TWO ARE DEAD.

The Waack Family in Clarenceville Were Poisoned.

THE ELDEST DAUGHTER DIED LAST WEEK SATURDAY.

The Probable Result of Eating Uncooked Sausage.

Chas. Ziegler, the Son-in-law, Died Last Night.

As a result of eating uncooked sausage that was made from pork that has since proved to have been diseased, Etta, the 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Waack of Clarenceville died Saturday and Mr. Waack, three of his boys are still very ill. Mr. Ziegler, the Clarenceville storekeeper, died last night. The cause of the youngest boy is still thought to be serious and he may yet die. Mr.

MISS ETTA WAACK OF CLARENCEVILLE WHO DIED SATURDAY.

Waack, though at times hardly able to stand, kept on the go night and day for a week fearing if he went to sleep for even an hour he would never waken. Today he is reported to be on the gain.

Mr. Waack bought the hog in question of a neighbor, George Eisenhauer, for a little over a year ago and Elsten, neighbor, bought it at one of the Detroit stock yards some four years formerly. The only thing particularly noticeable about the hog was that no amount of feed had any fattening effect on it, and Waack finally killed it. When dressed, the meat had a yellow appearance. The Waack family have an appetite for raw sausage, and the portion of the hog thus ground up and eaten raw was what caused the illness of the family and thus far one death. Waack says he had no idea the hog was diseased, but the neighbors seem to have been aware for some time that something was wrong.

Eisenhauer says the hog appeared alright when he had it, except that after one of his boys fed it a bushel of corn at one meal it didn't seem to fatten up as well as others of his herd. While he owned it, it raised a litter of pigs and Mr. Waack drove by one day and wanted to buy the animal and so he sold it. After Waack got it he had even worse luck in the fattening line and he butchered it about Christmas time.

Dr. Turner of Farmington has been attending the Waack family and Dr. Houghton has been assisting after Mr. Ziegler. They and their consulting assistants pronounced it cases of trichinosis. A piece of the meat sent to Detroit for analysis was reported to contain evidence of trichinosis, a deadly poison. A second piece which has been analyzed by the local physicians affords the opinion of the local physicians.

The funeral of the eldest daughter, was held at 10 o'clock and was held at Clarenceville Tuesday afternoon. She was a bright young girl and well thought of in the community.

The Eldest Daughter will have their annual picnic, with a pleasure sale addition, on the afternoon and evening of February 4 in Clarenceville.

Auction Sale.
On account of continued ill health, Isaac Sluigt will sell at public auction on his premises adjacent to the U. S. Fish Station, Saturday, Jan. 23, at 1:00 o'clock, one horse, huggies, wagons, cultivators and other articles.

LIKE A RABBIT

FRED SIEBERI WAS TRACKED FROM FARMINGTON MONDAY.

He "Borrowed" Marl Hellicker's Best Suit of Clothes.

FARMINGTON, Mich., Jan. 19, 1898.—Special.—Marl Hellicker's hired man, Fred Sieber, admitted and wanted his (Marl's) best suit of clothes. It was a nice suit and just about Sieber's size. Without the proper amount of coin at his command Fred allowed the only way to get the suit was to borrow it when Marl was not about. This he did early Monday morning and when Hellicker awoke both the suit and his hired man were missing. Sunday's snow was still on the ground and in true rabbit hunting style, Hellicker commented to gather in Sieber's foot prints. Across the border of Oakland into Wayne county he pursued him until a party of rabbit hunters were overtaken. Marl presented his case to them and dropping their rabbits they all started in quest of the target but less fatted game. The chase led across fields, over fences down to Saco Bill and thence to Beddow where Sieber was corralled and a sheriff sent for. Hellicker, who in the meantime had returned home, telephoned to the sheriff to get the clothes and let him go as he would not prosecute. Sieber gave up the suit saying he "had just borrowed it, was all" and then quietly absented himself again.

Wm. JOHNSON DEAD.

HE WAS A VETERAN OF THE WAR OF THE REBELLION.

Died at the Home of His Daughter Monday night.

