In construction, proportion and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses peculiar curative powers unknown to any other preparation. This is why it has a record of cures unequalled in the history of medicine. It acts directly upon the blood and by making it pure, rich and healthy it cures disease and gives good health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today. $1.50 for $2.

Hood's Pills cure habitual constipation, biliousness, indigestion.

A Summer Girl Melted.

The $6,000 wax figure of the summer girl employed as an advertisement in a Wilmington, Del., shop window was melted by the intense heat the other day, although the summer girl is supposed to keep cool under all circumstances. The moral is that advertising in wax is more or less precarious in today's weather. The only advertisement warranted not to run is the model from a composition of printer's ink and brains. This holds its form whatever the temperature.

Vienna's "Lazy Club."

One of the queerest clubs in the world is the "Lazy club" of Vienna. It is said to have a membership of 100, and there are thousands waiting for admission. No member of this organization can do anything for a living, and the slightest suspicion of work that rests on a member means his expulsion.

A Reunion of Giants.

There was a family reunion at Tionesta, Pa., the other day in which six sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Coleman participated. The aggregate height of the six is 37 feet 6 inches. The tallest is 6 feet 5 inches high and the shortest 4 feet.

As a general thing the hands and feet of the Indian men are small and well proportioned.

A GRAND TRIUMPH.

Battled Many Times but Success Comes at Last.

(From the Grand Rapids Press.)

The following incident would be hard to believe if it had not occurred right here in Grand Rapids, and investigation by our representative has placed it beyond the reach of doubt. These are the facts in detail: Mr. J. H. White of No. 251 Broadway Place, has been an instructor in pneumonia in different business colleges for the past fourteen years. He says: "Last October I was suddenly taken ill. I consulted a physician, who said the pain was from 'gravel' stones; gradually grew worse; the pain was in my back and side. My back swelled up in a great ridge, and I finally grew so bad that I was taken to bed, as helpless as a child. I passed blood, and when the pain was in my back I was like one crazy. The doctor injected morphine to give me relief, but further than that he said he was powerless, and nothing would do me any good but a surgical operation. I believe my flesh was literally cooked in the attempts to relieve my agony. Everything was a used, mustard plaster, turpentine, hot cloths and all such things. I was in this condition, given up by the doctor, and almost out of my mind with suffering. I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and really felt easier in 20 minutes. After about two hours I had a passage of urine, and passed blood and some gravel stones which greatly relieved me. I rapidly improved. I took all six boxes, and I feel to day entirely well. Mine has been a wonderful cure. I feel that I cannot say anything strong enough for Doan's Kidney Pills. My great wish is that they may become well known. They will prove a boon to mankind."

CHAPTER XIV.—(Continued.)

Next morning, when court was opened, a vast crowd of interested spectators thronged the court house. Interest in the pending suit was at fever heat and expectation on tip-toe. Mr. Colburn arose, addressed the court and jury, and announced that owing to unexpected testimony from the other side for which he had made no preparation, and for which it was now too late to secure the attendance of rebutting witnesses, he and his client had decided to abandon the present suit, and to begin anew at some future time.

"Where is your client?" asked the judge.

"I don't know, your honor. He has failed to make his appearance this morning."

A buzz went round the courtroom.

"We insist upon a verdict, may it please the court," said Clayton.

"What do you say, Mr. Colburn?" said the judge.

"I don't know, your honor. He has failed to make his appearance this morning."

"All right," replied Colburn, who did not now care a pin what became of the case.

"For the sake of justice to my client, your honor, and to the true heir under the will, which is the basis of this suit, I desire to place upon the stand as a witness before the jury retires, Hon. Joseph Gust of Cincinnati."

Another buzz among the spectators.

Nobody objecting, Joseph Gust was duly sworn and permitted without interruption to give the history of the medal, its long presence in Cincinnati, the death of Jeff Blake, and the adoption of "Little Joe" as his own son.

The jury rendered a verdict against the pretender without leaving the jury-box.

Mrs. Blake, who heard the entire testimony of Joseph Gust and had hung upon its statements with most intense interest until the witness said that through the efforts of Mr. Molier it was now rendered certain that his adopted son was the long-lost "Little Joe," then did what she never did before: woman like, she fainted.

She was carried to an ante-room, water dashed in her face by the maid "Liza," and returned to the courtroom in time to hear the verdict.

Then, hastening to Mr. Gust and Molier, she overwhelmed them with thanks, and urged them to enter her carriage and accompany her home to the Springs. Mr. Gust had left home at a moment's warning, and must return at once. He congratulated Mrs. Blake on the certain early restoration of her son, and declined the kindly urgent invitation. Molier went with Mrs. Blake to Gray Sulphur Springs.

Arrived at the hotel, dinner was neglected to allow Molier to talk to Myra about her son. As usual, Molier concealed something of what he knew. He peered out the account given in the witness box, by Mr. Gust, related many incidents of Joe's boyhood, praised his present manly bearing and his fine personal appearance, and prophesied his future great success at the bar as a lawyer. He told how he had sought out Joe's former home and discovered his parentage; and showed—without claiming to have done so—that his own efforts had brought about this happy result.

"And I shall see him at once, Mr. Molier?" inquired Myra.

"Between Christmas and New Year's he will be here with his wife."

"His wife? You did not tell me he was married."

"No, madam, he is not yet married; but his wedding will occur on Christmas day—only five days off."

"I cannot wait! I must go to him. Why did he not come with you?"

"He has not the most distant knowledge that his mother has been discovered."

"And you did not tell him?"

"I could not be sure of it myself, madam, until I came here and witnessed the trial."

"But you will tell him immediately!"

"Most certainly. And I pledge you that he will bring his young wife here to his old home three days after the wedding."

Tears of joy ran down Myra's cheeks which she did not seek to restrain.

