Council Refuses to Accept the Hotel Liquor Bonds.

IT MAY MEAN AQUA PURA FOR A YEAR.

"Winks" at the Drug Stores Will Not Avail.

Waterworks Capacity May Be Increased and Another Fountain Erected.

When the mayor called the council together Monday evening, it was probably in the presence of the largest crowd ever assembled at any previous meeting of the council. Among those present were about twenty ladies and the debate of the council on the liquor bond question was cheered or hissed by the crowd as they spoke for or against granting the hotel bonds. Without commenting one way or another the Record gives in substance the proceedings of the council as taken down by our stenographer.

After the clerk had read druggist bonds of A. M. Randolph and C. B. Stevens, President Hutton said: "I would like to say a few words on what the law says in regard to druggists selling liquor. The drug stores here have probably lived up to it and I do not know but they do comply. (He then read the state law relative to the matter.) If they do comply with this law, it is all right and we will see that they keep right along on the same line. I propose as long as I am president of the village to see that this law is lived up to in the very letter. I propose to see that these register books are properly kept. I do not doubt but what such books are kept and the law complied with as I said before, and if so, all right, but if not we're on their track."

When the question was put for approving the bonds only about three of the council voted yes and none voted no.

President—Motion carried and druggist bonds are approved.
Burgess—Mr. President, I don't like that kind of a vote. It was very faint. I call for a yes and no vote.

As the roll was called each councilman voted yes.

The clerk then read the liquor bond of E. A. Shafer.

Rayson—Move bond be accepted.

Sessions—Support the motion.

President—You have heard the motion has anyone any remarks to make?

(Continuing) If no one else has any remarks to make, I will make some.

This question has doubtless appealed to each individual—the legal right and the moral right. I believe that after a right and just consideration of the question each of you will vote as dictated by your own conscience as is for the best interests of the village as you see it. You have a duty to perform and I believe you will do what is right in every case as you see it, and not as every street crier sees it. It is a good thing to get the opinion of our citizens, but when it comes to business the council should decide by the dictates of their own heart.

Closing the bar here will not affect business. Men will stop pouring liquor down their throats and have more money and happiness. I have consulted legal authority in Detroit and they say we have a legal right to put down the business here. Ask you to use your better judgment as you vote on this question.

Sessions—Probably the fewest words said here the better. Probably no person in the village has given this matter more thought than I have. I am myself a strict temperance man. I have interviewed the biggest share of the business men in the village and there isn't a man that I saw, except one, that wanted the hotel closed. I do not believe the hotel could live without selling liquor. This question has worried me. I have studied it carefully and while I am not in sympathy with the business I believe it for the best interests of the village and I shall therefore vote to accept the bonds. (Hisses) That's all right too.

Rayson—We will have some more hisses. (laughter) Now I have been here 28 years. No liquor sold then—oh no. Hotel was closed. Let me tell you about it. No whiskey then, but there was a horse down here in the meadow—two men stole it—drove to Plymouth, got drunk, and drove back very fast and in coming into Northville again their wagon was upset—some man killed? Let me tell you of another. This time they drove to Plymouth and after getting drunk drove home so fast that they killed their horse. No liquor here then you know. The next case made a widow and orphaned her children. They live here now. Went to Plymouth, got drunk and fell out and broke his neck and now he has gone to glory. (cheers and laughter.) I shall always stand up for Northville. You needn't bring me your old shoes to tap if you don't want to—I can get along. I am going to vote for license (hisses) for I believe it is for the best interests of the village. (applause and hisses)

President—One neck broke in Plymouth by falling from a buggy while fifteen or twenty in Northville killed by whiskey.

The clerk then being instructed to call the roll the vote was as follows: Yes, Sessions, Rayson, No, Burgess, Deigh, Yerkes, Phillips.

President—The bonds are refused and the clerk will so note thereon. During the roll call the applause was so loud that it was almost impossible for the clerk to proceed and it reminded one of a ward caucus in Detroit.

Tuesday Mr. Shafer went to Detroit and made application for a mandamus to compel the council to accept his bonds. Judge Foster issued an order to Northville's council to show cause next Monday why a mandamus should not be so issued.

We Are Pleased.

We are pleased at the close of our second and beginning of our third year of business life to express our appreciation for the very liberal patronage extended to us by our friends and customers during the past year. Our efforts have been to please and we are pleased to note that at least to a certain extent our efforts have been successful. Our efforts have been to keep our stock second to none in the state and by fair and honest dealing and courteous treatment to merit the courtesies extended to us.