William Johnson, a well known resident of Livonia township died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Pitt Everett just east of the village on Monday night. His illness had been a very brief one; he being confined to his bed not much more than one week.

Mr. Johnson was born in Lancaster county, Penn., July 3, 1822. He came to Michigan more than fifty years ago and since the death of his second wife in 1890 he has resided with his daughter, Mrs. Everett, where he died.

His first wife was Anna Hoar who died about 45 years ago, leaving four children, three of whom are still living: Mrs. Pitt Everett, Mrs. A. Squires and Henry Johnson, all of Livonia. His second wife, Ann Bailly, died in 1890, leaving no children.

Mr. Johnson served in the late war of 1861-5 as a messmate of the late Augustus Pomeroy. He was in some of the hottest battles and was several times wounded. At the battle of Gettysburg he narrowly escaped death in a most singular manner. A rebel bullet pierced his knapsack and striking a pocket bible which he always carried, glanced off and lodged in his hip. The bible has been carefully preserved all these years and with the bullet hole through the leaves is still in Mrs. Everett's possession. Henry, the only son, has in his possession one of his father's coats which he carried at times folded in the knapsack and this contains no less than sixteen bullet holes, showing a number of more narrow escapes.

Mr. Johnson was as well known in Northville and adjoining towns as in Livonia. He was one of those real good, jolly old men with whom it did younger people good to come in contact. He was a frequent caller at the Record office and his visits was more warmly welcome.

One funeral service occurred from the home of his daughter yesterday a. m. and another in the afternoon at Livonia Center where the burial took place. Rev. Mr. Morgan officiated.

WAS RELEASED.

Howard Stockwell of Salem Not Held for Trial.

WAS CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTING TO ASSAULT MRS. DOANE.

Has Many Friends Who Speak Loud in His Praise.

Howard Stockwell of Salem who was arrested on charge of attempting to assault Mrs. Jonas Doane was noted last week has been released, without even a hearing so we are informed, and the case dropped. Henry M. White of near this place for whom Stockwell worked one season, as well as Mrs. White and her daughter speak in the highest terms of Stockwell's character and manners while with them. Mr. Stanbro, D. Welle Smith, Messrs. Packard, Gordon, Kellogg, and other well known Salem people have nothing but the sincerest praise to give him and say the sentiment seems to be that the young man's statement is correct and that he is innocent of even any intent at wrong doing. He stated to Mr. White and Mr. Webber who were at the Ann Arbor jail to see him this week, that Mr. Mosher, a relative of the Doane's, had been up to see him and said he thought he gave him $50 and gave up the $300 notes, which he held against the Doane's, he could get the case dropped. Mr. White says the boy was badly scared and he finally agreed to do that. Stockwell says Mrs. Doane in feeling threw some food on him and he in turn tripped her up and leaving her sitting on the ground went on about his work. Stockwell's friends say if the offense was so flagrant as to warrant his arrest and confinement in jail for a week, it is very strange that it should be dropped for a any consideration.

INSTALLED OFFICERS.

THE MACCABEES DID THAT PUBLICLY FRIDAY NIGHT.

A Banquet to the Knights of the Lady Bees.

For a down-right good time give us another installation and banquet by the Lady Maccabees. The one of Friday night of last week was the jolliest affair of the kind given during the year. In the early part of the evening the lady bees publicly installed their new officers, the Grand Deputy Mrs. Hiltchcock, of Milan presiding. Following the ceremony the hive team gave the Bee drill in a very exemplary manner, forming the pretty, and some very different, evolutions in a manner that won round after round of applause. Then the Knights publicly installed their new officers, finishing just in time to get out of the way of the grand rush for the banquet hall where the ladies served a delightful supper. Returning to the lodge room an hour later the floor was cleared and dancing was indulged in until 2:00 o'clock, the Oera House orchestra furnishing the fine music.

The deathblow each week in the Times would indicate Milford as a very unhealthy town.—Record.

It is presumed that the Record intended to say "unhealthy." However, no matter which word is used, we must decline to agree with the statement.—Times. And we decline to agree with the Times that "unhealthy" is grammatically incorrect.

