

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD.

Vol. XXVI, No. 45.

FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 1895.

$1.00 per year, in advance

FIVE SHEEPSKINS

Distributed Among the Graduates
Last Night.

PLEASANT EXERCISES OCCURRED AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The Building Gaily Decorated, and Filled with People.

The event of events, coming as it does only once in a life time, the occasion of the first graduation, occurred on the lives of five of Northville's well known young people at the opera house and the RECORD only regrets that the limited time prevents the extended notice which the occasion warranted. The stage was beautifully decorated with pink flowers and evergreens, representing the class colors.

The class motto, translated from the Latin Labor Omnia Vincit is "Labor conquers everything." In addition to the graduates, the stage was occupied by Prof. Bliss and Miss Maxwell, preceptress. The opera house was filled with people, the friends and relatives of the graduates, the five, who after years of toil had reached this summit of scholarly knight-hood. They were the Misses Nelle Joslyn, Phoebe Beal, Agnes Blackburn, Mary Ely and Mr. Floyd Northrop. After the invocation by Mr. Belding, Mesdames Long and Austin gave a piano duet and then Floyd Northrop advanced to the front of the stage and delivered the salutatory address followed by a fine essay on "Science of Chemistry." Both papers were well prepared and nicely delivered.

Mrs. Taft of Plymouth followed with the beautiful story "When the Heart is Young," after which Miss Joslyn delivered her gaily essay on "Evolution of the Newspaper." This was an exceedingly good production, and showed much study on the lady's part for the knowledge acquired of news paper progress.

The subject of Miss Beal's essay was "Cranks" and the whole category was considered from the crank of a hand organ to the geniuses of the world who have been called cranks such as Elmer Morse, and lastly our own Parkhurst. The essay throughout was interspersed with much food for future careful consideration.

For her topic Miss Blackburn took Ferdinand De Lesseps, sketching his life and outlining his work on the great Panama canal fizzle, after which event he disappeared below the horizon of the world's history.

Miss Ely had "Hemans Nature in Shakespeare" for her subject, discussing in their turn some of that great writer's greatest characters, such as Shylock the Jew and Portia; Hamlet and Ophelia; Othello; Brutus; This was a very interesting and carefully prepared paper and showed much thought and study on the part of the young lady. Miss Ely's valedictory which followed her essay was an outline of the past school life and thankfulness to their instructors and the school board.

Mesdames Taft and Long followed with a very beautiful duet and then Dr. J. M. Swift in a few well chosen words presented the class with their diplomas which they had so diligently sought for and won.

The violin solos by Miss Maraquita Walling during the evening were of especial merit, finely executed and well received.

Rev. Mr. Belding pronounced the benediction and the great event was over. The graduates were the recipients of many beautiful bouquets of flowers.

The Reception.

The reception given the class of '95 by the juniors, which followed the commencement exercises was a very neat affair. The usual order was disregarded by holding the reception in the high school room which was suitably prepared and decorated for the occasion. Besides the two classes there were invited the school board, the music and the press. No labor was spared to make the occasion a memorable one.

Millford votes on the question of bonding for water works next week Tuesday. And Northville will celebrate July 4th.

The Injuries Proved Fatal.

Albert Weisgarver whose injuries by a water works excavation cave-in was noted in last week's issue died Saturday morning. He was reported a little better on Friday afternoon, but it was only temporarily. The funeral occurred at 5:00 o'clock Sunday under the auspices of the Allen M. Harmon GAR Post. Rev. Mr. Turner officiating. Mr. Weisgarver was an honest, hard working man and was much respected. He leaves one son, A. T., at this place and one son and a daughter elsewhere. This is the first accident, we believe, occurring on the Northville water works system and this was a case where no one was to blame.

THE ENTHUSIASM OF THE BIG 4TH OF JULY CROWD!

Rev. W. T. Jaquess, Orator--Featon
Ladies' Band--Huge Fireworks.

