AWFULLY FUNNY

Were Some of the Men's Experiences to Earn a $

AS TOLD AT THE SOCIAL WEDNES-DAY NIGHT.

Large Crowd Present and the Society Nets $180.

With the Amount Pledged It Makes the Methodist Church Debtless.

Mr. W. Hutton's spacious residence was a blaze of light Wednesday night in honor of the men's experience social held there. Before 8 o'clock the house was crowded and by the time the brave men, in dulcet or quavering tones, according to whether they had earned the money themselves or their wives had been obliged to give it to them, told of what they endured or engaged in to secure the wonderful "pledged dollar," there was a veritable crush, about 250 persons being present.

A male quartette—Brown, Buchner, McNeil and Nichols with discords at the organ regaled the audience with a choice selection, which received an encore. They responded to the organist, struck the chord; the quartette gratefully bowed and murmured "Amen, Amen."

George Butler's experience held the list and when he said he had been cutting dog's feet for Mr. Heide's points in a dog show, it had been dog's feet (a tall one) and I have understood etc., etc., until some bright child said "Hush, hush!" The following is a partial list of those who engaged in the thrilling or humdrum experience.

Wm. H. Hutton collected the money and a fire screen—he made the money on the screen.

C. C. Turner told a peck, which cost him great struggles with his anger cake, and removing cobwebs.

C. C. Chisholm slept on the table, and refused to tell more saying he would have to write a book.

Bert Tower built a flower stand.

John Dolph (whispered) my wife earned it for me.

Fred Withee took a bureau a hundred years old and made a 19th century sideboard.

Herb Lee said: "I did the washing. My wife said I only did two but I'm sure 'twas nine or eleven."

C. Blair played catchman and peddled bills—C. A. Hurton got an opportunity to earn by giving his opinion, culinary work, dish-washing, "mowed" straw away and sold Pingree buttons for the balance.—Hoyt Woodman piled brush, washed dishes and grated horse-radish.

C. Wilson wiped dishes, but earned another in an effort to get his first, his part, refusing to pay promptly.

L. W. Hutton's dollar came from the mint and was 16 years old.—L. A. Beal borrowed a dollar of his wife.—W. H. Hutton kept house two weeks and showed dirt.

M. S. Ambler worked over hours.—Al VanDyne did house work.—C. Bech was quick because his wife refused to pay as per agreement and he had to donate from his own pocket.—Dr. Blanchard attended one of the Guild ladies who was opportunely in.—Mr. Ball mended a door bell 25c worth and donated the balance.—Mr. Becker cooked, and washed dishes.—Mr. Danham peddled fried-cakes.—Chas. Filkins fixed a pump and danced a jig.—W. E. Ambler took a man to Plymouth.

A number of neat things were read by ladies who had found out the weaknesses and misfortunes of their friends, and then Mr. Turner was handed a box which contained a knitted purse, inside of which was fifty-two dollars to apply on the church debt with the ladies compliments.

The Junior League brought their mite, a half eagle, which was earned and donated by the workers of that body and it was one of the best things of the evening.

F. R. Beal had made a stand, doing the work on the lathe as in the old langsyne. This was sold at auction to the highest bidder, and it took a V from L. A. Beal to secure it.

When the ladies of the Guild went out to supper they were treated to a lunch of the men's making and serving, the principal of which was biscuit stuffed with cotton.

The event, including the admission at the door, from the Junior League and from the ladies, will net the society $180 which with the amount already on Mr. Turner's subscription list will place the Methodist church entirely out of debt.

IT'S AGAINST THE LAW

To Sell, Give or Furnish Tobacco to Minors.

The following law regarding the supplying of tobacco in any form to a person under 17 years of age unless on written request of parent or guardian is handed us with the request to publish.

Section 1. The people of the State of Michigan enact: That it shall not be lawful for any person by himself, his clerk or agent, to sell, give or furnish, any cigar, cigarette, cheroot, chewing or smoking tobacco, or tobacco in any form whatsoever to any minor under seventeen years of age, unless upon the written order of the parent or guardian of said minor.

The fine for the violation of this act is $5 to $50 or ten to thirty days in jail or both.

