BIRCH WIELDERS.

Everything in Readiness to Give 'Em a Warm Welcome

DURING THE COUNTY INSTITUTE HERE NEXT WEEK.

Carriage Drives and Entertainments Galore.

Weather Bureau Even Promises a Spell of Weather.

Every thing now appears to be in "ship-shape," so to speak, to give the "birch wielders" of this and adjoining counties a warm welcome at the Wayne County Teachers' Institute to be held here next week. A reception committee will be at the incoming trains to direct the teachers to the school building where they will be supplied with badges and assigned to their respective boarding houses. "When school lets out" Tuesday afternoon the fun begins. Forty carriages will be in waiting at the entrance to the campus grounds at four o'clock to give the visitors a drive about the place and a visit to the U. S. fish station. Supt. Clark will make special provision for the reception of the teachers and show through the hatchery and over the grounds, explaining the work in detail. The handsome buildings and grounds together with the 200,000 or more of fish, from the little three month old "fingerlings" to the four year old speckled beauties that weigh two pounds, will prove no small attraction to the visitors. The teachers will all be returned to their boarding houses in time for supper. At seven o'clock the fire alarm will be pulled and the fire department will make a quick run to the corner of Main and Center street, lay a few lengths of hose and show off a little of Northville's water works system. At 8:15 Capt. C. D. Thompson will give his stereoscopic lecture in the opera house.

On Wednesday evening at seven o'clock the bicycle parade will take place. The formation will be on High street near Randolph and the route will be up Dunlap to Rogers around to Main and thence down to Center by crossing and recrossing the streets from Main to Dunlap. For this parade the committee offer some twelve dollars worth of prizes for wheel decorations. Everybody is invited to participate and it is desired that all wheelmen and wheelwomen join the parade whether they decorate or not. A couple of flags on the handle bar will do. Cyclists are requested to be prompt as it will be necessary to start promptly at seven in order to finish before dark. At 8:15 Prof. Delos Paul delivers a lecture on some educational topics in the opera house.

On Thursday afternoon at four o'clock the great ball game between Northville and Wayne will occur on the ball park. To witness this game large crowds will be present from Plymouth, Farmington, Salem, South Lyon, Novi and other towns. Teachers with badges admitted free. At 7:30 there will be special services in the churches to which all are cordially invited.

On Friday evening from eight to twelve the Ladies of the Eastern Star will, in behalf of Northville, give the visitors a farewell entertainment and banquet in the Masonic Temple. The Star ladies have long been famous for their cleverness as entertainers and their receptions and socials are always of an unusual enjoyable order. The committee has under preparation a fun program for the occasion, in which subject to some possible changes and additions, the following well known talent will participate: The Male Quartet; Miss Babbitt, reader; Miss Yerkes, reader; Miss Clarkson, violinist; Miss Joslin, soloist; Mrs. Long, pianist. At the conclusion of the program the ladies will serve refreshments in their spacious dining rooms and then will come the toasts, a general good time and a tearful good bye. For this occasion the Star ladies invite all their Northville friends to be present to partake of the evening's enjoyment and to meet the teachers. In order that the Star ladies may comfortably care for the crowd they will charge the small admission fee of ten cents to the people of the village, which will include tea, entertainment, refreshments, etc. Of course no charge will be made to any of the teachers.

The decoration committee will request business firms and residents to decorate their stores and houses as much as possible in keeping with the occasion. Swing the old flag to the breeze.

The carriage committee request that all those who are to furnish either double or single rigs for the Tuesday afternoon ride to be on hand at the school building promptly at four o'clock.

NEW CONDENSING CO.

ORGANIZATION WAS PERFECTED WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Stockholders and Officers Are Hustling Men of Business.

The organization of the Northville Condensing Co. was perfected Wednesday evening. The stock $10,000 had been subscribed for some little time past but some of the details were not settled until this week. The officers are T. G. Richardson, president; L. A. Babbitt, secretary and treasurer. The directors are T. G. Richardson, L. A. Babbitt, J. J. Thompson, F. A. Miller, Chas. Booth.

The new factory is to be located a little south and west of the Yerkes Bros. flouring mill from whose plant power is to be obtained. Work on the new building is to commence next week.

With men of such well known and successful business methods behind it, there is no question of the success of the new industry and it will prove of much value to Northville. As has previously been stated the company will make a specialty of the manufacture of what is known as "present milk" for which there is a great demand.

The following well known farmers and business men are among the stockholders of the new company: T. C. Christensen, J. J. Thompson, Pitt Everett, Orson Everett, W. L. Yerkes, F. U. Richardson, L. A. Babbitt, C. C. Yerkes, F. A. Miller, H. D. Dean, Rogers & Son. The Record has no hesitancy in saying that the new industry will be a success from the start and that it will prove a profitable investment for the stockholders as well as of great benefit to the community.

NEW PASTOR.

The Baptist People Have Selected Rev. E. A. Schlammann.

At the close of the service last Sunday evening, the Baptist church society extended an unanimous call to Rev. E. A. Schlammann of Chicago, to become its pastor.

Mr. Schlammann has occupied the pulpit very acceptably the last two Sabbaths, and created a very favorable impression.

He returned to Chicago Monday, where he will complete a course of study at the Chicago University and with his wife, will move here the latter part of August and will begin his pastorate August 29.

Mr. Schlammann comes to Northville highly recommended by members of the Board of the University.

Under The Old Law.

Attorney-General Maynard has pronounced an opinion in which he states that all proceedings commenced prior to June 2 for the opening of drains should be carried out under the provisions of the old drain laws which were repealed by the last legislature when the office of township drain commissioner was abolished. The county drain commissioners will assume charge of all such work.

Grand Excursion to Niagara Falls by the Grand Trunk Railway System Thursday August 12th.

The Grand Trunk Railway System will give a grand excursion to Niagara Falls on Thursday, August 12th. Extremely low rates will be made for all points on its system west of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers. Also from Stations of connecting lines. Special trains will be run and special accommodations made for this occasion.

