Vol. XXXIII. No. 30.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1902.

$1.00 Per Year in Advance

HERE'S THE TWO VILLAGE TICKETS

THERE IS GOOD MATERIAL IN BOTH OF THEM.

Dr. Johnson and Oscar Harger Are Heading the Tickets.

The "Citizens" village party caucus last Friday night and B. G. Webster was made chairman and P. E. White clerk. There was a good attendance and as many as 100 ballots were cast for some of the officers. The final result was as follows:

President—Dr. R. M. Johnson.
Trustees—M. F. Stanley, E. H. Lapham, A. S. Parsons.
Clerk—M. S. Nichols.
Treasurer—Ralph Pomeroy.
Assessor—C. A. Sessions.
The caucus committee appointed was E. K. Starkweather, F. N. Perrin and E. Vradenburg.
E. H. Lapham declined to make the run and the name of I. N. Starkweather was substituted instead.

The "Workingmen's" caucus was held Monday night and C. L. Dubuque was made chairman and E. H. Lapham clerk. The attendance was about 70 or 80. The result was as follows:

President—Oscar Harger.
Trustees—J. E. Vanatta, Wm. Phillips, P. S. Harmon.
Clerk—Thos. Mardock.
Treasurer—L. A. Babbitt.
Assessor—R. C. Yerkes.

The committee appointed was W. H. Hutton, W. H. Cattermole, J. Cranston.

L. A. Babbitt declined to allow his name to run and the committee afterwards substituted that of Abe Huff.

From these two tickets the voters of the village ought to be able to select enough competent men to guarantee the best possible management of the affairs of the village, the magnitude of which may be partially realized by studying the annual report published elsewhere in this issue.

Typewriters Recovered.

The arrest of Alice Richards, as was noted in last week's Mail, affords a solution of who was the perpetrator of the numerous acts of petty thievery going on in the village the past year or two. J. O. Eddy had a new typewriter stolen from his office a year ago last August. Last Monday he was notified by Justice Brewer, at Wayne, that he could have his machine by coming after it and indemnifying the same. Richards owned up to theft and it was found at Randall's place, near French Landing. A machine belonging to the Hamilton Rifle Co., stolen some time ago, was recovered Tuesday, together with a quantity of cartridges. It is altogether probable Richards knows where the stuff is belonging to C. H. Bennett and family, stolen this winter. Richards owned a railroad velocipede and it was an easy matter to drop into the village from his home at Willow and get back again. It will be remembered the thieves were tracked from the railroad track where all trace was lost—Plymouth Mail.

P. KING AMBLER

Died Suddenly at Farmington Monday Night.

P. King Ambler, a well known Northvillite, died suddenly at Farmington about two o'clock Tuesday morning, where he went on the electric car leaving here at 12:30 a. m. Something seemed to be wrong when he got on the car here and when the car stopped at Farmington he had to be carried on the hotel stoop. He was afterward taken inside and laid on a couch, and later (about 2 o'clock) he was heard to roll off on the floor where he was soon afterward discovered by Landlord Green in a lifeless condition. Dr. Miller of that place was called, but said death had come at least half an hour before probably due to heart failure. Ambler was naturally a bright fellow. He had a good education, was well posted on the affairs of the country and was a skilled painter and book-keeper. He was about 54 years of age and leaves a widow and one daughter.

The funeral occurred from the home of his sister, Mrs. Marvin Döve, Wednesday afternoon, Rev. W. H. Lloyd officiating.

A REMARKABLY WARM FIRE

CHARTER FRUIT FARM HOUSE
ENTIRELY DESTROYED.

Lamp Exploded—Was Owned by
Wm. Boyce.

Wm. Boyce's house on the Charter fruit farm in the northwest part of town was entirely destroyed by fire late Saturday night.

The lamp which Mr. Boyce carried into the cellar in some manner exploded and before assistance arrived the house was a solid mass of flames. Instead of telephoning an alarm Mr. Boyce ran all the way to the engine house himself but there was not the slightest chance of either saving any of the contents or putting out the fire when assistance arrived. The department did not have enough hose to reach from the Dubuque street hydrant and even if they had had a car load of it, the time consumed in getting in the alarm would have made it useless.

GETTING MUSICAL PITCH.

Sollicitous Care Is Exercised in Preserving the Standards.

