Were The B-Hams Pounded In Tuesday's Game.

A DETAILED ACCOUNT OF THE CONTEST.

As Gleaned by The Record's Ball Reporter.

One of the best ball games of the season was played here Tuesday between the Northville and Birmingham teams. The game throughout was highly enjoyable and the troublous given the Hams by the Northville club was witnessed by a large crowd of people.

Northville went to bat. E. Roe was out at first. Kirkwood and Wilson struck out for the Hams. Stephen and Blair got first on singles, and Daniels filled the bases by getting to first on balls, but there they stayed while King, McStay and Leet fanned the air.

In the second both Henderson and E. Roe made safe singles, the former scoring on German's hit to left. Wilson was out at first, Dewan hit safe a good single but was put out trying to reach second on it. Kirkwood hit safe to left and both he and Roe scored on Wilson's two bagger. Henderson ended with a little pop up fly. For the game Smith flew to second, Jones went to first on an error and scored on Stanhope's sacrifice and Wilson's wild throw in the second. Blair reached first on balls but was caught stealing second.

The Northvilles failed to score in third while Daniels earned one for the Hams.

In the fourth Dewan was safe at first. He was cut on a pop up to first, Kirkwood hit safe for a two bagger and Dewan scores. Wilson got first on a single and reached second on Henderson's three bagger. Henderson scored on German's safe single. Webster and Roe were out at first. The Hams went out in one, two, three order.

In the fifth Dewan was forced out at second by Kirkwood who brought in Roe. Kirk scored on Wilson's single. Henderson reached first on an error, Wilson was out at third. E. Roe hit a safe single but forced Henderson out at third. For the Hams King hit safe to left but was put out at third. McStay was safe at first and with Daniels tie scored on errors. Leet reached first on balls and was brought to third on Smith's single. German caught Jones pop-up and made a neat triple by throwing to Roe, and Roe to Wilson, cutting Leet out while stealing home.

Northville failed to score in seventh but the Hams brought in four runs. King hit a single and scored on McStay's hit to Center. Mc. scored on Daniels hit and an error. Leet fanned. Smith was safe at first and with Daniels scored on Stanhope's single. Blair was out at first.

In the eighth Mcil went to first on balls, German flew to Toms, Webster hit a safe single. Mcil scored on Dewan's single, and Roe brought in Webster and Dewan. Kirkwood was out at first, Roe scored on Wilson's two bagger, and Henderson's pop-up ended their inning. Blair was out at first, King got four balls and scored on McStay's and Daniels' singles. Mc. scored while Daniels was being put out at second. Smith got first on a dropped fly and Leet scored. Toms struck out.

In the ninth E. Roe and Mcil hit safe singles and scored on German's three bagger to left. German scored on Webster's single, Roe hit safe at first and Kirkwood brought them both in with a three bagger. Wilson and Henderson made safe singles and scored on E. Roe's hit. Roe scored on German's and Mcil's sacrifices. For the Hams Stanhope and Blair went out on flies and Stevens at first.

Following is the score by innings:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Northville,	0	0	4	2	1	0	4	9—26
Birmingham,	1	1	0	2	1	4	3	1—12

Batteries, German and Wilson; Daniels and King. Umpire E. Shields, time 2:15, attendance 200.

Suburban News.

Mrs. John Blower, after a protracted illness, died at her home in Plymouth on Friday. The funeral occurred on Sunday. The lady was well known in Northville.

The Pontiac city council have ordered the Salvation Army to vacate their streets. They will not allow them to promenade up and down the avenues there-in the future.

Holly had a number of light fingered gentry, dumperd there by the trains not long since. A number of attempts to burglarize was the result, but nothing of value was taken and only one arrest made.

Owing to the almost total failure of the hay crop about 2,000 farmers swept down upon a tract of marsh land containing about 25,000 acres in Albee township, Saginaw county, and hauled away ton after ton of marsh grass and pea vine which has never been harvested heretofore.—Orion Review.

Yes, and the next place to be visited is Northville. We have several acres of green stuff on our mill pond.

A meeting will be held in the near future, at which time the matter of raising between $5,000 and $6,000 will be laid before the people of Holly and surrounding country. This money is to be used to clear the mortgage on the Holly Vinegar & Preserving Co. The plant is then to be turned over to the H. J. Heluz & Co. for three years, and in case the location is right they will remain, otherwise they will give the plant back to the village. They wish to buy cucumbers, cabbage, cauliflower, tomatoes and beans for pickling. Holly's previous experience proves the worth of the scheme.

The recent withering-drouth seems to be thoroughly subjugated. All nature is apparently rejuvenated by the late copious showers. The prospects for the growing corn and potatoes seems assured. Let grateful thoughts arise to the "Giver of every good and perfect gift."