The rate from Detroit for this excursion will be $3.50 for the round trip and proportionately low rates will be made from all points in Michigan. Tickets will be valid to return up to and including August 16, 1897.

Everybody should wait for this grand excursion. For advertising bills which give full information as to train service and rates which can be obtained from all Grand Trunk Agents and from Ben. Fletcher, Traveling Passenger Agent, Detroit.

NORTHVILLE WON IT.

Third Ball Game With The Flints at Milford Last Week.

The Northville ball club won the third and last of the series of ball games with the Flint Buggy Co. team last week. Each club had a game to its credit and this "rubber" was played at Milford Friday. It was a very interesting game and at some stages was very exciting. Up to the 6th inning the score stood 8 to 2 in Flints favor and then Northville's "rooters" took a turn at rattling the Flints. They did it so successful that in the next four innings Northville had gained 13 scores while Flint had drawn a quartet of goose eggs. The features of the game was German's pitching and the fine support given him both behind the bag and in the field. The score: Flint 8, Northville 21. The batting average of the Flints was .250 and that of Northville .350. The pitchers were: German for Flint and Haur for Northville. The game was umpired by J. J. Thompson.

A large crowd was present, many of whom were from Northville.

WEATHER SIGNALS

Are Now Being Blown from the Globe Co.'s Whistle.

By order of the weather bureau, weather reports are to be telegraphed here every day and in turn they will be given to the public by means of signals from the Globe factory whistle. The signals will be blown at 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. each day. This will be very convenient for the farmers within a radius of four or five miles of Northville. Signal cards furnished free of charge at the Record office.

Suburban News.

An old v-closing clerk's union is being organized at Wyandotte.

A Milan man is musing a forty-bushels to the acre crop of wheat.

It is to have a village directory similar to those issued for Northville. But solvers of puzzles should try their hands at the Evening News' new head line.

A delay hardware dealer's name is Plumb. It ought to do a straight business.

Mr. Fred Gray is about to launch a second newspaper and job office at Plymouth, in north town.

Frank Trotter is going a steeple climb act with a panic brush around the mill smokestack at Farmington.

Pontiac had a circus last week with the usual side attractions, such as pickpockets and porch-climbers.

Michigan's Mark Hanna, Albert Pack has half a notion of being a U. S. Senator. It all depends on the size of the auger "Bert" uses to tap his barrel.

Did you see the eclipse?—Delray Times.

By what right does the Times use that item from the Record without proper credit?

Delray people are looking for something for excitement. They think anything from a sea serpent to a drowning escapade in the Rouge will do.

Milan people are now arguing that water is a better preservative than alcohol. As a proof they exhibit a still in the Wilson mill dam that has done duty for more than two score years.

The natives of Milan are now threatened with Sunday base ball and the shadow that is hanging itself across the troubled sky of the two-town village is bigger and more of it than last week's eclipse.

Frank Yost of Flat Rock took one drop too much last week and when he regained consciousness he was lying on the ground beneath the shade of a telephone pole from whence he had slipped while repairing a wire.

James Quigley of Milford tried to drive in front of a F. & P. M. engine Monday and was dragged by the cow-catcher some distance, yet his only injury apparently was a severe scalp wound. The injured man did not regain consciousness however and death resulted Wednesday.

Lee Jewel, an 8-year-old Plymouth lad, was standing on the steps of a bicycle Sunday while an older boy was propelling the machine, when somehow Jewel's right foot became entangled in the rear wheel and his big toe was taken off close to the foot. Jewel did not know he had been hurt until he stepped off the wheel and saw his toe sticking between the chain and spoked wheel.

Rev. A. J. Bigelow, formerly of Northville, performed a marriage ceremony at Flint last week where the groom was the bride. The contracting parties were L. H. Cooper of Gaines and Bessie Groom of Linden.

In advocating a bicycle parade, the Milan Leader says: "All turn out and see if we can't make a creditable crowd." In some places four or five people will make a creditable crowd. Why not mix in a few Dundee and Ypsilanti people?

The Ann Arbor Courier is authority that a slaughter house is doing business near the school building in the heart of that city, and that the health officers are not powerful enough to remove it. No more of our children shall be sent to the schools at Ann Arbor.

The Ypsilanti is grateful to the mayor for a mess of speckled trout. The mayor of Ypsilanti will please look us squarely in the eye. Now then, when you took those trout, did you, or did you not, spit on the tails of your spear, as the law requires.—Adrian Press.

To offset the sea-serpent excitement in other towns, Pontiac papers manage to turn a fierce aquatic loose to scare the quietness of the sleepy people. Some of the residents were so thoroughly frightened last week that they barricaded their doors and remained up all night.

A buried treasure in the shape of a kettle of gold that came very near finding itself near Newport, Monroe county a week or two ago created more excitement for a few days than the Klondike craze. Through a fortune teller's efforts the hole was found where the kettle had been.

When a Detroit street-car attempts to run into L. D. Owen (our Farmington Owen), it wants to go it real carefully. Once on Grand River tried it last week and L. D. didn't do a thing to the old electric wagon but smash in one corner of the car with nothing more serious to himself than a slightly bruised arm.

If one-half of what the News' Birmingham correspondent writes were true that town and Farmington would be the most sensational places in the state. While in this section, Barren could capture the "biggest bar on earth" right over in Birmingham and that without the expense of a searching party either.

Institute workers of Monroe county are requested to bring to the meeting at Scofield, August 5th, all varieties of insects pests they may have troubling them, that they may be exhibited and we may learn of Prof. Taft the best and most efficient remedies he knows for them.—Carleton Times.

Monroe county people will not care to exhibit those little insect pests that bother them most. Anyhow what more efficient remedy can Prof. Taft recommend than a fine tooth rubber comb? Taft is to much of a scholar to take up valuable time on a question that almost any school boy can answer.

It would appear by the following items the deadly fruit can is getting in its work now on parallel with the cucumber, watermelon and mowing machine.

