

The Northville Record.

Vol. XXIV, No. 41.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., THURSDAY, MAY 25, 1893.

$1.00 per year, in advance.

$778,730.

That Is the Assessed Valuation of the Village of Northville.

$5,000 RUNS IT THIS YEAR.

The Taxes Will Be About Six and Two-fifths Mills.

According to Assessor Booth's figures, and they are undoubtedly as nearly correct as any assessor ever made them, the assessed valuation of our little village this year is $778,730, real and personal property. The council votes to raise $5,000 to run the village for the present year and this brings the taxes about six and two-fifths mills, or in other words the taxes will be about sixty-four cents on every one hundred dollars assessed valuation.

The valuation is divided as follows: Real estate $554,730; personal $124,000. The real estate valuation is considerably above that of last year while the personal is a few thousand less, chiefly caused by the removal of the Keeley Cure company and some errors in last year's assessments.

WILLIAM LANNING

Died Last Friday Afternoon, Aged 79 Years.

After a residence of more than forty-four years in the village, William Lanning, quietly passed away Friday afternoon. He had been ill for about two weeks so that his death was not unexpected. He was a quiet, honest, industrious old gentleman and respected by all.

Mr. Lanning was born in Rome, New York, May 28, 1814. He was married in 1847 and settled in this village in 1849 where he has since resided.

For over fifty years he was a faithful member of the Baptist church.

The funeral services were held at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon, Rev. G. F. Arnold officiating.

COMING AMUSEMENTS.

Here Are a Few Dates to Bear in Mind.

Friday evening, May 26, Detroit talent give a musical and reading entertainment at the opera house.

Monday evening, May 29, the Francis Labadie company play Damon and Pythias at the opera house.

Wednesday evening, June 14, Lacy & Altman's comedy company will be seen in "Blunders" at the opera house.

Thursday evening, June 22, the commencement exercises of the High school will be held in the opera house.

Wednesday evening, June 21, the pupils of the High school below the 12th grade have a prize elocutionary contest at the opera house. There will be about twelve participants.

Special G. A. R. Order.

In obedience to the order of Department Commander Kidd, Allen M. Harmon Post and Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans will hold a memorial service at the M. E. church Sabbath evening, May 28, the Rev. J. M. Belding officiating. Subject, "Silver Lined War Clouds." The memorial service, May 30, will be at two o'clock, participated in by the Post, Corps and children of the high school. All are invited to be present and bring flowers. All old soldiers and S. of V's are especially invited to march in line and honor our comrades gone before. Details from the Post will visit outlying cemeteries in the morning.

Dated Northville, Mich., May 22, '93.
A. Meroy, Henry M. White, Secretary, Post Com.

Communication.

From the RECORD's point of view there appears to be a sort of presumptive evidence that "X" does not belong to the "constant reader" class. But as regards the name of Northside, others also have the impression that the majority of sixty, or more, voters, who changed their votes to accord with the minority of forty-one, did so, not from real choice, but to be rid of a vulgar name, the senseless odium of which had vexed them for a long time.

Even the polysyllabic name of North latitude-forty-two-and-one-half-degrees though rather long, is vastly better than that of the kitchen-garden vegetable which has been unanimously rejected.

Try S. W. Knapp's 50 cent Japan Tea. It is a hummer.

Around the Country.

Out of the seventy-two teachers who were examined for certificates at Wayne, May 8 and 9, only twenty-seven successfully passed.

A Holly school teacher wants her pupils to bring bird's eggs to school for a collection. A few last year's hen's eggs mixed in the lot would be a mighty good treat for that teacher.

Among the sufferers in Saginaw's disastrous fire Sunday were H. M. Jackson and family, formerly of this place, now in the auditor's office of the F. & P. M. railroad company. They lost everything they possessed.

D. E. Reed's 6-year-old son Arthur, who was struck by the engine of the fast train on the Detroit Lansing & Northern Railroad, Friday noon, died at his home in South Lyons, a few hours later.

We find upon close examination that the Holly walks are not in the best condition. Holly Advertiser.

We used to have the same complaint before we took the Gold Cure. The walks were always bad or too narrow.

On the evening of Decoration day, Mrs. R. C. Yerkes of Northville, assisted by Miss Mabel Grace, Clark and Mrs. Belle Randolph-Long, will give an elocutionary and musical entertainment at the town hall. Farmington Enterprise.

