patrol and captain.

Every Christmas this school has a Christmas program in which all the children take part. We give it just before our Christmas vacation. Valentine Day is usually celebrated with a party. We play games and serve refreshments.

Our teacher brought a book on etiquette, and we all thought we would like to practice manners. I think it is a good idea. I learned to set the table correctly, which I almost always did wrong. We also had points on how to greet visitors and what to talk about when a guest arrives. We gave several demonstrations.

Every Friday we have art from 3 to 4 o'clock. We drew pussy willows on black paper, practiced lettering, made monthly calendars, spattered leaves, and many other things.

For the last few years we have had science books from the second grade through the sixth grade. We have learned about many things with which we were not at all familiar. We have had many experiments and they have been very interesting.

Last year was our first year in the festival. Many of the children took part in both singing and dancing. We enjoyed it very much and it was very pretty. We expect to take part again this year.

The last thing in our school year is the school picnic. We all take our lunch and share it with the rest of the people and children. For the last three years we have gone to Cass Benton park and we will probably go there again this year. This is an unusually happy ending for a happy and busy school year.

This is the story of the Base Line school which I have written for my English class.

Eighth grade.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN

By Harrison Chandler

It's A Big Industry!

"Strike up the band!" Now that Henry and Edsel Ford have finally decided to erect a new and larger plant in Northville, everybody is happy and all hands have just finished that big sigh of relief. The suspense was awful, Mr. Ford.

Our little town will really go places now, thanks to the growth of this industry. W. J. Cameron, one of the Ford officials, made an interesting statement during the Ford symphony concert Sunday evening, which originated from Orchestra hall in Detroit, and which, incidentally we were privileged to attend. He said in discussing the Ford conception of the "Sharing the Wealth" plan, that the Ford Motor company paid out the sum of $142,000,000 during the first three months of 1935 for supplies, and paid its employees approximately $45,000,000 during the same period. These, dear readers, are tremendous figures. From now on Northville's percentage of the latter amount, at least, will increase.

He Was So Casual About It

On Wednesday of last week at the Exchange club meeting we must confess that we became very curious of a certain individual, and we realize that such a condition of mind should not occur. It was Major Floyd E. Evans, secretary of the State Department of Aeronautics, who talked to the club on the subject of aviation.

The major talked about flying his personal plane to Northville just as casually as you or I would say that we had driven our car here from Detroit. He has a new Stinson stream-lined ship of the latest design. There . . . is a real sport—flying your own plane to make that journey to Oshkosh instead of driving your car over crowded highways.

The class in aviation which he suggested for Northville, and which will be organized soon, should get plenty of applicants.

Time To Clean Up

Just to remind all you housewives and husbands, sons and daughters of housewives that Northville's annual clean-up week begins Monday, in case you haven't heard it yet, and that this year we are going to do more than ever to make the town beautiful.

Never in any spring season have we noticed so many homes per square mile undergoing their annual house-cleaning than we have seen in Northville during the last few weeks. People have been determined, it seems, to make everything about their homes shine.

So it's only a natural follow-up for people not to stop with their homes but to also get rid of that pile of ashes that the man of the house has accumulated from the furnace during the winter. And so Mrs. Northville, enlist that husband of yours and junior too in this campaign to clean up the town. And don't overlook that vacant lot next door, either. Maybe it isn't yours, but then the idea is not merely to clean up your yard, but the entire town. The fun starts Monday. See you out in the alley.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS SENIOR PROM AT WALLED LAKE HIGH

The class of 1935 of the Walled Lake high school will hold the annual senior prom in the school gymnasium on Friday evening, April 26, with music by Red Theis' orchestra.

The gymnasium will be decorated in Japanese manner with butterflies and flowers playing prominent parts. Beautiful colored lights will soften the harsh walls and add to the harmony of the scene.

Committees in charge of decorations are: Harriet Stofiet, chairman, Nonda Hillyard, Ethel Seeley, Louise Gardner, Doris Chaffy; invitations, Francis Gilliam, chairman, Bob Bauman, Lester Gerds; refreshments, Ettie Adell Richardson, chairman, Anna Sikkila, Frances Bachelor, Viola Ehricke; music, Bob Dickman; grand march, Marry Dutton, Bob Dickman.

