NARROW ESCAPE.

Louie Waack and Three Sons of Clarenceville

TAKEN THIS MORNING—LITTLE HOPE OF RECOVERY.

Case of Little Five Year Old Otto Hopeless.

CLARENCEVILLE, Jan. 28, 1893—Special—Louie Waack and his three sons

JERRY LAPHAM HAD ONE LAST SATURDAY

While Skating on the Ambler Mill Pond.

While skating on the Ambler pond last week Saturday, Jerry Lapham, the 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lapham, had a narrow escape from drowning. He got too near the channel on the thin ice and went through. Chunks of ice and his thick clothing served to buoy him up until Ed. Wood, Mr. Kidney and Mr. Conroy who were near by, getting out ice came to his rescue. The two former got hold of him with their ice-poles and Mr. Conroy, laying flat attempted to reach the lad but the ice gave way and into the chilly streams he also went. He finally got hold of Jerry with one hand and then Wood and Kidney with the aid of their poles hauled them both out in safety, with a result of nothing more serious than a chilly bath each.

In thanking the men for their successful effort in rescuing his son, Mr. Lapham left in their hands something more substantial than mere words.

LITTLE COLLISION.

HAN F. & P. H. COOPER AND CO.—
FRIDAY NIGHT.

Caboose and One Freight Car Were Demolished.

A violent collision occurred at 8 P. M. yesterday at 10:00 o'clock. It did not make the gas tank for a few moments. One car rebounded off the train standing in the depot when a second came in front of it on the track, driving down hard at a good rate of speed. A vigorous effort to stop was made, but not until the standing train was dashed into it was accomplished. The auxiliary smoke and broken pilot, a locomotive caboose and one freight car, the latter being filled with eggs and dressed poultry which were not much injured. Train was derailed about five hours. No person was injured.

The engine of the first train was doing some switching in the yards and had left its train standing on the main track and the following train supposed to be freight had left the Northville station or Elvencoura. The engine and engine of the colliding train both struck to their engine until after the crash.

Suburban News.

And now Springwells has the incorporation fever.

A. M. Porter, Plymouth's new deputy assessor, is about to move to Utah.

George Stark weather of Plymouth has 15,000 young cabbage plants up and growing.

Plymouth's Beau Brunnel's are giving weekly "smokers." They all go in costume and have deal loads of fun.

Over half a mile of concrete walk was laid in Holly in 1897. The city pays one-third the expense and considers it a paying investment.

Lawyer George Coomer of Wyandotte has commenced a libel suit against Lawyer Al Woodruff of the same place. "When rogues fall out," etc.

At farmers' institutes and farmers' clubs, Oakland county is falling a tick. There are more than thirty clubs, and meetings are held every week.

The Mail notes that there'll be a hot time at the coming village election. It will be an iceburg in comparison to the town election a month later.

Mr. Knott of Portage, bought a load of hogs. The seller weighed on the scales, and there was a difference of 15 pounds, or 60 cents. Did Knott pay? He did not. Did he want the light weight? He did. Knott did the else, weight the light weight. He did not. So Knott went to the council to get the knot untied, and a committee will investigate this cent difficulty, and see which set of scales is defective. For 15 pounds of pork two men would get into a law suit. It's no good wrench—Adrian Press.

A Fenton is to have a new brass band, and a majority of the people are preparing to move over to Holy

They won't use Lynch law out in Michigan, but if John Jones don't like Dan Smith he sticks a pitchfork into him. Delray Times.

Dan Smith, a hotel restauranteur at Plymouth, is out to increase the capacity of his business by a little remodeling and then add a stock of groceries.

The Oakland county agricultural society had a meeting for officers last week and elected new officers. All they lack over there now is a fair ground and race course.

Governor Prueger is still after the moneyed people. Not satisfied with kidnapping the millionaires right and left he has now commenced jumping on the county editors.

A letter is advertised in the Northville postoffice for Mr. Hummer. That evidently is intended for Prueger, and should be forwarded to Detroit. He's a "hummer," Adrian Press.

