SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 23, 1870.

VOLUME SECOND, NUMBER ONE OF THE RECORD.

A new volume begins with this number—a new year has commenced. Another long series of editorials and "localities" must make their appearance for the perusal of our readers. And now while all this reading matter is expected from us, news fresh and spicy, to please the tastes of our readers, we cannot but express a wish that they will give us the encouragement, and aid in their power, by extending the circulation of the Record. It frequently happens, that some generous citizen of the village, or surrounding country, hitherto not on the list, comes into our sanctum, and while stating that he has "felt as though he should encourage home enterprise," subscribes for the paper and says he "will always support it." Now all this is certainly encouraging, were it not that men of such a stamp lived in communities, enterprises of any sort, would scarcely be attempted, or else prove but short lived. We know however, that there are more just such men, as the above, who though heartily desiring to subscribe for our paper, either from pressure of other business, or forgetfulness, do not find their way here. All that is wanted to insure their aid, is for some neighbor to broach the matter to them, and their name and amount of subscription will very soon reach us. We hope that those of our patrons living in a neighborhood, where they do not take our paper, will exert their influence in this respect, and by so doing, they will not only be building a permanent foundation for their home paper, but will be relieving themselves of the petty annoyance of newspaper borrower.

A local paper, either must thrive successfully, gaining a surer foothold day by day, or eventually go down. Every such enterprise must result in one of the alternatives. We scarcely take up a paper from a distance, but what we come across the obituary of what was once a local paper, one which no doubt merited the good will of the citizens in its vicinity, but which failed to receive their support, until its publisher, weary and disheartened, of the trifling sustenance given him, was compelled at last to suspend its publication. It takes a smart town to keep up a paper, and wherever a local paper is issued regularly, having an income that will make it a permanent institution, that town may justly consider itself smart, in every sense of the term. Whether such will be the case here, remains yet to be seen.

For the Wayne County Record. ST. LOUIS MAGNETIC WELL.

Experience of a Northville Citizen. On my arrival I found a lively little town situated on Pine River, 32 miles west of Baglow city, in Gratiot County, containing about 1000 inhabitants.

The Magnetic water of the St. Louis spring and the many wonderful cures of different diseases produced by its healing properties has made a rapid influx of all manner of invalids to that village, to avail themselves of the blessed properties of that healing water. I found the town literally thronged with every conceivable form of suffering humanity. Every public house filled to overflowing and nearly every dwelling had necessarily become a boarding house. It would never have been in my heart to behold the suffering groups as they hover around that pool every morning, relating their sufferings and infirmities to each other. It would also give joy and gladness to listen to the many testimonies of the wonderful relief they had obtained from that healing water.

Many who came, born down with infirmities, resting upon crutches, were soon made cheerful and bappy, casting off their crutches, and walking with a single cane, feeling as good as new. Some who had been stricken down by paralysis, helpless for years were soon restored and made bappy. Others suffering with that most painful disease, kidney difficulty, invariably are cured. Dyspepsia, neuralgia and all nervous diseases are wonderfully cured.

I visited St. Louis the 25th of May past, staid two weeks. I feel well paid for my visit, as it has relieved me, I think, wholly of that most painful disease, kidney complaint, of which I have been a great sufferer for a long time.

I would most cheerfully recommend to all who are afflicted with any of the above diseases, to lose no time, but hasten to St. Louis springs, where you are sure to be relieved, if not wholly cured.

The average number of invalids while I was there, was about 500. The proprietors, Messrs. Holcomb & Evans, are gentlemen of the first order, who have invested a large capital in fitting up a splendid bath house, 174 feet long, having a center building 30 feet square, in which is erected a fountain, ever playing from the water. It contains 46 bath rooms, all fitted up in good order, whose expense of building and apparatus $13,000.

The attendants are very faithful to their charge. And they now have an experienced Physician, who is ready to give all necessary advice relative to the use of the water, or medical prescriptions if needed.

Benj. Gardner, Northville, July 11, 1870.

REPRESENTATIVE CONVENTIONS.

The Republican Representative Convention, for the purpose of nominating a candidate, to fill vacancy, caused by the resignation of Hon. Geo. W. Swift, met at Plymouth, on Saturday July 16th. After a formal ballot, Mr. James R. Hoole, of Wayne, was declared the nominee. The nominee Mr. James R. Hoole, is firmly opposed to Railroad aid, as well as any amendment to the Constitution legalizing bonds already voted, or issued, and not in the hands of innocent purchasers, but in favor of some provision, whereby innocent holders, may be saved from loss. The Democratic Convention, was also held in Plymouth, Tuesday 19th inst, and C. H. Bennett, of Plymouth, chosen as the candidate.

We learn that he is also opposed to Constitutional Amendment, as regards Railroad aid.

RAIL ROAD ACCIDENT.—As we go to press, we learn that a serious and fatal accident took place at Wayne, on the M. C. E. R., Wednesday last. By some carelessness of the Switchman, the Fast Express train was allowed to switch from the main to the side track, where it ran into a freight train, and killed two persons.

NEW STOCK OF GOODS, bought at the latest REDUCED PRICES, we are prepared to SELL accordingly. Having found by experience that it is for the best interest of our Customers as well as ourselves, to trade on a CASH SYSTEM, we shall endeavor to approach that mark as near as possible. Our reasoning in part is this; if we get cash for our goods, we can use the same money over ten or twelve times in a year, instead of once, and we propose to give our Customers the advantage of so doing. You can always find at our Store a complete stock of

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cords and Tassels, Glass-ware and Putty. Also a complete assortment of
