PLYMOUTH FAIR WAS SUCCESSFUL.

NORTHVILLE PEOPLE MUCH IN EVIDENCE.

Added to the Crowd and Captured Premiums.

Plymouth's fair last week was the usual success. The exhibits were about on par with previous years and the large crowd showed about the same interest as upon former occasions. Northville people were in evidence in quantities that materially aided to swell the gate receipts, as well as to walk off with a large number of prizes. All kinds of fairs were on hand and the crowd lacked not for amusement along that line. Wednesday the grounds were graced by some 300 school children from various neighboring schools.

As the Record stated last week T. G. Richardson of this place unquestionably had the finest mercantile exhibit on the grounds. It chiefly consisted of dry goods, silks, capes, jackets and trimmings and was much admired.

The floral display and exhibit made by the Northville Green houses was another rare attraction in the floral hall. It was the largest exhibit of plants and flowers ever seen on the grounds. Mr. Dixon received hundreds of compliments and no end of premiums.

John Hirsch had a nice display of buggies and walked off with a stack of blue cards.

Mrs. Brooks of this place captured prizes on her display of asters, fascinator and crocheted mitts.

For the Automatic Hatching Co. Mr. Ross captured first prize on his celebrated chicken brooder. Mr. Ross also had some of his rug machines on exhibit.

The Northville Poultry Assn had 20 exhibits and captured 17 premiums.

President Sherwood and Secretary Collier and their valuable corps of assistants are to be congratulated in the successful outcome of the fair.

NORTHVILLE WON THE BALL GAMES

AT THE BIG PLYMOUTH FAIR LAST WEEK.

Beat Novi Wednesday and Wayne on Friday.

In the base ball tournament during the Plymouth fair last week, the Northville team won with the trial and final game. On Wednesday, our team defeated Novi by a score of 10 to 3 and on Friday the boys defeated the Wayne team (which was victorious on Thursday) by a score of 16 to 2. In all the Northville team captured $70 prize money.

Where Is the Responsibility?

The Ypsilantian presents some statistics to show that the death rate from disease in the recent war has been only three-fifths of one per cent for three months, while that of the civil war for a corresponding period was nearly double, being one and one-fourth per cent. and that during the first two years of the civil war some regiments in the Virginia campaign lost almost ten per cent from disease. These facts give to the impartial student of present problems a reason for the revision of some hastily formed opinions perhaps, but still other facts exist which must render the difference less impressive than it would seem at the first glance. Look at the advantage in the understanding and application of sanitary science and the wonderful advancement in the theories of disease and their corresponding treatment and prevention which more than three decades of experience and research have given the medical world. Then the inevitable dangers of the climatic conditions to be met demanded special and stringent efforts. These dangers were a prominent factor in the war problem, and were thoroughly recognized as such to the extent of rendering the chief executive unwilling to expose the army to them, even at the alternative—but for the overwhelming tide of an undisciplined and unreflecting public sentiment—of deferring the commencement of operations until a safer season of the year.

The appalling harvest of death in the British army so many years ago was held up as a warning but the very advantages before mentioned were considered a sufficient guarantee that though eternal vigilance was undeniably the price of the human lives at stake, that vigilance would be exerted to its utmost in behalf of America's best and bravest. Was it? It is no excuse to say that individual carelessness in the ranks is greatly responsible. There were the necessary regulations, and they should have been enforced to the very last point by those whose positions gave them the right to demand that unquestioning obedience which is the first and fundamental principle of military service. The comparative immunity of the regulars emphasizes this point incontestably.

School Notes.

Miss Grace Porter was on the sick list last week, and Miss Thompson did the supplying.

I. B. Gilbert took advantage of the vacation last week and spent the day at the Detroit High-school.

The attendance of the grades is increasing. The increase in the High-school has compelled a part of the seniors to study at home because of the scarcity of seats.

The library has been remodeled. It now opens into the hall in place of the 8th grade room, and is used as an office. It will be more convenient arranged in this way, as pupils may go to the library during school hours without disturbance to any room.