Fishies and fads change with the times and the people. One change is noted with pleasure. White rice leaves now form a picturesque and appropriate substitute for rice in the time honored functions which attend the departure of the newly wedded couple. It seems as though it would be a great deal more practical as well as comfortable to be bestowed with rice leaves than it is to be pelted with rice.—Ann Arbor Courier.

C. S. Skinner and Milton Tuck had a little mix up in the runaway line about noon on Monday. The former was driving southeast in his carriage on the street past the cemetery and the latter was following with a colt which he was driving to a cart. The colt became unmanageable and ran the cart into the rear of the carriage, overturning both vehicles and throwing out the occupants. Mr. Skinner held to his reins and after being dragged some distance stopped his horse before very serious damage was done. Mr. Tuck's animal got away and demolished the cart completely. Neither gentlemen were much hurt.—Milford Times.

Mr. Skinner was formerly a resident of Wixom.

Garadous Webster, who died at Farmington last week at the age of 85, was buried in a pine coffin, which he had constructed at a cost of 35 some years ago. The coffin was lined with sawdust and the handles and hinges of the lid were of leather. Just before his death the old man consented to modify his primitive idea as to the coffin, although he never changed his opinion that funerals should be unostentatious. The coffin was brought out and the handles of leather were exchanged for some metal and the sawdust lining was replaced with a more comfortable one of modern upholstery goods, while the box itself was covered with rich velvet. In this coffin the body of Garadous Webster was laid to rest at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

DESERTED HER.

Clarenceville Girl's Lover Arrested for Trying It.

Charley Slinker, head Sawyer in Jann Meyers mill at Livonia is awaiting trial on the charge of deserting his 18 year old sweetheart, Mattie Johnson. She is pretty but determined. Slinker it is alleged, left for Detroit ostensibly to obtain a marriage license, but did not return. She followed and he was arrested on his way home from Canada. The girl lives a mile south of Clarenceville. She speaks three languages and when Slinker tried the desertion act she used still a fourth.

The clergyman who, a few Sundays ago, whipped out a pocket-knife from behind his pulpit and brandished it before his flock, and another who during his sermon weighed a balloon with a whisky bottle, may have convinced their congregation that drink is both suicidal and debasing, but they seem to have forgotten the rule of rhetoric that such similes bespeak both the subject and object. Eccentric and "yellow" methuins, whether in speech, or journalism or social life, may enforce attention and excite comment, but are ineffectual in character and of doubtful utility.

The modern moralists who think of "business" as an unscrupulous scramble for wealth may profitably consider two events that recently occurred in New York within a single week. In one case a gentleman who of late years has prospered, paid his share—many thousands of dollars—of the debts of a firm that failed in 1891. In the other a father volunteered to pay his bankrupt son's proportion of the very large liabilities of an insolvent partnership. These debts had already been regularly "discharged" by process of law. No man-made obligation rested on the gentlemen who paid them. But the sense of honor is higher and a finer thing than insolvency statutes, and it is well to be reminded that the fierce pressure of commercial competition does not necessarily crush it out.

There are four different grounds on which European nations base their claims to territory in Africa. One is actual occupation; another is a treaty with a native chief, conceding territory; a third is the claim that the occupation of the mouth of a river gives a right to the country which it waters; a fourth is the "hinterland" theory, which is meant that a nation which occupies a strip of territory on the coast has a right to the country lying behind it. Of these grounds of claim, the first is least likely to be contested; but as for the others, the same chief may give concessions to two or three rival nations; or the territory which is claimed by one because it is watered by a river the mouth of which it controls may be claimed by another because it is in the "hinterland" or territory which it possesses on the coast.

Economy! In these days when business men feel the need for Economy in all their undertakings to bring a Close Line between the Expenditure and the Necessities, Good Printing in their such as Letter Heads, Envelopes, Statements, Bill Heads and Judicious Advertising are Absolute Necessities. In one case a gentleman who of late years has prospered, paid his share—many thousands of dollars—of the debts of a firm that failed in 1891. In the other a father volunteered to pay his bankrupt son's proportion of the very large liabilities of an insolvent partnership. These debts had already been regularly "discharged" by process of law. No man-made obligation rested on the gentlemen who paid them. But the sense of honor is higher and a finer thing than insolvency statutes, and it is well to be reminded that the fierce pressure of commercial competition does not necessarily crush it out.