Mrs. West Crawford was screwing tight the top of a glass fruit can on Wednesday, when the can broke and the jagged glass inflicted a semi circular cut about four inches in extent on the right forearm.—Milford Times.

While tightening the top to a fruit jar Tuesday morning, Miss Ethel Van Valkenberg of Monroe twisted so hard as to break the can and thrust the upper part down on her left arm and wrist cutting two deep gashes.—Monroe Democrat.

While tightening fruit jar tops, it might be well for ladies to wear a pair of base ball gloves.

Cassidore started in surprise; he was not accustomed to such plain speaking.

"Madame is severe," he replied, with a sarcastic smile. "She does not approve of the morals of my nation? No? Yet parbleu! they compare not unfavorably with those of pious Scotland!"

This rebuff, rather disconcerted the plain spoken lady, who turned up the path impatiently, while the Frenchman shrugged his shoulders and looked loftily indignant. Marjorie, who had watched the preceding passage at arms with no little anxiety, not quite following the conversation, glanced imploringly at Cassidore.

"Don't mind Miss Hetherington," she said, when the lady was out of hearing. "What Mr. Lorraine says of her is true; her bark is worse than her bite and she means no offense."

"Who is she, my child? Oh, I remember, the eccentric old lady whom you visited yesterday."

Marjorie nodded, and at that moment Mr. Lorraine came down the path, followed by Solomon, and met Miss Hetherington, who began talking to him vehemently.

"She is not very polite," muttered Cassidore; "and see, she is already abusing me to your guardian."

He held out his hand.

"Good-bye! I shall see you, perhaps, later in the day."

"Perhaps, O, monsieur, you are not offended?"

"Not at all," replied Cassidore, though the look with which he regarded his late antagonist rather belied his words. "I forgive her for your sake, my child!"

Marjorie did not go to church again that day. She had a headache and kept her room. It was altogether a gloomy afternoon. Mr. Lorraine, secretly troubled in his mind, had difficulty in concentrating his thoughts on his religious duties, and Solomon preserved an impenetrable taciturnity. So the day passed away, and evening came.

There was no evening service, for Mr. Lorraine was too infirm to conduct three services in one day. After a dismal tea, to which Marjorie came down, the minister sat reading a volume of sermons, and presently Marjorie stole into the room, put on her hat, and trotted into the garden.

It was a beautiful evening, and the moon was rising over the far-off hills. With her head still aching wearily, the girl wandered out upon the road and into the churchyard.

She crept close to the western wall and looked for a long time at one of the tombstones. Then, sighing deeply, she came out and strolled up the village.

The bright weather and the fresh air enticed her on and on till she came to the rural bridge above the Annan Water.

All was still and peaceful; not a sound, not a breath disturbed the Sabbath silence. She leaned over the stone parapet and looked sadly down.

Her thoughts were wandering far away—flowing, flowing with the murmuring stream. She had fallen into a waking dream, when she heard a footstep behind her. She started and uttered a low cry as she saw a dark figure approaching in the moonlight.

CHAPTER XL.

HE figure advanced rapidly, and in a moment Marjorie recognized her tutor.

"Monsieur Cassidore!" she cried.

"Yes," returned the Frenchman quietly, "it is I!"

"He took her hand in his, and found it cold and trembling."

"I have frightened you," he said.

"Yes, monsieur; I was startled because I did not hear you coming, and I seemed to be far away."

She seemed strangely sad and preoccupied tonight. After the Frenchman had joined her she relaxed into her former dream; she folded her arms upon the bridge again, and fixed her sad eyes upon the flowing river. Cassidore, partaking of the mood, looked downward, too.

"You love the water, Marjorie?"

"Yes, it is my kith and kin."

"You have been here for hours, have you not? I sought you at the manse in vain."

"I was not here, monsieur. I was in the kirkyard among the graves."

"Among the graves?" returned the Frenchman, looking anxiously at her. "A strange place for you to wander in, my child! It is only when we have seen trouble and lost friends that we seek such places. For me it would be fitting, perhaps, but for you it is different. You are so young and should be so happy!"

"Ah, yes!" sighed Marjorie. "I am happy enough."

"And yet you sadden the days that should be the brightest by wandering near the dead. Why did you go to the churchyard, little one?"

"Why, monsieur? To see my mother's grave."

"Your mother's grave? I thought you did not know your mother?"

"They say she was my mother," returned Marjorie, quickly. "She was found drowned in Annan Water—was it not dreadful, monsieur?—and she was buried yonder in the kirkyard when I was a little child."

"And you think she was your mother?"

"They say so, monsieur, but I do not think it is true."

"No?"

"I have gone to her grave and stayed by it, and tried to think they are right, but I cannot—I am come away as I did tonight and look at Annan Water, and feel it more my kin."

"Marjorie!"

"Yes, monsieur!"

"I fancy you are right, child; perhaps your mother lives."

"Ah, you think that?"

"More; she is perhaps watching over you, though she cannot speak. She may reveal herself some day."

"You believe so, monsieur?" repeated Marjorie, her face brightening with joy.

"It is very probable, my child. You are not of the canaille, Marjorie. When I first saw you I knew that; then I heard your story, and it interested me. I thought, 'We are strangely alike—we are like two of a country cast adrift in a foreign land, but our destinies seem to be one. She is exiled from her kindred; I am exiled from my home. She has a kindly heart and will understand me, we must be friends, Marjorie, will we not?'"

He held out his hand, and the girl took it.

"You are very good, monsieur," she answered simply.

"Then you must treat me as a friend, indeed, little one!" he answered. "I will take no money for your lessons. It is a pleasure for me to teach you, and—and Mr. Lorraine is not rich."

"Mr. Lorraine?" said Marjorie, opening her blue eyes; "it is not Mr. Lorraine who pays for my schooling, but Miss Hetherington."

"Yes, that is so. Mr. Lorraine did not wish to have me taught beyond my station, but Miss Hetherington said I must learn."

