CUT TELEPHONE WIRE.

George Whipple of Novi Accused of Doing the Job.

The directors of the Northville Telephone company were red-headed Wednesday morning when it was learned that George Whipple, of the Warner-Whipple Telephone company had cut the Northville Co.'s wire near the Whipple Lumber Co.'s offices at Novi.

The Northville Co. says it is a piece of spite work and a most contemptible trick. On Tuesday the Northville Co. placed a rental phone in the Novi elevator, making the connection from their main line running from this place to Novi. When Whipple heard of it he warned Manager Porter there would be trouble if this company did it. He claiming that the connection should be on the Warner-Whipple line. Whipple evidently based his claim on we want the earth plan, for his company had no way whatever of caring for the elevator folks as their wires are so burdened now with phones that no service can be obtained over them from Novi beyond Sand Hill and besides this the elevator people wanted connection on the Northville Co.'s line and none other so they could have service with Northville, Plymouth and Detroit.

The Northville company is incorporated under the state law and any molestation of their wires or poles is an offense warranting arrest and the company says that the case may be taken into the courts.

Northville people do not believe that Mr. Warner sabotaged the wire-cutting act or that he even knew that it was to be done.

The Post-office Clock.

The postmaster is going to fix up the clock in the post-office for the benefit of the patrons and hereafter will keep it regulated and running. It will be to the advantage of the merchants owning advertising space in the clock to fix them up with new cards—and incidentally we might remark that new and neatly printed cards can be obtained at the Record Printery.

BLOCKADE OF CUBA.

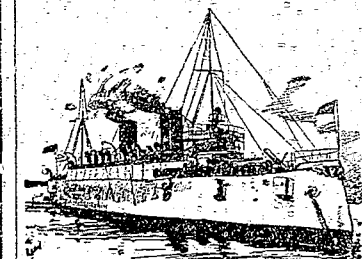

How the War with Spain Would Be Successful in a Short Time.

In case of war between the United States and Spain the island of Cuba would be freed from Spanish rule much more easily than is generally imagined. This country would not need to send a large army to the island to fight the Spaniards in the field.

Extent of Spanish Control. The Spaniards, with an army of 150,000 men, of which not 90,000 are regular troops, all that is left of the 200,000 soldiers sent from Spain since 1895, and decimated by battle and sickness, control only the seaports and the strongly fortified towns in the interior. The country from east to west is in the hands of the insurgents.

Strength of the Cubans. There are about 5,000 insurgents in the provinces of Matanzas and Havana. This is where the Cubans are weakest, the Spanish fortified towns being nearer to one another and the Spanish army more numerous.

Spain's Fighting Strength. It is a fact, which even Spanish diplomacy will not dare to deny, that if, instead of hampering the Cubans the United States in their work of sending expeditions to the brethren; in, instead of prosecuting them in so drastic a manner as was done during the administration of Mr. Cleveland; if, instead of keeping, at enormous cost to this country, the American navy and the police watching the Cuban junta and its agents, the Cubans here had been unmolested, the possibility which now confronts us of an international war would not exist.

CRUISER MINNEAPOLIS. (Frigated Thursday from the dry dock in League Island navy yard, near Philadelphia.) vegetables and store their cattle, but they do not divide their provisions with the non-combatants, nor do they allow vegetables to be raised or cattle kept by any but themselves, because it is their policy to prevent the Spanish army from obtaining any kind of resources in the country.

Spanish Depend Upon Imports. The Spanish army, therefore, exclusively depends upon the provisions imported from abroad. Rice, beans, and flour they receive from Spain. Meat for the inhabitants of the seaports they obtain from Mexico and Florida. The 150,000 Spaniards under arms exclusively depend upon steamers loaded with provisions from abroad that enter the Cuban ports. Not a potato comes into the City of Havana from the country. The milk is almost all condensed and imported from the United States. Eggs and vegetables are from Florida. And what is still more important, on account of the great financial distress in Havana, the importing merchants do not keep a large stock of provisions. If the imports are stopped the entire supply of food in Havana will be exhausted by the 200,000 inhabitants of the city in less than a week. Suppose now that war is declared one of these days. The United States in that case has only to blockade the seaports of Cuba to starve out the whole Spanish army, and that without landing a single man on the island. The Spaniards will simply be compelled to surrender because of the lack of food.

