SERIOUSLY HURT.

WHILE RIDING AN UNREELY BICYCLE.

Frank Thompson Caught Between a Wagon and a Building.

Between the fractious bicycles and fractious horses, fast electric cars, and fast driven vehicles, railroad collisions and sinking steamboats, one is no longer safe. And the days of flying machines will be halved, with delight by travelers in general.

"Jim" Heeneey son of James Heeneey sr., living between Northville and Saugatuck met with a peculiar, and at the same time serious, accident while riding his bicycle home from Plymouth last week Saturday. His ball bearing steed made a quick shy at something in the road and instead of submitting to the intentions of the bike and be thrown he put out his right foot to catch himself. The speed at which he was going and the peculiar position of his foot were such that he sustained a compound fracture near the ankle.

Dr. Swift was summoned to reduce fracture and the young man is comfortable now and doing as well as the circumstances will admit.

Frank Thompson, one of Northville's young men, was another day victim. He was drawing on his grand-father's farm at the end while standing between the wagon and the horse started up, squeezing him between the wagon wheel and the building. He was carried to the house, and when it was found that his hip was broken, he was brought to the village on a stretcher. After putting in rather a long time for three days the effect of wounds, he is now so recovered that he can walk again.

Ad's Mills News.

One of Newport who is visiting in Northville was at Mr. Adams' party Saturday evening.

The young man arrived at the party with a question mark on his face. He was asked to be held for a while, but he was not held for long.

Get Ready for the Baby Show.

The baby show booked for November 5th promises to be not only a successful affair, but also one of the most interesting and unique affairs lately held in Northville. Besides the long list of prizes published two weeks ago the following additional specialties are offered:

Mabley & Co. of Detroit offer a combination bed and jumper for the smallest pair of twins. The jumper is on exhibition at Sands & Porter's.

Butler Bros. of Chicago offer a silver knife, fork and spoon for the prettiest bed-headed baby.

One year's subscription to The Record will be given to the baby with the largest ears. [Large ears denote wisdom.]

The prospects for a large attendance and no end of competition have led the managers of the affair to already contract for a larger hall and to that end the Princess rink has been secured.

Northville School Notes.

Clyde Bradley is absent on account of sickness.

Nota Rasch is again in school after a week's illness.

Ethel Vradenburg is absent on account of sickness.

Elmer Haun and Clifford Brownson entered the 2nd grade this week.

Twenty-eight pupils of Miss Covert's room have been absent about a week.

Len Gildersleeve has left the 2nd grade to go with his parents to Farmington.

The new foot-ball team is flourishing under the management of Prof. Bliss and Capt. Burgess. Tuesday afternoon the High School played a game with John Blackwood's picked eleven. The score was a tie being 8 to 8. Burgess acted as captain of the High school team and Blackwood of the picked team. The same teams will play on the school ground at 3:15 this Friday afternoon. The public in general seem to think that the foot-ball games as played at school are brutal. This is a mistake so far as the Northville school is concerned. Come and enjoy the game Friday and you will certainly drop this opinion.

APPENDICITIS.

Is Not Caused by Grape or Other Seeds.

EMINENT MEDICAL AUTHORITY SO STATES THE MATTER.

One of Michigan's Leading Surgeons Concurs in the Opinion.

Appendicitis has become so formidable a disease, and the cause of it is so often attributed to grape seeds and other foreign bodies, that many have feared to eat these wholesome fruits. In a paper read before the Virginia Medical Association, Dr. Hunter McQuire, a celebrated surgeon of that state, said that in all the operations he had performed for appendicitis he had never seen a single grape, tomato, or cherry seed, and he added that he was glad to make the statement since it might tend to allay the fears of the public as to the supposed dangers arising from eating these fruits.

Before publishing the above The Record referred it to Dr. McGraw of Detroit for his opinion with the following result:

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21, 1895.
Editor Record:—I concur in this statement.
T. A. MCGRAW.

Dr. McGraw ranks among the greatest surgeons of this country and his concurrence in the statement that in grape and other seeds there lurked not the deadly or at least dreaded, appendicitis, as has been supposed, will be hailed with delight and attend to alleviate the fears of the many who are so especially fond of vineyard, fruit and who have for some years dispensed with the luxury because of this supposed danger.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Darlington wish to thank their many friends who assisted in their late bereavement, also for flowers.

Mrs. John Barley and Peter Barley and family wish to sincerely thank all those who rendered such kind assistance during the illness and death of her husband, and father, John Barley.

SALEM.

Arthur Vansickle was station agent Salem while Agent Perkins visited friends at Fenton.

The oyster supper announced to be given by the ladies of the Congregational church at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reuwick, was deferred for one week and will be given next Friday evening to which all are invited.

Miss Belle Preston of Detroit, a gifted elocutionist, will give recitations at the Baptist church on Friday evening Nov. 1. Miss Preston gave an entertainment at the Congregational church a few months since, to the great delight of her entire audience. Her recitations are given to continue. She is indeed an accomplished artist in her line, as all will concede who are wise enough to hear her.

