

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD.

Vol. XXVI. No. 48.

FRIDAY, JULY 12, 1895.

$1.00 per year, in advance.

SHE SCREAMED!

Loud and Long Did the American Eagle Yell at Northville the 4th.

MORE THAN EIGHT THOUSAND PEOPLE WERE HERE.

It Was a Brilliant Celebration from Start to Finish.

Owing to the early hour of golden press last week, the Record was unable to give its detailed reports of Northville's big 4th of July celebration. That it was a great success everyone knows who shows anything at all.

The crowds commenced to arrive early in the morning, and they kept coming all day. They came by train, the same by wagon, on horseback, on foot, on mules, with oxen, across fields and fences and in every other conceivable way, only that they got here.

A conservative estimate placed the crowd in round numbers at from $3,000 to $8,000 while many had it as high as $12,000. The downtown street city was jammed full of people from the side streets to the main avenues. The crowd was as good natured and orderly as it was large, and with but six police men on duty there was not a single incident of the slightest nature; not a runaway of any kind nor was there a quarrel or profane word heard, or an intoxicated person seen. In no other city in the United States, it is safe to say, could such a state of affairs have been possible. This remarkable feature of the great noted day was the wonderment of the thousands of strangers present.

The Parade.

The trades parade was formed at the depot and factory grounds at 10 a.m., and was moved upon arrival of the train from the northward—the Fenton ladies band, the Northville Globe band headed the parader; 21 strong and their handsome appearance and grand music excited rounds of applause along the line of march. The magnitude of the parade and beauty of the floats far surpassed anything that even the committee had hoped for. But that our natural enthusiasm, in all probability, ever seen in Captain Chris Filling, Fred Wilson, and another fellow, all on horseback, acted as marshals and did their work well.

The Dubhar Mfg. Co. in the parade was represented by a large house on wheels made of screen doors, and filled with wheel-barrows, tackle blocks, irons, guns and other articles of their manufacture, followed by a huge load of logs drawn by two of their teams.

The Globe Corp. Co. had a fine deal of school furniture and another of church pews, pulpits and upholstered pulpit chairs.

The American Bell Foundry Co. had a float containing one size of each of their new bells from the largest to the smallest, a dozen or so in all. It was a beauty.

The Columbia Refrigerator Co. had an attractive float of their refrigerators and sideboards.

The Argo Milling Co. had a huge load of their flour and other ground cereals in all sized sacks.

The Hirsch carriage works had a handsome display of their carriages and other manufactured goods.

F. N. Perrin had a small but unique blacksmith shop on his float and it was in full working order, with two smithies at the forge, shaping out the red hot iron.

The Carpenter & Johnson float was a complete hardware store, including two tinsmiths at work, making stove pipe. In the rear was one of their sewing machines in operation.

The Ambler Mercantile Co. besides a binder driven by one of the employees also had a float containing a very creditable display of agricultural implements, wood, coal, ice, etc.

Following this factory department came division No. 2 headed by Mrs. Kay with her saddle horse closely followed by the Fenton Ladies' band. The ladies played some excellent music all along the route and were loudly cheered.

The fire department all in uniform came next and they made a fine showing. The hose carts were drawn by the department's beautiful span of grays and were followed by the hook and ladder trucks drawn by another prancing team.

One of the prettiest floats in the parade was Mr. Richardson's. On a long tanning mill wagon was a scene work some ten feet high draped with beautiful colored curtains, flags, rugs, etc., with the inside filled with various articles from his store. The whole was drawn by T. G.'s small Shetland pony driven by Peter Els mounted way up out of sight in the big frame work.

Our well known wool and produce buyers, Messrs. Starkweather and Brooks were in the line dressed in Uncle Sam costumes, their wagon being filled with bundles of "free" wool. B. S. Webster had a float containing a full line of machinery, etc., from his city laundry, the manufacture of F. D. Adams.

W. G. Whipple & Son's float contained a very nice display of harnesses, robes, white blankets, etc.

Take Miller had his meat market well represented by a very handsome float from which he freely dispensed pieces of bologna to the hungry crowd along the route.

J. McCall's bakery was represented by a regular business float containing no less personnel than Bob himself, engaged in mixing bread.

Reed's dry goods store and the Foster shoe house were represented by signs etc.

