

THE NORTHLVILLE RECORD.

SAMUEL H. LITTLE, Editor.
SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1871.

FRANCE.

The strife between the insurgents and Versailles troops has come to an end, that is in a military point. That the former still labor will against the victory, and will secretly endeavor to incite their vengeance upon them, is altogether probable. Each now with his party is two-thirds in ruins; fresh attempts are made to fire other quarters. Not only men but women are taking active parts, and seemingly imbued with a revengeful spirit, that far intensity of purpose has no equal. Not even the terrible and revolting spectacle of a crowd of their sex being taken out and shot does not deter them from the same course. Well such odds to contend with it is fearful to contemplate the future of the country.

The Thiers government has placed the city under strict surveillance, allowing no ingress or egress, suppressing the publication of such papers as have incited the disturbance, or likely to provoke a revival of hostilities, and taking such other measures for the supposed safety of themselves, that they are becoming exceedingly unpopular with the mass who at first gladly welcomed their entry.

The assembly seem to have an eloquent on their hands in the person of the Orleans Prince, and in discussing the question of allowing them a seat in the House, or substituting them to exile, some of the members propose a postponement of the question until the war indemnity is settled, and the Germans have freed the country.

Probably no country on the face of the globe has passed through such a terrible crisis in so short a time as France. From a great and formidable Empire it has fallen to the lowest scorn of its enemies and power. Surely a visitation from God for its unparalleled career of sinfulness. No people, Spanish; no Country greater where licentiousness and all sorts of evil are permitted full sway; and a total disregard for what is right and Godly. In whom their end shall be.

From Pontiac.

From a letter from the engineer, and musician, Mr. H. McGehee, of Pontiac, we make the following extract and only wish that our mutual friend was more length in his communications:

"ALL IS WELL. I see that you are no more an isolated community. The railroad is completed. Hurrah! Success has at last crowned the efforts of the persevering citizens, and I rejoice with you. Now are all the people of Northville. I would have given considerable to have been with you at the celebration, but it was quite impossible. I have since my residence here, been in business with Geo. A. Hoyt in the Music store. I served that connection some three weeks ago, and shall soon open a store on my own hook."

Go it "Neat," and may success attend you!

A Special Offer.—We have just received the beautiful Chromo.

"ISN'T SHE PRETTY?" offered a spectator to each subscriber to Dennis Morris' Magazine, and we are not in saying that our readers would be pleased with the Chromo if they had paid the full retail price, paid for it. It is a picture subject, a fine work of art, and certainly worth more than twice the price of the subscription. Every person should secure this splendid Picture Postcard which is sent by mail post, and with it a year's subscription to Dennis' Moral Papers MAGAZINE for only $3.00. Address W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 333 Broadway, New York City.

Recitation.—Rev. G. Foster, of Howell, will deliver his Lecture before the Northville Union School, Thursday Evening, June 22. The subject will be announced hereafter.

Angels Guard your

Treasures there,

One of the sweetest productions ever published. The melody is perfect, and the harmony varied and rich. Each a piece should be in every home. Following are the words of the first verse:

"When Alice was here dear mother,
And our wife laughed in glee,
Then thy life was full of sadness,
And thy heart from care was free."

"But a change came over thy spirit,
And thy face with smile did pale,
For the darling fondly cherished,
Now low sleeping in the vale."

Chorus:

"Along the trees where birds are singing,
And the flowers are blooming fair,
Angel forms are watching o'er thee,
Guarding well your treasures there."

PLYMOUTH

USEFUL AND SUGGESTIVE.

SUNFLOWERS—An exchange says: "Plant sunflowers if there is any place about your house where water is thrown out and they become malignant. This plant has the power of absorbing malaria and purifying the atmosphere."

STARCH water that flows off the plants after passing through the soil carries with it whatever fertilizing material may contain, and absolves from the earth. If it passes down through the soil to drain, this waste is arrested.

Lemon Syrup—One cup of sugar and one-third cup of butter, rub to a cream. Then stir in the well-beaten white of one egg. Flavor with nutmeg or lemon. Just before bringing to the table add one-fourth cup of boiling water.

PASTA PARISIENSIS—Scrape off the skin smoothly from good sized parsnips, and bake in a quick oven until perfectly tender and brown. It can be done in an hour, or even less, but the time required will depend on the heat of the fire and on the size of the roots. Parsnips can be also steamed to good advantage. Both of these methods preserve the sweetness of the roots, and the baking concentrated the flavor.