A class has been started in book-keeping this week. Classes in the study of English classics started this week also. This class will be a study of the American and English masterpieces, with a thorough drill in reading and writing essays upon them. The aim is to give the student a better knowledge of how to write good English and to appreciate the best pieces of literature.

Clarence M. Williams.

Editor Record: I wish to correct a mistake in your last week's issue of the Record. It was Clarence M. Williams instead of Marcus Peck, who called on us last Monday. He was a strong healthy young man, when he enlisted in the 33rd last spring, but hardships, exposure and climate in Camp Alger and Cuba have done cruel work. He says that he does not complain, although he has suffered intensely and his sufferings are very great still. He entered the medical department of the U. of M., last fall, but when the president called for volunteers he enlisted with the home company, A. of Flint. The poorly equipped transport, that brought over three hundred sick soldiers from Santiago to Montauk Point, only had one doctor and no nurses on board. Eight men died and were buried at sea.

Brighton now has a truant officer who has orders to see that the law in his line of business is strictly observed.

Mrs. Charles Spoor a farmer's wife of Duette gave birth to triplets (two sons and a daughter) Saturday. All are doing well.

A Pontiac citizen recently served five days in jail as an easy alternative to paying a fine of $10 for riding his bicycle after dark without a lantern.

And now the Detroit Pipe & Foundry Co., has sued the village of Plymouth for $1,333.66 which is a balance claimed to be due on pipe furnished in 1892.

The Bank of Belleville opened for a general banking business on Thursday, Sept 1st. The firm is Harry S. German and L. W. Simmons, both of Northville, and with a responsibility of $22,000. Mr. German will act as cashier and has come to our village to do a legitimate banking business and to accommodate the citizens of this place. This is an entirely new addition to our business facilities and should be well patronized by all.—Belleville Enterprise.

The question of some means of fire protection in Wayne is being agitated. At present Wayne has no means to stop a large conflagration should one start, except by the bucket brigade, and anything that catches fire burns down. Some years ago the village council hired several men who put down test wells trying to find flowing water. All their experiments failed and after spending $1,000 or more with no result, they stopped the work. The scheme most talked of now is to go in with the management of the asylum and country house and pipe water from Plymouth or Northville. This would involve an expense of about $20,000 but many business men think it would pay in the long run.

A Warning to Children.

For a number of years it has been the custom of school children to enter upon my premises as well as those of my neighbors and steal, if I may say so, large quantities of fruit that we try to raise, or in one way and another destroy it. QUEEN'S PARTNER.

Olaaf Olsen made up his mind he would go to the Klondike. It took him a long time to make up his mind. It took him a longer time to get to the Klondike. In the first place he made a mistake. He selected the trail from Shagay over the White Pass to Lake Bennett. Now that was bad, but not so bad as his next error. He would not give it up and go by the Chilkoot Pass, though he heard Chilkoot was much easier. But that does not say much for the Chilkoot Pass.

"No," said Olaaf, "I started to go over the White Pass, and I am going to make it over the White Pass."

Olaaf had a hard time on the trail, though he didn't know it. That is to say, any other man would have thought it a hard time, but Olaaf, expecting bad things, had no kick, as he expressed it, against adversity.

Olaaf was an exceptional man on the trail—phenomenally exceptional. For on a trail where each man had one partner at least and most many, Olaaf preferred having no partner.

"Auder man in the party besides me won't do," he said. "I might want to do one thing and him another; besides, I don't want no partner, no how. Partners always means trouble."

The experience of many men on the trail confirmed the wisdom of Olaaf's views. Nothing discouraged Olaaf. When misfortune overtook him, he set to work to "do what he could for the best." Up before daybreak, he cooked a substantial breakfast—for he believed in feeding himself well—and with fifty pounds more on his back (than any other man could carry started off on the trail, climbing over rocks and wading through mud, keeping at it all day with a short interval for lunch.

It took him ten days to move his outfit from station to station. Difficulties too great for other men never prevented Olaaf from moving forward. If he could not make ten miles, he made five, if not five, he made two. But he always kept moving forward. When some of his provisions were stolen he "rusted," as he called it, and worked for others until he had earned enough to replace what had been stolen. Then he moved on his own out fit. When at last he reached Lake Bennett, he built a boat and calmly set sail without any of the excitement which others exhibited. Men wanted to buy a passage in his boat and assist him to manage it, but Olaaf said:

"No, I don't want no passengers, and I guess I can handle the boat myself."