"Oh!" said she. "If I only knew his wife would be worthy of him. I should be too happy. What is her name?"

"That I am pledged to keep from you at present. But make your preparations for the wedding reception. You will learn to love your daughter, I hope, as dearly as I know you love your son."

Next morning, Molier took the coach via Lexington for home; and the happy mother, with apparently the cordial support of Sam Blake, commenced preparations for such a wedding reception as would do honor to her son and herself.

The expected return of the long-lost Joseph was soon known to all about the Springs. The old colored people were excited and garrulous.

"Old Mammy" said, with exultation, "I told you so! Dat feller not 'Little Joe.'"

And as far as appearances went, all were happy. Perhaps Sam Blake did not really enjoy the prospect. But he made the best of it.

CHAPTER XV.

CONCLUSION.

On leaving for Cincinnati, Mr. Gust had been urged by Molier to say not a word to Joseph as to his new-found home, and he promised, in return, to keep the matter from Vivette, meaning to give her both a glad surprise, and to give her both a glad surprise, and to give her both a glad surprise.

Mr. Gust was not accustomed to concealments and agreed to this proposition very reluctantly. When Molier returned, he said nothing to Vivette, therefore, as to where he had been or the cause of his absence, and she knew his ways too well to seek to know that which he did not voluntarily reveal.

All was ready for the approaching wedding—now but three days in the future. It needed not much preparation: a few personal friends only were to be present and the groom and bride were to start immediately on a brief tour to Gray Sulphur Springs. That had been arranged at the special instance of Molier, who had his own reasons. Vivette was delighted at the thought of again meeting Myra Blake, the motherly friend who had treated her so kindly; and Joseph, knowing nothing of the Springs, directly, but simply because to go anywhere that Vivette wished was his highest happiness—concurred in the plan.

Christmas morning, at 10, Joseph and Vivette were joined in marriage by Father Burke, from whose venerable throat, gurgled up a blessing from a patriarch of olden days; and amid congratulations and honest prayers, they started on a pleasant bridal tour, by private conveyance, to Gray Sulphur Springs.

It boots not to say they were happy. Millions, in the past, have drunk of the same cup; and millions will drink of it. Prudence may offer her warning, it vain. The shadow of heaven and unhappy marriages may obscure it; but, poverty may oppose, and fate may battle, and doubt may cause hesitation; but "the strong necessity of loving" will prevail; and the man shall take unto him his wife and the woman shall cleave to her husband throughout the ages.

When Joseph and Vivette drove up between the cedars, around the semicircle and up to the great front door, they were met and received by expectant waiters.

"Great heavens, Vivette!" exclaimed Joseph, as he stepped from the carriage—"this is my home and there it is, my mother!"

Image of his dead father as he was, his mother instantly recognized her long-lost son, and fell weeping tears of joy upon his neck.

"My mother!"

"My son—my son!"

No other words passed for some moments, when Vivette spoke.

"And is it possible—my husband is your son?"

Myra Blake saw the whole truth in an instant, and falling upon her neck in a long embrace, exclaimed:

"Oh, Vivette, I am so happy!"

Sam Blake, moved by his better nature, grasped the hand of his nephew, whom he recognized at once, and welcomed him back to his home and his possessions.

In the family room, when Vivette had changed her riding habit for more convenient attire congratulations were repeated and surprises explained.

"And did you not know you were coming home—to meet me, Joseph—and your uncle?"

"Never dreamed of such a thing."

"And you, Vivette—did you not know? I suspect it was your own father brought about this happy reunion."

"My father has been absent some time; but he told me not a word of this."

"Oh, I am so happy!" again said Myra.

And as the excessive excitement of unexpected reunion grew more calm, mutual explanations were made, and mutual happiness prevailed.

Liza, the colored waiting-maid, who was present and who also recognized Joseph fled to the kitchen, to the laundry, and about among the black folks, bearing the glad tidings; the lost is found, the king has come to his own.

"I seen him first of all—Yo' he got out de cage wid his wif her cousin. His mother knows him and Mas' Sam knows him, and I know him myself," said Liza—delighted to be the first to bring the good news.

"I seed him 'fo de cage do' was open," replied Old Mammy. "Course I know'd him. Bress de Lo! 'Little Joe' done come back."

All about the hotel and at the laundry, the stables and negro quarters, black faces were shining with delight and even they who knew nothing of "Little Joe" personally, joined in the prevailing hilarity.

NEW SCHOOL LAWS.

Information Which Every School Patron Should Possess.

The Michigan legislature of 1895 passed no less than eleven bills which are of general interest to the school officers and teachers of the state, while some of them are of vital importance. The subjoined noted changes in the school laws of the state should receive the careful attention of all who are particularly interested in our public school system. The seven new amendments to the primary school law make the following changes:

Qualified voters at school meetings must be citizens of the United States.

Persons qualified to vote on questions involving the raising of money by a tax must own property that is assessed for school taxes.

The minimum length of the school year is increased from three to five months.

Directors, without the action of the voters, may purchase necessary supplies, such as maps, globes, charts, library case and other accessories, at not to exceed certain prices.

The township board cannot now use library money for general school purposes.

The oath which challenged voters are required to take before being allowed to vote is changed.

Allows districts to now pay $10 for dictionaries, instead of $5.

The Redfern bill makes six changes in the law regarding teachers. They are as follows:

Examiner must now have been a teacher of at least nine months' experience and a holder of at least a third grade certificate.

In addition to the qualifications formerly required of the commissioner, he must have had 12 months' experience in teaching.

Teachers' examinations for county certificates will now be held on uniform dates in all the counties of the state.

No certificate can legally be granted to persons 21 years of age and over who are not citizens of the United States.

The clause in the former law which forbade commissioners and examiners from having an interest in summer normal schools was stricken out.