The board of education at Lyons will not employ home teachers in the local schools, "on the ground that home grown teachers once employed must be employed all the time, no matter about their qualifications." A remarkable argument and a remarkable board of education.

Holly was visited by a lively little cyclone Tuesday morning. It knocked the roofs off, or the windows out of every building in town till it reached the Advertiser office where the counteraction proved too great for even a Michigan cyclone, and giving up the struggle it started off in a half-pickled sort of haphazard way towards the Highland vineyard works.

Those newspapers that are attempting to injure the World's Fair by publishing stuff about the exorbitant prices charged for everything on the grounds, ought to let up. The charges are reasonable, and if cents pays the admission to the grounds and all of the buildings. Fenton Independent.

The Jennings' have all got passes—we think.

Considering the rainy evening, a very good house greeted the Ideal Dramatic company of Northville at the G. A. R. hall last Friday night in "The Spy of Gettysburg." The play was well received and the company proved itself equal to high expectations all the parts having been uniformly well taken. Should the company return under favorable circumstances, they would undoubtedly draw a crowd of house. Milford Times.

It seems to be a prevailing habit of the boys now to go fishing. It is lots of sport and is usually attended with good luck, but it would seem as if last Saturday night was an exception. The boys captured the fish but unfortunately the boat tipped over and its occupants received an impromptu bath. Now this is lots of sport, but boys don't you think it is rather early to go swimming? So, Lyon Picket.

Now we call it a right down mean trick for Bro. Callahan to lay this off on to "the boys." We have it on good authority that the Picket man was one of the occupants of that liquid baited fishing boat.

In a portion of this edition, the diagram illustrating the cyclone was turned in the column so that the arrow indicating the direction of the storm, pointed toward the northwest instead of the northeast as the facts required. Ypsilantian.

Seems as though the Ypsilantian ought to know by this time that a cyclone is a thing that turns round. No apology was necessary. Adrian Press.

The question now arises, does this settle the cyclone business? If not, Editor Osband will be justified in turning his arrows in a southwest direction.

Notice to Advertisers.

Owing to the large demand for advertising space in this paper and the extra amount of labor required to put them in shape each week, it is necessary that hereafter all copy for change of ads be in the office not later than Tuesday noon of each week.

PERSONALS.

Those Who Come and Those Who Go.

Hiram Jackson of Saginaw is in town visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Irene Cook is back among Northville friends for a brief visit.

R. C. Cunningham of the Detroit News spent part of Sunday with Rev. J. M. Belding.

Orr Webster is now employed in a Syracuse, N. Y. photograph gallery.

J. P. McFarlin and wife soon start for Toledo where he will take care of a stock farm.

Mr. and Mrs. McClean of Bay City are the guests of Wm. Thurtle and family this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollingshead of Detroit were the guests of their sister, Mrs. H. Veckes, over Sunday.

"Tip" Brigham has moved his family back to Northville and intends to be a Northvillian from now on.

Dr. Armstrong and wife from the Moravia land are visiting among old friends and relatives in this village.

S. H. Whitney of Bay City is acting as agent at the F. & P. M. depot here during Mr. Lake's absence in the west.

Mrs. M. A. Patterson and daughter Clara of Plymouth have been visiting her brother, Peter Ely, for a few days.

John Hammond, the tinner in the employ of Geo. E. Waterman & Co. is called to the bedside of his sick wife, who is visiting in Chicago.

Mrs. A. M. Randolph and Mrs. Jennie Johnson left for Chicago Tuesday to attend the world's fair. They are stopping at the home of Rev. Henry S. Jenkinson.

Frank Woodman rode out from Detroit Monday on his wheel in the remarkable time of 1 hr. and 34 min. Frank is fitting himself up for the 25 mile road race Saturday.

Miss Nina Ambler, after a four months apprenticeship in the trimming dept. of the wholesale millinery store of Wm. H. Mitchell & Co. Detroit, has returned home for a summer vacation.

Mrs. A. E. Rockwell and daughter, Inez, left Monday for Chicago. They will attend the world's fair this week and Sunday with relatives at Milwaukee. While in Chicago they stop at Rev. H. S. Jenkinson's.

Dr. A. J. Cowles of Durand was here Tuesday to accompany his wife home, who had been visiting at J. D. Covert's for a week past. Dr. Cowles, it will be remembered, was with the mob who came near lynching the Durand murderer Monday night. He was not with them Tuesday night when the feat was accomplished.

