COMMENCEMENT

The Affair Passed Off Very Pleasantly.

AMID YELLOW AND BLUE BUNTING.

And Flowers the Four Graduates Received Their Diplomas.

Once more commencement week and commencement day has come and gone. Though the class was again small the exercises possessed unusual interest. The event took place at the opera house Thursday night in the presence of a goodly sized crowd. The stage was tastefully decorated with blue and yellow bunting, the class colors, flowers and maple leaves while just over the rear center door stage setting was the class motto, "Step by Step," made from pansy blossoms, the class flower.

The first on the program was the piano duet by Misses Root and Joslin after which Rev. P. Ross Parrish offered the invocation. Following this came the salutatory by HARRY S. GERMAN.

After thanking the people for their interest and demonstrated by their presence, the school board for their efficiency and the teachers for their interest and good work he proceeded with his oration of "Money, Its Uses and Value." This was a carefully prepared paper and besides being very interesting was delivered with good effect. He spoke of the various kinds of money, taking the three different conceptions the popular, legal and politico economic as his text. He spoke of the two extremes, the miser and the spendthrift; the poor man who gave a penny and the millionaire who gave nothing; thousands of dollars for prize fights and nothing for the starting. He paid a fitting tribute to the generosity of ex-Governor Alger, the Detroit philanthropist of others who gave liberally to our churches and to the late John Garfield, who presented to this village a beautiful tower clock thereby leaving a lasting monument to his memory.

Mr. Long came next on the program for a solo which was followed by the oration on "The Classics" by FRANK A. LEWIS.

"Classical literature" is said to be one of the most important subjects which occupies the mind of a cultivated man and the idea that progress is being made in this line is an error which deludes many persons from entering to any extent in classical study. There is no material of education within our reach better fitted to discipline the mind for good sound logical reasoning than the classics. He said that the brightest lights of every literature have been men learned in what was to them antiquity. In conclusion he prophesied that when the classics were taken from our schools our characters would become narrow to the last degree and our literature like our characters. The oration was carefully prepared and well delivered.

A vocal duet by Mrs. Dolph and Mr. Flint followed Mr. Lewis' oration and then the girls took their turn at the educational wheel. "Popular Superstitions" was the subject of the essay by

ROSE A. BARLEY.

After saying that no one with any intellect would be guilty of believing in any of the old superstitions she went on to tell how just such superstitions did effect different people. She advised the scientific study of all phenomena of the kind to ascertain the cause. Among the absurdities she spoke of the unlucky Friday and then told of all the brilliant and successful happenings on that day. Of cutting an infant's finger nails, or looking into a mirror before reaching the age of one year, falling stars, returning to the house after starting on a journey, faith omie, dreams, singing of the tea kettle, counting funeral carriages, thirteen at a table, etc., any of which calamities were likely to end in a terrible death. The subject was a good one and was recited in a droll, sarcastic manner, highly pleasing to the audience.

The male quartette, Messrs Jenkins, Brown, Flint and Blackwood, then gave a selection and then followed the essay "Night Brings Out the Stars" and the valedictory by

E. ADELIN SPALDING.

"When our troubles are many," she said, "we are driven to exhibit zeal and self denial, but it is quite different at other times and joys and pleasures make us forget our highest ideals and we sink into inglorious ease." Then she spoke of the people who were never content with their lot no matter whether in rain or sunshine they always complain and never think of the silver lining to all dark clouds. She spoke of the great achievements which had been made only after repeated discouragement and failure. Of the lives of Luther, Columbus, Handel, Beethoven, Mozart, Washington and others and the dark days of the revolutionary and civil wars; all of which were followed by bright stars. The essay was thoughtfully prepared and well delivered. It was followed by the valedictory where the class of twelve years ago as was compared to a variety of corn then planted which in a measure was lost sight of until fifteen of the ears entered the high school in 1890. One bright kernel ripened and fell off a year ago; one had been waited to Denver; another was married three months ago; three others are scattered over our state; four remain in our town; the tenth is missing, while the eleventh does not ripen till another year. The four remaining kernels were now ready for the harvest and to be sheathed.

Only four kernels of corn, Their mission to fulfill; Only four '94 graduates To climb up life's hill Just one step at a time.

Mrs. Cranson followed with an instrumental solo after which Prof. Bliss in a few well chosen remarks coupled with a good lot of advice presented the diplomas. Rev. Mr. Parrish pronounced the benediction and the event was over.

The '95s Reception

After the exercises at the opera house Thursday night the class of '95 tendered the graduates a reception at the home of Mrs. J. Beal, Main street. There were some forty guests present to enjoy the occasion and the rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and evergreens. In the dining room was arranged a unique fountain which added to the evening's delight by both its novelty and constant cooling splash as the water fell here and there among the rocks and flowers. The tables were decorated with the '95's class colors, pink and green. It was an enjoyable affair.

E. J. Smith for many years the well known witty editor of the Adrian Press has accepted the business management of the Ann Arbor Argus. Smith, as a newspaper man, is a hustler. Already his ear marks are to be seen all through the Argus and the paper at once assumes a much improved appearance.

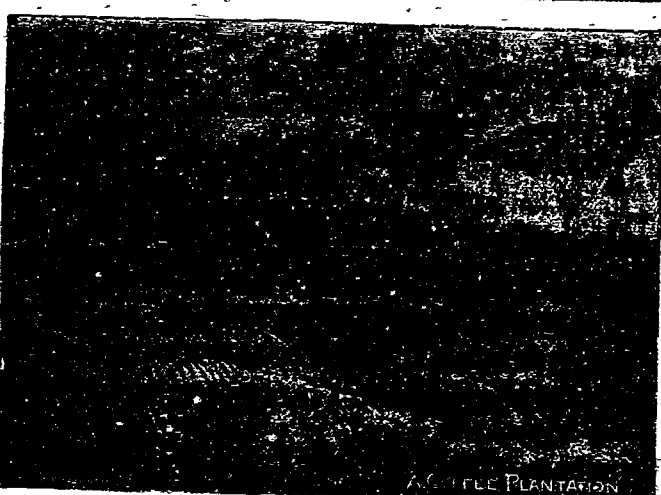

The Farmington Enterprise understands that our N. H. Power will have to move to Wayne to comply with the new postal order. It's a mistake—Mr. Power stays right here. The p. o. officials consider Northville a suburban resident town for Detroit people and they can reside here and do business in or out of Detroit.

All depends on where they were hit. They already have the appearance of having been hit on the head. The next strokes should be applied in the vicinity of coat tails.

