COUNCIL MEET.

An Interesting Regular Was Held Monday Night.

MR. BECKER CLAIMS THE TOWN CLOCK IS OUT OF WHACK.

New Cement Walk Ordered for M. E. Church—Other Walks.

Monday night's council meeting was interesting, if not exciting. For the sidewalk committee, Ald. Barley reported that he had served 41 "bad" side walk notices and that while many had complied with the orders by fixing their walks, there were others who had not given them the slightest attention. He reported the need of new walks in a few places and the council instructed the committee to go ahead and enforce the ordinance and where parties neglected to repair or build walks as directed, to do the work and assess the expense against the property.

Ald. Miller for the park committee, said the park ground should be worked up and a lot of salt and lime put on it and then seeded down preparatory to planting trees next fall. Water pipes the committee said, should be put down soon so that the ground would not have to be torn up twice.

The Silx Stone Co. offered to lay a cement walk warranted for five years on north side Methodist church at 10c per ft. and the council thought it was the proper walk to lay there as it would be the cheapest for the village in the end. The walk committee was given power to act in the matter.

The clerk gave notice that a vacancy still existed in the office of trustee and the council, by a unanimous vote, elected H. O. Wade to fill the vacancy.

The health officer asked for instructions relative to the overhead piping of slops in the rear of some of the south side Main street stores and he was instructed that it was his duty to abate it at once.

In reply to a question from the street committee regarding finances, the clerk reported there was about $200.00 in the general fund and $367.00 in the highway fund. Then the committee recommended the building of several needed new cross walks in the village. It was suggested that the one between Mr. VanZile's residence and the Globe office be taken up and that the new one be placed at the foot of Main street across to the park and a walk be laid along the park to connect with the one running to the depot. This will doubtless be done. The clerk was instructed to order at once, a car of Medina stone and then the Silx people asked "why not put down a cement cross walk, which would cost less and be more serviceable." Ald. Dolph replied that the stone crossings were not experiments and unless a cement company would first put a sample one down on approval the committee was not in favor of a change.

W. L. Becker asked to be heard relative to the town clock which he assumed charge of a month ago. He said "The clock has been running for some five years without overhauling and it is in bad shape. Part of the time it will not run right and sometimes it will not strike. Oil has been used in such quantity upon it that the weights will not carry it." He said he would like a committee appointed to examine it. He found that there had been no wear at all on any of the parts and no new parts were needed though the couplings connecting the dials were loose. Sparrows, he said, hauled in strings and other stuff and then too much oil had been used so that it needed a general overhauling. When asked as to the expense he said it would take from three to four days with an extra man's help and it would cost the village about $15.00 additional and he would then guarantee it for five years.

The president asked the clerk what Mr. Becker's agreement was, relative to care of clock? The clerk read—"Mr. Becker's bid to care for the clock and keeping it in running order for one year for $23.40 was accepted."

Ald. Van—Mr. Becker, what did you mean by your proposition to keep the clock in running order?

Mr. Becker—I was not putting skilled experience against unskilled experience. I could keep the clock running for a year without fixing but in the condition it now is, it wouldn't keep accurate time.

Ald. Dolph moved that a committee of three with power to act be appointed to investigate the matter, and some action will be taken within a few days.

REP. SAWYER WAS MAD.

Judge Kinne Adjourned Court While He was speaking.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 2.—A motion was made in the circuit court to day for a change of venue in the case of Howard Stockwell against Sheriff Judson. Stockwell's attorneys, Sawyer & Crane, held that the relations between sheriff and judge, and the possibility that talliesmen may have to be drawn by the sheriff's deputies, the sheriff being one of the defendants in the case, demanded a change.

A sensation came when the judge decided against the motion without hearing Rep Sawyer. He insisted on being heard and the judges said "Well, Mr. Sawyer, talk if you desire for your own edification."

"I'll talk even if the court has previously made up his mind," retorted Sawyer.

"I adjourn court," said the judge. Mr Sawyer was very angry and together with the friends of Stockwell will strew thorns in Judge Kinne's path to the supreme bench.

The Courtenay Morgan Co.

The Courtenay Morgan opera company which has been playing at the opera house here since Tuesday night is stronger than ever when they were here last fall, the company having recently been enforced by several new and real good people. As a whole it is really the best company that ever visits Northville and by their gentled ways and fine acting they have won many friends. The opera house has been well filled every night thus far, Tuesday night the house being crowded to standing room only. Tonight a big crowd is expected to hear "The Heart of Cuba" in which Mrs Morgan will appear in the leading role. Tomorrow afternoon a children's matinee will be given to which school children will be admitted for 5 cents. In the evening a fine closing play by the whole company will be given, together with some specialties, at the close of which a kodak will be given to the holder of the lucky number.

An exchange tells the following story of a girl who, at her birth was given the name of Mary. When she grew up she dropped the "r" and it was May. When she began to shine socially she changed the "y" to an "e," and her name was Mae. About a year ago she was married and now she has dropped the final letter and spells it plain "ma."

Ypsilanti folks are nothing if not practical. Last week one night a lot of the youngsters of the town had a patriotic demonstration and the occasion was utilized by the merchants to incidentally get all their back yards and alleys cleared of all the rubbish that would succumb to the power of fire. Their contributions in this respect were spontaneous and cheerful, and a rousing bonfire testified to their practical patriotism.

SOLDIERS IN CAMP.

GLIMPSSES OF LIFE AT FAMED CHICKAMAUGA.

Regulars Who Left Their Girls Behind Them in the Northwest Are Having an Exciting Time of It Near Chattanooga.

The full regiment of infantry was drawn up in line in "campaign outfit," and the color sergeant and his aide had brought from the colonel's quarters the Stars and Stripes that were embroidered with victories of that regiment in the past, and they proudly beside the regimental flag of the 1st. Then the order was given to "sound off," and before the last notes of the bugles had died away the brass band broke over the field as a New England housewife picks threads from her carpet. All the work of this sort in a regiment is done by its prisoners—men who are under short arrest for misdemeanors or for some breach of military regulations; and, clad in brown, they go about in detachments of two or three under guard of a sentry, who bears a loaded rifle and who is responsible for the prisoners he is in charge of.