Our old friend, O. F. Carpenter and family, have, we are sorry to say, taken their departure from our village and by this time are settled in their new home at Tukhannock, Pa. If it were not for being so near about it, we should wish that they would have such luck there that they would be glad to move back to Northville where they would be properly cared for; where they are needed and had no business to leave. As it is, we commend them to the kindly consideration of Tukhannock people, to which town they will prove worthy acquisitions.

Mrs. Sherman Brush of Rochester is visiting in town.

Mrs. E. K. Simonds is again quite seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Snyder of Detroit were guests of their son's Fred and James Withee, Sunday.

Miss Lou Reed is at present assisting in the job printing department of the Record office.

Lee Lamereaux is back at work again in the Globe shop at his old post—the turning lathe.

H. E. Lake and wife left today for a western vacation. They will stop a short time at the world's fair after which they continue on towards the Pacific slope.

Tuesday evening Miss Maud Richardson was most agreeably surprised by the sudden and unlooked for appearance of about thirty of her young friends who met at her home on High street in this manner to commemorate her 19th birthday. After spending a delightful evening, visiting, games, banqueting and the like, the company departed taking with them pleasant recollections. She was the recipient of several fine presents from family and friends.

A Great Chance Offered by the Chicago Bankrupt Clothing Co.

One of the greatest opportunities ever offered to the people of Michigan is that now given by the Chicago Bankrupt Clothing Co. of No. 4 Monroe Ave., Detroit. The immense stock of the well known clothing and furnishing goods manufacturer, Messrs. Schless, Adler & Co. of 23 and 25 E. Second street, Detroit, was last week put into the hands of a receiver. This stock has been placed in the mammoth store No. 4 Monroe avenue and will be sacrificed at a price of cost or value as possible. The company makes this special offer to parties living out of the city. To every purchaser of the amount of $25 in clothing or furnishings, a round-trip fare will be paid one way and to the purchaser of $50 or over, fare will be paid both ways. Cut out the notice, bring it with you and after you have made your purchase present it to the manager. Your car fare will be deducted. Remember this stock is to be sold without reserve. Everything must go at once, price to make room for new goods. Those that are ready in taking advantage of this slaughter sale will have the best chance for selection. Don't forget the place, No. 4 Monroe Ave., opposite city hall and next to the German American Bank. Here bargains are being offered. Cut it out and bring it with you.

Things Said and Did in the Liveliest And Prettiest Village in Michigan.

Mystic Lodge No. 100 will observe Memorial day June 11.

How about the Northville bicycle club. Isn't it about time it was reorganized?

Don't forget the entertainment at the opera house tomorrow, Friday, night.

Wm. Thurlie, our landlord, has sold his matched team to C. J. Whitney of Detroit for a very good figure.

New constitution and by-laws for the Northville fire company are being issued from this office this week.

F. D. Butler has purchased the drug business of H. F. Jackson for $500 and is now carrying on the work.

A very neat and tasty catalog for 1893-94 has just been issued from this office for the Northville schools.

The Presbyterian's are making a move to improve their church surroundings and push ahead their annual house cleaning.

If anyone wants a dollar real bad we have one which we will give them. We don't know just who passed it off on us, but we do know it is real bad.

Mrs. Joseph Lewis, sister of Chancy Hoffman, of this place, died at her home in Grand Lodge last week and was taken to Detroit for burial Saturday.

The firemen will give an ice cream social Saturday evening. The time and place will be noted by the sweet music rendered by the Northville cornet band.

Rev. J. M. Belding requests that all who attend the missionary meeting this evening bring a small contribution. The meeting promises to be very interesting.

The Labadie-Rowell company which appears at the opera house Monday night is undoubtedly the strongest attraction ever seen here, being the cream of two consolidated companies.

When in Detroit stop at the Hotel Wayne, opposite the M. C. depot, where you will be well entertained and handsomely cared for. It costs no more to stop at the best hotel in the city than the cheapest.

The morning worship at the Methodist church next Sabbath will be a sort of family gathering, the children and young people all being invited and expected to attend. Brief service and short sermon, followed by Sunday school.

A recent issue of the Amsterdam (N. Y.) Daily Democrat contained a very fine portrait of Rev. J. M. Belding of this place. The sketch was run in connection with a lengthy and very interesting article entitled, "From a note book—back in the dim shadows of 1790," from the pen of the reverend gentleman.