WALLED LAKE HIGH MADE MEMBER OF N. CENTRAL ASS'N.

A letter from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools to Superintendent W. H. Taylor of Walled Lake states that Walled Lake high school has been admitted to membership in the North Central association.

Professor George E. Carothers of the University of Michigan, director of the Bureau of Cooperation with Educational Institutions, inspected the school personally and expressed distinct approval of the recent progress in the educational development. He personally congratulated Superintendent Taylor on the acceptance as few school so small in size have been admitted to membership. Membership in the North Central association includes accrediting by the University of Michigan for a period of three years and is the highest ranking any Michigan high school can attain.

Three Win Honors

Louise Gardner has won first honors in the class of 1935 of the Walled Lake high school and will present the valedictory at the class program the week of commencement. Second honors are divided between Mary Dutton and Viola Ehricke who will welcome those who come to share in the celebration of commencement time.

Louise and Mary are non-resident pupils from the Commerce and West Farmington districts. Viola lives at the corner of Halstead and Maple. All three girls have made outstanding records in high school and have participated in athletics, dramatics, debating, oratory, and music at school and in religious activities of their churches at Commerce M. E., Noll Baptist and Walled Lake Baptist.

All three of these girls plan to continue their education. Louise is enrolling at M. S. C. next September, while Mary and Viola are considering Ohio and Kalamazoo.

Win First Ball Game

Walled Lake defeated New Hudson on the visitors' field in the first baseball game of the season by the decisive score of 13-6.

Much promising new material appeared and old-timers showed up well.

The following Walled Lake high school students were awarded places on the honor roll for the second six weeks period of the second semester:

"A" Honor Roll

12th grade—Louise Gardner and Dorothy Thorsberg.
10th grade—Junior Clark.

BRIGGS SCHOOL WINS OVER PIERSON, 13-4

Enthusiasm ran high at Pierson school at West Point Park Friday afternoon when Pierson met its rival, the Briggs school, on the Six Mile and Newburg roads, in a soft baseball contest.

Both girls and boys played with equal vigor and the game ended with the close score of 18-14 in favor of the visitors.

A return game will be played on the Briggs school ground on May 10. On May 3 Pierson will meet Wilcox school on Six Mile and Middle Belt roads.

Sea Comes To Aid The Meat Hungry

Offset Higher Pork and Beef With Inexpensive Fish, Which Is Plentiful

By Mary Spalding
Consultant in Nutrition, Massachusetts State Department of Public Health

The sea has come to our rescue, following a year of drought and AAA adjustment of little pigs. Plenty of fish are in the storehouses, and more are to come from the sea. Many homemakers will look for new kinds of fish and fish recipes and use them two or three times rather than once a week as formerly.

Mary Spalding

Agriculturists tell us pork and beef prices probably will continue to go up in 1935 due to smaller amounts available and the price of feed. Lamb will be ordered more, so its price will be maintained or will go a little higher. Poultry and eggs will be somewhat higher on account of the shortage of feed. There is a fair supply of dried beans and peas. When milk is used as a supplement, beans and peas make fair protein standbys when low costs have to be considered—used baked or boiled for the adults and older children and strained in soup for the smaller children.

Fish is an excellent protein food for growth and repair of muscle and tissue. It is easily digested. It gives more iodine than meat. It does not supply as much iron as meat or egg yolk, so the homemaker must be sure to buy her dark breads, leafy vegetables, and dried fruits like peaches, apricots and prunes. She must also see that her fats are not decreased too much. Oily fish like salmon, tuna and herring will contribute fat, but fat should be added to the meal when lean fish is used.

Learn To Like Fish

It may be that more families will learn to like fish this year. In Kentucky after the drought, Kentuckians, old as well as young, learned to like carrots for the first time. The market offers unusual stores of salmon, cod, haddock, pollock, halibut, frozen fillets as well as fresh fish and kippered herring, salt cod, and shell fish, especially oysters, which are an excellent source of protein, iron and copper.

Mrs. Youngbride—I want to buy a spring hat for my husband, for a surprise.

Dealer—What size does he wear?

Mrs. Youngbride—I didn't find out. But he wears a 15 shirt so I suppose he ought to wear about a 22 hat, wouldn't he?