This week Charles Sessions purchased the Pat Harrington place on High street.

Special communication of Northville lodge 186 F & A. M., Monday evening Jan 24. Work in F. C. degree.

The Northville Condensing Co. is building an addition to their plant in the shape of a commodious ice-house.

We don't know whether anyone cares to know it or not, but if they do, the Michigan Jersey cattle club meets at Ypsilanti Feb. 1-3.

About the first of March C. A. Dowler and Richard Benton of this place and Norm Abbey and Chas. Biery of Novi, expect to start for Klondike.

At the Wayne poultry show last week A. E. Fuller of this place came in for a nice lot of prizes. He captured first on breeding pens, scoring over 150 first on W. P. Rocks trio, first on cock (921), first on pullet (941), second on pullet (937), third on pullet (937).

A. W. Ely has accepted the agency for the Ann Arbor Organ Co. to sell their organs and pianos in this town and vicinity; also the Henderson piano which is made under the special direction of their general manager, Mr. Henderson, from whom the piano derives its name.

The Northville Condensing company shipped a carload of their new process milk to Philadelphia last week. The demand for this brand of condensed milk is growing fast beyond the company's expectations. The capacity of the plant is gradually being increased to meet the demands as fast as possible.

Heretofore, the advent of a new lady employe in the Record Printery and the distant smell of orange blossoms have been almost simultaneous. The exception to the rule (this is the editor's opinion only) occurs this week when Miss Ella Clark (and by the way, this is Clark No. 3 now in this Printery) took a "sit" at the case.

Mrs. John K. Stark—who lives five miles west on the base-line died Wednesday night, aged 83 years. Mrs. Stark was the mother of Charles, who lives at home, Daniel of Green Oak; James of Hamburg; Judson of South Lyon; John of Highland. Funeral Saturday at 10:00 o'clock in the Salem Congregational church.

Wm. Nevison won his share of premiums at the Wayne poultry show last week, on Buff P. Rocks 1st prize on cock score 91; 2nd on pullet 921; 3d pullet 92; White P. Rocks 2nd on cock 921; 3d on cock 911; James Tarcker of Concord, Mich., the judge, complimented him very highly on the pure white color of his White Plymouth Rocks.

The men gave close attention to the address given by Miss Jennie Dean at the YMCA meeting Sunday. She presented the Armenian question as it had come under her personal observation. Miss Clarkson gave a violin solo in her usual pleasing manner. The whole service was of more than ordinary merit.

A little telephone war is promised for Northville in the near future. The New State people made a rate of $15.00 per year, where two phones were used on one line, for business places and $12 per year for residences, and now the Bell company announces a straight rate of $12 per year. The Bell people have 9 phones in here, the New State 10, while the Northville company has about 40. The Northville company makes a residence rate of 50c and 75c per month and a business rate of 75c and $1.00 per month with an additional amount to subscribers of free service to Novi, Farmington, Clarenceville and Sand Hill.

J. A. Perkins, of Antiquity, O., was for thirty years needlessly tortured by physicians for the cure of eczema. He was quickly cured by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve the famous healing salve for piles and skin diseases. Murdock Bros.

Milan Cowell caught his hand in a cog wheel in the Ely factory Wednesday, cutting off the end of one finger on his right hand.

The main shafting in the Globe factory broke in two at the main pulley yesterday morning, necessitating the shutting down of the machinery until tomorrow or Monday.

Frank Perrin slipped on the ice in front of his livery stable yesterday morning and fractured his collar bone. With the aid of bandages and slings he is still able to be about.

The F. & P. M. R. R. is doing an immense freight business. Every available engine on the road is in use and many are working over time. The company is just now doing a large business in hauling coal for other roads. This week it is in partnership with several other railroads, formed the new North Shore freight line, which will give it much more business.

