TOWN TALK.

The water was let out of the Gillespie
mill pond Tuesday to repair the dam.
Marshall Bros. house in North Farmington burned Wednesday evening.

A leap year party at Pontiac last evening.
When are we to have one here?

And still it snows. Three feet, and more is coming.—Ostego County Herald.

The total eclipse of the moon was seen very plainly here Monday evening.

The old bear could see his shadow yesterday and so returned to his hole
for another six weeks.

A nameless social will be held at the residence of Mrs. F. R. Real next Wednesday evening.

A. Pomeroy attended a meeting of the G. A. R.'s in Detroit this week to arrange for an encampment on Belle Isle in July.

Attend Prof. Swift's lectures in the Baptist church and give the High School library a benefit. See dates and prices elsewhere.

Crocker's band have been kept from the streets during the cold weather but they are only waiting for warm weather to come out again.

The dog poisoner is on the war path.
A dog belonging to John Wells took a "cotton" while in town Wednesday
and had to be shot to finish suffering.

The local artists of the place have quite an addition to their circle as a painting in Sands & Porter's window executed by Mrs. Prof. Loomis will testify.

The young ladies of the Methodist society are getting up a "Flag Festival" for the aid of feeble churches in the burnt district. It will be held Wednesday evening, Feb. 15.

It is rumored that a railroad is to be built if sufficient encouragement is received, from Muskegon to Detroit via Roginaw, Ortonville, Clarkston and Pontiac.—Pontiac Bill Poster.

A committee from the Presbyterian church at Flushing were in town Tuesday making a contract with the Michigan School Furniture company for the scaling and furnishing of their new church.

There is some talk in Detroit railroad circles that at no very distant day the F. & P. M. passenger trains will take a short cut into Detroit over the
D. G. H. & M. via Holly.—Pontiac
Bill Poster.

100 loads of logs came into Duluth's mill yard Monday and nearly as many more other days this week. There are more logs in the yard now than ever before owing to the high price our factories are paying for them.

Clothes line thieves have been at work again. Record was made of several cases last week but other lines have suffered since. A vigilance committee will have to be appointed to protect our home interests.

The Courier last week say its correspondent is vindicated. Yet every merchant in the place save three signed a paper to the contrary. Queer kind of a vindication. But if it suits the Courier and Devoe the rest of us ought not to grumble.

Remember the lecture by Mrs. Mary
T. Lathrap, president of the state W.
C. T. C., in the Presbyterian church to-night. This is the second lecture in the course. Mrs. Lathrap is an eloquent and forcible speaker and will capture her hearers.

The elegant new church at Salem
will be dedicated next Wednesday.
Dr. Grinnell, of Detroit, will preach
the dedicatory sermon at 11 o'clock.
Services in the evening. The Baptists of Salem and the Salemites may well feel proud of their new church.

The manager of Araby Hall at Plymouth writes us returning thanks to those who went from this place over three Wednesday evenings and commen-deds their gentlemanly behavior in comparison with the boisterous behavior of some present from that town.

Albert Murry, a prominent and well known resident of Farmington, died last Thursday, aged about forty-five years, and funeral services were held Sunday. Mr. M. was treasurer of the local fair association, a supervisor, and a trading officer in the Farmington Masonic Lodge.

At Coldwater the bardsmen of a sa-cristian have been sued for $5,000 damage for selling liquor to minors.

Prof. Swift will lecture at the Baptist church two evenings, Feb. 9 and 10.

Croce tickets, for both lectures, 25 cents;
single admission, 20 cents; children's course
tickets, 15 cents; children's single admission, 10 cents.

Tickets can be procured at Ambler's store or from pupils of the High School.

South Lyon has a mineral water well instead of a gas well as they hoped. Work has stopped on it as the stockholders do not know whether to go deeper hoping for something else or whether they will stop with what they have and try to build up a boom for their town on highly scented mineral water.

The Plymouth Fair Association have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, T. C. Sherwood;

Vice President, L. H. Bennett; Secre-

The counties of Mason and Otsego voted on the question of local option Tuesday and it was carried in both, in the first named by 2,100 majority. The City of Lansing gave nearly 400 majority for it and Mason half as much. Otsego is the first of the northern counties to vote for and carry it. What's the matter with Oakland?

The crowd witnessing the races last Saturday broke down one of the young maple trees on the corner by the Methodist parsonage. Is it not about time to stop the racing on one of the main streets of the village? There are other places where the racing could be had than on Dunlap street. The attention of the city fathers is called to this matter.

A FREE READING ROOM TO BE OPENED IN THE RECORD BLOCK

TO WHICH ALL ARE INVITED.

