Well, here we are in the State of Iowa and village of Keokuk, situated on the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific railroad, 315 miles west of Chicago and 85 miles east of Des Moines.

The inhabitants are intelligent, enterprising, and friendly, gathered here from all parts of the Union, and some from beyond the great waters.

The school is quite large, supporting three teachers; and, judging from the large numbers of children I see pass daily, I think they must be very busy.

The country round about consists of rolling prairie, with now and then a stream whose banks are thickly lined with good-sized forest trees.

Orchards, too, are quite plenty, although about here they are still quite young and not yet yielding much fruit. Small fruits are abundant, especially grapes, which are beautiful.

Vegetation is very luxuriant, and of rapid growth. It is not an uncommon thing to see squashes which weigh 115 lbs., and other things in proportion.

Coal is used for fuel instead of wood. It makes a pleasant fire to sit by in the long winter evenings. It is also a great saving of labor for the men; for where is the man who loves to chop wood?

The school system of Iowa is considered one of the best of any State in the Union. But I will not stop to explain it at length, for I might weary you.

We are happy and content in our Iowa home; and cordially invite any of our eastern friends who may chance to come this way to give us a call.

Those of our subscribers who have remembered us in payment of subscriptions of late, will please accept thanks. The money comes very convenient in paying our own bills.

The following is the experience of a mechanic concerning the benefits of a newspaper: Ten years ago I lived in a town in Indiana.

I wish you would subscribe for the newspaper; it is so much comfort to me when you are away from home. "I would like to do so," said I, "but you know I owe a payment on the house and lot. It will be all I can do to meet it."