Musical pitch has a curious tendency to creep in. It is said that Bach's music sounds much differently now from what it did when Bach wrote it, because the instruments are now pitched higher. In 1882 it was found that the pitch of high A at the Vienna Court Opera had crept from the prescribed 435 double vibrations a second to 443, and in 1885 this number had further increased to 450. Accordingly a musical conference was held, and a resolution was taken to re-establish the old pitch of 435 vibrations per second. Upon this announcement the Reichsanstalt, the Imperial Physical and Technical Institute of Germany, set up standard instruments, and has since tested and corrected many hundreds of tuning forks, shortening them if they are too low in pitch, and thinning the arms if they are too high. All the military orchestras of Germany are pitched alike, and the Reichsanstalt keeps the tuning forks correct. And this solicitous care of the government in preserving standards is one reason why the world now goes to Germany in musical matters.—Pearson's Magazine.

THE HORSE THIEVES HAVE BEEN CAUGHT

ERNEST FORSYTHE A PITTSFIELD FARMER

And An Ypsilanti Man Are Both Implicated.

Ernest Forsythe, the young Pittsfield farmer, who was arrested on suspicion of being the chap who has been stealing horses in the streets of Ann Arbor, was put in the sweat box Monday and confessed to having helped himself to three of the missing beasts. He recently made the statement that he didn't have to work, and scattered money among his tough companions.

Elmer Bycroft of Ypsilanti, who was implicated in the thefts by Forsythe, acknowledges that he was with the latter at Northville when a horse was stolen, but claimed that Forsythe told him that he had bought the animal.

The Northville horsespoken of was that belonging to Zeke Dingman which was stolen from in front of Parsons' store two weeks ago.

Both were here before Judge Webster Wednesday, Bycraft being in charge of Deputy Sheriff Perrin for arraignment and Forsythe in charge of Sheriff Gillen of Ann Arbor as a witness. Forsythe declined to talk, but enough evidence was brought out for the justice to bind Bycraft over to the circuit court for trial, fixing the bonds at $500. Mr. Dingman's horse was recovered at Wayne where it had been traded to a man named Marsh.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. Stillson and daughters, also Mrs. Keyes, wish to thank their kind friends and neighbors who did so much for them in their late sickness and bereavement.

Baptist Church Notes.

(By the Pastor)

Last Sunday morning at the communion service 22 received the hand of fellowship.

It was very gratifying to see such a large congregation last Sunday evening. Thank you, come again.

A program committee was appointed last Sunday to arrange for the observance of Easter by the Sunday-school.

Next Sunday morning's subject will be "The Development of Character," and in the evening "The Poison of Sin."

The committee of Systematic Benevolence is at work this week, and we hope the membership will pledge a liberal amount for the several objects.

Our ladies have decided to hold their rummage sale in the rink Friday, March 21st, and in connection with it will have a home-made candy booth and a first class supper—a plenty for all this time. Particulars next week.

Miss Harriett Cooper, field secretary of the American Baptist Home Missionary society, will meet with the Mission Circle next Wednesday afternoon. There ought to be a large number of ladies present to meet Miss Cooper.

We hope more of our young people will attend the B. Y. P. U. service and come with the intention of taking some active part. The active, working christian is the growing, useful one, and the one who always appreciates and enjoys his religion.

Believes Governor Bliss Should Have a Second Term.

Plymouth, Mich. March 4, 1902
Editor Record: I was pleased to see in a recent issue of your paper a very general endorsement by the country press at your nomination as representative in the state legislature. I was also gratified with your remarks concerning the administration of Gov. Bliss. I am a firm believer in the wisdom of the Republican custom of a second term for a public officer who has done fairly well the first term. It is not only an incentive for him to do his best and attend strictly to the duties of his office, but it gives him and his constituents the benefit of his experience gained during his first term. He knows vastly better what to do and how to do it than he did at the beginning of his official career. Breaking in new officers takes time and sometimes the results are not entirely satisfactory. I see there seems to be a concerted effort on the part of some who are "cut" and want to get in to turn down Governor Bliss, but I believe that the great mass of people who are neither office seekers nor office aspirants are satisfied with the present state administration. After the somewhat sensational administration of Gov. Pingree the people desire a rest and a conservative and quiet administration on business lines. This we seem to be getting and I believe there is no general desire for a change. As for my self a somewhat extended journey in this "Vale of Tears" has convinced me that it is "always safest and generally best to let well enough alone."

R. L. ALEXANDER.

CARD-SHUFFLING MACHINE.

It Has Excited Wonder of Several Professional Gamblers.