During last year Jolliffe Bros. of Plymouth took in 2,270,333 lbs. of milk and made 180,012 lbs. of cheese for which they received $20,000. The average price paid for milk was 72 per 100 lbs.

It is said the Union Northern train was from Detroit to Toledo with men on the double-decked platform cars and gave hourly service. The coaches, coal, and baggage car will all stop at the Michigan Central station.

The Northville Local is a somewhat apathetic paper, though perhaps it is busy, but the talk of the office is the fact that it is to be sold.

No wonder we see it still says Adrian Press.

Be notified of your severance.

A Garfield school teacher attempted to explain the use of the adverb "again" in reading across the room. When she read a single boy so far away, another, she was surprised to hear him say "How big."

The supervisor of one went early to a hotel at Delray. It was late but after being informed that the place ought to be closed at 10 o'clock, he longed for an independent meal department—one that will go to town for oranges and apples.

No such a thing as a general one, the general manager being the day before, except the petition of citizens who didn't care asking for a lamp in their part of town. The lamp was ordered—Wayne County.

In other words this was a business matter to mention at all.

Ivan W. Wallace of Elkhorn, made a New Year's resolution to quit his. Consequently he has sold his law business, quit practice and gone to Grand Rapids, where he works for a partnership house. They are so truthful there that they won't let a cat out of the house—Adrian Press.

In order to get him into the habit of working, a fond Holly father recently gave his son $1 to fill the wood shed. The young man took the job, and by hitting three small boys to do the work at five cents per hour each, succeeded in clearing about $2.75 without touching a stick.

Four jolly Plymouth girls took a delightful ride to Northville Monday afternoon behind a favorite white horse. Not knowing how to tie a horse and seeing them in their difficulty, a kind gentleman offered his services, tying the strap in such a knot that it took the girls three-quarters of an hour hard clawing to unloose him. Coming back the old horse wanted a drink and the girls didn't want him to have one but the horse got ahead of them by stopping dead still and absolutely refusing to move so the girls had to drive around the town and come back to give him a drink. Armit, a Waterford horse, never goes amiss at being in such a Lage off and ocean to tie, at least at the dashboard. This is the case, however, they did not move. Observing at the side, I am sure, that the way he got tied, the girls had to tie him to the rock, but luckily the rock jumped, causing the strap to break, their attempt to who could not first. A brave man would tie the carriage and have come home without in the adventure—Mail.

As often as the wind will blow, the most trying is the 4th of July. As many as 1000 people are gathered at the beach, especially at the beach, and have come home without in the adventure—Mail.

A daughter of Sorosis advises as a relief from mental strain the reading of Mr. Howells, while another daughter suggests football. Still another daughter strives "Seek equilibrium," whatever that may be. Thus the effort of this heavenly body to relieve mental strain has brought about a state of chaos that is more melancholy than the original trouble and promises large additions to the asylums.

The shooting of Ruiz, peace com-misioner from Bialo to Aranguren, at first glance looks like the assassination of a bearer of the white flag; but the commissioner who has instructions to bribe is meaner than any spy, and knows, as Ruiz said of himself, that he is going to his own death. There was great villainy in Weyler as governor-general; but his admiration of duplicity may oblige him to call his successor his lord and master.

"Bad spelling," says a scientist, "is a disease." It may be an inheritance also. It is not, however necessarily evidence of ignorance. There are people without an ear for music, and there are those who have no ear for spelling. They may be thoroughly educated in other respects, and never be able to learn to spell correctly off-hand except as to words in constant use. And they may even have to relearn them every day. Let us remember that in many cases they are the victims not of ignorance but of an infirmity.

A Boston lady says, giving advice to her two retiring sisters, "A shrinking self-respect can in time be overcome by throwing out the chest and carrying the head high in a royal attitude of self-confidence." Yet it is conceivable. It is afraid. A royal attitude of self-confidence is utterly impossible to a shrinking self-respect. The trouble is that somehow it always comes up to it and remits bad in a rude manner, and immediately the royal attitude closes itself against the world like a sensitive plant. No dear lady, you can't make it fall out of you.