Courier to spring a botanical story like this on us without the usual notice. By what right does the Courier break over the established rule of legitimate fish and snake story telling where each editor stands an equal chance? The Courier is bringing the ethics of the profession into disrepute.

In speaking of the work of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Yarnall Gold Club the Ann Arbor Argus asks: "In the interest of humanity let it be discovered what the ladies of Northville are doing to wreck the unsobriety of the community like that."

The RECORD, with Northville is so proud of it we hasten to inform the Argus that the ladies raised sufficient money and sent six of as hard drinkers as Wayne county ever saw through the Yarnall cure. Everyone of the half dozen was successfully cured and are today sober, industrious citizens. The ladies raised the money by giving entertainments, socials and the like. The club consists of some of the leading ladies of the village and besides the above they have lent much to the entertainment of the "strangers within our gates."

The Plymouth Mail still insists that during the Northville Plymouth ball game here June 6, that "the worst of order prevailed and the ungentlemanly conduct of some of the Northvilleites was disgusting." Furthermore the editor asserts "his own reporter" was present and wrote the article and the editor stands back of it. Glad to know it. We then owe the Plymouth ball boys an apology. It seems after all that the Mail reporter is the only one who witnessed the anarchical conduct on the part of Northvilleans. The Mail man shows himself to be a crank of the first water. The audience that day consisted almost entirely of ladies, Gold Cure visitors and Plymouth people. All the Plymouth folks we have talked with, including stockholders of the club, consider the "Mail reporter" had a wheel in his head that day. The Mail man says the Northvilleans commenced the trouble by refusing to let the visitors furnish the umpire. Does the Mail have a corner on umpires? The Plymouth club furnished the umpire when the Northville team visited Plymouth the week previous and the Plymouth club conceded the same right to the Northville club here. No one objected except the "Mail reporter." Hereafter when Northville plays ball and the Mail reporter is present it will be conducted on the same plan as Sunday schools.

Sunday Morning: Wife—Come, John, why don't you get up? Your breakfast was ready an hour ago and it's spoiled by this time. Husband—Is it? Very well; then I don't want it. Call me in season for dinner.

Freddie—You say you are sure Miss Ervingston takes great pleasure in your company? The Bore—Sure. Why last night she told me that an hour spent with me was equal to a year spent with any one else.

"Mistah," said an urchin to the man who was driving a very poor horse, "does yoh want me to hol' 'im?" "No; this horse won't run away." "I didn't mean hol' 'im fas' so he won't run away. I meant hol' 'im up, so he won't drop."

CURRENT SCIENCE.

A Berlin chemist claims to have discovered a chemical preparation which will turn a living person to marble in six months, the petrification being complete one month after death. "You can have your choice of white, black or mottled marble, and if a good figure you will be worth $500 as a piece of statuary."

Bacteriologist Herman M. Biggs of New York has made a report to the board of health of the results of his investigation into 268 cases of so-called "membranous croup." He says that his observations justify the conclusion that the disease is nothing more or less than laryngeal diphtheria. He recommends that membranous croup should be put on the list of contagious diseases, concerning which reports from physicians to the health board are required.

Another article formerly included among those considered and treated as worthless has recently been added to the useful products, and is known as mineral India rubber asphalt. This article is produced during the ordinary process of refining tar by sulphuric acid, and forms a black material very much like common asphalt, and elastic like India rubber. On being heated so that the sticky matter is reduced to about sixty per cent of its former size there results a substance hard, like ebony; it can be dissolved in naphtha, and is an excellent non-conductor of electricity, being therefore valuable for covering telegraph wires and for purposes where a non-conducting substance is needed.

The quickest, cheapest and most effectual block that can be used to check a declining business is advertising.

A Providence girl who is heiress to $20,000,000 has just married an American. This simply goes to show that the world do move and that foreign fortune hunters are not in it.

A DISPATCH says that Dr. Thomas A. Jamison of West Superior, Wis., has gone to Edinburgh, Scotland, after an inheritance of $70,000,000. It has been accumulating for 134 years. The original sum was $350,000, deposited in the bank of Edinburgh by two brothers, his mother's ancestors. We sincerely trust that Jamison will get this money and bring it to this country at once. We need it here. The balance of this kind of trade has been against us for some years. Hurry up, Jamison and don't take a shilling less than $70,000,000!

COLONEL MURPHY, whose labors in behalf of corn bread in Germany were the object of the delighted interest of the American people, has now transferred his field of usefulness to Belgium and will give away corn pones and hoe cakes at the Antwerp exposition. It is to be hoped that Colonel Murphy will succeed in convincing the Belgians who are now absolutely ignorant of corn meal, that they "don't know what's good," until they have made its acquaintance. Books have been written of late to show that the American colonies owed much to the Low Countries for ideas concerning civil liberty; there is a chance to pay off the obligation in corn cakes.

The American rooster may "now for a space crow pianissimo, for here are a lot of German cities which have of late, in ratio of increase, outgrown all American cities, leaving them huddled down, so to speak, to the rearward. Well may the patriot and the erstwhile tooter of the plangent National horn inquire of the destinies why this is thus, and if it is to continue, what is to become of us as a people. To be outstripped by anybody in any direction would be sufficiently galling to the patriotic sensibilities, but to be left behind in such a race by a people miraculous in all borders of the earth since the days of Tacitus for their slowness, solidity and immobility is too mortifying.

The Grant family emphatically deny the reported engagement of Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris to General Kyd Douglass. This ought to be accepted as conclusive and forestall further gossip about this matter. It is reasonable to suppose that these stories are annoying to Mrs. Sartoris, and more especially if they are not true. It is generally understood that her marriage with Sartoris was not felicitous. But by the way of compensation she is left with ample means of support and beautiful children, who are to her a great source of pride and comfort. With all that she has to remember and with all that she has to brighten her future, it is doubtful whether she would care to risk the chances of matrimony again.

Why should Yale college send a crew to Oxford this year or any other year? Such international racing as there has been hitherto has taken place on the Thames. It is the Englishman's turn to come to America. And they would come fast enough if they wanted to, if, in other words they valued the trophies to be won on this side of the Atlantic. They do not, nor care a fig for victory or defeat at the hands of any American collegians, nor know whether Yale college is in California or the state of New Haven. Which facts ought to deter any self-respecting American collegians from seeking the sort of recognition in England that some Yalestians seem to desire so ardently. Anglomaniacs and honest sports are queer bedfellows.

