

WM. LAWRENCE IS STILL MISSING.

HIS STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE ALARMS HIS FAMILY.

Unheard of Since Leaving Home Last Week Monday.

Wm Lawrence left his home at No. 6 Griswold road last week Monday morning telling his wife that he intended going to Meads Mills in search of a house. Since that time Mrs. Lawrence has neither seen nor heard from him, and is much worried over his strange absence. She says that she is unable to account for his mysterious disappearance, as their home relations have always been of a felicitous nature, and that he never cared to remain away from his family longer than necessary. She expresses a fear that something serious may have happened to him. A rumor has reached her that one of the neighbors saw him at Sand Hill last week but she is unable to verify the truth of the statement, and it is discredited. Mr. Lawrence is some 45 years of age and has lived here for some time, working about the village and vicinity.

REP. KIMMIS TO PRACTICE LAW.

HE ENTERS JUDGE GORDON'S OFFICE AT MIDLAND.

Universal Regret Expressed Because of His Departure.

Novi, Mich., Oct. 27, 1898.—(Staff Cor.)—It will be with much regret that the people of this vicinity learn of the departure to a new home of one of Oakland county's most highly esteemed representative younger men, Hon A. N. Kimmis, who goes to Midland this week to enter into a law partnership with Judge Wm. D. Gordon, ex-speaker of the house of representatives, and now U. S. District Attorney. Mr. Kimmis' many friends in his native town and county will keenly regret the loss of a citizen of whom they have been justly proud, while they will be glad that his ability has been sufficiently recognized to secure for him a position so well suited to his talents, so financially promising and so replete with opportunities. It is a high compliment to him that he has been chosen to occupy it, and there is no doubt among his friends here that he will fill it with honor as he has the many responsible ones his fellow citizens have given him in the past. His record from first to last has been creditable to his standing as a christian gentleman and no higher praise is needful. His work as a member of the legislature has been best epitomized by himself in the assertion that whatever he may or may not have succeeded in accomplishing he at least brought home his self respect. His "County Salaries" bill is too well known to require comment, and his convictions of right were always firmly upheld often at the expense of political advancement. He will carry with him to his new field of labor the best wishes of a host of warm friends of all political faiths, and will leave a void in the social and intellectual life of this community which cannot be easily filled. Midland people are to be congratulated at the expense of a whole lot of other folks who are not at all cheerful in doing it, except for the sake of the one who will share the benefit of the change.

SENATOR HOLMES WAS DEFEATED FOR RENOMINATION HERE LAST WEEK FRIDAY.

Wm. Richerts of Detroit Won by a Single Vote.

The people of the township of Northville, and we may safely say its entirety, were sadly disappointed at the result of the republican caucus here last Friday afternoon. A tried and true man of unquestioned integrity, sobriety and courage; a gentleman in every sense of the word—for such is Arthur L. Holmes—a man who in the Michigan senate was the peer of every other senator there; a man whose vote and oratory upon every question won universal approval; a man who succeeded, as no other man at that particular time could have done, at the twelfth hour in calling up the express bill and causing it to be passed in the senate's closing hours of the last special legislature, making a saving to the taxpayers of Michigan of thousands of dollars, such a man was turned down in Friday's convention for one whose record seems to be that he is a good fellow, an ex-alderman and saloonist. By all rights of precedent if for no other reason, Senator Holmes was entitled to re-nomination, and Mr. Richerts ought to have tied up his desires to serve his country for at least two more years. The Holmes people captured the organization but loosing a vote in Gross Point, and the votes of Eddy, Allen and Hunter or Plymouth going to Richerts, they could not get the adoption of the report of the credential committee on the 13 ward contest where it was claimed the Richerts delegates were illegally elected because the ward caucus was held in a saloon contrary to law. A similar contest had been prepared in the 15th ward, but the Holmes man who had the credentials in his pocket didn't come out of his hypnotic sleep until after the vote had been taken, and Holmes had lost by a single vote. Register of deeds Marschner was on deck helping along Richerts' boom and that probably accounted for James Eddy's great interest in the matter as he is a clerk in Mr. Marschner's office. So far as the convention here was concerned Mr. Richerts won fairly and squarely, though more by the negligence of Mr. Holmes and his Detroit friends than by any generalship on the part of either himself or his workers.

TOOK FRENCH LEAVE. Three Tramps Who Were Locked Up at Milford.

One afternoon last week the Milford village marshal gathered in three tramps who gave their names as Charles Reed, Frank Roberts and George Hagerman. They were taken before Justice Lovejoy, given thirty days in the Oakland county jail under the local vagrancy ordinance and put in the village lock-up for safe keeping over night. Saturday morning upon visiting the jail preparatory to starting to Pontiac with his prisoners, the marshal found that the men had broken through the roof and left for parts unknown.

TWO NORTHVILLE YOUNGSTERS START FOR CAMP MEADE, PA.

They Got As Far As Waltz and Their Pluck Gave Out.

Two would-be patriotic Northville youths of 13 summers, Arthur Mahoney and Ross Ball started for Camp Meade, Pa., last week Friday determined to not return until their names were enrolled on the pages of American glory. Their warlike fervor however, was all but extinguished by the time they reached Waltz, twelve miles south of Wayne, and they were soon taking a two-step toward home where they arrived the following morning, tired, dirty and hungry.

LOST THEIR HORSE IN YPSILANTI.

MRS. J. C. DUNHAM OF NOVI DID LAST WEEK.

Strayed or Stolen from the Barn During the Night.

Mrs. Dunham and Irma West of Novi drove over to Ypsilanti last week Friday to visit the former's daughter Blanche who is attending the Normal. They stopped with her at 202 Normal street and put their horse in the barn. On going to the stable the next morning the horse had disappeared and thus far no trace of it has been found. The tie strap was still fastened to the manger and had evidently been unfastened from the headstall which had gone with the horse. Nothing else was missing. The horse was a fine bay, weighing about 1,200 lbs. On the Wednesday previous a valuable horse and buggy belonging to Emory Beal, a former Northville boy, was stolen from his barn and the prospects are that Mr. Dunham's horse went the same way, though Mr. Dunham thinks that as the stable was not securely fastened it is just possible that the animal has strayed away.

JOHN THOMPSON AND MRS. BULAH BANKS WERE THE VICTIMS.

They Were Married Wednesday Afternoon at Novi.

Not a sound was heard other than young hearts to tender wishes stirred. As hand seeks hand, and meeting glances tell the nuptial tale of love too sweetly well.
—Melby.
John J. Thompson of this place, one of the best known and wealthiest farmers of Oakland and Wayne counties, was united in marriage Wednesday afternoon to Mrs. Bulah Banks at her home west of Novi. Mr. Thompson is a widower of 76 while the bride is just past three score. This is the bride's third appearance before the altar of Hymen, her first husband having been killed in the rebellion, and from the second, Chas. Banks of Novi, she was divorced some few years ago. The happy young couple will soon commence housekeeping in the bride's spacious home just west of Novi village.

The supervisors of Washtenaw county, some of the political candidates and the city editor of the Ann Arbor Courier all went to the poor house last week. Just as we expected! There is always an influx there as winter approaches. They all stayed to dinner.
A Trenton alderman who was chairman of a sidewalk committee thrifly took advantage of the situation and had a new walk built along his own property and three fourths of the cost charged up to the village. Now the taxpayers are making a great fuss about it and the council will probably make him walk aside.
The pie-us people all over the country are having chicken pie socials. Nearly everyone of the Record's exchanges tell about that kind of an entertainment. Hens set with aggravating persistency at this time of year, and about the only way to stop it is to make 'em into "chicken" pie. And even then they sometimes set heavy on the stomach.
The common council Tuesday evening severely criticised a certain property owner in the village, who had refused to build a sidewalk after legal notice. It was intimated that the gentleman had in his possession upwards of $1,000 of village money upon which he paid no interest, and also came in for his share of a $7,000 village bonus donated to the Prouty & Glass carriage factory, and had lived in this village and vicinity for more than 45 years and never walked on a sidewalk outside of his own door yard that belonged to himself—and yet styled himself an enterprising citizen.—Wayne Cor. Detroit Courier.