At the meeting of the Y. M. C. A.
Wednesday evening held in the chapel of the Methodist church, the following officers were elected for the balance of the year: president, Rev. Dr. Hudson; vice president, F. N. Clark; treasurer, B. A. Wheeler; secretary, E. K.
Reed; committee on religious exercises,

J. A. Dubois; Dr. Burgess, E. W.
Smith; committee on finance, O. L.
Palmer, C. A. Hutton; Dr. Burgess;
committee on reading master, P. N.
Clark; committee on missionary work,

C. A. Hutton, J. W. Dolph, A. A.
Calkins. It was decided to open a free reading room in the front room of the Record Block over the store of E.
W. Smith. The room will be opened tomorrow and kept open every day and evening and all are invited to take advantage of the privileges offered whether you are members or not. All those who joined the Association a year ago are requested to call at B. A. Wheeler's and pay at least one quarter's dues.

The committee request all to do this promptly to aid the Association in fitting the room up at once.

PLYMOUTH.

Lewis H. Bennett and A. W. Chaffee departed Monday for a three months trip to California.

Jerry Wilson has declined to enter litigation, giving as his reason that lawyers' houses are built on the heads of fools and that he did not wish his head to be one of the corner stones. Jerry has always had the reputation of having a level head and is a good citizen.

Joe Somers went to Lapeer county last week to look after some real estate he owns there. He prevailed upon one of our nobodies—and most arrogant dudes to accompany him. While there he had a big fish through the ice of one of the largest lakes. He cut the unfortunate dude up into bait from which he caught a large string of full grown bullheads. He says they grabbed at the bait ravenously.

Our people are cutting and housing a large amount of ice. It is fourteen inches thick and fine clean quality.

L. C. Hough & Co. are shipping a large amount of apples to Cincinnati, Ohio, at present. He is also shipping quite a number of limed eggs to Detroit.

The new air gun just invented by Clarence Hamilton is a daisy and will soon patented and rumor has it that they will be manufactured on an extensive scale here.

Polley & Wherry are getting out quite an amount of material for their celebrated iron harrows for next season's trade.

E. W. Beam is manufacturing quite a number of road carts recently patented by Marvin Berdau. The outlook seems to indicate that quite a business will be built up for these carts. Such enterprises are always a welcome addition to our town.

Bill Leadbeater is a great sufferer from dropsy.

Ira Hough is acting as relief telegraph operator at the F. & P. M. depot, Northville.

FARMINGTON NEWS.

The funeral services of Mr. A. A. Murray were held at the M. E. church, Sunday morning, Jan. 29. Rev. Mr. Niles, of Dansville, officiating, assisted by Rev. Mr. Liug, of Farmington. The deceased leaves a wife and two children. The community feel that they have lost a conscientious and upright citizen and the family have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

Mrs. C. H. Morgan, of Adrian, made a short visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gardnorous Webster, last week.

Mrs. Alanson Rockwell died Monday night, Jan. 30.

Dr. Tresscott and wife, of Wayne, spent Saturday and Sunday at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGee.

Clarence Armstrong is very sick.

Mr. Alanson Fairfield, an old and respected citizen of this place, was found dead in his bed by his daughter, Tuesday morning, Jan. 31. Deceased was 73 years old.

Married, Monday evening, Jan. 30, Mr. Smith of Flint, to Mrs. Inza Botsford, of Farmington.

Miss Mary Nelson commenced teaching in the Primary department of the village school, Tuesday Jan. 31.

Mrs. C. W. Botsford is quite poorly this winter.

Born, to the wife of Mr. Bert Climpson, Monday night, Jan. 30, a son. Mother and child doing well.

Mrs. E. C. Grace visited at Northville last Tuesday.

Birdie has been sick but is now better.

Revival meetings will soon commence at the M. E. church again.

A social was held at the residence of Mr. William Daines Friday evening Feb. 2.

WALLED LAKE.

A consultation of physicians held on Monday decided that Robert Brown would likely recover. Glad to hear this as much anxiety has been expressed for him and his wife.

Scarlet fever is spreading in the neighborhood of Eagle S. House. The report that scarlet fever broke out between here and Northville is the illness of the teacher is a mistake. It happened to be the measles. A large number of families are afflicted.

Joe Baumgard has the contract of excavating the Methodist church.

Mr. Noble is moving up into Isabella Co.

John Andrews returned last Saturday bringing with him a blushing bride. They were married at Vernon last Wednesday. They are now visiting at the home of the bride's brother, M. S. Sage. The best wishes of the entire community are theirs.

Last week Mr. John Dolby, aged 78, thought it too bad to be alone, and so he wedged his brother's widow, aged 63, and they are going to farm for themselves next summer.

The Methodist church had a bee, cutting and hauling wood for the church.

We understand that the furnace in Northville came near bursting you out, while the old furnace in the Methodist church here smoked the people out last Sunday. Why don't the people get a new furnace?