Geo. W. Wilson whose sickness has been noticed in this correspondence frequently, died at his home in this village on Thursday of last week. Mr. Wilson was born in Ovid, N. Y. in the year 1815. In 1837 he was married to Miss Maria Boyce, who came with him to Michigan and they settled in Salem on the farm now owned by Mrs. C. Northrop, where they lived until 1855 when they removed to Ann Arbor where they lived for two years and then removed to Koffa, Missouri, where they resided nine years and then returned to Michigan and settled at Walled Lake, where they stayed about seventeen years, during the time visiting his two sons, Fred and Will in California. Two years ago last April they came to Salem where they have since resided and where Mr. Wilson passed away on Thursday morning, Oct. 17—beloved of his large family and large circle of relatives, respected and honored by his wide range of acquaintances. There were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson five sons and six daughters, all of whom survive him, the youngest of them being about thirty-five years of age—all children of whom any parent might well be proud. They are quite widely scattered. The two younger sons are thrifty fruit growers in California. David is a resident of New York city, John of Grand Rapids, James of South Lyon. Of the daughters, Mrs. Will Rider is a resident of Salem, Mrs. S. M. Gage of Walled Lake, Mrs. Mary Sly and Miss Gertrude, Wilson of Chicago and Miss Grace of Salem. They all have the respect and confidence of their wide circle of acquaintances. Mr. Wilson had been through life a robust, hearty man and continued so until about four months before his death, when he was stricken with paralysis from which he never rallied to any considerable extent. He bore his prostration with christian fortitude and resignation. And met the king of terrors with an unflinching trust—"like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams." He was a genial companion, an affectionate husband and parent, an obliging neighbor and a faithful christian. His friends will long cherish his memory.

That's better than going to congress, and being obliged to write 64 letters a day, to keep in touch with a living constituency and also being obliged to go on rounds as forcing a system of inexcusable robbery by supporting the republican doctrine of protection. Just as likely as not too, he would have to climb the gold standard, and that's pretty mean business. Bro. Sawyer received a blessing in disguise when spalding hooked onto the congressional position.—Adrian Press.

The most eccentric and particular man in the State lives at Plymouth. He wanted a striped pair of pants but found none to suit him, because he wanted the stripes to run up one leg and to run down on the other.

Northville is to have a baby show Nov. 6th. The said first editor Neal is to be the judge.—Farmington Enterprise.

Don't you believe it. He is fatigued or too fond of enjoying his health in that.

Rev. Thomas E. Heddie returned to Highland Station Wednesday afternoon after twenty-six months' incarceration at Jackson. By good behavior he was able to shorten his imprisonment four months. He intends to move his family to Jackson where he has secured employment in a tailoring establishment.—Times, Milford.

The Pontiac Post is lending its projecting arm to the lady football team of that city and says their little amusement has been greatly exaggerated by the press. Evidently the girls are kicking at what has been said instead of Rugby.

Fishing Methodist ladies have added a baby-checking nursery department to their church, where during services the futurity of the nation may be kept in proper check. Every young in a white some such a scheme hatched on a Northville church would fit a long felt want.

The first and second grade pupils have been much interested in the past few days in gathering autumn leaves to decorate their school room.—Else Sun.

Here in Northville we don't stop with the school house but the whole town is decorated. Nothing but leaves.

There is more than $2,000,000,000 of money in the United States, or about $24 per capita.—Northville Record. We'd like to see our share—$14.—Millard Leader.

President Deal of the Globe Furniture works, has called in the use of his cane again. He knocked off an old mower machine knife guard cut in the scarp iron yard the other day and the broken piece struck him on the foot, causing a severe bruise. The injury is the worse because it happened to the foot which had been troubled with inflammatory rheumatism for some time.

The "talent" social at the home of Mrs. G. J. Ball Wednesday evening was a great success. The music was furnished by Mrs. Belle Randolph-Loug, Miss Mattie Kirby and little Irene Webber. Miss Jennie Barley won the prize in the picture contest, she identifying thirty-nine out of the sixty. The attendance was about 100. The net receipts will amount to more than $90.

Jud Lanning has bought Chas. Hughton's farm three miles west of the village. In the deal Mr. Hughton comes into possession of Jud's house and lot on Main street. Mr. Hughton will move to McBain, Missaukee county, where he will go into the mercantile business. Charley is a man of good business ability, strictly reliable in every way and one of those men whose word may be depended upon to the very letter. The Record wishes him success, and knows he will have it too.

Fred Carson jumped off the hind end of a wagon, on which he was riding in front of the school grounds Monday morning just in time to get run over by Will Lockwood's rig which had turned out to go by the wagon on which young Carson was riding. Except a few bruises about the face he was unhurt. Will may have been driving a trifle fast but the boy would have got run over just the same even if he had been driving on a walk, as he did not observe the motto of "look before you leap."

It is announced that ex-President Benjamin Harrison is engaged in writing a series of magazine articles for THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL, in which periodical they will begin in the December number. This series will be called "This Country of Ours," and will consist of ten articles and probably more. The papers are being written by General Harrison, especially for women to meet a growing, widespread desire on their part to intelligently understand the workings of our Government and the great National questions.

"Here is a sentence that will puzzle you to read correctly at the first trial," remarked a commercial man at the Park house as he wrote these words on the back of an old envelope the other day. "She stood at the gate welcoming him in." The hotel clerk glanced at it and confidently began: "She stood at the gate welcome." Then there was a confused murmur that sounded like "ningningting." The newspaper man then tackled the sentence, with no better success. "Here's another hard nut," said the commercial man as he wrote: "The rain ceaseth; then it ceaseth to rain." The man doubtless had many more but the bus driver's "all aboard south!" cut short the interview.

In one thing at least when cold weather comes the rich and the poor man match. For though one may have furs and the other have none, they're both compelled to scratch.

The Northville K. P.'s will pay a fraternal visit to the Salem lodge next week Thursday evening and assist in working the "second."

Michigan girls on an average are all right after all. There were 31,041 boys born last year to 23,348 girls. In Wayne county the difference was 945 in favor of the girls—that is the boys were that much the majority.