By this time but few people in this great world there are who do not know that Northville is to celebrate this year in a style that will do credit to her enviable fame. There are even people who claim that some of Northville's enthusiasm and her huge posters are even being observed by some of the inhabitants of the great solar planets, and they in turn are signaling back congratulations and regrets.

The attractions booked are so many that it is almost impossible to give them in detail here, but with the programs are distributed it will suffice to say that they are many and great. The orator of the day is that well known popular speaker and jovial good fellow, Rev. W. T. Jaquess of Detroit. The leading musical attraction will be the Featon-Ladies' band of national fame. And then there is our own renowned Globe band, the Salem band and possibly others. The traders carnival, the calisthenic parade with a St. Plunkard band, 16 mile bicycle road race, slow bicycle race, foot and sack race, throwing shots, shooting contests, and other athletic sports, will all go to fill up the time from 10 o'clock to 4:30 p. m. when the great ball game between the Plymouth and Northville teams will occur. There will be other attractions for those who do not wish to attend the ball game however. There will be an all day and evening dance in the prince's hall and besides the great pyrotechnic display at night there will be a play given at the opera house.

Special trains are being arranged for the north and south about 10:30 p. m. Further announcements will be made next week and by small bills, and in the mean time prepare for the great event.

It Was Just Dead Easy.

About half the amateur ball clubs in the state have an idea that the Northville ball team is a little don't amount-to-much affair, but such delusions, are soon dispelled when they run up against them. This was what the M. A. A.'s thought the week before until they played an inning or two and it was what the Clyde team thought when they came down, but when they got through the game they were a sadder but wiser lot of ball players.

In Saturday's game, Lewis pitched the whole nine innings and struck out fourteen men. German caught him in good style and made some great throws to second, shutting out several Clydes. The score ended 11 to 10 in favor of Northville, and with Northville's regular battery the Clyde men would probably have never seen first base. Lewis did some good work however, and he promises to make a valuable addition to the Northville club. And Northville will celebrate July 4th.

Spend Sunday in Detroit.

Most delightful place in Michigan with its broad river and beautiful Belle Isle Park. At no other place can so much pleasure be enjoyed on Sunday as in Detroit. To enable you to visit this paradise, the D.L.&N. will run an excursion on Sunday, June 30th, leaving Plymouth at 10:10 a. m. and arriving at Detroit 11:30 a. m. Returning leave at 7:00 p. m. Round trip rate 50c.

VACATION DAYS

A Delightful Place to Spend Them.

The approach of vacation days is a time for selecting some interesting place for a summer outing. A few places combine so many advantages that will quickly suggest themselves when vacation plans are considered. One of these is always Bay View, rich in varied recreative delights, social and educational advantages, and growing more interesting every year. This season's summer announcements are particularly attractive, offering nearly sixty pages of the Bay View Magazine, and beautiful "with a hundred half-tone views. The Flint & Pere Marquette railroad has secured a quantity of the magazines and placed liberal supply at their ticket office in this place for the public.

All persons planning a vacation, or intending to attend some summer school, will be interested in the Bay View announcements. The public is invited to call for copies.

The F. & P. M. R. R. will as usual make very low rates to Bay View. Besides the low priced summer tourist tickets now on sale, half fare tickets to Bay View will be sold from July 3 to 17 inclusive, return limit August 15. And Northville will celebrate July 4th.

It is not to be wondered that the Millford Times is a hustling, lively paper. Every member of the office force from typo to editress is the possessor of an up-to-date bicycle.

The Pontiac Republican last week told of the erection of a "sarcophagus" in a Lakeville cemetery. The gas part of the sarcophagus was probably added from the Republican office. It was only a short time ago that the big headed editor of the "publican" had a regular cat-fit because the RECORD had an apostrophe misplaced and yet his own paper is filled from week to week with flagrant errors as the above. A few more of those which were noticeable last week, were such as "kersone oil," "accidents," "administrater," "cemetery," "library," etc. Evidently none of these were typographical errors, but simply showed the need of a diet of fish and dictionary for the editor.

