Vol. XXIV, No. 21.

Northville, Mich., Thursday, January, 7, 1892.

$1.00 per year, in advance.

And now here is 'T. G.', that genial soul, Whose energy and ability makes business roll;
Who works hard all day and dreams hard all night To secure some great bargains for the peoples delight.
And the old and the young, for miles round about, Know that "T. G." always has the best goods that are out.
He sells "cheap for cash," gives the worth of your money.
This being the case, it is not strange, or fancy That the great place in Northville, for business and vim, Is due to the peoples appreciation of him,
And the store that "T. G." built.

Mrs. C. Calkins of South Lyon died Saturday after a long and suffering illness. Mrs. Calkins was for some time one of the RECORD's most valued correspondents and furnished many interesting items to this paper even after being confined to her bed. She also supplied news to the Pontiac Gazette and other periodicals, and wielded a very facile pen indeed. She bore her suffering with but little complaint and was cheerful to the last. Loved, honored and respected by all—many friends and relatives are left to mourn the loss. To the bereaved family the RECORD extends its most sincere sympathy.

JENNIE DEAN.
The following is an interesting extract of a letter from Jennie Dean, a twenty years a missionary to Orpookah Persia to Henry M. White of Northville. Miss Dean is a member of the Presbyterian church of this place, and is well known in and about our village: "I dare not say I am coming home again I was so fully decided about coming I thought last spring and then didn't come but it will be very different this year as we have two ladies Miss Medbery and Miss Russell here now and learning the language. They will be ready and able to take charge of the school next year. We like them very much, we have also a lady physician Dr. Miller and she is in the family. Six ladies at the table, or would be if Miss Green was not out in the villages the most of the time. It is very pleasant to see new faces and hear new voices. So many new people are coming into the country now, especially since we can get into Russia with only five days on horseback and from there we go in post carriages which makes the journey so much easier and quicker. A gentleman and wife from New York are spending some weeks here this fall and may remain all winter. Mr.
Wishard, the leader of Young Mens Christian Association and his wife were here two weeks this fall, also a Mr. Grant a banker was with them.
We feel much more as though we were out in the world to have friends come and stay with us for a visit, but we are all too busy to give much time to visiting. Our school numbers in all over 180 and I have the general charge of all of the higher department, numbers 90, which is the boarding department.
The lower departments need more help than I can give them but they must wait till the new ladies are ready to do better by them. I wonder how much you hear about our work here?
Its influence is reaching out in every direction. One new work in which we are all interested is an Evangelist who gives his time preaching to the moslems. The missionaries pay a large part of his salary and some of our Nestorian christians pay a part.
We greatly enjoy seeing our school boys and girls as they go out to teach in the villages and carry with them the good seed to sow in other hearts as it has been given freely to them.
Every year we can see great improvement all along the line, but still the field is so large, still uncultivated and we so long to have the Lord of the harvest send more laborers who are full of the spirit of Christ and so ready to work in all possible ways for them who are waiting for the truth.
Because of this never ceasing burden of responsibility if I was not so worn out nervously I would never leave here."

The fourth lecture in the Library course which was postponed from last Wednesday on account of the Keeley reception will be given next Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Admission 10 cts. The subject will be "The Dispersion of the Aryans".

We wish our readers would be kind enough every week to hand in "Personals" as they were last week. We are always glad to get them, or any other item of news. Send them in as early in the week as practicable.

A few of the young ladies of the M.
E. church met at the home of Miss Nina Ambler Monday evening and organized a society which they call the L. Y. A. S. club. The following officers were elected: Miss Nina Ambler, Pres.; Miss Blanch Bradley, Vice-Pres.; Miss Addie Spalding, Sec.; Miss Rosa Bailey, Corresponding Sec.; Miss May White, Treas.

Farmers must look out for a class of sharpers who are doing a thriving business in organizing purchasing companies. These rascals offer to sell goods to farmers at wholesale prices, charging them $5 as an initiatory fee, which makes them members of the company. They are shrewd in their transactions and represent that farmers are being cheated by local dealers, and after they have initiated a farmer they take his note for $80 for a bill of goods which they claim will cost at least $100. Farmers should be on their guard against these sharks, who find many victims in some localities from whom they have robbed hundreds of dollars.

The development of a kidnaping era is a peculiar phase of American crime. No parallels to certain well-known cases, like that of Charlie Ross, have been furnished in any other civilized country.

WHAT a heartless and relentless iconoclast is time. How ruthlessly he destroys things, smashing them with the vigor of an enraged and insatiate fiend.