Cassidore seemed to reflect profoundly.

"Miss Hetherington is a philanthropist, is she not?"

"Do you think so, monsieur?"

"Do not you think so, Marjorie, since she is universally kind and generous?"

"Ah," returned Marjorie, "I do not think she is always generous, monsieur, but she is very kind to me. Why she has almost kept me ever since I was a child."

To this the Frenchman did not reply; he seemed somewhat disturbed, he lit a cigar and watched Marjorie through the clouds of smoke. Presently the clock in the church tower struck the hour, and Marjorie started.

"I must be walking home," she said.

She began to move across the bridge, the Frenchman keeping beside her.

They walked steadily onward, and now they reached the door of the inn. Marjorie paused and held forth her hand.

"Good-night, monsieur," she said.

"Good-night!—shall I not walk with you to the manse, little one?"

Marjorie shook her head.

"I would rather walk there alone."

The Frenchman shrugged his shoulders.

"Eh bien! since you wish it I will think you are right. Good night, my little friend, and au revoir."

He took the hand which she had extended toward him, raised it toward his lips, then patted it as if he had been patting the fingers of a child, it was this air of fatherly friendliness which made her trust him, and which won for him all the sympathy of her affectionate heart.

When Cassidore imprinted a kiss upon her hand she neither blushed nor drew it away, but she said softly:

"Good night, monsieur, God bless you!" at which the Frenchman kissed her hand again, then, turning quickly, entered the inn.

Marjorie turned, too, feeling her kind little heart overflowing, and walked away down the moonlit road. She had not gone many steps when she was abruptly joined by a man. She did not start nor seem surprised; indeed, while she was parting with the Frenchman she had seen John Sutherland watching her from the opposite side of the road.

"Good-evening, Johnnie," said Marjorie, quietly. "Why did you not come forward to speak to Monsieur Cassidore?"

The young man started, but made no answer.

"Johnnie, what is wrong?" she asked. He paused, and looked at her.

"Marjorie," he said, "tell me what you were doing with that man?"

It was no time for his reproaches; her whole soul rose in revolt.

"With that man?" she repeated, angrily. "Do you mean with Monsieur Cassidore?"

"Yes, with that villainous Frenchman!" he returned, driven recklessly onward by his anger. "Why are you always in his company, Marjorie Annan?"

Marjorie drew herself proudly, up. Had the Frenchman seen her then, he would have little doubt as to the stock whence she came.

"I am in his company because I am his friend," she answered, proudly. "Yes, his friend; and as his friend I will not hear him insulted. Good-night."

She walked quickly away, but in a moment he was again beside her.

"Marjorie, will you not listen to me?"

"No, I will not," returned the girl, angrily. "Whatever you have to say against Monsieur Cassidore you shall not say to me. He was right; you are all against him; and you are the worst of all. Do you think it is just or kind to abuse a man simply because he is a stranger and unfortunate? What has Monsieur Cassidore ever done to you that you should dislike him so much?"

The young man stared at her flushed cheeks and angry eyes; then he exclaimed:

"Marjorie, answer me! Tell me it's not possible, that you care for you man?"

She flushed crimson, and turned away.

"I care for anyone," she answered, emphatically, "who is alone and who wants a friend. Monsieur Cassidore has been very kind to me—and I am sorry for him."

"You are more than that, Marjorie—but take care, for I know he is a scoundrel."

"How dare you say so?" returned Marjorie. "You are a coward, Johnnie Sutherland. If he were here you would not speak like that."

"I would say the same to him as to you. If he were not a scoundrel he would not entice you from your home."

"This was too much for Marjorie. She uttered an indignant exclamation, and without deigning to reply, hastened rapidly away. This time, he did not hasten after her; and almost before he could recover from his surprise she had entered the manse door.

CHAPTER XL.

AFTER the scene with Marjorie on Sunday night, Sutherland was in a state of despair: for two days he walked about in misery; on the third day his resolution was fixed and he determined to act.

He went up to the castle and sought an interview with Miss Hetherington, to whom he told of the scene which he had had with Marjorie, of her anger against himself, and of her constant meetings with the stranger, Miss Hetherington listened with averted head, and laughed grimly when he had done.

"I see how it is," she said. "The old tale; two lads and a lassie. But I don't like the French man, Johnnie, no more than yourself. I'll speak with Mr. Lorraine; maybe 'tis his work to keep the balance right, though he does his work ill, I'm thinking. You're a good lad, Johnnie, and as to Marjorie, she's a short-tempered child not to see what her friend is."

She spoke gently and cheerfully; but the moment Sutherland disappeared both her face and manner changed.

"The lad was right," she said. "Love has made him keen sighted, and he has told me the truth. Marjorie is in danger. Now is the time when she needs the care of kind folk to keep her true the one false step that ruins all. Marjorie Annan, what shall I do for you, my bairn?"

She stood for a time, meditating; then she looked at her watch and found it was still early in the day, she summoned her old servant, ordered her carriage, and a quarter of an hour later was driving away toward the town of Dumfries.

Hardly had she left when the Frenchman came to the castle, and by dint of bribing the old serving man, Sandy Sloan, with a golden sovereign, was permitted to view the different rooms.

RARE WORKS OF ART.

Treasures of the Goncourt Brothers. Bring Great Prices.

All the great pictures in the Goncourt collection have now been sold at the Hotel-Drouot and have realized 600,000 francs, or $27,540, says a Paris letter.

It is to be noted that the brothers Goncourt, as related in the famous diary, often pinched themselves in order to purchase pictures and art objects for their collection. They would undoubtedly be surprised if they were alive to read the prices obtained at the recent sale for old drawings and engravings which they picked up years ago on the Paris quays and elsewhere for a few gold or silver pieces.

They were keen dilettanti and knew good works of art when they saw them; but they could hardly have realized that a sketch by the younger Moreau, for which they paid about a dollar, would be purchased years afterwards for hundreds of dollars.