Boating on Detroit River.

Will be a pleasant way to spend Sunday on the excursion of June 30th, via the D.L.&N. Visit Belle Isle Park, the most beautiful spot in Michigan. A delightful day may be spent at small expense. Special train will leave Plymouth at 10:10 a. m. and arrive at Detroit at 11:30. Returning leave at 7:00 p. m. Round trip 50c.

Catalogues for the Ladies Library Association flower show to be held Sept. 12-14 have been issued from this office this week. We judge that the show will be a very extensive and fine affair—one that will reflect credit both upon the association and our city. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. P. E. White's horse didn't stand unting in front of the post-office Tuesday while he went in to get his mail. When the stepper got through chasing through the cemetery and over the campus there was just enough of the buggy left to be identified. The horse was uninjured. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. In T. G's ad last week—the types made the price of Organdie Mills 22 cts instead of 25 cents. The goods were worth about 35 cents and though 25 cts was an unheard of low price, when it came to cutting it down to 22 cents to accommodate the Record type setting machine, Mr. Richardson objected. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. The people of Northville are to have a regular old fashioned patriotic 4th of July celebration, and advertise as one of the special attractions, the ladies' band of Fenton. The Record has considerable to say about this band, but is very quiet about the quality of lemonade to be served, and whether it will be served with straws—straws we mean, or not.—Ann Arbor D. Courier. Certainly, straws by all means, so that the fuzz on the lemo' may not be disturbed. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. The village tax roll is in the hands of the treasurer, at the State Savings bank. The assessed valuation of the village is $617,730 real estate; $237,260 personal; $221 00 poll. The per cent is .0069. The valuation is some $22,000 more than last year, and the per cent is about one mill greater, in consequence of which taxes are somewhat higher. Among the heaviest taxpayers are J. S. Lapham & Co, $376 38; Globe Furniture Co., $193.75. And Northville will celebrate July 4th.

The committee in charge of the decoration will use roses for that purpose, and special music will be used. In the evening the first sermon on the parable of "Dives and Lazarus" will be delivered. Young people's meeting at 6:30 p. m. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. Jake Miller's horse had always stood without tying until Tuesday while at the slaughter house, when a blanket blown up by the wind scared the life right out of the animal and away she went across the wheat fields and plumb through a cyclone wire fence never stopping till hung upon a post on the opposite side of the fence. The wagon was badly smashed while the horse was but slightly injured. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. The baccalaureate address by Rev. Mr. Turner at the Methodist church Sunday evening was an exceedingly good one and was carefully listened to by a very large audience. The graduates occupied seats together just in front of the altar. The pulpit and platform were tastily decorated with flowers and ferns. The juniors acted as ushers. Mr. Turner's remarks were timely and the good advice given was well received. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. A dog belonging to Daniel McIntyre took after and scared a German's horse into a runaway as he was driving into the village Sunday, near the Northville mills. A collision was made with a hitching post, demolishing the wagon and slightly injuring one of the ladies. The horse was caught in the Dubuar yards. Mr. McIntyre tendered the owner $5.00 for the damages to the rig. The dog is claimed to be a regular nuisance by the neighbors. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. Chas. Hughton was called by telegraph to Melbain, near Cadillac, this week by the death of his mother, Mrs. Jane Peer, which occurred Monday. The funeral took place in that village on Thursday. The remains were brought here the same night and this morning were taken to New Hudson for interment. The family were former residents of that place. Mrs. Peer was well known in both New Hudson and Melbain and was held in high esteem. If the Northville Record man didn't make a typographical blunder one of the aldermen of the village has according to the clerk, got a resolution through ordering the purchase of stone for the "cubic" foot. That's longer than the pedal extremity of a St. Louis girl.—Adrian Press. For the once the Record "followed copy it it went out of the window," and the error is charged up jointly and severally between the alderman, the clerk and a Record proof reader. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. The Brighton people, instead of going to Northville to celebrate, have decided to stay at home and have a celebration of their own—Plymouth Mill. This is another of the Mill's disgruntled flings at Northville. The Mill seems worried most to death to think that every man, woman and child in Plymouth is coming to Northville to celebrate instead of "staying at home" as advocated by the Mill. The Mill forgets that Brighton is many miles from Northville and the comparison is very far fetched. The Mill man will have to anchor down very solid if he is not caught up with the big Plymouth crowd and whittled over here on that great day whether he wishes to come or not. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. There was a mad dog in town Wednesday and it caused more excitement than Barnum's circus would. The dog was one that had been petted around and belonged to anybody. The dog was lousy and for the disease Ed Thompson, of Brown's photo gallery, prescribed and administered gasoline externally and that was what made the dog mad. Like a Kansas cyclone he flew yelping along Center street, across the public square, scattering the crowds right and left. He quickly dashed into Gorton & Co's store and at the same time the clerks, the proprietor and a couple of traveling men dashed upon the counter for refuge. One of the clerks pulled a revolver and actually shot with seven feet of the animal. What further damage might have resulted was just then frustrated by the timely arrival of Thompson who threw a pail of water on the ferocious dog which quickly cooled its ire and checked its mad career. And Northville will celebrate July 4th.