We have another signed "P" communication this week regarding Northside's name, etc. It is rather a late hour for anyone to kick about it and as every thing was amicably and fairly settled months ago we see no use of a grumble now and any further communications on the subject are respectfully declined.

The entertainment at the opera house tomorrow, Friday night promises to be of more than ordinary merit. The vocal soloists, Fredrick Peters and J. H. Marfin, and Mrs. Perry Courtwright as a reader, have an almost state reputation. A glance at one of the programs will certainly commend the entertainment to Northville people.

The Northville High school class in chemistry has discovered, through chemical analysis, that the gum on the obverse side of the Columbian stamp is medicated and warranted to cure catarrh, brace up a torpid liver, mend broken chairs, destroy the appetite for alcohol, morphine and tobacco, relieve that tired feeling, cure warts and kill delinquent subscribers as well as potato bugs.

The Gypsy Festival at the opera house Saturday and Monday evening was a very successful and meritorious entertainment. The May-pole dance and the dancing of Lillian Amnden of Detroit were especially good. Hattie Yerkes and Ethelwyn Dubuar played some very pretty duets. Miss Agnes Whipple and Mr. Fred Wager each sang a very pleasing solo. Mrs. Riggs is deserving of much credit for her earnest work in getting up the entertainment and it certainly deserved a more liberal patronage.

The Chapman house is being put in apple pie order for the occupancy of Mrs. Lyman Yerkes.

Presbyterian Ladies Aid society tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. K. Starkweather at 3 o'clock.

The topic of the services next Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church is "Spiritual Gardening."

Sunday, June 10, is Macabbee memorial day and will be generally observed throughout Michigan.

Miss Mary Ely, a Northville high school pupil, won the Detroit Courier's $20 first prize for best original essay on Columbus.

The usual Sabbath Memorial services in honor of our dead heroes will be held at the Methodist church next Sabbath evening. The G. A. R. will attend in a body and Rev. Mr. Belding will preach in turns. Topic, "Silver lined war clouds."

While in Toronto, Ont., last week, E. D. Adams sold his Canadian patent to Myers Bros. of that city, who will at once commence to manufacture the Little Star ironing. They have several orders booked for the machines as soon as they can be got ready.

J. Miller, Highland Bros' popular meat cutter, and Miss Alice Stevens of Plymouth, were married the 17th inst. by Rev. J. M. Belding of the Presbyterian church. The ceremony took place in the parlors of the hotel Normanda, Detroit.

The W. C. T. U. wish to thank all who assisted in the Gypsy Festival, also the parents of the children who assisted in preparing costumes. The profits, $9.00, goes toward the carpet. The entertainment tomorrow evening is for the same benefit.

There will be a musical and elocutionary entertainment at the Opera house tomorrow evening given by some Detroit's best singers and readers. The profits of this entertainment will go to help the W. C. T. U. ladies out of debt. Admission 20 cts; gallery 10 cts; children 10 cts.

Mr. Thurlie contemplates putting in a tell inch sewer from the opera house along Dunlap street to the river. The village will donate the rocks and he will ask a number of property owners to join with him and endeavor to extend the sewer from Hill or High street, clear through. This would be a neat thing for people along that beautiful avenue to enter into.

This evening at the Presbyterian church the topic will be Siam and Laos. These interesting countries will be discussed by the ladies of the church. Among those on the program are, Mrs. Dexter White, Mrs. J. A. Dubuar, Mrs. Lyman Brooks, Mrs. B. A. Wheeler, Mrs. H. Yerkes, Mrs. J. Q. Knapp, Mrs. E. S. Horro, Mrs. Geo. Bradley, Mrs. Dr. Swift, Mrs. L. E. Barium, Misses Emma Flukerton, Carrie Babbitt, Jess Leckwell, Maggie Thompson, Katie White, Hattie Yerkes, Helen Brooks, Edith Joslin, Harvie Root, Emma Chantler, Ethel Dubuar, Mabel Clark, Minnie Covert, Miss Purdy.

The efficacy of the fire drill in schools is frequently shown. In New York City, a few days ago, a fire broke out in a parochial school building, and the scholars were quietly dismissed by a regular code of signals when the cries of fire and the noise of approaching engines were plainly heard by all, including some little ones not old enough to appreciate the danger of a panic. The fire drill is something that ought to be practiced in every school, frequently. We have repeatedly urged the adoption of such a drill in the Northville schools and it would not be a bad idea to make such a departure one of the features of the coming term.

