That Jersey City man who stole a locomotive the other day is simply wasting his talents down east.

The New York clergyman who says that "Christ couldn't be elected king in any ward of this city" seems to have a very misty notion of Gotham's city government and an equally misty idea of ministerial proprieties.

A calamity like that in the harbor of Havana puts its victims on a common level. Technical and official distinctions vanish.

It is doubtful if people generally realize the stealthy attack that is being made from one end of the country to the other upon the public rights.

Shakespeare makes a man on a storm-swept ship exclaim: "Now would I give a thousand furlongs of sea for an acre of barren ground."

It is reported that in Iceland there have been but two cases of theft in a thousand years, and that all forms of crime are so nearly unknown that the island has no soldiers, no policemen, no traps, no poorhouses, no prisons.

The autographic pen of glass has many a poor relation of whom it may well be ashamed.

Not since the opening of the century has the earth been so far filled with the stern threat and preparation for armed conflict, and it is where the commercial spirit runs highest that the talk of war is loudest.

Report of Novi school for the term of four months, ending March 25, 1898: Whole number pupils enrolled 59; average number pupils enrolled 48; average daily attendance 39; average per cent attendance 82. Fred Hogle was not absent during the term. The general average was lowered by diphtheria scare in the early part of the term. Willard D. Stark, teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Harmon were happily surprised last week Thursday evening when about sixty West Novi friends and neighbors came in and took possession of their house and having a good time in general. The originator of a play with bean bags was surprised to know that it proved to be a game three could play at and sometimes four. Suffice it to say there were no bones broken but that "everything went merry as a marriage bell." Mrs. Harmon has been an active and earnest worker in the church and literary circles here for several years where she will be greatly missed. We cannot refrain from special mention of her work in bible class Number 2 which can never be estimated and only appreciated by those who were so fortunate as to be a member of that class. May success attend them in their new home at Northville is the wish of their many friends.

The twenty-sixth anniversary of Fred L. Cook's birthday occurred last week Saturday. In honor of the occasion about fifty of his associates and friends assembled at his home Friday evening to welcome him when he came from the store. They intended it a surprise, but on being asked if he had caught on, he answered truthfully "yes" and then it was known he still possessed some of the George Washington trait of character. Nevertheless a good time was had and then followed an elaborate supper served in "up-to-date" style. Upon the table, at which the host was seated, was placed a beautiful birthday cake surrounded by twenty-six tapers which were burning while the supper was under progress. This was a unique piece of workmanship and very pretty. As a token of esteem in which Fred is held by his many friends a very handsome chair was presented in a pleasing manner by Frank Steele to which an appropriate response was given by the recipient.
