PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

The True Aims and Purposes of the Grange Order.

Mr. Berrien.—As the "Grangers" have been assailed in former articles in the Ricard, and as the writers are undoubtedly ignorant of the true aims and objects of the order, I wish to state, my views of why the "Grange" was instituted, and what are its objects.

Those engaged in other occupations, organize combine, and conspire for the promotion of advancement of their special interests; whereby great objects are accomplished, great wealth is acquired, and great power obtained.

Therefore the Farmers learning wisdom from these organizations, and believing that if those engaged in agricultural pursuits are to successfully compete with those engaged in other occupations, they must organize and combine for their mutual benefit and protection, and the order of "patrons of husbandry" supplies a long needed demand which could no longer be delayed, and this is why the Grange was organized.

There should be no concealment of the aims and objects of the order, and we proclaim them to see first the increase of knowledge upon all questions which pertain to the good of mankind, and especially, to those questions which relate to our own calling, second, the improvements of our social position.

Third, the improvement of our finances by paying cash for what we buy, by uniting orders, and buying in large quantities at wholesale rates, by securing cheaper transportation for our products, by encouraging manufacturers near us thereby increasing consumers, and making a home market for our productions.

We believe that agriculture is the chief source of the wealth of the nation, and the interest of the farmer, is of as vital importance to our country, as the interest of all other pursuits or callings combined.

Farmers as a class have been looked down upon. We believe that merchants and produce dealers have been making too large profits on goods sold, and on our produce. This is very evident from the fact, that merchants and dealers, as a general thing, do better than farmers, their families are better furnished, their houses are better furnished, they have more money and spend it more lavishly; all this goes to show plainly that they are making large profits out of the farmers; many of whom, have been in the habit of purchasing goods on credit and consequently buying more than they absolutely need, and paying more than they would for cash down, and frequently from a failure of crops, or low prices brought about by a combination of dealers, or boards of trade have been unable to pay at the end of the year, and were obliged to give their notes at ten per cent interest, and to continue on trading another year, thus making things worse.

Rufus Cook of Ionia, Ionia county, and who settled in Oakland county in 1829, died Jan. 6, aged 64 years. He removed to Ionia county in 1834, where he laid the foundation for a fortune estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000.

Our merchants are the ones who talk most against the grangers. They say and do all they can to bring contempt upon the order.

I believe they are working against their own interest. The success of the grangers means success and prosperity to all other callings, and especially to our merchants.

If it shall seem necessary I will have more to say hereafter.

STATE NEWS.

Geo. Moran, the veteran and genial Goose Pointer, in the days of his youth took pistol to a mill on Parent Creek (Bloody Run), near where the "Pontiac memorial tree" now stands, on the south line of Jefferson avenue. The Creek, which was at one time considerable of a stream, is now comparatively dried up, and George is somewhat so.—Det. Evening News.

A 30x150 foot car shop has just been erected at Ionia by the D. L. & L. M. R. R. It will hold eight cars at a time.

The season for lumbering operations in Montcalm county has been a favorable one. While the fall of snow has been sufficient for good sleighing, the depth has been no drawback about getting around.

RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL.—Charles Upson of Coldwater, Moreau S. Crosby of Grand Rapids, and George P. Andrews of Detroit, comprise the State Board of Visitors to the University for the collegiate year of 1875.

The counties of Mecosta, Newaygo, Osceola, and Lake are to have uniformity in school laws.

An 800 spectroscope has been added to the natural science department of Albion college.

MEETINGS AND ASSOCIATIONS.—At the recent annual meeting of the "Mechanics' Institute and Scientific Association of Kalamazoo, Alfred Thomas was elected president; Dr. B. Banister, secretary; and W. G. Austin, treasurer.

Hilldale has a society of people who were born in 1815. Their next annual meeting will be held Jan. 1, 1876.

CRIMES AND CALAMITIES.

The business portion of East Blissfield was burned Jan. 13. The Dewey House and ten stores were destroyed. Among the heavy losses were: Giles & White, hardware, $16,000; Wiley Bros., buildings and dry goods, $13,500; Wiley & Lane, dry goods, $10,000.

The Berrien County Record says that the Senatorial question will soon be settled, and then the Detroit papers will have to resort to abusing each other again to keep up an interest and fill their columns.

A large number of sheep were frozen to death in the recent cold snap near Detroit, and now the Commercial Advertiser cautions the people to look out for cheap mutton.

From the Gratiot Journal we learn that the school-house in the village of Salt River, Isabella county, was burned Jan. 8. Loss, $2,500; $1,500; insurance.