On Monday evening next Mr. Francis Labadie and Miss Hattie Rowell, supported by one of the strongest companies ever here, will appear at the opera house in a gorgeous production of "Damon and Pythias." This play has been seen here before but has never yet had such an elegant production as it will receive this time. The supporting company consists of such eminent stars as W. J. Higby, Hubert and Oliver Labadie, C. C. Curmalla, Miss May Loranger and others. The costumes worn by the company are elegant, costly and correct in every detail. Considerable special scenery is used in the production. This company has played this piece for a long time and a first class performance is guaranteed. The ticket price is 25 cents, general seats 50 cents. Seats now on sale at Hueston's.

Brown's Colts and either the Ypsilanti or Ann Arbor college teams will play a game of ball here May 30.

J. O. Knapp has but one big toe now. He had two until Monday night when his horse stepped severely on his foot.

The Northville Masons who went to Detroit Tuesday evening, the guests of Oriental Lodge, report an elegant time and a right royal reception.

Prof. Bliss mastered the art of bicycling last week and oft of an evening may now be seen speeding along the village's shady avenues.

Lost—Since Monday, a long red pocketbook, containing certificate of deposit. Finder will please return to Luther Lapham.

E. S. Horton has purchased the remaining 50 acres of land belonging to the McFarlin heirs and intends to equip it with a neat farm house and barns.

The association kickers, chiefly Cleveland, are trying to oust Pitcher Yerkes from the D. A. C. ball club but Manager Leady says it is no go and he proposes to see that Don stays.

Last Saturday while Gus Dolph was on his way home he had to stop off in Saginaw, and had a good chance to see the fire. Gus says you can put Northville right in the burned district.

The endowment certificate of Mrs. Julia H. Blair, payable to Charles R. Blair for $500 has been paid by the Great Hive, L. O. T. M.; also Mrs. Name Patterson's payable to Myron A. Patterson of $1,000 has been paid.

Seth Tubbs' colt got frightened while being hitched up in front of Palmer & Slater's blacksmith shop yesterday and during the fracas, Mr. Tubbs received a few ugly scalp wounds, fortunately not serious ones however.

For the benefit of the Fenton Independent and its many readers we wish to say that the W. J. Stark who recently moved from here to Detroit to go into the meat market business is not Wilbur H. Stark of Stark Bros., formerly of Fenton. Those boys are still doing business at the old stand.

The Presbyterian pulpit paid the Record Job office a very neat compliment Sunday evening. It is very refreshing to occasionally find some one who knows a good piece of work when they see it and knowing it is not afraid to say so. No one appreciates such kindly courtesies more than the printer.

Johnnie Tibbans intends to go to Plymouth this week with a string of colts, which he will put in shape to do some fast going this fall. Among the number is the promising young colt "Den Harrison" owned by Starkweather & Johnson who expect to see him make some fast time as he is one of the best bred colts in the county.

A PURE FOOD BILL

Before the Michigan Legislature From the Lansing Journal.

"A bill for the preservation of the public health, and to provide against fraud and adulteration in food, drink and drugs," has been introduced in the Legislature at Lansing, by Mr. Neukirk. This bill is intended to prevent the adulteration of food and drink, and should it become a law, would no doubt go a great way toward protecting the public against the manufacturers of Alum and Ammonia baking powders. The leading medical authorities everywhere condemn the use of Alum in baking powders.

The Chicago Tribune, referring to the question of legislation on Alum and Ammonia baking powders, says: "It deals in a direct manner with an evil that must be cut down."

Following is a partial list of the names of the brands sold in this state that have been examined and found to contain either Alum or Ammonia. Many of the Alum and Ammonia powders are labeled and advertised as "absolutely pure" in order to mislead the public:

"Kenton," "Calumet," "Chicago Yeast," "Grant's Bon Bon," "Hotel," "Forest City," "Silver Star," "Monarch," "Rocket," "Home," "Perfection," "Unrivalled," "Towns Talk," "Loyal," "Snow Ball," "Climax," "Western Prince," "Crown," "White Cross," "Fos Fon," "Imperial."