A happy company of fifty guests enjoyed the charming hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. White at their pleasant home three miles west of Northville Wednesday afternoon. The occasion was the marriage of the host and hostess' daughter, Marcia to Mr. James Cunningham of Merrill, and will long be remembered by the friends and relatives present from Detroit and Northville, as the embodiment of a pretty home wedding. Soon after four o'clock Rev. W. E. Jaques of Detroit who is a past master in performing such interesting ceremonies, said the few conventional words in a manner at once happy and impressive that made the young couple, husband and wife, Henry's congratulations followed after which a dainty wedding supper that would have nourished the prince of the most confirmed epicure was partaken of. The bride who is a much respected young lady of a sweet, kindly disposition, well known in Northville church and society work, and the groom, a rising young lawyer of Merrill, Saginaw county left on the evening train for the north carrying with them the best wishes and good will of all their numerous Northville acquaintances.

The Novi W. C. T. U. held a pleasant and instructive meeting last Friday afternoon and evening at the Methodist church. The county president of the society, Mrs. Dawson of Pontiac, was present and assisted at both sessions. She is a woman of striking personality, and is emphatically "equal to the occasion" whatever it may be, being thoroughly interested in her work and exceptionally well informed concerning all appertaining thereto, which qualifications added to her ready wit and aptness in repartee make her an entertaining speaker as well as an instructive one. A delicious supper was served in the church basement of which every body present was hospitably urged to partake.

Did you ever stop to consider the demoralizing aspect of our fairs? We presume that very few people have really paid very much attention to the influence that the gambling devices at our fairs have upon our children. While at the Millford fair one day last week we noticed young boys actually gambling for various articles, and the manipulator of the scheme was actively engaged in inducing these children to pay their nickles for a chance at the cheap prizes. It is bad enough for grown up people to engage in these games of chance. Every sensible man knows that the fairs who swarm to our fairs are in the business not to lose

And still Farmington continues to boom with new buildings. She may be an inland town just at present, but when the electric road is built, which will without doubt be within a year, every thing will be all "O. K."

A reception was held Monday evening, Oct. 11, at the beautiful home of the venerable Charles Stoughton with his son E. S. Stoughton as master of assembly, in honor of Miss Maud Edwards, who expects soon to leave for her new home in Northville. About twenty-six of her young friends and school-mates were present. Music, games and social conversation was enjoyed. At 10:30 the company was ushered into the banquet hall where cake and coffee was served, to which all did ample justice. The evening was one long to be remembered, being a bright spot in each one's heart. At 12 o'clock the company dispersed wishing Miss Maud many happy returns of the occasion and a bright and prosperous future.

Rev. and Mrs. DuPuis have already found a warm place in the hearts of Farmington people, and the rousing discourses delivered by the pastor are highly appreciated by him and attentive congregations. The sermon Sunday evening on the subject, "The one Talent" was one of great interest and doubtless many profited thereby.

The popular lecture "Up the Amazon," by Prof. Fall of Abilene College given last Friday evening in the Methodist church under the auspices of the Epworth League, was a rare treat. The speaker possesses wonderful descriptive power and his audience was completely captivated by his remarks which were highly instructive and entertaining from beginning to end.

Wednesday evening, Oct. 9, Rev. and Mrs. L. B. DuPuis were taken by surprise by the assembling of about fifty guests at their home who presented sugar, tea, coffee, butter, honey, etc., until the table was heavily laden with good things, but there was a real party, as the guests were particularly to enjoy a beautiful tea of musical selections. The instrumental solos and duets by the pastor and wife were very beautiful. It is needless to say that it was a very pleasant event and made the church and pastor more closely in the Master's work. Rev. Mr. DuPuis in behalf of himself and wife made some appropriate remarks in his usual pleasing manner. The company dispersed at a late hour wishing their grand host and hostess a happy and prosperous conference year.

A very pleasant autumn wedding occurred Wednesday, Oct. 13, at the home of Mrs. Cecelia Murray in the marriage of her only daughter Carrie M. to Mr. Harry W. Moore, both of this place. At half after twelve the wedding march was executed by Miss Jennie I. White, and Mr. Moore and Miss Murray accompanied by Marie Murray, a brother of the bride, acting as best man and a cousin, Miss May Spencer of Midland, as bridesmaid, took their places. The beautiful and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Chas. Legal of Lansing in the presence of guests from Detroit, Lansing, Wyandotte, Trenton, Columbus, Midland and Wixom. The company were invited to the dining hall where a sumptuous meal was served. The bride was beautifully attired in a green gown, white kid slippers and gloves. The rooms were nicely decorated with beautiful autumn leaves, cut flowers and plants. Many useful and valuable gifts were bestowed as tokens of esteem. The bride is one of Farmington's most accomplished and highly respected young ladies and the groom is one of the most promising young business men and is held in high esteem. At three o'clock the newly wedded couple left for Detroit and Mt. Clemens, amidst showers of rice and old shoes, for a brief wedding trip, followed by the best.

A TEXAS LAND QUEEN.

HER RANCH IS THE LARGEST IN THE WORLD.

Her House Like a Rhine Castle—Thirteen Miles from Front Door to Front Gate and She Employs an Army of Loyal Dependents.

NE representative in the next Congress will be nominated and elected by a woman. She is the widow of Capt. Richard King, and she owns a principality in Southern Texas. Her landed estates consist of about 1,250,000 acres—that is to say, nearly 2,000 square miles, which is bigger than Rhode Island and almost as big as Delaware. For taking care of this vast domain a small army of men is required. Their votes are controlled by the mistress, who is to all intents and purposes a queen.

The records of the Land Office at Washington reveal some extraordinary facts with relation to that part of Southern Texas which seems on the map to intrude into Mexico, terminating in a point at the mouth of the Rio Grande. This region, nearly as big as New England, comprises four great counties and is owned by four families—the Kings, the Kenneds, the Collases and the Armstrongs. Much the largest of the four shares belongs in fee simple to Mrs. King.