Poisons are now more generally used by farmers in fields and orchards than was common in their olden time. One caution in their use can hardly be too often repeated. They should on no account be handled by any who have cuts on their hands or sores on their person anywhere into which the poison may get. When thus introduced into the system the poison goes directly to the blood, and is much more effective and prompt than if taken into the stomach. Only a few days ago we read of a farm laborer who got some Paris green in a cut on his hand and died in two hours thereafter. The best antidote for Paris green poison is oxide of iron or iron rust. A few cents will buy a bottle in liquid form at any drugstore, and now that Paris green is in such general use a bottle of the antidote ought to be in every house.

A New York policeman found a mysterious sealed package on Broadway one day last week, which was at first thought to be dynamite, but proved to contain 6,000 live silkworms. As the silkworms did not turn, the policeman lives to tell the story.

An Oakland girl, tired of the pangs of love unrequited, jumped into a lake where the murky waves were three feet deep. She did not drown, but there is a hope she got rid of the pangs.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

SENATE—18th day.—Among the bills passed was one to authorize a commission to draft a code of laws for the district of Alaska, and another to promote the efficiency of the courts. Mr. Hill of New York introduced a bill to amend the income tax feature of the tariff bill, and delivered a carefully prepared argument. A sensational combat was waged between Mr. Hill and Mr. Chandler of Massachusetts, who opposed the income tax. Mr. Hill moved that the bill be passed, and the income tax should cease. He said that the income tax was a burden on the people, and that it was a mistake to have it. Mr. Chandler replied that the income tax was a necessary part of the government, and that it was a mistake to have it. The bill was passed by a vote of 54 to 46.

A LOVE STORY.

An old world garden, so peaceful, quiet and still, where the roses nod their heads in the summer breeze, was a place where the secrets of the high, overhanging trees, bringing them, too, the music of the tiny fountain blithely dancing in the sunlight, while reflecting back their brightness in a thousand and a half, and singing sweetly all the live-long day to the rippling brook wending far away through the meadows beyond, to lose itself amid warring fields of corn, gleaming like yellow gold in the valley below.

On the close-cropped grass platformed over and over, where the fairies hold their court on its green carpet night after night, stands an old moss-covered sundial, marking off the hours, keeping steady pace with the march of time. How many love tales could that old dial tell; the same sweet story had been poured out so often by its stones that it must know it all—the sighs and tears, the sweet love whispers, the hot, swift words that sprang so quickly from the parted lips, the faltering answer so low as to hardly break the stillness; as the seconds pass under the shadows of the dial's face.

A young man, strong and straight as an Apollo, kneeling by its weather-beaten stones, is pouring out his love story to a dainty maiden so small and fragile that almost the fairies might claim her for their own. There is a delicate rose flush under the tender skin of the maiden's face, while her eyes are shaded from sight under long drooping lashes, and the sweet lips are pointingly curved as her little hands push back the roses he offers her so tenderly. Her blue eyes cloud a moment as she turns away her dainty head.

"Then you don't love me any more, Mignon?" And I plucked these pretty roses all for you, and these wild flowers to twine in your hair and crown you a queen my queen, my little queen, Mignon?" A tender thrill runs through the young man's voice. "Mignon am I to go away?" Don't you want my love and my wild flowers, as quickly dying, Mignon?" His face comes closer to hers, and one arm steals gently around the tiny waist. "Mignon," his pleading voice goes on, "you love me, you're only making believe not to."

Does a simple steal into the maiden's cheek and the eyes shily glance at the brave fellow kneeling at her feet in all the glorious strength of his young manhood? The tiny arms are clasped tightly around his neck, and in a whisper, sweet and low, while the seconds pass under the shadow on the old dial's face, comes the answer he awaits—"I does oo, papa."

LONDON'S LORD MAYOR.

When Arrived in robes of State His Glory Is Like Solomon's.

The foundation of municipal honor in England undoubtedly springs from the Guildhall, London, which justly claims to be accounted the most ancient of our municipal halls, seeing that the lord mayor of the last eight centuries are with justice assumed to have their prototypes in the Roman prefect and the Saxon Forester or Portgave.

For a considerable number of years the robes of the lord mayor, the court of aldermen, and the common councilors have been settled with a precision that none, save the most reckless of inventors, would presume to disturb. The lord mayor himself has his "gold" robe for the occasion of the annual Guildhall banquet and the times when he proceeds in state either to the new law courts or to the houses of parliament. The aldermen have their scarlet gowns, the sheriffs their distinctive and very handsome robes and chains, while the common councilors rejoice in gowns called "mazarines," it being generally understood that mazarine is a term for a particular dark blue color, although according to some lexicographers, mazarine also means a drinking vessel and an old way of dressing fowls.

Then, again, when the sovereign comes into the city, the lord mayor is bound to don a robe of crimson or purple velvet, trimmed with ermine. At the time of his investiture, he wears a massive gold chain, but when he is honored by re-election at the expiration of his term of office he wears two chains. The mace of silver-gilt, surmounted by a royal crown and the imperial arms, is carried before the mayor by the authority of the charter of Edward III., while the city possesses no less than four swords, one called the "Pearl," presented by Queen Bess when she opened the first royal exchange, and so-called from its being richly set with pearls. This sword precedes the chief magistrate on all occasions of rejoicing and festivity. The sword of state is carried before the lord mayor as an emblem of his sovereignty within the city proper, the "black" is used on fast days in lent and at the death of any member of the royal family; while the fourth sword is that placed close to the lord mayor's chair at the central criminal court.

Queer Effect of an Earthquake.

The correspondent at Atlanta of the London Times has visited Chalco, the capital of the northern part of the island of Euboea, which island was greatly affected by the recent earthquake. A most peculiar incident noticed by him was the action of the lofty Venetian tower in the center of the town. It swung to and fro so violently that it knocked down an adjoining wall, though it remained standing itself and sustained no damage.

W. S. Hull the well known secretary and business manager of the Globe Furniture factory at Walkerville, was the guest of F. R. Beal over Sunday. Mr. Hull says the business depression of the states is not felt in Canada and their business is now increasing to such an extent that more men will soon be put to work. They employ from forty to sixty at present.

All work left at Webber's laundry by Monday noon will be ready for the 4th.

To Whom It May Concern.

