Some of our farmers are complaining of a small bee that is on their castles. They are small and numerous, so as to bother the bee-hinders.

Gen. Cull has been unanimously re-nominated at Reed City Monday for Congress from the ninth district and it is safe to predict that he will succeed himself.

George W. Clark brought the first cots to market this week of the season. He had over sixty bushels to the acre. Twenty-five cents was the price they brought.

The organ company are shipping the organ they have been making for the school. They are very busy at that factory and have had to put on an extra fire.

Oliver Long, of the formerly of the place, has moved the west store in the building he is now in a new place. His wife will move with him.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Noyes, of Reed City, are expected to visit in Northville. We have heard of several places that they have visited and will visit in the future.

The time comes on a pace when the dear brother who has been too dilatory to venture out in the night to prayer meetings, will march in the torch-light procession all night and shout himself hoarse over his presidential candidacy.

Wednesday morning very early B. W. Cook was hitching up his team to go to work they became frightened at a passing train and became unmanageable. In efforts to hold the horses one was pulled onto Mr. Cook and he was quite seriously hurt.

Last week an item appeared in our Plymouth correspondence which might be construed as a reflection on the firm of H. Harmon & Co. The item should not have appeared and the editor of this paper deems it better to be above reproach and not of the Jew order.

Brown & Gilson are doing a good business in enlarging pictures in crayon, India ink and water colors. Don't give your work to strangers traveling around the country until you have examined their work. Patronize home industries when all things are equal.

The question for discussion at the next prohibition club meeting will be: "Resolved that the interests of good government demands the placing of the ballot in the hands of the women." The meetings of the club are open to the public and the women are especially invited.

There is a good deal of feeling among the hotelkeepers and residents of Mackinac Island in regard to the soldiers who have just left them. Something will be done to see that their visit is not repeated by having the large campment located at some distant point.—Penny Reporter.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Globe Grain Drill company held last Monday afternoon reports of the condition of the company were read and a desire expressed to continue the business. The meeting adjourned for two weeks when future plans will be more fully discussed.

At the republican state convention yesterday all of the present state officers were re-nominated except S. V. R. Trowbridge, of Ionia, for attorney general, and Perry F. Powers, of Cadillac, for member of state board of education. They declared for stiff protection, high tax and local option, and restricted immigration.

No teacher in Wayne Co. should fail to attend the institute at Wyandotte next week Aug. 13 to 17. Prof. Barbour, of Ypsilanti, Ewing of Alma and Glau, of Hillsdale, rank high among Michigan educators and a week spent under their instructions cannot fail to increase ones ability to do successful work in the school room.

Marshal Macomber has been at a good work in forcing payment of the poll tax from boys at the factory. Most of them paid but L. H. Barnum refused. He was sued and the case came up yesterday. Through a defective paper in the suit the case went down and he paid his dollar tax but the papers could be served on him.

Wednesday evening, witnessed a very pleasant call of the young people of Pennington to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Beach, of Northville. It was in the way of a surprise, by Mrs. Voorhes, who had the ladies over, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Noyes and Rev. J. W. Shank. Ice cream and cake, with a hearty welcome and a good time was enjoyed by all. Long live Mr. and Mrs. Beach.—Penny.

Last week a gentleman of Prof. W. H. Cheever's church into the superintendent of the Battle Creek schools. The Battle Creek school is well known and their terms leaving that place and taking his salary to $1,700 the same that he would have received at Battle Creek. They went on the supposition that if he was worth that figure to Battle Creek he was to them. And who says that is not right? A good teacher is not dear at whatever price he can command elsewhere. A poor teacher is dear at the cheapest price you can get him for.

Rev. W. T. Jaques, of Philo, Ill., has accepted the call extended to him by the Presbyterian church, of this place. He writes them he will be here in about presents Sunday, Aug. 19, to begin his labors. Mr. Jaques occupied the pulpit here a few Sundays ago and gave such satisfaction that his call was very hearty. He bears very complimentary recommendations from former fields of service and he will meet with a very warm reception in this his new field. We believe the church is to be congratulated on securing so efficient a preacher to supply its pulpit.