Chas. Rogers had a unique float representing his milk and ice cream business. It was drawn by four horses and among the machinery on the wagon was a very pretty Jersey cow.

Following these in an open carriage was the president of the day, F. R. Peal, chaplain, Rev. Seth Reed, the acting mayor, Dr. J. M. Burgess, and the speaker, Rev. W. T. Jaques. Then came the Misses Grace Verkes and Pearl Simmons, each with a gaily decorated surrey, who were in turn followed by numerous citizens in carriages.

The finishing moving pageant was a mile long and was witnessed by thousands of happy people.

The exercises at the grove were of the usual order. The bands played some lively air; Hon. J. M. Swift read the Declaration of Independence, the chapkin-stored prayer and the president introduced the speaker. Mr. Jaques delivered the address of his life. It was a grand discourse in keeping with the patriotic impulse of the people and the day. Every word was dramatic by the crowds occupying the huge amphitheatre in front of the stage where they remained all attention till the last word was spoken.

The afternoon.

The afternoon was devoted entirely to sports, the Calithumpian parade and the exhibition by the fire department. The Calithumpians, headed by St. Plankard's band, were immense. It was the Northville band but no one would have recognized them, and the drum major with a horse had a difficult task in keeping his players in line. The balance of the people in this parade were all in keeping with the program as advertised, and it excited no end of amusement. The success of this part of the entertainment was due to the efforts of Messrs. Futton, Porter and Carpenter.

The fire company made a creditable race of a block and a half to Smith's cheese factory and were throwing water in one minute and seven seconds.

The Races.

The races were won as follows the first named winning first prize in each case:

17 mile bicycle road race—1st prize Kirby, $1 gold medal, time 1:01; 2d Braden, 1:02; 3d Knapp, 1:02; cyclist, time 1:05.

Fat men's race—Shir, Passage, Potato race—Passage, Jewell, 100 yard boy's race—Cornick, Jewell, Sack race—Passage, Springer, Jockey race—Jones and Springer, Passage and Wilson.

High jump—Smith, D. Verkes.

Standing jump—D. Verkes, Smith.

Putting shot—D. Verkes, Hoar.

Slow bicycle race—Blair, Bradner.

Best decorated wheel—Josie, Smith.

There were no entries for the ladies' slow bicycle race or the tug of war, consequently they were declared off.

The Ball Game.

At four o'clock the crowd was escorted to the ball ground by the band where the great Plymouth—Northville ball game was to take place. The game was witnessed by about 1,500 people. The trouvings given the visitors by the local club was something awful. The Plymouths got two hits but not a single run, while the Northvilles piled up runs till they were tired out, the score finally resulting in 28 to 0.

The Evening.

The day closed with band concerts, evening dances at the halls, fire works, a stereopticon entertainment, etc.

The business places, factories and

All in all it was a day long to be remembered and the grand success proved once again that what Northville people undertake they do well.

Suburban News.

Judging by the reading matter contained in the various county weekly papers these days there will be a number of editors out to see Barnum's circus, and "Falls Roath."

The Fenton Independent admits that over indulgence in 4th of July business and pleasure was the cause of seven hours delay in issuing the paper last week. We supposed there was a law in Fenton requiring saloons to be closed on holidays?

When they have little family jars at Mifflin they indulge in us for years. The Van Ostrand brothers tried that way the 4th and it required the aid of a surgeon to keep their remains together sufficiently to properly celebrate the day out. They will recover.

There is a village ordinance prohibiting the running of bicycles on the sidewalks. How are strangers to know this unless sign boards are placed at the city limits north, east, south and west? Fowlerville, Obey.

Or hay is a stranger with a wagon load of hay to know that he is prohibited from driving along the Fowlerville sidewalks? By all means erect some sign boards.

A story too good to keep comes over from Livonia of a couple of neighbor farmers whose pleasant acres join, and whose cattle are not always found in the horns fields. One of them shut up the other's, trespassing cows and charged a half a dollar a head before he would release them. A few days later his own horses found a break in the fence and got in limb, whereupon the owner went down and asked his neighbor how much the bill was. "No cent," was the cheerful reply, "take them along." "But I charged you fifty cents a piece," was the hesitating response. "I know it," said the other, "but I am not half as mean as you."

Dr. Bennett.

Will be at the Diocesman House Wednesday afternoon, July 17.