At the Tagish Lake Custom House Olaaf worked four days to pay for the duty on his goods, and went on his way without the delay ruffling his temper. He sailed his boat around the point at Windy Arm, when thirty other boats hauled up on the beach.

KEEPING AT IT.

Approaching Miles canon men shouted to warn Olaaf to land and lighten his boat and wait for the pilot.

"That's the canon!" they shouted. "Miles canon."

"Is it?" said Olaaf, "I've been watching for it all day." And he took his boat through and on through the White Horse Rapids without moving an eyelid. But now floating ice began to impede Olaaf's progress. "I'll keep going till she freezes up," he said and he did. She froze up when Olaaf had got to Five Fingers, and Olaaf went into camp. He built a shed and ate up his grub until he had left what he could pull.

About Christmas Olaaf started for Dawson on the ice with more on his sled than any two men could pull. He made slow progress, but he said:

"I shall come there some time if I keep moving."

Four miles a day doesn't seem much, but if persisted in it counts up, and at last Olaaf arrived in Dawson.

He immediately moved up the creek and went to work prospecting. To his surprise a lead-pencil prospector jumped his claim. Olaaf moved to another location, found good prospects, and recorded. Then he built a cabin and settled down to work. He put in eleven solid hours a day. His claim was 500 feet, and as he looked around he felt pleased. He had all the gold he wanted, he thought, and it was all his own. He congratulated himself daily on having no partner.

Some stampedeers camped one night at Olaaf's cabin and discussed the mining regulations. Yukon stampedeers are strange. Yukon mining regulations are still stranger. Olaaf learned to his dismay that half of his claim did not belong to him. It belonged to the Queen, the stampedeers said, Olaaf was mightily troubled. He stopped working and thought over the situation. Then he went down to Dawson, took his place in line behind some hundreds others outside the commissioner's office, and waited patiently for admittance. The thermometer registered 53 degrees below, but Olaaf "wanted to see the gold commissari," and that was a detail he could not remedy.

After waiting two hours and a half he got in.

"I want to see the gold commissari," said Olaaf to a worried-looking man seated behind a roughly made desk and some gold scales.

"I am the gold commissari," was the reply; "what do you want?"

"I want to know the Queen's address," said Olaaf.

"Somebody's always wanting to know something," said the commissari. "What do you want with the Queen's address?"

"Well," said Olaaf, "the Queen and me is partners on a claim up the creek, and I don't want to be partners no how. So I want to write to the Queen to know if she'll buy my 250 feet or sell her 250 feet to me. I don't want no partners, and, anyhow, the Queen's not putting any work into the claim."

The commissari advised Olaaf not to write, but to wait and see what the future would bring, hinting at possible changes in the law. Olaaf went back to his claim, but had no heart for work. It worried him to have a partner, more especially a lady and one of so exalted rank. But Olaaf found it hard work; thinking and idling were strange to him, so he gradually drifted into working regularly on his claim as hard as ever.

As time went on Olaaf sized up matters something as follows, and gray contented:

"I don't want no partner, but, my partner's never here to bother me. She doesn't put any work into the claim, but then she's a lady, and I wouldn't let her work no how, even if she wanted to. If a man must have a partner, he can't have no better partner than the Queen. She's all right as a partner."

Olaaf is still working on his claim, and the only thing that troubles him is whether his partner will come for her share of the just after the wash up, or whether it will be his duty to take the dust to her. But Olaaf is determined the Queen will get her share, for he says:

"She's a good partnerner"—Ex.

ENGLAND OWNED MANILA.

Both the Philippines and Cuba Were Once British Possessions.