There are children whose only idea of pleasure when they are put into a decent dwelling, seems to be to see how much glass they can break, how much paint they can tear off, or what mischief they can do about their neighbors' houses and grounds.

MANUAL training in the primary and secondary schools does not aim at anything but the mental development of both boys and girls, a development rounding out their faculties and giving them what they do not get now—power of close observation of all things, power to reproduce in drawing what they see or what they conceive and power to create things by skill derived from this training of eye and hand.

TABERNACLE PULPIT.

A SERMON APPROPRIATE FOR THE OPENING OF THE NEW YEAR, 1922.

"This Year Thou Shalt Die," Serves As A Text For One of the Most Remarkable Sermons Ever Heard in the Tabernacle—Time of Reviewing.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 3, 1922.—This morning the Tabernacle congregation, meeting for the first Sunday service of the new year found, the pastor disposed to serious reflections on the flight of time.

Dr. Talmage read several passages relating to Ante-diluvian longevity, making characteristic comments as he read, as follows: "This year thou shalt die."

Jeremiah, accustomed to saying "old things," addressed Haniah in these words: "They prove true." In sixty days Haniah had departed this life.

This is the first Sabbath of the year. It is a time for review and for anticipation. A man must be a genius at stupidity who does not think now.

Is it not a time for earnest thought? The congratulations have been given. The Christmas trees have been taken down. We have high cast their fruit.

The text will probably prove true of some of us. The probability suggested by the fact that all of us who are over thirty-five years of age have gone beyond the average of human life.

A great plague came in those times. The doctor said that he would dissect a body, and he would dissect a body, and he would dissect a body.

Decide on this first Sabbath of the year, whether or not you will have Jesus. He will stand forever before you for your sins.

I know not what our last words may be. Lord Chesterfield prided himself on his politeness, and in his last moment, "Give Daylilies a chair."

The sooner the last hour comes the better it is for the entrance into the celestial world. There is no clock in heaven because it is an everlasting day.

There are men who are in the professions and are undergoing a sapping of the brain and nerve foundations. Literary men in this country are driven with whip and spur to their utmost speed.

Rapid climatic changes inflected our lives. By reason of the violent fits of the thermometer, the country church has become a thing of the tropics.

It is in view of this, I advise that you have your temporal matters adjusted. Do not leave your wills unadjusted at the last moment.

I advise also that you be busy in Christian work. How many Sabbaths in the year? Fifty-two. If the text be true of you, it does not say at what time you may go, and therefore it is unsafe to count on the fifty-two Sabbaths.

Where saints immortal reign, And an aged man standing in front of the pulpit sang heartily the first verse, and then he said "weeping." I said to him afterward "Father in heaven, what makes you cry over this hymn?"

But I must close this sermon. This is the last January to some who are present. You have entered the year, but you will not close it until the next Sabbath.

AN UNCANNY

THE WEIRD STORY TOLD BEAUTIFUL VALLEY.

Killed by a Wandering Band of Indians—How the First Settlers Were Wiped From the Face of the Earth.

There is an uncanny local legend of the lower end of the Chartiers creek valley, near Pittsburg, which is known to the older inhabitants of that section as "The Scalp Legend of the Chartiers."

A mile or so up the creek the valley opens out, making a beautiful pastoral expanse of fertile bottom land. The view over and upon this from the hilly heights at the rear of Shestyan is lovely by day and weird by night.

Let me announce that Christ, the Lord stands ready to save any man who wants to be saved. He waited for you all last year, and all the year before, and all your life.

But one fatal morning in early summer the brothers returned from a long and successful day's hunting and found the cabin was a smouldering heap of ruins.

Controlling their agony as best they could, the brothers tenderly removed and sadly buried the remains of their loved-ones beneath an immense sycamore upon the banks of a little brook that ran by their cabin and headed up in the Sheridan Hills.

But now comes the ghostly legacy of the massacre, which goes by the name of "The Scalp Legend of the Chartiers." Concerning it, it is affirmed by the country folk and earlier settlers of this little valley that on some summer nights to this day the shrieks of these murdered innocents may be distinctly heard.

CHAMPAGNE CORKS.

Why It Is Necessary to Make Them Hand Labor.

The reason for making champagne corks by hand is curious and interesting says the New York Sun.

But the steam takes the life out of the cork. Its elasticity is gone, and it is not to be recovered, and when the cork is driven into a bottle the cork tends to shrink and per-