Astma, Hayfever, Headaches of the most severe types; Dyspepsia, etc. Dr. Bennett cures these things as easily as the common practitioner cures cold fever.

Go see him when here and learn how he does it.

CHAPTER VI.—(Continued.)

Old Charley was fortunately on Front street when the steamer Pike arrived, went on board, met his nephew and escorted him to the new house, where he was installed in furnished rooms as one of the family.

The meeting between Mr. Adolf and his cousin Vivette was not without some embarrassment to both. She had not expected to see her cousin little had she expected, and he certainly was surprised to find his cousin so unquestionably handsome and accomplished. She had just enough French in her make-up to show his prejudices, and fully enough American to satisfy him with her beauty. In fact, he was captivated; and it did not take him long to decide that it would make him very proud to be able to carry her home to his friends and the society of New Orleans, as his wedded wife.

The effect of the meeting upon Vivette was different. She had seen and had recently frequently met a certain young gentleman whom she could not avoid comparing with her bachelor cousin, though she yet had no suspicion of her cousin's feelings toward her. She treated Adolf with great kindness and due respect, which won him all the more because he saw plain enough it all came from her native goodness of heart, without the least tinge of the tender passion he was so anxious to awaken.

Adolf was sharp enough soon to observe how matters stood, and took occasion to have a talk with his daughter.

"You like your cousin, of course?" said he, seating himself near her in her own room.

"He is very agreeable," replied Vivette.

"And knows the world and good society, etc."

"He is certainly very intelligent, it can determine. He is also polite, and I like him."

"His family is right up to his Father's only lack is a hundred thousand dollars."

"And so we cousins are both jointed. But papa, you are worth more than a hundred thousand dollars."

"You wouldn't marry a poor man, of course," continued the father, without attending to her question.

"Why, my dear papa, I am not at all thinking of marriage," said "but what if Adolf should be blind in his marriage?"

"I think it is most time he should be."

"But does he think about marriage, and with his wealthy and handsome cousin? Can't you see that?"

"He has never hinted such a thing to me. I had not thought of such a thing."

"Think of just that thing now, said the father, in tones which she had never before heard from him.

After a brief pause Vivette said:

"Am I to be compelled to marry, whether I wish it or not?"

"If you are my daughter in heart and dutiful submission—if you are my heir, you will marry early where I approve."

"I shall never marry where you disapprove. I promise that. Do not press this matter, my dear papa. It comes so suddenly."

"Very well. Take your time. But I hold you to your promise." Then seeing that his daughter appeared really to suffice from the discussion, he gave her a kiss, saying:

"There, Vivette—you understand me. It is all for my love of you." And he retired.

On that very morning Adolf had asked him if there would be any impropriety in his seeking the hand of Vivette, and had received a favorable reply.

During all this time since the trial of Moller, and up to the arrival of Adolf from New Orleans, young Joseph Gust made frequent calls first at the "Broadway," and afterward at the new house. He was not at all neglecting his opportunities. But Vivette had returned to the academy of Mrs. Dewees, and had not completed her studies, and he himself was still plodding laboriously through his law books.

There was no need of precipitation, and he sought to win in the heart of Vivette that personal attachment which would be all the stronger from protracted growth. In fact the strong impressions which had reigned in favor of the older during her father's trial had already ripened into love, both strong and trustful. It had never entered into his conceptions that Moller would oppose a marriage in due season between Vivette and himself; why should he? and on that point he had no anxiety. Great was his surprise, therefore, when on his calling on Vivette a few days after the arrival of Adolf Moller, her father, on occasion to speak to him very fully on the subject.

"Gust," said he, "not only because of your opposition in my behalf, but on account of your

TO CONFEDERATE DEAD.

Union Generals Attended the Monument Dedication at Chicago.

The dedication of a monument to 5,000 Confederate prisoners who died at Camp Douglas was a striking feature of the Memorial day exercises at Chicago. Among the distinguished visitors who participated in the dedication were Lieutenant General Schofield, General Teggs, Senator John M. Palmer, General Alfred Orendorf and Colonel J. P. Sanger, Inspector general of the army. Among the ex-Confederates were Senator John B. Gordon, George W. Pendleton, Andrew Johnson, General James Longstreet, General Fitzhugh Lee, ex-Senator M. C. Butler, ex-Senator Enos Hinman, General Basil M. Duke and General A. P. Stewart.