The orchards sold by H. R. Babcock last fall and about Salem, Mich., have done finely and nearly all the trees grew. About seven and one-half per cent died out of some 7,000 trees. What did not grow Mr. Babcock has come personally and supplied each man with trees, carrying them to each patron. He has done just as he agreed what no other fruit man has ever done by us. If there are any honorable fruit men, Mr. B. is considered one of them. Salem, Mich., June 5, 1894. Signed, Henry Whipple, James Bullock, Stephen Atchison, Adolf Grier, Wm. Murray, Bert Rich, John Stevens, N. A. Withee, Jas. Boyle.

Many people think Furniture is Furniture and that all furniture is the same because it looks the same. The Hard Times have created a demand for cheap goods and many manufacturers have taken advantage of the same by using inferior grades of material all through. Can you afford to pay for expensive when you can get it for you? Furniture has been our study for 10 years and it has enabled us to give you good goods at cheap prices.

A special business meeting of the Ladies' Guild will be held in the lecture room of the Methodist church at 3:00 p. m. today. Important matters. Let there be a full and prompt attendance.

Children's day was appropriately observed by the Methodists Sunday morning and by the Presbyterians Sunday evening. The exercises at both places were entirely given up to the children.

Mrs. Rockwell had her foot quite badly injured by a stove falling on it some weeks ago and although at first the injury appeared only slight it continues to grow worse and is likely to prove quite serious.

The new directory will surely be ready for delivery Monday. One copy will be presented to each family with the understanding they put some kind of a number on their house.

Extra copies twenty cents.

The Miff-Tee lecture at the Baptist church Wednesday night was both entertaining and admonitory. It was a humorous caricature of the people in church, business and society who take offence unduly and sulk. More of us people should have heard it.

Editor of Record.—Will you through the columns of your paper extend the heartfelt thanks of a sorrowing husband, father and mother for the sympathy and assistance so freely given in our late terrible bereavement. FRED FENN, ANDREW HOUK AND WIFE.

We neglected to say last week that Charley Woodman's pig came back. The RECORD had not been out more than two hours when Charley Yerkes saw the pig and forthwith returned the porker to Mr. Woodman. The pig had wandered over into Mr. Yerkes' Oakland county farm the previous week.

The majority of Northville people will attend the 4th of July celebration at Holly. The band goes, as also does our base ball club. The band is in fine shape and will unquestionably be one of the leading attractions that day.

The ball club is to don their best batting clothes and calculate to bring home the fifty dollar prize.

The K. P.'s observed memorial day Sunday afternoon. The rain prevented the program from being carried out in full. After brief exercises in the ball a volunteer delegation proceeded to the cemetery and placed floral emblems on the graves of Knights Toll man and Rockwell. The grave of Knight Sackett was decorated in the forenoon.

C. A. DOWNER, P. M.

Work has commenced on the T. C. Owen addition to the W. I. Elv residence on Main street. The work is to be completed by September 1st. It will be of frame, having a frontage of thirty feet, to be finished with all the modern improvements, and will cost about $5,000. Mr. and Mrs. Owen will move here from Detroit soon as the building is complete. Charley Smith has the contract.

Notwithstanding the fact that the cry of "hard times" is heard in every section of the land, money is squandered just as freely as ever in all kinds of amusements, sports, street fairs and luxuries—for whiskey, tobacco, etc.

Thousands seem to have plenty of money to spend in this way who on account of the "hard times" can't meet their honest obligations or provide their families with the comforts of life.

Prof. J. H. Simonds and wife, for four years connected with Napa college conservatory of music at Napa, Calif., Mr. Simonds as director and Mrs. S. as professor of voice culture, with their son are spending a few weeks with their parents, E. Simonds and wife.

This fall they go to Denver where he has been elected dean of the university of the Denver school of music, for which he is now arranging his courses and securing teachers for the work.

It is being generally conceded now that Gen. Spaulding of Monroe is almost sure to be the republican nominee for congress from this district. He is sure to have a solid delegation from Monroe and Wayne counties, while the majority of Lenawee is coming to his favor. The Brooks-O'Donnell fight at Jackson cannot help but result in the General's favor. Willard Sterns of the Adrian Press seems to be the prospective candidate of the democratic party, providing Gorman draws out.

The council and board of health cannot be too wary how they allow foreign fruit peddlers or street fairs to ply their vocation about our streets. Any of them are likely to be infected with smallpox, traveling as they are in and about the infected districts, and our people cannot be too cautious how they patronize such people. The fellow who caused all the trouble at Clarenceville was one of just such chaps; the next visitor of the kind to Northville may be another. Keep them out.

The receipts at the band ice cream social Saturday night were $24.50 and forty cents kindly donated by Mrs. W. P. Yerkes raised the amount to $24.90; netting $14.75. This still leaves a shortage of about $6 which we have paid out of our own pocket to fulfill our contract with the tailor for the uniforms. Now if any more of our citizens feel like chipping in a little bit and wiping out this debt we shall be pleased. We have spent a considerable amount of time and done a lot of hustling to raise the required sum to purchase the uniform pants for the band that our citizens might have the pleasure of hearing their music on the streets this summer.

Our Farmington correspondent reports the death of Rhodes the Clarenceville smallpox victim.

Yesterday's ball game here between the Northville's and the Detroit Opera House club resulted in a score of 2 to 1 in favor of the latter. Game was called in the 3rd inning on account of the rain.

Mrs. Fred Fenn died at her home two miles south-west of the village Friday morning of last week. The funeral occurred from the late residence Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Arnold officiating. The remains were followed to their last resting place by one of the largest funeral corteges ever witnessed in this vicinity, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Mrs. Fenn was formerly Vena Houk, daughter of Andrew Houk, one of the best known men in this community. She was twenty-four years of age, a lovable young lady and had a host of friends in all parts of the town. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved parents, the afflicted husband and relatives.

A street fakir struck town Saturday evening and after securing a license to do business by representing himself and family as open air concert and gift enterprise people, proceeded to rope in the usual "suckers." Of course the sharper had no trouble in finding biters. Everyone was anxious to get $2 for $1 and at the same time bankrupt the gambler. Men who have been crying "hard times," kicking on short hours work at the factory, standing off their grocery dealers, landlords, barber shops, laundries and others, were on hand to take part in the performance. They fairly tumbled over each other to get a prize package and in the end got left for various sums ranging from 50c to $4. It was a gambling scheme from start to finish and the fakir quit business with a net gain of $20 in his pocket. It would have been much more creditable to the patrons of the game had they blown in their surplus funds at the band social where the net proceeds were some $6 less.

Races and Celebration at Holly.

All arrangements are now completed to have the biggest Fourth of July demonstration at Holly this year—that was ever held in Oakland county.