- Don't feel that you will not be waited on promptly, you will.
- Don't say you can buy elsewhere cheaper, you cannot.
- Don't think you will see a greater variety elsewhere, you will not.
- Don't believe others have the best, they have not.
- Don't think you can get something for nothing anywhere, you may not.

We represent our goods to be exactly what we think or know them to be. If you don't believe it come and let us talk to you about stoves. We have the great Garland and Peninsular lines. We also have those Wonderful Air Tights, both radiating and circulating. We do not have to confirm one to sell the other.

We cannot guarantee a tooth-pick to hold fire 6 days in zero weather, or that ashes will have to be removed only once during the winter from 10 cords of wood, but having used them we can tell you the truth. We have between 30 and 40 second-hand stoves for sale cheap. We can suit you. We sell COAL and always have it.

Our business is not conducted on the "Spanish honor" plan.

Wayne has prospects of a colored camp meeting near the village where the fattest calf will be killed when the prodigals return and there will be a trumpet march "seven times around the walls of Jericho." Is the city of Wayne to represent Jericho? In that case the residents would probably be the ones to fall on the necks of the prodigals who blow the trumpets, and the fattest calves will have to hustle for the woods.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

"MAKE HOME HAPPY," LAST "SUNDAY'S SUBJECT."

From the Text, John, Chapter 20, Verse 10, as follows: "The Disciples Went Away Again Unto Their Own Homes"—Moderate Marriage.

A church within a church, a republic within a republic, a world within a world, is spelled by four letters—Home! If things go right there, they go right everywhere.

As individuals we are fragments of God's great plan, and it is our duty to put our parts together. What I lack you make up, what you lack, I make up, car defects and surplusage of character being the cog wheels in the great social mechanism.

The institution of marriage has been defamed in our day. Socialism and polygamy, and the most damnable of all things, free love, has been trying to turn this earth into a Turkish harem.

There are some things that I want to bring before you. I know there are those of you who have had homes set up for a great many years, and then, there are those here who have just established their home.

My first counsel to you is, have God in your new home, if it be a new home, and let him who was a guest at Nathaniel's in your household; let the divine blessing drop upon your every hope and plan and expectation.

London—Cecilia's strength is waning. Hong Kong—W. C. Jackson and the Hong Kong and Wan-choa duck company has reported on the possibility of raising some of the Spanish vessels.

Berlin—During the last quarter the northern half of Germany has exported to America $11,273,880 of merchandise, an increase of $2,510,835 compared with the same period of 1897.

London—Harold Frederic, the London correspondent of the New York Times, died from heart disease. London—Nancy Guilford, the midwife of Bridgeport, Conn., charged with the murder of Emma Gill, was again remanded for a week pending the arrival of extradition papers.

My second advice to you in your home is, to exercise to the very last possibility of your nature the law of forbearance. Prayers in the household will not make up for everything.

Never be ashamed to apologize when you have done wrong in domestic affairs. Let that be a law of your household. The best thing I ever heard of my grandfather, whom I never saw, was this, that once having unrighteously rebuked one of his children, he himself having lost his patience, and perhaps having been misinformed of the child's doings, found out his mistake, and in the evening of the same day gathered all his family together and said, "Now, I have one explanation to make, and one thing to say."

Scrofula Impure Blood

This disease affects nearly every one in a greater or less degree, and unless it is wholly expelled from the system it is liable to appear at any time in sores, eruptions, hip disease, or in some other form. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula and eradicates all poisonous germs from the system.

A LONG FELT WANT.

It is supplied in this vicinity at last. It is hard to always be pleasant. Good-natured people are often irritable.

If you knew the reason you would not be surprised.

Ever have itching piles?
Not sick enough to go to bed or not well enough to be content?
Nothing will annoy you so?
The constant itching sensation.
Hard to bear, harder to get relief.
Keeps you awake nights.
Spoils your temper—nearly drives you crazy.
Isn't relief and cure a long felt want?
It is to be had for everyone in Doan's Ointment.
Doan's Ointment never fails to cure itching piles, eczema, or any itching of the skin.

Here is proof of it at the testimony of an Ann Arbor citizen:

Mr. C. C. Church, of 520 South Seventh street, Ann Arbor, now retired from the active duties of life, says—
I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Ointment. To anyone requiring a healing and soothing preparation it will prove invaluable. I suffered for years from itching hemorrhoids and though I tried everything I could hear of and used remedies prescribed by scores of friends, I was unable to obtain permanent relief until my attention was called to Doan's Ointment. I was somewhat surprised after the second application to notice what a different effect it had from anything I had hitherto used. Encouraged I used it strictly according to directions and in a surprisingly short length of time when you take into account the number of years I was afflicted the irritation ceased and the inflammation was allured. When Doan's Ointment cured me it will cure others.

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO AGRICULTURISTS.

Some Up-to-Date Hints About Cultivation of the Soil and Yields Thereof—Horticulture, Viticulture and Floriculture.

Co-operative Selling of Fruit.
At a convention of potato growers held in Grand Rapids, Wis., A. C. Bennett read a paper in which, among other things, he said:
An association was formed in New Jersey to sell their own cranberries; consisting of seventeen firms in New Jersey and one from Cape Cod. They employed a salesman—at a salary of five thousand dollars—for the season of about six months. He both sold and collected and was to keep back five per cent, out of which to take his pay. At the end of the season he turned back to the association three and one-half per cent, leaving for cost of selling one and one-half per cent, while the ordinary commission man charges ten per cent, thus saving to the association over thirty-three thousand dollars in one season. The price of the berries was fixed every two weeks by a board of directors. Each grower received the price his berries brought, less the one and one-half per cent expense of selling. Each member could sell his own berries if he wished, but must turn into the association five per cent of such sales. In case the association could not furnish berries fast enough to supply the demand the agent could sell for outside parties, but on such sales should turn into the association seven per cent. The next year the association voluntarily raised his salary to seven thousand dollars, a year and expenses and clerk hire. Then he turned back two and one-half per cent out of the five per cent, making cost of selling two these facts is costing us many thousand dollars every year.

Sugar from Milk.

A press report from Belvidere, Ill., says: Considerable interest is manifested in this county in the attempt of F. W. Patrick to manufacture sugar from milk. The Fox and Rock river valleys already have a number of successful industries in which the milk product of the farmers' dairy district is prepared for a wider field. The condensing plants at Carpentersville, the Anglo-Swiss company at Dixon, and the DeKaib farm on which milk is especially prepared for the use of babies and invalids, are all doing a big business, and it is thought that the new venture at Marengo may meet similar success in creating a demand for its product. So far little is known as to what this demand will be, the sugar being subject to use for medicinal purposes only. The working product is collected from fifteen counties in the neighborhood of Marengo. The milk is separated from the cream, which is utilized in making butter. On the skimmed milk curd is allowed to form until it is hard enough to handle. Then it is put through a drying process and afterward ground as fine as ordinary cornmeal. This product is sent to Ohio, where it receives treatment, reducing it to a liquid used for glazing paper. The sugar product comes from the whey left in the vats after the curd is removed. It is forced into large boilers, where it is allowed to boil for some time, after which it is run into evaporating pans, where the boiling continues until a thick syrup is left. After standing a certain length of time it is again boiled, when the sugar forms. The sugar is worked over until thoroughly drained, after which it is packed in barrels for the refinery. It now resembles the ordinary coarse brown sugar of commerce. The process of refining is a well-guarded secret, known to Mr. Patrick and one other man. When the product

The Russian Thistle.