Both the great island possessions—in the West and East Indies, respectively—which are now the seats of war between Spain and the United States, were for a time during the last century possessions of the British empire, says the Pictorial Review. Havana and Manila were both captured by Great Britain in 1762, and Cuba and the Philippines occupied. A very rare and interesting "Pain Narrative" of the capture of Manila was published by Rear Admiral Cornish and Brigadier-General Draper in reply to accusations of infringement of the capitulations made against these officers by the Spaniards. Their own allegations are sufficiently strong. "Though the whole of the above transactions the Spaniards, by evasions, avoided complying with the capitulations in every one respect, except in bringing the money from the Misericordia and Orontocata (ships), which it was out of their power to seize. They heartily and ungratefully took up arms against us after having then given them their freedom, publicly in their churches, rebellion," etc. At the peace of Paris (1763), however, which concluded the seven years' war, Canada, Louisiana and various islands in the West Indies having been ceded by France and Florida and Minorca by Spain, Great Britain on her part ceded to the latter power Cuba and the Philippines. Yet there is still to be seen—or was during my residence at Manila—at the mouth of the Pasig, and under the ramparts, a dilapidated brick and stucco monument with an inscription celebrating the expulsion of the invading British by the noble and patriotic Don Simon de Anda—an inscription which afforded great amusement to British naval officers visiting the port.

Bacteriological Cooking.

A Konigsberg doctor, Dr. Jager, recently gave a course of hygiene and bacteriology for ladies, which included practical exercises in applied bacteriology—for instance, in the preparation and preservation of food by methods used in bacteriological work. At the close of the lecture the hearers were allowed to invite their friends to an exhibition of kitchen products—some raw and cooked—which had remained in a warm room for periods ranging from five to sixteen days and which were all found perfectly fresh and quite unchanged in appearance and taste. Nor, says the British Medical Journal, had any complicated procedure been required to attain this result. The method simply consists in: (1) The use of vessels with well-fitting, overlapping lids, instead of the inside lids used in kitchens all the world over, which allow stray bits of matter that may adhere to their rim to fall into the food; (2) avoidance of opening the vessels in which the food was kept, or, where this was indispensable, careful manipulation, as in bacteriological work, and (3) the use of cotton wool as a covering. Cotton-wool lids had been specially prepared to fit the wide tops of the food vessels, they consisted of a circular disk of cotton wool, tightly held between two metal rings, the outer of which formed the overlapping rim of the lid—London News.

The Universal Religion.

The partial in religion is giving way to the universal in religion, and the universal religion is to have its increasing number of teachers and is to build its churches, in which no man will be a stranger and the gates thereof will not be closed by day.—Rev. J. Lloyd Jones.

INCREASE IN EXPORTS.

While the Imports for the Fiscal Year Showed Marked Decrease.

The bureau of statistics in its latest summary of finance and commerce, presents details of the imports and exports in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898. It shows that the exports to all parts of the world increased both in manufactures and products of agriculture, and that while there was a great falling off in imports, the reduction was almost exclusively in manufactured articles and food products. Manufactured articles ready for consumption fell from $134,775,126 in 1897 and $145,274,539 in 1898 to $82,570,887 in 1899; articles of food and live animals fell from $245,166,197 in 1897 and $237,045,045 in 1898 to $181,453,011 in 1899, while "articles of voluntary use, luxury, etc.," fell from $33,093,976 in 1897 and $33,323,154 in 1898 to $77,452,761 in 1899. On the other hand, articles required by the manufacturers and classified as "articles in a crude condition for use in manufacturing," of which the 1897 imports were $214,916,625 and those of 1898, $209,368,717, amounting in 1899 to $274,543,919, forming in 1899 over 33 per cent of the total importations, while in 1897 they were but 28 per cent, and in 1898, 27 per cent of the total imports, showing a large relative increase in the proportion which these articles used in the domestic industries bore to the total importations. Manufactured articles for use in the mechanic arts formed in 1898 about the same percentage of the imports that they did in 1896 and 1897. The exportations of manufactures, which amounted to $288,871,449 in 1898, exceeded those of 1897 by $11,586,058, and those of 1896 by $9,500,271, while the products of agriculture exported amounted to $854,627,929 in 1898, against $693,471,121 in 1897 and $699,079,297 in 1896, the chief increase in agricultural exportations being in breadstuffs. The exportations of the year increased $180,336,684, and the importations of the year decreased $145,725,253, the comparison being made in each case with the preceding fiscal year, 1897. The following table shows the total exports and imports by the grand divisions in the fiscal year, 1898, compared with the preceding year.

