THEIR THOUGHTS AND OUR THOUGHTS.

GOOD NIGHT.

Good night, dear child, good night; Sleep in thy little bed, Sleep in thy little bed...

THE DOCTOR'S OFFICE-BOY.

By Kate W. Hamilton. The short winter afternoon was drawing to a close, and the light, making its way through the dusty office windows...

name for us yet. Tom wants it 'Snayder's Cavalry,' 'cause he's captain, and he always wants everything named for him.

Joe returned these infrequent visits with compound interest, and spent a good deal of time at the office; partly because he was neither ornamental nor convenient at home...

Joe was still deep in the subject of burglars. He had explained to his own satisfaction how, after dark, they carry banners that'll shine, or not shine, just as they want 'em to; and they wear stuffed shoes that you can't hear no more'n a cat with mittens on.

life of life is not its joys or its sorrows, but its duties. There was work for him there; those who needed him, and he would not desert his post from any cowardly fear of pain.

Joe left to himself, merrily disconcerted that the office was rather dark. He stirred the coals in the grate, put on fresh fuel, and soon had a bright, dancing blaze that sent its cheery light into every corner.

exclaimed the doctor, apologetically, regretfully. "That your style of inducing customers to walk away returns is somewhat peculiar, Dr. Casey," she replied, a dash of mischief mingling with the annoyance and resentment in her look.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

A GRANT for the West—The emigrant CANADA journals may be rendered bright by making a bonfire of them. Two horns will last a cow a lifetime. Some men require more than that before breakfast.

THE man who can't afford to take a newspaper paid three dollars for another dog, Saturday, Danbury News. BUFFALO now wants a tunnel under the lake where a gale can't affect its water supply.

RABBITS are five cents each in Kansas, with a downward tendency after being cooked. NOVA SCOTIA is a part of the description of a new deodorizing agent. Perhaps that states its value.

WHEN a Philadelphia gets to laughing heartily, his family physician is called, and he is given quinine. KEVIN has decided that stalling a dog is wrong—VERY wrong, sir, but that's all.

THE New York theater managers having abolished bill-boards, the paste-men talk of calling a meeting to abolish bill-boards. PARSONS' Ecclesiastical Clergymen giving full instructions how to procure a divorce.

A MAN who has been studying the subject of the "velocity of light," says that he knows how it is that his gas bill runs up so rapidly. "PA, what can I do here in the country unless you get me a riding habit?" "Get into the habit of walking, my dear."

An Englishman, recently traveling in Wisconsin, wrote home that the West was a great agricultural country—that every house he saw was a barn. NEW YORK brides throw a bouquet at the groom as the ceremony concludes. After a week or two she finds the coffee-pot a better weapon.

UNDER the heading of "Happy Thoughts," the Petersburg (Va.) Appeal says that more sickness prevails in that city than for many years past. A LAWYER (Me.) reporter, seeing some boys skating on this ice, went and put all their names and ages, so as to save time when they got growned.

A NEW YORK street car conductor, who said "yes, madam," to a lady, has been presented with a new overcoat, and they talk of a statue of him. A NEW YORK dandy who went to one of Tyndal's lectures on "Light," boasts that she was as much enlightened as if she had swallowed a lightning-rod.

ADVERTISERS say that any full grown man can live ten days by chewing a pair of boots, and yet there are men who will grow if they don't have mince pie every meal. An old fellow in Richmond, Va., refuses to live in lone company of the Poor House baying crowd, never having had before so many neighbors who minded their own business.

THE Cincinnati Commercial speaks of a prominent individual who "got" his education in a "bank" in this way kept by the well-known Mrs. Pharaoh. CALIFORNIA has raised wheat enough to furnish the flour to put a griddle cake on rods wide around the earth in forty minutes, if any spy cack could be found to boss the job.

A PARTY of foreign noblemen are coming over to this side next spring to hunt the buffalo, pursue the Colorado potato bug to its lair, and beard the Omaha cock-roach in his den. THE following item could only originate in San Francisco: "Another California widow is to claim the sympathy of Pacific Jurymen on account of five grains of strychnine found in her dead husband's stomach."

A MAN in Virginia City has no music in his soul except when asleep. Then he sings "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother," "Anorex, an Intermittent, and starts off again on "Old Dog Tray," or other classic melody. A NEWSPAPER has delicately puts a personal item: "Those who know nice old Mr. Wilson of this place personally will regret to hear that he was assaulted in a brutal manner last week, but was not killed."