NOVI DOTS.

Warmer weather at present.

Miss Eva Darling, of Evart, is visiting friends here.

Fred Haase and Harry Whitecock were in town Sunday.

The revival at the Baptist church are largely attended and many are being converted.

Mrs. L. R. Websuer contemplates moving to Milford soon where she will open a millinery store.

Mr. Randal Colvin, who has been ill for sometime, has recovered.

Sam Doats, who went to California for his health, is coming home to die.

All of the merchants of this city have got the California fever.

MOONLIGHT.

INVENTION has revolutionized the world during the last half century. COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE. To the master of the unclaimed baggage, here appointed by the Produce Com., for the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, Commissioners to receive and collect all claims and demands for baggage and personal effects delivered to them, and to whomsoever they will meet at the office of A. M. Sanderson, in the village of Northville, County of Wayne, on the 21st day of February, A. D. 1888, and on the 22nd day of February, A. D. 1888, for the purpose of examining and allowing said claims, and that six months from the 22nd day of February, A. D. 1888, were allowed by said Com. to each claimant to present their claims to inferior courts and allowances.

A. M. SANDERSON,
L. W. STRICKER,
Commissioners.

SALESMEN WANTED.

We are in want of a few more good men to canvass for the sale of choice varieties of Nursery Stock. To men who can make a success of the business, we can pay good salaries or commission and give permanent employment. We have many new and choice species, both in the fruit and ornamental line, which others do not handle. Send for our new Catalogue of Greenhouse, Bird and Bedding plants mailed free on application. Address at once, with references,

D. B. WILCOX & SON. Don't be deceived.

How naked Esquimaux children play on a reindeer-skin in a snow-lint or igloo, where the temperature is below zero, is one of the many interesting facts set forth by Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka in his article in the February number of The Cosmopolitan, on "Wintering in the White Zone," beautifully illustrated by W. P. Snyder. The lieutenant tells, in a most delightful way, how this curious structure, the igloo, is built of snow, and ice-rosettes, and how, when one enters it from a temperature of forty degrees below zero, one finds a temperature of four or five degrees below zero, positively uncomfortable.

George W. Talbot, a former resident of this vicinity, died at his home near Syracuse, N.Y., Dec. 25. His wife who survives him, is a daughter of the late N. Ross Lapham. From the Daily Messenger, 1887. Few thought we'd chip the chimney.

"Then he became nearly lame, Neb., on the evening of the 21st ult., Gen.
W. T. Lee passed to spirit life, aged 55 years, 10 months.

To sum up this period of his life, he was forming my years; I spent it with his health failing for two years, ~~success~~, during which time he later died himself. It is more in the solution of the problem, "If a man die, shall he live again?" that he thoroughly did he realize the fact of spirit return and identity, than he repeatedly exaggerated his self without a doubt.

During all the years of his illness he suffered at times the most excruciating pain, yet it was said of him "he was one of the bravest men that ever lived, and had the faculty of enduring his pain to a wonderful extent." He made all of the arrangements pertaining to his departure several weeks before the change took place, even to the minutest detail. But one thing was left undone that he intended to do after death, that was his place of burial. He had expected to be carried to the cemetery, and selected the spot for the interment of his ashes, but it was a stormy day, after which he was too weak again.

During other respects he made was the following: that immediately after his gift had taken its flight, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Green, should sing that lovely tree of A. B. Whistler's,
The Lord of the So-Called Dead,
he added needful also, "The Wind
in the Chestnut Bouquet," and the Sweet Bye-Bye. Accordingly,
as soon as the mortal cement was deposited, the lady took her seat at the organ and sang as her brother had desired. She had thought it would be impossible for her to do so, but for the moment, rising above the conditions, she was enabled to sing the songs he had loved so well.

A particular request of his was that a Unitarian should conduct the services. A telegram was sent to Mr. Hall, asking that he or the writer should do the same as it was not convenient for him to leave at that time. I responded and never officiated on such an occasion when I so tangibly felt the presence of the departed: as on the one referred to in his notice. And was it strange? He retained his consciousness until the last moment. When a sister remained standing about his bed-side, he answered, "I do no suffer, this is a nice experience." How exciting it was that he could speak to his friends when he was within hailing distance of the other shore. If we went out boats, happy and thoughtful as he had ever been of those whom he had loved.

His family consisted of a wife, a lovely daughter and a promising little son. They do not seem like those who are in outer darkness; they do not say the loved one is dead, but that he will seek the home he lived so well in with all strive to cheer the days as they shall come and go.

circle of relatives are led to follow him over the silent way.

A quarter-ton of lace furnished accidental music for the occasion; the pieces were his favorites and they could not have been more sweetly arranged.

The form was laid away among the pines and evergreens, with which he had surrounded his little grave.
