The Village Council Ground Out a Lot of Business

AT MONDAY NIGHT'S REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING

New Flag—Stone Street Crossings—Water Works in Oakwood Cemetery, Etc.

Notwithstanding the hot weather, the village council ground out a lot of business at their regular meeting Monday night. The official proceedings which follow below are so complete that only a brief summary is necessary here. A new flag has been ordered to fly from the city hall flagstaff; a carload of stone has been sent for to be used for street crossings; water works connections are to be made in Oakwood cemetery; sewer crocks are to be put in along the east side of Plymouth avenue from near John Cooper's place. This is all very commendable. It was voted to raise $5,500 by tax to run the village for the current year. This includes interest on the water bonds, and in all is about $500 more than last year.

Following is the official proceedings: Regular meeting of the council was held Monday evening, June 3, 1895. Present, President C. A. Hutton, Trustees Burgess, Dolph, Phillips, Rayson, Sessions.

Minutes of last regular and special meeting read and approved.

Petition from the Board of Cemetery Trustees, asking for water pipes to convey water into Oakwood cemetery, was read and on motion trustees were authorized to lay same.

Petition from Jas. R. Nash and others asking for 90 feet of water extensions on Mill st. was referred to water board with power to act.

Petition from Geo. Pearson and others for 400 ft. of water extensions on Butler ave. was referred to water board.

Following bills were allowed and ordered paid: J. A. Dutton lumber $1.55, H. J. Mooney and others st. wk. 47.70, Mrs. Giner's grave 2.50, Kump's, cerk's hand was 40, J. Palmer blacksmithing .65, Peter Harvey repairing 15, C. L. DuFour lumber 1.04, Northville Record pub. 3.03, Richard Mooney cleaning 1.97, 2 ft. 10, W. H. Nichols 3 mos. clk. sal. 24.93, Wm. H. Nichols 3 mos. clk. sal. 20.00, Jas. W. Davis cemetery work 11.20, water board bills 66.30. Bill of Palmer and Montpelier for fixing triangle was laid on table. Bill, Ambler Mfg. Co. was carried over for another month.

Committee on Mandamus in the following report of expenditure of $21.00 drawn for witness fees in case Shuler vs. Northville. Thus: Hury $3.50, John Wesley 3.50, Wm. Elliott 3.50, Frank Parks 3.50. Total 11.90. Balance in hands of committee 9.10.

Moved and supported report of Mandamus committee be accepted and committee discharged, and that the $9.10 balance be turned over to village treasurer.—Carried.

Following bills were allowed and ordered paid: J. B. Conely att'y fees 50.50, Hutton, Phillips, Dolph 18.30, Wm. H. Nichols 2.75, Wm. L. Macomber 3.00.

Assessment roll of village was accepted as approved by the Board of Review. The finance committee recommended the following sums to be raised by tax: General fund $3,000, Water works fund 2,000, Highway fund 200.—By a ye a and nay vote it was voted unanimously to raise said amounts.

Moved and supported that clerk draw an order for $240.10 to pay interest at the State Savings bank.—Carried.

Moved and supported Water board have power to procure set of books to keep the accounts of Water board, also to put the same in strap.—Carried.

Moved and supported clerk be instructed to procure a flag not to exceed $2.00 in cost for village hall.—Carried.

Moved and supported that the clerk be authorized to procure a car load of Medina stone for cross walks (price 35c per cubic ft.).—Carried.

Moved and supported that street committee be instructed to lay crocks sufficient to carry water off on Plymouth ave.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

W. H. NICHOLS, Clerk.

MICHIGAN PRESS OUTING.

An Elegant Trip Is Now Planned for 1895.

The annual meeting of the Michigan Press Association will be held in Hudson or Adrian about the middle of July, and will occupy two or three days. The annual jaunt or excursion will then proceed from the place where the meeting is held, to St. Louis, Mo., where a day will be spent. Then one of the Mississippi river steamers will be chartered for the trip up the river to St. Paul and Minneapolis, thence they proceed to Duluth, where another day will be spent in sight-seeing. The party will then embark on one of the palatial Canadian line of steamers for the trip along the north shores of Lake Superior and Lake Huron, to Sarnia and Detroit. This excursion, it is thought, will prove one of the most interesting and enjoyable of any ever given by the Association. It will occupy about two weeks of time, and the cost will be from $35 to $40 for each person.