City teachers must be legally qualified. Examination must be conducted by authority of the board of education in a manner satisfactory to the superintendent of public instruction.

Act No. 73 authorizes the state board of education to indorse certificates granted in other states.

Act No. 101 requires commissioners to examine candidates for admission to the Agricultural college.

Act No. 35 makes it the duty of school officers to provide a flag and flagstaff for every school house.

Act No. 151 provides that the tuition shall not exceed the average cost per capita more than 15 per cent. It also provides that children supported in county houses shall be admitted to the school nearest the county house, the county paying the tuition.

Act No. 143 provides for teaching the moles by which dangerous communicable diseases are spread and the means of prevention.

Act No. 75 is the new compulsory school law, and its chief features are as follows:

The school age for compulsory attendance is from 6 to 11 throughout the state and from 7 to 16 in cities and at least four months attendance is required. The only pupils who are exempt are those who attend private schools, those who have already acquired the ordinary branches, those who are physically unable to attend and pupils living more than two miles from school. Parents must send their children to school at least eight half days in each week, and failure to comply is punishable by fine or imprisonment. "Inhabitant truant" children who are ungovernable in school, and children who do not attend school and are not in the employ of a parent, guardian, or other person, are, as a last resort, may be committed to the public schools at Adams or Lansing.

CAN CURE ASTHMA.

A Leading Physician at Last Discovers the Remedy.

The majority of sufferers from Asthma and kindred complaints, after trying Doctors and numberless Remedies advertised as positive cures, without avail, have come to the conclusion that there is no cure for this most distressing disease, and these same persons will be the more in doubt and skepticism when they learn through the columns of the press that Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann, the recognized authority, who has treated more cases of these diseases than any living Doctor, has achieved success by perfecting a remedy which not only gives relief in the worst cases, but has positively cured thousands of sufferers who were considered incurable. These were just as skeptical as some of our readers, now are. Dr. Schiffmann's Asthma Cure, as it is called, has been sold by all druggists, ever since it was first introduced, although many persons may never have heard of it, and it is with a view to reaching those who have never heard of it, that Dr. Schiffmann has offered this cure, and it is a most generous and fair offer, and all who are suffering from any of the above complaints should write to him at once and avail themselves of the same as positively no free samples can be obtained after Oct. 10. Address Dr. R. Schiffmann, 335 Rosabel street, St. Paul, Minn.

WATER-ELECTRIC CONDUCTOR.

Mr. Edison's Idea of Using It as a Means of Defending Fortresses.

Mr. Edison's inventive faculty often runs in fanciful grooves. Some time ago he evolved an elaborate scheme for the electrical defense of a fort. He contended that half the ordinary complement of guns could be dispensed with, and in their stead he would install a powerful dynamo. Current from this machine would be conducted by wires to the nozzles of hose, carrying a heavy stream of water under high pressure. These would be placed on the ramparts and as the enemy approached the jet would be turned on. As water is a good conductor, the stream would be heavily charged with electricity of fatal power and every man within its radius would be killed. An Auburn ex-alderman has just escaped what might have been unpleasant consequences from seeking to experiment in the same field of electrical conduction. He was kneeling down his lawn with the garden hose when he became suddenly possessed with a desire to "shoot" at the trolley wire, and he would have done it, but for the timely arrival of the ligament, who advised him not to do so.

Death of Mrs. Mary Kellogg.

Death again has flung its sombre shadow in our midst, and called within its mysterious fold, one of our best known and most useful women, Mrs. Mary H. wife of Edward Kellogg. Mrs. Kellogg's maiden name was Northrop. She was born on the family farm west of town, now occupied by her mother, Beach Northrop, Nov. 27, 1844. In 1861 she married Mr. Kellogg and since then has made this village her home. For two years she has been unwell, but grave fears were not entertained concerning her health, till quite recently. She went to Lansing several weeks ago to be with her brother Burr and her sister, Mrs. Sarah Gieslin. Here her sickness took a fatal change and after several days of intense suffering, on Thursday morning, September 14, she passed away leaving the record that a good woman had passed to heaven.

She has been a member of the Presbyterian church since 1878. She was an earnest worker in the WCTU and Kins' Daughters, also a valued member of the Eastern Star and Order of Chosen Friends.

The funeral occurred Saturday noon at the homestead conducted by Rev. Mr. Behling. The ministered tribute of beautiful flowers, well as the large attendance bespoke the esteem and love with which her friends regarded her.

Young Men's Christian League Semi-Annual Election.

The YMCL is now two and a half years old and bids fair to remain energetic and aggressive till a good old age. The semi-annual election of officers took place Sunday afternoon with the following result: President, W. H. Hutton; vice-pres., C. L. Dubuque; sec'y, Chas. A. Dolph; treas., Chas. Dickerson.

The secretary's report may prove interesting to many and was as follows: "Since our semi-annual election last February our YMCL has made progress along various lines and in a substantial manner so that we have encouraging things to look back upon. The record shows that we have held 28 Sunday afternoon meetings. The total attendance at 27 of them foot up 906 or an average of 37 to each. These meetings have had the leadership of 15 different men. The favorable showing of the not weather figures will be a pleasure to us all. The largest attendance was 65 and the smallest 11 while the average for the heated term has been 29. You will doubtless recall the good time enjoyed at the YMCA district conference held here and the consequent uplift and help that came with it. We hardly need to be reminded of the excellent Rally evening in May last with its review of our work and the subscriptions for our chairs. Neither do we overlook the meetings held by Rev. Allen of Farmington and Rev. Jaquess of Detroit wherein searching gospel truth was presented to us in a peculiarly earnest manner. The 16 men who went to Ann Arbor on the June morning will not forget very soon that memorable ride nor the royal reception received while there.

