The young lady connected with this office, as composer, Miss Cora Kaylor, is quite sick with remittent fever and bronchial affection; and under care of Dr. Swift.

The velocipede mania seems to have struck Northville as a permanent fixture; those that can run the machine keep up lively, and those that can't are doing their best to learn.

Just received from manufacturers, a new style wall-paper, shades and tassels, etc. which will be sold at bottom prices for cash.

All persons liable for taxes in this town will do well to look at their valuation on "review days," which will be on the 19th, and 20th, at Northville, and 21st and 22nd, at Plymouth.

Mr. Hathorn, a well known citizen of Melford, and one of the oldest hotel proprietors of the State, died at his home in Melford on the 12th, and was buried on the 14th with Masonic honors.

It is said that Ed. P. Hayes, of Farmington, who does the mason work on J. Wilkins' house, put on 80 yards of plaster in 52 minutes. The room plastered was 13x16, 9 feet in height.

John Wilcox, Sr., a much respected farmer of Livonia, is dead. A post mortem by Drs. Hueston and Kendrick, revealed a malignant tumor of the stomach and liver, as the cause of his death.

The columns for the support of the opera house gallery are being got out at the Northville Bending Works, the proprietor, Mr. J. A. Dubuar, having very generously offered to furnish the same in aid of the building.

We are under obligations to the managers for a complimentary ticket to the Band Tournament at Port Huron June 4, 5, and 6th. The Tournament bids fair to be a big thing and no doubt will be a success financially.

Messrs F. B. Sibley & Co., the well known lime and stone dealers, of Detroit, furnished the lime for the opera house foundation year before last and now send the same material—Kelley Island lime—for the plastering. The firm's address appears on this page.

Hiram Jackson left this week for Charlotte, where he will enter an office as book-keeper. Hiram has been in the employ of the Michigan school furniture company of this place for several years and has proved a reliable and steady young man. We bespeak for him the best of success in his new business.

The new meat-market of Davis & Lowden has changed hands, having been transferred to Messrs David Simmons and O. B. Powell, late of New York state. The new firm are gentlemen of good address and business enterprise, and will endeavor to please their patrons.

We visited the Northville opera house last Monday and was surprised to see the advancement towards completion; the lathing is nearly done and the plasterers on the spot preparatory to commencing their work; arrangements are being made for a grand ball on the 4th of July—Wayne County Review.

J. T. Ives has bought the Clifton House, now occupied by him, corner of Main and Center street. It is his intention to make a general overhauling in the interior of the house and such other changes as will put the house in first class shape. Mr. Ives will hurry up the work so as to be in proper shape for July 4th.

A very amiable and modest young lady, from Ohio, is making a short stay in town visiting friends, but as we are strictly forbidden (fears the vengeance of a discarded lover, perhaps, who might learn of her whereabouts and follow with a pistol) to mention her name, the public shall not know any more. There!

A grand ball will be held in the opera house July 4th. Only those having a card of admission, accompanying their paid ticket, will be admitted. The admission cards can be obtained of the editor of this paper, or of the members of the committee for that purpose, whose names will appear in our next issue.

A pleasant little company accepted invitations to the residence of John Croul, on the evening of May 6th, where they passed a most enjoyable time in listening to a number of vocal and instrumental selections, by Mrs. Croul's music pupils, assisted by a few not in the class. This, we are glad to learn is only the first of a series of such entertainments to be given monthly, by Mr. and Mrs. Croul.

The opening of A. B. Taylor's ice cream parlors took place Thursday evening and quite a goodly number of invited citizens—and some that were not invited—partook of cream and cake and thought "it couldn't be beat." The literal hearted caterer and his estimable lady are deserving of many thanks for this public treat, and really should receive their due in patronage. They will undoubtedly meet with such success as the season advances.

As announced, Mason Long, the Indiana temperance lecturer, appeared here on the 9th, and delivered one of the most interesting and effective lectures we have ever listened to.