Children's Sunday all day of the 22d at the Baptist church. Services in the morning to the children, in the evening exercises of the children. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. Charles Smith while biking home from Novi Tuesday night was pounced upon by a dog and bitten on one leg. Charles now carries a gun for such emergencies. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Evans of Ypsilanti are to move into Mr. Colvin's house 13 Yerges avenue. Mrs. Evans is a daughter of T. B. Filkins. Mr. Evans has employment in the Globe factory. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. R. E. Beal, manager of the school furniture department for the Globe Co., went up to Lapeer this week long enough to secure the contract for equipping the schools of the Home for Feeble Minded with desks and seats. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. Miss Warren's recital at the Methodist church Monday evening was a very pleasant affair and the young lady acquitted herself with much credit. Miss Warren is a fine speaker and she has won a host of friends in our village. The water mains were shut off on Tuesday midnight that a new switch connection might be added at the reservoir and some cleaning done. A big rain fell the same night and on the following evening the mains were filled again so that not the least inconvenience was experienced. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. The promotion exercises of the eighth grade school rooms yesterday forenoon were very pleasing. The exercises were essays by Mae Starkweather, Camilla Wheeler; recitations by Mildred Greer, Day Wilkinson; class history by Mabel Burgess; poem by Lydia Haynor; prophecy by Vivian Lake. The class numbers 21. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. There was considerable interest experienced on the occasion of the junior prize speaking contest at the opera house Wednesday night. The contestants were Misses May Porter, Irene Greer, Eliza Welch, Anna Blair and Mabel Lancaster. The first prize was awarded to Miss Blair, the second to Miss Welch. All the contestants did remarkably well and received many compliments. Mesdames Long and Austin and Louise Joslyn supplied the music in a very pleasing manner, and all received hearty encores. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. By the 4th of July celebrated a chance is offered to the church societies here to clear $50 or $100 with about the same labor usually put out for a $1.00 social. There should be no hesitancy on their part on the grounds of too many banks to feed or too much cash donation offered. The boys will be taken care of without crowding them on to anyone, and no one will be "held up" for any money that they do not feel free to give. The various rumors of "conspiracy," "robbery," and "fraud" of the past week were wholly without foundation. And Northville will celebrate July 4th. Among the attractions of the 4th of July in Northville will be the dance at the Princess rink which will last all day, and through the evening. A general invitation extended to all. 15w1. And Northville will celebrate July 4th.