There is now every prospect that the Goncourt academy may become an accomplished fact, and that the literary legacies, as well as the poor relations, may receive something worth having out of the estate. When Edmond de Goncourt died it was confidently asserted by many that his artistic collections would not realize $2,000, whereas his pictures and engravings alone have already brought in more than treble that amount.

Only a Little Premature.

"I can't bear a suit that isn't pending," said a judge to a young lawyer who was seeking advice.

"I know it isn't pending," replied the young man, in some confusion, "but it is about to pend."—The Green Bag.

MONEY MADE FOR CUBA.

Coins of the Embryo Republic Will Be on Sale This Week.

The first coins authorized by the Cuban government will be issued in this city next Tuesday. Ten thousand of them are now ready for distribution, and there is a contract for the coinage of $3,000,000 as fast as they are needed. They will likely soon be called for, as orders for lots of three, four and five thousand have been filed, and the total amount of subscription now amounts to more than $20,000.

They will be sought for as souvenirs, and collectors and dealers in coins are ordering with the expectation that they will be quite valuable. The coin is a silver piece 900 fine, weighing 348 grains, or exactly the same as a four shilling English piece quoted in this market at 95 cents. It is authorized by the Cuban Junta, which has authority from the Cuban government to issue money and credits to raise funds for the prosecution of the war, and this is one of the means. The scheme of the coins was designed by Financial Commissioner Jose de Zayas, of the Cuban delegation in this city, and the design is the work of the Italian sculptor, Philip Martiny. On the obverse of the coin is the head of the Goddess of Liberty, surrounded by the motto, "PATRIA Y LIBERTY" (Country and Liberty), and the word "SOUVERAIN." The model for this head is Miss Leonora Molina, a prominent Cuban society lady of this city, who always takes a leading part in all entertainments for the benefit of the Cuban cause. The reverse of the coin bears the Cuban seal, with the words "República de Cuba" (Republic of Cuba), and six stars, representing the six Cuban states. These states are not well understood, even by Cubans, who often confound them with the six Spanish provinces, but they are Oriente, Camaguey, Las Villas, Matanzas, Havana and Cienfuegos. The coins are being manufactured in this city. The die machine, made especially for this purpose, weighs 9,500 pounds, and has a capacity of 6,500 coins each hour. As the coins are struck they are turned over to the special bureau, under the direction of Commissioner Jose de Zayas, at No. 58 New street, where they will be distributed in the order of the filing of the applications for them. Each coin will be sold for $1 in United States money, and the money received will go directly into the fund for carrying on the revolution. The authority and order for these sovereign coins provides for their redemption at $1 each in United States silver money, so soon as Cuban independence is established.

Immigration of German Birds.

In the years 1893 and 1892 a society in Portland Ore. introduced 400 pairs of songbirds from Germany, most of which at an expense of little more than $2,000. Of these the plain and black-headed nightingales, have probably become extinct because few of them survived the long trip, and none have since been seen. But the other species have multiplied with great rapidity, especially the skylarks, which rear from two to four broods every year, so that the whole Willamette valley, from Portland to Rosburg, is full of them. Besides these, there are black thrushes, wood larks, song thrushes, black thrushes, goldfinches, chaffinches, zis kins, greenfinches, bullfinches, grobeaks, robin redbreasts, linnets singing quails, forest larks and forest finches. When it is remembered that the insects and fungus diseases most dangerous to our vegetation are those which have been imported into this country from abroad, and that animals and birds which are held in check by some balance of forces in their native land often become a nuisance in a foreign country, just as rabbits have been in Australia and English sparrows in this country, it is possible that some of these songsters may prove injurious to crops. The chances are, however, that they will do more to help the farmer by keeping insects in check than they will to injure him.—Detroit Free Press.

The Woman Lawyer.

"Women lawyers are a success in Chicago," said a member of the fraternity that lives on other people's quarrels, "and they are a success elsewhere. The reason is not far to seek. Women are capable of closer application than men. Such law as they know at all they know thoroughly. They are fluent. Who ever got the best of a woman in a discussion. They are quick to see a point and they are great on technicalities. It is impossible to pin one of them down to anything. The moment you think you have her she wriggles out. She is not proud in criminal practice, but she comes out strong on divorce cases and in suits where children are concerned. Furthermore, a woman can be depended upon to stay in her office. A possible client is certain to find her where she ought to be in business hours. She is not in the habit of stealing out for five minutes and take a drink and making it an hour and a half. Steadiness and persistence count in law as in everything else."—Chicago Chronicle.

Paralyzed by a Sheepskin.

The 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Reese of Watsburg, Ore., became partially paralyzed a few days ago, and upon making a careful examination it was found that a sheepskin had been causing the trouble. The tick had buried itself in the back of the child's neck and was hidden by the hair of the head. Since the tick has been removed the child has improved.

SILENT SUFFERERS.

Women do not Like to Tell a Doctor the Details of Their Private Ills.

The reason why so many women suffer in silence from the multiple disorders connected with their sexual system is that they cannot bear to broach the subject to a man, even if he is a physician. No one can blame a modest, sensitive woman for this reticence. It is unnecessary in these times, however, for a woman makes to all afflicted women a most generous offer. Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., bids every woman who suffers to write to her and confide every symptom that annoys her, and she will give her advice without charge, and that advice is based upon the greatest experience ever possessed by man or woman in this country, and extends over a period of twenty-three years, and thousands upon thousands of cases. Why suffer in silence any longer, my sister, when you can get help for the asking? Don't fear to tell her everything.

The case of Mrs. Colony, whose letter to Mrs. Pinkham we publish, is an illustration of the good to be received from Mrs. Pinkham's advice; here is a woman who was sick for years and could get no relief—at last in despair she wrote to Mrs. Pinkham—received in return a prompt, sympathetic and interested reply. Note the result and go and do likewise.