Few men in this world have ever been so hated and feared as was Capt. King. He was a character typical of Texas life twenty years ago. Employing the labor of large numbers of ignorant Mexicans, he induced them to acquire homesteads under the laws of the United States. They were always in debt to him, and eventually their lands came to him. In this manner the gigantic estate was largely built up. Other white men who took up holdings in the region were shut in with barbed-wire fences by the great proprietor. They found themselves enclosed as in mousetraps; they could not drive out their cattle, and so sold their property to Capt. King. The region is at present the most shut-up portion of the United States—a veritable terra incognita, without railroads and in the earliest stage of development.

The ancient road from San Antonio to Brownsville has been closed by Mrs. King's fences, and there are no gates. There is no road law in that country. The only way to get from Brownsville to Alice is by a stage route of forty miles. The stage carries mail for a large part of Mexico. In the entire distance there is not a single settlement, because the territory traversed belongs to Mrs. King. The region is wholly wild, being used for cattle grazing.

In "The West from a Castle Window," Mrs. King is referred to by Richard Harding Davis, who remarks that it is difficult to imagine a solitary family occupying an area larger than some of the Eastern States—an area that would in the United States support a state capital, with Governor and Legislature and numerous small towns, with connecting railway systems and rival baseball clubs.

The owner of this principality is a generous and liberal minded woman; about sixty years of age. She does much good and takes care of her people. To each laborer on her estates she gives a cow. Her ranch of Santa Gertrudis is the largest in the world. It is bounded by Corpus Christi Bay for a distance of forty miles and by barbed-wire fences for 300 miles more. From her front door to her front gate is thirteen miles, and she can drive in her carriage sixty-five miles in a straight line without going off her own premises.

Her house looks like a castle on the Rhine—a typical baronial mansion. It is situated on a slight eminence, surrounded by the modest dwellings of her dependents and by fields of waving corn. Beyond on every side is a wilderness of mesquite and cactus.

This out-of-the-way Texas chateau is as completely furnished and as handsomely equipped as any mansion on Fifth avenue. No luxury that money can buy anywhere is lacking to the widow, who is the daughter of the first Presbyterian missionary to the Rio Grande. Corpus Christi is the terminus of a railway, and from that point a continuous stream of wagons carries ice and other necessities to the ranch. Mrs. King lives for several months of each year in a palace at Corpus Christi. Her son-in-law, Robert J. Kleberg, is general manager of the ranch, on which are 200,000 cattle of improved breeds. Long trains of freight cars are made up at Corpus Christi to carry Mrs. King's cattle to the East.

To run the vast estate costs about $100,000 a year. For every twenty miles of barbed-wire fence there is a man to make repairs and see that no break occurs. In the big days, to cut a fence was an offense likely to result in the death of the perpetrator of the act. Three hundred cowboys are regularly employed, 1,200 ponies being set aside for their use. Every spring all of the calves are rounded up for branding. They are driven into a pen through a wooden chute, and as they leave the chute, each one is caught by the leg and thrown upon its side. Then one of a dozen irons that are kept red-hot in an open fire is pressed upon the animal's nose. All brands are registered, and sometimes each member of a family has one.

Mr. Davis tells of a girl who came out in society in New York three winters ago, and who is known in Texas only as "the owner of the triangle brand." Nobody can get water in that country save by good-will of the owners of the great estates, and no one can travel without permission. As much as there are no public roads.

The climate is semi-tropical, and watermelons are grown as readily in January as in July. The soil is rich and very black, unlike that of the rest of Texas, but resembling that of the bottom lands of the South in productivity. Crops grow almost without water.

WETTING A LEAD PENCIL.

A little story about the habits of writing things in the month of London. The act of putting a lead pencil to the tongue to wet it, just before writing, which we notice in so many people, is one of the oddities of habit for which it is hard to give any reason, unless it began in the days when lead pencils were poorer than now, and was continued by example into the next generation.

A lead pencil should never be wet. It hardens the lead and ruins the pencil. This fact is known to newspaper men and stenographers. But nearly every one else does wet a pencil before using it. This fact has been definitely established by a clerk in a newspaper office. Being of a mathematical turn of mind, he ascertained by actual count that of fifty persons who came into the office to write an advertisement or notice, forty-nine wet a pencil in their mouths before using it. Now this clerk always uses the best pencils that can be procured; in fact, is a connoisseur in lead pencils, cherishing a good one with something of the pride a soldier feels in his gun or sword, and it hurts his feelings to have his pencil spoiled. But politeness and business considerations require him to lend his pencil scores of times every day. And often after it had been wet, until it was hard and brittle, and refused to mark, his feelings would overpower him. Finally, he got some cheap pencils, sharpened them and kept them in a tin. The first person who took the stick pencil was a drayman. He held the point in his mouth and led it for several minutes, while he was torturing himself to write an advertisement for a missing bull dog. Then a sweet-looking young woman came into the office, with kid gloves that buttoned half the length of her arm. She picked up the same old pencil and pressed it to her shiny lips, preparatory to writing an advertisement for a lost bracelet. The clerk would have stayed off her hand, even at the risk of a box of the best pencils ever made, but he was too late. And thus that pencil passed from month to month for a week. It was nicked by people of all ranks and stations, and all degrees of cleanliness and uncleanliness; but we forbear. Surely no one who reads this will ever again wet his lead pencil.

Just a War Story.
They in a reminiscence of war time from the Seattle Intelligence. A strange story in which Seattle has an interest has come to light in connection with the battle of the Wilderness, through the desire of a small boy to get hold of a bird's nest. Henry F. Lowmory, a corporal in the Thirty-second Indiana Volunteers, lost his right arm at the elbow during the battle, by the explosion of a shell. Since then Lowmory has died, but his widow resides in this city with a married daughter, Braden Johnson, a cousin of Lowmory and also ex-State Chancellor of Missouri, now resides on the scene of the battle, and a few weeks ago his little son, while bird's nesting, discovered a nest built in a skeleton hand in the fork of a large maple tree. On one of the bony fingers was found a seal ring which was recognized by Mr. Jamison as having belonged to Lowmory.