The war reminiscences of the late Charles A. Dana, now in course of publication in one of the magazines, establish a fact that every person to whom profanity is an offense will be glad to hear Mr. Dana saw much of General Grant during the most perplexing period of the civil war, and he asserts that he never heard the great Union leader utter a profane word. Mr. Dana himself was for many years a tireless worker in a field in which profanity is common. Every man who enjoyed the privilege of working near him will testify that in the midst of the exciting requirements of his duties Mr. Dana was guiltless of the sin and vulgarity of profanity.

The arguments for supporting the statement that we live in a great country include one based on the statistics of rainfall. A recent official document declares that rain probably falls everyday in the year at one point or another in the United States. Some of the countries whose governments make a great stir in the world might almost be wet down with a good-sized American thunder-shower. We have territory large enough for several contemporaneous performances of this sort. Measured by rain or sunshine, the weather assets of the United States at any given moment are alike magnificent and impressive. As a part of the cumulative evidence to the truth of this assertion, it may be said that there is not a waking moment, in all probability, in which an umbrella is not being borrowed within our borders, to keep off the rain or the sunshine.

An excellent illustration of Shakespeare's oft-quoted "good in everything" is afforded by the disposition of the revenue derived by the French government from the tax on betting at horse-races. The proceeds of the tax last year exceeded seven and a half million francs, or more than a million and a half dollars. Among the good objects to which this money was appropriated were Paris charities, seventy-five thousand dollars, provincial hospitals, three hundred thousand dollars; institutions making researches into methods of curing or preventing consumption, twenty-five thousand dollars; and sixteen thousand dollars for the erection of a hall for charity meetings in Constantinople. It is a pity that betting cannot be taxed out of existence; since that is not possible, the next best thing is to make the gamblers pay for good objects as far as the money that can be squeezed out of them will go.

There is a complete fascination in games of hazard, or the risking of money on possibilities. It seems as natural for them to bet as to eat. Indeed the hunger for food is often overpowered by the hunger for wagers. It is absurd for those of us who have never felt the fascination of the wager to speak slightly of the temptation.

The following item is going the rounds with an unknown origin: "An old German had a son whose future he was anxious to forecast. He placed upon a table in a room a Bible, and a bottle of whiskey, and contrived to have his son go in while he stood behind the curtain to watch the result. He said to himself: If my boy takes the Bible he will be a brewer; if he takes the whiskey he will be a sport. The boy came in, put the Bible in one pocket and the whiskey in the other. 'Mine Gott!' exclaimed the old man. 'He's going to be a politician.'

When the tax-payers reckon up about $5,000 for salaries paid the pure food commissioner and the expense of taking a dozen or more cases through the courts—say $10,000 in all—they can then figure out how much has been saved in doctor's bills that would have resulted from eating adulterated food.

Lake Carriers' Association Annual Convention Held in Detroit—Michigan Royal Arch Masons Met at Grand Rapids—Strike at Bay City.

Lake Carriers' Association.

The annual convention of the Lake Carriers' Association is one of the most important business gatherings that occurs in the lake states. Detroit did the honors this year for the largest assemblage of lake vesselmen that ever attended their conventions. Secretary Kepp reported the amount of freight registered in the association for 1897 was $87,237, a net decrease of 25,040 tons from 1896, due mainly to the withdrawal of the fleets of J. C. Gilchrist of the International Oceanic Transportation Co., and of Alvin Neal. The total loss was partially made up by the building of new vessels. The receipts of the association for the year were $20,123, all but $7,03 having been expended. The debt of $4,500 was reduced to $3,200. The association shipping officers furnished 15,159 men to vessels in the association. The redemption recurred of one-half cent per bushel in the Buffalo grain shoveling rate last spring saved the members $30,000 during the season, or 30 per cent more than the whole expenditures of the association for the year.