The monument was erected in Oak Woods cemetery, a few miles out of Chicago, in 1893. The pedestal is of pearl granite, 10 feet high, and is surmounted by a bronze statue of a Confederate soldier. On the front of the lower base are the words "Confederate Dead." On the upper base is a bronze model of the confederate seal representing the mounted soldier General Washington—inclosed within a wreath of foliage of the products of the South. This inscription is on the face of the front panel: to the Memory of the

Erected
SIX THOUSAND SOUTHERN SOLDIERS.
Here Buried, Who Died in Camp Douglas Prison,
1862-65.
Confederate Dead.

On each of the three other sides of the die is a bronze panel representing the "Call to Arms" of the confederacy, "A Veteran's Return Home" and "A Soldier's Death Dream." Around the monument will be cannon shot and shell appropriated by congress. These were captured by the confederates in the war and recaptured by the federals upon which he had not calculated. In fact, much as he appreciated the young man's present manly traits he could not easily forget that this was the same individual whom he had formerly known as modest, unfeeling and quiet "Little Joe." Now he knew him better, and he resolved to take action accordingly.

SUMMER VACATION.

A Delightful Way to Spend It. The summer vacation, rating especially an "American custom," adds thousands to thousands the one particularly bright spot of the year. They to spend one's vacation, so as to bring the most satisfying return, is often difficult to settle. A few places have come into great popularity. One of these is Bay View. It combines so much of the best, and so much has been written about it, that with thousands it is the one great hope to sometime go there. To spend a summer at Bay View is said to be one of the events of a life time, and to go regularly is almost a liberal culture.

The summer announcements this year are more attractive than ever, filling nearly sixty pages of the Bay View Magazine. The Chicago & West Michigan and Detroit, Lansing & Northern Railroads, which go direct to Bay View, without change, have secured a quantity of the magazines and placed them in their ticket offices. Those planning a vacation are invited to call for copies. These lines make the usual low rates this year to Bay View. Summer tickets are on sale, all summer, but from July 3 to 17, high-rate tickets will be sold at half fare rate, with return July 15. This covers the Assembly and Summer University period. Round trip rate from Plymouth will be $7.50.

NORTHVILLE LOCALS

The bell foundry company expect to take their first cast next week.

Miss Jessie Palmer has been seriously ill, but is now somewhat better.

Read the "Wanted, For Rent, For Sale" column. It will interest you.

Union services will be observed at the Methodist church Sunday evening and at the Baptist church the following week.

Geo. Wilcox has moved into town and now occupies the Withee house on Cedar street which he traded for with Mr. Horner.

If you want to buy or sell something or to lease or rent a house, and want people to know about it, advertise it in the RECORD.

A large number of Northville people will have business in Detroit on Monday. Barnum's circus is to be there also on that day.

YMCA meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp. Go and fill one of those new chairs; they sit easy. Meeting lasts but an hour.

Special communication of Northville Lodge No. 186 F. & A.M. Monday evening July 15 for work on E. A. degree. A full attendance is desired.

The W. R. C. will serve ice cream Saturday evening July 15, in Wm. H. Abeler's office. Everybody welcome. By order of Committee.

The Baptist people took in something over $50 for meals on the 4th. The Methodists receipts were about $110. Each society will get about $70.

Lost—A pair of glasses in morocco case. Marked Stein Bros. Detroit. Finder will be rewarded by leaving same at this office, or H. M. Dryden.

It is pleasant to read in this hot weather that a railroad in the Rocky mountains which had been snowed up for five years was recently reopened.

Wm. T. Johnson suffered another paralytic stroke Monday night and at present his case is very serious, though it is to be hoped he will rapidly recover.

Friends of the Racham having filed a suit in the Probate court should insist that their notices be published in this paper, where those interested will see it.

Warren's real estate agency made a deal Wednesday with August Reichen of Detroit for John Highland's Main street store. Mr. Highland has not yet decided where he will go.

The Record is informed that the big Plymouth crowd at the game here the 4th all kind the horns up their sleeves and under their coats. They found no use for them it seems.

If any one has any bills against the 4th of July fund it should be handed in at once to the secretary or treasurer. The finance wish to close up their affairs and render a statement before another week.