The past is not a criterion of the future with us. We want each year to show that we are better fitted to cater to the wants of the public and we are bound that it shall. Come and see us; it pays.

There is just a bit of danger that the white house bees will sting some of the premature locusts to death.

It is said to see a handsome and intelligent young American woman wedded to a Chinaman. She might almost as well throw herself away on a titled lord.

The people of this country will expend this year no less than $10,000,000 for bicycles. The matter of bicycle roadways becomes important in view of the number of persons interested.

If Japan really has the wisdom attributed to her she will not regard her conquest of China as a precedent in settling international differences with a real, wide-awake, up-and-dressed nation.

The public interest as well as the collegiate interest that is usually taken in intercollegiate debates is an exceedingly gratifying circumstance. It tends to show that the people really have some true understanding of the purpose for which institutions of learning exist. Educated society can picture with equanimity somewhat less of football in view of the increasing zest with which undergraduates and graduates enter into the promotion of intellectual contests. By all means let brains have due honor at college. Let brains receive some recognition too.

Carmenella, the Spanish dancer who was a sensation in this country for several seasons, is regarded with only mild interest by the theater goers of London, where she is now appearing. One critic of her first performance explains her failure to fulfill the extravagant anticipations of her audience by stating that the Granada beauty was suffering at the time from influenza, "which had settled in her shoulders." When last in this country Carmenella did little of dancing with her shoulders, but she may have learned some new tricks since her arrival in England.

The death of a switchman from heart disease suggests the possibility of a dreadful tragedy. A man who was acting as switchman was found dead in his shirt, with some of the switches out of order. He had died suddenly before he had replaced the switches as they should be, and it was only because he was discovered before a train was due that a casualty was averted. Nothing the dramatic author can devise could make a stranger and more sensational situation than a misplaced switch, an on-coming fast passenger train and a switchman dead at his post.

Col. John A. Cocke, in his last letter from Yokohama to the New York Herald, says that "everything in Japan is for country, everything for the public emperor." He also gives many incidents showing the unselfish patriotism of the Japanese soldiers anxious to die for their country, and parents rejecting fathers than mourning over their sons killed in battle. It is not surprising that the victory should be with such a people in their war with China. They represent just the opposite of the Chinese, who have no respect for their soldiers, and treat them little better than slaves.

A clergyman in California prayed publicly for a woman holding a city office, and she sued him for slander and secured a verdict. The court ruled that public positions of this character eliminated the possibility that the individual prayed for stood in need of such prayers, and that discretion was as necessary in praying as in other affairs of life. "A little louder, please," said a man to a minister who was opening a public meeting with prayer. "I am not praying to you, sir," was the quick reply. If the zealous Californian continues praying for this woman it will be so that only one person can hear him.

A sea story from San Francisco says that the coal laden ship Wachssett recently encountered a gale, with high cross seas running. During the height of the gale a terrible wave came down upon the vessel, sweeping her full length. Four seamen were washed overboard. The four men were carried some distance off, only to be swept back to the vessel again by a tremendous cross sea. Three of them were violently thrown upon the deck. The fourth man was washed within reach of the lower sheet, which had dipped to the rolling craft. He grabbed it, held fast, and was hauled safely on board. It is difficult to say whether this story should have been told to a soap factory or a dealer in cosmetics. It seems to be strongly impregnated with lie and certainly it is the grandest wash ever offered to the American people.

The difference between the business of the "560" and the Buz now amounts to the difference between 19,547,203 tons and 7,533,000 tons, and the difference is in favor of the American canal. The Suez bears the tonnage between Europe and Asia and Eastern Africa, the Suez that between Lake Superior and the other fresh-water lakes.

OUR NEW DIPLOMATS.

SOME LATE ADDITIONS TO DIPLOMATIC CIRCLES.

The Wives of Senors de Lome and Zaballos—Biographical of Ex-Ministry—The German Ambassador Has Arrived.

(Washington Correspondence)
THIS YEAR HAS so far been quite prolific of changes in the Diplomatic Corps in Washington. Several diplomats of high rank have received orders from their respective home governments directing their departure from Washington for other points. As a result, their fellow diplomats and society here generally are deeply regretting their loss and are wondering of the characteristics of their successors. A number of these gentlemen have already been announced, and the inspection of their records which has been made by interested friends shows that the most welcome additions to the corps here. Perhaps the most important change to occur is in the office of German Ambassador, Baron A. von Thielman.