CROSS-EXAMINATION

Could Not Weaken Such Testimony As This.

(From the Kalamazoo Telegraph.)

The following statement is one of great interest to many a citizen of Kalamazoo, and a man as well known as Mr. Wallace should carry more than ordinary weight with our leaders. Here it is as taken down by our representative:

"My name is John A. Wallace. I am a member of the firm of J. A. Wallace & Co., doing business as timber, etc., at 103 Eleanor Street, Kalamazoo, in which city I reside. For the past nine or ten months I have been having attacks of kidney complaint, the pain in my back over my bladder was very severe at times, my urinary system was also in a bad state of derangement, sometimes the urine was scanty and again the amount would be excessive, and a difficulty of passage always existed. I heard of Dean's Kidney Pills at a friend's house. I felt that I was going to be sick, but they were useful in an attack, and I am now feeling very much better; the urinary organ has regained a normal condition, and the terrible pain in my back is now reduced in severity, while it is now fast gone away altogether. I am continuing the use of Dean's Kidney Pills with positive feeling that they will effect me a permanent and speedy cure. I have unbound confidence in Dean's Kidney Pills as a remedy for all kidney ailments; have good reason to be, as they have done so much for me."

Can you ask any more than this? Dean's Kidney Pills are reliving more backs of the burdens they have been forced to bear through the kidneys than all other means devised, and, better still, they are doing this right here in Michigan. Ask any one who has ever taken them and see what they will say.

Dean's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Dean's, and take no other.

The postoffice department has issued
a new money order form which will be used by all offices as soon as the old

of the bulky one now in use. There will be no change in the method of indicating the amount, and the numerals will be continued consecutively with the old forms.

Bro. Neal says, from a general standpoint, that the 4th of July game was a dead. The same word will probably apply to the Monroe-Northville game at Northville last Saturday morning—
Monroe 21, Northville 2—Plymouth 1.

Certainly! You never hear the Record or Northville people either,
"dead" around for weeks every time
the local club gets it in the neck.

Wilson, Northville's new catcher, is more sharp tricks and plays wrapped one failing, however, and that is he is friendly amateur game. This may possibly be overlooked in a measure out of consideration for his otherwise good playing.

the other.

H. W. Holcomb, one of Detroit's best known real estate men-builders, well known in Northville where he formerly lived, made an assignment Wednesday.

The liabilities are $60,000 with assets something like $75,000. Decrease cause. Mr. Holcomb will no doubt weather through the storm all right.

Any improvement in the River and editor's absence for several days in Chicago and various Michigan cities this week and last. Mrs. L. D. Evans had charge of the city deportment, and various other friends, for whose kindness this publisher is not ungrateful, rendered valued assistance in the way of supplying local and personal news.

Mr. Rothwell, of the firm of Rothwell & Co., Detroit real estate dealers, 228-230 Chalmers of Commerce, paid the Record office a pleasant little call Monday. He is here in the interest of his company which has secured the grocery stock of John Highland and the T. G. Richardson boat and shore stock, which will be closed out at the former's store. The sale will begin Saturday morning at nine o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Arnold had the misfortune to lose $23.00 Sunday evening. Mrs.
Henry Lowden, treasurer for the Republican Society handed him an envelope containing about half a dozen silver dollars and some paper money, which he placed in his vest pocket as he supposed, but on arriving at Mrs. Paul-ger's boarding house, he discovered the loss of the money, and immediately retired his steps in search of it, but was unsuccessful. It is very strange, but quite true, that people who would scorn themselves for stealing a penny will keep a lad with a clear conscience.

The ladies of the Baptist church have secured the services of Miss Ruby Jones of the Lawrence Barrett school of expression to give an elocution and pantomime entertainment.

Tuesday evening, Aug. 13, Miss Jones comes highly recommended and will please. This is what is said of her:

"Miss Ruby Jones is the embodiment of grace, possessing a clear, well modulated and powerful voice adapted to a ball of any size. She is in fact a finished elocutionist. Judging from personal observation we think her capable of giving an entertainment which would please the people of any city, town or village." Mrs. Ross W.
Boiselle, Pres. W.C.T.U. Plymouth.

The postoffice department has issued
a new money order form which will be used by all offices as soon as the old supply is exhausted. The form will be

BRIEF ITEMS ABOUT MICHIGAN PEOPLE AND THINGS.

Marquette County Miners Strike
Sodden and Grown More Serious Daily.
Twenty Years Fiction in for a Train
Wrecker—Gen. Gen T. Shaffer Dead.

A sober meeting of mine owners was held at Cleveland. It is reported that an increase in the wage scale was agreed to, but that it will not be as great as demanded by the miners. The officers seem more confident of winning their cause than at any time. They have organized a miners' union with a membership of almost 4,000. The daily parades and meetings in the park between the two cities are attended by large numbers and much enthusiasm is shown. Some of the overcautious strikers tried to prevent work on public streets and buildings, but their actions are believed to have been unauthorized.