When a regiment is going into camp the busiest and most harassed person in it is the quartermaster. He it is who has charge of all the camp equipment and who is responsible for the transportation of it. Also he must stand ready to supply any deficiency, from feed for horses or mules to a coat for some private who is suddenly minus his, and he and the commissary sergeant, his right hand man, think not of themselves until the regiment is into "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and the regiment was off to Mobile to wait there for further orders sending them to the front.

The Second Battalion commander rode a horse that had been in Custer's last battle but escaped massacre. Like his rider, also an old Indian fighter, the horse was getting old and gray now but there was a good deal of fire in his old frame yet, and he danced off friskily as though longing for battle once more.

They had to march eight miles to the railroad which was to transport them from the Western post, and an order was called through the ranks for "route step," which made every man fall into his own gait and broke the straight lines into jagged curves. The order was indicative of the difference between dress parade, when to be out of step was nothing short of a breach of regulations, and actual service, when thoughtful officers saved their men unnecessary work out of action.

The girls they left behind them flourish their handkerchiefs vigorously in a noble endeavor that the final glimpse the officers had of home should not be associated with "earful women, and as the last company swung out of the post to the inspiring strains of the band, the sweethearts and wives separated to their different quarters, now so deserted, and had it out alone. As a picture of desolation, Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" isn't a patch on aarrison after the troops have gone!

But the regiment recked not of that, but says, "It is war," and takes to the field like ducks to water, though there are many youngsters in the service who have never been in camp except for practice and not a few men who have not seen action even among the Indians, who have been rather subdued these past years. And they are living the routine life impatiently, waiting the orders that will make them see actual service and will bring more victories to the regiment and sustain the fame of its old record. In the meantime they drill and police the camp and sing about their campfires as the seasoned veterans tell tales of the battles they have seen.

The camp of a regiment is laid out like a little village and is a model of neatness and order. Not a scrap of paper or vestige of debris of any sort is seen through its length and breadth, and the men who "police," or clean, go installed under cover. Each officer carries his own camp outfit—tent, blankets and mess chest—and sees to it before he leaves garrison. There his responsibility practically ceases and falls upon the shoulder of his "stryker"—not a specialist, but a servant provided an officer by army regulations. The stryker is a sort of general factotum, and is usually a man from the officer's own company or troop. He is a jack of all trades, and good at them, too.

GRUB IN THE FIELD.

and when the regiment reaches camp he makes at once for his own particular office and looks after him. It is the stryker who pitches the tent and unpacks what luggage his superior may have after he has first extracted it from the pile of regimental impedimenta. He fetches water and puts the towels by the hand basin, and sometimes he even builds a bed, and not a bad one, either, if his chief has not where to lay his head except upon the ground.

He gets an empty barrel from heaven knows where, sometimes, and proceeds to knock it to pieces, when he carefully extracts all old nails, not caring to play practical jokes upon a superior officer, however much he may upon his comrades. Then the stryker forges further for two long beams, and if they are not forthcoming he cuts down a couple of young trees, or in default of those his genius produces something which answers the purpose, and laying these two on the ground side by side, but the length of the barrel staves apart, he nails the staves, on them, curves downward, with about eight inches between. Behold the slatted bed, which is springier than the ground and drier, and is raised on short rough legs. The writer of this has slept on a barrel bed, and it was more comfortable than some which looked better.

In the meantime, while the officers' tents are going up, those for the companies are being pitched with perfect order, and in an incredibly short time are taut and fast. They are laid out in sets of two lines on what are called the "company streets," and day and night are paroled by sentries who have two hours on and four off alternately. Near the company street are the kitchens—the tents where the "grub" is cooked for the men, and for the officers as well, who have theirs served in the "mess tent," where two or three have gathered together to be served as one set instead of eating separately. Not only do the officers thus have one another's society, but clubbing together cuts down expenses for whatever an officer has in mess outside of the commissary provision he pays for them from his own pocket.

There are always several "messes" (the word strikes civilian ears most unpleasantly) through the regiment, and those officers who are known to be bachelors under all conditions are eagerly lured to take into their charge the goods of life even when they have the money and inclination.

The officers' "hang" is always a little away from the men's tents which are under the immediate charge of the first sergeant and corporals of each company, and at the top of the "line" is the "headquarters," where the colonel and his staff are established.

The men in camp usually smuggle in some kind of a pet or "mascot," which is not always left behind when the order comes to move, unless it may be into action. One of the men who is now with his regiment in Mobile carried with him from the northwest a small black cat, which was hidden in his knapsack when an inquiring officer was about, or played in the car, to the great delight of the soldiers all the way down their owners own anxiety as to what to do with her when they go to Cuba—for the rank and file says "when" not "if." He doesn't wish to leave her home less behind, and yet to kill the company mascot on the eve of battle, as it were is too much like defying fate, and he's much more bothered by that than by his own prospective fate. In the meantime kitty goes purring and playing around camp with an air of domesticity—that convalesces visitors and gives an insight into the character of the soldier.

No More Rainbow Toggery.

A young woman friend of the Post says—and she is noted for her store of information on these matters—that the summer bicycle girl is going to wear easy fitting tan Oxford ties, and very thin, var-colored hose, drop stitch or otherwise, almost exclusively this year. She announces also that the divided bicycle skirt is to be the swagger look this coming season, basing her statement upon the fact that several scores of her bosom bicycle pals are now engaged in the construction of these skirts. She prophesies, furthermore, that Tam O' Shanter, alpines, derbies, and all of the other varieties of bicycle headgear are to give way during the coming summer to the plain sailor hat for the girl. Finally, she states that the girls of Washington are about to inaugurate a crusade against the bicycle man who clings to the lovely, chameleon-rain'ow toggery for riding and that they are to make a stand for the bicycle man who wears plain dark knickerbockers and black hose unrolled.—Washington Post.

Metal Production of the United States.

The value of the metal production in the United States the past year is estimated at over $762,000,000. This production, says the Engineering and Mining Journal, not only emphasizes the great total value, but also the immense variety of the mineral production of the United States. Not only is the United States the largest producer of iron and steel, copper, lead and silver, and of gold, but almost every mineral and metal known to commerce is found within our borders, and is mined or produced in some quantity.

ATTRACTIVE WOMEN.

Fullness of Health Makes Sweet Dispositions and Happy Homes.

[EXTRACTS FROM MRS. PINKHAM'S NOTE BOOK.]