The residence of John Quinn at Carrollton, Saginaw county, was burned Jan. 15. Loss, $1,500; no insurance.

Thornhill & Bros.' store burned at Walled Lake, Oakland county, Jan. 13. Loss, $7,000; insurance $3,000.

The residence of Mrs. Sayers was burned at Greenville, Jan. 11. Loss, $3,000; insurance $2,000.

A disease similar to the epizootic is affecting the horses at Detroit.

PERSONAL.

The Battle Creek Journal says that William Harrison of Climax, son of the late Judge Benji Harrison, who was patriarch of Kalamazoo county, is himself 85 years of age, is as straight as a reed, as spry as a school boy, and has a set of natural teeth as yet perfectly sound. Besides, he came to town lately with a load of wood and subscribed for the Journal.

Edwin Lawrence, for the past 55 years a member of the Washentown bar, State senator in 1844-5, and Judge of this circuit for several years, has retired from the practice of law, and presented his son, J. E. Lawrence, with his law library.

Benjamin Cummins, who on his arrival over 60 years ago hammered out the first circular saw ever made, near Amsterdam, New York, was buried in Rockland, Kalamazoo, in 1848.

One of the medical students at Ann Arbor, Frederick J. Chaffee, is down with the small-pox, and the rest of the students are demoralized. The same disease affects Ypsilanti.

The board of supervisors of Montcalm county, has employed Henry F. Welch of Grand Rapids as official stenographer of that county.

Greenville is having a lively time in regard to its postmaster. The present occupant is R. C. Miller, and his opponent R. B. Fargo.

DEATHS.

Rufus Cook of Ionia, Ionia county, and who settled in Oakland county in 1829, died Jan. 6, aged 64 years. He removed to Ionia county in 1834, where he laid the foundation for a fortune estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Mount Clemens shoemaker can speak 13 different languages, including the profane.

Jerome Messenger and L. P. Gifford of Coldwater, have taken a patent for the boss beehive.

Orion Williams, J. N. Ingerson's defaulter postoffice clerk at Corunna, was arrested a short time since by a special agent of the postoffice department, charged with embezzeling $1,548. He was held in $3,000 bail to answer for trial at the next term of the United States criminal court at Detroit.

A WORD TO THE WISE.—The following appeared in the Detroit Evening News, one day last week:

"The Vermont Enterprise calls the Northville News a scatological paper."

Now there's no paper under the cognomen of "News" published here;
neither were we ever aware of the fact that there was such an institution as the "Vermont Enterprise" in existence, hence can't see that the item applies to us, as might be supposed. If it did, then the author's to be pitied, as but one man ever dared to call us a liar, and he—well, his girl went into mourning for him for over six weeks.

ANOTHER EXCHANGE.—We are in daily receipt of a sprightly, little paper, the Toledo Daily News, published by Messrs. Williams & Rauch. It is independent—in every thing, cutting right and left, applauding all that is commendable and denouncing that which is deserving of exposure. Though now in diminutive size, it is destined soon to assume a deserved position in Toledo journalism. Success to the News.

CHARITY AND IN HASTIN.—So many appeals have come to us from the grasshopper region in Kansas, that it is thought to be imperative on our people to act, and to act immediately.
Any supplies of clothing or money, left at our store this week, I will take charge of and forward, according to the best of my ability. Grain is less in price west, than here, so if need be, sell your grain and give money.
Clothing is greatly needed.

PARTIES AND SLEIGHING.

THE Sleigh Party at the house of A. S. Brooks, West Sovl.—Anniversary of birth and marriage.—"Tripping the light fantastic?"—A sumptuous repast—Homeward bound.

Good sleighing and the prospect of a good social time at the home of some distant friend or acquaintance, will most any time prove powerful incentive for one to don overcoat and gloves and bid adieu, temporarily, to business cares.

Such was the case with us Friday evening Jan. 22nd, when we risked "Frozen bones and chilled toes,"

In our efforts to get to the hospitable home of Mr. A. S. Brooks, (the well known importer of blooded stock) in West Novl.

Upon arrival here we found a merry lot already gathered and many more constantly coming until the greater part of a hundred had made their introductory bows. Parlor, sitting and dining rooms, were thrown open to the guests—the house in fact surrendered to the merits of those sun-loving couples.

As a somewhat singular and wholly unexpected event, it was ascertained that the party was taking place on the 5th anniversary of the marriage of the eldest daughter, Martha, wife of K. Starkweather, and also the 33rd birth-day of the eldest son, Lyman A. Brooks.