Baron von Thielman, who has so excellently performed the duties of that position since from a diplomatic and social standpoint will soon walk green fields and pastures new, his successor, Baron von Thielman, now being on his way to this country. The next change in importance is that of the Spanish Ministry, Senor Don E. De Murruga, the present incumbent, on account of a change of ministry, and it has been said because of criticism of Mr. Gresham's course in the Alliance affair, will be relieved by Senor Dupuy de Lome. The latter gentleman is well known here, and his return will be cordially welcomed.

Dr. J. Estanbaso S. Zaballos, Argentina's diplomatic representative to the United States, has just sailed with his family for Europe, and will probably go to Argentina in the fall. There will be determined whether or not he will return to the United States. Mr. Zaballos, it is well known, can remain in Washington, if he so desires, but whether he will do so or not when he is on his native soil and gets in touch with the political conditions interests a question in the minds of some of our other changes will be distributed among the English Embassy, the Italian Embassy and the Russian Legation. Successors to Marquis Imperiali of the Italian Embassy, and Mr. Pierre Bockine and the late Mr. P. Douganoff, of the Russian Legation, have not yet been appointed.

Baron Strauss-Jelisch, the German ambassador, is making all his arrangements to leave Washington some time in May, when it is expected that his successor, Baron von Thielman, will have arrived. Nothing has been heard of his departure as to the date when the new ambassador will put in his appearance. Baron von Thielman has evidently been selected from a large number of diplomats for the Washington embassy, as his qualifications are most marked in the commercial line.

Baron von Thielman is not well known as a diplomat outside of Germany, for during his diplomatic career in this and other countries he was known only as secretary of legation. He has been Prussia's minister to Hamburg and to Bavaria, both important posts of account of the intricate and delicate questions which are constantly arising between the various German states. His greatest achievement was the negotiation of the famous commercial treaty between Russia and Germany, which was completed in 1892, and has been considered one of the most important acts of the present emperor. He was stationed at Washington as secretary of legation from 1874 to 1878, but as a matter of fact spent most of the time in New York, and in protracted journeys in the west. Baron von Thielman is a well known author, having written several books of travel; the best known, perhaps, being "Yerwege Durch America," in which he describes the United States and other American countries.

After his return to Germany the ambassador married a very charming lady, Baroness Ross, who, with her two small children, will accompany the ambassador to this country. He speaks English fluently, as does his wife, and they will undoubtedly be very important factors in the social makeup of the capital world.

The newly appointed Spanish minister, Senor Dupuy de Lome, is too well known in this country to need much introduction. He was minister here during the World's Fair, and has always been a great favorite. Senor Dupuy de Lome is descended from an old family of French aristocrats, which has become allied by intermarriage with the nobility. Senor Dupuy de Lome was minister at Buenos Ayres before he came to Washington, and was secretary of legation several years before that in Germany. Senor Dupuy de Lome is a native of Paraguay, who lived for many years in Argentina. He speaks English, French and German, fluently, in addition to his mother tongue, and is a great favorite in Washington. There are two children in the family, both boys, who are also polyglots.

The Earl of Westmarch, Anthony Francis Nugent, who comes to the British embassy this spring, is a genuine sprig of the nobility. His family goes dating back to the 16th century. When the estate of Braboy was granted to his ancestor, Hugh de Nugent, the present earl was born in 1870, and is therefore just 45 years of age. He is a fine, manly fellow, fond of sports and a man of good character. The seat of the family is Pallas at Loughrea county, Galway, Ireland. His title in Ireland is Baron DeLia, which was the family title before the earldom was conferred by the British crown in 1885.

The Earl of Westmarch is not regularly in the diplomatic corps, but has been appointed under a rule which permits extra appointments of those above the usual age for entering, in case there is a demand at any of the posts for more men than the regular corps can supply. The earl is not known personally to any of the present members of the embassy.

Mr. Grant-Duff, the other of the secretaries who is expected soon to arrive, is well known to many people here, and is exceedingly popular among them. He was appointed to the corps in 1885, and was sent to Rome in 1889 and to Tiberias, Persia, where he has been stationed until now. He is the son of the Right Hon. Sir Montagu Grant-Elliott, who was formerly under secretary for India, lord rector of Aberdeen University, under secretary for the Colonies, governor of Madras, and in 1890, M. P. for the Bligh district.

SENORA ZEBALLOS.