The following officers were elected: President, Capt. J. S. Dunham, of Chicago; 15 vice-presidents representing important lake cities; secretary, C. L. Kepp, of Buffalo; treasurer, George P. McKay, of Cleveland; counsel, Harvey D. Goulder, of Cleveland. In honor of his election President Dunham tendered the association an excellent banquet at the Hotel Cadillac.

The warmest time the convention had was in settling the contract for shoveling grain at Buffalo. It was finally agreed to W. J. Conors over James Kennedy, who had done the work for three seasons past, and the Longshoremen's men. The rates are fixed at 92 1/2 per cent bushel and as this is 40 cents less than was paid last year it is thought that this means a reduction of shorers' wages and consequently a big strike is among the strong probabilities.

The association adopted measures to erect a suitable memorial to the late Gen. O. M. Poe. Resolutions were adopted advocating new rules, for initiating the "Soo" river, to allow of greater speed through it.

Grand Chapter R. A. M.

The grand chapter Royal Arch Masons of Michigan held its annual convention at Grand Rapids. The grand council and the grand chapter united in a banquet to commemorate the fifth anniversary of Royal Arch Masonry in Michigan. The sum of $1,500 was voted for the maintenance of the Masonic home at Grand Rapids. Officers elected: Grand high priest, Chas. M. Norton; of Lansing; deputy master priest, Frank N. Clark, of Northville; grand king, Louis A. Wolf, of Detroit; grand seer, Wm. F. Donaldson, of Saginaw; grand treasurer, Jas. N. Newell, of Detroit; grand secretary, Jeffryson S. Conover, of Coldwater; grand chaplain, Francis A. Blodget, of Detroit; grand lecturer, Louis C. Goodrich, or Ann Arbor; grand captain of the host, Wm. T. Deeth, of Grand Rapids; grand principal sojourner, Chas. L. Steere, of Ypsilanti; grand royal arch captain, Horace S. Maynard, of Charlotte; grand masters of the temple, Jas. W. Burke, of Coldwater; second M. B. McKee, of Crystal Falls; first Chas. E. Spencer, Port Huron; grand sentinel, James F. McGregor of Detroit.

The grand chapter meets in Grand Rapids again next year.

Big Strike Threatened at Bay City.

The riveters employed by H. W. Wheeler & Co. struck miners at Bay City, demanded an advance in wages which was refused them. The firm gave the strikers three days to return at old wages and threatened to employ new men. This led to a closer organization of all the workmen in the shipyards and a big strike was in prospect. To prevent this Wheeler & Co. offered to raise laborers' wages 25 per cent. The striking riveters and fitters were given a 7 per cent increase, but that did not satisfy them and they refused to go to work, as the acceptance of the raise necessitated the signing of an agreement to sever their connection with their labor organizations.

The laborers are jubilant, however, and have given up all thoughts of striking. It is said that James Dwyer will pay the same wages as the Wheelers.

$75,000 Fire at Ionia.

A fire which started in the Sandstone block at Ionia spread rapidly and caused a loss of $75,000. The buildings burned are occupied by Bretz & Bradley, furniture dealers; R. E. Van Houten, jeweler; Herb Humphreys musical merchandise; H. B. Webber & Co., hardware; H. Van Allen druggist, and G. Garde's fruit and confectionery. The telephone exchange and citizens' lines were both in this block.

Our January Blizzard.

The heavy wind and snow storm which swept the lake region was very severe in many portions of the state. About Alpena it was the heaviest snow in years. Over two feet of snow fell on the level and in some places it drifted as high as the tops of doors and windows. The morning train from Detroit on the D. & S. M. was stalled at Tawas and the afternoon train did not leave Alpena. The streets through the Saginaw City district were cut by the Lansing, Dexter & Ann Arbor electric railway, but preserves that tracks shall be sold eight for 25 cents inside the city limits.

The Struble, friends, has given up two lots in Ionia in Isabella county, and there is doubt the controversy will find its way into public next fall.