"What are you smiling at?" asked Noah.

"I was just thinking," replied Japhet, "how lucky it was we could go ahead and build this ark without waiting for an appropriation from Congress."

"Helldorado," Starring Dick Arlen Comes Here Saturday; Lew Ayres In "Lottery Lover" On Wednesday

Authentic in every detail, a complete California ghost-town was reproduced at Fox Moxie-tone City as background for the climatic sequences of "Helldorado," Jesse L. Lasky's Fox Film production which comes to the Penniman-Allen theatre Saturday, May 4th.

Designed by Max Parker, famous art director, it was one of the largest and most colorful sets ever erected for picture purposes.

An unusual feature of the elaborate layout was a system of rain-pipes constructed overhead to provide a downpour of water for some of the dramatic scenes laid in the village. Because of the necessity to simulate rain, it was impossible to use an actual ghost-town, although there are a number of such villages in California, Nevada and Arizona. None of the remaining ghost-towns are equipped with water-systems.

James Cruze directed this Lasky-Film special.

Heading the cast are Richard Arlen and Madge Evans, supported by Ralph Bellamy, James Gleason, Henry B. Walthal, Helen Jerome Eddy, Gertrude Short, Patricia Farr, Stepin Fetchit, Lucky Humitz, Stanley Fields and Berton Churchill.

"Lottery Lover"

Described by preview audiences in Hollywood as one of the gayest and most diverting pictures of the season, the Fox Film production "Lottery Lover," will open at the local theatre Wednesday, May 8.

This new film tells the light-hearted story of a girl-shy cadet who won the right to woo a glamorous darling of the Paris stage—with her garter as his calling card. Bashful and retiring, he tries to escape from his "ordeal" but is sent back to the fray by the other members of his gallant crew.

Winning her garter was a matter of luck. Winning her is a question of skill. One of the most entertaining and swift-moving screen stories in years is said to result from this situation.

Lew Ayres plays the girl-shy young cadet, on his first visit to Paris, and opposite him is seen "Pat" Patterson, the delightful young English actress, who appears as a British chorus girl at the Follies Bergere.

Perhaps the most important feminine assignment in the film, however, is that of Peggy Fears, dashing Broadway actress, writer and producer, who makes her screen debut in "Lottery Love" as the gorgeous siren of the Parisian revues.

"Lottery Lover" was directed by William Thiele and Al Rockett is listed as producer. The story is the work of Siegfried M. Herzig and Maurice Hanline.

L. B. SAMSEN DIES AT HOME IN OHIO AFTER OPERATION

Lawrence B. Samsen, who was associated with his father, Fred W. Samsen in the publication of the Plymouth Mail until five year ago, died suddenly on Sunday, April 21, at his home at Newton Falls, Ohio.

He had recently undergone an operation for appendicitis in the hospital at Warren, but he had recovered to such an extent that he had been removed to his home and was able to be about the house.

On that Sunday afternoon, however, he had walked about the house for a brief time and as he sat down he complained of being faint. Almost immediately he passed into unconsciousness. Doctors said death had been instantaneous.

Mr. Samsen went to Newton Falls four years ago and purchased the newspaper there and in spite of the trying business conditions there, he did much to improve the paper.

The funeral was held at the Schrader Bros. funeral home in Plymouth Wednesday, April 24, with interment taking place at Riverside cemetery.

and family.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of our father, William Salow, who passed away 4 years ago on May 3rd, 1931. The month of May is here again the saddest of the year. His memory is as dear today as in the hour he passed away. Sadly missed by

Mr. and Mrs. Edward
Salow and family.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our loving husband and father, Gustav Bernhardt, who passed away one year ago May 4.

"I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead. He is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
He has wandered into an unknown land.

"And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers
there.
And you—oh you, who the wildest
years,
For the old-time step and the glad return.

"Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There, as the love of Here;
Think of him still as the same, I say,
He is not dead—he is just away."

Mrs. Emilie Bernhardt, Henry and Frederick Bernhardt, Mrs. Ella Foreman.

HENRY VAN SICKLE PASSES ON APRIL 25

Henry Melvin Van Sickle passed away at his home on Fairbrook avenue Thursday, April 25, at the age of 77 years. He had been confined to his bed continuously since Christmas and was cared for faithfully by his wife.