We quote from the Nebraska Farmer:
The state of Nebraska, through its legislature of 1885, enacted a law requiring that the citizens of the counties, wherein this supposed obnoxious weed existed, should immediately take steps to eradicate the pest from within its borders. This was found impossible, and a later legislature repealed the enactments relating to the weed and its destruction. But now appear several reputable citizens of this county, whose vocation is farming and whose homes lie south of Sutherland and Hershey, who state that the value of the Russian thistle as a hog feed, when in its green state, is superior to alfalfa. One of these parties claims that hogs will leave the alfalfa and go and remain upon the Russian thistle patch by preference; and that it is a rapid flesh producing weed. Others, in the same vicinity, claim that when cut green and cured, Russian thistles make a fine quality of hay which cattle readily seek for and devour. All of the men, however, assert that the plant, if allowed to grow up and blow about the fields, is a nuisance and an injury, but if confined and properly attended to, it is a benefit rather than an injury. When allowed to start with the wheat early in the spring, the Russian thistle is pretty sure to get ahead of this cereal; but rye is too early and vigorous a grower and gets started before the thistle. In corn, the thistle does but little harm. This supposed pest might be of some benefit in the semi-arid portion of this state, if properly handled. Again, it has value for fuel, if it could be baled and used for this purpose. There is no plant growing, which, when dried, that weight for weight, gives forth a greater degree of heat. Like the sweet clover, the thistle appears to run its course and die out in time. Both these plants are strong, vigorous growers. They endure drought with great success. Both and one-half per cent and yet leaving the agent seven thousand dollars net cash for six months' service. Two more years have been added to the experience of this association and they are now handling over one hundred thousand bushels of cranberries a year and refuse to admit any more members.

About two years later an association was formed on Cape Cod on a similar plan. They employed a Chicago man as salesman, and they shipped him car load after car load on which they set so high a price he could not sell them and later in the season when the price had declined and many of the berries became soft they were obliged to take them back and sell them as best they could. The result was a big loss, and I have never heard from the association since. These illustrations show clearly that success depends on the men who run the machine. In the case of the New Jersey association the selling agent had the confidence of the association, he being an eastern man and a prominent cranberry grower, and the board of directors took his advice in fixing prices, which enabled him to meet competition, while the Cape Cod growers thought they could set their own price and the people would have to pay it. They would not trust any Chicago man, not even one of their own selecting. In the case of the Grape Growers' Association of Brockton, New York, a very successful institution, the grapes are all inspected by an officer of the association before being shipped and the superior quality and reliability of their grapes make it easy to secure an extra price for them, much more than enough to pay all the expenses of the association. The price is made uniform and is telegraphed daily to every producing station. There is a great and useless loss to producers in shipping produce to Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis greatly in excess of their immediate demands and paying freight there, and then paying these cities a big commission to distribute this produce to other cities at our expense. From this city of Grand Rapids, to the entire northwest and at least so far south as Kansas City, we have the same freight rates as Chicago. Under the interstate commerce law we can become a distributing point just as well as Chicago, and save all that extra freight and their commission. It used to be different, we were once compelled to use these cities for distributing points, and it seems that the force of habit or lack of knowledge of emerges from the refinery it is snowy white. It is said that there are fewer than a dozen men in the United States who are in the secret of refining milk sugar. The new factory has just been completed. It requires 5,000 pounds of milk to produce one barrel of sugar. There are waste substances which are utilized by farmers in feeding stock.

Taste Artificially Developed.
H. W. Collingwood says: Another curious thing that we find about the flock is the fact that there are hereditary tendencies for certain foods. Many of these hens have evidently been fed entirely upon corn. They eat meat and other grains largely under protest. Hens are much like men in this respect. An ex-mayor of New York told me not long since that he cannot get through the week without at least one square meal of corned beef and cabbage. Possibly there are persons who can tell in what country that tendency was formed. A genuine Yankee cannot forget the baked beans and fish balls of his early life. Let me feed a hen for the first three months of her life, and I will largely fix her feeding habits and also have something to do with the food her children crave. I think most poultrymen have changed their methods of feeding since the truth became generally known that meat in some form gives by far the best material for a hen's muscle makers. Some of us who are millionaires in theory have been taught severe lessons in economy during the past few years. I know a man who, in 1890, did not think it possible for his family to live on anything cheaper than porterhouse roast beef. Economy has forced him to realize the value in a pot roast or even a shin bone. It has been a profitable surprise to him to realize that the nerve and force in a pot roast will enable them to retain their standing in church and state. In like manner we have been forced to hunt cheaper rations for our hens, and we have found them in various forms of meat. The introduction of the green-bone cutter has really started a new industry and has doubled the cost of bones in many local markets. There was a time when the faithful old horse, at death, was hauled off to the swamp. Now his meat may be cut and ground and dried into an excellent food for the hens.
If a man speaks without thinking he's apt to say what he thinks.

have valuable properties when young and tender. The sweet clover as a honey producer cannot be excelled. While not advocating the culture of either, may they not, when judiciously handled, become useful plants which will assist in solving the fodder question in our state? These statements, if any virtue is proven for supposed objectionable plants, is hardly applicable to eastern Nebraska with its sufficiency of rainfall, which is not productive of the proper development of this Muscovite transplantation.

The Potato Field.
During the grain harvest the potato field is apt to be neglected, says American Cultivator. This was bad enough in the days when weeds were the only enemies to be feared. Since the potato beetle has become common there should never a day pass when some one does not go through the field and destroy all the larvae in sight. It is easy to see by examining the leaves whether eggs are numerous. If they are not, hand picking of beetles will suffice. A dose of poison applied, diluted with water at the rate of a teaspoonful of the poison to a pail of water will kill the larvae so soon as they get to work and prevent most of the damage. It is very difficult to have this done so promptly that part at least of the hills will not be stripped before the poison is applied. But in harvest time there are several hours of daylight early in the morning, when dew will prevent doing much in the harvest field. If this makes too many hours' work per day, take a longer nooning. If the grain harvest and the care of potatoes conflict, most farmers will be wise in giving the preference in care to the crop that is most profitable, and it takes several acres of grain to equal in value a large potato crop on one acre.

Seed Potatoes.—The tests of the Ohio Experiment Station indicate that home grown seed potatoes will give as good crops as any northern grown seed of the same varieties, provided the seed potatoes are well kept, but the yield is materially lessened and the ripening retarded if the seed potatoes are allowed to sprout and the sprouts are broken off, as usually happens when the potatoes are kept in a dark cellar. Many potato growers keep their potatoes successfully by burying the potatoes in pits, covering to a shallow depth at first and adding layers of straw and earth as the weather becomes colder.

- Miss Bertha Feudt visited in Detroit several days last week.
- Jack Trufant of Wyandotte visited Northville friends over Sunday.
- Cashier Harry German of the Belleville bank was home over Sunday.
- C. O. Dickerson has been receiving a visit from his mother of Ann Arbor this week.
- Mrs. A. W. Miller and little son of Pontiac have been visiting friends here this week.
- Mr and Mrs. B. C. Stark attended the wedding of the latter's brother at Adrian this week.
- Mrs. C. J. Ball and Mrs. Neal are attending the carnival at Grand Rapids this week.
- Mrs. Ida Clark of Chesaning is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Perkins.
- H. B. Crowl, representing the Monitor Oil Co. of Cleveland, called on friends here last week.
- Mr and Mrs. Scop of Belleville visited with Mr. and Mrs. Hinkley Friday and Saturday.
- S. E. Schuyler, who has been living here for a couple of months left for Detroit Monday morning.
- S. L. Morgan, the well known Walled Lake justice and auctioneer, was a Northville visitor Saturday.
- Mrs. Ann Downer left this week for Baltimore, M. D., where she will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. F. E. Mahon.
- Miss Alta Holbrook of Jersey City, who has been visiting Miss Grace Yerkes, left Monday for Ypsilanti and neighboring towns where she will visit until after Thanksgiving.
- Clifton Covert, who has been spending the past few weeks in Owosso, has secured a position with the H. M. Post Hardware Co. of that city. "Clif" is a graduate of the Northville High-school, class of '98. He is a bright industrious young man and will do honor to any position of trust.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Simmons and daughter Carrie and Mrs. E. Whipple have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Miller at Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Yerkes left Tuesday for Thomasville, Ga., where they will remain for the winter in hopes of an improvement in Mr. Yerkes' health.

