THEIR ANGELS.

My heart is lonely as heart can be. And the cry of Rachel goes up from me. For the tender face of my mother. Of the little children that are not.

AN AMERICAN BOY IN CHINA.

A young man named Robert W. ... who had passed some years in China. He had seen some curious and strange sights of that country.

J. T. IVEY.

Best of all professions is that of a good man.

The first morning I went out with Tsay we had not gone fifty yards before a lot of Chinese boys came up to us. When they saw me, they each set up a whoop, though I was dressed like Tsay and had on a straw cap with a tassel of silk threads.

It is a mistake to suppose that a man is never employed as conductor of a horse car unless he can bring the certificate of a respectable physician testifying to his total deafness.

Some of these stones were as large as a half-bushel measure. When the man wished to walk about he was obliged to take hold of his chain with both hands and drag the stone. Tsay said that they would have to wear these chains for a month, and so up to three months; and for his very grave offense, but chiefly for getting into rows, or for failing to pay taxes.

It is a mistake to suppose that a man is never employed as conductor of a horse car unless he can bring the certificate of a respectable physician testifying to his total deafness.

It is a mistake to suppose that a man is never employed as conductor of a horse car unless he can bring the certificate of a respectable physician testifying to his total deafness.

We all ran to see it on the ground, but it had fallen in some trees, and the high wind had torn and completely wrecked it. Going homeward, we passed a man lying bound beside the road, with scarcely any clothes on. He was foaming at the mouth and uttering horrible shouts and howls. Tsay said that he was a crazy man.

It is a mistake to suppose that a man is never employed as conductor of a horse car unless he can bring the certificate of a respectable physician testifying to his total deafness.

MECHANICAL AND SCIENTIFIC.

Some time ago it was noted that the experiments of Grandjean and Leclerc on maize and tobacco appeared to show that the withdrawal of atmospheric electricity was injurious to vegetation. Naudin has made similar experiments on kidney beans, lettuce, tomatoes, and the herbaceous cotton-plant, and found that they were benefited by the withdrawal of electricity.

It is a mistake to suppose that a man is never employed as conductor of a horse car unless he can bring the certificate of a respectable physician testifying to his total deafness.

There is a certain influence on rats; that of the smallest star in the sky, bigger than the City Hall, and that you know is a positively outer countenance by closing of right eye. He fully earned the value of time heretofore wasted in poking of fire or spirit in the stove, and I've given to make use of it. Such members as will pledge themselves to do the same will raise a right hand.

RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL.

Vice-General Dieme, of New Jersey, does not propose to have his declining days embittered like those of Archbishop Purcell. He directs that all Catholics who have money or deposit with him withdraw their funds by January 1. He says that his health will not permit him longer to remain the custodian of their money.

It is a mistake to suppose that a man is never employed as conductor of a horse car unless he can bring the certificate of a respectable physician testifying to his total deafness.

A Mining Camp.

A mining camp is about the newest and roughest place in the world. When a successful "strike" has been made, that rich silver or gold-bearing rock disclosed in any locality, no matter how far from anywhere it happens to be, further rich scores and hundreds of miners and other restless money-makers, and every one hedges himself as best he can until lumber can be secured and other regular building materials be prepared.

Brether Gardner on the Value of Time.

"How many members of this club know the value of time?" asked the President of the Lime-Kiln Club as he looked up and down the hall and took a left-hand squint at the Bear Trap. Some of the members shook their heads and sighed as they remembered how they had wasted time hunting for watermelons which were not there, and after a moment the old man continued: "I refer to de odd minutes an' half hours we all git 'round de house. When we come home arter a day's work we drop down to rest our backs, befo' supper. We hev a little time in de mornin', sometimes a quarter of an hour at noon, an' all dis time added up and a piece of chalk makes four or five hours a week. Dorry de pas' week I hev found dese few hours de most valuable of all. Whenever I hev found a chance to drop down I hev had a book handy. My spare minutes for one week aggr up three hours an' a half, an' I learned de 'folern' new fack nebber know to me."

A Mesmerist's Joke.