It might be well too, that we recall that we are property owners to the extent of $105, consisting of an organ, 60 song books and a full outfit of seating, thus giving us an equipment for our good work. Much of this has been added since our last business meeting. That we have done well means much every way but chiefly that we put ourselves to render finer service in the coming six months.

The treasurer made the following report: Receipts: On hand $1.72; badges 42 50; gift 1.50; chair subs., 37.95. Total $37.10. Paid: On organ 11.00; printing 12.00; coal and wood 4.35; singing books 6.25; chairs 37.95; postals 70. Total 72.75. Balance on hand 10.32.

The society has nearly a hundred members and more will be heard about them as the days go by.

neighboring lawns cut the fire department out of a job. The fire caught up stairs where the stove-pipe came in too close proximity with the floor.

The early closing movement will commence Monday evening Oct. 7, as per notice elsewhere. People living in the country and about town should bear this in mind and arrange to have their trading completed by eight o'clock. If you have any after-eight o'clock trading to do, do it next week.

Mothers' meeting next Wednesday at the WCTU hall. Subject: "The New Woman." Every woman in Northville and vicinity is cordially invited to attend. On the first Wednesday in November the mothers' meeting will consist of a baby show. Let every mother of a baby be on the quivive. Mrs. S. M. Reed, Comr.

Married, at the Methodist parsonage Thursday evening, Sept. 26, Mr. Chas. Wilson of this place and Miss Nellie M. Gillett, teacher in the primary department of the Northville school. Rev. C. C. Turner performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will occupy the Mrs. J. Hutchinson house, 24 Yerkes street, where they will be "at home" to their friends after Oct. 17.

Stewart, Clark et al had a lively experience in their camp on the Au-
Sable near Grayling one night last week. A good sized cyclone struck the region and while the woods afforded the boys great protection the people in the towns took to their cellars. The boys were pretty badly scared however and during the excitement A T performed the marvelous feat of putting on over his head that portion of his under garments which usually go on feet first.

About fifty veterans of the Fifth Michigan Cavalry held a reunion at Belle Isle last week. Jacob Bristol, Detroit, was elected president for the ensuing year; J. Allen Bigelow, Birmingham, vice-president; E. F. Johnson, Almont, secretary and treasurer; J. K. Lowden, Northville, historian; H. M. White, Northville; Geo. S. Wheeler, Salem; Walter Crawford, Detroit; E. S. Horton, Northville and Alvin N. Sabin, Detroit, executive committee. The next reunion will be held at Northville street, Detroit, will on October 6, open up as a hotel the former Michigan Club, corner Fort and Wayne street. It will be known as the Hotel Young, and will be the leading $1.25 and $1.50 per day hotel in the city—single meals 25c. The Avenue hotel has had the reputation of setting up the best 25c meal in the city and the new Hotel Young will be in keeping in every way with the enviable reputation gained by the same proprietor in the Avenue house. The Record takes pleasure in recommending this new hotel to its readers.

Superintendent Clark's branch fish station on the Au Sable, near Grayling is doing a loud-office business in the way of fishing. They have already captured about 2,500 of the sparkling beauties, mostly by hook and line. This mode of fishing is a trifle slow however for "Uncle Sam's" men and the river is being cleaned out now so that seines can be used. The station will be maintained until December 1 at which time they hope to have captured 25,000. The fish will be kept in ponds until spawning time and after the eggs are extracted they will be turned loose in the river again. The eggs will be shipped to this station here to be hatched.

It has been stated that The Record declined to publish last week the notice of the Sunday evening Presbyterian service. The notice in question was not received until Thursday night after the forms were ready for press, and while all the employees were at the Plymouth fair. The same has been said regarding the flower show advertising, and yet The Record published everything gratuitously that was sent in. The week of the show the editor was away from town much of the time and as no notices whatever were sent in, none were published. The Record has enough to answer for without being held entirely responsible for the neglect or others. The Record has never refused to publish any notices of the kind, but on the contrary is only too glad to get them.

SUPPLEMENT.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1895.

WIXOM.

We are going to have a new side walk to the church.

Mrs. Nickson from Northville visited her sister, Mrs. Martin, on Friday.

Rev. Mr. Shannon has a small farm he thinks it pays to farm on a scientific plan.

Mr. Smith says business is fairly good for the season. He will soon ship milk to Detroit.

The new merchant, R. B. Cummings, is getting on new goods and has the store in grand good order.

A miller got into Mrs. Perrygo's ear and caused her no end of trouble. A dose of arsenic externally applied removed the insect by pieces.

The LTL Sunday evening was not quite as well attended as usual owing to the intense heat. F. R. Beal of Northville gave a very interesting talk on temperance.

Mr. and Mrs. Beal met quite a number of old acquaintances, and all were pleased to see their kindly faces. Hope to see them again.

Mrs. R. C. Blady of Bay City who has been visiting in the lake for some time spent this week with her uncle, J. P. Loomis. She gave a charming account of her trip and had some fine sketches of the islands, bays and different pleasure resorts. She went with her friends to the Plymouth and in passing through Northville she thought the improvements there were far above her expectations.

SALE OF MICHIGAN. At a sale of the property of the County of Wayne, held at the Court House in the City of Detroit, on the twenty-fourth day of September, 1895, the following property was sold: A lot of land in the City of Detroit, containing one acre, more or less, bounded by the City of Detroit on the north and east, and by the City of Wayne on the south and west. The property was sold to the City of Detroit for the sum of $100.00.

JOSEPH W. DUNN, Clerk of the Court, and Agent for the Sale of the Property.

HOWARD A. FINE, Register.

Friends of the Record having business at the Probate court should insist that their notices be published in this paper, where those interested will see it.

The water company has had the water boxes placed in position at "Hawthorne square," and if the city will purchase some hose, that little oasis can be sprinkled. — Ann Arbor Courier.