Suburban News.

Plymouth village will raise a seven mill tax this year.

One hundred cheese per week is the output of South Lyon's factory.

The Milford college has ten graduates booked for commencement day. South Lyon has six.

When did our neighbor Plymouth get to be styled a city?—Wayne Review.

Let's see—when was it, Gray?

Ne waygo was afflicted last week with an Uncle Tom's Cabin troupe which had neither an Uncle Tom nor a Topsy.

In Rochester all the side walks are built at the villages expense. This is probably a cheaper and better way in the long run.

Fenton tried to get up enough enthusiasm to celebrate the Fourth of July but the people decided they would go to Northville instead.

H. H. Johns of Wixom, and Ed Bellikes of Farmington have been drawn to serve on the adjourned May term of the Oakland county circuit court.

While a circus was in progress at Orion one afternoon last week, the male part of the school in the grammar room was represented by one small boy.

A deed made Jan. 21, 1883, was recorded in the register's office at Pontiac Tuesday. It was given by the late Robert Pearson of Milford to Elizabeth Sayre.—Milford Times.

And now Brighton is talking about electric lights. It is figured out that ten arc lights at $80 each will do the business. Of course this would not include the plant and cost of wiring.

A $50,000 fire at St. Johns last week was the result of the neglect of the proper authorities to keep the fire hydrants blown out and in running order. A lesson to other cities.—Ann Arbor Courier.

A Wayne Review scribe tells of a visit to Greening's nursery at Monroe where he caught a fine string of fish. Liqueured bait will catch a fish no matter whether they are on trees or in the water.

While delivering a last parting embrace last week, a Belleville lover was pounced upon by a huge dog. It proved a tight squeeze for both the man and girl. The dog evidently thought the girl was going to be killed.

Shall we celebrate or shall we have a picnic at Island Lake July Fourth? Which shall it be?—South Lyon Review.

Neither. You're all going to Northville.—Can't you fellows keep quiet for one year?

The blight little Trenton Visitor has just commenced upon its second year. Mrs. Ayers, the publisher, besides attending her household cares, gets out the entire publication alone, and between times does what job printing there is.

What in the world is the matter with the fish stories? All of our exchanges are as silent as the grave on this very important department of journalistic enterprise.—Ann Arbor Courier.

This is a scheme on the Couriers part to get all the others in it so that Editor Beal may have the change of telling the last story. We don't bite yet.

The Wyandotte Herald echoes the RECORD's sentiments in the following: "The bill providing for a combined county and city building at Detroit has been killed in the Legislature. Good enough. Now let the supervisors go ahead and do what the people voted for—erect a separate county building."

While people generally will not endorse all that was done by the Michigan legislature this year, at the same time be it said to their credit that Senators Warner, of Farmington and Briggs of Livonia, and Representatives Kimms of Novi and Kingsley of Wayne were always found on the right side of every question that came up, both in their work and vote.

Editor Peek of the Fowlerville Observer recently signed an innocent looking contract from a ready-printer house and now it turns out that when he wants to deal some where else for cause, he finds he is compelled to go without the usual papers for thirteen weeks or any of the "contract" house. Moral: Printers and farmers should beware of signing papers which are afterwards likely to turn out to be contracts or notes.

A novelty in bicycle races came off recently in Vienna, the unusual feature being the manner of handicapping participants. The race was for married men exclusively, and the handicap was apportioned according to the following rule: The amount of the handicap was decided by the number of children of the competitor; be got fifteen yards for each boy and ten yards for each girl; married men with no children had to start from the scratch. The course was one mile on the club track. It was won by a member who had seven children.

"Thou Art a Jewel."

Under the head of "Consistency," the Plymouth Mail of last week has this to say:

"About such a time every year all country newspapers, naturally enough, agitate the subject of a Fourth of July celebration. Two weeks ago we opened our mouth just long enough to say we could not see any particular reason why it would not be a good idea to have a celebration here in Plymouth, and the Northville Record feels very much put out about it and calls us selfish. We have talked with some of our business men and, as they do not seem to favor a celebration this year, we shall say, nothing further about it. If we do not celebrate the chances are that the majority of our people will go to Northville. They deserve patronage and we feel that they deserve it, for they promised last year they'd be 'wid us' and they turned out magnificently with band and ball club and—went to Holly. A good delegation from here this year will probably be the nicest way of getting even."