Virgil McNitt has returned to Northville and while taking another course in Latin in the High-school here he will put in his leisure time in the Record Printery.

Mrs. M. Buzzell expects to leave with her family for California next week Tuesday. They will go by way of the Wabash. Ticket Agent Caruthers tickets them and checks their baggage through.

Miss Mabel Clarkson left Thursday for Kearney, N. J., where she will take up her abode in the family of Prof. and Mrs. D. C. Bliss. Her sister Norine accompanied her as far as Detroit, where she will visit a few weeks.

E. K. Nash, son of Helen M. Nash, at whose home he has been visiting, left for his home in Salt Lake City Monday. Mrs. A. K. Barber will remain some time yet, looking after the interest of her cousin, Mrs. Helen M. Nash.

School Notes.

Ray Neeland of the second grade spelled down his class.

Miss Daniels being sick, Thad Knapp is taking her place for the time being.

Virgil McNitt has returned to Northville and is taking up a post graduate course in the High-school.

Don Rogers and Henry Herberer have left school. The former going to Pennsylvania and the latter to Georgia.

An electric bell has been put up in the recitation room connected with the study room for the purpose of drawing Miss Daniels from her classes.

The pupils of the whole school responded nobly to the request that they honor Lafayette by a gift. There was raised $5.60 in all grades, the seventh, Miss Ableson's room, doing themselves credit by giving the most, $1.45. The children of the first grade, Mrs. Wooley's room, did finely by donating 67 pennies. This is an excellent record as compared with the amounts given by the several ward schools of Detroit and we all feel more patriotic for it. An excellent history lesson was taught in all the grades, giving the events that make Lafayette's life dear to an American, and that shows him to be a great man. After talking the subject over, then every pupil wrote an essay, the best of which are to be on exhibition at the office.

The High-school paper was given up entirely to this subject. Some fine papers were prepared in each grade. The Ode to Lafayette, written by Miss Susie Dandison, with grade, is worthy of special notice and is given below. It is planned that more of this work will be done in language which is so important in the coming months. More of history also will be used in all grades in connection with geography and language, thus emphasizing the more important things that are so often overlooked.

ODE TO LAFAYETTE

We're gathered here with one accord
To celebrate this day
Honor be to Lafayette,
This sure we all will say
He left his home in France
To battle for the right,
Inspired with zeal and sympathy,
He fought with all his might
We love the name of Lafayette,
But when of him we read,
Oh how we long to emulate
Each noble act and deed
And now with other noble men
Along the line of fame
In gratitude for his services
May we ever shout his name.
—SUSIE DANDISON

A Natural Diet.

The candidates for ancient athletic games were dieted on boiled grain with warm water, cheese and dried figs. It will be noticed that the diet of these ancient specimens of bodily perfection was naturally organized foods.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit is a pure grain food, complete and sufficient in its own inherent nourishing qualities to make possible the ideal physique. That it also combines with other natural foods will be proved at the exhibit at B. A. Wheeler's Oct. 31st, Nov. 1st, 2nd & K. H. Purdy's Nov. 3rd, 4th, 5th.

What We Want You to Know!

If anything bought at Fry Bros & Co's is not thought to be as good as we say it is—if it is not as good as you think it ought to be—come right back and let us know about it. We will either exchange the goods or give back the purchase money, or do any other honorable thing to satisfy. We want the public to know that we are here to satisfy them—to give them if anything better food for less money that they can get elsewhere—to know that we appreciate their trade—to know that we are prompt. If you'll give us a chance to show how careful and prompt we are, we are sure you will become a regular customer, or if already a regular customer you will continue there.

NORTHVILLE.

The City in Brief.

"Give us liberty or give us" a job—Plymouth.

Anyhow Northville people have seen a political convention.

With a couple of coats of paint C. A. Hutton has greatly improved his Cady street residence.

When some one's job is at stake you can always warrant an hustle on the part of Plymouth delegates.

Last week Walter Evans of the Record Printery captured the largest puffball of the season. It measured 38 inches in circumference.

During last year Grand Matron Mrs. Ida Joshi maintained officers in 22 OES chapters and instituted 18 new chapters. The membership in Michigan now numbers more than 17,000.

Plymouth people didn't want John Strong to go as a delegate to the county convention because he was a saloonist. If he had wanted something important like a state senatorship it would have been different.

Christian Science services in the WCTU hall next Sunday. Morning service at 10:30. Subject: "Adam and fallen man." Evening service at 7:30. Subject: "The Prophecy fulfilled in the coming of Christ Jesus."

The attention of our farming friends is called to the unusually attractive auction bills that are being issued from the Record Printery presses this season. The Ross bills printed this week are models of excellence.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Murdock have moved from Ypsilanti back to Northville and have become permanent fixtures of the village. Mr. Murdock has secured a position in the Star Clothing House taking the place made vacant by Mr. Waterman.

Mr. Masada, a Japanese student at Union college, will give a talk in the Methodist church Sunday evening, taking for his subject, the comparison of the orient with the christian religion. The speaker will appear in Japanese costume, and the talk promises to be decidedly interesting.

Mrs. Charles Wilson is seriously ill. L. W. Simmons is putting in an acetylene gas plant with which to light his residence.

The American eagle recently captured on Robert Yerkes' farm is now on exhibition in Fry Bros' grocery.

As the result of a 15 cent liner in the Record last week, Orange Butler sold his lively barn to E. A. Shafter.

The dancing school will open next Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the rink. The latest dances will be taught.

Wm. Smith lost the end of one finger and had two others mangled by a rip-saw in the Dubuar factory Wednesday.

Dr. Henry reports three cases of diphtheria in the Berk family about six miles west of here in the township of Lyon.

Nelt Taylor is home with an injured side the result of being struck by a car while at work on the F. & P. M. road at Coleman last week.

The German Lutheran society has employed Rev. Martin Phillips as their pastor, and will have services as usual at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

The shredded wheat people of Worcester, Mass. give free exhibitions and serve tempting morsels to eat in the stores of Messrs Wheeler and Parry all next week.

Sunday evening Mr. Herbener will speak on the "Mutual relation of the individual in society." Everybody welcome. Services at 7:00 instead of 7:30 o'clock.

Messes Vincent and Curamans of Australia, travelers and lecturers, will give a lecture in the Baptist church Monday evening, Oct. 31. A collection will be taken.

A few flakes of snow dropped down Wednesday morning, and by night the mercury had dropped uncomfortably low. During the night everything froze up tighter'n a jug.

Next week the Record will issue several thousand extra copies. Advertisers who wish extra space and those with change of copy will please be ready as early as Tuesday morning. Do not wait until Thursday for Thursday will be too late.

A few years ago the Plymouth "push" were planning the downfall of Supervisor Hoyt (who by the way was one of the very best supervisors the town ever had; a man noted for his integrity and loyalty to the people of his own town.) They couldn't go Hoyt because the "push" couldn't manipulate him. They couldn't go Holmes here last week for the same reason.

The Methodist society have adopted the pledge and dated envelop system for collections. The pledges were given out last Sunday and the committee requests that they be signed and handed in next Sunday. This same plan was adopted by the Presbyterian people a year ago and it has proved very successful. Church societies all over the country are realizing the fact that for voluntary contributions it is the only correct and successful system.