"I was troubled with such an aching in my back and hips, and I felt so tired all the time, and had for four years. For the last year it was all I could do to drag around. I would have such a ringing in my head by spells that it seemed as though I would grow crazy. I ached from my shoulders to my feet and was very nervous. I was also troubled with a white discharge. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., received a prompt reply and followed her advice, and now I have no backache and begin to feel as one ought; in fact, I never felt better in ten years than I do now. I thank God that I went doctoring with Mrs. Pinkham when I did, for if I had not known I would have been in my grave."

—Mrs. Nellie E. Colony, Rahma, Mich.

Fruit is considered by many authorities as one of the best aids to digestion. Therefore, they say it should be eaten freely. Its beneficial effect is due to the malic and other acids which are found in the cultivated fruits, such as pears, apples, grapes, etc.

There is a physician in Paris who declares that the milk diet usually ordered in fever cases is largely responsible for the falling out of the hair. He believes that a vegetable diet will cure baldness or at any rate ward it off and he points to the hairy Scot who lives on oat meal as a proof of his theory.

WASHING A FINE ART.
"Ever since spinning was a type of womanly industry from age to age, it has been expected that beautiful apparels of clothed women from the classic robes of ancient times to the dress of Elizabethan times to the wedding gown of Puritan Priscilla we see the attractiveness of dress. But at this time only has it become possible for all women to be becomingly attired at a small cost, the supply of beautiful inexpensive dresses now to be had, making it no easy matter. Yet there are women who insist that the expense of having summer gowns laundered is greater than the original cost, and that in the end light woollen, or summer silks are more economical. This is a mistaken idea, as a washing pretty belonging is a fine art, which is very easy to learn. A girl who mangles her delicate robes can wash her own summer gown. A bright day, plenty of water, and a little pure soap in the necessary order in the work. To do it all in two thirds full of warm water, dissolve a fourth of a cake of Ivory Soap, which will not fade the most delicate colors, add it to the water, wash the garments carefully through it twice first in clear water, then in blue water, wring out in this order, and on this line in the shade. You dry, sprinkle, and iron on wrang size.

Deal & Daniels of the Globe Furniture Co. report that their unfilled orders on hand are 35 per cent more than on July 1st and 43 per cent greater than on August 1st, 1896 and a little larger than at any time since 1893. This is indeed a bright outlook. We all know how things were in '93. During that year the factory was crowded with work to its utmost capacity and at some seasons there was necessity for running a part of the night.

In the case of Charles Tiffin charged with assault upon Jake Miller which came before Justice Webster yesterday the defendant was discharged. Mr. Tiffin claims that while he struck at Mr. Miller, Mr. Miller also struck at him but neither hit the other. Mr. Miller says he did not strike at all and that Mr. Tiffin did hit him as he could prove by a Green boy who was present. The fact is no one seemed to be quite sure who were our township officers, owing to the working of the act dividing the township. The matter of "who is who" was settled this morning however by an opinion in the Detroit papers from Prosecuting Attorney Frazer which shows the new act to be of no effect until next April and that Mr. Webster must vacate in favor of Mr. Lowden.

WERE RATTLED.

NORTHVILLE PEOPLE THOUGHT THERE WAS A FIRE

When the Globe Whistle Blew the Weather Signals Yesterday.

The first of the weather signals was blown from the Globe factory whistle at 11:30 yesterday and notwithstanding the frequent notices regarding it which had appeared in the Record for the past three weeks, the natives of the village were in one way or another quite badly rattled. A number of the employees at the factory thinking it was noon, dropped their aprons and prepared for home going. Up town, people thought there was a fire and were getting ready to pull the fire bell and run out the hose carts. Miss Beeve thought it was the dinner whistle and locked up her store and went home. Frank Moore was so badly rattled that he got out his bicycle and tried to set the cyclometer around to 12:00 o'clock and Clay Calkins tried the same act with the meat scales. Later on, it dawned upon the people what the new innovation meant and a reference was made to the signal cards.

In order to keep things in a more normal condition the signals will hereafter be blown an hour earlier—10:30.

MERE MENTION OF MICHIGAN MATTERS.

A Large Number of U. S. Homesteaders Rejoicing Over a U. S. Land Office Decision—Statistics Showing Extent of Coal Mining in Michigan.

Upper Peninsula Settlers Made Happy. The action of U. S. Land Commissioner Heymann in sending back to the Marquette land office the contest between the Michigan Land and Iron Co. and the settlers will cause an open court contest for 50,000 acres of land and may jeopardize the title to nearly 10 times that much.

The land claimed by the Michigan Land and Iron Co. is the old Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon railroad grant which was given to aid the construction of a line from Marquette to Ontonagon back in 1871. It consists of 450,000 acres. Since passage to the new corporation its title has been in dispute and settlers have squatted on 50,000 acres of the best homesteads. The company, tried to oust them through the land office at Marquette, but it was referred to Washington. Hoke Smith, secretary of the interior under Cleveland, decided against the settlers, but now the present administration returns the matter to the Marquette land office and requires all the settlers to be notified and the company will have to prove in court that it comes under the railroad grant. The company's act passed in 1887. The settlers claim it will be impossible for the company to do this and are already rejoicing to their victory.

Steamer Cambria Wrecked.

The steamer Cambria, of the Detroit, Windsor & Soo line, which left Detroit with 150 passengers for Georgian bay and Lake Huron, was wrecked in Lake Huron, about 10 miles north of Sarnia, Ont. A very heavy sea was rolling when the Cambria entered the lake about 10 a. m. and Capt. Hill decided to turn back to Sarnia. When within a few miles of that port the steamer ran upon a raft of logs which had broken loose from the tug Vigilant at the storm, and the result was that the Cambria's paddles were broken and the cylinder head blew out, forcing the boat in total darkness and at the mercy of the waves. She was driven upon the shore and at daylight the passengers were landed in boats and taken to Sarnia. During the night panic among the passengers was narrowly averted several times, but they were finally cooled down so that they dressed and got their baggage together.