Senora Zaballos, who has so excellently performed the duties of that position since from a diplomatic and social standpoint will soon walk green fields and pastures new, his successor, Baron von Thielman, now being on his way to this country.

SENORA DE LOME.

Senora de Lome, who comes to the Spanish ministry this spring, is a genuine sprig of the nobility. Her family goes dating back to the 16th century.

The Standard Silver Dollar. The coinage of the standard silver dollar was first authorized by act of April 2, 1792. Its weight was to be 412 grains standard silver, .900 fine, which was equivalent to 371.24 grains of fine silver, with 41 grains of pure copper alloy. This weight was changed by act of Jan. 18, 1837, to 412.5 grains, and brassage changed to .900, thus preserving the same amount of pure silver as before. By act of Feb. 12, 1875, the coinage was discontinued. The total number of silver dollars coined from 1792 to 1875 was 3,045,928. The act of 1875 provided for the coinage of the "Trade Dollar," of weight 420 grains, and an act passed in June, 1874, ordered that all silver coins should only be "legal tender at their nominal value for amounts not exceeding 25 cents." The effect of these acts was the "demoralization" of silver of which so much has been said. Feb. 25, 1873, the coinage of the standard dollar of 412.5 grains was revived by act of congress, $3,000,000 per month was ordered coined, and the coins were made legal tender for all debts, public and private. From February, 1873, to Nov. 1, 1875, 23,227,284 of these standard dollars were coined under the above act.

The Language of Gops. Amethyst—Peace of mind. Regarded by the ancients as having the power to dispel drunkenness, bloodstone—I mourn your absence. Worn by the ancients as an amulet or charm, emblem of the medicinal and magical qualities from the most remote period down to the Middle Ages. It is the power of making men courageous and magnanimous. Protects from evil spirits. Influences the gods to take pity upon mortals. Maintains concord between husband and wife, and for this reason was held as the most appropriate stone for the espousal ring. Emerald—Success in love. Mentioned in the Bible as worn in the breastplate of the high priest as an emblem of chastity. Ruby—A cheerful mind. An amulet against poison, sickness, evil thoughts. A preservative of health. Admonishes the wearer of impending danger by changing color. Sapphire—Chastity. Promotes favor with princes. Frees from enchantment. Prevents premature thoughts. Topaz—Fidelity. Calms the passions. Turquoise—Success and happiness. Preserves from contagion. Garnet—Fidelity in every engagement. Onyx—Reciprocal love. Opal—Pure thoughts. Pearl—Purity and innocence.

Struck by Lightning. A well-known electrician, S. A. Yeller, has expressed his opinion that a lightning discharge may occasionally kill birds flying in the air, but simply coming through accidentally in the line of the path of discharge, or in close vicinity to that path.

WITHOUT THE
Non-pull-out
BOW (RING)
It is easy to steal or ring watches from the pocket. The thief gets the watch in one hand, the chain in the other and gives a short, quick jerk—the ring slips off the watch stem, and away goes the watch, leaving the victim only the chain.

This idea stopped that little game!
The watch has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the groove, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.
Sold by all watch dealers, without cost. See how filled and other cases containing this made mark.
Ask your jeweler for pamphlet.

A Problem.
 Here is a knotty problem for boys and girls to figure on:
 At one time a Mexican dollar was worth but seventy-five cents in the United States, and a dollar of the United States was worth but seventy-five cents in Mexico. On the border of the United States and Mexico was a man who had a Mexican dollar. He went into a store just across the border in Mexico and purchased a book, for which the store keeper charged him twenty-five cents. The customer tendered the Mexican dollar in payment, and received in change, instead of seventy-five cents in Mexican money, an American dollar, worth seventy-five cents in Mexico. The man took the American dollar, stepped across the border into the United States, and entering a store purchased another book, for which the shop-keeper charged twenty-five cents. The buyer handed the American dollar, receiving instead of seventy-five cents in change a Mexican dollar, which was worth but seventy-five cents in the United States. The man purchased 100 books in this way, and who was the loser, and how much?

NOVI LOCALS.

When the weather is hot and our flames forget,
To keep cool the poor dog has no chance
For all winter he goes without any clothes
And now wears his collar and pants.

A Novi hen lays ten eggs per week.

W. W. West is still improving in health.

Mrs. E. T. Hazen is visiting friends in Chatham.

Miss Walker is spending the week at her home in Oxford.