As a rule an oasis doesn't need much sprinkling. Better turn the hose on the desert places in that district first.

Samuel S. LaPointe of Monroe, ex-county treasurer, received a scolding from the Dundee Ledger during the last political tangle and thought about $5,000 would redress injuries sustained thereby. The jury last week joint up Sam's feelings again.

Mrs. Chas. H. Johnson had an exhibit of hand painted cuppa at the Plymouth fair and received a number of premiums.

John Thompson is putting in a new hydraulic ram on his big farm, west of village and will soon have a good water-works system of his own.

In the case of Ed Cook charged with assault on Steve Taylor before Justice Webster last week Friday, the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

There will be preaching Sunday morning in the Presbyterian church. Joseph Shimon, a native of Oromiah, Persia, will occupy the pulpit. All welcome.

A reception will be tendered Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Turner next Tuesday evening, from 8 to 10, at the Methodist parsonage. Members of the church and congregation invited.

The Detroit Presbytery has appointed Rev. J. M. Belding moderator of the Plymouth session and Rev. Mr. Clark of South Lyon moderator of the session of the Northville church.

"We believe there is sufficient water in the reservoir now that the hours for sprinkling might safely be extended to two hours. The water in the reservoir does not appear to raise or lower very much after it reaches a certain point.

Joseph Shimon, a native of Oromiah, Persia, will speak in the Methodist church Sunday evening, Sept. 29, at 7:30 on the social and religious life of the Persians. He will appear in his native costume. Everybody made welcome.

The Record is in receipt of copies of the Plymouth Fair Messenger for the three days. The issue was a very creditable one indeed being an honor to both editors and publisher in the way of news and arrangement. Northville business men were liberal patrons of the advertising columns.

Sunday afternoon Rev. Mr. Belding spoke on "Superstitions of every day," in the Detroit Y.M.C.A. In the evening he spoke on the same subject here in the Presbyterian church—treating from the religious side. Tonight he makes an address in the First Presbyterian church, Detroit.

The interior of Frank Hinckman's house, 62 Dunlap street, was searched Tuesday morning and a lot of wearing apparel destroyed. Garden hose from neighboring lawns cut the fire department out of a job. The fire caught up stairs where the stove-pipe came in too close proximity with the floor.

The early closing movement will commence Monday evening Oct. 7, as per notice elsewhere. People living in the country and about town should bear this in mind and arrange to have their trading completed by eight o'clock. If you have any after-eight o'clock trading to do, do it next week.

Mothers' meeting next Wednesday at the WCTU hall. Subject: "The New Woman." Every woman in Northville and vicinity is cordially invited to attend. On the first Wednesday in November the mothers' meeting will consist of a baby show. Let every mother of a baby be on the quiver. Mrs. S. M. Reed, Com.

Married, at the Methodist parsonage Thursday evening, Sept. 26, Mr. Chas. Wilson of this place and Miss Nellie M. Gillett, teacher in the primary department of the Northville school. Rev. C. C. Turner performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will occupy the Mrs. Hutchinson house, 24 Yerkes street, where they will be "at home" to their friends after Oct. 17.

Stewart, Clark et al had a lively experience in their camp on the Au-Sable near Grayling one night last week. There was seen on our streets Wednesday morning a six weeks old black paching colt, sired by that well bred and game race horse "Expert Prince," 2,131. It is hardly necessary to state that Ed. Starkweather is the proud owner. This colt took the first premium at the Plymouth fair over colts by such sires as "Douglas Harold," "To Order," 2,124, etc.

The Bell telephone people do not seem to be very fast to change their telephone poles as ordered by the village council, and the thirty days are nearly up. The Record is of the opinion that the council meant what it said and that they will see that the Bell people remove their unsightly poles from the main streets and put up a respectable line of them elsewhere.

Tuesday's ball game here between Northville and Holly resulted in a victory for Northville by a score of 18 to 13. It was a first-rate good game with just enough kicking to make things interesting. Burgess for Northville and Shields for Holly made four runs. The score by innings was:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	E	E
Holly	0	0	2	0	2	5	13	16	16	13	16	6
Northville	0	5	4	3	2	0	4	13	16	6	13	6

Batters: Northville—German and Ambler, Holly, Kirkwood and Shields. Struck out by German 6. By Kirkwood 4. Umpires, Lapham and Lee. Time 2 hours, attendance 200.

W. H. Young the well known proprietor of the Avenue House of Monroe street, Detroit, will on October 6, open up as a hotel the former Michigan Club, corner Fort and Wayne street. It will be known as the Hotel Young, and will be the leading $1.25 and $1.50 per day hotel in the city—single meals 25c. The Avenue hotel has had the reputation of setting up the best 25c meal in the city and the new Hotel Young will be in keeping in every way with the enviable reputation gained by the same proprietor in the Avenue house. The Record takes pleasure in recommending this new hotel to its readers.

The Hart minstrel company of Holly gave an entertainment in the elite club parlors over the State Savings bank Tuesday evening. The very unique affair was patronized by about fifty of the "400."

Dr. Attridge, D. V. S., leaves next week Monday to again enter the Detroit College of Medicine, this time to come out a full-fledged physician. The doctor has been a resident of this place for two years and has not only been one of the society leaders, but has also won many honors as a first class veterinary. The Doctor's many Northville friends will wish him success, as they regret his departure.