A letter received by the Record from L. W. Elliott of the 35th Michigan band says that the Northville boys are still in good health, except Rupert Jones who is however about to be discharged from the sick list.

The 35th has made a good record, being the best drilled in the brigade with the best band. The latter has been to Middleton to play at the general assembly convention, and at the Peace Jubilee at Philadelphia yesterday. The soldiers are obliged to buy oil stoves if they keep warm nights.

In their haste to adjourn the senatorial convention at Northville last week the friends of Wm. Richert may have left a senatorial committee on his hands that he hasn't any use for. The old committee was F. S. Neal of Northville chairman in place of J. B. Bagley, resigned; Oscar Smith of Bedford; John Fulson of Greenfield; John Brown of Livonia; St. Charles Smith of Detroit and E. J. Robinson of Detroit secretary. A new committee was not elected and neither was the nominee authorized to select his own committee.—Detroit Free Press.

Mr. Neal says the old committee will endeavor to not embarrass Mr. Richert in any way and are perfectly willing to get out or be kicked out.

The C. E. people are to be congratulated for bringing to Northville such a class of entertainments as that given by the Morcosson Concert company Monday night. Almost every down stairs seat in the opera house was filled by an appreciative and enthusiastic audience, not one of whom left the hall without in one way or another paying a compliment to the committee upon the success of its first number. The concert was certainly one of the best ever given here and the next number on the program is sure to meet with a warm reception.

Another interesting letter has been received by the Record from Corporal Slater of the 31st and will be published next week. Fred says the regiment is about to leave for Atlanta to spend the winter.

The Northville lodge F. & A. M made the Plymouth lodge a fraternal visit Wednesday night and worked the third degree upon an innocent candidate as he traveled over the "rough and ragged" road.

The following real estate transfers are noted this week: Francis R. Beal to Geo. E. Williams, lot 4 Yerkes' add to Northville, Sept. 20, $670; E. Ross to Edward S. Horton, land in Twp. of Northville Oct. 11, $4,500.

Rev. W. M. Ward will deliver his new lecture "Gen. Robt. E. Lee" in the Methodist church next Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Epworth League. This will be especially interesting just at this time. Mr. Ward has devoted much time and labor in the preparation of his lecture for the public and the League promises a rare treat.

The Northville Building & Loan association's annual report appears in this issue. The report is especially interesting because of its showing the maturity of the first three serials of shares, the second of which matured in 461 weeks or about eight years and ten months. Serial No. 4 will doubtless mature during the next few months. The report is a flattering one and shows the result of careful management. Annual meeting tonight.

Trolley Car Dangers.

Editor Record: Kindly publish the following extracts from the Detroit Free Press of Oct. 25, and oblige: MAIN STREET.

"Esther Newton, the 5-year old daughter of Dr. L. C. Newton of Detroit, narrowly escaped death from an electric car yesterday noon. She received a severe fracture of the right ankle and an ugly looking scalp wound. Dr. Newton believes the accident to be the fault of no one. He said that the child was walking with several other pupils of the Leggett school and became confused by the passing car—board down. She crossed one track safely and was struck by the up-bound car."

"Charles Wilson narrowly escaped death last evening at the corner of Woodward Ave. He stepped off one car and was struck by a Birmingham car, which was following. The car tumbled him over and he was taken to Harper hospital. His injuries consist of two very long scalp wounds, a broken leg and a severe contusion on the head. The chances for his recovery are about even."

DR. BENNETT

Will Be in Northville at the Macomber House Wednesday, Nov. 2d.

For 18 years Dr. B. has been coming to this place. This has a meaning. People know he cures the old cases, pronounced incurable, and they wonder how it was done.

We have learned the origins in this body are only tissues, and not receptacles in a laboratory, they did not make themselves. That which made one of them made them all. This same thing rebuilds them all and must carry away and dispose of the already worn out tissues. Now that which does all this is more than a mere same thing, it is an individuality. We have learned what it is and just what to do in order to have this rebuilding done. There is no guess work about it as the RESULTS coming from it prove, and RESULTS are what the people want. They care not how it is done. The permanent lasting results they are after—not a mere help for the time being. This brings them every time and today we are carrying out a PRINCIPLE and not following theory. Come and learn more about it, it will do you no HARM to learn a TRUTH: Nervous troubles, muscular pains, disturbed organs of any kind. What is the matter is the cry? Going back to know what made all these tissues at first, knowing the same force that made them must rebuild them, the question is answered. Now carry out the principle and your result looked for is there. Again we say come and learn more. We are not doing this thing in the dark. Come early.

Cicero maintained that "A man does not wonder at what he sees frequently."

The scarcity of practical help for mothers on the subject of proper foods, and the popular fancy that nominal, wholesome foods are not apt to be palatable, may account for the pleasing surprise expressed by the many who taste the dainty dishes prepared by the Shredded Wheat Biscuit at the exhibit to be held at B. A. Wheeler's Oct. 31st, Nov. 1st, 2nd. R. H. Purdy's Nov. 3rd, 4th, 5th.

Style and Finish!

Without quality can't make permanent business. But quality without style and finish never gets any business. Beauty makes more conquests than solid worth. It's so the world over. So we have crowded into our shoes all that catches the eye—but we never forget to have put into them that inner wearing value which makes them "stand the racket". We have all the correct things for men's and women's wear at right prices. Might just as well have style when it is combined with comfort and no extra expense.

Chalky Talk.

"I wish to say that I am interested in inducing people to get more of the phosphate into their bones. I am a dentist, 70 years old, and I have seen so many young people with teeth almost as soft as chalk, simply structures of nothing, comparatively speaking. I wish that people could be educated, could learn what to eat. I think Shredded Wheat comes the nearest of anything to a perfect food." Dr. C. F. B. BLOOD, New London, Conn.

Last week's Plymouth Mail chronicles five weddings in which Plymouth people were principals. Quite an epidemic of matrimony seems to have attacked the two villages.

The Surprise of All.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cow-ten, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and seeing lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half a dozen other bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colic is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at George C. Houston's Drug Store.

IN OUR GREAT STATE.

THE HAPPENINGS IN MICHIGAN BRIEFLY RELATED.

Young Wife Charged With Killing Her Husband—Insurance Companies in Hot Water—Triple Drowning Accident in Sand Lake.

Being Insurance Companies to Time. State Insurance Commissioner Milo D. Campbell is on the war path against fire insurance companies that, according to his statements, have been violating the public acts of Michigan relating to the combining of stock fire insurance companies for the purpose of avoiding competition, "free and open." The commissioner, in order to establish a test case, issued an order revoking the license of the Liverpool & London & Globe Co.

Mr. Campbell explains that he has received many complaints regarding the increase of rates upon manufacturing, mercantile and other special risks. He ascertained that nearly all the old time companies had entered into a concerted absolutely fixing rates upon the property of the state. Commissioner Campbell states that he has but commenced the revocation of licenses of companies in this compact, and will soon announce others unless the practices be at once abandoned.

On August 13 last Judge Swan, in the U. S. circuit court, made an order for an injunction to issue restraining Commissioner Campbell from interfering with the London & Liverpool & Globe Insurance Co. under his order revoking its license.

Battle Creek's Latest Sensation.

Mrs. Rudolph Sanderson, nee V. Marie Butterfield, of Baraboo, Wis., which place was her former home, has been arrested at Battle Creek charged with the murder of her husband, Mr. Sanderson was one of the wealthy citizens of Battle Creek, aged 80 years July 5 last he was married to Miss Butterfield, a professional musician, aged 28, in Windsor, Ont. She was taken with a supposed stroke of paralysis and died Oct. 2, 1903. It is charged that the old man died from the effects of arsenic poisoning.