THE SULTAN BOWS DOWN.

Accedes to the Demands of the Powers Regarding Armenia.

Constantinople. The sultan, learning that the British cabinet had met to consider Turkey's reply to the plan of reform in Armenia, submitted by Great Britain, and Russia, telegraphed to Russian Minister Pasha, the Turkish ambassador in London, instructing him to ask the British foreign minister to postpone a decision in the matter. The sultan acceded to the request. In the meantime the Porte handed to the British, French, and Russian ambassadors a new and satisfactory reply, according to the demands, but asking that the period be limited to three years.

The Harlem Ship Canal Opened. Harlem ship canal, which connects the Hudson river with Long Island sound, was formally opened with a monster aquatic and land parade, which was watched by 50,000 or more people. The ceremony of pouring two barrels of water from the great pipes into the canal, symbolizing the union of the lakes with the sound, was accompanied by the firing of cannon by the U. S. coast guard, Atlanta and Cincinnati.

ONE WINTER'S EVE

HERE he is again, whispered Jack excitedly. We dropped our cards and hurried to the window, but Kidd went on smoking. At the first glance I could see nothing but a bright spot on the snow-covered walk where the light from our window fell upon it, but after a while the shadows, which were so dense in contrast to our brilliantly lighted room, softened, and I could dimly see the outline of a tall figure leaning against the fence.

He stood there for some time, and then, probably discovering that he was being watched, slowly moved away. As he passed the window next to us the bright rays from within revealed a thin, pinched face, and I saw with surprise that he was only a young lad, probably no older than Tommy.

We all noticed that he was poorly clad and the wistful look on his face brought the tears to our eyes as we watched him out of sight.

"There's one poor fellow that's not going to have a merry Christmas," said Jack with a suspicious tremble in his voice, "that's the third time he's stopped in front of here."

"No wonder either. And did you notice how weak he was? Could hardly walk." And Harry began to draw with his warm forefinger on the frost-covered window.

"I don't know what you mean," said Kidd, "but I wuz a-lyin' jus' where I had feel."

took off his hat with a greatly exaggerated trembling of the hands and began: "Gents, can't ye give a poor bloke what's in hard luck a helpin' hand?"

"The crowd burst out laughing, but the 'poor bloke' was unabashed. He looked at them reproachfully and whined: 'Ye wuz fellers had gone trough what I ha, you wouldn't laugh, you wouldn't.'"

"Well, I wuz a-combin' trough there on the night of November the seven, an' I'll never ferget that night ez long ez I live. They wuz a double track in the tunnel, so when I heard the rumbly of a comin' train I didn't know which way she wuz a-comin'."

"I wuz a-lyin' jus' where I had feel," he said, "but I wuz a-lyin' jus' where I had feel."

"I don't know what you mean," said Kidd, "but I wuz a-lyin' jus' where I had feel."

A MODERN ORPHEUS.
The Effect of Violin Music Upon the Hearts of the Zoo.

Does the legend of Orpheus, the wondrous music of whose lyre enthralled the wild beasts of the forest, rest upon a fact? Not long ago Mr. Cornish went to the London Zoo to ascertain by experiment whether music would have upon the creatures therein captivity.

He took with him his musical friends, who played on the violin to insects, reptiles, birds, and beasts, and let the fancy of the classic poets who ages ago sang about Orpheus add his lyre's turned into scientific fact.

The music had a marked effect upon the animals, and the scorpions, after a few notes had been played they became agitated, and writhed and danced tumultuously, their excitement increasing with every crescendo and decreasing with every diminuendo.