Woman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. At the first indication of ill health, painful menses, pains in the side, headache or backache, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and begin its use. This truly wonderful remedy is the safeguard of women's health.

Mrs. MABEL SMITH, 345 Central Ave., Jersey City Heights, N. J., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I can hardly find words with which to thank you for what your wonderful remedy has done for me. Without it I would by this time have been dead or worse, insane; for when I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a terrible state. I think it would be impossible for me to tell all I suffered. Every part of my body seemed to pain some way. The pain in my back and head was terrible. I was nervous, had hysterics and fainting spells. My case was one that was given up by two of the best doctors in Brooklyn. I had given up myself; as I had tried so many things, I believed nothing would ever do me any good. But, thanks to your medicine, I am now well and strong; in fact, another person entirely."

If you are puzzled about yourself, write freely and fully to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and secure the advice which she offers free of charge to all women. This is the advice that has brought sunshine into many homes which nervousness and irritability had nearly wrecked.

Horse vs Wheel.

[An original poem by one of the eighth grade pupils of the Northville school.]

It was in the year of '95
 And bicycles then were up to date
 I wanted one real bad of course
 But then you know we had a horse
 But Papa dear so good and true
 Said, "Don't be discouraged and don't feel blue
 For my daughter if I sell the horse,
 You'll have a wheel, whatever the cost
 At least our horse don't old, did go
 And the tears for a moment did silently flow
 But I thought of the promise so thoughtless
 And tripped a light waltz while the organ
 Was played
 And now I wish my pony is happy and free
 And for nothing else do I care it
 And you can see me most every night
 As I speed away on my dear old white
 Steed." S. M.

Some of the Northville stores showed patriotism and hustle last week by offering for sale Cuban flags, maps and books containing the pictures of the U. S. navy, flags, ribbons for badges, U. S. flags, atlas, war maps and etc.

While at work in the Dubuar factory Wednesday David Dutton got into a scrap with one of the cut-off saws and came off second best. The fleshy part of a couple fingers were lacerated quite badly but fortunately the bones were not injured.

Instead of going to work last week as announced in the Record it seems that Carl Duines of Detroit, a former Northville boy, simply went and got married. Fred Slater, another ex-Northvillian has gone with the 4th regiment to Island Lake, however.

A memorial service for the U. S. Battleship Maine will be held in the Methodist church next Sunday evening. Address by the pastor. A collection to be applied toward a monument for the Maine victims will be taken at the close of the service.

The band concerts on Saturdays night are much appreciated. The boys dish up a liberal amount of patriotic airs which are enthusiastically enjoyed. During last Saturday night's concert, the streets were so thronged with people that traffic was practically suspended.

In the absence of the pastor, the pulpit of the Baptist church was filled last Sunday morning and evening by Rev. J. J. Bicknell of Athens, Mich. He is a very able and forceful speaker and many favorable comments were made upon his discourses. He will preach at Plymouth next Sunday.

While making a canvass of the village last week for the new '98 directory the Record representative came near getting into trouble in several cases he was taken for a war representative obtaining the names for a draft. In one case the parties refused plain blank to give their names at all.

Ed Lockwood, who formerly lived at Highland, now a resident of Northville, lost his pocketbook on Thursday containing as he supposed $10. He thought he lost it either at Beaumont's barn, Highland, or near the depot, Milford, where he was unloading a car of lumber. He made a thorough search on Friday morning but was just giving it up for good when a boy came in from William Newsome's, Commerce, bringing the lost cash. Mr. Lockwood spent Thursday night at Newsome's and dropped the pocketbook while sitting about the stove there. It was not discovered until Friday morning. The pocketbook contained $120 instead of $10.—Milford Times.

Work will begin at once, says the Free Press, on the extension of the Citizens' Telephone Company's line from Emulus to Belleville, Wayne and probably Northville. If there is one thing more than another that Northville needs, it is another telephone company—to make even numbers, there being only three in operation here at the present time.

In speaking of the trouble with the town clock, Mr. Porter says that he has cared for it since it was put in place by the Seth Thomas people and that his care of it, together with the oiling, etc., has been in conformity with the instructions of the Thomas Co.'s expert. He says that he thoroughly understands the care and workings of tower clocks and that he turned this one over in first-class running order.

The B.Y.P.U. has arranged a pleasing entertainment to be given in the rink Friday evening, May 13. A first class supper will be served from 5:00 to 8:00 o'clock, after which a program consisting of cornet and vocal solos and duets and recitations by the Misses Welch, Johns and Rasch will be rendered, concluding with a very laughable farce entitled "Popping the Question." Commissioner Campbell refused to revoke his order cancelling the license of the Liverpool London & Globe Insurance Co., and the company will institute mandamus proceedings to compel reinstatement. Meanwhile Mr. Campbell has notified the company's agents that they will be arrested and prosecuted if any more policies are written until the company complies with the statutes. This is the company that raised so much trouble with the adjustment of the loss of Holmes, Dancer & Co., here last year. But for their objections the other companies, the firm says, would have made a quick and satisfactory settlement.

Since the article in last week's Record relative to the clerks desisting a general movement along the early closing line, a number of Northville residents have expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of it and willing to co-operate. They say their sympathies are with the clerks and merchants who are obliged to be at work before six in the morning and remain on duty until nine or ten o'clock at night. There is but little doubt—but what the majority of people can arrange to do their trading between the hours of 6:30 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. without much if any inconvenience. The only thing possible likely to arise to prevent the success of a general movement of this kind is that some merchants are sometimes not overly scrupulous in locking their doors at the contract time. The clerks say however that if their new agitation goes, this matter will be carefully looked after.

The farmer, the mechanic, the bicycle rider are liable to unexpected cuts and bruises. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to keep on hand. It heals quickly, and is a well known cure for piles. Murdock Bros.

Thorns To Sit Upon.
Many people gather thorns by failing to heed the warning sent out by diseased kidneys—coated tongue—parched skin—feverishness—dull dragging pain—general feeling of weariness—is sure evidence of kidney and bladder trouble. Take Utah Kidney Beans at once—they will cure you—they have cured thousands of others. THE TURNERS OF PHILADELPHIA mail Utah Kidney Beans. E. B. Samuels, county clerk of Hickman county, Kentucky, testifies that he suffered for years with horrible pain in the back and bladder, was treated by many physicians—they gave him no relief—he got so that he could hardly stand alone—Utah Kidney Beans, he says, completely cured him. He gladly recommends them to all sufferers. Hueston Pharmacy, Northville Agent.