Mrs. Sanderson was taken to the Battle Creek hospital where she died. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of guilty to the charge of poisoning. The case will be tried in court.

The Michigan Library association, at the Bay City convention, elected H. M. Wiley of Detroit, president; Mrs. Archibald Macdonell of Bay City, secretary and Miss Genevieve M. Walton, of Ypsilanti, treasurer.

Eugene Eldredge, a laborer, was found cut to pieces on the D. & M. tracks near Lowell. Fire trains had passed over his body before it was discovered. He leaves a widow and four children at Sarnia.

Mrs. Sanderson was taken to the Battle Creek hospital where she died. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of guilty to the charge of poisoning. The case will be tried in court.

NEWSY GENERALITIES

War Cloud Darkens Because of the Differences Between France and Great Britain Over the Fashoda Matter—Both are Preparing for Trouble.

Never since Great Britain and France began to dispute over Egypt, years ago, nor during the most acute stage of the numerous Niger differences between those two countries has it now looked so ominous as it now does over the Fashoda incident.

The French navy and military authorities are making feverish preparations for war, and significant orders have been issued from the British admiralty, indicating the belief that Great Britain and France are on the brink of war.

The French navy preparations were at first declared to be mere routine arrangements, but they are now admittedly directed against Great Britain.

The French dockyards and arsenals are working at full pressure, hurriedly preparing warships and torpedo boats for active service.

CRISIS IN FRANCE

The assembling of the French chamber of deputies, and the renewal of the Dreyfus agitation as a consequence was the occasion of very serious rioting in Paris.

At the opening session of the chamber of deputies M. Derouledé made a violent attack upon the minister of war, Gen. Chanoiné, who, after vigorously defending his doings, tendered his resignation and quitted the tribunal.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

The news condensed section containing various brief reports and news items from around the world.

A SUMMER IDYL.

It was a summer idyl. Both were young and possibly as beautiful as is given the average of mortals to be. The idyl developed within the limits of the Greater New York, for both principals in the little drama were artists, and, though it is the practice of the world to associate artists with pastoral scenes they are a class art, and if they choose to remain in the city during a hot summer while the rest of the world is away, who shall question them? Certainly nothing better could have been chosen to fan the flames of a burning passion than such scorching breezes as swept lightly through New York during the last season.

Mr. Palette paluted Titian-haired maidens upon sea-green backgrounds, and Miss Brushes the portraits of soulful young men. The spark of love was first kindled at the studio of a mutual friend, Miss Third Party was such a charming woman, they each declared.

"Madam," he said, with the appreciation of an artist and almost the tenderness of a lover, "you have such beautiful eyes."

"Such talent," she murmured, half under her breath, in a tone of respect, admiration and envy that was most flattering, as she gazed around the studio.

Miss Brushes had first seen the work of Mr. Palette at the studio of Miss Third Party, and her admiration knew no bounds. Then would she like to see the portrait of the rising young artist who had done that fine work? Certainly she would, and though even a young woman artist may not express her admiration openly for the personal beauty of a young man who is still in the flesh, she gazed at the portrait for a long time, and when she turned from it to the work of its original again, the rapture with which she expressed her admiration made her previous words seem cold and pale.

Young Mr. Palette saw pretty little Miss Brushes' work also at the studio of Miss Third Party. He, too, was in raptures.

"Why," he said, "why"—searching his vocabulary for words to express his strong admiration—"why, it's bully."

"I think I have Miss Brushes' portrait around here, somewhere," said Miss Third Party, carelessly, as she went on with her work—"If you care to hunt around, I think you will find it."

Mr. Palette found the portrait, and, being a man as well as an artist, he did not hesitate to express his admiration, and in no measured terms.

In fact, if he had not been an artist, it might have been thought that his heart had been seriously touched. Any outsider would have thought that, and Mr. Palette thought so himself. He said so.

"Miss Third Party" he said to the mistress of the studio, as he took her hand at departing, and gazed, but with a far-off look, into her "beautiful eyes."

"I have seen the picture of the one woman I can love, the one whom I would like to marry."

Then, in a serious mood, he departed. But Mr. Palette was young, and with a sigh Miss Third Party returned to her work, and specially to get about him, about little Miss Brushes, and, if she knew it, that she had become the medium of a desperate love affair.

But neither Mr. Palette nor Miss Brushes forgot her. They called with remarkable frequency. Little Miss Brushes conceived an affection for the older artist that, if she had cherished before, she certainly had never made manifest. Miss Third Party was not surprised. Perhaps she liked to study human nature.

"What funny children they are," she said to herself. "And they are clever, too, both of them."

She repeated, with discretion, the remarks of each about the other. It was certainly a nice thing to do to show the appreciation of one artist for the work of another. She even let Miss Brushes into the secret that young Mr. Palette raved over her portrait. An artist's raptures, of course, but little waves of color chased each other over Miss Brushes' fair forehead and ran up into the little curls of hair that nestled there. She was something of a coquette, and she did not object to being admired.

Little Miss Brushes was to pose again for Miss Third Party, and on the day she was to arrive young Mr. Palette, favored by his good genius, happened in. There was a difficulty, though, for Miss Brushes had insisted that she should be alone when she posed. Mr. Palette must be disposed of, and he was sent on an errand.

"Miss Brushes is going to be here," and we shall have luncheon together," said Miss Third Party, "and you must go and order the things we need." That would take some time. It was not an errand young Mr. Palette would enjoy upon ordinary occasions, but for Miss Brushes! That was a different matter, and he hurried off. If he confused the shopmen by ordering nectar and ambrosia for his goddess no one was the wiser. He came back breathless.

said Miss Brushes, as the step was heard upon the stair.

"That is Mr. Palette," said Miss Third Party; "how would it do if I should introduce you as Mrs. Brown?" That would do well. Miss Brushes' eyes sparkled with fun.

"Now, Mr. Palette had heard of Miss Brown, a little model and friend of Miss Third Party's. He was not particularly interested in models. He came in and sat down. But he was uneasy. He would not sit still.

"I say," he said, "how much Miss Brown looks like Miss Brushes. There is the same turn of the head, the same profile."

"That is because you have not seen Miss Brushes herself," said Miss Third Party, seriously. "You cannot form a good idea of a person merely from the picture." Then she proceeded to entertain her little friend, Miss Brown, with the story of young Palette's infatuation for Miss Brushes. An artist's love affairs are public property; he tells them himself. They are artistic conditions.

"He beguiles a little cousin out to walk that he may have an excuse for hanging around her house," she began, mischievously, "and—"

"I'll get to talking with some one there and get acquainted with her yet," interrupted Mr. Palette, walking up and down the room, uneasy, but unsuspecting.

"He is furiously jealous of a handsome young man she has painted, and—"

"To think of wearing a coat of that style at ten o'clock in the morning!" "He vows he would know her anywhere if he should meet her among thousands."

"I should," she would wear a little sailor hat, a trim little tie—Mr. Palette's affections were apt to center not so much on artistic, as up-to-date young women—and she would walk so."

Throwing back his shoulders, Mr. Palette walked across the room with the air of a fashionable young woman.

Miss Third Party was beginning to be alarmed at the success of her joke. Just then there was a diversion that called every one for a moment to the windows. She scribbled three words upon a piece of paper and handed it to Mr. Palette.

"It is she," he read.

Then followed a genuine introduction, and for the few moments longer that Miss Brushes remained Mr. Palette was quiet, pale, and intense.

When she was gone he was in raptures. He must pour out his feelings. He did so for an hour at least. Then he went home. He held both of Miss Third Party's hands in his as he said good-bye.

"I shall never marry any woman," he said, seriously, somewhat worn by the strength of his feelings, "but this has been a wonderful experience to me."

Later in the day Mr. Palette dropped into the studio again on a matter of business. He was gay, debonair, and quite himself again.