A practical joke was responsible for a damage suit tried in Detroit last week. Helen G. Cable went to the Plymouth Iron Windmill Manufactory to watch the process of casting iron. She was accompanied through the institution by Ross Root, a member of the company, and on her way out he started from one floor to another by a hand elevator. When midway between the floors, as a joke, Ross stopped the elevator and told her it was stuck, and they would have to remain there. Mrs. Cable had been merry and good-natured, and either to carry out the joke or else because she was alarmed at her position, she tried to jump for a flight of stairs near by. She missed the stairs and fell, injuring her severely. Subsequently Mr. Root claims she offered to settle the damages by the company either presenting her with an air gun or paying her doctor's bill. The company refused both propositions, and a law suit for damages was the result. The case was given to a jury and a verdict was rendered of no cause of action against the Windmill Company, and for $141 against Mr. Root. The parties concerned are well known people of Plymouth.

COTTON STATES EXPOSITION AT ATLANTA

The Cotton States Exposition was opened at Atlanta September 18, the day was one of great pomp, and the Southern city being dressed in bunting and the flags of all nations. Hundreds of excursion trains brought thousands of visitors from all parts of the country. We give some pictures of the main buildings.

ILLINOIS BUILDING

When the men of the south returned from the World's Fair they realized that much had been lost by the southern states through their almost uniform failure to be represented there. It was not altogether their fault, however, though it is perhaps true that most southerners did not realize how big the World's Fair would be or how much importance it could be to the south from an industrial point of view. Following on the dark days of reconstruction came a period of economy which was the outgrowth of the reaction from the profligacy of the days which had just preceded. The people of the southern states had seen their property squandered by the irresponsible legislatures, and when they regained control their first determination was to bind by imprudent compacts their public servants so that there could never be a repetition of such experiences.

Old General "Bob" Toombs was the spirit of the constitutional convention wherein Georgia made this compact, and it is traditional that when the work of the convention had been completed he said: "We have locked the doors of the treasury and thrown the key away." So when efforts were made through the south to secure appropriations for

It is not worth while going into anything like a detailed history of the movement. When, however, the proposition to secure a government exhibit and to make the exposition international in character was sprung, most of the people of the south, outside of Atlanta, smiled and made a suggestion which sounded very much like "Atlanta fall." Even the exposition people were doubtful of success in this line, but nobody outside of the charmed circle was ever allowed to know that there was any such doubt. It is a matter of history, how they went to Washington and how they secured not only a government appropriation for a government exhibit, but a government building as well, and what has been most valuable, the hearty cooperation of the government officials. "Nobody but Atlanta could have carried that through," remarked President Cleveland, when a motion was called to the success which had met the efforts of the Atlanta crowd. And indeed that seemed to be the case. The country was in the midst of a financial depression, the average legislator could see little good to the government in having a part in an exposition right on the heels of the World's Fair and some of the narrow-minded economists as it is today. It is the new south, the great south, and very properly the view and the southern features will be made the strong ones.

The co-operation of Mexico, Chile, Venezuela, Costa Rica, Honduras, Salvador, Argentine Republic and Brazil was early secured, and all of these make interesting and valuable exhibits.

The machinery building is a vast structure wherein will be a display especially of implements of southern construction and of machinery used in different phases of southern production and accomplishment. The Georgia manufacturers' building is on the same line. This was erected by the Georgia Manufacturers' Association, and will show a variety of articles made in the state which will interest capitalists especially as showing the possibilities in the south.

The agricultural building will be valuable, the exhibits in the manufactures and liberal arts are of the same general nature as in the similar building at Chicago, while the means of work in different lines of endeavor, but also a feature which will surely be most interesting—that of working displays, wherein the women are actually demonstrating how this work is done. This woman's building promises much. The feature I have referred to represents the central idea of the woman's department—that is, to show two things, primarily, what the women of the south are doing; and secondarily the advancement of women the world over, especially in the most practical lines—this particularly to show to the women of the south, who may need it, or desire it, what fields are open to them.

When the Atlantes went to Washington after that appropriation they took with them a number of representative colored men, who went to urge their friends in congress to aid this exposition enterprise. One of the first steps taken after the organization of this Exposition company was the creation of a negro department. It has been the claim that the negro has had greater chances for practical advancement transportation and electricity buildings contain complete exhibits of the character indicated by the name. The negro contractor, and no white man has had any part in its making. The exposition company set aside a sufficient sum to erect the building and acquire the exhibits, but with that their participation in this feature ended.

Every foot of space in this building has been taken and many exhibits have been deferred for lack of room. The work of the team laborer, the carpenter, the ironer, the machinist and mechanic of all branches of that phase of industry will be shown here. There will be elaborate displays made by the negro population devoted to the education of the colored youth, especially in the education in the field of manual training and technical education. These schools are educating the colored youth to be good men and good citizens. They have the highest support of the men of the south, and are instances of the state government.

in the south than he has ever had or than he could have in any other part of the country. From the day that freedom came to him there has been no opportunity for the negro to show how he had advanced since the responsibilities of citizenship were thrust upon him. He has advanced, and it is to show to the world this advancement that the negro department was created.

The cooperation of the leading men of their race all over the south was secured and the negro building is one of the chief centers of attraction at the exposition grounds. The work has been in good hands. The building was designed by a negro architect, was constructed by negro labor, and is one of the most notable achievements of the kind.

A GLOOMY SUPERSTITION.

I brought all my disappointments to two loving hearts.