Turners Little Liver Turners—A very small pill Turn your liver. A true laxative. An after-dinner pill.

Speaking of one thing and another—and boats. Dry goods-man Perkins made a neat haul the other day. He captured Fred Wilcox's two mast schooner "Cndine" and it is now on exhibit, trimmed with U. S. flags, in one of his store windows.

Another lodge is added to Northville's list of fraternal societies. The "Northville Legion" was organized last night by J. M. and C. A. DEWEY'S BIG VICTORY

U. S. FLEET DEFEAT SPANIARDS OFF MANILA.

At Least Four of the Best Spanish Vessels Destroyed While the Americans are Reported to Have Suffered but Little in Comparison.

The Asiatic squadron of the United States, Commodore Dewey commanding, engaged and completely defeated the Asiatic squadron of Spain in the harbor of Manila in the Philippine islands.

All the news of the great naval battle thus far received is from Spanish sources. This shows conclusively that Manila has not yet been taken by the American forces and that the cable was cut.

DEWEY'S FLAGSHIP, OLYMPIA.

Lines are still under control of Spain. From the fact that even the advices received from Madrid show that the American warships fared the best, there is hardly any doubt that when complete details are obtainable it will be learned that it was a crushing defeat for Spain.

During the two engagements that took place, Commodore Montojo, commanding the Spanish fleet, lost three of his large ships. His flagship, the armored cruiser Reina Christina, and the armored cruiser Castilla were destroyed, and the cruiser Don Juan de Austria was blown out of the water. Capt. Carda, commanding the Varra Christ, was killed. The blowing up of the Don Juan de Austria was attended by a great loss of life among the crew. Her commander also being killed.

Commodore Dewey's squadron left Side Bay, a few miles from Manila, about 1 1/2 m. proceeded toward Manila. Under the cover of darkness he entered the harbor of Manila the batteries opened their guns announcing his arrival. Both fleets lined up for battle at day-break, about 5 o'clock. The guns of the American ships began firing on the fortress on Cavite and the arsenal of Manila. The Spanish warships opened fire under the protection of guns of the forts. After about two hours fighting the American squadron drew off to the west of the bay and took refuge behind some foreign vessels. The ships had evidently suffered considerable damage. After they made some hasty repairs they returned to the conflict. During this engagement the guns at Cavite maintained a steady and stronger fire upon Commodore Dewey's ship than in the first encounter, but the American guns were being used with telling effect. As the smoke lifted it was seen that the flagship, Reina Christina, was on fire. The vessel was completely burned. In the interval between the two engagements Commodore Montojo moved his flag from the Cristina to the smaller cruiser Isla de Cuba. To the fact that he had made this change he doubtless owes his life. The cruiser Castilla, next to the flagship, was the largest and most powerful of the Spanish squadron and was also burned. The cruiser Don Antonio de Ulloa and the Mindanao were also badly damaged in the encounter, and at least two vessels were sunk by the Spanish to prevent their falling into the hands of the Americans.

That the American squadron received severe damage by the engagement cannot be doubted. Early reports had it that five of Commodore Dewey's ships had been sunk. Later advices from Madrid put the number at two but it is highly significant that the latest advices from Madrid and Lisbon make no mention of any American ships being destroyed. There were undoubtedly heavy losses in men on both sides.

Trustworthy details of the American loss of life will hardly be obtainable until Commodore Dewey has taken Manila or has sent a vessel with dispatches to Hong Kong.

After the battle Commodore Dewey landed a force and opened a hospital for his wounded which makes it certain that the land forces of the Spaniards had no heart to continue the conflict after witnessing the naval engagement.

Spanish Surrender Important Town. Gen. Pando the commander of the Spanish forces in eastern Cuba withdrew the Spanish garrison from Bayamo, one of the important towns of the provinces of Santiago de Cuba. Gen. Calixto Garcia the insurgent commander, occupied the town next day.

The Spanish merchants and residents of Bayamo were in great fear of plunder and massacre, but Gen. Garcia issued a proclamation declaring that the property of Spaniards and their civil rights would be respected. The general also personally assured the leading Spaniards of the place that they were perfectly safe in remaining at Bayamo, with the result that business went on as usual, and tranquillity prevailed there. The people began bringing in vegetables and meat from the country and the prices of provisions fell. No case of outrage has been reported.

Bayamo, or San Salvador, is situated about 60 miles northwest of the city of Santiago de Cuba. It has a population of about 7,000.

Dewey will be made an admiral.

INVASION OF CUBA ORDERED.

Groups of Chickasawga are on the Move - Transport Ship's Chartered.

Chattanooga: The Ninth cavalry (colored) and the entire eight batteries of artillery centered at Chickasawga have been ordered to Tampa, Fla., as soon as the railroad can carry them.

Mobile: The Tenth and Twenty-second infantry regiments at Mobile received orders to leave for Tampa and began at once preparing for the journey. Soon afterward a train moved out from the government military camp near Mobile for Tampa carrying supplies, escort wagons, ambulances, mules and hostlers and teamsters. It is reported that this is the first step of a movement that will finally concentrate all the troops at Mobile at Tampa and also those at New Orleans so as to form with the troops at Tampa, a force of 8,000, to be the advance guard of the army of occupation of Cuba.

New Orleans: The three regiments of infantry here have been ordered to leave for Tampa under rush orders. Tampa, Fla. Col. Melville A. Cochran, commanding the first provisional brigade of Tampa division, received a telegram from Washington instructing him to hold his command in readiness for immediate departure with rations for 30 days. Officers here expect that all the troops now stationed at Chickasawga will be here in a few days. These troops consist of 3,000 cavalry, 10 batteries of artillery of 500 men and 2,500 infantry, or a total of 6,000 men.

On the arrival of these troops it is quite likely that they will be organized into brigades and regiments for transfer to Cuba.

Washington: A rather striking sign of the imminence of the invasion of Cuba was contained in the chartering by the war department of eight large steamers of an average capacity of about 2,000 tons and able to carry from 600 to 1,200 passengers each to be used as transports for the conveyance of the first military expedition to Cuba.