There will be three brass bands, athletic sports, a grand base ball game, horse races given under the direction of the Holly Driving club, with 51,300 guaranteed purse, a grand open air entertainment, and many other sports too numerous to mention. Judge Moore of Lapeer will deliver the oration: The members of the Holly Driving Club are doing their best to make their summer meeting, July 3rd, 4th and 5th, one of the best ever held in Southern Michigan.

CONDENSED NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE STATE.

The Trial of Attorney-General Ellis, Charged With Forgery Election Returns of Gogebic County, Ends in a Disagreement of the Jury.

After listening to nearly three weeks of testimony and lengthy arguments by the attorneys in the case, the jury in the Ellis election forgery case in the Ingham circuit court at Mason retired to determine as to the guilt or innocence of the accused. The many points in the case have been so often gone over that it would be superfluous to recount them here. Judge Person's charge to the jury was all that could be desired and was in keeping with his well-known impartial spirit. The first communication from the jury-room was received after the 12 had been out about 40 hours. It was as follows: "To His Honor, R. H. Person:—The jury cannot agree. Every vote has been the same as the first one. GEORGE LING, Foreman."

It was generally known that an agreement could not be expected, and the court told the counsel for the defense and the prosecution that he would summon the jury and see what was best to be done. There was quite a large gathering in the court room when, after another four hours wait, the judge carried out his intention. The attorneys seated themselves in their usual places, among them being the attorney-general, who calmly awaited the result. The jury came in looking fairly fresh after their long imprisonment. They were polled, and in reply to the court's inquiries, Foreman George Ling answered for the 12 men.

In response to inquiries, Mr. Ling said there was no chance of an agreement being reached. The judge then asked the opinion of the attorneys, and both sides thought it needless to continue their endeavor. Judge Person then dismissed the jury.

The jurors immediately broke away from their seats; some of them snatched their hats and darted out of the court room and into the open air like school boys at recess. There was no show of feeling on either side, and the participants in the case and the spectators soon deserted the court room.

The jury when it first retired took several ballots. All of them resulted similarly. There were seven votes for acquittal and five for conviction. At no period of the 41 hours was there any change in the standing of the jury. That the jury was in this manner divided and also that they voted, intentionally or not, on party lines, was figured out by people who knew all the jurors and watched their movements from a window opposite the court room during their deliberations and many hours before the message of hopelessness came from the jury the situation as it afterwards proved to be had been pretty well circulated. Immediately after the jury had been discharged the prosecuting attorney and the attorneys of Mr. Ellis arranged that the bonds of Mr. Ellis should hold good. Mr. Kirchner asked the prosecutor when he would be prepared to take up the second trial of the case. Mr. Goetz stated that he could not take it up until next term. Mr. Kirchner stated that he was going to Europe and would return September 20 and that they would be ready.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Crop Report of Michigan by the United States Weather Bureau, Detroit.

NORTHERN SECTION. Abundant showers together with warm weather have made crops come forward rapidly. Corn and potatoes are being cultivated and wheat, rye and oats and hay are showing a fine growth and condition. Fruits continue to make good progress. Apples, which are dropping from the trees in many places, are showing a fine growth and condition. Grapes are showing a fine growth and condition. Potatoes are showing a fine growth and condition. Potatoes are showing a fine growth and condition.

CENTRAL SECTION. The past week in this section has been one of fine crop growth. Small grains are generally reported in good condition except in scattered places where owing to adverse weather or use they are not up to the standard. Root crops, beans, garden vegetables and berries are better than in any age crop at present. Hay is mostly light although some counties will have a good crop. Fruits except apples are holding up well and a large crop is expected. Peaches are reported by many correspondents to be unusually fine. Hay has begun and wheat is turning golden.

SOUTHERN SECTION. In the counties of this section both temperature and sun have been above the average while the rainfall has been below the average. However no bad effect is noticeable upon the general crop conditions and most all classes are up to an average for the season. Corn though small is growing finely, oats in many places are beginning to head out. Hay is being harvested and is a light yield. Some have already been stored in the southwestern counties in good condition. Potatoes are well along. Some complaint of potato bugs. Fruit is still in prime shape. Apples will be short, complaints of their crop are general.

SUMMARY. The general condition of temperature rainfall and sunshine were very favorable for good crop growth. Warm showers were frequently reported generally in the central and northern sections and was combined with the hot weather operated to push all classes of vegetation forward very rapidly. The close of the week therefore finds the crops looking very favorable. Small grains especially wheat are in excellent condition, as also potatoes and other root crops. Fruits are better than the average. Apples, however, are dropping badly and all indications point to a light yield of this fruit.

Wants to Get Back Into Prison. Charley Burrell, a Negro brute just out of state prison, attempted an assault upon a colored woman named Cora Jacobs at Battle Creek. He tore her clothes nearly off her. Her screams brought assistance and the brute fled. The officers looked all night for him, and when found he threatened to kill them with an ax. Burrell is a giant in strength and is more of an animal than a human being, and has made himself a terror to all with whom he has come in contact.

An Old Soldier's Sad Condition. William English, an old veteran of Co. C, Second Michigan Infantry, was picked up on the street at Port Huron in an exhausted condition. English, who is also a mental and physical wreck, was placed in the hospital until sufficiently recovered to send to the Soldiers' home at Grand Rapids.

Samuel Sondag, of Detroit, was killed by a falling tree while peeling bark on Bois Blanc Island.

DETROITERS DROWNED.

A Sunday Excursion Across Lake St. Clair Cost Three Lives.

A terrible catastrophe occurred on Lake St. Clair, which resulted in the drowning of Caleb E. Healy, the well-known inventor of the Healy motor, who resides at 975 Jefferson avenue, and Kattie and Maggie Ortwine, aged 25 and 23 respectively, daughters of Capt. Peter Ortwine, of engine company No. 7, all of Detroit who were spending the day on the former's motor launch Ellen M. The two other occupants of the boat, Miss Birdie Rousseau, aged 17, and Miss Rose Hawley, aged 18, were saved by the crew of the propeller J. H. Pauly, commanded by Capt. Cooke, and coal-laden for Toledo. The little craft was literary swamped by the high sea which was running, and but for the timely assistance of the J. H. Pauly the whole five would have found a watery grave. Mr. Healy died at his post, while the Misses Ortwine seemed paralyzed with fear and they were unable to exert themselves. Each was solicitous of the other, and they died with one arm around the other's neck and with the other grasping the boat in a vain attempt to save themselves. Miss Rousseau and Miss Hawley were alive to the terrible danger that stared them in the face and they lost no time in plunging from the fast filling launch into the ready hands of the sailors who were staining every nerve to give assistance.