The 200 men employed at the Champion mine, 10 miles from Saginaw, have also quit work. Supt. Hatch says the mine will be closed indefinitely. Capt. Rock appealed to the strikers to permit him to resume work at the Star of the West mine. He offered to grant all demands, but the strikers said that all of the mines in the county would have to remain closed until a general advance was granted.

Miners' Meeting
The reply of the mine owners to the ultimatum of the strikers was received by the miners' leaders and opened and read at a largely attended meeting of the strikers at the park between Saginaw and New Haven. The communication was to the effect that the schedule of wage demanded was too high and could not be granted, but the owners would concede some advance which would be made known if the men would report at the various mines for work. This proposition was rejected by the crowd with scarcely any discussion. They pointed to the absence of figures, or to the reasonableness of their own figures and asserted that nothing short of their full demand will suffice. They claim that if the men agree to a scale separately would cause the disintegration of their union and they will break no interference with the regular method of business observed by the strikers as a body. Here, their determination is most pronounced.

True to their decision, none of the strikers appeared at the mines at the time set by the mine owners and the latter announced that they had concluded all they should and believed the men paid off and discharged. A great many have expressed the opinion that if the owners had recognized the union instead of insisting on treating with the men individually the strikers would have accepted their offer. No disturbance of any kind had occurred. It is rumored the companies intended starting the steam shovels and will ask protection of the state if necessary and if this is done trouble will follow as there is a determination on the part of the shovels not to permit them to work at any cost.

Forest Fires Raging Again.

Extensive forest fires are raging northward of Gladstone and considerable apprehension is felt for the "so-called" company's roundhouse and the plant of the neighboring lumberman. Another fire is raging in the peninsula east of the city and is destroying much valuable timber. It is feared that if well started, the flames in which case are not settling will be caused. There has been no rain to some time and the swamps and sloughs are dry.

Fires are again near the outlet of Houghtaling Lake. The Dewey State Co. have 2,000 feet of cedar and basswood logs at the Muskegon and tributaries in that locality and do not have licensed already.

A GODDESS' REVENGE

 If you had been in a certain part of Greece one day long time ago, you might have heard ringing through the woods and hills and over the plain the clear sound of the hunters' horn and the quick sharp bark of the stag-hound. For a party of young nobles were on the chase.

Little could they for the tender, remorseful look that was cast upon her face, and the intruder upon her care and privacy. And then happened something passing strange. Even while Acteon was trying to extricate himself by saying that his intruder was unintentional, his tongue lost the power of speech; his ears grew sharp-pointed; great horns grew out of his head; his hands became feet; the arms long legs; and his body took on a coat of spotted hair.

He was Acteon no longer, but a stag of the forest.

Trembling with terror, he turned and fled. Through the wounded glades he ran as swiftly as he could, but admiring his speed, he was compelled to drink from a brook and saw reflected there the stag's horns that grew from his head, torn and bleeding. If you had suggested this phase of the question to them, they would, perhaps, have stared at you in utter amazement.

It was their pleasure to hunt, to chase, the deer from its haunts, to scatter its open glades. Were their fierce dogs right up at its heels and finally leap upon its quivering flanks and drag it to the earth?

Or if the hunters' fortune favored them, they might send their hunting javelins into the vitals of their prey, thus keeping for themselves the cruel victory that usually hung upon the sharp fangs of their dogs.

But what would you have? It was an age when men killed, not only brutes, but each other, for the mere love of kill. The cause of bloodletting of unbridled passions of cruelty and audacity.

Wonderous men, that these young nobles would have stared amazed if one had suggested that their selected sport was the very essence of cruelty and recklessness; that they had the right to hunt game for food, but not the right to torture and kill intelligent creatures for the gratification of a purely cruel instinct.

How would they have liked to change places with the deer? Let us see! My story will tell you.

At the head of this party of young nobles was a handsome prince named Actaeon, son of the King Cadmus. He was the pet of the court, brave, adventurous, and sometimes reckless. Far, far had he had his good points, as such things went in those days; but on the chase he was fearless, persistent, relentless, and the greatest happiness that could befall him was to be "in at the death."

All the forenoon had the party been, wetting their weapons with the blood of their victims, and when the sun god reached the mid-way point in his daily course and was sending down his beams hot upon the parched earth, Actaeon proposed to his companions that they rest in the shade of the trees.

Calling in the dogs, they threw themselves upon the shade, and while thus at the shade, the slaves had brought with them and drank many cups of wine of cirrhous white, they quenched the thirst of all, and told each other many stories of hunting-adventure.