New York: Large quantities of clothing and supplies such as would be required by an army invading Cuba has just been purchased here and shipped to Tampa. This includes 2,000 canvas hammocks, 5,000 feet bats, 2,500 pairs of woolen blankets, 2,500 rubber blankets or ponchos, 5,000 pairs of shoes and 5,000 coats and 1,500 pairs of trousers. It is not certain that within a few days a strong force of the regular army will enter Cuba and there effect a junction with the forces of the insurgents. This move means the conveyance of a great quantity of arms, ammunition and other supplies to the Cuban army.

Thus fitted out the Cuban army in this country say that Gen. Gomez will launch quickly the Spaniards in Cuba.

Gen. W. R. Shafter who it is said will have command of the Cuban expedition, has been in consultation with Gen. Miles, and it is believed that the latter will carefully detail the details of the plan to enter Cuba. Gen. Shafter is in command of the United States troops now concentrated in New Orleans, many of whom it is understood are to form part of the invading army.

Owing to Commodore Dewey's big victory at the battle of the Spanish fleet from Cape Verde islands it has been thought best by the Washington authorities to postpone naval and land operations against the Spanish in Cuba until disposition is made of the Spanish fleet, which is supposed to be headed for South Atlantic or Caribbean waters. The presence of that formidable fleet in the southern part of this hemisphere is a menace to the military forces of the United States engaged in the Cuban campaign. If the United States troops were landed and the American fleet should by any mishap suffer loss at the hands of the Spanish squadron the troops would have to be withdrawn.

Martial Law in Madrid. Surprise and disappointment has been caused at Madrid by the destruction of the American fleet as it had been officially stated that the authorities at Manila had received torpedoes and heavy guns to strengthen the coast defense. Owing to the excited condition of the populace martial law has been proclaimed at Madrid. Immediately after the declaration large numbers of the police and civilian guards occupied the principal streets and the whole garrison of troops were placed on waiting orders. The proclamation of martial law is due to the attitude of certain political parties since the news from Manila.

Vienna: It is positively denied in well informed circles that the powers will intervene at the present juncture.

Madrid: It is very noticeable, especially among politicians, that there is a strong hope of an intervention by continental powers, especially Germany and Russia.

Washington Will Not Join. Not so the dark days of the great civil conflict of a half of a century ago, have the people of Washington been so profoundly moved by war news as they were when the news came that the first battle of the Hispano-American war had been fought and a victory won by Admiral Dewey's squadron under the stars and stripes. That was enough to set the people of Washington almost in a frenzy of enthusiastic rejoicing. When the news came indicating a great victory for the American squadron the enthusiasm of the people was let loose and the streets of the city rang with cheers throughout the night. It was a spontaneous outburst of patriotic feeling that scarcely knew bounds. Admiral Dewey's name was on every lip and praises were sung in the rejoicings of the people. Government officials were greatly relieved by the news of an American victory.

A dispatch from Manila says the Spaniards have captured the American bark Saranac, loaded with coal, bound from Newcastle, N. S. W., to Iloilo.

FIRST BOMBARDMENT.

SAMPSON REDUCED MATANZAS BATTERIES.

Flagship New York, Gunboat Cincinnati and the Monitor Puritan. Go Terrible Execution - Spanish Gunners Fire Wild - Many Spanish Killed.

Admiral Sampson bombarded and silenced the Spanish batteries in position and in course of construction at the entrance of the harbor of Matanzas. He did it with the flagship New York, the monitor Puritan and the gunboat Cincinnati. Not one of the American ships was struck the Spanish gunnery being wild. The number of dead and wounded on the Spanish side must be considerable.

While the New York, Puritan and Cincinnati were reconnoitering for the purpose of locating and destroying the formidable defenses being constructed the flagship was fired on by the batteries on Pointe Babat Cayo and Pointe Maya, guarding the entrance to the harbor. The New York replied instantly. The Puritan steamed in behind the New York and engaged the fortifications on Pointe Maya while the New York went to starboard close up to the land and poured her shells into Rubal Cayo. The Cincinnati, which had remained well astern under orders signaled for permission to engage and received it, and soon was firing shells into the fort on the west side of the bay. The batteries fired explosive shells and most of them fell wide of the mark. One burst beyond the stern of the New York and a schrapnel shot exploded over her. It took the three ships just 18 minutes to silence the batteries. It is believed that much damage was done to the town also. The marksmanship of the American gunners was remarkable, nearly every shot taking effect.

All told the United States ships fired 86 shots at the forts. This is by actual count. The torpedoes probably 25 shots. After waiting in vain for the Spanish to return, the engagement the ships withdrew, leaving the batteries in ruins.

Matanzas lies at the head of a bay about four miles from the sea. This bay at its mouth is three miles wide. On the west side of the bay is Pointe Palmar Cayo and on the east side Pointe Maya. These points have a very slight elevation above the sea, but the configuration of the harbor is such as to give the batteries on them a commanding position.

For more important than the destruction of the Matanzas batteries is the conclusion about the future which may be drawn from the bombardment. This conclusion is that Havana is also likely at the mercy of the United States fleet whenever it chooses to open fire. Admiral Sampson with guns which amount to less than one-tenth of his fighting force, silenced practically three batteries in 18 minutes. He steamed right in on them as close as he could get and not one of our ships was touched. The incident has greatly encouraged the naval officers, and they believe that when they bombard Havana they will destroy all the defenses in about one hour.

TO HOLD THE PHILIPPINES. Uncle Sam Will Send 5,000 Troops and Plenty of Supplies at Once.

Washington: The cabinet has decided to send to Commodore Dewey the number of troops he deems necessary to enforce our control of the Philippines. The administration has practically decided to occupy the Philippines with a strong military force as soon as possible. For this purpose Pacific slope troops will be used and it is expected that at least 5,000 will be en route within the next 10 days.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles telegraphed orders to Brig. Gen. Merrim to at once get the troops in his command ready for transportation to the Philippines, it having been decided that the Fifth and Seventh cavalry and Fourteenth and Fifteenth infantry shall be drawn upon to form a nucleus of the invading force and that they shall concentrate at San Francisco immediately. Enough men will be taken from volunteer quotas of extreme western states to form an army of 5,000. The President has concluded that it will be dangerous to delay. He is afraid that Dewey will have serious need for all the soldiers sent him when the insurgents find that they are not to be given possession of the Philippines they may make trouble and another cause for alarm so that there are a large number of Spanish soldiers fully equipped already at Manila and it will be impossible to restrain them.