A card shuffling machine has been invented by a Cleveland man. It should make business poor for crooked card-players. The device is complicated, yet simple in its action. "Card-players who want a fair and honest game are enthusiastic in their praise of my machine," says the inventor. "They say it shuffles cards more thoroughly than can possibly be done by hand, and that it is impossible for a dealer to put up a hand to suit himself. I have exhibited the machine to a number of professional gamblers. Some of the keepers of gambling rooms told me they would do all they could to prevent the machine being put in use, because it takes away all the advantage which the dealer's skill in shuffling gives to the house. But when the machine gets into the rooms where square games are played the fair players will go there, and the crooked rooms will then be compelled to adopt its use also." The shuffling machine is a metal box about twelve inches high, three inches wide and six inches from front to back. All the mechanism is inside. The cards are dropped in at the top and rest on a tiny shelf. Below this there are five small fingers, one on each of five thin steel blades extending across the full width of the machine. When a shutter on the front is dropped the shelf falls and the cards drop upon the blades and are separated into five little irregular bunches by the fingers. The blades separate, and one by one cards drop from the various bunches into a receptacle at the bottom, the drop being regulated by a clockwork mechanism.

Professor and the Jew.

At one time the streets of Edinburgh used to be the favorite hunting ground of men who came up to passers-by and asked whether they had any "old clothes" to sell. "Christopher North," as John Wilson, professor of moral philosophy in the university, was called, took a very special dislike to these fellows. One day as he was going home from college a man came up to him and inquired of him in a low, confidential voice, "Any old clo', sir?" "No, my dear fellow," replied the professor in a similar whisper, "have you?"

PLEAD GUILTY.

Ex-City Attorney Salisbury and Stillson MacLeod Confess to Violation of Banking Laws.

Grand Rapids, March 4.—Ex-City Attorney Lant K. Salisbury and Stillson MacLeod Tuesday afternoon pleaded guilty in the United States circuit court to the charge of violating the United States banking law. It was charged that they obtained something more than $10,000 from the Old National bank upon fraudulent checks. The money was afterward paid back.

MacLeod was formerly teller of the bank and manager of the local clearing-house and was aided in the fraud by his official position. The discovery of the crime came as an outcome of the municipal water supply scandal.

Salisbury, in entering his plea of guilty, read a statement of his banking troubles and his connection with the water scandal. He says that he became involved in debt to the extent of $12,000 by stock and grain speculations and was extended financial accommodations at the bank by MacLeod. Later he felt obligated to assist MacLeod, and they resorted to further speculation, increasing the indebtedness $10,000 through overdrafts. This was in December, 1899. In the early part of 1900 he met R. A. Cameron, the alleged water contract promoter, and planned to get through him $25,000 to settle the bank accounts. He failed to get the $25,000 and then secured the $75,000 which was sent here as a boodle fund, arranged with MacLeod to take care of the bank obligations and turn the remainder over to him. He declares MacLeod gave him something over $50,000 and that he obtained enough from other sources to again make up the $75,000 and that it was returned to Mr. Gates, H. A. Taylor's agent.

HER SEX REVEALED.

Woman Who Had Been Working as a Man Among Fishermen Exposed Through Strange Means.

Bay City, March 3.—Thirty-five men, one woman and a team of horses escaped from a big floe of ice in Saginaw bay to the shore at Big Creek, Tuscola county, Sunday. The woman had been living on the ice all winter, her sex being unknown to the men. She was manly in appearance and wore complete male attire, with trousers tucked in high boots. Her sex was discovered Sunday when the party was making an effort to get ashore. The men proposed swimming to shore if it became necessary. The woman demurred and after some questioning she admitted her sex. She had been backward about visiting among the other shanties on the ice all winter, preferring the seclusion of her own hut. She said she had gone upon the ice partly for the excitement and partly for making money catching fish. Her home is in Sebewaing.

Bay City, March 4.—All but four of the 300 fishermen who were endangered by being driven out into the bay on an ice floe have succeeded in reaching shore. The men devoted the day to bringing their shanties ashore on cakes of ice. The men remaining on the ice field are not in danger.

Three-Cent Fare Illegal.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—In a decision rendered in the United States supreme court Monday it was held that the ordinance enacted by the city government of Detroit, Mich., arbitrarily reducing street car fares to three cents was "regular and without binding effect." This decision was based upon the fact that previous ordinances had been passed fixing the street car fares at five cents. These original ordinances were construed by the court to be in the nature of contracts. The opinion was delivered by Justice Peckham, and affirmed the opinion of the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Michigan.