HAS FOUR HUSBANDS.

THE LAST ONE WAS BURTON
HAYWOOD OF SALEM.

May Stevens, with Several Affairs,
Was the Girl.

Burton Haywood a well known and respected Salem blacksmith married an attractive woman known as May Stevens in Detroit last December and it now transpires that there were three other husbands who had claims previous to Haywood's.

Haywood and husband No. 3 have had the woman who loved not only to marry, arrested for trying to get a divorce on her in this forming a monopoly of the city to the detriment of the law.

The case is an extraordinary one. A man with several wives is on trial only to find out that a woman with four husbands is truly remarkable. The woman at the close of the last century had gotten queer and more of them.

WAS A "CORKER"

The Detroit Union of Epworth League.

MADE THINGS LIVELY HERE LAST NIGHT.

Two Hundred and Fifty Came by the Special Train.

The C. E. and B. Y. P. U. Assisted in the Rally.

To be exact 246 enthusiastic leaguers from the twenty different chapters of the Detroit Union of Epworth Leaguers landed in Northville by special train at 6 o'clock last evening for a rally with the local League. They were met by the local chapter and headed by the Globe band, with the Junior League for escort, marched to the Methodist church where after a hearty lunch Rev. F. A. Smart conducted a song service accompanied by the state leaguers' concert quartet, with Mrs. Long as organist. Rev. C. C. Turner gave the welcome address, and the fraternal greetings were by H. F. Brown for the local C. E. and Frank Moore for the B. Y. P. U. The response was by President Seely of the Detroit Union.

Dr. C. T. Allen then gave his address entitled "The Field and the Battle." It was not only a brilliant one but as the doctor said the boys had labeled it "brand new." The "field" was the free land of America and the "battle" was against political corruption and for an honest ballot box.

Dr. Allen said when men come to realize what it cost to make a free American ballot, they would not cast it carelessly. He would like to see the 2,000,000 Leaguers draw swords and swear to do battle until the door of every saloon in America was closed. He said the saloons were the recruiting places of all political corruption. No reform was possible until they were abolished.

State President McEldowney talked of the Ludington state convention and Rev. Mr. Haller of the national convention to be held in Cleveland. The

The decorations, red and white bunting, the League colors, intermingled with numerous flags were both beautiful and useful.

About Teachers' Contracts.

The following from the state superintendent of public instruction may be of interest as well as news to many teachers as well as school boards.

"All contracts with teachers should be drawn up at a regular meeting of the district board. If so authorized, it is the duty of the board to sign the contract. A contract, however, signed by a majority of the district board will bind the district if properly authorized at a regular meeting of the district board."

The penalty on officers for neglect of duty is as follows:

P. R. S. Sec. 2.—Any person duly elected to the office of moderator, director, assessor or trustee of a school district, who shall neglect or refuse without sufficient cause, to accept such office and serve therein, or who, having entered upon the duties of his office, shall neglect or refuse to perform any duty required of him by virtue of his office, shall forfeit the sum of ten dollars.

A Married Man's Rights.

"I say," said a friend the other day, "you are an old hand at it. I have only just got married and don't understand much about the business. I should like to know whether a married man has any rights left when he takes unto himself a wife?"

"Rights? Yes, lots. He has a right to pay all the bills."

"Stop! I mean this. Let me give you an instance. Every box, every chest of drawers and portmanteau, and in fact, every available receptacle of every description is stuffed full of my wife's property, and when I want to put away a few collars and cuffs—"

"Hold on. I know what you mean. Listen, young man. If your bedroom were 200 yards long, lined to the ceiling with shelves, and you wanted a place to stow away a couple of neckties and a collar button, you couldn't find a nook that wasn't full of hairpins, empty boxes, scent bottles, odd gloves, powder puffs or little bits of tape, so just accept the inevitable. Wrap your personal property in an old newspaper parcel and hide it under the bed."

He grinned ironically, but passed on, a sadder and wiser man.

The YMCA ball this evening promises to be one of the finest affairs held in the village this season. Finney's orchestra will be the leading attraction and everything will be done by the society to make the event a fitting closing of the year's festivities. Indications point to there being a large number of spectators present.