Many Ports Defenseless. To prevent the possibility that they might make a desperate effort inland to overpower the insurgents and get their vegetables and other provisions, something might be done easily, quickly, and at once. There are many seaports of some importance in Cuba absolutely defenseless from the sea side. Cardenas, for instance, in the province of Matanzas, on the northern coast, is one of them. Cardenas was taken in 1899 by the insurgent Narciso Lopez with a handful of Americans on board a small merchant vessel. Since then no fort capable of resisting a cannon shot has been built there. The Americans can hold Cardenas and from there communicate with the insurgents in the country. In a short time the whole Cuban army may be well armed by them and secure some cannon to attack the inland towns. If without such munitions and with the immense risk and difficulties they incur in securing scanty supplies from the feeble filibustering expeditions they not only hold their own against Spain but actually imprison the Spaniards in their forts and cities, it is obvious that possessing war appliances which will place them, in this respect, of the same footing as the Spaniards themselves, they will exterminate all the Spanish columns daring to leave their fortified places and eventually invest them in the principal cities.

Cuba's Fighting Strength. It is a fact, which even Spanish diplomacy will not dare to deny, that if, instead of hampering the Cubans the United States in their work of sending expeditions to the brethren; in, instead of prosecuting them in so drastic a manner as was done during the administration of Mr. Cleveland; if, instead of keeping, at enormous cost to this country, the American navy and the police watching the Cuban junta and its agents, the Cubans here had been unmolested, the possibility which now confronts us of an international war would not exist.

Cuban Army's Aid. In a war between Spain and the United States it is beyond doubt that the whole Cuban army would be on the American side. There is no doubt, either, that we would give them all the rifles, cartridges and cannon they need. They would then take care of the land operations. We would only need to blockade the Spaniards by sea and let them starve. Of course, the Spaniards would make an attempt with their navy to break that blockade. The contest would then be only a naval one. But with their capital only eighty miles from Key West, and sixty from Dry Tortugas, which would probably be the center of our naval operations, is it reasonable to suppose that the Spaniards could relieve Havana either by stealth or by force? In a few days the proud Spanish stronghold, with its Cabana fortress and its Morro Castle, with its mined bay, and its famous torpedoes, would be at our mercy, and not very much blood would be shed.

THIRD YEAR OF STRUGGLE. Cuba Began Her Present Effort for Independence Feb. 24, 1895. Feb. 24 was the third anniversary of Cuba's struggle for independence. It found the patriot cause, in spite not only of Spain's predictions but of her prodigious efforts, strong and buoyant with a well-founded confidence of speed dy triumph. The question to be put today is not how long the Cuban republic will last, but how long Spain can continue her costly efforts to suppress it.

The first year of the struggle was the most critical. The appeal of the revolutionary party, headed by the lamented Jose Marti, was welcomed in several of the provinces, to which war material had been successfully carried, but the Spanish authorities got wind of the contemplated risings, and in Puerto Principe seized arms and ammunition. A few days after the famous Feb. 24 Captain General Calleja declared the provinces of Matanzas and Santiago to be in a state of siege. The movement spread. Maximo Gomez, by the vote of the leading officers of the former revolutionary war, was chosen commander-in-chief. Bartolome Maso, Rabi, and other well-known citizens cast in their lots with the patriot cause, while the two Maccos and other veteran leaders landed in Santiago, where the people rallied to their standards.

Changing Officers. Spain quickly rose to the emergency, and within two months after Feb. 24 Calleja was succeeded as captain general by the renowned Martinez Campos, who professed his ability to end the rebellion before the end of the autumn. The fights of Los Negros, El Guanabano, Jarauca, Juraguana, El Cacao, and El Jobito taught him that his task was no trifling one, while in July, when commanding in person, he was defeated by Maceo and Rabi at Bayamo. Meanwhile Gomez and Marti had set out for Puerto Principe, and in their first severe conflict the heroic Marti was killed. Gomez pressed on, and in the province of Puerto Principe was joined by Salvador Cisneros Betancourt. Next Gomez, marching into the provinces of Santa Clara and Matanzas, carried out his policy of destroying the sugar crop, and thereby stopping the revenue which Spain derived from it. Other battles and skirmishes followed, and before the first year was over Spain recognized that she had to deal with a most formidable revolt. Marlinez Campos was displaced by Weyler as captain general, and troops were poured into Cuba in enormous numbers. Rigorous, vindictive, and in some cases barbarous edicts were issued. The royal troops, aided with the rebels, in ravaging the island, trade was restricted, plantations were stripped of their laborers, and a policy of concentrating the country people in and around the towns was carried out with unsparring severity, with suffering and starvation in consequence, that have been simply appalling. Fighting went on in many places. Maceo made a brilliant campaign in Pinar del Rio and gained victory after victory, in a career of most extraordinary audacity, crowned by his death. Aranguen, also a martyr to the cause, with other dashing leaders, repeatedly raided into the environs of Havana. The west, the center, and the east of the island witnessed Cuban prowess against an enormous disparity of force, and while the east was the most quiet it was largely in patriot hands.