There does not seem to be any doubt as to government's purpose to hold the islands pending a final settlement with Spain when they will be used as a collateral to secure the payment to the United States of a war indemnity. High officials are of the opinion that none of the powers will seriously oppose our right to make such final disposition of the islands as suits our purpose in the enforcement of war claims against Spain and in any event this government will be prepared to contest any point which may be raised.

The Spanish passenger steamer Ambrosio Belivar was captured by the monitor Terror off Caidenas and was towed into Key West by the Destroyer. While she was being chased most of the crew escaped in small boats. Over $60,000 in silver was captured.

Reports from Cuba state that the insurgents are closing in on Havana in force. The famous Moron-Juarez trocha across Puerto Principe province from ocean to ocean which the Spanish regarded as one of their strongest lines of forts, has been abandoned to the insurgents.

SPANISH FLEET SAILED.

Left Cape Verde Islands Bound for Cuba - Flying Squadron Will Meet Them - St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands: The Spanish fleet sailed in a westerly direction. The destination is unknown. Orders to be given at sea. The official announcement says that the Spanish fleet was composed of the first class armored cruiser Cristobal Colon; Infauta Maria Teresa, Almirante Oquendo and Vizcaya, the torpedo boat destroyers Furor, Terror and Phaton and the transport Pir of Cadiz. It was added that the torpedo boats Ariete, Rayo and Azor, would return to Cadiz.

Washington: The navy department has received information that the Spanish squadron has left the Cape Verde Islands. Its destination is unknown, but it is presumed to be headed for Cuba or American waters. It is reported that the Commander Schley, of the flying squadron at Hampton Roads, has received orders to sail to meet the Spanish fleet.

Later dispatches have been received which confirm the report that the Spanish fleet is on its way across the Atlantic, probably heading for Porto Rico. If Commodore Schley's squadron sails to meet them it will be in the capacity of scouts to detect the approach of the Spanish vessels. It is understood that Admiral Sampson's fleet will be formed into two divisions leaving slow vessels before Havana and swiftest going with the flying squadron. Admiral Sampson will command the first and Commodore John C. Watson the second. The six armored cruisers, New York, Iowa, Indiana, Puritan, Terror and Tamiami, will be in a central station on the Atlantic coast and will sail to meet the Spanish fleet. The blockade would be conducted by the remaining vessels, under Watson who has been ordered to confer with Sampson. The movement of the armored ships northward will necessitate the reinforcement of the blockading squadron with such auxiliary cruisers and gunboats as can be spared. As there will be a lot of heavy vessels close at hand, these members of the mosquito fleet can well be spared from patrol duty. With one battleship, a couple of monitors and the auxiliary cruisers the blockade of Cuba can be maintained. The ships thus relieved will then join the flying squadron and increase its efficiency.

If it is evident that the Spanish fleet is coming in force to Porto Rico the flying squadron will reinforce Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet and battle will be given the enemy in Cuban waters without raising the blockade. If the Spaniards cross the Atlantic on a more northerly parallel, Rear Admiral Sampson's big ships will hurry northward and join the flying squadron to meet them. If the enemy's odds are his fleet into two squadrons we will do likewise or if the odds are against our squadrons in detail when the fleet is divided a commander will be selected for each of them with Rear Admiral Sampson in supreme command.

Dewey Takes Manila. Commodore Dewey, according to a late dispatch from Madrid, gave Capt. Gen. August 24 hours to comply with an ultimatum which demanded all war like stores and the entire stock of coal in charge of the governmental officials. The ultimatum was that if no money was paid by the government at once, the Spanish vessels in the Philippine archipelago, threatening to bombard the forts if he refused.

It is reported that after destroying the Spanish fleet Commodore Dewey attacked the fortifications at Cavite, west of Manila and destroyed there and the unfortified part of Manila, marine were landed from the American vessels and took possession of Cavite. The Spanish fortifications on Corregidor Island, at the entrance to Manila bay were also reduced by the fleet.

The Spanish troops throughout Cuba have been concentrated at different points along the coast, so as to be ready to meet any attempt to land troops from the United States. Thousands of men are reported to be enlisting in the volunteer battalions.

Conditions in Washington are rapidly setting down to those of actual war. Notices have reached the state department from the four quarters of the showing that the nations as a rule are prepared to assume an attitude of strict neutrality as between the United States and Spain in the present struggle.

ASTHMA'S PROGRESS.

From Cold to Cure.

No relief in other remedies.

There are many medicines that palliate asthma. There are few that do more than relieve for a time the oppressed breathing of the sufferer. There are few diseases more troublesome and more irritating than asthma. It interferes with business and with pleasure. It prevents enjoyment of the day and makes the night a terror. A remedy for asthma would be hailed by thousands as the greatest boon that could be offered them. There is a remedy for asthma. Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has cured hundreds of cases of this disease, and testimonials to its efficacy from those who have tried the remedy are multiplying with every year. The cases presented in the testimonials that follow may be taken as exemplifying the quick and radical action of this great remedy.

"About a year ago, I caught a cold which resulted in asthma so severe that I was threatened with suffocation whenever I attempted to lie down on my bed. A friend recommending Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I began to take it, and soon obtained relief, and finally was completely cured. Since then, I have used this medicine in my family with great success for colds, coughs, and croup."—H. W. HAYES, Editor "Rolling Stone," St. Louis, Mo.

"While on the Gasconade River, Ga., I caught a severe cold which resulted in asthma. After taking doctors' prescriptions for a long time without benefit, I at length made use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was completely cured."—H. G. KIRCHELL, Greenwood, Miss.

"Some time since I had a severe attack of asthma, accompanied with a bad cough and a general soreness of the joints and muscles. I consulted physicians and tried various remedies, but without getting any relief. Finally I took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and in a very short time was entirely cured."—J. ROSSALLS, Victoria, Tex.

"Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is known throughout the world over as one of the most effective medicines for the cure of coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, asthma, bronchitis, and all affections of the throat and lungs. It is not, as are so many cough medicines, a mere 'soothing syrup,' a temporary relief and palliative, but it is a radical remedy, dealing directly with disease and promptly healing it. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has opened a new freight terminal, with yard facilities, at the foot of West 26th street, on the Hudson river, in New York city. A large plot of ground between 26th and 27th streets fronting on 23rd avenue, was secured and tracks were laid to accommodate 100 cars; and in addition a warehouse, 300 x 25 feet, was built. Tracks have been laid across 13th avenue to the pier, and a new bridge and other necessary adjuncts have been built to facilitate the handling of cars from floats to the land. The establishment of this terminal enables the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company to gather business from the extensive lumber yards and the piano, structural iron, boiler and other manufacturing industries in that vicinity. The delivery of freight for firms in that neighborhood is also facilitated by the improvement.

"He could not believe the evidence of his senses; it was incredible that the laughing voice belonged to his cold, proud wife—the girl who had swept unmercifully from the room when he saw her last. He looked at her in amazement. She would not see the surprise on his face or make the least difference because of it.

"You have the very pick of the garden here," she said; "every spray has its own special beauty."

He roused himself, and tried to recover from the wondering stupor that had overcome him.

"You really remembered, Hildred, what I said?" he began, with a pleased look.

"Yes, and I think you showed good taste," she replied. "I know no flower lovelier than fragrant magnolias."

"And you really think that I have good taste?" he said.

"Yes. Why should that surprise you?" she asked, with a smile.

His face flushed, and his eyes drooped.

"I fancied," he said, hurriedly, "that you considered me altogether graceless, and without one redeeming quality."

"Indeed, I do not," she replied, earnestly, thinking of all that Sir Raoul had said in his favor. "That is a great mistake of yours."

"There is one thing," he confessed, in a low voice—"I have shown the worst side of my character to you."

She felt frightened and inclined to run away.

"You will not lose my flowers or throw them away?" she said. And then she was startled, for his handsome indolent eyes were locking into hers with a new expression in their blue depths.

"Am I so wanting in civility and gallantry Hildred?" he asked her. "I believe this is the first thing that you have ever given me of your own free will, is it not?"

"No," she replied, quietly, "it is not."

"Ah, pardon me," he said, with a quick change of face and voice—"you gave me your fortune!"

There was hot rebellion for one moment—hot, bitter rebellion. Then she remembered Sir Raoul's words. It was for her husband's good. She trampled down the hot impulses of angry pride—she stifled the bitter anger and contempt. Her victory over herself was so great that she was even surprised at it. She laid her hand on his arm.

"Nay, Lord Caraven," she said, gently, "you are quite wrong. I was not thinking of money. Gold is dross—I despise it—I could almost hate it for the mischief that it makes. I was thinking of something very different from money—something that money could not buy."

He was looking at her with keen curiosity.

"Something that money could not buy," he repeated. "I declare that you puzzle me. I thought gold was omnipotent."

"I do not think so—do not like it omnipotent? Why, Lord Caraven, all the wealth in the world could not buy happiness or love."

"No," he said, quietly, "it could not; yet, Hildred, money has done something for me."

"I do not intend to depreciate it," she remarked, "but it is not omnipotent, and there are many things in this world of far higher value than money."

"It is true," he said, thoughtfully. She laughed again, and, if he had known her better, he would have detected tears in the sound of that laugh.

"We are positively agreeing," Lord Caraven, she said.

He was looking at her with intense curiosity in his face.

"Hildred, what have you given me that money could not buy?"

The dark eyes gleamed softly. "I will not tell you, Lord Caraven," she answered.

"But I must know. You have excited my curiosity—you must gratify it. You have enumerated three things that money cannot buy—happiness, virtue, love. It was none of these. Then what could it be?"

"I must go, Lord Caraven," she said, her face growing hot and her heart beating quickly. "If you weigh every word that I say, I shall have to be very careful."

"Hildred, tell me what you mean?" he requested. "What have you given me?"

"I will tell you," she replied, laughingly, "when you have counted all those tiny leaves on the magnolias."

She turned to go, but he put out his hand to detain her. She eluded him, and, with a light laugh, disappeared, leaving him by the veranda alone.

"You look astonished at something," said Lord Caraven's friend to him when he returned to resume their game at billiards.

"Yes," replied the earl—"I have been enjoying a novel sensation."

"What is that?" asked his friend.

"I am not quite sure," was the laughing reply—"I should not like to be too certain of it—but I believe that I have been flirting with my own wife."

The young countess had hastened smilingly away after presenting him with the sprays of magnolias. If that was the result of a few kind words, she said to herself that she would often say them. Sir Raoul saw her smiling and blushing with a glad light in her eyes.

"Well," he said, "what success, Hildred?"

"The best in the world," she replied; and her pleasure was increased at dinner time when she saw that Lord Caraven wore some of the magnolias in his buttonhole.

Lord Caraven was fond of music, he had a rich, ringing tenor voice which, as a rule, he was too indolent to use. He would trol on a verse of a love ditty, or the chorus of a drinking-song in a fashion that made one long to hear the rest. In the evening Sir Raoul asked him to sing.

"It is too much trouble," said the handsome earl. "Why should I exert myself to sing when other people can do it so much better for me?"

"That is an idle excuse," returned Sir Raoul. "Lady Caraven, persuade your husband to sing, he has a voice almost as rich and clear as Mario's, but he will never use it."

She came over to him. He looked at his beautiful young wife in all the shimmer of satin and gleam of pearls; he gazed earnestly into the beautiful face.

"Do sing, Lord Caraven," she said. "You owe me something for my flowers this morning."

"Do you really wish me to sing, Hildred?" he asked.

"Do, indeed," she answered. "Then you shall be obeyed. Will

"There has never been any difficulty about the renewal of the leases, my lady. The lords of Caraven knew how to value good tenants; and when a fresh lease was signed the earl would say, 'Moore, you will take a glass of wine with me, and the best wine in his lordship's cellar would be put before him. There might have been tenants who would have offered more money, but the lords of Ravensmere would have laughed at that. We were their humble friends and their servants, my lady. You do not meet with such every day."

"I understand," she repeated not knowing what to say.