MRS. PINKHAM'S WARNING TO WOMEN.

Neglect is the Forerunner of Misery and Suffering—A Grateful Husband Writes of His Wife's Recovery.

Nearly all the ill health of women is traceable to some derangement of the feminine organs. These derangements do not cure themselves, and neglect of the sensations resulting from them is only putting off trouble.

Pathetic stories are constantly coming to Mrs. Pinkham of women whose neglect has resulted in serious heart trouble and a whole train of woes. Here is the story of a woman who was helped by Mrs. Pinkham after other treatment failed:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It affords me very great pleasure to be able to state that I believe my wife owes her health to your medicine and good advice. For three years her health failed rapidly; she had heart trouble, often falling down in dizziness and fainting spells, shortness of breath, choking and smothering spells, bloating of the stomach, a dry cough, dyspeptic symptoms, menses irregular, scanty, and of an unnatural color. She had been treated by physicians with but little benefit. She has taken your treatment according to your directions, and is better in every way. I am well pleased with the result of your treatment, and give you permission to use my letter for the benefit of others.—

Chris H. and Mrs. MAY BUTCHER, Fort Meyer, Va.

The healing and strengthening power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all female ills is so well established that it needs no argument. For over twenty years it has been used by women with results that are truly wonderful.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women who are puzzled about their health to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice. All such correspondence is seen by women only, and no charge is made.

Capes and Jackets.

Note that we say Capes first. They will be very interesting this fall.

The new Golf Capes are unusually swell and striking. The big demand for this Novelty has put some manufacturers behind so much that some styles from the New York makers may not arrive in time for the opening display.

Popular prices rule at this store on Golf Capes.

Plush Collarettes and Capes are much in demand this season. We have stocked the best styles, from most reliable makers. The prices will surprise you.

In Jackets

The change of style came just in time for our buyers. The new Cutaway, 6-button front, are found here as quick or quicker than in some city stores; because we did not demand so many of one style. Our customers don't all want to dress alike.

Variety is our aim. Not "one make" but a collection from all best makes of that which is good, well made, and correct fitting.

Misses' and Children's Jackets

Made by specialty house. Got up in a stylish way, of durable cloths and at reasonable prices.

Expressions of regret from democrats as well as from republicans are heard upon every side at the defeat of Senator Warner of Oakland for secretary of state at Wednesday's convention in Detroit.

Henry C. Smith of Adrian, republican nominee for Congress from this district, will speak in the opera house here next week-Friday night. Mr. Smith is a bright and witty speaker and those who attend will be interested.

Cass Benton has a young colt that promises to give the "dust" to many a good driver in the future. The Wayne Baptist association meet; Sunday-school institute and BYPU rally which takes place in the Baptist church here Oct. 5-7 promises to be an interesting affair. The session opens on Wednesday afternoon and closes Friday noon. A number of well known speakers are to be present.

George Waterman and Chas. Hagan have gone into the dry-goods business at Durand. They were two of our most popular young men, enterprising and affable and that they will win favor in Durand goes without saying. They are such citizens as the people of any town may take pride in associating with, or as business men affiliate with.

The F. & P. M. company has put in new platform scales at their depot here and have fixed up the stock yards in nice shape for the accommodation of live stock shippers. It will be advantageous to the interests of Northville business houses to have this made a shipping point for stock, and Station Agent Carrothers' effort in the matter is sure to cause expressions of appreciation.

The Northville Telephone Company held its annual meeting last week and the old directors were re-elected except that R. C. Yerkes takes the place of W. H. Yerkes and R. H. Porter becomes secretary in place of M. A. Porter who becomes local manager. The books showed a nice business for the company during the past year, and a satisfactory profit on the right side of the ledger.

Capt. Brownell and other Detroit capitalists were here Wednesday looking after a franchise for an electric car line from Detroit to Northville via the Sand Hill line. They ask Northville to obtain a franchise for them through Livonia and Northville and say they will go on to Grand Rapids. The Farmington people, who cannot "get together" with the company, think the Northville franchise is a "bluff", but Mr. Brownell says the route is coming here but not before spring.