Socialists Meet.

Flint, March 3.—The state socialist convention was held here Saturday with nine delegates in attendance. A permanent organization was not secured until the afternoon session, when E. A. Higgins, of Flint, was made chairman and D. J. Jeannerette, of Ann Arbor, secretary. Several hours were taken up by a heated debate on the platform to be adopted. The national socialist platform was finally agreed upon. W. E. Walters, of Detroit, was nominated for governor.

Merchants Complain.

Lapeer, March 3.—The merchants of Lapeer county are up against it. The farmers have adopted the plan of cooperative buying through the grange, staple articles being ordered in wholesale lots at regular intervals and shipped to this place, where the farmers come with their wagons and haul the stuff home. Business amounting to thousands of dollars is said to be done in this way every month.

Death of a Rough Rider.

Battle Creek, March 3.—Word was received here of the death at Missoula, Mont., by blood poisoning, of Joe Reese, son of Mrs. S. M. Reese, of this city, for years a famous mountain hunter and guide and who achieved distinction in the Spanish war as a member of Roosevelt's rough riders. His body will be brought here for burial.

Farmer Loses His Home.

Mason, March 3.—The large residence on the D. C. Smith farm, one and one-half miles south of this city, was destroyed by fire, the blaze starting from a defective chimney. A good share of the contents were saved. Loss about $2,500; partially covered by insurance in the Farmers' Mutual.

Boiling Water Ends Life.

Escanaba, March 4.—Andrew Berquist, a farmer living near here, died Sunday from drinking boiling water. For years he has made it a practice to eat and drink everything right from the stove. The habit finally led to his death.

Incorporated.

Lansing, March 3.—The H. Scherer company, of Detroit, capital $200,000, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. The company is organized for the manufacture of carriage supplies.

Will Raise Beets.

Lansing, March 3.—About 1,000 acres of sugar beets will be raised in the vicinity of Williamston and Webberville this season for the Lansing factory.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

A Jealous Man Shoots and Kills a Woman in Detroit, and Commits Suicide.

Detroit, March 3.—Anthony Perry, aged 38, Saturday night shot and killed Mrs. Sarah A. Thillman, aged 34, at her home on Franklin street, and then committed suicide by shooting himself. Both died almost instantly. The cause of the shooting was jealousy. Mrs. Thillman was a widow of a few months, and owned a saloon, which had been left her by her husband. Perry had been a friend of her husband, and Mrs. Thillman had placed him in charge of the saloon. He became very much attached to Mrs. Thillman and also jealous of her. About a month ago he threatened to shoot her because he thought she was receiving attentions from other men. She discharged him and had him arrested. Saturday night he went to her place of business, which was also her home, and fulfilled his threat. Mrs. Thillman was a woman of good reputation among her neighbors. Perry was formerly a longshoreman.

FOUND GUILTY.

Henry A. Taylor Is Convicted of Charge of Hoodluming in the Grand Rapids Water Scandal.

Grand Rapids, March 3.—Henry A. Taylor was convicted in the superior court of bribing city officials and of conspiracy in connection with the water contract with the city. The jury deliberated 32 hours before reaching a verdict. In the summer of 1900 Cameron and Garman, New York promoters, came here to secure a $1,000,000 water contract. They were introduced by City Attorney Lant K. Salisbury by Thomas F. McGarry. Salisbury agreed to deliver the contract on payment of $100,000. Taylor was brought into the deal as the financial backer, and he is alleged to have put up the "boodle" which passed into Salisbury's hands. The scheme, however, failed. Salisbury had been convicted of bribery and McGarry will be called to trial in March. Taylor's home is in Milford, Conn. He is about 25 years old and inherited wealth from his father.

Platt Bound Over.

Flint, March 3.—Fred A. Platt, the alleged defaulting secretary of the defunct Building and Loan association, who was arrested October 21 upon a warrant sworn out by George H. Clark, charging him with having embezzled $4,000, waived his examination before Justice Stevenson and was bound over to the circuit court for trial. His bond for $1,000 was quickly furnished by friends. Platt's total defaultations, as discovered by Chief Lord, of the secretary of state's office was over $40,000.

Meeting Postponed.

Ann Arbor, March 3.—The university regents met last week, but the annual budget was not ready and they adjourned until March 17. The building plans for the engineering department were not ready to be submitted and the architect who is preparing the plans for the Psychopathic hospital is ill, so that these matters go over until that time.