At a reasonable hour the feasting of the evening's entertainment—dancing began. Mr. E. Perrigo, of this place, assisted by Messrs. Ladd and White, took their places and discoursed music for the various square and round dances until supper was announced.

In the dining room as many as could assemble, while a table in the center laden with all manner of delicacies was soon being relieved of its weight in the satisfaction of keen appetites and sharpened tastes. As might be expected it was no simple thing to wait upon this large company, but the assiduous attentions of the young ladies, Blanche, Helen, and Kate, the married daughters, Mrs. Starkweather and Mrs. McFarlan, assisted by the boys, proved that the task could be accomplished when properly undertaken.

At an early hour next morning the party broke up and the guests took their departure for home. Few such entertainments are given where everything passed off so pleasantly, and none could have taken their departure that night without an inward feeling of gratitudo to the open hearted host and hostess of this hospitable mansion—Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Brooks.

REUNION OF FRIENDS.—The meetings during the past week have been very interesting, and beneficial, resulting in numerous conversions. Many expressed a desire for prayer who had never before shown an inclination to lead a different life. The efforts of Elder Clements in awakening up this religious feeling, were laborious in the extreme, and the ultimate good arising from these nightly meetings must be attributed to his zealous attempts and the noble aid rendered from the earnest brothers and sisters of the church.

AID FOR THE KANSAS SUFFERERS.

{ JEWELL CAMP, Kansas.

Jan. 21st, 1875.

Friend Sawyer, Will you be kind enough to publish this for the benefit of any who wish to send aid for the Kansas sufferers by grasshoppers?

Aid can be sent to the State aid society at Topeka, or it can be sent in care of any person who is known to the parties sending it. In all cases there must be a contract made with the R. R. companies to the effect that it is aid that is being sent.

The greatest want of this country is money, for it is easiest sent. Anything sent should be put in boxes, barrels or bags to save time, and expense in unloading the car at its destination.

Aid for Jewell Co. should be sent to Clay Center, Kansas.

It has been very cold this month so far. The mercury has been down to 25° below zero twice and a great many pigs, chickens and young stock have frozen to death.

I would say that some aid has been received but it is merely a drop in the bucket to what will be needed before we can raise a crop. I would appeal to all of my old acquaintances and any one who has anything to spare to send it along and it will be thankfully received.

As for myself I have been supplied but I feel for others who are trying to make a home here and have their last clothes on their backs, and no money nor hardly anything to eat, and whose teams are not able to go after aid when it comes from want of grain and feeding poor hay. Any aid sent in my care will be impartially distributed as near as I can do it.

Yours truly,

JOSIAH EVERETT.

Rev. Jas. Dubuar, for many years the very efficient and beloved pastor of the Presbyterian church here, has withdrawn from the charge. The result of a late meeting of the church committee was favorable to his remaining, but for reasons known to himself, he thought best to resign.

ANOTHER KEY-SOLE FEET.

What took place at a strange meeting initiation programme—Trials and tribulations of our unfortunate who "limped the gilded pole."

Mr. Editor, in accordance with previous arrangements your correspondent succeeded in placing himself on the scutule on the Odd fellow's half, on Saturday evening last, to witness an initiation of the so called Granger's. His situation was such as to preclude his seeing the party participating in the ceremonies, except as they passed beneath the lookout, or immediately in the center of the room, where stands a small table upon which lay an open bible. Two members pointed with long blue sticks to a chapter, and the presiding officer apprised E. P. R. to read the narration of the separation of Abraham and Lot, and to comment upon the same. Abraham was called a Granger while Lot, was designated as a middle man, and took up his abode with the merchants on the plain. The scene was very impressive, after which an ode was sung. There seemed to be a struggle with regard to which should be sung, the one published in the Record and familiarly known as "Slowly" or "I want to be a Granger and with the Grangers stand." The latter was however victorious as the main officers salled in with great fanfare and "Slowly" was nowhere to be heard.

Followed thereafter by the singing of the last meeting; and after intense wrangling, they were approved; some claiming that the author (that is the author of Pioneer Sketches) had no right to furnish the Record with a copy of the Ode. Some female voice your correspondent did not recognize argued, that the poetry possessed rare merit and was but the scutulations of a great genius, and claimed that this was an extenuating circumstance surrounding the case, that such effusions ought by right to be in the possession of the world at large.

Whereupon the author of "Pioneer

Sketches" spoke with his mouth and declared that whoever charged that he was, is shirking width, this doubtless explains, for the extreme narrow specimens that claim to belong to the Record.

of which were
