

The Struck for the Woods.
Here's a story that Sam Jones told in the First Methodist pulpit last week. He said:

"I was making a prohibition speech in Robertson County, Tenn., last year, and noticed on the right of the platform blearied, bloated fellow who was about three parts drunk—each part a third. As I talked he would screw his fist into his eyes and wipe away the tears. After the speaking I went to a friend's house perfectly exhausted and lay down. The lady of the house called at the door in a few minutes and said that a man wanted to see me. 'Tell him I am tired,' I said, 'and please excuse me.'"

"That is all right," she said, "anyhow, because he is a drunken, ragged vagabond."

"I said: 'If he is that sort of a fellow let him in. I used to belong to that gang myself, and I never go back on them.' The man came in, and I found he was the drunken fellow who had listened to me speak.

"He said: 'Mr. Jones, I don't want any money. Money can do me no good. I am a ruined man. Drink has made me a wreck.' A short time ago I had a happy home and household. A few weeks ago I buried my wife, having expiated every drop of blood out of her heart before she died. My two boys are at the Orphans' Home in Nashville. One of them is a little thin fellow. My two girls are in Murfreesboro, and this (here he pulled a hale back cap out of his pocket), this is the last thing that is left to return to me that I ever had a household. It's only this bald boy's cap. Now, I do not want any money from you, but I just got an idea from the way you talked that maybe you had some sympathy for me. If you have, pray for me Good-by.' And he started off."

"Hold on here," said I, and I called up Mr. Taylor, my secretary, and Mr. Frank, go up town with this man, and wash him all over with soap, and if it is a new suit of clothes or not, from neck to foot and bring him back. In a hour or two he comes back, and I don't know him. I had to be introduced to him again. I took out my handkerchief and said, 'Frank, you're in the station, we've got a good long time. Now you get out a train and go to thirty-five miles west in one direction, and get the conductor to put you in the station when you're fifteen miles or out, and you know take out through the woods to a crew, etc.'

"The following did exactly as I told him. I got a letter from him the other day, and he said, 'I've got into the woods and struck out for a new life. He got a job, went for his wife, visited her a bit, and was doing well.'

Destroying Annual Weeds.

Annual weeds may be easily killed when they are at themselves above the ground in starting from the seed, and to the root, or parts of the root, of weeds for nourishment and support until it is well established. Many of the worst weeds are in this stage very small, and if in the moat spring they are plowed and laid close for a few days the surface may become dry, and it seems to be covered with dead plants, frequently exhibiting some bright color, red or brown or green. At this time a light harrowing, or any thorough disturbance of the surface on a warm bright day, will destroy my friends in an hour. A week later the plants might need plowing again to kill them, but then ten times as many might escape.

"Hedge implements can not be expected to scuffle the whole soil where a crop is growing, but while the rows or drills are well disturbed a good portion of fine earth is thrown upon each side, and so the whole surface is renewed. It is very fortunate that of these little weeds many are smothered by being covered by a small quantity of earth, so that those which survive an ingrown subsequently found growing in the rows are comparatively few, and usually such as were protected by standing close to valuable plants. Weeds in the seed-leaf are therefore killed by being uprooted, disturbed, cut up or smothered. If allowed to live they gain strength daily, and must ordinarily be cut up below the ground, or uprooted, operations involving much labor—plowing, tilling by the cultivator or horse hoe, or hand-pulling. This class of weeds is especially annoying in ground under blow and summer tillage. Those of a more permanent character occur chiefly in grass land.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Working His Passage.

Farmers (to old darky, driving canal boat mules)—"I say, uncle, what d've git a day for drivin' them mules?"

"Old Darky—"I don't git nuffus' except m. passage. I's gwine ter Albany, an' de esp'n 'greed ter let me wuk my way."—Harper's Bazar.

In Europe a brickmaker makes 300 bricks per day; here one makes 2,000. Last year, 2,223 locomotives were built in the United States and Canada.

A well has been bought in at Tiffin, Ohio, that yields 1,000,000 feet a day.