At the meeting of the grand chapter, P. A. M. held Grand Rapids, Chas. Booth and W. T. Gurr represented the Northville chapter. Frank N. Clark was elected Deputy Grand High Priest, the next highest office in the state and Chas. Booth was honored with the chairmanship of the obituary committee. This is an important committee and has previously been held by "Elder" Blades of Detroit.

A special debating number of the High School Oracle will be issued tomorrow morning, containing a full account of the debate and program at Plymouth this evening. Besides the account of the debate, there will be several short articles on different subjects, a news column and some of the latest bits of humor. The paper can be obtained from a number of carrier boys at 2c per copy. V. McNitt is the managing editor as well as the promulgator of the bit of enterprise.

The social given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. School on Friday last was a great success, both from a social and financial standpoint. There was hardly standing room in the large and spacious home. The music and singing, furnished by the Northville quartet and Whipple Bros. was well received and highly appreciated, as was also the recitation by Virgil McNitt of Northville and others. An excellent supper was served for about 475 people and a snug little sum realized for the encyclopaedia fund.

The expression of satisfaction from those who heard the lecture "500 miles on horse back through the Holy Land" by Dr. H. J. Becker in the Baptist church Tuesday evening, show how well he was received. Dr. Becker is a natural and attractive orator and in recitation is a born master of elocution. His lecture was full of information, wit and humor, with his laughable and pathetic stories. With his perfect impersonations he held his audience nearly two hours. The Ladies are to be congratulated on securing so able a speaker, and that he will again soon be called to Northville for another lecture is a foregone conclusion.

Mrs. M. B. Ford, Raddell's, Ill., suffered for eight years from dyspepsia and chronic constipation and was finally cured by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for all stomach and liver troubles. Murdock Bros.

TWEEN THE LAKES.

MICHIGAN NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD FOR MICHIGANDERS.

Republican Editors of Michigan Meet at Lansing and Host Gov. Engree. Other Happenings in the State Related in Brief Items.

G. O. P. Editors Roast the Governor.

The Michigan Republican Editors, association met in the state capitol at Lansing to discuss matters of interest to themselves and their party. There was a decided tendency to roast Gov. Engree for his attacks upon some of the prominent leaders of the G. O. P. in Michigan. E. J. March, of the Hillsdale Leader, opened the batteries of editorial wrath in a paper on "Party Fealty: How Far it Shall Control Individual Conscience," in which he urged that honest, genuine Republicans be nominated for office and that they should stand squarely upon the Republican platform. The paper was warmly applauded and while there was no open mention of Gov. Engree there was no doubt that every one present knew that he was the target at which the thrusts were aimed. Representative Bemis of Carson City, was scarcely less emphatic in his denunciation of a high state official who had declared that he did not give a damn what the press said about him. Gov. Engree might not be entitled to a nomination if he did not stop attacking Senator Burrows and other party leaders.

Several important resolutions were adopted, of substance as follows: That a representative of the association be sent to Mexico to investigate the operations of the 16 to 1 coffee ratio; that the Dingley tariff law meets the hearty approval of the association as a wise and timely settlement of the tariff question which should now be eliminated from national politics; declaring unalterable opposition to the evident purpose of the Democratic platform to foist silver monometallism upon the nation; that it is the hope of the association that the tariff revision laws should be so amended as to permit the tariff-making officials to participate in the selection of subordinates for whose acts they are responsible.

The following resolution was introduced but was withdrawn after an attempt to discuss it in secret session had been defeated. Resolved, That we believe as a first requirement of all nominees of our party they should be true Republicans at all times faithful to the party principles and tolerant of its acknowledged leaders and proud members.

BRIEF MENTION OF EVENTS OF INTEREST.

Mark Hanna Elected Senator from Ohio to Finish Mr. Sherman's Term. Patent Commissioner Butterworth Dies in Georgia.