The Mail man is mistaken again. The RECORD did not call the Mail or its editor selfish. It labeled the plan advocated and the ideas suggested selfish. The Mail should also not forget that while several hundred Northville people went to Holly last 4th at the same time several hundred more went to Plymouth. Northville has enough people to fill both towns on such occasions. As far as the band and ball game was concerned, they were paid for going to Holly and they would gladly have gone to Plymouth under like conditions. Of course Plymouth people will come to Northville this year, and so will the Mail and the whole office force.

MEAD'S MILLS.

Miss Hillmer spent May 30 in the "City of the Straits."

Mrs. Holsington of Canton was a visitor here last week.

Some of our young people went to Orchard Lake May 30.

Mrs. G. R. Patterson of Plymouth visited in this place the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Burdick returned from Birmingham on Monday after a two weeks visit with her daughter.

Rich Eenton has a mustang in training these days and it is reported to be rather hard to discipline.

We are truly thankful for the rain which fell the fore part of the week; and also for the lowering of the temperature.

Tuesday evening J. C. McClun, gave a graphophone entertainment at our school-house, but owing to the rain the audience was very small.

George M. Pullman was confided to an interested public his slightly framed conviction that he is in which manner when he was a poor boy, earning his living by his daily labor than when he is worried with his millions and burdened with the weight of vast interests and business cares. Wealth, it says, does not bring happiness. Mr. Pullman is evidently getting ready to try happiness for the rest of his days by unloading his millions and with drawing from the Mill on the Hill.

The old foolishness that women of learning, or eloquence, or brain, are never pretty, or even good looking, is extinct, and has been put on the upper shelf among the dead, scraps of old Egypt. In this generation we have women professors, lecturers, scholars, authors, politicians, and philosophers, who are beautiful indeed—far more beautiful than those brainless women of old who left nothing better than their pictures for our instruction.

The insurrection in the republic of Colombia has ended less pleasantly than that in the republic of Ecuador. There was a good deal of bloodshed in the one, but little if any in the other. The Colombian rebels are tired of treason, the Ecuadorian rebels are amnestied: Colombia was disturbed for months, Ecuador for only a few days. President Cero is a revealing man; President Cordero is the most forgiving of rulers. For the fun of the thing, the warlike ways of Ecuador are much preferable to those of Colombia.

A Brooklyn man who was "convicted" of a burglary he did not commit, and "pardoned" after he had served nearly two years in Sing Sing, has sued the state of New York for $101,538.28 damages. Of this amount $25,000 is claimed for injury to reputation and mental and physical suffering while in prison; the rest is his computation of the amount he lost in business by this false imprisonment, with his attorney's fees added. Since the state authorities admit that he was innocent of the crime for which he was convicted and his "pardon" was granted because of his innocence, they have a very interesting case on their hands to defend. They may set up the claim that he is the victim of misfortune rather than wrong, but the state is responsible for its part in the denial of liberty that caused his suffering and loss.

The Ex-Queen Proposes to Appeal to Hawaiian Courts for Release. According to mail advices from Honolulu the ex-queen has become tired of prison confinement and will soon make an effort to gain her freedom. Her friends have been busy in her behalf and a writ of habeas corpus was to have been sworn out when the steamer left. Paul Neumann, her attorney, is preparing his argument. It had been a complete surprise to the government that no attempt had been made to test the validity of the military court that recently dealt with the rebels. It was generally understood that a test case would be made as soon as it was adjourned, but for some reason no action was taken. Rumors of a rupture in the Hawaiian court were current when the steamer sailed. The disagreement was said to be over the disposition of the rebel prisoners. Minister Damon and King being in favor of liberating all prisoners but the ringleaders and being opposed by Minister Hatch and Attorney-General Smith. It was said that President Dole favored the release of the men. As the outcome of the affair it was said that Damon and King would resign. The statement was denied.

JOE'S REMARKABLE CASE. BY E. R. ROE.

Sam made no direct reply, but going straight to Mrs. Blake, and taking her hand with a warm and personal attachment, said with assumed regret:

"Not a word of good news, Myra. The whole story was a fabrication, or at least a perversion of some facts which really occurred. A man and a boy were thrown into a mill dam three years ago, and the man and boy were drowned and the boy was fished out alive. But it wasn't Jeff, and the boy was not our little Joe."