SADI CARNOT KILLED.

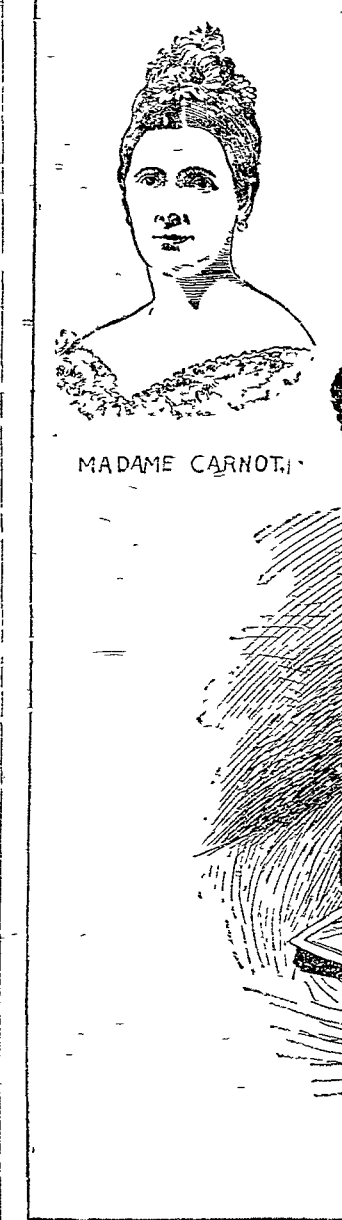

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE ASSASSINATED AT LYONS.

Attacked in His Carriage and Stabbed by an Italian—He Remains Conscious Until Death—Utmost Excitement Throughout France.

PARIS, June 25.—President Carnot was stabbed last evening in Lyons and died forty minutes past midnight. As the president was leaving the banquet of the exposition at Lyons at 9:20 o'clock in order to go to the theater he was stabbed with a knife in the stomach in the region of the liver. The assassin was arrested and was recognized as an Italian who had arrived in Lyons yesterday afternoon. He has refused to answer any questions until he is brought before the judges. The man's name is Cesare Giovanni Santo.

The crowd that assembled as soon as the assassination of the president became known, attacked and demolished three Italian cafes in Lyons. It was impossible, in spite of the intervention of the troops, to keep the crowd in check. The condition of the president was very alarming. The physicians succeeded in checking the hemorrhage, but at 11 o'clock it broke out again and the case became hopeless.

Alme. Carnot and her children left for Lyons on a special train at 1 o'clock this morning. M. Dupuy, the premier and president of the council of ministers, returned to Paris at once. The council is convened to meet at 10 o'clock this morning. The death of President Carnot will cause a profound sensation throughout the entire country. Paris is quiet, but to-morrow there will certainly be great excitement. Carnot was the type of an honest bourgeois, and in his unmerited and stupid death he will be profoundly sainted by all his adversaries. He did not merit such an end. He may have committed faults against parliamentary discipline, but he never committed any against political honesty. During his presidency he had to struggle against serious difficulties, and he always knew how to act with moral dignity.

The fact that this assassination has been committed on the anniversary of the battle of Solferino has been much commented on.

The political situation is very simple. Until the meeting of congress, which is composed of the senate and chamber of deputies, the president of the senate, Chamele Lacour, is president of the republic ad interim. The congress will probably meet Wednesday. Two candidates remain—M. Casimir-Perier and M. Charles Dupuy. The election of the former is probable.

HOW THE ASSASSIN DID HIS WORK.

President Carnot Struck While on His Way to the Theater.

LYONS, June 25.—The most intense excitement has been caused everywhere in France by the assassination of President Carnot. The president was visiting Lyons in connection with the international exhibition. Upon his arrival here he was tendered a reception at the prefecture, after which he visited the exhibition. After spending some time at the exhibition he proceeded to the Palais de Commerce, where a banquet was given in his honor.

At 9:25 o'clock President Carnot started for the theater, where a gala performance was to be given because of his presence in the city. Several carriages were in the procession, the first one being occupied by the president. M. Carnot's carriage was driven slowly along in front of the Palais de Commerce, and then turned into Rue de la Republique, still following the facade of the palace, when half way down the street, which was lined with enthusiastic crowds of people who were loudly cheering, a man rushed out of the crowd and sprang upon the step of the president's landau.

Just at this moment M. Carnot was waving his right hand and saluting with his hat in his left hand in response to the greeting that was being given him by the crowd. The people close to the carriage saw the man standing on the step had a knife in his hand. By the glare of the electric lights they saw the bright blade gleam in the air as the assassin's arm descended, and then President Carnot was seen to fall back in his seat, his face deathly pale. One of his hands was pressed over his heart, where the steel had entered the body.

M. Rivaud, prefect of Lyons, who was seated beside M. Carnot, immediately struck the assassin a blow full in the face and knocked him from the step, thus preventing the man from again stabbing the president, which it was his evident intention to do.

Instantly cries of "Le president est assassiné," "Mort a l'assassin," were heard on every side and the crowd in the vicinity of the carriage swelled to enormous proportions. Every member of it seemingly intent upon killing the assassin. He was grasped by a dozen hands and his life would have then and there paid the forfeit of his crime had it not been for several sergeants de ville, who seized him and attempted to draw him away from his captors. This was found to be impossible, as the infuriated populace were determined to lynch the man and the efforts of the sergeants availed nothing beyond saving the man from instant death.

Blows were aimed at his face and head over the shoulders of the police, who had by this time received reinforcements, and many of the blows landed fairly. At last the police succeeded in driving the howling mob back a foot or so from their prisoner, but to get the captive through the crowd was a physical impossibility.

In the meantime the news of the attempted murder had spread with lightning-like rapidity and mounted guards were sent to the aid of the police, who were still struggling to save the life of the assassin. With drawn sabers in their hands the guards rode down into the crowd heedless of whom their horses trampled upon. The crowd gave way before the horses and at last the center of the mob was reached. Then a cordon was formed around the ten almost exhausted policemen and their captive and the march to the police station began.

Even thus surrounded the prisoner was not safe, for men in the crowd made frantic endeavors to reach him. The guards repelled these attacks with the flat sides of their swords, while at the same time keeping watchful eyes upon the crowd to prevent the prisoner from being shot. Malefactions were hurled upon the captive, and never before has such a wild indignation against a human being been seen in this city.