The Cambria was badly stricken, but will not be a total loss. She was built at Point L'Esperance, Que., in 1877, was rebuilt in 1885 when she was lengthened 84 feet, and she was remodeled again in 1890. She was valued at $17,000 and insured for $12,000.

Michigan's Coal Output.

The U. S. Geological survey has completed its annual report upon the coal product of Michigan, which shows that the total production in 1896 was 92,884 short tons valued at $1,056,912, nearly 30,000 tons less than in 1895. The production by counties was as follows: Bay 7,430 tons; Eaton 3,500; Jackson 45,318; Saginaw 7,115; Houghton and Shiawassee 11,708. Total number of mines, 11; amount of coal loaded at mines for shipment, 83,650 tons; sold to local trade and used by employees, 6,547 tons; used at mines for steam and heat, 8,185 tons; at rare price per ton, $11.67; average number of days active work in mines, 157; total number of employees, 320.

Two Girls Drowned Near Grand Rapids.

Clara Hall, aged 19, and Ethel Herrick, aged 18, both of Grand Rapids, were drowned in Lake Michigan at Ottawa beach. They were bathing north of the pier and were on the spring board when Miss Hall was swept off by a wave and Miss Herrick dove in to save her. Both screamed frantically for help. A row boat quickly went to the rescue, but was too late, as the young ladies were caught by a wave and thrown into the undertow, which sucked them under and out of sight. The young ladies belonged to well-known families, their fathers being prominent business men.

Officers of the Law Confer.

The fourth annual convention of the Michigan association of sheriffs and chiefs of police was held at Port Huron. Many matters of interest were discussed and officers were elected: President, ex-Sheriff C. P. Collins, of Detroit; vice-president, Sheriff George L. Mallory, of Port Huron; secretary, treasurer, John P. Sandborn, of Lansing.

INTERESTING AND IMPORTANT NEWS MATTERS.

Striking Miners Lay Siege to Working Mines and Decrease Their Forces by Inducing Men to Come Out—A U. S. Protectorate for Hawaii.

Miners Strike News.

The officers of the striking coal miners are gathering their influence and efforts upon the men still working in the West Virginia fields and the mines of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Co., of which P. H. DeArmit is president in the Pittsburgh district. Strikers to the number of 6,000 to 8,000 assembled near the Turtle Creek and Plum Creek mines for this purpose of inducing the workers there to come out. DeArmit worked Sheriff Lowry of Allegheny county, to post notices demanding that the strikers disband and return to their homes under the threat of legal proceedings being taken against them. This only produced a more determined feeling among the strikers and the sheriff, fearing that a crisis was approaching, telegraphed Gov. Hastings news of the situation with a view of having him prepare for an emergency. The strikers continued to gather and held big mass meetings at McGee's school house and other points about the DeArmit mines, and they established camps at various places. The strikers are slowly winning points about the DeArmit mines. They have already practically closed the Sandy creek and Oak Hill mines, and the Plum creek mine is coming out in small bodies. The marchers claim they have succeeded in inducing those of the miners who live at Coalport, where the Plum creek mine is located, in joining the ranks. This reduces the number of men in the mine by 50. The success of the campers in bringing out the Coalport miners brightened the spirits of the men and made them more positive of victory.

The men were pleasantly surprised when a dozen women, with their children, walked into camp. They are the wives of miners and when they said they had come to stay as long as their husbands and "brothers were there, and would cook they were given three cheers.

Peace and order seem to be the watchword of the strikers. They realize that they have the sympathy of the public, and if they lose it their cause will get a black eye. At the headquarters of the miners' officials, in Pittsburgh there are daily many profers of aid, and the majority do not wish the public to know of their sympathy.

Fried Sam to Prevent a Coup by the Japs.

A Washington dispatch says: The navy department issued an order for the battleship Oregon, the fastest and most powerful in the navy, to proceed at once to Honolulu. The battleship, now at Mrs. Island near Vlad, will also be ordered to Hawaii as soon as she is out of dock, and orders were sent to rush work on her. These orders are taken here as an indication that the government is not entirely satisfied with the polite attitude of Japan and does not propose to be caught napping by any coup that may be mediated by the astute Japs.

While it has been the policy of the high officials of the administration to treat all talk of trouble with Japan with scorn, there is a strong feeling in the war and navy departments, and among the officers of both branches of the service that affairs are really growing serious.

Information has just been received from Honolulu by the steamer Belgic that upon the arrival of the steamship Mouna at Honolulu from San Francisco U. S. minister Sewell will carry out the instructions received in the last mail said to be to this effect: If the Mouna brings word that congress failed to pass the annexation treaty, Minister Sewell is to declare a protectorate and raise the American flag. In view of the attitude of Japan Secretary Sherman believed a protectorate of the United States is the only way to prevent possible hostility on the part of the Japanese while awaiting congressional action on the annexation treaty.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, the leading Democratic member of the Senate foreign relations committee, will leave Sept. 1 for Hawaii as a representative of the committee, to make a report on the condition of affairs on the island. He will return before the convening of congress in December. It is safe to say that Morgan's report will be a strong appeal for annexation. Senator Morgan's two daughters will accompany their father.

Senator M. S. Quay, of Pennsylvania, has announced his intentions of making an early trip to the Hawaiian islands to make a careful study of the country.

The secretary of war has appointed the special board provided for in the sundry civil appropriation bill to make a survey and examination (including estimates of cost) of deep waterways between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic tide water, as follows: Maj. Bluejackets from the U. S. ships Yorktown and Boston have been several times attacked by coolies in Kobe, Japan, even the policemen taking part against the Americans. James Mullen, a bluejacket from the Boston, was tied by the legs and dragged around the pier and was then arrested by Japanese policemen. On another occasion a party of American bluejackets was stoned.

A cyclone struck the farm of A. C. McDowell, near San Jose, Ill., and his house and barn were entirely destroyed. Seven people were killed and three severely injured.

UPRISING AGAINST BRITISH.

Serious Revolt in India With Considerable Success.