Several well-known citizens were talking together yesterday in the billiard room of the United States Hotel, when Carpenter, the mesmerist, came in to see if the bill poster had left any of his programmes. Two or three gentlemen began to poke fun at the professor, and intimated that there was some trickery in his performance. Finally the mesmerist operator got upon his dignity, and offered to give a free exhibition, then and there, of his skill. He said he would so place one of the party, when under his influence, that when he (Carpenter) had caused the subject to grasp his own nose, he could not leave the room without taking his fingers from his nose. The wager was accepted, and one of the party, a gentleman from Windsor, gave himself up to the influence of the mesmerist, who placed him by the side of an iron post or pillar, told him to close his eyes, and made a few passes over his face. He then took the gentleman's arm, brought it around the post, and put his nose between his fingers. A few more passes, and Carpenter said, "Now, sir, you cannot leave the room without taking your fingers off your nose." The victim opened his eyes and at once saw the point, not of his nose but of the joke - for he was obliged to let go the hold of his usual appearance in order to let go his embrace of the iron post. -Detroit (Conn.) Times.

It Is a Mistake.

It is a mistake to suppose that a man is never employed as conductor of a horse car unless he can bring the certificate of a respectable physician testifying to his total deafness.

Editorial Sketches.

BY REV. SYLVESTER CALKINS.

NO. 16.

In 1832, a settlement at New Hudson was made. Among these early settlers were the following: Daniel Richards, Daniel Alford, Dr. Curtis, Wm. Gouley, Stephen Marvin, Mr. Goodspeed, J. A. Hand, and a little later Herman Smith, Atan-on Smith, Joseph Hays...

Corner lots have been sold. Hyams were read last Sunday. Railroad fever on the rise. New stock of goods at Alford.

We condense the notes of our business men as follows: They are slow to get late notice. They don't get that not advised.

Nearly all who live in or near this place have been approached and asked if they did not send items to the S. F. N. and at least a half dozen have been declared.

The Red Ribbon Club held its monthly business meeting on Monday evening, and voted to have a Christmas entertainment, and Christmas tree.

Miss Harriet Warren, has returned to Novi for a few weeks. There seems to be some attraction that way; but why go to Novi, when the attraction is this side?

Green Oak Items.

This winter, acts for all the world like the one in 1832, the year we came to Michigan.

The average woman is indolent. We know of several who have raised a large family, besides handling forty cords of stave wood every year.

Dayton Rider, recently returned from Saginaw. Wm. Sutherland has removed his household goods to this place.

The Salem Library association met at Vanatta's Hall, on Tuesday evening Dec. 2nd, to complete their organization.

ected: D. Smith G. S. Wheeler, J. Waterman, Mrs. Jennie Wheeler and Mrs. H. E. Thayer. It was voted to hold the next meeting Saturday eve. Dec. 13th, at which Rev. Dean is expected to deliver the opening lecture.

Mr. Editor—An item appeared of the last Record, stating that a man and his wife had been actually paying for the digging of his wife's grave.

C. G. Harrington's dog "Jack" was among the victims on the right of the G. M. H. as mentioned in the Record of the 12th inst.

Christmas Trees at Presbyterian church, on Christmas Eve, and general invitation extended to the other Sunday schools, and to all to unite in the exercises and use the tree for their presents to each other.

Conductor Hall's train went on the D. L. & N. today it is on board at Plymouth, five tramps, shrankled together in rows.

Miss Nellie Howell, a prepossessing young lady of South Lyon, and a contrast of more than ordinary merit, has kindly consented to sing at the land-benefit concert...

We hear that Will Cummings, one of Northville's most promising young men, and for some time past an employee of the M. S. P. Co., has shaken the dust of his native hamlet from his feet and become a resident of Detroit.

Stephen King, a young man of about twenty five years, was brought before Justice Kator, Friday Dec. 5th for stealing a buffalo robe...

Mr. McKean, tailor at Swift's is turning out remarkable fine work in merchant tailoring line. Any who want first class fits from any material from cheap to most expensive suits would do well to give this establishment a call.

Jas. Hill, (colored) a cooper in the employ of Josiah Wilkins, made a bet with Chas. Hamilton, week before last, that he could make fire "hard heroes" each day for five consecutive days.

We can appreciate the kindness of Mr. David Clarkson—one of the subscribers to the opera house—who stopped us in the street the other day and with the remark "Now is the time you need money if ever," handed us the amount of the last payment on his subscription.