Mark Hanna Elected U. S. Senator. The Ohio state legislature has finished a battle which attracted the attention of the whole nation, the election of Hon. Marcus A. Hanna as United States senator for both the short and long terms. There was much uncertainty as to the outcome of the contest down to the moment of taking the votes in the senate and house and in the joint session. The two weeks preceding had been a season of hard work for Hanna's friends and for his enemies, and each day brought forth its sensations, with charges and countercharges, and the result was an exceedingly close vote. When the vote was taken in the senate and house separately Mr. Hanna had 19 votes in senate against 17 for Mayor McKisson, of Cleveland, upon whom the Anti-Hannaites united, while in the house the vote stood Hanna 56, McKisson 49. Wiley J. Warner, J. Leuz 1, and one absent. This gave Hanna 75, a majority of one over all in a total membership of 103. In the joint session Hanna received the same vote, 73, McKisson 70, Leuz 1, absent one. The ballot stood the same for both the short and long terms.

The most sensational event of the two days' session on which the balloting occurred was an attempt of the anti-Hannaites to force an investigation of the charges of bribery made against the Hanna workers, but it was voted down.

U. S. Warships to Sail for Cuba. There has been severe rioting in Havana directed principally against the newspapers, and the officials who opposed Gen. Weyler's methods. The newspaper offices were attacked and badly wrecked, and several persons connected with them severely injured. It is said that a number of army officers and soldiers participated in the riots, which were quelled with difficulty. It is generally feared that the rioters may turn their vengeance upon the object of Spanish hatred, the Americans, and for this reason it is surmised that the noticeable activity in the navy department at Washington means that more U. S. warships are to be sent to Cuba. In fact it is known that the Montgomery has sailed from Tampa, Fla., under sealed orders. The naval officers refuse to state whether Consul-General Lee has asked that a warship be sent to Havana, but there is a rumor from Havana that he made such a request. The present naval force in southern waters is of the lightly armed character, but is so powerfully reinforced, however, in a few days by the North Atlantic squadron, under Admiral Sigsbee, composed of heavily armed vessels, the most powerful fleet that the United States has had together in many years.

German-Chinese Difficulty Settled. An official Chinese dispatch says: A settlement of the difficulty, which Germany has been effected. Kiao-Chiao bay is to be leased, a belt surrounding the bay extending about 20 miles to the boundary. All the German troops outside the prescribed limits are to be withdrawn. Two of the culprits charged with the murder of the missionaries are to be put to death and the others imprisoned. The seven churches destroyed are to be rebuilt at the expense of the Chinese government, and the sum of 2,250,000 taels is also to be paid as a compensation for the killing of the missionaries.

The Shanghai correspondent of the London Daily Mail claims to have eminent authority for the statement that Russia has informed the Tsung Li Yamen that when the German trouble is settled Russia will restore Port Arthur to China and withdraw her troops. In return, however, the correspondent says, China must employ Russians exclusively to drill her troops and to control her customs and railways.

Patent Commissioner Butterworth Dead. Hon. Benjamin Butterworth, U. S. commissioner of patents, who has been ill at the Piney Woods hotel at Thomasville, Ga., for several weeks, died, with his wife and children at his bedside. He went to Georgia to recuperate from an attack of pneumonia and recovered rapidly till two weeks ago.

Major Butterworth was born in Warren county, Ohio, Oct. 22, 1837. He early took up the study of law, was a member of the state senate of Ohio from 1873-4; was elected from the First Ohio district to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-ninth and Fiftieth congresses, and was re-elected to the Fifty-first as a Republican. During the war he attained the rank of major in an Ohio regiment. He was commissioner of patents, first during the administration of Garfield and Arthur, and his record had great weight with President McKinley in selecting him for that position. He was secretary of the World's Fair project from its beginning until its close. A widow and four children survive him.

The anti-Hannaites in the Ohio legislature do not consider themselves defeated, although Mr. Hanna has been declared elected U. S. senator. They propose to try to knock him out of the long term by pressing the bribery charges against him.

The directors of the new railroad, the Toledo & Northwestern, have let the contract for the completion of the road as soon as right of way into Charlotte is secured. It is said the employees will, within a week, receive the wages which have been due since last November.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

A Paragraphic Chronicle of the Acts of the Nation's Lawmaker.