In consequence of the rapid spread of the revolt against British authority in India, from 12,000 to 15,000 natives now being under arms, the government has ordered the reserve brigade to assemble under the command of Col. Woodhouse. For Chakdara was attacked by the natives about 3 p. m. and continued until 1 o'clock the next day. The British lost five wounded. The natives' loss is not known, but it is believed to have been heavy. For Chakdara is strong enough to resist any attack and it has a good supply of ammunition. The only fear is that the garrison may become exhausted by constant fighting. The tribesmen are sending forth fresh relays continually. British reinforcements with abundant supplies of ammunition have arrived at Dirai. The march was forced and very rapid and 19 Sikhs died from sunstroke on the way.

Insurgents Attack Havana's Suburbs.

A Havana dispatch says: The story of an attack by insurgents on the suburbs of Havana is confirmed by Senor Calbajer, a wealthy Spaniard, who with his wife and daughter have fled from Havana. The attack was made on the village of Marianao about 10 miles west of Havana. Senor Calbajer was an eye witness of the raid. He says that the attack was led by insurgents under Baldomero Coasta, Juan Delgado and Hernandez. They were well armed with dynamite, rapid fire guns and met with slight resistance. The engagement was short and desperate, and 49 Spaniards were killed and 120 wounded; two Cubans were killed and 40 wounded. The inhabitants of the town fled for their lives, leaving the "insurgents" in complete possession. They sacked the place and plundered $40,000 in gold besides a large quantity of supplies. Senor Calbajer says that the wildest terror reigned in Havana and that the well-to-do inhabitants are leaving as fast as the local laws permit.

The Grecian Situation Again Alarming.

It is rumored that the possible abdication of the king of Greece has inspired the following dispatch from Athens: "It is stated on good authority that in the event of a proposal looking to the establishment of foreign control of Grecian finances being adopted by the powers the king will make a declaration of exceptional gravity. Russia and Germany having counseled Greece to submit to the conditions imposed by the powers, M. Ralli, the premier, replied that Greece would never accept the idea of financial control proposed, and that she would help her self."

The foreign admirals at the island of Crete held a conference and decided to oppose by force the landing of any additional Turkish troops. In reply to their notification to that effect, Ismail Bey said he could not accept such a decision. It is believed that fresh trouble is in the air.

Spain in War With U. S. to Save Gibraltar.

A Spanish diplomat who is in contact with Senor Canovas del Castillo, the Spanish premier, says that it is much more likely to attempt to seize the fact that the Spanish minister is in a very tight place and that in order to extricate himself from Cuba and at the same time save the monarchy Spain may have to go to war with the United States. He admits that Spain cannot raise money to carry on the war in Cuba much longer. The premier will not wait the moment the United States becomes imperative in its demands for the independence of Cuba. The wave of great emotion and patriotism, such as war would call out in Spain, would naturally sink all threatening domestic questions and disturbances, and save the present dynasty.

Fish Schedule of Tariff Bill Enrolled.

The treasury department has received a large number of inquiries from fishermen on the Great Lakes as to the proper interpretation of the new tariff law which is decidedly complicated in regards to fish. The customs division has finally decided that fresh water fish imported in bulk and not frozen or packed in ice caught in the Great Lakes by others than citizens of the United States, are dutiable at 1/2 of 1 cent per pound. If caught by American citizens they are free of duty. The department also holds that ice may be used upon fish in bulk without subjecting them to the duty of 1/2 of 1 cent per pound provided by paragraph 261 for fish frozen or packed in ice.

The Republics of Central America Unite.

A treaty has been completed and signed and goes into effect Sept. 15 for the formation of the Republics of Central America to be composed of the states or republics of Guatemala, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, and San Salvador. The government of the new republics is vested in a council of the chief of states who is elected from each of the states in the alphabetical order and shall hold office for one year and two representatives from each state. Alliances of defense and preservation for all the states are provided and the expenses of the government and of war are to be assessed by the council.

The Amoskeag-cotton Mills at Manchester, N. H., have closed down.

throwing 6,000 persons out of work. Overproduction. The Canadian government has decided to impose a royalty on all placer diggings in Canadian territory on the Yukon in addition to $15 registration fee and $150 annual assessment. The royalty will be 10 per cent each on claims with an output of $500 or less monthly, and 20 per cent on every claim yielding above that amount. Besides this every other claim is reserved to the government.

Greece Turkish Middle Again Barred by

When it looked as though the arrangements for peace between Turkey and Greece were all settled the sultan steps up with a new game to secure delay by requesting that several amendments be made to the proposed plan of settlement. The powers promptly instructed their ambassadors to maintain the plan as arranged; word for word, and intimated that another ultimatum would be sent to the sultan. According to a dispatch from Constantinople a division of the Turkish fleet has been ordered to sail for Greece, with a detachment of Turkish troops. This will surely cause fresh trouble in the settlement of the Greece-Turkish peace preliminaries. It has been reported for some time that the Turkish government was contemplating landing additional troops in Crete and the admirals in command of the foreign fleets in Cretan waters held a conference and decided to oppose such a move by force. Thus a collision cannot well be avoided.

More British Land Grabbing.

The steamer Mifwera, from Sydney, Australia, brings details of the recent annexation of the Solomon islands by her majesty's ship Wallaroo. The first island, made a colony was Bellona, where the union jack was hoisted with the usual ceremonies. The natives were shy at first and much frightened by the salute, but they became reassured. Russell island was placed under British protection the same day. The Wallaroo called at Maro sound and proceeded to the Stewart islands, annexing them. The natives are of a high type and very friendly.

makes the young feel old, and the old feel that life is not worth the living. It's a danger signal of Kidney Disease—the warning evidence of weak, inactive and sore kidneys. Any person cured of Kidney weakness will tell you that when the back ceased to ache, all troubles ended. Neither liniments, nor plasters, nor electricity can cure it. The seat of the trouble is not in the skin, flesh or muscles. It's in the kidneys.