The Democrats of this place organized a Cleveland and Thurman club last Friday evening in lawyer Wendell's office. J. H. Woodman acted as chairman of the meeting and Alexander Tinham as secretary. W. Worth Wendell was elected president; L. L. Brooks and H. B. Goss, vice-presidents; W. P. Sessions, secretary; J. H. Woodman, treasurer. A committee of five to act as solicitors were appointed and forty-five names were at once secured which number has been greatly increased since. They propose to erect a hickory pole and fly a Cleveland and Thurman banner.

We copy the following from an Iowa paper which will interest many of our readers as the Harmon Bros. from this place are proprietors of the hotel named. "The hotel Messrs. at Lake Marawa, near Council Bluffs, was re-garlanded. The thieves entered several guests' chambers and robbed them while sleeping. Many valuable watches and jewels were taken. The room of Charles Harmon, the proprietor was entered and his watch and four hundred dollars taken. It is thought that the robbery was committed by an organized band and that chloroform had been used. The hotel was crowded with guests."

RE-UNION OF CO. D., FIFTH MICH. CAV.

AT THIS PLACE NEXT TUESDAY.

Company D. of the 5th Mich. Cavalry was raised at this place and there was no part of the great army that drew the interest of this community so much as this particular company.

Since the way closed many of its members settled in this vicinity and there is no place where a reunion can be held and as many whose names appear on its muster roll gathered together as at this place, nor is there any other place in the state that has the interest in the members of the old company as this.

The first reunion of the company was held here one year ago, its second reunion will be held here next Tuesday. At a public meeting called for last Wednesday evening to arrange for the reunion Capt. E. K. Simonds was chosen chairman and J. K. Lowden secretary. Dexter White, L. W. Hutton and W. H. Amherst were appointed a committee to make necessary arrangements.

Tables will be spread in the new store C. J. Ball is building on Center street and a banquet table for the "vets" at 12.30. At 2 o'clock Prof. O. L. Palmer will deliver a eulogy on Gen. Phil Sheridan in whose camp this company belonged. Reminiscences, songs and old stories will be repeated by the soldiers.

B. G. Webster, A. C. Blair, Mr. S. Nichols and A. G. P. Sney are appointed as a committee to solicit for the tables.

His advancement is merited, and we feel congratulated in the fact that it will continue. We congratulate Mr. Cheever on his preference.

Before going to press we learn that the school board declined to accept Prof. Cheever's resignation and advanced his salary to $1,500.—Tara Extra.

A new case under our observation last week that appeals to the christian and benevolent people of this place. A number with a family of a wife and three children trying to serve a poor church in what is known as the burnt district in Huron county, this state. During the year which is just closing he has received as support from his church $50. He built a cheap board shanty to live in to save rent and was trying to keep the wolf from the door and cloth the children on that insufficient salary. Are there not generously disposed persons here who will help these suffering children by sending them some of the comforts of life. The Record will gladly take charge of such donations, acknowledge the receipt of them through the columns of the paper and see that they are delivered to very worthy recipients.

From the abundance in your homes divide with the needy ones in your own state. We know this case to be worthy of your generosity.

STATE NEWS

A Peculiarly Sad Death

Miss Ester Ford of Lansing, a very estimable young lady of 23 years, sister of Congressman Ford and Miss Fannie Ford, secretary of the state board of correction and charities, was spending the evening with a party of friends on the evening of July 29. About nine o'clock she left the party, bidding them good night. At 10:20 her sister went to their room for the purpose of retiring for the night. She found Miss Ester lying on the bed, without having disrobed. Her face was buried in the pillow and she was apparently asleep. But, on trying to awaken her, the horrified sister found that she was black in the face and dead. Friends and physicians were hastily summoned, but nothing could be done. A bottle of chloroform was found on the bed clothes near the ill-fated girl's head, and that told the story. The physicians, however, are of the opinion that she merely inhaled enough of the vapor to cause unconsciousness, then before its full effects could be felt, turned over and buried her face in the pillow. Death followed from suffocation. A coroner's jury was summoned, and a verdict of accidental death was returned.