The general expression of all who attended Northville's great celebration was that they all had one of the best times of their lives. The Fenton ladies had remarked that they were never used better.

E. H. Horton having completed the deal for the Geo. Wilcox farm just west of the government hatchery, has moved back from Detroit and now occupies the same. Mr. Horton and family will be welcomed again to our village.

In appointing a successor to Mr. Clark on the water board the council cannot be too careful in choosing their man. The office is an important one and a man of integrity and good business ability and with a mind of his own is needed.

There were over 3,000 yards of bunting and as many thousand flags, to say nothing of the 500 evergreens and hundreds of Chinese lanterns, etc. used in the village for decorations on July 4th. The decorations on the Masonic temple were especially fine.

"Over the Hills" at the opera house Wednesday night of last week as a grand benefit was only fairly well attended, probably owing to the nearness of the 4th. The receipts barely covered expenses. The play was well rendered by local talent.

The Detroit Journal was liberal (?) enough last week to say there were 2,500 people here on the 4th. When it is taken into consideration that Northville has 2,000 people of her own, the accuracy (?) of the Journal in allowing 500 outside people here is appreciated (?).

J. O. Knapp has disposed of his interest in the hardware firm of Knapp and Yerkes to the junior partner, W. G. Yerkes, who will hereafter carry on the business alone. Mr. Yerkes is so well and favorably known that the continued success of the business is assured. Mr. Knapp retires because of ill health.

The success of Northville's 4th of July celebration was due to the earnest work of so many, not only the committees but by the co-operation of business men and citizens in general, that the RECORD is inclined to give the credit to everybody. It is the all-pervading spirit prevailing in the village that marks the success of whatever is undertaken here.

Wanted, To Rent, For Sale, Etc.

FOR SALE—My dearable residence No. 1 Cedar Street, convenient to post office, stores, schools, etc. Price and terms reasonable. C. H. Hanson.

FOR RENT—One room for part of village. Cheap. Cash or easy payment. Good trade for good house in village. Charter.

FOR SALE OR RENT—Brand new home No. 1 Cedar Street. For particulars enquire of Lew Van Chas. Van Chas. Walters, D. McPhail, P. E. White, Wm. Macomber, each of special police service July 4th. Sessions, G. A. Rayson, each $2.00, or Detroit, Grand Rapids, etc.

FOR RENT—To good reliable tenant, a fine mission house, with good barn, good garden, good water. Apply record office.

WANTED—People in instruments. Miss W. Three lessons for $1. Satisfaction guaranteed. Also all kinds of fancy work taught. Mrs. Hall.

House to Rent in Northside $1.25 per week. Apply to C. J. Hall.

Send your book binding, job printing and subscription to the RECORD office.

Northville subscribers will find stamped on their paper each week the date to which their subscription is paid.

J. O. Knapp has purchased the Reed farm near the U.S. fish hatchery having traded his Main street residence to Mr. Read in the deal.

The remains of L. G. Covell arrived here from Greenville, for burial on Monday. Mr. Covell was a brother of the late Mrs. Helen Hungerford of this place and was once a resident of the village.

Quarterly meeting service will be observed at the Methodist church Sunday morning. Presiding Elder Allen will be present and deliver an address. The evening topic by the pastor will be Positive Piety.

The Yale ball club of Detroit will play the local club here Saturday afternoon. The batteries will be Gerina and Bobbie Thompson and O'Toole and Casey. Next week Friday the Monroe state league club will play here.

Linewater should always be kept on hand in the summer says a good authority. A teacupful added to bread sponge will prevent soucing. A little in milk or cream will retard acidity several hours. Milk which would otherwise "turn" when heated will not curdle if a little linewater is added before it is put over the fire. Linewater and milk used freely, correct indigestion. Keep in jugs or covered bottles.

Here is something that is worth testing—if you have time. Suppose a man takes a sack of wheat and an ordinary checkerboard, and sits down just for want of something better to do, and undertakes to put a grain of wheat on the first square, two grains on the second, four on the third, etc. how many grains would he use before all the sixty-four squares were filled? It does not seem possible, but a mathematician figured it out in other way at 9,223,371,980,653 bushels, allowing one million grains to the bushel, or as much wheat as the United States would produce in 1846 years.