"Now, my lady, the seventy years' lease, signed when I was a curly-headed boy playing at my father's knee, has expired. We thought, my son John and I, that we had nothing to do except call on the earl and renew it. We never dreamed of anything else, my son John and I. So we called, my lady, and a footman brought us word that his lordship left all the business connected with the estate to Mr. Blantyre. As we were leaving home I said to my son John, 'You will call on the earl's famous vine to day, and he, in his chery way, said, 'It will do you good father.' But there was no wine, my lady, and kindly greeting from the lord of the castle, no message to the old retainers of the house, except that we were to go to Blantyre. My lady," said the old man solemnly as he struck his stick upon the ground. "I hate Blantyre!"

She could have added, "So do I. But it was wiser to be silent."

SHE ELUDED HIM

"You have an old-fashioned English ballad, or a Scotch one? No French or Italian for me. I like good heavy words."

He sang one of the prettiest of English songs—"Good-by Sweetheart Good-by"—sang it with such sweetness, such pathos, that his listeners were almost moved to tears.

"I could not leave thee though I said Good-bye, sweetest good-bye."

As the last words passed his lips he caught a glimpse of his wife's face. What did it express? He stooped suddenly. Sir Raoul rallied him, begging him to finish.

"Let us have the last verse," said he, but the earl turned quickly to him.

"Not another word, Raoul," he answered. "I can sing no more. I have seen a ghost."

"A ghost?" cried Sir Raoul. "The ghost of what?"

"I am not quite sure," replied the earl; "but I think it was the ghost of what might have been." And Sir Raoul said no more.

CHAPTER XXXII.

A N old man with hair as white as snow, a worn, troubled face, and hands that trembled as they rested on his stick, was standing before Lady Caraven, bowing as though she were the arbitress of his destiny.

"I am Farmer Moore, my lady—Farmer Moore—and I want to speak to you."

Lady Caraven stood quite still, he was a man so old and venerable that his appearance alone commanded respect.

"Farmer Moore," she repeated, "and you want me. I am very pleased to see you. Will you come into the house?"

"No, my lady, I cannot enter your doors with my present trouble on me. Your husband is a young man but he is driving my white head to the grave."

"My husband?" exclaimed Lady Caraven. "You must not speak ill of him."

"He must not act ill to me," he said, "an old man my lady, so old that my grandsons say a good wish

A WOMAN'S BURDEN.

From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

The women of to-day are not as strong as their grandmothers. They are bearing a burden in a case that grows heavier day by day; that is sapping their vitality and clouding their happiness.

"I have stood here, my lady," he said, "every day for ten long days, waiting to see you. They told me that you were young and a kind heart. You had kind eyes and a kind heart. Your husband wants to drive me to death, my lady—will you save me?"

She thought he must be raving; but his manner was calm and collected. They were standing together just at the end of the copping, and Lady Caraven pointed to one of the fallen trees.

"Sit down there, Farmer Moore," she said, "if you will not come into the house, and tell me what is wrong."

"I am an old man, my lady; I have lived many years; and I have never seen an injustice prosper yet. The earl is going to do an injustice to me and mine. You will keep him from it?"

"I will if I can," she replied. "What is it?"

"The Moores have lived at Bromhill Farm, my lady, more years than I can count. I have heard it read how, centuries ago, when the lords of Caraven went to war, the Moores followed them. They have always been tenants on the Ravensmere estates. The farm, my lady—Bromhill Farm—is let to them on lease; when one lease expires another is signed. My lady, when I was a boy, my father signed a lease for seventy years, and the seventy years will be at an end next month. I have sons and grandsons waiting to succeed me, and the home is my home—I love it. My father lived and died there, my sons were born there. The old homestead is part of my life, of my soul, my lady; standing outside of it, I seem to have no life."

"I understand," she said, gently. "There has never been any difficulty about the renewal of the leases, my lady. The lords of Caraven knew how to value good tenants; and when a fresh lease was signed the earl would say, 'Moore, you will take a glass of wine with me, and the best wine in his lordship's cellar would be put before him. WHY HE HAD TO MOVE.

Fortunate Lived Next Door to a Doctor with Night Calls.

"Why, naig," said the landlord to a tenant whom he had recently secured for a house that had been unoccupied for several months, "you're not going to vacate so soon? You're only been there a month." "I know it, and a month more would be the end of me. I ain going to get a house way out in the suburbs and in the center of a big lot. You'll never get me into a double house again as long as I live. I'd rather take the family and camp out." "The place is all I told you it was, sir; good house, good neighborhood and everything in good repair. I'll look to you for the rent until the end of the term."

"That's all right, and I'll pay it. I'm not mean enough to try to sublet it, either. One thing you didn't tell me, that the man in the other end of the house is a doctor and that he seems to have trained his patients to call on him at night. I haven't had any sleep worth speaking of in the whole three weeks. Coming up on the porch they reach my door first. They ring the bell as though it were a fire alarm, and then begin pounding on the door. When I'm forced to go to the door to prevent it's being broken in and to give the rest of the folks a little show to sleep, it's 'Get into your clothes, doc, and come right over to the house,' or 'Jimmie has the croup,' or 'Baby's having an awful time with his teeth,' or 'Why didn't you call this evening as you agreed to?' If I put my head out of the window and try to explain they get hot, tell me I had better take in my sign, better retire from business, or something worse. I'll bring you the keys this evening."

TOOK HIS ADVICE.

A Veterinary Surgeon of Battle Creek Tells About It.

How many times in life a few words of good advice, coming from a friend one can depend upon, will save us hours, perhaps months of misery. The following which coming from Battle Creek will interest our readers. Dr. Oliver Giffen, Veterinary Surgeon of that city, a well-known man there, as well as in Kalamazoo and Marshall, speaks of his experience with the little conqueror and the result of a few timely words of advice. He says:

"I was standing in Amberg & Murphy's drug store in Battle Creek one day when a friend of mine came in and asked for a box of Doan's Pills. As far as I had heard, he was a healthy man and I, that we had nothing to do except call on the earl and renew it. We never dreamed of anything else, my son John and I. So we called, my lady, and a footman brought us word that his lordship left all the business connected with the estate to Mr. Blantyre. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at G. C. Hueston's Drug Store.

The Greatest Discovery Yet.

W. M. Repline, editor "Luskwa, Ill., Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experienced with many others, but never got the relief until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on us as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at Geo. C. Hueston's Drug Store.