Webber of East Saginaw, in the United States court in Grand Rapids, the other morning and decided to hear the final argument on a motion to restrain the defendant from selling real estate embraced in Jessie Hoyt's will, the hearing to be at Detroit, October 10. The judge modified the preliminary restraining order so that the defendant, who is the executor of the will, can convey lands in fulfillment of sales heretofore made without prejudice to the rights of the complainant as asserted in her bill. The weather crop bulletin issued July 29 by the Michigan weather bureau says: The weather conditions of the past week have been more favorable to the growing crops, and the light rains have benefited the crops very much, but more rain is needed for oats, corn and potatoes. The wheat harvest is progressing fairly well, being delayed somewhat by the rains, and the cut is finished in the southern tier of counties, and will probably begin in the northern section next week. Oats harvest began this week in the tier of southern counties and reports state that there will be a large yield. PERISHED BY FIRE
A tenement house burned and 15 lives lost. Fifteen people were burned to death in a six-story brick building in the rear of 197 Hawley in New York, after an afternoon fire. The house was a ramshackle affair hidden in the middle of the block, the only entrance to it being a narrow alleyway from the bowery. In front of it was a four-story building, on the first floor of which was a saloon called "The White House." Adjoining this is Harry Miner's People's Theatre. In the rear of the burned building were two houses, belonging to it on the City street side.

McAdoo's Scheme
Congressman McAdoo of New Jersey has introduced in the house a joint resolution calling on U. S. consuls to furnish information on the immigration from the several countries with special reference to the following questions:
1. Are these emigrants or any portion of them criminals, paupers or incapacitated for labor?
2. Do the local or national authorities directly or indirectly assist, encourage or pay for such emigration for political or other reasons, and if so to what extent?
3. Are these emigrants, or any portion of them, assisted to come to this country under labor contracts to violate the existing laws of the United States?
4. Are false inducements used by swamping companies, labor contractors or others to increase immigration to the United States?
5. What part, if any, do the local and national authorities take with reference to their people coming to the United States?
6. What societies, corporations, individuals or companies in foreign countries or in the United States are concerned in encouraging or assisting immigration to the United States, together with such other information concerning this subject as may be germane to the inquiry.
To meet all necessary and legitimate expenses $10,000 is appropriated to be used in the discretion of the secretary of state, to whom the consular officers are to report their findings, and who is charged with the duty of transmitting them to congress.