BATTLESHIP KENTUCKY. (This vessel will be launched March 24, at Newport News shipyard; Miss Christine Bradley, daughter of Gov. Bradley of Kentucky, acting as sponsor.)

Surface of the Sea. The surface of the sea is estimated at 150,000,000 square miles, taking the whole surface of the globe at 197,000,000, and its greatest depth supposedly equals the height of the highest mountain, four miles. The Pacific ocean covers 78,000,000 square miles, the Atlantic 25,000,000 and the Mediterranean 1,000,000.

the first, because it had held its own against forces so enormous and so evidently representing the utmost that Spain could bring to bear. The situation in Cuba had its reflex influence on Spain at length in the coming of the Sagasta ministry, under which Weyler, whose successive campaigns had been palpable failures, was replaced by Blanco, while autonomy was offered to the patriots instead of independence.

It is in the midst of Blanco's campaign that her third anniversary now dawns upon Cuba, with prospects brighter than ever. The failure of the autonomy plan is conceded, and certainly in the field Blanco has done not a whit better than his predecessors. Indeed, the leading feature of his operations, General Pando's expedition in southeastern Cuba, was an acknowledged defeat. Why, then, should not the third anniversary be full of hope

BATTLESHIP KEARSARGE. (This warship, a companion vessel to the Kentucky, will be launched at the navy yard of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, March 24; the wife of Lieut. Winslow, U. S. N., acting as sponsor.) for Cuba? We cannot say how many men Spain has had under arms in the island, but probably a quarter of a million would not be too high an estimate; and yet against this tremendous force the Cubans have made head. The burning question is not how long they can endure, but how long Spain will find it possible to stand the strain.

The Climax Near. Cuba's third anniversary, too, found her nearer that recognition by our own country which has always been one of her aims. Events have of late become urgent in that direction. And we do not now refer to the recent calamity in Havana harbor, whose grave results cannot yet be forecast, but to these events which are steadily and swiftly bringing near the time when, as President McKinley has said, we must imperatively call on Spain to make peace.

American Export Trade. For the better part of this century England has been the world's workshop. Indications are not wanting that the day of her supremacy is past, says the Engineering News. The colonies she has plighted would be false to the spirit of enterprise and independence that has brought England herself to her present proud position if they were content to sit down and live by agriculture and mining and depend on other countries for manufactured goods. The nations of Europe all strive so to shape their legislation as to keep the home market for themselves and at the same time capture as much as possible of the export trade. It is true that the exhaustion of her mines of Bessemer ore, the increased depth of her coal mines and the fact that lumber and many other materials must all be imported have much to do in handicapping England in competing for the world's trade. It is true, also, that the restrictions imposed by labor unions and factory legislation probably operate to some extent at least as an additional handicap. But, besides these causes, there is also the ambition of other nations to develop their own resources and supply their own needs to achieve commercial as well as political independence. In the movement now under way for the development of American export trade it is well to bear these facts in mind. We need not expect to permanently supply European nations with all goods which their own natural resources will permit them to make. Our automatic tools may for a time enable us to win a trade in certain lines, but European manufacturers will eventually buy the tools that will enable them to make the machines or products themselves. In the countries of South America, Asia and Africa, however, the building up of manufacturing industries will be a slower and longer task and such of their trade as we may secure we may reasonably expect to hold for many years.