The army appropriation bill occasioned considerable debate in the House. Rep. McClellan, of New York, a son of Gen. Geo. M. McClellan, attacked the present army organization as obsolete and inefficient, too heavy with the gold lace of staff officers, many of whom had not seen more active service than the average policeman. He advocated a thorough reorganization, not in a spirit of jingoism, but to call attention to the fact that we are paying a very large price for an inefficient army, utterly unprepared for war, while a very small additional expenditure with proper reorganization would work wonders. Mr. Lewis of Washington protested against an enlargement of the army as it would but strengthen the trusts and monopolies in securing a firmer grasp upon the liberties of the people and the government.

Senator Wolcott, chairman of the international bimetallic commission, delivered an address in the Senate in which he spoke of the status of the negotiations with the foreign governments by the commissioner last year in the interests of international bimetallic. He said that it is apparent that for the time being it is hopeless to count on any cooperation from Great Britain towards a bimetallic agreement, and that while France actively desires to see silver restored to its old position as a standard of value equal with gold, she insists that the problem is one which demands international action and the cooperation to some adequate extent of other leading commercial nations of the world. He thought it might be necessary to change the ratio to something like 20 to 1. He referred to the attitude of Secretary Gage on the financial question, contrasting it with the President's position, and said Secretary Gage's bill will reach the Senate before it reaches the House. In conclusion Mr. Wolcott said it would be cowardly to abandon hope and add: "International bimetallic is to be gold monometallists a stumbling block, and to the silver monometallists foolishness, but it is nevertheless a splendid possibility; its accomplishment would be the greatest blessing that could befall our people, and to achieve it we might well afford to wait for the time the hostilities and bickerings of factions. At the conclusion of the speech Mr. Wolcott was instantly surrounded by his Republican colleagues, desirous of tendering him congratulations.

The immigration bill passed the Senate by a vote of 15 to 28 after the following amendments by Mr. Spooner of Wisconsin had been adopted: Providing that the ability to read or to write should be accepted as sufficient test of the literacy; providing that the members of the family accompanying an immigrant accepted under the conditions of the bill should be returned to the country whence they came by the steamship companies. The bill, as passed, provides that all immigrants physically capable and over 16 years of age should be able to read or write the English language or some other language had a person not able to read or write, who is over 20 years of age and is the parent or grandparent of a qualified immigrant over 21 years of age and capable of supporting such a parent or grandparent, may accompany the immigrant, or the parent or grandparent may be sent for and come to join the family of the child or grandchild over 21 years of age qualified under the law; and wife or minor children not able to read or write may come to join the husband or parent who is qualified. The act does not apply to persons coming to the United States from the island of Cuba during the continuance of present disorders there, who have heretofore been inhabitants of that island.

Cuba heard a hearing in the House, and for a time looked as if parliamentary precedents would be set aside and the Senate resolution recognizing the insurgents as belligerents would be attached as a rider to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. Mr. DeArmond, a Missouri Democrat, precipitated the issue by offering the resolution as an amendment, but a point of order against it was sustained. Mr. DeArmond appealed. He urged the Republicans who had professed friendship for the struggling Cubans to override the decision of the chair as the only chance of securing action on the proposition. Mr. Bailey, the leader of the minority, and other Democrats, joined in the appeal. The excitement became intense, but the appeals of Mr. Dingley, floor leader of the majority, and other Republican leaders to their associates not to join in the programme, succeeded. Mr. Colson, a Kentucky Republican, warned his side that unless he was soon given an opportunity to vote his sentiments on the Cuban question he would cooperate in any revolutionary methods to secure action. The Republican tactics kept to the front the point that the minority were seeking to override the rules of the House and they got every Republican vote, sustaining the chair by a vote of 152 to 114.

The House passed an urgent deficiency bill carrying $1,741,543.

The monetary commission was given a hearing by the House committee on banking and currency on the commission's bill proposing a comprehensive revision of the currency.

Congressman Corliss has completed the report upon his joint resolution providing for an amendment of the constitution to authorize the election of senators by the people.

The President has sent to the Senate the nominations of Edwin H. Cooper of Iowa, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the U. S. to China; Charles Page Bryan of Illinois, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Brazil.