Promiscuously living, perchance, of the life of gods, of his friends, and of wandered off among the trees, haggard and without a purpose, lacking in the strength of the woods, marian, a most mortifying distinction from the silly mortals with which his companions were beginning the time.

Now, not far from where the hunters were resting, was a beautiful valley into which the foot of mortal might not intrude with impunity. It was inclosed with cypresses and tall pines, so arched over the entrance that it formed a dark screen for what the valley might contain.

At the far end of the valley was a cave, in making which nature had manifested art for the roof of the cave was formed of stones that fitted as perfectly and delicately as if turned by the hand of man.

Just within the entrance of this cave was a fountain, whose limpid waters gushed forth from the rock and poured themselves into a round basin whose edge was a rim of never-dying grass.

It was a spot of surpassing beauty, and no wonder the foliage of the cypresses and pines had contrived to hide it from the gaze of the chance wanderer, for it was sacred to Diana, the chaste goddess of the hunt.

It was there that she repaired, when weary of the chase, to bathe her beautiful limbs in the clear water, for there she was safe from alibius, secure from all intrusion.

That is to say, she had been free from intrusion until the day of which I speak; when Actaeon and his friends were hunting in the adjoining woods. Just at the time that the young prince left his party and began to strok aimlessly about, the goddess had sought her quiet retreat, accompanied by her nymphs, and was preparing to take her midday bath.

Laying down her spear; her bow and her quiver filled with arrows, she threw off her robe and stood there in the midst of her fair attendants the very embodiment of virgin loveliness and beauty.

Suddenly her nymphs uttered a joint cry of amazement and alarm; for there, looking at, the sacred scene, was a man, the only one that had ever seen Diana, unrobed!

It was Actaeon, and surely it was the Fates that led him thus to his destiny. He was standing in the entrance to the cave.

The nymphs crowded around the goddess, trying to conceal her, by making a screen of their bodies, but she overtopped them all, and they could not hide her.

Over her face spread, the blush of modesty surprised, and, obeying a sudden and natural impulse, she reached

How Successful Farmers Operate the Department of the Farm - A Few Hints as to the Care of Live Stock and Poultry.

THE RURAL NEW Yorker devotes one of its interesting symposiums to the question of flavor in butter. Dr. Cohn, Dr. Babcock, Professors Plumbe, Dean, Jordan, Waters, Van Slyke and Hills, and the Canadian Dairy Commissioner, Mr. Robertson, being the contributors. The general result of the opinions of these gentlemen is that the desirable aroma and taste of butter are due to the handling of the milk and cream rather than to the flavor of the original food. Fresh butter appears to have no particular flavor. It being the buttermilk rather than the pure fat which gives the taste of butter are due to the handling some weeds such as onions, garlic, radish, etc., recognized as unfavorable influences on butter flavor. The influence of feed is generally minimized.

Some scoundrels, tearing another deity nor deylin, broke into the Novi Methodist last week and eat the bell rope.—Athenian Press.

The relatives of the late Carlos Harmon extend their sincere thanks to the many friends who so kindly rendered assistance during his illness.

The pulpit at the Baptist church was occupied last Sunday by James McGee of Farmington. He will fill the same position next Sunday morning.

F. E. Quigley has received a cream separator, and will be pleased to have dairymen call and see it work. Cream will be separated every evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Palmer, Mrs. Emma Costello and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCrumbs and Miss Nellie Tibbits camped at Upton lake last Friday and Saturday and "thanked" us.

Novi is quite a place for relics—in fact it's a relic itself. Aggie McCrumbs is the possessor of a homespun towel whose exact age is lost in antiquity but can be traced to over ninety years, and Nellie Francis boasts of one whose age is as much if not more, having been woven by her great great grandmother.—[The RECORD office contains a towel which looks to be that aged.]

William Putby, Jr.; Miss Gaetner Jr. Married at Northville Monday by Rev. Mr. Turner. Saturday evening about 25 men called at the bride's residence and gave the prospective man and wife a glorious charivari and were promised a keg of beer Monday night. Eight young men called and helped get on the outside of the beer. It is rumored that the bride in this case is but 15.

The revival meetings which have been conducted at the Methodist church by Rev. D. C. Riehl of Owosso, during the past weeks were, without doubt, the most profitable series of such meetings which have been held here for years. Mr. Riehl made no special effort to have sinners make a start, but he endeavored to revive and teach the slumbering church members. He used charts, tearing various illustrations, all of which were in his special line of talk, and were used to illustrate his discourses. It is generally conceded, by all who heard him, that he possessed a superior and remarkable knowledge of the bible, and the people admit, both saint and sinner, that there could be no better explanations than he gave. Christians especially, ought to become alive to their duties and go to work, and sinners ought to become christians now before it is too late.