The rain was softly falling on District between Ninth and Tenth. So softly falling that it was hardly falling. This morning at breakfast I presented to my wife for the first time, and the attention of the weather bureau is called to it by the writer. It might also be noted that the rain was falling in other parts of the city, but we shall press that by. At this moment a cloud by the vicinity struck a man, and ere the last note died away a solitary young man in confabulous attire might have been seen emanating from a doorway not far from the street end of an alley. Over the doorway three turbulent spirits glided and glistened in the gloaming, aided and assisted by an arc light. The young man carried in his right hand a lady's silk umbrella with a Dresden china knob for a handle. It was a very old affair, and must have cost $2.50, and he came out from the doorway he glanced nervously toward the corner, where a fair young lady was apparently waiting his coming. When she saw him emerge she hastened to him with a radiant smile lighting the lily bloom of her sweet young face, but when she observed the umbrella in his hand her countenance fell, and she would have stepped on it, had she not stopped in time. "Oh, Harold," she exclaimed, in tones of bitter disappointment, "what ever is the matter?" "No ice cream to-night," he hoarsely responded. "But my umbrella!" she said with a questioning nod toward it. "N. g.," he answered. "Why, Harold," and there was a quiver in her pretty red lips. "Couldn't you get anything else?" "Nixy," he growled. "Not even enough to pay for the cream?" "Nixy." "Why not, Harold? Did you try real hard?" "Of course I did, but the old duffer wouldn't have it a minute, Kitty. He said it was a sign of bad luck to put up an umbrella in the house, and I couldn't get a single plunk on it." The girl laughed harshly and looked at him with true woman's disdain, as he stood helpless, with the umbrella dangling limp and listless in his nervous grasp. It was hardly raining softly by this time and the girl was getting wet. "Well," she snipped, with a petulant jerk at his arm. "I guess you can put up the umbrella out here, can't you?" And he did so.—Washington Star.

JUST FOR FUN.

"And you say your father was wounded in the war?" "Bad, sir." "Was he shot in the ranks?" "No, sir—in the back."

Tom—"I can't realize, old man, that you are a father." George—"Can't you? Just come round and spend the night with me."

Wife—"Where comes that tramp? I gave some of my biscuits to the other day." Husband—"Impossible! This must be his ghost."

Jack—"The average girl graduate can't cook!" Tom—"Don't be too sure of that. I have known one to roast a fellow horribly."

CONGRESSIONAL RACE IN DELAWARE.

African and Indian Blood Mingle in a Family Community.

There has been much speculation about the so-called Moors living in Kent and Sussex counties, Delaware, says the Milford (Del.) Herald. These people are usually swarthy, black-haired and black-eyed, though sometimes of a fair complexion. They are mostly farmers. They have their own schools distinct from the general public school system, and they associate neither with whites nor with blacks. One theory has been that they are of the Moorish race and that their ancestors were Spanish Moors wrecked on the coast more than a century ago. Another tradition represents them as descendants of the Nanticoke Indians.

George P. Fisher, a lawyer long practicing in Delaware, writes to present what he regards as satisfactory evidence as to the origin of these people. He has been acquainted with these people all his life. Noko, Norwood, a giant of the tribe, erect and black-haired at 75, he knew from childhood. When Mr. Fisher became attorney general of the state he was called upon to prosecute Levin Sockum, one of the race, for selling ammunition to Isaiah Harmon, of the same race, the indictment having been found under a statute of Delaware making it a misdemeanor to sell arms and ammunition to any negro or mulatto. Harmon was a man of 20 years, with excellent Caucasian features, dark complexion, fair, rosy cheeks and hazel eyes. Mr. Fisher thought him the handsomest man in the courtroom. Nevertheless, Lydia Clark, a kinswoman of Harmon, testified for the state that according to a family tradition, some years before the revolutionary war broke out, when she was a little girl, their ancestress, a woman of Irish birth, owning and cultivating a farm of 250 acres, a few miles from Lewes, bought of a slave that was given into Lewes Creek a negro slave who professed to be a chief of one of the Congo tribes. The woman, whose name was Regua, shortly after married her slave, and their children, not being allowed to associate with the whites intermarried with the remnants of the Nanticoke tribe then still living in Sussex county. The witness, a very old woman, looked like an Indian of pure blood.

MANUFACTURES AND LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING

state exhibits at the World's Fair it was found impossible to do so. Perhaps if the people in power had known, or rather had realized, the full measure of success which Chicago's enterprise was to attain they would have found some way to get around the constitutional prohibitions; but they did not, the south was not represented, and had the southern states been willing to let things stand without making any effort to show the world what they had, the result would have been disastrous.

As Chicago is the heart of the great west, and as Chicago energy and enterprise are the great factors in its development, so Atlanta is the heart of the great south, and the enterprises which have been inaugurated to develop the south, the spirit which has made the new south, has come from Atlanta. This exposition is an Atlanta enterprise. In addition to its purpose of offsetting whatever unfavorable results might have followed from failure to be represented at the World's Fair there were other reasons which prompted the men of Atlanta in starting this enterprise. One was, of course, to bring material benefit to that city; another, and perhaps the more inspiring one, was to counteract, if possible, the effects of panic and hard times which then hung as a pall over the entire country, the theory of the organizers being that if the people of Atlanta and of Georgia all pulled together of the south were inclined to throw cold water on the project. It was, however, the international character of the enterprise which convinced our government that taking a part in it its success as a whole was assured.

Its name was chosen with an idea of securing government aid as it was thought that the government could not be persuaded to make an exhibit unless

To the Farmers and Laboring Men.

Do you ever husk corn? Well, if so you want a suit of clothes to do it with. Or are you laboring at any kind of rough work? If so I have just what you want. It is a Blue Denim Suit, Pants and Jacket. Just the thing for rough work. And here is the rough price: 48 cents a suit. Now don't think for a moment that I have but one suit, for I have more than one. I attended a forced sale of furnishing goods Tuesday and among the many bargains I secured 228 of these suits. 48 cents a suit.

To the Ladies, Both single and with families.

I have just received one case of Outing Flannels in light and dark fancy stripes; also plain creams; double-faced. Just the thing for making up warm under clothing for old or young people. 4 cents a yard. Just as long as they last they go at 4 cents per yard.

