Editor M. Fred Gray of the Plymouth Mail will speak at the men's meeting Sunday afternoon. Though by no means a Chamber Deput yet Mr. Gray is a good logical talker and those who attend this meeting cannot help but be benefited.

The funeral of Mrs. L. W. Simmons occurred from the home Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. J. H. Herben. The attendance at the services was very large and the profusion of flowers about the room and the casket was a slight attest of the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The interment was in Rural Hill.

The town board is looking up the matter as to whether or not they can legally appropriate $50 for publishing the board proceedings. In the meantime the board would not guarantee payment to the newspapers, and the publishers decline to do the publishing without assurance of any pay. And thus the matter rests for the present.

F. D. Adams pleaded guilty Saturday to an intentional violation of the fire limit ordinance, and was fined $100, and $10 costs. Now that justice is satisfied the matter should be dropped without another whimper. Mr. Adams has improved his property at least $500 worth to say nothing of his factory which is of no small benefit to the village and it is not only an argument to that part of the town but from the outside at least is practically fire-proof.

The "Mignon Book Co." of Chicago caught a lot of "suckers" by their advertisements before the government stopped them. The newspapers who ran the ads got no pay and the public who answered the advertisements were swindled. The "Mignon" people tried to get the Record to run the ad but failed as hundreds of other fake concerns every year fall in like manner. The Record never runs advertising that is not reliable and therefore its patrons are never swindled. It is very strange, but almost any week from one to a dozen of our exchanges contain fake ads of this kind and not only is the public swindled by them but at the same time the newspapers never get any pay for their space.

The attention of the water takers is called to the fact that the water board is in a measure testing the honesty of the people in the matter of sprinkling hours. They have given notice that water may be used not to exceed two hours per day—one hour in the forenoon and one hour in the afternoon—until further orders. The taker may select his own hour and just as long as 30 minutes to the hour is made the standard there will be no trouble. The board says they will at the first infraction of this rule not only fine the offender, but also receive the order and stated hours be insisted upon. It is very convenient for takers to select their own hours for sprinkling and it rests with them just how long this ordinance remains in force.

Having in view the contemplated new buildings which the government is about to erect at the U. S. fish station here. The Record believes that the village can make no better investment at the present time than extend the mains from Rogers street to that point. With a four inch pipe the cost is figured to not exceed $500. Without taking into consideration the small revenue to be derived from the investment, the village owes this much to the government for fire protection. Then again, as Uncle Sam never invests in the fire insurance business, and should the buildings be destroyed the prospects would be against their being rebuilt. Therefore, the extension is in demand to protect the village's own interests. Extend the mains by all means.

The school board has appointed A. Pomeroy as trustee officer.

Our J. H. Wignall has been engaged to teach the Farmington band.

Lock-up purchasers of those "C" who much be chained, they were first... Don't... Here's a case where personal name sinks into oblivion while the deed itself rushes on and on, over hills, across brooks, through valleys and forests until at last it sits grand and victorious on the very topmost rail of the fence.

The many friends of Mrs. Walter VanEvery of Holly whose husband, the editor of the Holly Independent, died last week, extend to her much sincere sympathy in her sad affliction as a result of paralysis of one of Mr. VanEvery's limbs became dead, rendering amputation necessary, but he only survived the shock a few days. Whether Mrs. VanEvery will personally continue the publication is not learned.