"And you find Miss Brushes quite as beautiful as you expected?" asked Miss Third Party, curiously, as he turned to leave for the last time that day.

"Yes, O, yes," he answered, carelessly. Then, as he held the door half-way open, suppressing a yawn, "but she had the figure of a rabbit."

That was the end of the idyl.—New York Times

A Foolish Wager.
In a Paris cafe, as the story is related in the London newspaper, a man had been astonishing his fellow-workmen by drinking extraordinary quantities of water. One of them remarked, very sensibly, that it must be bad for the health to drink so much. "Not a bit of it," was the reply, accompanied by the assertion that twenty-four pints of water was about what a man needed to quench his thirst in such weather. A bet was offered and taken. It was arranged that the man should lie on the floor with a funnel between his lips into this liquid was to be poured until the limit of twenty-four pints was reached. An obliging but ill-advised bystander agreed to pour the water in the man on his back gulped down pint after pint with apparent ease. After a time, however, somebody noticed that he lay motionless and drank no more, and for the very good reason that he was dead.

Mr. Gladstone's Will.
The "great commoner" was as simple in the act of devising his worldly goods as he had been all his life in other things. He wrote his will in a common memorandum-book, with his own hand, in his peculiarly neat and legible handwriting. The most interesting part of the document is the second clause, relating to funeral arrangements, which was strictly carried out: Commending myself to the infinite mercies of God in the Incarnate Son as my only and sufficient heir, I leave the particulars of my burial to my executors, specifying only, that it is to be very simple and also private, unless they shall consider that there are conclusive reasons to the contrary. That I desire to be buried where my wife may also lie. That on no account shall any laudatory inscription be placed over me.

A Gigantic Grand Duke.
The only man known who is obliged to take his own bed with him wherever he travels is the Grand Duke Paul of Russia. He is so very tall that it is impossible for him to obtain a comfortable night's rest unless he can sleep in his own bed, which was made specially for him. The bed itself is constructed so that it can be packed into a small trunk.

Overproduction of Poultry.

Overproduction of poultry and eggs is a possibility, but that such has at any time occurred is doubtful, says the Poultry Keeper. The fear that the market may be overstocked has deterred some from venturing largely in poultry, but such fears have never been realized. It is not unusual to find the market full at all times, not only of poultry and eggs, but of all kinds of produce; though there is a great difference in quality. It has been said of butter that there was no intermediate kind, as butter was either good or bad. If not of the best quality, it was of no value; and if but little inferior to the best, there was no place for it whatever. Such may be said of eggs also, and it may be extended to poultry. Quality regulates the price. A difference of only one cent a pound on poultry or a dozen eggs seems insignificant, but when a large business is conducted the difference is great. As long as there are several prices for the products the market is overstocked with the lowest priced articles only. The best will be in demand, and will sell for all that it is worth; but the term "best" means a great deal, for it includes everything pertaining to superiority. There is a large field open for those who aim to supply the market with the best; and every season they will find that they have room for improvement in order to excel. There is also much to learn in order to know how to provide the market with the best, and the market will accept it readily at all times and without regard to the quantity of inferior grades that may have been offered for sale. There is something more to look after than feeding and caring for the fowls. To produce the best, the hens must be of the best. This demands the use of the best breeds. No farmer can afford to raise chickens for market from the common stock, for the reason that no system of feeding will enable the inferior birds to equal their superiors. With the breeds for the purpose the market can be supplied with something choice, and there will be little or no competition. Overproduction of the best is a result not yet attained. It is anticipated by many, and as long as the farmers will not improve their flocks, the market will always demand more.

Meeting for Size.
Mr. E. Cobb, in the Feathered World of July 23, makes the following remarks on mating for size and shape: "The male bird undoubtedly exercises a certain amount of influence in regard to the size and shape of the offspring, but to attempt to remedy—as so many amateurs do—the deficiency of size in their stock by the purchase of an extra large cock, is the wrong way to go to work. The hen has far more influence over both the size and shape of the progeny than the male has. Take a broad shouldered, deep chested cock and mate with narrow shouldered hens, deficient also in breast, and the result of such a union will be but little, if any, improvement. Had, however, the tables been turned, and the hens possessed the size instead of the cock, far greater improvement would appear in the offspring, but, as we before remarked, the male bird does exercise a certain influence. It will be found that by breeding from large hens and a cock deficient in this respect the pullets produced show a far greater improvement than is observable in the cockerels; and it is only by continuing the process of breeding from large hens that the cockerels will far outdistance the original cock. There is no question but what the best plan is to have size and shape on both sides, but if a deficiency must occur on one side or the other, do not let it be on that of the hens."

Movable Pictures.
We cannot but believe that much every way would be gained if in all of our poultry houses, the "fixings" were movable. The roosts especially should be so constructed that they may be easily taken down and cleaned. This will also make it easy to clean out the henhouse. It takes but a few minutes to do the work when the roosts and other obstacles have been taken out of doors. We have movable roosts constructed in the following manner. Two long, low "horses" are fixed with slits in the top of the cross pieces, into which the roosts can be dropped. Each horse is ten feet long. If we want the roosts two feet apart this will give us five roosts. The roosts are square at the ends, so as to fall easily into the square grooves. Each roost is twelve feet long. This makes sitting room for a large flock of fowls.

Sprouting Potatoes.—While the sprouting of potatoes under ordinary conditions is very objectionable, they may be so sprouted as to materially advance their earliness. This is done by placing them, stem end down, in single layers in shallow trays on the floor, in a light and moderately warm room. This placed they will send out short, stubby, green sprouts which will remain in that condition for weeks. Such potatoes, planted without breaking the sprouts, will grow immediately and produce an early crop.

The Kitchen Garden. is not usually appreciated for the reason that the farmer does not keep an account of its returns.

QUEEN MARY'S PERMISSION.

Grants to an Earl the Right to Wear Two Nightcaps.

Among the musty state documents of Great Britain is one which every reader of Miss Strickland's "Lives of the Queens" inevitably giggles over, says the Memphis Scimitar. In the life of Queen Mary Miss Strickland reproduces a wonderful state document, in which her majesty grants special permission to one of her counselors to wear a night cap in her presence. This royal concession is made, presumably as a reward for valuable services rendered. The earl of Sussex was the nobleman thus honored. The earl was a valencian and had a great fear of uncovering his head. Considering, therefore, that the colds he dreaded respected no persons, he petitioned Queen Mary for leave to wear a cap in her presence. The queen not only gave him leave to wear one, but two nightcaps if he pleased. His patent for this privilege is unique in royal annals: "Know ye that we do grant to our well-beloved and trusty cousin and councillor, Henry, earl of Sussex, license and pardon to wear his cap, coat, or nightcap, or any two of them at his pleasure, as well in our presence as in the presence of any other person within this realm, or in any other place in our dominions whatsoever during his life, and these, our letters, shall be sufficient warrant in his behalf." The queen's seal was affixed to this singular grant. Three persons in Great Britain alone enjoy the privilege of remaining covered in the royal presence—Lord Forester, Lord Kinsale, and the master of Trinity college, Cambridge.

A Pitiless God.

Almost as ancient as the earth herself was Eros, the personification of love. Hesiod relates that he was among the first of existing things, and that he assisted Earth in bringing forth from chaos the earliest forms of life and beauty. Aristophanes and others wrote of Eros as the son of Night. Later poets sang of him as the son of Ares and Aphrodite, and honored him as the sweet-minded promoter of human affections. They represented him as a fair-faced boy, winged and carrying a bow with which to inflict sweet wounds upon those who came within range. Nor has Eros ceased to exist even in this practical age, for to this day the poets sing of this little-winged god, as skillful and as pitiless as in the days of old. The philosophic myth of Eros and Psyche is one of the most beautiful of the ancient allegories.

Venezuela Wants Immigrants.