Cesare Giovanni Santo is a beardless young man 20 or 25 years old. When arrested he was attired in a brown suit and wore a peaked cap that matched the suit in color.

As he marched under his police guard from the Rue de la Republique to the station he held his head down, but his eyes glanced furtively around, as though he was seeking an opportunity to escape from his captors. To have made such an attempt, however, would have been the height of foolhardiness, unless he desired to commit suicide, for there is not the slightest doubt that had he got away from the protection of the police he would have been torn limb from limb by the crowd, whose every action showed that they were thirsty for his blood.

PEOPLE WEEP AND CRY VENGEANCE.

Fifty Thousand People on the Streets of Lyons After the Murder.

LYONS, June 25.—The assassin presented himself at the door of the president's carriage holding a rose in his hand. This is the reason why the police allowed him to approach. The president of the department of Rhone, as soon as the murder was known, went to the theater and advised the public to remain calm. The theater was at once emptied. All the illuminations were extinguished. Men and women in the streets wept and shouts of vengeance against the Italians were heard from the crowd.

More than 50,000 people went towards the Italian consulate, around which the police, warned in time, had massed. The crowd demanded that the Italian flag and coat of arms should be removed. Another part of the crowd went to the Cafe Casati, kept by an Italian, and in spite of the presence of the troops sacked the place and burnt all its contents.

The wound received by M. Carnot was in the upper liver, which was pierced through and through. From the first the physicians believed that the wounded man was lost. He was

A FINE OLD LADY.

HALE AND HEARTY AT 85.

With Children and Grandchildren Around Her in the Autumn of Life, She Tells How Her Days Have Been Prolonged.

Mrs. Mary F. X., or as she is fondly called by all who know her, Aunt Mary Fox, lives in the township of Garfield near Leamington, Ont. She is, at 85, a remarkably hale and healthy woman, with children and grandchildren around her, to whom she frequently tells of how her life was prolonged. Her son, Chas. G. Fox, controls the old homestead, and is a well-known and respected resident of the county, having been nominated by his fellowmen for member of Parliament.

Mrs. Fox is a general old lady, and tells of her experiences and of the remedies that have done so much toward lengthening her days. Her own words will tell the story: "For years I was troubled with a severe kidney disease, at times unable to walk at all. The torture I suffered was something awful. I shudder to think of it. Death would be a happy deliverance in preference to living that period over again. I took many of the so-called kidney remedies on the market, and doctored with some of the leading physicians of the Province of Ontario, but always without much or any relief. About four years ago I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills from my son, who had used them for the same trouble just noticed. I thought I would try them, as everything had proven so unsuccessful that my faith was exhausted. However, at the request of my son I commenced their use. After a short time the pain in my back entirely left, and continuing with the pills I soon felt as well as ever. I may seem almost invincible, but I make this statement solemnly knowing the importance attached to it. I am 85 years of age now, and on the slightest indication of kidney trouble a few doses of the pills make me feel as well as ever. I really could not live without them. They do me so much good. I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I would be so glad if I could tell everyone about them who is troubled with their kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and by mail for $2.50. Foster-McMurray Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole Agents for the United States. Sent by mail on receipt of price. For sale by all dealers."

Wheat Should Ripen.

British authorities take very discouraging views of the prospects for wheat growing in the United Kingdom. The great obstacle to success is the competition of foreign producers. The British product supplies less than one-fourth the home consumption, while the United States and Canada supply fully one-half, the remainder coming from India, Hungary, Russia, and in small part from Australasia, Argentina and Chili. Large increase in the imports from the Canadian Northwest and Argentina are looked for in the near future.—Farmers' Review.

FILLED CHEST.—One of the prominent cheese dealers in Minneapolis had heard a good deal of the low prices at which pure full cream cheese was being offered in a town about four hundred miles east of here, and ever eager to be in line, and handle the best goods at the lowest prices, ordered a trial box, which was duly received, and billed at 9 cents per pound. Now, this commission man happened to know something about cheese himself, and he felt there was a Senegambian in the wood pile somewhere. He had an examination made by an expert, and it proved to be the very poorest of composition. He did not think that ever masqueraded under a title of cheese. Every known test was used, and as far as could be found out oleomargarine was purity itself beside the conglomeration of fats sent to the commission man. He intended to turn it over to the state dairy board, but changed his mind and shipped it back to the original house, demanding his freight that he had paid for getting it here. He received his answer yesterday, and in words more forcible than elegant was told that he was a chump if he expected full cream cheese at 9 cents a pound, and that they did not care to do business with any man that wasn't sharp enough to sell cheese at 17 cents per pound that he could buy for 9, when the public knew no difference.—Minneapolis Daily Produce Bulletin.

SOWING FIVE.—The seed of this crop is sown at the same time as oats—that is, as nearly in the spring as the soil is in good condition and the danger of frosts is past. March or April is the usual time of sowing. The land should be plowed in the fall and left rough until spring, when a cultivator, or harrow, is used to level and mellow the surface. It is best to sow the seed by a drill in rows about eight inches apart, so that the crop may be hoed or weeded in some way. This has a special importance for the yield of the crop. If the seed only is desired, one bushel to the acre is sown, as the thin seeding encourages the branching of the stems and the larger production of grain. If for the fiber, two bushels are sown, the thicker growth making less branchy and longer and straighter stems. The fiber is also finer in quality. If the crop is grown for the fiber, the plants are pulled up by the roots when the bottom of the stems appear of a yellowish color. After this period the seed is formed at the expense of the fiber, which becomes coarser and woody. If grown for the seed, the plant is left to ripen completely, when the stems are quite yellow and hard. The best land for this crop is grass sod on a rich, fine loam.—Ex.

The Yale corporation has fixed the prices to prevail for rooms in the new dormitories, and so for the time given their answer to the charge that Yale is providing for a rich clientele only. The schedule for Vanderbilt hall varies from $3.50 to $10 per week for a suite of one study and two bedrooms. The prices for Berkeley hall, the new building this year erected by the corporation, will range from fifty cents to $4 per week. At present the college dormitories will accommodate about 400 men, who pay an annual rental of less than $25.

Wixom correspondent, what's the matter now-a-days? Has the mercury "biled over" up your way or have you spontaneously combusted during the late unpleasantness?

Geo Bentley has nearly recovered from his severe injury. He was kicked on the head a few weeks ago by a horse and for a few days his life was considered in danger.