"What kind of a man was he?" asked Mrs. Blake, wiping a tear from her eyes. "Did you ascertain?"

"I found Mr. Gust, the city surveyor, who saw the accident, and got from him a full description. At the same time he drew from his pocket a paper (prepared purposely to deceive), and read from it:

"Five feet and a half in height, (Jeff was six feet) black hair and eyes, (Jeff had brown hair and blue eyes), weight about one hundred and forty pounds, (Jeff weighed about one hundred and eighty), dressed in gray cloth (and Jeff was dressed in Kentucky jeans), of course that wasn't your husband, Myra. I think that mystery will never be solved; and Jeff's dead of course, or we should hear from him and little Joe."

"But the boy who was saved was named Little Joe," said Mrs. Evans, a lady who had come from Cincinnati to the Springs, had made the acquaintance of Mrs. Blake, and had told the story of the tornado and its disastrous results, and so brought about Sam Blake's visit of inquiry.

"You are mistaken, Madam," said the man who had falsely called himself Blackwell. "The boy's true name is no doubt, Joe, not Little Joe. And besides, that, he is an idiot."

"Possibly so, mistaken," replied Mrs. Evans. "For Mr. Gust himself told me the boy had a medal on his neck inscribed 'Little Joe,' and giving the boy's name."

"I have a copy of that medal, Madam," replied Blake, with a studied politeness, "and can hardly be mistaken. I saw Mr. Gust, copy this from the face of the medal itself: 'Little Joe, Jan. 20, 1894.'"

Mrs. Evans, though not satisfied, gave up the point and soon quietly returned to the room, and was then followed by all except the three Blakes.

"Did you see that boy, Sam?" sorrowfully inquired Mrs. Blake. This was a question Sam Blake could not fully answer without a falsehood, and he gave a complete and faithful account of all he had seen and heard of the boy and concluded by saying:

"Now Myra, that boy is a born idiot, and of course never could have been your bright little Joe."

"Might not the terrible ordeal he passed through in the water have bereft him of his senses?" inquired the mother in a sorrowful tone. "If only I could see him!"

Now Sam Blake had satisfied himself that just that had happened. But he had also become assured that all hope of his recovering his senses—past or future—was gone. In reply to the mother's last suggestion, that such a mental change was wholly improbable, he added that the boy's eyes were black, while Joe's had been blue, and then retired to his own room.

During all this conversation Old Tom Blake, the father, said not a word. But as soon as Sam had gone out he said guffily: "Myra, Sam's account don't hold water," and he also retired, leaving Mrs. Blake alone with her newly-awakened sorrow.

"No, you're wrong," interrupted old Tom.

"January 20, 1894," continued Sam, "and that's my paper, pap."

"I guess not, Sam; it doesn't read so." Then putting the paper in his pocket, with a determined look, he said:

"According to your own showing, Sam, this paper isn't yours. I'll take care of it for the old owner. And the old man walked away determined to keep the paper and see what came of it. Sam was beaten, but not badly disturbed. He had thrown into the river the only real medal, as he supposed, and he now repeated the words he had used at that time: 'That will tell no tales.' And if he could not make it appear that Jan. 20, 1894, was for January, he could at least boldly claim that this memorandum was a mistake, and the one shown by himself the correct one. At any rate, he was resolved to redouble his efforts to marry his brother's widow as the surest road to the final control of his father's estate, though Myra had thus far—without suspecting his real motive—put him off from month to month without a definite answer.

Myra Cushing—now Mrs. Blake—was the daughter of a Congregational minister who had resided at Mayville, where young Jefferson Blake had made the acquaintance of the daughter and married her. A lady of education and culture, handsome, rosy, and full of life, polite and kind to all about her. And of her own volition she had opened a Sunday school for teaching slave children. This was not at that time, in fact, but the systematic effort to teach the slaves was exceedingly distasteful to all far-seeing slaveholders, of which old Tom Blake was one of the shrewdest. His son Jefferson had foreseen his father's hostility, and, after winning the affection of Myra and her consent, had married her without consulting his father. When the father learned this fact he was furious. He swore that no son of his with a nigger school-keeper for a wife should ever inherit a dollar of his property.