I shall place on sale every pair of my entire line of Ladies', Misses' and Childrens' Walking Shoes and the price will be just 3-4 of the regular prices. The

$1.00 Shoes will be $.75 $1.75 Shoes will be $1.32
 1.25 " " .94 2.00 " " 1.50
 1.50 " " 1.13

In regard to the above I wish to close the entire line, and the price that I have placed on these goods is less than they can be bought at wholesale for to day in any Eastern factory, for the advance in Shoes is the greatest the last 90 days that has been known in twenty years but nevertheless I wish to close the entire line of WALKING SHOES out as I may make a change in my Shoe business before Walking Shoes are wanted next Spring; therefore the above price means something to you if you need anything in that line. 3-4 their real value means quite a cut on these goods, for they are all new, fresh goods, but go they must!

As ever your Business friend,

 Mrs. Agnes Bentley and daughter of Walled Lake had an accident last week which might have resulted very serious, but which fortunately did not. They were on the way to Northville and were a short distance south of the town when one of the front wheels came off the carriage, frightening the horse and imprisoning the occupants within the vehicle. They held to the reins until the buggy came to pieces letting them out. Luckily neither was seriously hurt.
 As previously stated the W.B.M.M. club met at Mrs. O. M. Whipple's last week Thursday afternoon. The paper for decorating the church was selected and arrangements for doing the work made with Faint & Staley of Birmingham. This work is in the hands of the ladies of the church and they have already raised the necessary funds. The B.M.P. are to supplement the work of their sisters by further improvements. Sixteen ladies were in attendance at the meeting which was as usual thoroughly enjoyable. The society gave the young ladies a vote of thanks for their efficient work at the Association's missionary meeting last month. About $1.00 was added to the church repair fund.
 This world is so full of people who are willing to find fault with—even their best friends, that no matter how hard one tries to live and do right, it is discouraging, as well as profoundly disgusting. But there are always two distinct sides or phases to all questions, and it should be the aim of debaters to give due consideration to both sides of any matter of discussion. The "profession of religion" should not be selfish, but should be willing to acknowledge their faults. And the simple acknowledgement does not excuse them if those faults are nurtured and cultivated by continued practice. Unless an individual really endeavors to rid himself of them, which no one doubts he can do, the world will continue to ridicule the professors of religion. It is a fact that the world admires a true Christian, for no matter how wicked the man may be, he will invariably respect and honor a true Christian. It is the open and willful sins of professors that provokes the non-professor to ridicule. Now reader answer this question: Do you believe that God will forgive the professor of Christianity for willful sin, knowing the act he or she commits to be sinful? Perhaps you may profit by the solution of this problem.

SALEM.

Mrs. Dr. Oliver and her little daughter and her mother-in-law, all of Detroit, are the guests of Mrs. Onver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Walker.
 The church social at the residence of Mrs. Dr. Walker last Saturday evening was an eminent success, viewed from any point. The attendance was large, the literary exercises were first class, the refreshments were abundant and appetizing, all conspiring to make a good time.
 The good people of this town are bubbling over with patriotism and standing in the steps, just that they must celebrate the glorious 4th. Their inclination to do so can not be repressed nor suppressed and they extend a cordial invitation to all their neighbors that are similarly affected to draw near and join them. Hon. Mr. Wedemeyer, school commissioner of Washtenaw county, is to be orator of the day, which is a guarantee that those in attendance will hear something worthy of the occasion.
 The question of location of the proposed county building had been discussed but very little comparatively when the people voted bonds. Subsequent discussion of location developed the fact that the city hall site was the favorite of a large majority. The supervisors however under the lead of the irrepressible Jacob, seem determined to ignore the popular feeling and build on a separate site at all hazards. The condition of things as they appear from this part of the horizon caused Salem last week to express a little surprise that the RECORD, uniformly level headed and on the right side of every question, should be found straying on this one. More mature reflection will no doubt bring it to the city hall site idea. May the fight win. [The RECORD cannot but believe but that so intelligent and honorable lot of supervisors as are represented on the board will honestly do what they deem is for the best interests of the people. There are two sides to the question and arguments on either side are apparently very forcible. Ed.]
 And Northville will celebrate July 4th.