In addition to the above list there is a multitude of brands sold with a prize. It is safe to reject all baking powders sold with a prize, as the tests show they are composed largely of Alum and cost but a few cents a pound. Also refuse any baking powder sold for twenty-five cents a pound, or less; it is sure to contain Alum.

Surely nothing but their cheapness could induce the public to experiment with unwholesome baking powders, at the risk of health. Aside from the question of health or wholesomeness, and viewed from the standpoint of economy alone, a pure grade cream tartar baking powder like "Dr. Price's" from its greater known strength and unquestioned purity will prove more economical to the user in every way.

A WAR ROMANCE.

Written for Memorial Day.

O THE LITTLE telegraph office at the foot of the mountain in Sam Chester's old home town. It had been a burning day, and the evening air was still almost stifling.

Just beyond the door, which stood open, he caught sight of a familiar figure, and saw that the girl who watched the instrument was reading in the last light of the dying day. He knew her. Sam did, and he had often wondered what had brought her from a pleasant home at the North to a station like that in the heart of the Gila country.

The very loneliness of the place had thrown them more closely together, but nothing like love had, as yet, passed between them; though Sam, old soldier that he was, had thought what a pretty wife he would have if he could win her.

"There're not all alike, the women," he would say to himself, when he was watching her from the platform, half fearing to address her, though he knew that he would meet with a welcome no matter how busy she was. "The boys used to say in the army that I was doomed to live out my days without a wife, but I don't know. I rather like Bess—perhaps because we're both from the same state."

This would always be the end of his musing, and he would steal away if he happened to come in sight, and she would see nothing more of him the rest of the day.

But on this particular afternoon Sam came to the door, and touched his hat to the girl who had the look aside and asked him if a storm was coming. "I can't know about that," said Sam. "I don't think we are going to have the sort of a storm you fear, Miss Bess, but the Indians are up again down on the river, and were apt to have trouble with them."

"Oh, I hope not. They came by here to-day and nodded up at me. But, just here, one of your ordinary companions dropped in upon me this afternoon."

"One of my pals?" echoed Sam. "At least he said he was."

"What did he call himself?" "Jack Dawson."

In an instant Sam fell back, white at the lips, and the girl, who happened to be looking at his hands, saw them shut impulsively.

He did not like the thought of Jack Dawson coming to these parts, at least not while such a vision of female loveliness filled the chair in the telegraph office.

Bess turned and looked after him a moment, and then went back to her work.

"What makes that man hunt me to her in this fashion?" mused Sam. "That old quarrel sticks in his craw yet, and we will have to have a settlement when we come together. Jack Dawson."

TOUCHED HIS HAT TO THE GIRL. It was the day before the opening at Gettysburg, and you took the initiative and gave me that brutal insult. It was all about a girl, but she's been dead these ten years, and neither of us you her, and now you come down here just to rob me again.

"I'm not going to stop till I've found him. We've got to fight it out some time and it may as well be now. This world, big as it is, is too small for us and the meeting has to come. I'll take the Will fire trail after I've had a bite, and maybe I'll have something of him in that direction."

Sam was good as his word, and after a bite he mounted his horse and rode away. The old ranchman knew the trails of the region. Danger had never daunted him, and from being the devil of the regiment he could be as gentle as a woman and his hands were as soft as a girl's.

Three hours later Sam was a long distance from his home, and in the wildest part of the Gila country. "It's him," he said half aloud. "It's Jack as large as life, and the only enemy I had in the old army."

Sam kept nearer, leading his horse by the rein, and when near the cabin he stopped and seemed to draw back with a dark frown.

"He doesn't look for me. No, no, he never dreams that I am here, and I could startle him out of his boots."

All at once the man in front of the shanty knocked the ashes from his pipe and looked up.

What did he see?

In the light stood the man he had not met in nearly twenty years.

For a moment the twin stood face to face, and Sam, advancing, impulsively said:

"At last! You didn't look for me, Jack, eh?"

Just beyond the door, which stood open, he caught sight of a familiar figure, and saw that the girl who watched the instrument was reading in the last light of the dying day. He knew her. Sam did, and he had often wondered what had brought her from a pleasant home at the North to a station like that in the heart of the Gila country.

Sam kept nearer, leading his horse by the rein, and when near the cabin he stopped and seemed to draw back with a dark frown.