Our school closed last week Friday with a fine program and picnic in the school yard in the afternoon. Willie Tingle and Clarence Williams gained the prizes but all the scholars made an excellent record. Miss Wallace left Saturday for her home in Oxford with many regrets of her scholars who met at the station to see her leave. She is a splendid teacher and the district is lucky in securing her services for the fall term.

Last Saturday night the health board met at the town hall to discuss the question of free vaccination. Some were for it while some were against it. We think in this time when the community is in danger of smallpox that every effort should be made to prevent it. There are some families that cannot afford to pay the vaccination fee and if such should get the smallpox it would cost the town more than free vaccination.

Evangelists Kerr & Johns closed their meetings at the Methodist church Sunday night. They have done a good work here and about a score of souls have enlisted in the service of God. Sunday night was a meeting that will long be remembered in Novi. Mr. and Mrs. Johns and Mr. Kerr left Monday morning for their respective homes for a brief rest after which they again start out in their blessed work. May success ever crown their labors is the earnest prayer of the Novi people.

Another attempt at burglarizing Whipple Bros office was made Saturday evening. Sunday morning Lee Wooster discovered that a lot of tools had been taken from his blacksmith shop and an investigation showed that Whipple's office had been entered, the safe drilled and the combination broken, but the operators of the scheme had failed to get the safe open. One of the firm informs us that had the burglars succeeded in opening the safe they would have only had their labor for their pains, as no money had been left there.

Last Friday and Saturday Delos Flint raised the largest barn in the town requiring two days to raise it. Delos attended the Chicago exposition and after viewing those large buildings there conceived the idea of trying to see what he could do on his own hook. Though not quite up to the Chicago horticultural building, he has imitated his model finely and now we wish he might fill it clear from basement to dome and live in the enjoyment of its conveniences for many years. Only one accident occurred. Leander O'Banks had three of his fingers so badly smashed that the services of Dr. Johnson were called into requisition to dress the wounded members.

E. V. DeBris and wife of Detroit formerly residents of this place were among Farmington friends a part of last week.

Mrs. Clara Anderson who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Fiedella Phelps, and other relatives has taken her departure.

J. L. Hogle has started his soda fountain. Now, during the warm weather that is the place to go for delicious drinks.

F. S. Neal of Northville was in town last week investigating the smallpox scare for his own and one of the Detroit daily papers.

Glen Power who has finished his school course in the Farmington high school left Monday morning for his home at Elk Rapids.

The many friends of C. W. Botstorf and wife are sorry to hear that they are thinking of taking up their residence at Toledo, Ohio.

Mrs. Cynthia Walton and Mrs. John B. Lapham and son John passed a pleasant Sunday with Geo. Peterson and family at Livonia.

Thomas Russell and wife and J. B. Pettibone and wife have returned from Orion lake where they have been enjoying an outing. They report a pleasant time.

James Rhodes, the Clarenceville smallpox victim, died Tuesday night. There are no more cases reported up to the present time and all possible precautions have been taken to prevent any spread of the disease.

The commencement exercises of the Farmington high school were held Thursday evening June 21 at the home of Mrs. Cetella Murry. The porch and lawn was tastefully decorated and lighted, forming a unique appearance. The following program was rendered which displayed no little amount of ability:

Instrumental solo Pearl Blanchard
Invocation Rev. Jas. Balls
Solo Miss Mary Kennedy
Oration, Man His Only Star, E. J. Hamilton
Essay, Social Purity, Marion Thayer
Solo Miss Ida Smock
Class Poem Edna Johnson
Essay, Hewing a Pathway, Mate Lee
Class History and Prophecy, Glen Power.

Solo Miss Grace Tremper
Oration Liberty and Union, M. T. Murray.
Valedictory Pearl Blanchard
Presentation of Diplomas, E. R. Bloomer.

Class Song
Benediction Rev. Jas. Balls
Prof. Lamb then presented in behalf of their pupils a beautiful album and book to Miss Jennie Armstrong, also a fine book of poems to Miss Chapman as tokens of their love. H. W. Moore then brought forth an office chair and with appropriate remarks presented it to Prof. Lamb, a gift of his scholars. Surprises were still in store for the professor, and F. M. Warner presented him a $10 gold headed cane from the graduating class. The kind remembrances of pupils were received with pleasure and each teacher with kind and loving words responded in a touching manner. The entertainment was pronounced by all, excellent.

Before and After Taking.

Picnic morning, bright and fair,
Golden sunshine, balmy air,
What a pleasure thus to go
Where the woodland breezes blow.
Happy hours free from care
Joy and beauty everywhere
Through the leafy woods we'll stray
Gracious, glad some picnic day.

Picnic evening, what a plight!
Rained from 10 o'clock till night
Flossy garments once so nice,
Filled with mud and beggars' heels.
Dinner ruined, pies and cakes
Food for ants and garden snakes.
Full of colorful dark dismay
Dinner and picnic day.

MEAD'S HILLS.

Budie Johnson is sick with the measles.

Our school closes with a picnic Friday afternoon.

The social given by the LTL last week netted $157.21.

Mrs. Hill, nee Harris, has returned to this place to live.

Miss Hulmer, our teacher for next year, visited the school Monday.

The two Mr. Rhodes from Saline visited at H. C. and G. P. Benton's last week.

Chahe and Frankie Lutenlager were the guests of their sister at Mr. Bigauts over Sunday. Miss Jennie arrived Wednesday and will remain this week.

Mortgage Sale.

Deed to be made in the county of Wayne, Michigan, bearing date May 26, 1896, made by H. C. Loden to L. S. Lapham and J. S. Lapham, of the County of Wayne, Michigan, in and to the said L. S. Lapham and J. S. Lapham, as mortgagees, a certain piece or parcel of land situated in the Village of Northville in the County of Wayne and State of Michigan described as follows to wit: Commencing two hundred and twenty-four (224) feet from the center of Rodgers street west on the extension of Main street, thence running south nine (9) rods, thence west four (4) rods, thence north nine (9) rods, thence east along the center of said extension of Main street four (4) rods to the place of beginning, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the 17th day of September, 1894, at one o'clock in the afternoon at the west front door of the City Hall in the City of Detroit (that being the place where the circuit court for said County is held) in said County and State, to satisfy the amount due as aforesaid with interest then accrued and the legal costs and charges of foreclosure including an attorney fee of twenty-five dollars allowed by law and which is in said mortgage stipulated. Dated, June 20, 1894.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends persuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for 20 years and am now sixty years old, but feel as young as at 40. June 2, 1890.