The Plymouth Mail gave Northville's celebration a very creditable sendoff last week, but didn't seem to like the ball game. We don't blame them much in this respect for the Plymouth club was so badly beaten at their own game that words, we presume, were too meagre to express their feelings. Here in part is what the Mail says: "The ball game in the afternoon was a fine display of genuine fraud. Much was built on this game, and many came a good distance, expecting to see Plymouth and Northville play a good, square game. But they were sadly disappointed. Northville went to the Western League for players and secured a battery that was ready to batter on the Plymouth side, and before the third inning began the crowd began picking and laying the ground." Of course Plymouth was beaten, and beaten badly—38 to 0—but it is disgraceful to Plymouth to be beaten by a western league team and no credit to Northville whatever, because that name adorned the team from the league."

Now the fact of the whole matter is Plymouth was, as we said before, simply beaten at their own game. In the first place they hired Kirkwood, Henderson and Orris away from the Northville club after they had been invited to the Western League for players and secured a battery that was ready to batter on the Plymouth side, and before the third inning began the crowd began picking and laying the ground." ### NEWS OF THE HAPPENINGS IN MICHIGAN.

Note how Purified is Death at Detroit.
Forest Fires Rage in Various Sections.
Fool Murder by a Boy near Berlin.
Crop Report Rather Discouraging.

Fields and Forests on Fire.
The farm of Fred Hutzel of Pittsfield, Washtenaw county, was visited by a disastrous fire. The blaze started along the Toledo-Waukegan tracks and spread into a wheatfield. It swept through the standing wheat furiously and spread to other wheatfields and to bay and stubble fields. Nearly 100 acres were burned over before the neighbors could get the fire under control. Several miles of fences were burned.

Dry weather and standing grain in an unusually inflammable condition is causing Calumet country farmers much anxiety. Fire destroyed a quantity of shocked grain on the farm of Harvey Warren and was with great difficulty kept from other farms.

Forest fires are raging about Muskegon and spreading as the drought continues. Joseph Sullivan's farmhouse is burned with all the contents. Cash to the amount of $300 was consumed.

Forest fires are raging in the vicinity of Bad Axe and many farm buildings are in danger.

North Muskegon and Quincy is in the midst of the greatest forest fire ever known there and hourly the damage increases greater as the fire advances, even devoring everything in its reach, but Vandave's sawmill, a large quantity of logs, shingles and lumber were burned. Several farm houses are doomed unless rain comes soon. Many acres of crops have been burned.

Forest fires have been raging about Alpena for over two weeks and much valuable timber has been destroyed.

The farm buildings of Representatives Schiro and John Hammond have been burned. Rain is the only salvation of the farmers.

Fire caused heavy loss to woods near Saginaw. Saginaw reports woods at fire in that vicinity.

Crop Report for July.

The Michigan crop report for July says: The estimate here given is the yield of bushels of wheat per acre for the state: 18 bu. southern counties; 11.12 bu. central; 11.12 bu. northern; 11.12 bu. upper peninsula; 11 bu.

The estimate for the state is the lowest ever made in July. This light crop is mainly because of the depth of frost that prevailed all the season and still continues, yet other factors have worked injury. The number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in June is 52,311, as compared with 86,363 reported in June, 1891. The acreage of oats is slightly in excess of and the condition is 9 per cent of the average. Oats are estimated at 10 per cent of an average crop. The acreage of potato is 10 per cent in excess of average years and probably 10 per cent of an average crop. Corn and potato seem to have stood the depth remarkably well and with abundant rain now would yield satisfactorily. Meadows and pastures were probably never in poorer condition in this state and the spring setting is closer to nearly all lost. The outlook for apples and meadow is not very encouraging.

Me. and Mrs. in a Big Fire.

A large family of nine, including one husband and one wife, were destroyed by fire which was discovered at 2 a. m. About eight employees were sleeping in the factory and in top floor. About ten houses were situated in the basement. The building was an old one and a firetrap. The body of the fourth floor had controlled the fire and on the fourth floor found the bodies of five men who had been suffocated. Of the 100 horses about 25 were rescued by the firemen and the others were found in their stalls in a terrible state of fright, but not badly injured. The floor above them was supported by heavy iron girders and this alone saved them from the falling timbers. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

Blaze for $1,000,000 Dam at Myrdon.