He looked up at the cloudless sky and thought for a moment of the sacredness of the day. There were to be no memorial exercises for him, though he knew that his comrades scattered over the land would keep it sacred, and strew flowers in more than a thousand places.

But for him a hunt for vengeance! Sam struck a trail and followed it.

"I don't know what this means," he ejaculated. "Here I am going toward Jack Dawson's ranch. The trail leads from the station, and he said that Bess was a beauty—curses him! I wonder what this means, anyhow."

On, on, over the arid waste, and at last through the cañon pass which would let him out upon the ranch tenanted by his old foe.

Sam was breathing hard when he emerged from the bushes and rode into the cañon. He looked forward and saw the little shanty where he had encountered his rival. The door was open, and he caught sight of a figure standing like a statue there in the hot rays of the sun.

"Great heavens! it looks like Bess!" cried Sam, feeling his blood in his hot temples.

He shut his eyes and then opened them, but the vision was still before him. Bess was in the door, but she had not seen him, and he rode on, wondering what she would say and how he should meet her. Bess in Jack Dawson's shanty. It was a torture; it was the next thing to death!

THE FIRST USE OF GAS.

The Honor of Its Introduction Belongs to William Murdoch.

Great was the amazement of all Europe when, at about the close of the last century, William Murdoch discovered that gas could be used for illuminating purposes. So little was the invention understood by those who had not seen it in use that even the great and wise men (?) of the British parliament laughed at the idea.

"How can there be a light without a wick?" said one member of that august body with a wink and a knowing nod. Even the great Sir Humphrey Davy ridiculed the idea of lighting towns and cities with gas.

He one day asked Murdoch: "Do you mean to use the dome of St. Paul's for your gas meter?" Sir Walter Scott also made merry of the gas idea and of the coming attempt to "illuminate London with smoke from a tar factory."

When the house of commons was finally lighted with the new illuminant the architect and custodian of the building, who imagined that the gas ran as fire through the pipes, insisted that they be removed several inches from the wall to prevent the building from taking fire!

Several distinguished members were also observed carefully touching the pipes with their gloved fingers and then smelling of them to see if they could detect the odor of burnt leather.

The first shop in London lighted by gas was one of which a Mr. Ackerman, a German, was the proprietor. This shop was on the Strand, and the date was 1811. One of the ladies of rank who often visited the Ackerman shop was so delighted with the brilliancy of a gas jet on one of the counters that she requested the proprietor to let her take it home for the evening, promising to return it safe and sound on the morrow.

Although many lay claim to the honor of being the first to introduce gas for practical purposes, all the glory there is in it should be accorded to Murdoch, who was, no doubt, the original discoverer of the art.

IN THIBET.

Journals of Explorers in That Little Known Country.

Captain Bower, the Thibetan explorer, has arrived in London with a mass of valuable information concerning that little-known country, which he has collected primarily for the benefit of the Indian government.

In the course of fifteen months of travel across the wildest part of the country he learned many curious and interesting facts about the inhabitants. His journey was made during 1891 and 1892, and his route was almost due west to east, starting from Leh or Ladak and crossing the track of some other explorers who had traversed the country from north to south.

He crossed, among others, the route followed by M. Bonvalot, the French explorer, and his companion, Prince Henry of Orleans, but, like all other travelers in recent times, he found it impossible to enter Lhasa. His nearest point was about 15 miles from the holy city.

The priests are practically supreme in the country, but nowhere did he meet with hostile treatment from the natives. The Sikkim war has had a wholesome effect, and the Englishman traveling in Thibet is now in no danger. Some idea of the difficulties and hardships of the journey may be gathered from the fact that much of the road was from first to last eighteen thousand feet above the level of the sea, and that for weeks together he and his companions did not meet a single human being.

Had a Volcano in Its Arms.

Courage like that sometimes accorded to the red man was witnessed at Steamboat, Pa., the other day. Irvin, Derk, Charles Shannon and Clarence Fredericks broke into Weldy's polder mill one night and secured a large amount of duolin.

Next morning the boys found it frozen. Derk stacked 111 pieces as large as a candle around a stove to thaw. The lads went skating, and later Mrs. Derk discovered the explosive, partial y melted. She summoned her husband, who, after wrapping clothes around his feet and fitting gloves upon his hands, bravely crept up to the sputtering duolin.

Piece by piece he laid it in the clothes basket, expecting every moment that he and the house would be blown to pieces. When he emerged with the explosives he was cheered by the by-standers.—Philadelphia Record.