The Venezuelan government has contracted for the importation of 15,000 families from the north of Italy. Lands and houses will be given them and they will be assisted in a financial way. It is expected that they will develop the cultivation of fruits and cereals and will pay special attention to the growing of vines and manufacture of wine. Each immigrant will get fourteen acres and it is asserted that this amount of land is too small for growing cereals. The United States consul at Caracas says that when the fruit-producing capacity of this cloud of immigrants is developed a market must be sought in the United States. There is none in Venezuela.

MRS. PINKHAM TALKS ABOUT OVARITIS.

Letter from Mrs. Carrie F. Tremper that all Suffering Women Should Read.

Ovaritis or inflammation of the ovaries may result from sudden stopping of the monthly flow, from inflammation of the womb, and many other causes. The slightest indication of trouble with the ovaries should claim your instant attention. It will not cure itself, and a hospital operation with all its terrors may easily result from neglect.

The fullest counsel on this subject can be secured without cost by writing to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and asking for her advice. Your letter will be confidential and seen by woman only.

Mrs. Carrie F. Tremper, Lake, Ind., whose letter we print, is only one of many that have been cured of ovarian troubles by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was suffering from congestion of the ovaries, misplacement of the womb, irregular, scanty, and painful menstruation, also kidney trouble. I had let it go on until I could not sit up, and could not straighten my left leg. My physician gave me relief, but failed to cure me. Reading the testimonials of different women, telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for them, I decided to give it a trial. I had almost given up hopes, as I had suffered untold agony. The first dose helped me. And now, after using eight bottles of Vegetable Compound, one bottle of Blood Purifier, one box of Liver Pills, I am proud to say I am as well as I ever was. I might have saved a large doctor's bill and much suffering, had I tried your precious medicine in the beginning of my sickness. All in the village know I was not expected to live, which I had the first and second attacks. In fact, I had no hope until I began taking your Vegetable Compound. It has saved my life."

Republicans at the west end of the first senatorial district were without exception favorable to the renomination of Senator A. L. Holmes. They regret exceedingly his defeat. Ordinarily a man should be allowed to follow any vocation he may choose to, but many good citizens will want the men that asks for their votes, to follow some more reputable business than saloon-keeping. The business is responsible for so much disorder and crime, it would seem to be a sad calling for a law maker.

The attendance was remarkably good in view of the bad weather and both the sessions full of interest from beginning to end. The topics were all well presented and the discussions both profitable and interesting. Officers for the ensuing year were elected, each of the four schools of the township thus being represented as the officers also constitute the executive board. They are Pres. N. A. Clapp, Vice Pres. G. A. Sutton; Sec. Mrs. Sarah C. Taylor; Treas. Mrs. Sarah Sandford. The address, "Opportunities" given in the evening by Rev. J. B. Reynolds of Novi was the subject of very favorable comment by all. The collection was unusually good, and the entertainment of the visitors by the people of the district simply beyond praise. The supper would have done credit to the finest hotel in Michigan. The next meeting will be with the Novi Methodist Sunday-school.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit for the first time, gives the people what they have been looking for, a whole wheat food that actually takes the place of starch made bread, and is capable of being used at every meal in a great variety of ways. Over 140 recipes are contained in a beautiful cook book given away with every package of Biscuit sold during the exhibit to be held at B. A. Wheeler's Oct 31st, Nov 1st, 2nd, R. H. Purdy's Nov 3rd, 4th, 5th.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co. Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of Constipation and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c per box. Sold by Geo. C. Hueston, Druggist.

Walled Lake News.

Our first snow storm struck us Wednesday.

Borg to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brangard, Oct. 14, a boy.

Mrs. O. J. McKnight has returned from her Pennsylvania trip.

Marshall Johnson brought to town a sweet potato which he raised on his farm that weighs 7 lbs. and 5 ounces.

At the earnest solicitation of his friends S. L. Morgan of this place has decided to make a business of auctioneering. His initiatory success at the recent Carnes sale warrants the assertion that he will make a good one.

Mr. Wilsey of Ann Arbor has opened a class in singing. So far the class numbers thirty-eight, and the first lesson will be given Friday night in the school house. All those interested in singing are invited to join as Mr. Wilsey has the reputation of being a good teacher and a hustler.

Auction Sale.

At his farm three-fourths of a mile east of Northville on the Base line road, E. Ross will sell at public auction Tuesday, Nov. 1, commencing at 9:30 o'clock, a number of horses, cattle, farm tools, harness, buggies, a quantity of grain, etc. C. M. Thornton auctioneer; P. E. White clerk. If the day is rainy the sale will be postponed till the next day at the same time.

Built to Win.

James A. Ten Eyck, father and trainer of the boy champion oarsman "Ned" Ten Eyck, says: "There is nothing in my judgement equal to Shredded Wheat. I am convinced that it is a perfect food to train on, and to live largely on before training, instead of any kind of bread or cereals I keep it in my house - would not be without it." Ned Ten Eyck was built to win. All who desire the strong, healthy body which makes possible personal success, are invited to visit the exhibit of Natural Food products to be held at B. A. Wheeler's Oct. 31st, Nov. 1st, 2nd, R. H. Purdy's Nov. 3rd, 4th, 5th.

General Debility and Loss of Flesh

Scott's Emulsion has been the standard remedy for nearly a quarter of a century. Physicians readily admit that they obtain results from it that they cannot get from any other flesh-forming food. There are many other preparations on the market that pretend to do what does, but they fail to perform. The pure Norwegian Cod-liver Oil made into a delightful cream, fully blended with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, are such valuable tonics, makes this preparation an ideal one and checks the wasting tendency, and the patient almost immediately commences to put on flesh and gain a strength which surprises them.

Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. See that the man and fish are on the wrapper. Size $1.00 all druggists. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York

A Brown City man got mad at the editor of the Brown City Banner and as is usual in similar cases, ordered the paper stopped forthwith. He forgot to pay up so the paper kept on coming. He took one and wrote an insulting message across it and sent it back. He was arrested by the post-office authorities and will answer for his little violation of rules to the grand jury. There is some protection after all for "the down trodden newspaperman."

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever-sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Geo. C. Hueston, The Druggist.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Wayne. ss.-At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Wayne, held at the Probate office, in the City of Detroit, on the third day of October in the one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight. Present, Edgar O. Durrell, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of EUNICE SHEPARD, deceased. On reading and filing of Francis B. Deul, administrator of said estate, praying that he may be licensed to sell the real estate of said deceased for the purpose of paying the charges of administering said estate for distribution. It is ordered that the ninth day of November next at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be appointed for hearing said petition, and that all persons interested in said estate appear before said court at said time and place; to show cause why a license should not be granted to said administrator to sell real estate as prayed for in said petition. And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in the Northville Record a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Wayne. EDGAR O. DURRELL, Judge of Probate. HOMER A. FLINT, Register.

Something New... The New Idea Patterns!

We have secured the agency for these Patterns which are equal to any in the market at about half the usual price.

10c 10c 10c 10c 10c

for each and every one. Why pay 15c to 25c when you can get as good a pattern for 10c. Remember the prices. Come and try the patterns. Thereby you save money to make other purchases with. That's our motto. "Money savers."

1760 - LADIES' 5-GORED SKIRT
With the Flounce in Seven Sections.
Sizes 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32.

We are also exclusive agents for Loomer's Steam Moulded Corsets, and the Peerless Dress stay. No other 16c - GIRLS' DRESS. firm handles them, although other dealers have endeavored to secure them. Why? Because they are the best in the market. That's our aim to carry the best goods to be procured. They are the cheapest in the end. We are here to stay, to please and to give you our money's worth. Dr. Denton's Sleeping Garments and Morning Jackets are another one of our specialties. Think of it! A Jersey Jacket all ready to wear for 50c. A Sleeping Garment for the Youngsters, one they cannot kick on or out of, for 50c.
