FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1895.

$1.00 per year, in advance.

A SCREAMER!

Is What the Northville Baby Show Will Be.

MORE THAN TWENTY GOOD PRIZES ARE OFFERED.

The Big Princess Rink secured for The Event.

The baby show booked for next week Wednesday promises to be one of the most attractive and unique events held in Northville for many a moon. There is nothing quite so pretty and attractive as an attractive and pretty baby, and against an exhibition of from forty to one hundred in line, Barnum's circus or the world's fair would put but a sorry figure.

The twenty-one or more premiums offered are now on exhibition at Reed's store. It is a fine collection and is offered as follows:

For the prettiest baby, 1st prize, silver cup, 2nd prize, child's topker.
Best talking boy under 3 years, velvet cap.
Best talking girl under 3 years, silver knife fork and spoon.
Fattest baby under 15 months, pair of shoes.
Best talker under 15 months, silk finished hood.

Crossest baby, a vase.
Best singing baby, bonnet.
Prettiest pair of twins, cabinet photo.
Youngest walking baby, set of flax.
Best natural baby, 1st prize, picture book and prize, silk handkerchief.
Baby with most hair, box toilet soap.
Baby with least hair, box toilet soap.
Smallest baby, infant's toy hair brush.
Prettiest colored baby, 1st prize, toy watch and pair of doll.
Baby counting from greatest distance, comb, tin and money bank.
Best talking German baby, silk hood.
Smallest pair of twins, combination bed and jumper.
Largest headed baby, silver knife, fork and spoon.
Baby with largest ears, one year's subscription to The Record.
Every baby voted for the prettiest babies, 1st prize at 2000 cents, 2nd at 1000, admission ten cents. Babies and mamma's free.

All babies between the ages of three months and 39 months are eligible and competition is open to the world.
Owing to the prospective large attendance the place of holding the entertainment was changed from the WCTU hall to the Princess rink. Everybody is solicited to be present.

U. K. STATION VS. CHEESE FACTORY.
Ster & Tower's Northville Milk Station.

The following article is from an interview with Hon. Fred M. Warner, the well known cheese-maker, published in the last issue of the Farmington Enterprise, and refers to the article in the Record regarding specifications of contract milk and prices to be paid for milk here by the Ster & Tower's.

"It won't take me long to find out delivering milk at that scale of prices will not help me much when you take the milk from the factories and haul it to the depot. The extra labor and travel required to be made by milk depot patrons. This season and last have not been good ones for cheese factories and prices have necessarily been low, but even last year, which was the lowest in years, will compare very favorably with the latest milk house prices. The average will not be $1.25, as the average cheese factory patron's milk would not pay him over 80 to 85c for the season if taken to a milk house at the scale of prices stated in the Record. I notice the Record states that cheese factories have paid the farmer a very small profit the past year or two. I would ask what has paid better in the way of farming? The profit will compare with the profit the farmer will get from the average of milk house prices. I have figured out the average one of my seasons who is now taking his milk to the Ster & Tower's factory would have received one and two years ago if sold at a milk house, and I found that two years ago he received $13 more on the 80,000 pounds he delivered by going to the factory; last year which was one of the poorest years for cheese, he would have made $17 on 40,000 pounds he delivered by going to a milk house, making a net profit of only $4 in favor of the milk house for the two years; and for that $4 at the factory he received at least 50,000 pounds of whey and saved 4,000 miles of travel. F. M. W.

Here's What a Novi Farmer Thinks.

As the above subject is now being considered by the dairy men in this section, we have made some suggestions in regard to the merits of the subject. Allowing the claim that one cheese factory patron has been getting very low prices during this season, and that passage has been diminished by 15% extended dry weather thereby affecting the price of milk, we are still in favor of the cheese factory for profit as compared with the milk house. It is a fact that the cost of less we have taken into consideration the following facts, based upon actual scientific experiments. Cheese manufacturers do not claim that because a cow gives a large flow of milk she is worth twice as much for factory purposes as the cow whose flow of milk is only half as much, but that it depends largely upon the richness of the milk. Then if this be true, we find that the milk at the last end of the factory season is worth more for cheese making than at the beginning, in proportion to the flow. Then the patron of the cheese factory is getting a higher rate for his milk in September and October than in April, May or June. At any rate he is getting about 20 cents per hundred weight through. This figure is about the same that has been realized by factories throughout the state, which have turned out the best grade of cheese. Then we must add to this sum the value of the whey that the cheese factory patron gets back. It is no uncommon thing to hear farmers remark that whey is good for nothing for feeding purposes. Actual tests however have proven the contrary. Whey analyzed shows the following ingredients: Fat, 5.00 per cent; Casein 0.15; Albumen 0.75; Milk Sugar 5.00; Ash 0.60. Total solids 11.50 per cent. Therefor if we combine whey with corn meal or shorts for feeding of pigs or hogs, we find that the whey is worth from 2 to 15 cents per hundred according to the price of meal or shorts. Experiments proved that skimmed milk and whey were worth but 35 and 25 cents per hundred respectively for feeding purposes. Hence taking an average flow per cow of 6,000 lbs. at 80c per hundred equals $48.00, adding to this amount 4,000 lbs. of whey at, say 10c per hundred makes a total of $52.00. The prices which the dairy man receives for his milk at the milk station will average very close to 52c per hundred for the entire year, and taking the average flow of milk per cow at 6,000 lbs. at 80c is $50.00 or $1.80 less than paid by the cheese factory. Besides the cash considerations, we must not ignore the value of the farmer's time spent in going to and from the respective places. He takes his milk to the cheese factory once per day, whereas he must make two trips per day to the milk station, summer and winter, making just double the travel. This item alone would certainly amount to a good round sum if figured at day wages only. As applied to Novi, this extra travel would amount to something like 1700 miles for these patrons living north of the gravel road. We fail to clearly see where our dairy men are going to make any additional profit by patronizing the milk station.

NOVI FARMER.
The Record does not claim to be thoroughly posted on this milk business, but the information at hand is that each farmer holds a contract which stipulates that Easter & Tower guarantee the average price paid for milk shall be $1.00 per hundred. There is no reason why a farmer will not so arrange matters that he will get the biggest flow of milk in the winter, or at least while the price is highest. Many farmers about Northville have been doing this for years.

C. E. Rogers, who is probably as well posted on the milk subject as any man in the state, will have an article in next week's issue relative to this matter which will doubtless also be of great interest to our farmer friends.

WITH A CHAIR!

Rev. Seth Reed Was Struck With Surprise.

THE DEED WAS ACCOMPLISHED TUESDAY NIGHT.

Mrs. Reed Surprised by the Ladies' Club.

The venerable preacher, the jolly "young man," the general favorite, Rev. Seth Reed, was way-laid at the home of F. R. Beal, where with his good wife he had been invited to tea, Tuesday evening by about one hundred of their friends for a farewell hand shake. At the proper moment Rev. C. C. Tuffner, in a very appropriate manner and with a nice flow of words just fitting to the occasion, presented Mr. Reed with a beautiful upholstered chair. Mr. Reed responded in his usual droll and humorous manner, closing with a deep expression of gratitude. Mr. and Mrs. Reed both spoke of the many pleasant ties formed here and of the kind remembrances which they would carry away with them. After the presentation the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Beal was thrown open for the social good time which followed for an hour or two.

On Friday afternoon of last week the Ladies' Club held their meeting in the library room in honor of Mrs. Reed, who is among the club's most enthusiastic members. Mrs. B. A. Wheeler delivered the farewell address after which Mrs. Stout in behalf of the club presented Mrs. Reed with two beautiful and valuable volumes of the life of