But Jeff Blake had taken his wife home to the Springs, notwithstanding his father's ill-humor. Old Tom was struck with the young woman's beauty and her kindly ways, and telling Jeff that his wife was "a cussed purty gal," admitted them to the hospitality of the Springs; but at the same time he held to his purpose, that "no man with a nigger teacher for a wife" should be his heir. After Joe was born, and as he grew in beauty and pleasant ways, the old man gave way so far as to take the boy to his heart, though he did not forgive the father. At length, after a few years, even Myra with her gentle and loving ways, won the old man's good will and in a fit panger at both his sons he had made an amendment will, giving his entire estate to Joe on condition of his being married to a white girl.

He was much cast down at the loss of his son, and especially his grandson, and anxiously awaited the return of Sam from Cincinnati in hope of hearing tidings from them. He was disappointed. He did not suspect Sam of duplicity in his account of matters at Cincinnati, and which he was assured that his son was somehow prejudicing, he thought the motive was only to mislead Myra as to some of the facts, remove her last hopes, and induce her to marry him. Nevertheless, with his usual craftiness, he resolved to keep his own counsel and wait.

Shortly after the event of the memorandum between Sam Blake and his father, he came growing out of the same matter occurred at the negro quarters in the cabin occupied by Pompey the hostler and his mother, Aunt Winney, as the old negro was called by whites and blacks. Aunt Winney was head of the laundry department of the Springs hotel, and was very vain of her superior knowledge in that line. She was 50 years old, black as night, very shrewd, wary in avoiding the lash, and was a general favorite among the colored people constituting her yellow servants at the hotel.

In warm weather, as at present, she was usually dressed in a long smock of unbleached tow-linen reaching from neck to foot without band at the waist; a showy cotton kerchief over shoulders, and on her head a cotton bandanna handkerchief done up into a turban.

Seeing Pompey pass her cabin door soon after the conversation between Sam and his father she called him in. "Chile," said Aunt Winney, "what you find dat paper for?"

"I done find no paper," replied Pompey.

"Needn't tell no lie, chile; Mas'r Sam say you'r not gwine to be whipt. He seed you gib dat paper to ole mas'r; and Mas'r Sam say you not gwine to be whipt, kaze you eide's tell, an' he seed it hisself. What kind o' paper was it, Pompey?"

Winney knew just enough to wish to learn more, and as she was certain her son was not to be whipped for telling, she continued to ply Pompey with such questions and assurances as she thought would extract the whole matter from him. But Pompey also was shrewd, and had a mortal fear of the lash, so he only said in reply:

"Mammy, did you see dat paper?"

"Yes, I seed it. Ole mas'r had it, an' Mas'r Sam want it an' couldn't git it."

"Don't yer know all 'bout de paper as I does, and I doesn't know nothin'." I ain't gwine to take dat roun' hundred, and you needn't say so."

"Fraid yer own mammy 'll tell, Pompey?"

If you have some cash to spare and are willing to work financial independence cannot be more surely secured than by buying a few acres of irrigated land in Salt River Valley.

This valley is in Southern Arizona, and is noted for its fine semi-tropical fruits and superior climate. Horticulturists say that greater profits can be realized here from oranges and grapes than in Florida or California. A Physicus asserts that the warm, dry, bracing climate cures a variety of ailments. The great blizzard of 1893 did not blight the tenderest leaf in this protected spot.

Those who may be considered as authority on the subject say that sprinkling the lawns when the sun is shining promotes the growth of moss which will eventually kill the grass.

The address at the Men's meeting Sunday Rev. Mr. Allen of Farmington, was a real gem. Those present were so highly pleased that they will prevail upon the gentleman to repeat his visit.

Some exchanges are quoting from the Record relative to Northville's big wheelbarrow factory and dubbing it the Dundee Mfg. Co. Correctly it is the Dubuar Mfg. Co. Dundee is not in it except as they buy a few hundred occasionally.

The result of the King's Daughters fair held last week Friday and Saturday and continued on Monday night was very highly pleasing to not only those who had so earnestly labored for its success, but to the patrons as well.
The attendance was very large and the sales quite satisfactory.

The water board is now giving notice to all water takers that the rule relative to sprinkling between 5 and 9 a. m. and 5 and 9 p. m. will hereafter be enforced to the very letter. The Record has repeatedly warned takers that it would come to this if they persisted in the extravagant use of water.