While in our village this week Ald. Huffman of Orion talked enthusiastically of the side walk system in that village. The construction of all walks is done entirely by the council. For some time past nothing but stone walks have been put down except possibly on an extremely outlying street. The village purchases the cement by the carload and is able to lay the walks for 7 cents a square foot. Of this amount five cents is assessed against the property and the village pays the balance. If the property owner pays his assessment within 30 days, he is given an additional discount of 10 per cent. Mr. Huffman says that after a three years experience everybody is highly pleased at the satisfactory results. Taxes are but a trifle higher and that is more than offset by beautiful, safe and substantial walks that are being built all through the village. Mr. Huffman says their crosswalks are built of the same material. It would be a commendable thing for Northville to adopt such a walk system as this.

IN OUR GREAT STATE.

THE HAPPENINGS IN MICHIGAN BRIEFLY RELATED.

The 32d Michigan Regiment Returns from the South and Was Joyfully Welcomed Home Again—Crooked Primaries Charged at Bay City.

32d Michigan Home.

The 32d Michigan volunteers arrived at Island Lake after an unusually pleasant journey for a military train. The trip from Huntsville, Ala., was one grand ovation all along the line. At every little hamlet great crowds gathered at the depot to greet the boys, and the farther north the regiment proceeded the greater became the evidences to welcome them. Through Indiana and Ohio, at every depot where the train stopped, the cars were surrounded by women, with flags and every kind of delicacy to feed the boys.

The train was made of four sections as follows: First section—Cos. K, Detroit, 81 men, three officers; M, Detroit, 89 men, three officers; L, Detroit, 89 men, three officers; Col. McGurran in charge. Second section—Cos. I, Detroit, 82 men, three officers; F, Grand Haven, 81 men, two officers; B, Battle Creek, 81 men, two officers; Maj. Reynolds in command. Third section—Cos. C, Kalamazoo, 82 men, two officers; A, Calhoun, 78 men, two officers; G, Grand Rapids, 82 men, three officers; under Maj. Abbey. Fourth section—Cos. H, Grand Rapids, 82 men, three officers; D, Grand Rapids, 88 men, one officer; E, Grand Rapids, 78 men, three officers; under Lieut. Col. Vos.

The total number of men brought north was 1,039, while the original roster of the regiment, as it left Island Lake, four months ago, contained 1,328 names. A detail of two officers and 18 men was left as a guard over the division hospital at Farmington. Of the remaining 209 men, some have died, many are away on furloughs, some are still in the hospital. The sick on the sections were sent in the hospital cars to Detroit and from there to their respective homes.

Attempt to Murder Prison Guards.

As the Maquette state prison guards were watching the prisoners at breakfast, Convict No. 1, Lehigh, arose from his seat in the length of the hall and lunged at Guard L. D. Mosher with a knife. Mosher clutched with Hunterly, but the latter succeeded in stabbing the deputy in the abdomen, back and arm. The alarm was immediately sounded and the entire prison force was soon in the mess room. The warden gave a command to the prisoners to march to their cells. They obeyed sullenly, and when the order was given to get into the cells, six or eight refused to move. Warden Freeman ordered the nearest guard to shoot Hunterly, who jumped for his cell door, but the bullet took off his thumb. The rest were cowed.

Hunterly is incorrigible and was transferred from Jackson prison. He is serving 10 years, 10 of which is for the attempted murder of Deputy Northrop of Jackson prison. Mosher, who was then guard at Jackson, shot him. It is believed this late outbreak was part of a plot which included the murder of Warden Freeman.

Hospital Train Arrives.

The hospital train which went to the southern camps to get Michigan sick soldiers, arrived at the Michigan Central depot at Detroit with 14 men. It was in charge of Col. Geo. A. Lord, Dr. W. R. The troops at Knoxville, where the 31st Michigan regiment is now located, will probably remain at that camp until the assignments are made for the military occupation of Cuba. It is not the intention, however, to send the army of occupation to Cuba until the unhealthy season has passed, and meanwhile the troops will be put in the best possible condition.