Not having come under the auspices of the reform club, no effort had been made by that organization in giving him a proper audience. Owing, however, to the kindness of the Presbyterian and Baptist pastors, in giving pulpit announcements, a fair and appreciative audience were present. He is to visit us again ere long.

In this issue appears a card from Mr. J. B. Hanna, of this place, (formerly of New York) and late superintendent in the work of the opera house, who in connection with J. K. Lowden, is already assuming control of the greater portion of the capenter and joiner work in this vicinity. From personal intercourse with Mr. Hanna, and evidence before us of his skill and capability, as an architect-builder, we can cheerfully recommend him to the public patronage. As regards his partner, Mr. Lowden, his long residence among us, renders comment as to his ability quite unnecessary.

The Northville Cornet Band are making rapid progress since their re-organization, and will be in pretty good harmony by "decoration day," upon which occasion they will make their first general display. The following members compose the band:

- H. C. Clarke, 1st Eb cornet. Geo. Wilcox, 1st Bb cornet. W. R. Wood, 2nd Bb cornet. C. A. Gardner, 2nd Bb cornet. A. B. Taylor, solo Bb alto. D. F. Griswold, 1st Eb tenor. H. C. Callings, 1st trombone. H. O. Wald, Bb baritone. A. E. Rockwell, Bb bass. R. D. Whitaker, Eb tuba. Elias Perrigo, tenor drum. W. J. Little, bass drum.

Improvements.—E. R. Beal is about to add an extension to the south west portion of his residence, under the workmanship of Hanna & Lowden; the new front fence of James Dubuar's looks considerably better from a recent coat of paint, and the workmanship of Mr. D. fully tested in its appliance. Mother Sheppard is making some change in the interior of her dwelling. Axel Blair is doing the work.

A PROMISING PIECE OF MAIN WORK.—The greatest and most conspicuous job of plastering done in the county, outside of Detroit, will be done in the course of a week in this place, in the plastering of the opera house. The work will be accomplished under the hands of the well known Bovee Brothers, Marvin, M. J. and Ellet, assisted by Monroe Brigham. Of their success in work of this kind it not necessary for us to speak, as their long and favorable reputation in this vicinity dictates any remarks. We shall, however, allude to them in our next issue.

A Word to Young Ministers.—A lady patron of the Record hands us the following paragraph for publication.

"You have gone through the prescribed course of study, received ordination, and begun your first pastorate in an interesting country church. You have married a wife, begun housekeeping, and your salary is determined. You know precisely what you and your good wife have to live on. It is just so much, and no more. Let me then, first of all, impress upon you the necessity of living within your income. To this end buy as little as possible on credit, and pay for what you do thus buy with the same promptitude that you go into your pulpit on Sundays to preach to the people."

Queer but True.

Mr. Harro. In my observations about town during the past week I notice that one of our most prominent dealers has been making such a "corner" in leather as to seriously embarrass him financially. ONE WHO KNOWS.

A CARD.

TO THE CITIZENS OF NORTHVILLE.—Having established and associated myself in a general building business with Mr. Jas. K. Lowden, of Northville, we are now prepared to furnish those who contemplate building, with plans, specifications, and estimates, for all and every description of buildings. Having had an extensive and varied experience in connection with some of the most extensive builders of the East, and also from a general and personal knowledge of the latest and most economical style in the erection of buildings, I place myself before you as a candidate for your most liberal patronage, holding myself as second to none, as twenty-seven years of experience will testify, in my connection with so many of the largest firms of the city of New York. Most Respectfully Yours, JOHN B. HANNA.

Northville, May 17th, 1879.

That the new light-running American Sewing Machine is the best family machine is no longer a question of doubt. Ladies have only to try it to satisfy themselves of the fact. It runs lighter, faster, and does the best work of any machine in the market, and has the self-setting needle and self-threading shuttle, which makes it far superior to any other.