Artillery Practice on Board Ship.

During a cruise of the ships of our white fleet the guns are fired with full charges once a month. But it costs hundreds of dollars to do this, and for purposes of drill between times a block is fitted into the barrel of each gun. This block is perforated with a bore not much larger than a rifle barrel, and to fire a blank cartridge through that only cost a cent. At the same time all the mechanism of the gun has to be used as in firing heavy charges, so that the sailors get the benefit of the practice.

A Large and Elderly Froz.

A dead bull frog owned by a resident of New Haven, Conn., is claimed to be one of the oldest and largest frogs in this part of the world. The animal is known to be at least 14 years old, and measures eighteen inches from head to foot, twelve inches across the back and weighs four pounds.

The Irrespressible Youngster.

Edith, aged 6—Mithor Hardy, where's Innoh?

Mr. Hardy—Why do you ask me, dear?

Edith—Can't she thaid there's where you watch wath.

Be on your Guard.

If some grocers urge another baking powder upon you in place of the "Royal," it is because of the greater profit upon it. This of itself is evidence of the superiority of the "Royal." To give greater profit the other must be a lower cost powder, and to cost less it must be made with cheaper and inferior materials, and thus, though selling for the same, give less value to the consumer.

To insure the finest cake, the most wholesome food, be sure that no substitute for Royal Baking Powder is accepted by you.

Nothing can be substituted for the Royal Baking Powder and give as good results.

"I say, new boy," a youngster was asked on going to school, "have you got an older brother?" "Yes," "How old is he?" "I don't know, but he's just beginning to swear."

Hawkins—You were on the jury in the murder trial weren't you? What was the verdict? Lambson—Acquittal. "In spite of such convicting evidence? What excuse had you?" "Insane."

"What! All of you?" "All of us," replied the jury.

A Chicago man offers his services to the public as a letter-writer, and warms his epistles to start a parent's tear, stir the expiring embers of waning affection and awaken the full ecstasy of a lover's heart.

Until within a year it was a point of military honor with Prussian officers to be scarce dig or cut up to civilians. But the German emperor took occasion to suggest to them that they be gentlemen first and officers later. Their manners are now improved.

An Indianapolis man is the owner of a parrot that is noted for its talking power. Early the other morning the man was awakened by an unusual outburst of profanity, intermixed with screams and ejaculations, the purport of which explained itself when a burglar was discovered making his escape through an open window. The man fired several shots at the robber, without taking effect, but it encouraged the bird to continue to scream in a way which would have shocked a less susceptible person.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And, because of that, there's something unusual in the way of selling it. Where every other medicine of its kind only promises, this is guaranteed. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The only guaranteed remedy for every disease caused by a disordered liver or impure blood. Dyspepsia, Biliousness, the most stubborn Skin, Scap and Scrofulous affections, even Consumption (or Lung-Scrofula) in its earliest stages, all are cured by it.

It purifies and enriches the blood, rouses every organ into healthful action, and restores strength and vigor. In building up both flesh and strength of pale, puny, Scrofulous children, or to invigorate and brace up the system after "Grippe," pneumonia, fevers, and other prostrating acute diseases, nothing can equal the "Discovery."

You pay only for the good you get.

is often equivalent to getting ill. If loss of flesh can be arrested and disease baffled the "weak spots" in the system are eradicated.

Scott's Emulsion

is an absolute corrective of "weak spots." It is a builder of worn out failing tissue—nature's food that stops waste and creates healthy flesh.

Prepared by Scott & Bown, Chemists, New York. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Thompson's Eye Water

is a cure for all eye troubles. No matter how long they have been in the eye, it will cure them. It is a cure for all eye troubles. No matter how long they have been in the eye, it will cure them.

MASCULINE MINDS.

At the age of 36 years lean men generally become fatter and stout men thinner.

Von Arndt—What do you generally take for a headache? Le Swill—A champagne supper.

There are two places where it requires an effort to keep one's balance—on the ice and at the bank.

Albie, Edith and Elsie Frank, three brothers, who live at Castle Hill, Maine, are said to average seven feet in height.

Jasper—Is intoxication always followed by a swelled head? Ju-pappe—Yes, even when a man has been intoxicated by success.

The man who found a five-dollar gold piece remaining in his pocket one morning was indebted to the fact that his wife thought it was a cent.