BRINGS TO US

England Holds $30,000,000 Worth of Our Property
Summary of Washington News
In response to a Senate resolution calling upon him for evidence in the treasury department relating to property of the United States, or to which the United States has a valid claim, which is held in adverse possession, the secretary of the treasury has transmitted to the senate reports of the solicitor of the treasury and the commissioner of internal revenue on the subject.
The secretary of the treasury reports that there is no personal property in charge of his office, but it has been suggested that there is personal property now held in adverse possession to which the United States has a valid claim. If this be true it would probably be advisable to recommend an appropriation for its detection and recovery.
According to a letter from Mr. Littlepage, lately employed as agent of the treasury department, to the solicitor of the treasury, dated Oct. 19, 1887, it seems that he was employed to assist in "the prevention and detection of frauds upon the customs revenue."
Concerning the same, he says: "After my several conversations with Mr. Littlepage, I have concluded that my special assignment will be to recover such properties belonging to the late Confederate States as have been fraudulently or improperly diverted or concealed." In concluding, he says: "Above all, I desire that my special assignment shall be kept a profound secret."
In a letter dated Nov. 17, 1887, he says he went to his home in King William county, Va., to examine his old Confederate papers made and received while in Europe under the orders of the Confederate States government, to obtain accurate data. He says he found that in the winter of 1865 he was ordered to the Confederate ship the Texas, at Glasgow, as a fish purveyor and was to have received her armament and supplies while lying off the coast of England, or another vessel. Capt. Henry Sinclair of the Confederate States navy, superintended the construction of the vessel, her cost being $1,400,000, all of which was fully paid by the Confederate government. The vessel, he says, started out to sea, but having been reported as a Confederate cruiser, was seized. Capt. Sinclair rather than carry her through the courts, secured her release by guaranteeing that she should not go into the hands of the confederacy until they should be entitled to have her. He then returned home, and a few months after the discovery of the vessel, she was sailing under the same charter. He adds that the vessel was being paid for by the Confederate government and that she was to be used for the purpose of trading between Edinburgh and Copenhagen.
He adds that there are several other Clyde built steamers constructed by the Confederate government, similarly disposed of by their captives, which should be returned to the United States. There were also two powerful iron-clad monitors built at the Norfolk navy yard, Virginia, for the Confederate government, but captured and towed to Great Britain. They were built by the Norfolk navy yard, and were finally captured by the British navy agents in charge of the vessel in the British harbor, having been towed to the harbor by a tug boat. He adds that the monitors were built at the Norfolk navy yard, and were finally captured by the British navy agents in charge of the vessel in the British harbor, having been towed to the harbor by a tug boat.

It is stated that a man living near Delhi Mills one day last week requested his wife to go out to work in the harvest field with him. Upon her refusal to do so he became so enraged that he picked up a stone and threw at her, hitting her on the head and seriously injuring her. So badly did he feel when he found what he had done in the heat of passion that he went out to the barn and hung himself. Neighbors cut him down and prevented a suicide. It is safe to say that the man has learned to keep a tight reign on his temper.—See Arbor Arise.

The Troz Press of Tuesday says: "Fourteen girls employed as attendants at the asylum marched into the doctor's office to-day, where Dr. Wells listened to their grievances regarding the food furnished them. Receiving no satisfaction, all but two of them refused to continue at their work, and on only two halls on the south wing was there anything done to-day except to watch the patients. The girls claimed that they had found a mouse baked in a loaf of bread; worms in baked beans and worms and bunches of hair combings in their oatmeal. They also objected to eating butter tainted with kerosene. They say that the boys draw the dirty clothes to the laundry and return from the bakery with loads of bread in the same basket. Soup, which is a favorite dish, is made, they say, by roasting bones three or four days in succession, and in the time for the last few days, it has the appearance of vermicello soup. Six of the girls have resigned."

"Slander" is commonly understood to be a false report affecting another's character, uttered maliciously; yet, as a matter of fact, that slander which, as a rule, does most harm to reputation, is not uttered maliciously, but is spoken recklessly or thoughtlessly by those who have no deliberate or passionate purpose in giving it currency. The malicious utterance of a slander is likely to defeat its purpose by its very exhibit of malice; whereas a slander that is simply repeated by one person after another, with its steadily increasing scope and explicitness, as a matter of gossip or as an item of popular information, often seems too natural to be wholly fabrication, and it gradually gains a credence that properly belongs to established truth. It is the "they say," or "they all say," that slips so easily from the unwatched tongue, and that enters so freely the unguarded ear. And there is never a time, nor ever a social circle, when and where there is not some real slander, concerning innocent and unsuspecting persons, which is passed from one to another unthinkingly, on the basis, or the basis, of this indefinite origin. He who consents to hear such a charge against another without giving it a challenge, records his tacit approval to a slander. He who consents to pass such a charge along as something which he has heard and has not challenged, becomes himself a slander-monger, if not indeed a willful slanderer. He, on the other hand, who challenges any such slander, and who rebukes its utterer, is so far an upright man and a public benefactor. Let no person utter a slander in your hearing unrebuked by you. Have a care not to be a slanderer by repeating a charge affecting another's good name, while you lack such proof of its correctness as would justify you in repeating it boldly to its subject's face.—Treas.

Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: "I am 72 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help.