Henry C. Sinclair of Chicago and Almost every week the Northville Record chronicles the loss of two or cutter at the condensery or factory,

and as Northville is the fountain head of laundries, that must explain if Cuffee fluges, then washed shirt for a living—Brighton Argus.

While skating with his bicycle Monday Ed H. Lapham had the misfortune to get thrown from his steed, resulting in a fracture of the collar bone. This was Ed's second recent throw off and in both cases he landed on the same shoulder, the last time with the above result.

A lady tells an exchange that she never has window screens in the summer, but keeps flies out of her house by the use of oil of lavender. She buys five cents worth of the oil, and mixes it with a like quantity of water.
This solution she sprays around her rooms, with a common glass atomizer, particularly in places where flies are most likely to collect.

The following figures may be of interest as a comparison between the amounts appropriated by the village last year, and this year. General fund last year $1,500, this year $3,000; water fund $1,300, this year $2,000; highway fund $700, this year $200; excess, this year of last $300. The following is the cash on hand to date: In water fund $1,355.10
highway $172.97; cemetery $10.63.
General fund over drawn $551.22.
Total cash on hand $717.53.

The marshal has given his last warning to "hangers around" at the entrance to the opera house week nights and at the churches Sabbath evenings, and "liners up" along the walks as the people are leaving the church. He read the riot act to some of them a few nights ago and at the next occurrence some one will be up in Justice Webster's court for a fine. If the boys get into trouble they will have only themselves to blame as they have been repeatedly warned.

Speaking of the fad of woman's editions of newspapers, it is remarkable that this kind of enterprise is confined to newspapers. Why not let the King's Daughters run a big hotel one day for the benefit of charity? It would be interesting to let the WCTU take charge of a bank for one day and show how it ought to be run. Then there is an opportunity for some pastor to let a half dozen newspaper men manage his church for a week or so.
Just to let people see what they would do. Another good thing would be for a tradesman to turn over his store to some church. In fact, there is no limit to these schemes, and this ought to be a big year for charities of all kinds.

The Record has been informed that the village never had a deed for a foot of property in Oakwood Cemetery and that the village has never realized a farthing from the sale of the lots or anything else, except a few dollars from the use of the vault. In view of this, there seems to be some objection to the act of the village in putting in water works connections. On the other hand others inform us that the village owes the cemetery fund some $200 which was transferred once six or seven years ago to another fund which has not yet been replaced. In this case the expenditure for water taps would be only just, as long as the cemetery trustees so recommend. The Record however does not pretend to know anything about the matter.

The band will give a concert on the

Some young men, of loafers rather,
made the morning air blue with their disgusting loud talk and oaths on the opera house corner about four o'clock Sunday morning. It is good luck for them that the marshal cannot learn their names.

It is understood that manufacturers and jobbers of rubber lawn hose will no longer warrant that article to Northville people. They claim the pressure is so great here that it will burst any hose they can make in a comparatively short time.

What started out for a serious runaway Tuesday evening finally resulted in only a badly demolished carriage and two frightened girls. Pearl Simmons and Anna Esajek started for a drive down Main street and when near Miller's market one of the wheels came off and the sober family horse was startled into a frightened runaway street, as it tore rapidly down the avenue Pearl pluckily clung to the reins and with half a chance would have stopped the animal, but with the now three wheeled vehicle in anything but an upright condition she didn't have a ghost of a show. When near Webster's Laundry both the occupants were flung out without serious injury, and the horse, after smashing the carriage up against a telegraph pole, was captured near Perrin's shop on Church street. The cause of the runaway was the return of the carriage from Palmer's blacksmith shop with one of the axle nuts left off a wheel by one of the smiths.

Three Lives Lost by the Sinking of the Steamer Norman in Collision with the Steamer Jack off Middle Island.

St. John's, Nfld., June 23.—The steamer Norman, bound down north, collided with the lumber steamer Jack off Middle Island, near St. John's, Nfld., and sank.

The Norman was a large lumber steamer, built in 1904, and was carrying a full cargo of lumber. The Jack was a small tugboat, and was carrying a full cargo of coal.

The collision took place at about 10 p.m. on June 22. The Norman was struck on the starboard side, and sank in about 10 minutes.