The largest shipment of corsets ever made in one lot—21,000—was by a Bridgeport company for Western.

Seventy-two companies are using the alternating system, with 125,000 lamps.

Nearly all rolling mills in western Pennsylvania and Ohio are on full time.

The average weight of a locomotive and tender is seventy tons, and the average price $4,000.

Chicago people have just secured a contract to put up a $100,000 gas plant at Des Plaines.

GIVE YOU CATARRH?

Read these Letters: I have Hundreds more like them.

H. G. COLEMAN, Mich., May 17, 1884.

H. G. COLEMAN, Chemist:

I am glad to speak a good word for your Petroleum Balsam. I have had catarrh for twenty years. It had become so bad that I could no longer speak in public and at times I feared that I would destroy my voice entirely. I used many catarrh cures with no benefit. One of your samples gave me great relief, and a box box has made me feel like a new man.

Yours truly, H. G. COLEMAN.

PETROLEUM BALSAM.

RECEIVED, Sept. 17, 1887.

H. G. COLEMAN, Kalamazoo, Mich.

When I lived at Wickliffe I made some of your catarrh ointment, Petroleum Balsam you called it. It cured me and you used my name in your circulars. I furnished some persons here with it who do more. If you think best I think I can make arrangements with a druggist here to sell it for you. I think it really valuable. I am cured and do not need it for myself.

Yours truly,

C. E. BAILEY, Attorney.

N. E.—Last May 1st, '88, I sent out to Dr. [unclear] for trial on receipt of 12

THE OLD SILVER SPOON.

How fresh in my mind are the days of my innocence.

When I tossed me in pain all fevered and sore.

The turn of the curves, the sinning and weakness.

And even the old spoon that my mother gave.

The old silver spoon, the family spoon.

The scorching spoon that my mother gave.

How oft were my fever-parched lips so relieved.

It was this the still that it bore to my tongue.

And it relieves my inward. Oh, night to forget.

It is dear to me from my eyes.

Put the silver spoon the medicine.

How useful is it that it left on my tongue.

UTAH'S MOVEMENT FOR STATEHOOD.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM DR. J. M. ARMSTRONG.

SANDY, Utah, Apr. 10, 1888.
EDITOR RECORD.—I mail you today a copy of "Utah Statehood," in pamphlet form, published by order of the Democrat and Republican territorial committees.

You will find in this a concise history of Mormonism as it is seen in Utah. The Mormon movement for statehood, and the opposition and objections by the non-Mormon population.

I also send you a recent issue of the Salt Lake Tribune which has an article with reference to the late conference of the members of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, (Mormons).

In reading this you will notice a difference between the pulse of those who framed the constitution for Utah's admission and those who warn their people against dealing with outsiders.

You will wonder, Why this change? You will also observe that the tendency to give up polygamy, and become true Americans, is not as strong as one would suppose from reading the second and articles of the so called "Mormon constitution."

I trust you will give both the paper and book careful attention and anything you may choose to publish in regard to the situation here will be greatly received.

This admission of Utah into the Union with the present state of affairs is not only an outrage upon the the American people, but it is a disgrace to the fair republic, and very beautiful "stars and stripes" seem to float with disdain at the thought of having Utah placed side by side with her sister states.

Would that every liberty-loving citizen of the U. S. could see and understand things as they are pictured to us here and use every effort to keep Utah from becoming a state, until she proves the very facts that she will obey the law of Uncle Sam. With these I am truly yours,

J. M. ARMSTRONG.

WALLED LAKE.

A halo of mystery gathered on the evening of the 1st instant at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Boyden, belonging to the Rev. Dr. Boyden, pastor of North Presbyterian Church in the presence of about 150 persons, including Rev. Dr. G. C. Dyer, Rev. Dr. Boyden's son, the happy couple left on the evening train for New York where they expect to be about ten days. The prospects were many and brilliant. They will reside at New York where she is agent of the K. & P. M. R. Y.