Plans have just been prepared to give Muskegon an unlimited water power. A dam is to be constructed across the Muskegon river at its influx into Muskegon Lake, at a cost of $1,000,000. Two years will be required to build it. Lauberman John Torre is at the head of the scheme. The area covered will be fifteen square miles. The power can be supplied at one-third the present cost, or $20 per horse power per annum. The dam will be one and one-half miles wide and will rise 22 feet above water level.

Three Deaths by Accidents at Detroit.

For some days Detroit had been remarkably free from serious accidents when there suddenly an epidemic of them and three deaths occurred in one day. Harry Clark aged 25, jumped from bridge and stepped directly in front of another, but was dead in 15 minutes. Thomas Durres, aged 70, while crossing Jefferson avenue, was killed by an electric car. John McLean, aged 19, while riding on a high road on a truck which he was driving, was jolted off and crushed to death beneath the heavy wheels.

Fire at Crosswell.

Fire visited the village of Crosswell and came near wiping it out of existence. H. D. Franklin's barn was set on fire. The flames spread to the Anderson house and barn, which were soon consumed. Several other buildings were also on fire, but were saved by the fire company. The Lexington fire company responded promptly to call for help. H. D. Franklin's loss is $1,000; $4,000 insurance. M. McLean's loss is $1,000; $4,000 insurance.

test. In his well-chosen remarks preceding the presentation, Rev. Tickner referred to the past and present as touching the domestic life of Mr. and Mrs. W., closing with his benediction.

Mr. Whipple in his usual pleasing manner, assured the friends that the tokens were received in the same spirit in which they were given. The company lingered until after midnight when they withdrew to their homes, all wishing Mr. and Mrs. W. many happy returns of their wedding anniversary.

It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Taylor, of this place have agreed to live separate on account of domestic infidelity. Mrs. Taylor has gone to her home near Northville, and Mr. Taylor will go up North it is said.

Of course it goes without saying that Novi feels quite elated over the honors won by our young wheelman at Northville last week Thursday. The medal is a beauty and does Northville credit and it is held by one who will do it honor. Mr. Kirby is one of Novi's finest young men and he wears his laurels with modesty as pleasing as it is natural, especially under circumstances where a reasonable amount of crowding would seem to be perfectly justifiable.

The 100 pound dynamo which had been prepared to celebrate the glorious life with exploded quite over heating.

No one was injured but we wonder why. There were about 20 persons near it, but kind Providence interceded and spared the man who foolishly ventured into the very jaws of death. Large fragments of the machine were hurl'd fifty rods, flying up the ground wherever they struck. This should be a good lesson to people who become careless with firing guns or this kind.

On July 7, 1870, one of the ordinary events of life occurred at West Novi in the marriage of Mr. Adelbert Whipple to Miss Anna Kilimann. The 25 years that have passed since that time have made no perceptible inroads upon the physical or mental vitality of either. And today, the indications are that the scriptural allotment of "three score years and ten" may be enjoyed by both.

Monday evening was proposed as the proper time for a large circle of friends to gather and exemplify the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. W. were held by their many friends.

Accordingly about 60, representing every part of the township, joined forces and betook themselves to the elegant residence of the unsuspecting couple. Mr. and Mrs. Whipple had been wholly unaware of the event, and the surprise was complete. The freedom of the house was demanded, with out formality, and one of the most enjoyable events in the history of the place was passed. The light luncheon was superb, consisting of cake, ice cream and lemonade. This was followed by songs and games participated in by nearly all present. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Whipple were presented, by Rev. Tickner in behalf of the assembled company, with a beautiful cut glass berry dish in silver mountings, a silver butter dish of beautiful design, and a silver knife.

The dust, the beautiful dust. O, ye berry pickers! Would one be able to identify you elsewhere but at home?

Mrs. L. Shannon returned home on Friday last after spending the 31st with Detroit relatives. She brought home with her a little niece and nephew.

The L. O. T. wish to thank the Sir Knights for their kindly help in furthering their wishes by building the sidewalk which has been so long needed near the hall.

Raspberry picking is the order of the day. The lovely red berry will be delivered at your door by Robert Blanchard. If you will be so kind as to use them you will find them fine.

The new sidewalk from the harness shop to the KOTM hall is very nice and will be highly appreciated when the rainy season arrives. At present the rainy season seems afar off, but it's sure to come after a time.