A YOUNG man who thinks he has a prodigious stock of music in his soul, subscribed for a musical monthly a year ago, but he refuses to renew his subscription, because, he says, not a single number contained a cue for the Cymbals. AT Des Moines, Iowa, a new pork-packing building was dedicated with a ball. The program provided for the "Short Rib" polka, "Clear Side" quadrille, "Cambridge Middle" waltz, "Meat Pork" sarabande, "Long Clear" Lancers, and other favorite figures.

A MAN down in Delaware, who has been enjoying the chills and fever for months, read in the paper the other day that if a person suffered himself to crawl down a flight of stairs head-first, just as the chills are coming on, it would get disgusted and leave incontinently. The Delaware man tried it, but from the want of practice or something, he came down more rapidly than was necessary—much more—clearing four steps at a time, and executing a pair of admirable flip-flops, before reaching the foot of the stairs. He had had his nose half-sold, and a court-plaster map of Boston's burnt district laid out on his left cheek and side of the head—and still he has no faith in that sage cure.

A PARAGRAPH has been going the rounds of the press since the truck-and-cake season was inaugurated, which claims that this delectable but ill-producing article of diet was wholly unknown until some time during the sixteenth century. In a book published in the twelfth century, entitled "Ye Dainties of ye Breakefast Table," the following occurs: "Ye come named Back-beating, which ye Dainties doth much love to feed, ye deemed to freeze of cakes myghty goodness. Ye boyled Speye of ye Lyncen (muple) Treo doth much improve them. Bode stomaked one save that to eat of these doth cause the much catchage, but this faples to stop the estyng of them."

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad is in running order to the western State line of Kansas. The course is from Topeka, Kan., south-westerly to the Arkansas river, thence following the course of the Arkansas river, up the valley, into Colorado.

The Russian government, with the greatest frankness, has communicated to Great Britain its plan for the coming campaign in Central Asia, and has offered to allow British officers to witness it. It proposes to limit its campaign to Khiva.

A Road Committee of Waterbury, The standing committee on Roads and Bridges in the House of Representatives at Lansing is composed of a lot of Walkers, to wit: John Walker of Kalamazoo, Arnold Walker of Ingham, Paul Walker of Shiawassee, Fred Walker of Genesee, and Levi Walker of Genesee.

New York must have made a mistake when she found Stokes guilty of murder in the first degree. It is believed that at his next trial it will be found that Stokes didn't kill Fisk at all; or, if he did, that he only committed a little paroxysm of the forty-fifth degree, or, rather, at an angle of 45 degrees. The fun of the thing is, Stokes's defense says, if it hadn't been for the 'barnal newspapers, they could have cleared him. Just as if the newspapers pulled the trigger of the pistol Stokes held in his hand. And so New York will not hang Stokes because, of course, New York would not commit a murder, and hanging a man would be a sort of murder, you know.

MRS. JONES' PIRATE

BY MAX ARNOLD - ILLUSTRATED BY C. J. HORN

A sanguinary pirate sailed upon the Spanish main, in a rickety-looking schooner which was called the Mary Jane.

His heavy black mustache curled away beneath his nose, and dropped in elegant loops over his lips.

When conversing with his shipmates he very often swore that he longed to give up piracy and settle down on shore.

One morning, as the Mary Jane went bounding over the sea, the pirate saw a merchant bark on the horizon.

He beckoned his boots, and pored his noddle and led a fresh crew; he cleaned his teeth, polished down his cuffs, and polished up his nails.

They reached the bark, they killed the crew; they threw them in the sea; and they sought the Captain, who was mad as a dog.

Then Mrs. Jones nestled up her hair and donned her best delaine, and went with Captain Jones aboard the schooner.

The pirate's claim to status she was very sure was just, when she noticed how familiarly the woman looked at him.

No sooner was the lower lobe within her bosom born, than Jones was locked upon by her with hatred and with scorn.

She glanced her eyes along the plates of brass upon each door, and then her anger rose as it had never done before.

And when she had spent on him the venom of her tongue, she seized her ponye parasol and snatched him in the lung.

Still brandishing her parasol, she fought the pirate boat; she loaded up a gun, and jammed her head into its throat.

DR. WALKER'S SPECIFIC - This is a remedial power over all disorders that do not involve an irreparable destruction of bone and fibre, and results so far appear to have justified the claim.