T. E. Johns of Millington purchased a horse in this vicinity last week.

School in this place has been closed for one week on account of influenza.

Mrs. J. Strickland and Mrs. Chas. Vogt spent Saturday with Northville friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates and little Ethel were among the visitors to Novi on Sunday.

A certain young lady of our town is improving her muscle by turning a grindstone.

Willis Bradshaw of Wixom had a runaway Monday but no serious damage was done.

A poverty social will be held in the basement of the Baptist church on Friday evening of this week.

F. E. Quigley is taking charge of the daily papers from Detroit, until the former newsboy shall be in town once more.

Leavenworth Brothers dehorned twenty-seven head of cattle for M. E. Bogart Tuesday, in two and one-half hours.

Miss Mamie Johnson, on account of ill health, has left her study of music in Detroit, and will spend a few weeks in Novi and Farmington.

Mrs. Lawther of Gaines and Miss May Hosley of Howell were the guests of A. Harmon and family from Saturday of last week till this week Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Kimmins sr., who have been spending the winter at Novi with their daughter Mrs. W. A. Whipple, have returned to their home at West Novi.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Sklaner, Mrs. W. E. Nash and Miss Bertina Skinner attended church at Farmington Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. S. making the seven mile on their bicycles.

Remember the "poverty social" at the Baptist church parlors tonight. If you conclude 'tis best to go, you needn't dress up nice you know; just rig out in your oldest clothes—at least that's how it is we suppose—and if 'tis so the thing is done you may expect a lot of fun (but don't forget your little dime to pay for such a jolly time.) There's tonight and welcome for you all—for young and old and great and small.

The diphtheria patient is improving, and no new cases are reported. Every precaution is taken to prevent the spread of the disease and it is believed it will now end with no other victims.

The Baptist people have not yet settled a pastor at their parsonage and Hon. A. N. Kimmins was again pressed into service last Sunday morning to read a sermon which he did in his usual pleasing manner.

During the high wind which prevailed last week Wednesday, Mrs. Geo. Sutton was severely injured by a section of the roof of a dismantled building blowing upon her. At last report she was doing as well as could be expected.

Certain farmers right near town have been mowing grain and ground feed from their barns, and 'tis said a certain party is known to have been doing the business. This is a poor way for a man to procure his feed and it ought not to be done. We hope this may serve as a warning and end the matter before arrests follow.

A young American citizen who will not have to take any radicalization papers arrived in South Lyon last Saturday at the home of our former townspeople, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGuire (nee Miss Alta Bogart.) Of course it goes without saying that he was hospitably received and invited to remain. All doing well. We extend congratulations.

The Northville band has secured rooms over the Record office, and though it consists of young men of standing and note, it is a great blow to our brother Neal's business. The editor actually threatens dynamite.

Adrian Press.

Laurel he was just trying to find a way to elevate the profession. He has a soft nose and wanted the sweet sounds to ascend higher.

There are men in this country who can jim-jam almost any one; three fellow monte fellows, etc., but when a fellow faces a crowd of men at an auction sale, and succeeds in running the price of potatoes up to $28.00 per bushel, it beats the field. Well, this was done at the Mosher sale Saturday, and our genial friend "Alf" (that's the way they speak to him) Phelps was the auctioneer who sold the potatoes. There is no fake about it for he actually sold a lot of potatoes at the rate of $28.00 per bushel. This is not intended as an "ad" for Alf, but just given to show what a man can do when he wants to.

SALEM.

Born, Saturday, to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Seager, a daughter.

John Martin, a pole and a half north-west of here is in exceedingly poor health.

Mrs. N. E. Rider returned Monday evening from a two week's visit with friends at Plymouth.

Wm. B. VanSickle is still in poor health. His symptoms seem unfavorable to a speedy recovery.

H. B. Thayer, executor, recently sold sixty-five acres of land in the town of Canton, belonging to the estate of the late Orson A. Sober at fifty-five dollars per acre.

The "oldest inhabitant" never knew it to be so dry in the month of April. Wells and cisterns are beginning to fail and all vegetation is imploringly asking for a good copious shower.

John Reawick, an old resident of this town, is said to be very seriously sick. He is the oldest son of the late Geo. Benwick who settled in the south-west part of Salem about the year 1830.

Wheeler & Utley are putting up a building where the shoe shop formerly stood to be known as "Agricultural Hall" where they expect to keep a full line of farm implements and machinery. Gifford Chase and Fred Rider are doing the carpenter work.