FASHION'S FANCIES.
Forget-me-not blue will be worn. Old red is seen on mohair samples for fall. So elaborately are capes trimmed that even Astrakhan and "baby" lamb models have motifs of jet applied. Cloth designs have a close fitting back and loose, double-breasted front having a single or double row of buttons. Manufacturers have prepared many dressy short coats, so evidently capes are not to have their own way without a rival. Light greenish tints and boss of a grayish cast are thought well of. Pigeon gray is handsome for mohair. Light olive green is spoken of. Triple shoulder capes are put on in many unique styles, no one idea prevailing. Short capes are frequently buttoned across the top. Some boods have ends forming a collar in front. Greenish brown finds favor; musty brown is a new shade; light and dark leather shades are good and all reddish browns, but this color has not been worn here as much as has been expected.

A cloth blouse, not coming under the head of either a coat or a cape, has three box plaits at the back and four in front. It hangs loosely over the belt and has a square covered with braiding or of Astrakhan fur. Brocade and velvet long coats have tight-fitting fronts, and small capes or large collars very much trimmed. Full bishop sleeves are novel on these garments, and godet canes or collars of velvet completely covered with rich passementerie. Long coats are talked of among some of the best houses. These are in light beige shades for fall; but later on will be worn in black, brown, navy, dark green, etc. Fur stands first for the trimming, and the cloths will be smooth and rough.

A street collection was recently taken up in London in aid of Dr. T. J. Barnardo's Homes for Street Waifs. The amount given was $3,000. A large part of it was in pennies, showing that the givers were of the poorer class who know the value of the institutions.

FOR RUBE'S SAKE.

WORKING HOURS were over in the Great White canyon. Mary Vernon pulled down the little window of the postoffice of which she was the mistress, swept the contents of the narrow counter into a drawer, which she locked, then planting a broad-leaved hat above the brows curls that clustered about her brow she passed out of her log cabin into the sweet evening air.

As she reached the low fence which ran before her house a hurried footsteps sounded through the gathering gloom, and a man's voice said: "Is that you, Mary, my girl? You look little more than a ghost under the shadow of those bushes."

"You've kept your promise, dearest, and come to see me," she cried, as she threw herself into the arms of her lover. Reuben Halse, kissed the red lips so frankly offered him before he spoke. "The handsome beauty," all that I had, but I've come to say good-bye."

"Good-bye—good-bye! You're going away? You're going to leave me? Your sweetheart—your wife that is to be?"

"My dear little girl, don't cry—don't grieve. You've been my sweetheart, faithful and true, but we can never marry. The strong man's voice broke and died into silence.

"Go on, tell me the worst," sobbed the girl in his arms.

"Listen, dear. You know that lately things have gone wrong with me. The bit of money I've saved up for our wedding in the fall was stolen, and then the cabin I'd built for you down by the Blue Pools was burned. Still, there was the farm stock and your little purse of saving left, but the drought has killed the stock and—oh, Mary, how can I tell you?"

Mary drew apart from her lover and steadied her trembling form against the garden fence.

"Some one has robbed you of the money I gave you. Oh, my poor boy—"

She stretched forth her pining hands toward the man before her, who only bowed his head and shuffled his feet in the thick, white dust.

"Tell me, Reuben; tell me how it happened! Ah, surely, you are not thinking I shall blame you for such a misfortune!" and once more she crept to his side.

"But Reuben thrust her from him. "Twas no misfortune; 'twas a crime. Your little savings, those few coins—"

He pointed with his lean, brown hand down the canyon to where, amidst a dense mass of foliage, a few lights twinkled. "Mary staggered. "Down there? At Ffolliott's?" "Aye, lass—at Ffolliott's! I lost all at fare last night."

"For a moment no sound but the evening breeze whispered among the creepers and bushes, and the harsh note of a night bird broke the silence. Then a woman's voice, tender and low, and full of tears, murmured: "Rube, dear Rube, I forgive you."

"Don't, Mary, don't! I'd rather you would strike me." The stars twinkled their diamond eyes on the man and girl as they said farewell. For Reuben had settled to leave the canyon that night.

Reuben Halse and the girl, and absented about her usual business. "Anything I can do for you?" she asked him presently.

"No," Paul said slowly, taking in every detail of the girl's pretty figure, clad in cotton frock of gentian blue. "But might I speak to you privately?"

"You can say what you've got to say where you are."

"How different you keep your place from what a man's shanty is— You live down by the Blue Pools, don't you?"

"Yes, that's where I live. I've been out there this two months past, helping him brand and count the cattle. Rube told me that you and he had parted and the reason why. He asked me to look after you a bit. You see, we've been good pals, and I'd like to do him a turn, now he's gone under. You will let me look after you now and again, won't you, for Rube's sake?"

"The handsome beauty," all that I had, but I've come to say good-bye."

"Surely, Paul Harding, for Rube's sake, you may look after me when I can't look after myself."

It was for Rube's sake that the following Sunday Paul dressed himself in his best, brought a little two-wheeled cart, gay with bells and bright colors, to Mary's door, and asked her to drive out with him.

The day was fair, and "Beauty" Paul amused her with stories of Rube, and when they came to an end he told her of his own home, in the heart of a green country in England.

He made her laugh with his tales of college life, and shudder with his descriptions of the campaign in Egypt, which he had gone through. Only he did not tell her how he, an English gentleman, and a gallant officer, came to be leading and drinking and gambling away his days and his health in Great White canyon.

