How to Vote.

In this day and age there is no excuse whatever for any man to lose his rote at the polls by improper marking of his ballot but it is safe to say when the ballots are counted next Monday night there will be the usual dozen or more to be thrown cut. The instructions have repeatedly been hammered into voters of all political faiths; they have had "instruction" ballots shoved under their eyes for years, and yet there are still about so many at every election who deliberately walk into the voting booths and make fools o themselves by improperly marking their ticket so that it either only counts for one man or no one at all If a man is not real sure that be knows how to vote a "split" ticket he should either vote it "straight," or place an "X" in front of each candidate for whom he desires to vote and not put any "X" at all in the cucle under his party's name. The latter way may take a little longer time but its dead sure

An Intermediate Court:

At the forming township election the voters will be called upon to vote on the question of establishing an intermediate court to have musdiction in all civil cases involving $1.500 or less. This court will cost the state but $15,000 which to every tan payer on $1,000 of assessed prop erty would inean an expense of less that one and one half cents. The argument in favor of this new court is a strong one and the conditions weem to warrant the statement that if it is created it will prove a decided benefit to the business interests of the state. The supreme court is unable to care for the present vast amount or business and the business is increasing as each day goes by

I took their medicines faithfully but received no permanent benefit. I weak completely discouraged and thought hand times I must die. In reading the Fontac papers I saw that Dr. Walker of Detroit would be at the Hotel Hodges. I deaded to call and sie him. The doctor made a thorough examination and told me. It was the longest sentence with which he had honored me Finding he could talk, I prepared to make myself agreeable, a proceeding which he seemed to appreciate, for he began to uniff and pay great attention to his horse, which he was elaborately turning about. She had not a common face or a common manner She was gray, she was toothless, she was haggard and she was bent, but she was not ordinary or just one of the crowd of old women to be seen on country doorsteps. There was force in her aged movements and a strong individuality in the glances she shot at us as she backed slowly out of the roadway.