One case of wool finished Henrietta, 36 inches wide, a beauty for fall dresses, both in checks and stripes, and only think of the price, 10 cents per yard. Also our entire line of La Belle Crepons goes on sale Saturday at 10c per yard. 1 case nice Rose Bed Blankets, 45c a pair. One bale of Lawrence L L Brown Sheeting, one yard wide, 4 1-2 cents per yard. Also one bale left of that fine Bleached Sheeting, 10 yards for 65 cents. About 5 dozen more of those lovely Marseilles Quilts and the price will be 85 cents until all are closed out. The above are just a few of the many bargains I am offering.

Our gentleman editor found so much fault with me when I wanted to tell the people what I wished to do for them, therefore I ask every lady to call and we will cheerfully show you many, many more bargains than space will permit me to quote.

But I just do wish to say a few words about my Cloak, Jacket and Cape department. Among the many values in my store I certainly feel proud of a number that I have shown.

For instance a fine Knickerbocker double Cape, all wool, $6.25. Another all wool beaver, 124 inch sweep, double Cape for $7.50; and a fine 32 inch Fur Cape for $7.75; also $11.00, $17.50, and up to $60—genuine beauties. Jackets from $5 to $22; all the very latest cuts; call and look them over; they please everyone and will cost you nothing to look.

Carpets, 25 cents, 35 cents, 40 cents, 50 cents, 60 cents, 70 cents, 85 cents and 90 cents; no trouble to show carpets.

As ever your business friend, T G

FARMINGTON.

Rev. W. C. McIntosh has been returned to Novi for another pastoral year and all who have an interest in the Methodist church are glad that he has been allowed to remain another year.

There is a fine of $25.00 for running a traction engine on the highways without sending a man ahead of it, and some of our engine owners may have trouble on their hands for neglecting this matter.

A cemetery social is the latest innovation. It must be a grave amusement.

Adrian Press.

If it would not be a laughing matter, we would suggest that the refreshments for such a thing, ought to consist of elder berry pie.

The Record recently received a communication from "Nate" Eisenlord now on the editorial staff of the Chicago Dispatch, regarding the death of Mrs. Bush. It seems that no metropolitan papers all over the country published particulars of Mrs. Bush's death and burial, and as Mr. Eisenlord had been a resident of Novi for years he wished to get the full particulars. Mr. Eisenlord began his journalistic career as a newsboy for the Detroit Free Press, now he is an editor for one of the largest daily papers in the country and Novi acquaintances of his are pleased to know it.

We condense the following from the Brown City Banner, as it will interest the many Novi friends of one of our formerly well known and esteemed young men. "One of the happiest events of the season occurred Tuesday, Sept. 10, at 1.00 p. m. at the Methodist church when Clayton L. Gage, station agent for the F&P M R R company, was united in marriage to Miss Alma Windsor of this place, in the presence of about sixty relatives and friends. The bride was attired in white silk and was presented by her brother and attended by two little girls bearing flowers. The happy couple were supported by S. C. Gage and Miss Lulu Riley. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served at the home of Mrs. Windsor, and many valuable and useful presents received. Mr. and Mrs. Gage left on the evening train for Detroit, Wisconsin, Saginaw and other points." The above was followed by hearty congratulations from the Banner, in which The Record's present correspondent, who was a former teacher of the young bridegroom, sincerely joins. If he proves to be as satisfactory a husband as he was a pupil, the bride's happiness is reasonably assured.

John B. Lapham is very low at this date. Miss Arthur is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. R. S. Gamble.

Nate Eisenlord of Franklin is home and on the sick list.

John P. Eisenlord was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Frank A. Norton at Ypsilanti, Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Osmuth and Ida Findt are at Niagara Falls and other eastern points for two weeks.

Mrs. Henry Skinner and daughter Bertha of Novi were callers at the home of A. A. White last week.

C. B. Allen and wife entertained D. A. Durfee and family of Novi and J. P. Allen and wife of this place Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Dupois, the new pastor in the Methodist church, delivered his first sermon Sunday morning and evening to large congregations.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Smith died last Friday. The funeral occurred Sunday from the house, Rev. D. N. Ward officiating.

Mrs. Catella Murray was a Detroit visitor one day last week. Her mother-in-law accompanied her and will remain with her son O. L. Murray through the winter.

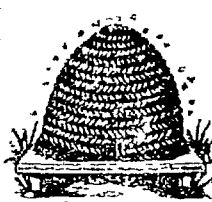

Sunday was claimed to be the hottest day of the season, and on Monday the thermometer dropped enough degrees to make one feel like donning their winter clothes. But "Variety is the spice of life," you know.

That's right, my Novi friend, just stick to your corner on the door step and at some future time, not far distant, you will probably get inside of the door and then I shall never dare to be, as you expressed it, "eassy," if I

The young people of the Baptist church here are to have a social at the residence of Mr. Freeman on the base line Friday evening of this week.

A large delegation from the Baptist church are preparing to attend the meeting of the Wayne Baptist Association at Novi next week Wednesday.

Mrs. W. F. Perkins is about to move from the Methodist parsonage, which she has been occupying for several months past, to Mrs. Brown's house on the corner west of the Congregational church.

Walter Murray returned Monday evening from a fruitless search for health in New Mexico and Colorado. He is considerably reduced from his condition when he left here about six weeks ago.

During Sunday night a very agreeable change in the weather took place. A severe hot wind had been blowing for several days from the south-west. The temperature fell several degrees, to the infinite delight of all.

Dr. Jamison of Detroit, state agent of the Baptist Home Missionary society, spent last Sabbath with the Baptist church here, presenting the wants of his society at the morning service and delivering a fine temperance lecture in the evening. All were pleased and edified by his remarks.

Mrs. W. H. Benton stole a march on her husband last Friday evening by inviting in a household of his parishioners without his knowledge or consent. It is not supposed there was any malice in the act. The reverend gentleman took the joke kindly and enjoyed the occasion with infinite zest.