HOG CHOLERA—A writer in the Chickago Tribune says: "During the fall of 1862 the disease made its appearance on my farm. I commenced to feed my hogs on apples when I found that the disease rapidly disappeared. In the fall of 1870 the disease made its appearance again. I commenced to feed apples with the same success. In fact, I never lost a hog from apples."

CORN is much benefited by a similar treatment applied in the early stages of its growth. A valuable poultice for this purpose is made by mixing hen manure, wood ashes and plaster. Keep it dry until used. A handful may be sprinkled on each hill as soon as the young corn appears. The deep color and vigorous growth will attest the efficacy of the application. Last, but not least, cut worms don't like it."

A MARRON gardener of Lake County, Ill., says that he has the most remarkable success in the use of salt upon his tomato plants. He applies it at various times during the season, and in every case its effect is marked in the increased growth of both plant and fruit. In some cases he lays the roots of low-growing plants bare, sprinkles them with a tablespoonful of ordinary barrel salt, and covers with soil. Plants treated in this way take an immediate start and develop first."

BIRCHES ON FURNITURE—Wet the part with warm water; double a piece of brown paper five or six times, soak in the warm water, and lay it on the place; apply on a fair warm, but not hot, Marion till the moisture is evaporated. If the bristles become repeated to those applications, be bent or broken, and lay 1 to 2 to the surface. If the bristles merely soak it with warm water, and lay a red hot iron near the surface, keeping the surface continually wet—the bristles will soon disappear.

FEARLESS FARM ORGANIC FEATHERS—Killers pluck and eat feathers for the sake of the contents of the quills. They leave the track which they shut up, where they have nothing to do but mischief. One that finds it out accidentally, and the rest imitate, while the other quarters afford the victim no chance of escape. It is then that both consist in getting free range. If freedom cannot be allowed, then save the rest of the feathers by singeing the tips thoroughly with coal-tar, a little diluted with benzine, and applied with a brush. When the tips are washed and dried, they are perfectly clean, and beautiful feathers are produced, and longer than the natural ones.

1870 — TO — 1871
FOR THIRTY-ONE YEARS
PERRY DAVIS

THE PHYSIOLOGICAL JOURNAL for 1870 is a bright specimen, ever vigorous, lively, and absent of the tamer. Among my letters are one on John Summons, Founder of the Woman's College; Persons Requiring Strength; How My Picture was Drawn to Mr. Mrs. H. Osgood and Development; Equal Pay for Equal Labor; The Manufacture Town; Trade and Economy in Dress; Food for Children and Workers; General How to Treat and Reform Them; The Measles and the Object of Education; My Clothing among the Indians, &c. With portraits and other illustrations. Price, 50 cent. The July number commences a new volume, so that the present is the time to subscribe, $10 a year. S. E. White, 88 Broadway, N. Y.

THE CHILDREN'S HORN—The June number which completes the ninth volume of this interesting little magazine, contains the annual rate of entering reading matter, with appropriate illustrations. Specimen numbers are sent on application or receipt of stamp for postage. T. A. Armstrong, 30 State, Philadelphia, at $1 a year.

THE LITTLE CORALINE for June closes volume twelve of its valuable juvenile. The next number bears a new volume, and also a new story, by the best of writers for children, Emily Huntington M. C. reprinted, "Summer Days at Rockwood." All new subscribers beginning with the new volume will receive the June number free. Terms, $1.00 per year, and one dollar for six months. Address JOHN E. MINNIN, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

We call attention to the valuable products of Lars Dyer & Co., of the Pacific Machine Works, Hamilton, Ohio, and St. Louis, Mo. No doubt you have seen their advertisements in the newspapers, and are more especially interested in the West, and are more extensively engaged in its manufacture. Their advertisements are full of information and facts the bill of sale.

Tom Haven's Tried Them.

Victim of Debility, who is responsible for your feet, just Not yourself, you will say, for you're doesn't care to care? That's amiable on your part.

Victim tried Ho-Ho's Kite.

Gowdywarp, with an unctuous remembrance a word were few, of course you don't think yourself responsible for your own torment. But you're, it is easy to see from your condition that you haven't tried Ho-Ho's Kite.

Baldness, it is not your fault you think, that your hair grows worse day by day. This will doesn't do you any good. Very likely, but you can be brought round for that.

Why hasn't you tried Ho-Ho's Kite?

Fried on your feet and once adequately blown hot and cold when he comes to blow him in the shape of some powerful drug, may assure the recovery of your hair.

You've taken off of us, and at the same time, we're off of you. We could not go more