Surface of the Sea. The surface of the sea is estimated at 150,000,000 square miles, taking the whole surface of the globe at 197,000,000, and its greatest depth supposedly equals the height of the highest mountain, four miles. The Pacific ocean covers 78,000,000 square miles, the Atlantic 25,000,000 and the Mediterranean 1,000,000.

Advances of Insurgent Cause. The second anniversary of the revolution found it even more hopeful than the first, because it had held its own against forces so enormous and so evidently representing the utmost that Spain could bring to bear. The situation in Cuba had its reflex influence on Spain at length in the coming of the Sagasta ministry, under which Weyler, whose successive campaigns had been palpable failures, was replaced by Blanco, while autonomy was offered to the patriots instead of independence.

It is in the midst of Blanco's campaign that her third anniversary now dawns upon Cuba, with prospects brighter than ever. The failure of the autonomy plan is conceded, and certainly in the field Blanco has done not a whit better than his predecessors. Indeed, the leading feature of his operations, General Pando's expedition in southeastern Cuba, was an acknowledged defeat. Why, then, should not the third anniversary be full of hope

A Semimiculous Versification.

(The following poem, read at the joint debate Saturday night, Feb. 19, is published at the special request of several of the author's friends who are readers of the Record, and who wished to obtain a copy of the verses for preservation.)

The Club, sometimes, is mightier than the sword,
And so, obedient to collective word,
I sat the down, one afternoon of late
To scribble something for a joint debate;
But, being somewhat wearied, fell to musing
All sorts of ideas, sleepily confusing
The while one thought, kept coming o'er and o'er
As sleep stole on my senses more and more:
'Twas this: "show-trug that life's but a school
And we the pupils, under task and rule;
And then, before my state I scarce had noted
Of into dreamland I had gently floated,
Still holding in the grasp of sleep's unreason
The thoughts I'd touched in brief half-waking Season:
And in my dream I saw, without apology
—For dreams, we're all aware, have no chironology—
The big boys of each club all small, once more,
Enjoying school days as in times of yore,
In utter disregard of dates and ages
All mixed together in the dream book's pages.
While I, a country school man, once again
In slumber life eiled o'er those coming men
My dream-self—as in real days long ago—
Trudged to her task through wind and frost
and snow:
With cheeks like roses—well matched by her nose—
And fingers nearly frozen, like her toes,
The schoolmistress reached; what more could my heart desire?
Than to find some gallant youth had built
the fire?
She thanks him sweetly, chills him all forgot.
Feeling a calm contentment with her lot.
Which pleasant state she still continues in Till David Gage sits on a benched pin
She seeks in vain the author of the trap,
I'll Larry Bogart says: "I was Nathan Clapp!"
Then glee is changed to sadness in a minute,
And Nathan wishes that he wasn't "in it,"
But slyly signals to the young informer,
That when the chance comes, he, too, shall be warmer.

Next comes a note from an indignant mother
That Rufus Courter will her children bother.
And that she'd like to have a sloop put to it.
If the teacher's got sufficient grit to do it
She now resumes her interrupted task;
But on the questions that those youngsters
ask:
'Teacher, may I go out?' "Please may I speak?"
'Marry Bogart's passed the water twice this week.'
'Please can I take your knife? I aint today!'
'George Yerkes' throwin' paper wads this way!'
'Teacher! I just heard Ausie Kimmis swear!'
Oh! teacher, can't Will Flint stop pullin'
hair?"
'Please teacher won't you help me do this sum?"
'Teacher, I seen Frank Angell chevin' gum.'
'Oh I can't never find all these hard places.'
'Earl Banks, and Jimmie Clapp's a making faces.'
'Doc Marshall's toggin' me when I'm a writin'.'
'See West and Tommy Johns has been a fghtin'!'
'Please teacher what's the capital of Maine?'
'Teacher, may I go home? I've got a pain'
So pass the minutes and the hours away
Till the tasks are ended for the day
The "young idee" departs, with deafening
shout,
(To let the neighbors know that school is out.)
The weary school-man sweeps the schoolroom floor,
Sees that the fire is right, and locks the door.
Then—suddenly she rubs her wondering eyes
And looks around in soignant surprise!
So real that late experience has seemed
She scarce can realize that she has dreamed;
Nor finds the matter is adjusted quite,
Till lookin' round upon "those boys" tonight

Mrs. Florence Babbitt for whom the WRC will give a reception from 7 to 8 this Friday evening is Grand Chaplain of the O.E.S. and the members of that order are especially requested to be present.