On the morning of the 11th, Centenarius Austin, died. The day before was his birthday when he was 85 years old. He sustained an injury this winter which laid him up. His health has been good generally. He was a blacksmith by trade and was born in New Jersey. He was married to Miss Clara Bartlett and moved to Indiana and then to Michigan and settled on the south bank of Walled Lake. There were thirteen children, four of whom are living. By industry he gained quite a property. He was buried on the lot at New. Elder Boyden preaching. How fast the old settlers are passing away.

PLYMOUTH.

Sam'l Lincoln, it is thought is recovering so he will soon be cut again.

The Birds of Promise held an entertainment Wednesday evening at the Baptist church which turned them in $7.20.

Mrs. H. P. Millard died, Wednesday, 4 p. m. Mrs. Millard has been a great sufferer for some time. The funeral will be held on Friday, at Lyvona Center.

The Debating society adjourned Tuesday night until the first Tuesday in November. The evenings were getting so short it was thought best not to continue them longer.

Last Friday Gee. Kellogg while at work framing the sills for L. Vickery's house stepped on a block and fell, having some cubes in his hand at the time. He got up and continued to work until noon not thinking he had anything more than a sprain, but had soon found that his leg was bleeding considerably and arriving home found his pants and sock saturated and his foot nearly full of blood. Dr. Hatch was immediately sent for and came and tied the small artery that had been severed just above and on the outside of the right knee. He hoisted himself until the doctor took off the bandage Tuesday, and now he is at work again though a little lame owing to the bandage required to be worn yet.

ORIGIN OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

David N. White, founder of the Republican party, died at Sewickley, Pennsylvania, yesterday. Mr. White was born in 1815, and went to Pittsburgh in 1831 and bought the Advertiser. He was an earnest foe of slavery and in 1850 called a convention to organize a new party. The convention was held, and from this small beginning sprang the powerful Republican organization.

Detroit Journal.
We have supposed that there was no question, at least among well informed Michigan journalists, as to the origin of the Republican party. Our surprise is correspondingly great to find the following paragraph quoted above, in a recent issue of the Detroit Journal. The statement puts the birth of the party in Pennsylvania, in 1833. In present and recent issues of the Advertiser, reproduced weekly from early files of this paper, no interesting local and national reminiscences can be found which afford any proof of what we had believed was conceded by all—that the Republican party was organized at Grand Rapids, Michigan, on the 1st of July, 1850, or earlier than Mr. White's statement.

The most eminent men in the state participated in that Convention at Grand Rapids. The late Jacob M. Howard was chairman of the committee on resolutions. Among those reported, discussed and adopted on that day, were the following:

Resolved, that in view of the necessity of battling for the first principles of Republican government and against the schemes of aristocracy, the most ruling and oppressive with which earth has ever cursed, or man devised, we will co-operate and be known as Republicans, until the cause be terminated.

Resolved, that we earnestly recommend the calling of a general convention of the free states, and such of the non-slaving states or portions thereof as may desire to be there represented, with a view to the adoption of other more extended and effectual measures of resistance of the encroachments of slavery, and that a committee of five persons be appointed to correspond and co-operate with our friends in the slave states on the subject.

The great majority of the distinguished men partaking in the action of that Convention, have passed over the great river, but of the members of that committee on Resolutions, there still survive Austin Blair, of Jackson, Almon Williams, of Ionia and Martin L.

Williams, then of Flint, now of Washington, D. C. We have still also, John B. Turner, of Grand Rapids and W. C. Sanborn, of Port Huron, who were secretaries of the meeting.

A small central committee was appointed, of whom, we believe, Judge P. T. Remond is the only survivor. A delegate elector was nominated, and elected November, 1854, of whom Mr. Mayle and Mr. Mayle are members.

There is no question as to the date on which the convention was held; and there is no record of any earlier similar movement anywhere. The great movement originated, and the main body of it was organized at that convention, spreading its influence into other parts of the country and to humanity throughout the planting of that seed. It seems to us that the truth is incontestable facts.