The next night Mary shut herself within her log cabin, and neither the blue sky, nor the gay cart, and smartly caparisoned horse, nor "Beauty," nor himself could wheedle her out.

"She would not be seen, she said sternly, with one of Ffolliott's lot. She, however, repented and forgave him on his promise to amend for her sake."

As weeks and months went by, but the green of the canyon changed to red and gold, Paul found that if he was to "look after" Mary he had to give up the station.

And, indeed, for a space Ffolliott's knew him, and, one October morning his allowance—the money which bought his family freedom from his disgraceful presence—arrived from England.

For the next week Ffolliott's was a pandemonium; with the "Beauty" as a presiding demon.

Mary heard of it and refused to speak to or look at him. Then it was that he flung himself before her one day and prayed her to save him from that which he was powerless to save himself—from drink and dice, and bad companions. And she did what other good women have done before and will do again. She placed her hand in his and with her heart full of Rube Halse, she promised to marry Paul—for her soul's sake. The eve of the marriage day arrived, and with it Paul's allowance from England. The occasion and opportunity suggested a carouse, and Paul informed the "boys" he would be standing treat at Ffolliott's that night for the last time.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Both Trolley and Cable.

A rather unique device is in use by a San Francisco railway, of over come a 25 per cent grade on an electric line. There are two tracks on this grade for cars going in different directions. On the grade there is a conduit like that for cable roads, and it contains an endless cable passing over pulleys at the two ends. An up-going and down-going car are attached to this cable by men stationed at the grades, and the two cars then work together by the use of their own motors, the one going down hill assisting the one which is going up. The system was tested a few weeks ago for the first time, and was found to operate successfully. It has since been working to perfect satisfaction. It was found that the power of the down-going car is far more than is necessary for hauling the ascending car under any possible conditions of load.

That Joyful Feeling.

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness which follows the use of Strychnine, the only medicine that has not progressed beyond the old time medicine and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well informed.

Just how it does it is not the question. It is enough to know that ill-effects are taken out of the system, and a very pleasant taste is left at the druggist's.

Do You Sneeze?

The most of diseases is frequently a blessing in disguise.

"I always recommend Dr. Fowler's Expectorant in cases of summer complaints and have never known it to fail. You may not know it, but it is a very good medicine."

Timely Warning.

The great success of the chocolate preparations of the house of Walter Baker & Co. (established in 1780) has led to the placing on the market many misleading and unscrupulous imitations of their name, labels, and wrappers. Walter Baker & Co. are the oldest and largest manufacturers of pure and high-grade Cocoas and Chocolates on this continent. No chemicals are used in their manufactures. Consumers should ask for, and be sure that they get, the genuine Walter Baker & Co.'s goods.

If you have borrowed from health to satisfy the demands of business, if your blood is not getting that constant supply of fat from your food it should have, you must pay back from somewhere, and the somewhere will be from the fat stored up in the body.

The sign of this borrowing is thinness; the result, nerve-waste. You need fat to keep the blood in health unless you want to live with no reserve force—live from hand to mouth. Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil is more than a medicine. It is a food. The Hypophosphites make it a nerve food, too. It comes as near perfection as good things ever come in this world.

Be sure you get Scott's Emulsion when you want it and not a cheap substitute.

Ways of the new women termed us—As on to our way and catches—While it's nice to wear those bloomers; In due time they will need patches.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Babbitt October 7, a girl.

The Times contained a very complete write-up of the Millard fair last week. A late letter from St. Johns states that Miss Magill is now slowly improving.

The eight o'clock evening closing movement started off in good shape Monday night.

The evening services at the various churches will hereafter commence at seven o'clock.

The WCTU people will have Mrs. E. N. Law here to speak for them some time during the month.

The Christian Science society hold services at 10:30 every Sunday in the WCTU hall. All people welcome.

Charles Reed has leased the Miss Dunlap house on Randolph street and is moving from Rogers street to that place.

Photographer Brown, of this place was awarded five first premiums at the Millard fair on his photographic display.

The Epworth League reading circle now has twenty-three members. They hold their first meeting next Tuesday evening.

The charge for losing cards of thanks in this paper is invariably one cent per word. They are never published free.

Rev. Dr. McCorkle of Detroit will preach in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. A cordial invitation is extended.

The 10 months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bloomfield died Sunday. The funeral occurred at Romulus Monday afternoon.

Perrin & Taft bid for a state fair premium in that they have threshed 150 bushels of oats from one and one-half acres of land.

The Record notices that one of electricity, and she is a good one too, rides up town nearly every morning to order the day's groceries.

A. F. Lambright, at one time foreman in the Dubuar factory and with the Glass company here, is now a prosperous jeweler in Flat Rock.

Cards are out announcing the wedding of Miss Mattie White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. White, to Mr. James Cunningham for October 23.

The committee requests those having work to do on the talent social program to please send that date set for next week Wednesday evening.

The Eastern Star ladies are rehearsing a play to be put on the boards about the first of November. There are sixteen characters in the play—all ladies.

The Wayne county Sunday school convention holds its 7th annual meeting in Detroit Saturday. Hon. J. P. Barkworth of Jackson is one of the speakers.

Judge J. H. Gair, whose sudden death was announced Tuesday, Detroit daily papers was a brother-in-law of Rev. Seth Reed of this place, and was once a resident of this state.

By the way are you planning to visit the YMCA meeting Sunday? A cordial invitation is extended to you. Dr. J. M. Swift will be the speaker and a meeting and talk may be expected.

Before the council considers the expense of extending Rogers street north there should be some money laid out on Linden and West streets near Randolph. Some filling in is much needed there.