The order of Knights of Pythias has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: A. K. Dolph, c. c.; Wm. Lockwood, v. c.; George Barley, p. l. e.; Ed Starkweather, m. of e.; F. A. A politician says: When a man leaves our side and goes to the other side he is a traitor, and we always felt that there was a subtle something wrong about him. But when a man leaves the other side and comes over to us, then he is a man of great moral courage, and we always felt that he had sterling stuff in him.

The Workingmen's Village Caucus was held Monday night with the following result:

President—C. A. Sessions
Trustees—M. Bovee, Peter Barley, Elias Van...
Clerk—M. S. Nichols
Treasurer—Fred Fry
Assessor—W. H. Ambler
The chair appointed E. K. Starkweather, Lou Van and Henry Fry as committee.

The Eastern Star ladies are making great preparations for their "cake walk" to be held in the rink next week Friday night, and it promises to be the most novel affair ever seen in our village. A colored gentleman from Detroit is to come next week to drill the various participants. The admission will be but 10 cents, and will include besides seeing the "cake walk," also a feast for the ears in the way of music, and a dainty lunch for the stomach.

Northville's WRC have announced a colonial tea for March 4th. The ladies will dress in the costume of colonial days, and have gentlemen in the Washington knickerbockers, shad-bellied, brass-button coats, powdered wigs, and big buckle slippers, serve tea in cups a hundred years old, and accept silver coined under any U. S. law since the mints were open. The tea has been obtained from Boston harbor by divers, and is some that was heaved overboard by our Mohawk forefathers, who kicked against the colonial tariff taxation same as a democrat kicks against an equally unjust Dingley robber tariff. Guess we will have to go over and take tea with 'em.—Adrian Press.

The tea takes place tonight and the ladies are making great preparations to properly receive. Editor Stearns.

Not much interest was manifested in the Citizens' caucus Tuesday night, only about five or six to represent that party being present and after waiting about an hour the committee left in apparent disgust at the lack of interest shown. Last year the "Citizens" committee labored two days after the caucus to get the ticket filled out and this year the committee probably thought the interests of the village were perfectly safe with the nominees of the "Workingmen's" ticket, to say nothing of the labor and worry saved. The "Workingmen's" ticket usually shows a majority of about 150 and a point is reached where but few people care to stand up and be knocked down and then buried.

Robbed the Grave
A startling incident of which Mr. J. Oliver of Philadelphia was the subject, is narrated as follows: I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters, and to my great joy and surprise the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim! No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle a Geo. C. Hueston's Drug Store.

The Lyceum meeting held at the YMCA hall Monday evening was well attended and the debate was very interesting. The WANDC side won, but as their speakers are much more experienced than ours, the defeat was by no means a mortifying one. The debate passed off very pleasantly and some of the debaters were applauded several times in the course of their remarks. The debaters were Miss May Porter, Will Dolph and Arch. Capell of the N. H. S. for the affirmative and Barry Bogart, N. A. Clapp and Arthur Rodgers of the WANDC for the negative. The judges were Mrs. W. H. Ambler of Northville, Hon. A. N. Kinnis of Novi and J. L. Sibley of Wixom.

Sunday Disturbance.

Every one was sorry to have police in our midst last Sunday who were so full of a distressing cough. A few doses of Dr. Witt's Elixir put things back at night and small doses during the day will cure the most persistent cough. Who never there is a tickling sensation in the throat, take a few drops of the Elixir on the tongue and it will run slowly down the throat and immediately relief will be the result. We guarantee it to cure any cough, cold, croup or lung trouble or money refunded. G. C. Hueston, Murdock Bros., Northville.

What is Scott's Emulsion?

It is a strengthening food and tonic, remarkable in its flesh-forming properties. It contains Cod-Liver Oil emulsified or partially digested, combined with the well-known and highly prized Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, so that their potency is materially increased.

What Will It Do?

It will arrest loss of flesh and restore to a normal condition the infant, the child and the adult. It will enrich the blood of the anemic; will stop the cough, heal the irritation of the throat and lungs, and cure incipient consumption. We make this statement because the experience of twenty-five years has proven it in tens of thousands of cases. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion, 50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