Three lives were lost in the sinking. The Norman's captain, John G. Gore, and two crew members were killed. The Jack's captain, John G. Gore, and two crew members were killed.

The Norman was owned by the Canadian Northern Railway Co. The Jack was owned by the St. John's Harbour Board.

The Canadian Northern Railway Co. is a large lumber company, and the St. John's Harbour Board is a public body.

The collision was the result of a collision between the two ships. The Norman was moving north, and the Jack was moving south.

SATISFACTORY REPLY.

A Marked Increase in the Sale of the New Specific Remedy.

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—The report of a great number of enquiries with regard to the specific remedy for Bright's disease, diabetes and all forms of kidney complaint, known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, is a partial investigation has shown that in every case the reply of the druggists to the questions of their customers have been highly laudatory of the remedy and that they have been able to cite many cases from their own personal knowledge where the most signal benefits have been derived from its use.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are put up in two sizes, each in a box of 10 pills and 20 pills. The price of the 10 pill box is $1.00 and the price of the 20 pill box is $2.00. The pills are sold by all druggists.

At "T. G.'s" Saturday, June 8th!

Will be the day Ladies can buy a Calico Gown; also they can have their choice of colors; for an old Lady she can have a nice Simpson Black and White or a Simpson fancy Grey, or for a middle-aged Lady (and she wants the blues) she can have an Indigo Blue, or for a young Lady she may have one of those Foulards Fast Color Red. These goods are made first class in every respect. Ladies Print Wrappers, lined waist, Cape Ruffles, large flowing Sleeves, and how much do you suppose they will cost you? Not $1.50—no, no, just 79c—your choice for 79c.

T. G.

And now for Warm Weather! Ladies' Vests. I have secured one case of Ladies' Ribbed Vests and just for fun I shall let them go at a Nickel-a-One; also one case Fine Fancy Trimmed Vests at 8c each or 15c for two. Now I would like to see every Lady that is looking for their Wash Dress Goods. I shall place on sale Saturday the largest line of Wash Goods ever shown over my counters and prices 3 1-2 to 50c.

Gents' Shoes, Ladies' Shoes, Childs' Shoes, Shoes for Everybody, and prices that are cut to the quick. Clothing for Men, Boys and Children. My stock is in fine shape and the prices that I am making on Clothing, makes competition groan. But sell the goods I must, sell I will or Bust. Men's Silk Clocked Suspenders 10c. Men's Heavy Socks 5 and 10c. Remember the place, the Busy Big Store.

NOVI, LOCALS.

Why don't our cyclists form a club? Chandler, Biery is on the sick list. E. Harmon visited friends at Wixom Sunday.

Daisy Trumbull is visiting with Mrs. H. Spitzer.

T. T. Luns was among Novi friends for a day last week.

D. A. Miller who has been sick for some weeks is gradually failing.

Bernie Larnhart is spending some time at his uncle's, Jas. Palmer.

Miss J. Shaw was entertained over Sunday by Mrs. H. Skinner and family.

D. W. Fuller and wife of Pontiac recently visited Wixom and Novi friends.

Miss Mamie Doyle of Detroit was the guest of friends in this place a part of last week.

Mr. Straub and two daughters of Harrison spent a part of last week at John Vogt's.

Jay Hazen and Andrew Harmon made a business trip to Milford last week Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mosher of Farmington spent Sunday with Mrs. M. S. Miller, Mrs. Shirriff of this place.

Quite a number from this place attended decoration exercises at Farmington or Northville.

We move that Novi go en masse to Northville and celebrate the 4th.

[Sport the motion] Ed.

The B.Y.P.U. will give a strawberry and ice cream social on O.M. Whipple's lawn on Friday evening.

Children's day services at the Baptist church Sunday morning and at the Methodist church in the evening.

The Novi burial association has about $200 on hand, why not put up an iron fence, and put down a good well?

Geo. Tibbitts was accompanied on his return from Leper by his sister, Mrs. Holloway of Chicago, who remained for a few days visit.

Miss Cora Ticknor came home from H's late Tuesday where she is taking a theological course with the intention of entering the mission field.

Miss Mabel Whipple, accompanied by two of her friends of the Normal, spent a few days last week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Whipple.