At the annual Eastern Star meeting at Saginaw last week an exchange of pledges by the grand officers was indulged in. The photographic work was also commented upon and as usual the Northville work was credited as being by far the best.

In the Michigan School Moderator of October 3 there is an interesting article entitled: "The School from a Parent's Standpoint." Every parent should read it. It is too long to publish here and to cut it down spoils too much of the essence of it.

The F&PM will run their last excursion of the season Thursday October 24 and it will be to Detroit. The special train will leave Northville at 8:28 a. m. and returning leave Detroit at 9:30 p. m. Fare for round trip 65c children 40c. Tickets are good on special train only.

Farmers, mechanics, business men or laborers having anything to sell from a dog to a threshing machine should advertise it in the "For-Sale" column of the Record. There is no other way to reach so many people so cheap. Adopt the same plan if you want to buy.

The Methodist ladies' talent social with a photograph contest intermingled, will be held at the residence of Mrs. C. J. Ball next week Wednesday evening, Oct. 23. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public. Refreshments will be served and an admission of 10 cents will be charged at the door.

Ladies buy your underwear at Miss Dovee's.

Wanted, To Rent, For Sale, Etc.

FOR SALE—Only desirable residence No. 9 Cedar Street. Convenient to depot churches and factories. Price and terms reasonable. C. A. Munson.

FOR SALE—The Chester fruit farm in west part of village—Cash or easy payment. Would trade for good house in village. L. Charney.

WANTED—Paris in Instrumental Music. Three lessons first. Satisfaction guaranteed. Also all kinds of fancy work taught. Mrs. E. N. Law.

FOR SALE—One or two horse spring wagon a good one. Call on P. O. Box 100.

FOR SALE—A bargain. Two barrel k. oil tank with pumps, etc. in first class condition. Also top phonograph. Inquire C. J. Ball.

FOR SALE—New house and lot in back of the station. Geo. E. Sinclair.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE—New desirable residence on York St. north side also choice building lots of High St. north containing nearly 3 acres part grapes. Also good living house to rent. At Monday.

FOR RENT—The Tobie farm of 120 acres. For possession given at once. Apply to Mrs. E. S. 522 Northville.

The D. Kuapp house in Bealton is for rent $1.25 per week. Apply at Record office.

W. E. Nash of Novi and L. L. Brooks of this place didn't bring The Record office very many potatoes—only about a dozen—but they measured up half a bushel. A few more like those will keep the faculty through the winter.

Miss Alvina Counts who has for a year past been employed in the home of Mrs. C. J. Ball was married on Wednesday afternoon of this week to Mr. Paul Johnson of near Farmington. They were married by the pastor of the Lutheran church at the parsonage in Farmington and went to Detroit for a brief wedding trip.

In reference to not giving a write up of the Plymouth fair or publishing a premium list the Mail says it is sailing its own ship and it's none of anyone's business, etc. And then adds a lot of irrelevant trash. This is doubtless satisfactory to the Mail but the injustice done, the association as well as the fair patrons is still apparent.

Mrs. C. G. Chadwick was awarded first premium on butter at the Millard fair. Considering that the judges were from the High Dairyman's Association it was quite a compliment. She was also awarded Stockwell's special prize, a $5.00 silk umbrella. Mr. Chadwick captured 1st on general team, 1st on wheat, 2d on corn and 1st on a Holstein bull.

E. F. Discerns, manager of the sales department for the American Bell Laundry Co., informs us that orders for bells are coming in faster than they can fill them. That the sales thus far are way ahead of the company's anticipations, speaks well for the quality and price of the bells. The company is increasing their facilities all the while to meet the demand for their goods.

Mrs. Tadah Owen, mother of Mrs. W. T. Ely of this place and Mrs. H. G. Sinclair of Chicago, died quite suddenly at her home in this village Monday noon. Sarah Barden Fitch was her maiden name and she was born in Pawlet, Vt., December 1827, coming to Michigan when about fifteen years of age. After a married life of fifty years spent together, Mr. Owen died last January. Mrs. Owen had been an invalid for more than fifteen years. The funeral occurred from the home Thursday, Rev. C. C. Turner officiating. The interment was at Pinewood.

The annual grand lodge meeting of the Order Eastern Star at Saginaw did honor to Northville last week by electing one of its most popular ladies, Mrs. Ida Josiah, to the second highest office in the state, Associate Grand Matron for Michigan. Mrs. Josiah had held the office of Associate Grand Conitress for two years and it was a compliment to her worth that she was promoted ahead of the regular routine order to this office for which there were ten aspirants. Mrs. J. is not only a bright, jolly woman and well posted in the women's department of the masonic fraternity, but she is also popular in both society and the lodge room and a leader where there is work to be accomplished.

The proposed new milk station here, mentioned last week, is a sure go. Satisfactory arrangements were made with Messrs. Easter & Tower of Detroit and over 300 cows have been contracted for already. The contract with the milk people is for five years and the supply to be received each day for shipment is to be unlimited. The price to be paid, averaging $1.00 per 100, is as follows: Nov. to Feb. $1.20; March $1.15; April $1.00; May to July 75c; Aug. and Sept. 90c; October $1.00. Patrons are to be paid the 15th of each month. A large ice house and milk depot is to be erected at the depot at once and it is expected that the amount paid out for milk here will aggregate not less than $20,000 a year. This will be of considerable benefit to the village, as well as the farmers hereabouts who have been supplying cheese factories for a year or two past at a very small profit. To Charley Rogers is due much of the credit for working up the scheme and to L. L. Brooks and others in assisting and securing enough patrons to insure a success.

The Globe factory is running nights again to keep pace with orders.

G. R. Wolfe of Birmingham has opened a new barber shop under E. A. Wheeler's store.

Married Wednesday evening, Oct. 15, Edwin Charrer to Mrs. Jennie Jacobs, Rev. C. C. Turner officiating.