Henry M., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Sickle, was born in Milford in 1858. He was married on March 27, 1888 to Miss Nettie Vradenburgh, also of Milford.

The new home was established on a farm near the home town and here the young couple worked industriously. Seven children were born to them, all of whom survive: Roy, Mina (now Mrs. Austin of Pontiac), Mary Alma (now Mrs. Wm. Van Epps of Pontiac), Ralph, Harry A., Phoebe Ann (now Mrs. Frank Heinz of this village) Hazel (now Mrs. Chas. Bradner of Detroit). Ralph and Roy live in Northville and Harry in Hudson.

Twelve grandchildren also survive.

Thirty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Van Sickle came to this community, living first on the farm home four miles west of town on the Nine Mile road and later on the farm near "Powers Station" for six years.

Retiring from the farm, for the past 17 years Mr. Van Sickle and his wife have lived in their comfortable cottage at the corner of Fairbrook and Wing streets where Mr. Van Sickle kept up his active work until he was stricken by illness early in the winter.

Of a quiet, reserved nature, Mr. Van Sickle was a man whose best qualities were known by only those who knew him well. He was highly respected by all of his friends, a kind neighbor always ready to lend a hand to help in need.

During his active years, he was a member of the Foresters and of the Maccabees. The church of his choice during these years was the Baptist and it was a former pastor of this church, Rev. A. K. MacRae, a friend for years, who conducted his funeral service.

This service was held at the Schrader funeral parlors Saturday afternoon and interment was made in Rural Hill, six neighbors and friends bearing him to his resting place: C. B. Turnbull, Andrew Lowrey, and son, Andy; H. K. Myers, Harley Van Valkenburgh and Ross Bush.

KING'S DAUGHTERS SEW FOR SMALL PATIENTS

As a result of the offering taken on Good Friday at the community service held in the Presbyterian church the King's Daughters have added $25.32 to their treasury which they will use in local philanthropy. This is a somewhat larger sum than last year and the women are duly appreciative.

At their meeting at the home of Mrs. A. E. Fuller Thursday afternoon the 20 members present sewed industriously all day and completed about 50 little nightgowns for children of the Maybury sanatorium. Several members gave additional time Friday to put on the finishing touches to the garments.

Undaunted by spring weather or housecleaning, these King's Daughters have set the date, Tuesday, May 7, as an all-day sewing bee for the children patients of the University hospital. They will meet at the home of Mrs. H. R. Richardson, on West Main street.

The busy women will pause at noon for a pot-luck luncheon.

PARENT-TEACHERS ATTENTION

The final meeting of the Parent-Teacers' association will be held at the high school on the evening of Thursday, May 9.

Instead of eight o'clock, as is the custom, the meeting will begin at 7.30 in courtesy to the program on the May Festival to be given at the Presbyterian church.

All business will be omitted and the talk of the evening will be given by C. E. Brewer, commissioner of recreation of Detroit.

Mr. Brewer will discuss practical ways and means for the continuance of the recreational program to be carried out in Northville this summer.

It is hoped that all those who appreciate what the supervised play meant to the community last summer will attend this meeting to lend their support.

The program will adjourn in time for the May Festival.

MISS CELIA HOGAN HONORED EMPLOYE OF SAN., SUCCUMBS

Miss Celia Hogan, who has been employed in the office of the Maybury sanatorium ever since it was established in 1921, died Sunday evening at Harper hospital in Detroit.

She was in charge of the sanatorium office for many years and in her work had won the esteem of all concerned. She was always devoted to her work.

She had a great liking for flowers and had a garden of her own on the grounds there. Her death has made many at the sanatorium feel that they have suffered a real loss, Dr. Henry S. Willis, superintendent of the sanatorium, said.

She was born in the northwest part of Pennsylvania. She leaves to mourn her loss a brother, Harry Hogan, in Detroit, three sisters, Mrs. Gipchell in New York City, Mrs. Sayer in Florida, and Mrs. Catherine Mills in Detroit.

Her body was taken to the home of her brother, Harry Hogan, at 1048 Vinewood in Detroit.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. You feel aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of the digestive juicy and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for a liver pill. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's. Insist on Carter's. Refuse anything else. 25 cts. (CM.Co.)