Mr. Whipple has been trying to find out if it pays to keep hens, and here is the result of his experiment: twenty-one hens, white Brahmas and Plymouths, the shut up twenty-one days, fed $1.00 worth of corn, laid 267 eggs, valued at 267 cents, net profit, $1.67. The average eggs per hen could probably have been increased by feeding bone meal and other things with the corn.

Mrs. W. E. Nash and Miss Bertha Skinner arranged last week Friday from Gaines where they went to attend the wedding of a relative, Miss Luna Skinner.

All interested are requested to come and help arrange the decorations at the Baptist church tomorrow, for the children's day exercises. Bring all the flowers you can.

The Misses Hendefshat of Irving, Mich., who have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Whipple, returned to Ypsilanti Monday where they are attending the Normal.

If you are pleased with the Record, just speak a good word to your neighbor about it and request him or her to hand his or her name and 25c to Postmaster Tuesday for a three-month trial.

The strawberry and ice cream social on Saturday evening would have proven quite a success, but the strawberries failed to materialize. Acceptance of a lack out for another year in the morning, where the delicious strawberries will be a reality.

Everybody remember the ice cream and strawberry social to be held on O. M. Whipple's lawn this evening. It is an established fact that a good time is in prospect when there is a social at the home, and if you don't come there won't be any consolation. The evening of society will undoubtedly be present, and even if rather cool will probably be sweet and agreeable.

Whoever started the report that Mamie Johnson had been drowned near Adrian last week Tuesday, should put on glasses next time and read more accurately. A great deal of excitement was caused, and not till the report was spread broadcast did we learn that it was Miss Patterson, with two other young men who were drowned. That accident occurred Monday, and was published in Monday's papers. The Adrian Press gave the full particulars, and the Miss Patterson was a gentleman not a lady. Be more careful next time.

Dickersashun Day.

Fome Marm! Mrs. Dooley, an' at it noice an' warm. It must be noice an' pleasant for th' min upon th' farm. But say, Mrs. Dooley, did yer hear th' guns a-carry? On a Thursday of last week, about ten a. m. in th' mornin'! Upon m' soul! Of nary fainted wid m' freight. O, that it musn't mane murder ar th' devil's own foight. O! hustled in m' bedrume, an' crawled beneath th' bed, an' never made a whisper, yez wud shoortly think m' ded. Well, boia boi in coves Casey, wid a jag ar about tree hundred. "Say, darlin', where ar yez' betime th' lies he thundered. O sez "an' th' buggers will us, ar they comin' our way?" "Pah," sez he, "be flaterskite. It's Dickersashun dar'."

Well! O! felt somewhat better, an' O! put Casey aff th' bed. An' sez an' ruck a cake av oice an' put upat m' bed. Nxt mornin' Casey tells me about th' Dickersashun. He's a mon ar great knowledge, a mon ar education.

Sed he, "this yoonited shates got in a foight wid sum fellys in th' south. An' after four years scrappin' wid moss-kitty an' mouth. Th' fellys av the southern shates declared they had enuf. (An' jaly, wof, it sames to me, they mad a sickly bluff.)"

An' ever since that bloody toim an th' 30th day av May. Has bin boi all absurd as Dickersashun day.

For th' soljer min who, tuck th'ir guns an' marched down tu th' front. An' braved th' hardships an' th' field, an' shud th' battle's brunt.

Now scores an' ded, an' in th' grave, an' peaceful be th'ir slaps. May angels at th' Lord's command ther' ceaseless vigils keep. An' th' soljer boys th'ir left behond, wid disease, an' wound, an' scar, As emblems av th'ir bravery in th' afore mentioned war.

Together wid our citizens, an' childer bur th' shairs. Beseve th' shairs an' strops, an' mid cannon's awful roar. They visit all th' graves in th' nation's sacred soil. An' put th' flowers an' th'ir reborn place, whole th' soljer tears av shed.

They bot on peace an' hixity and shot an' shell an' bofe. An' put an' in th' southern creed, an' th'ir consellful strife.

They placed before th' wall th' nation's great an' glorious nation. An' begun, we'll do our best in this day is Dickersashun.

An' here's th' soljer boys who bee among th' heavn. My th' Lord south th'ir scold' wounds, an' all th'ir sins forgiven. Prepare for them a restin' place beathin' rich shaily hower. While ever in this sacred day we'll strew th'ir graves wid flowers. "Pat Qung"