Dr. Hran has traded his property corner Wing and Main street with E. D. Adams for his house, lot and store 47, 49, 53 Main street.

Sixteen of the young friends and schoolmates of Walter Evans gave him a surprise at his home Wednesday evening. Light refreshments were served and all report a good time.

About thirty of Mrs. Wager's friends made her a pleasant fare well surprise Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Little and during the evening presented her with a beautiful set of chased handled silver fruit knives. Mr. Wager will move his family at once to their new home in Clyde, Ohio. Their many Northville friends will wish them prosperity as they regret their departure.

The village has passed an ordinance which requires that peddlers with vehicles shall not stand in one place longer than ten minutes except in front of the city hall property. The peddlers say they will get around that by moving ten or twelve inches at a time and then back up again the same distance. The council may get their heads together now and stipulate that each move shall be a dozen rods or more and that backing up will not be the right move.

John Barley, one of Northville's well known, honest, industrious and respected citizens, died Monday aged 74 years. Mr. Barley was born in Appleton, Lincolnshire, England, March 18, 1824. He left England with his wife in 1852 and settled first in Delaware, Canada, and moved to Northville in 1874, where they remained two years when they sailed for England again, returning here in 1889. There were 12 children in the family, three of whom still live in the native country. His father had the distinction of fighting in the famous battle of Sebastopol where he lost one limb. The wife and one son, Peter Barley, and the grand children are the only descendants living. The funeral occurred from the home Wednesday, Rev. C. C. Turner officiating. The interment was in Rural 12th.

Northville School Notes.

Bert Phillips is again in school.
 Mabel Stark is absent for a week.
 Chas. Duggan has returned to school after a week's illness.
 Henry Miller, the celebrated penman, entered school Monday.
 Two more scholars were enrolled on the 4th grade books this week.
 Nora Resch and Lillian Stewart of Miss Corvett's room are on the sick list.
 The school board will please accept thanks for the much needed chairs in the grammar room.
 Misses Grace Porter and Marie Hoyt of Walled Lake made the primary room a pleasant one last week.
 The former is employed in teaching the Walled Lakes school.

The first game of Rugby foot ball was played by the high school boys Tuesday afternoon and every one enjoyed it. There were no limbs broken but there was no end to the bruises received. No less than six pair of cuff links were fractured. The boys will be tight in shape when they enter the U. of M.

Pingree's potato crop is estimated this year at 60,000 bushels.

The Michigan Pro's association will plan a southern trip for next year.

Rev. Mr. Bolstor of Plymouth upon his return confesses to have "gone with a handsomer woman."

If a burglar breaks into a Wyandotte house and does not succeed in getting any "bobs," the jury pronounce him not guilty.

They have a flag and song, as some one gets up enough enterprise to erect a pole the Brighton school will fly the stars and stripes over its campus.

The Gazette is authority that Pontiac is to have a lady foot-ball team. No wonder an addition to the women's ward at the asylum is deemed necessary.

It is quite evident that some Detroit politicians are not so much worried about Pingree's fourth term as they are about getting into some fat office themselves.

"Jim" Berrige of Pontiac has harvested 65 bushels of potatoes from one acre of land. They will bring him in the neighborhood of $120. Wheat on the same ground would have perhaps sold for $20.00.

Detroit's getting audacious. The suburban column of Sunday's News-Tribune contained items from Washington, Cleveland, Europe and other points near or less remote.—Wyandotte Herald.

Just so. Even Northville would not lay claim to such as that.

The More Democrat is trying to make its voters believe that John Jones "Su-ayed" in Monroe is in bad form; and the Democrat will tell of hundreds of the Floral City citizens who "picniced" at the lake. Editor Smith says say John Jones spent Sunday in trip. Then why not John Jones sit picnic at the lake?

This is the second or third time that Smith has tried to assassinate the word and yet it bobs up like mustard in a wheat field.

People who know little about a subject explain it more clearly than those who know all about it. An old sailor had heard in church an anthem which greatly pleased him. He was telling a shipmate who asked, "I say, Joe, what's an anthem?" "What?" replied Joe, "do you mean to say you don't know what a banther is?" "Not me." "Well, then, I'll tell you. If I was to say to you, 'Ere, Bill, give me that handspike' that wouldn't be a banther. But was I to say, 'Bill, Bill, give me that handspike, give me that handspike, give me that handspike, spike-spike-Bill-give me that handspike, handspike-spike-spike, ab-men; BU, give me that handspike-spike, ab men; that would be a banther."

Recently The Record mentioned that Dr. Moyer set the broken arm of one John P. Rankin who did a double somersault from a moving passenger train. The Dundee Ledger states that Moyer is a dentist. Well so much for advertising. Moyer's was the only doctor's card appearing in the village papers and naturally it was supposed he got the job.

The report is published that a barrel of eggs packed in cotton seed was recently shipped from Florida to some point in Michigan—probably Monroe—and when the barrel reached its destination there wasn't an egg in it.

Everyone had hatched out and the chicks had got themselves in prime brooding condition by feeding on the cotton seed!

As between the new horse corn cutter and the frost, the farmer might better sit on the fence during the day and let the frost cut his corn during the night. The horse corn cutter has done some bloody work this season. Not reckoning lesser accidents, several horses have been mangled and then mutilated by the feud. Near Alton recently a horse was used up and had to be "killed" to save its life, and a man escaped with various lacerations and chops on his body. At Pittsford, a machine let out the life blood of a horse. Another in the same locality, named the "Hurricane," took after a man who had fallen from it, got him down and was chewing his leg in a frightful manner, when others "hurried-up" and choked it off.—Montrose Democrat.