AFTER THE GRIP COMES CATARRH.

LIKE A TERRIBLE CYCLONE grip bacillus has passed over our country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, leaving behind it a dark cloud of anguish and despair.

Catarrh follows grip as effect follows cause.

A multitude of catarrh victims will spring up in the trail of the awful epidemic of grip that has just passed over our fair country.

The hope to these people is Peruna. Most people know this already.

Everyone who has had the least touch of grip, should not fail to take a course of treatment with Peruna.

Peruna eradicates every vestige of the disease and leaves the system in a normal condition.

Hon. Joseph B. Crowley, Congressman from Illinois, writes from the National Hotel, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"After giving Peruna a fair trial I can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone suffering with coughs, colds, la grippe and all catarrhal complaints."

J. B. Crowley.

Hon. George H. White, Congressman from North Carolina, writes:

"I am more than satisfied with Peruna, and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family, and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."

George H. White.

Hon. J. P. McGrew, Superintendent U. S. Capital Police Force, of Washington, D. C., says:

"Having suffered from the grip, I was advised by a friend to use your Peruna.

I also used it for my catarrh, and I can now cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone who is suffering from the grip and catarrh."

J. P. McGrew.

Miss Anna Russell, Past Worthy Counselor, Loyd Mystic Legion, 238 Endicott Building, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"For years I have unfortunately found my system in a peculiarly receptive condition for catarrh when I was exposed in any way to inclement weather. At those times I would be severely afflicted with la grippe and its unpleasant consequences."

"Now for the past year and a half I have used Peruna in such cases and have found that it not only cures me quickly, but it also cleanses my blood and renders me less liable to catch cold. It is the finest preventative of colds that I know of and a very superior tonic."

Anna Russell.

Miss Emily Milburne, President of the Westside Young Woman's Club, No. 152 West Congress street, Chicago, Ill., writes of several members of the club of which she is president, who have had the grip and have been quickly restored to health by Peruna.

Mr. Nicolas F. Rossiter, of 468 Woodward avenue, Cleveland, O., had a severe attack of the grip, was very sick and under the physician's care. He, like many others, passed the acute stage but did not receive strength. Peruna not only quickly restored him to his former health, but to much better health than he has had for years. He gives Peruna all the praise.

Hon. Max J. Forges, Alderman of the Eighth District, residing at 36 Rivington street, New York, suffered with the Grip. He also writes that he knows a large number of people who have been cured of the Grip by Peruna.

Hon. Charles W. Culkin, Alderman of the Seventh Assembly District of the Borough of Manhattan, residing at 45 Eighth avenue, New York, writes that he was laid up several days with the Grip. On the fifth day he was advised to try Peruna. He did so and found himself better within twenty-four hours. This remedy soon restored him to his usual vigorous health.

Mr. Martin Edwards, President of the County Clare Men's Benefit Society, 521 West Forty-Ninth street, New York, writes that he was cured of the Grip by a short course of treatment with Peruna.

Miss Blanche Dumont, President of the Athenia Club, 410 Aldrich avenue North, Camden Place, Minneapolis, Minn., says she was cured of the Grip. Nothing helped her until she tried Peruna. Felt better next day after beginning its use. Was able to be out of bed the third day. She also tells of others who were cured by Peruna.

La Grippe is epidemic catarrh. Peruna cures catarrh, hence Peruna is a specific for la grippe.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

School Notes.

[By the Superintendent.]

Motto: The truly great and noble mind is ever humble and conscious of its own deficiencies.—Haven's Psychology.

Ethel and Mabel Lauray entered school this week.

Parents' meeting this afternoon at four o'clock in room No. 1.

Some new thermometers which are said to have been "tested" and which are better than the ordinary ones, have been placed in the several rooms.

The seventh and eighth grades were invited into the High school last Tuesday morning to witness some chemical experiments by the chemistry class.

The botany students have been spending the last few days in looking for starch cells in different kinds of seeds. A boiled potato recently furnished one of the finest mounts we have had for the purpose of showing starch cells.

For some time the eighth grade has been making a study of conspicuous characters in history. Whenever a picture of some of these celebrities can be found it is placed in their picture gallery. The young people have recently added the pictures of King Edward, Pope Leo, and Miss Alice Roosevelt.

The school entertainment at the rink last Friday evening was a pronounced success. The pupils all rendered their part very creditably and a large number of visitors were present. In spite of the fact that five dray loads of chairs were added to the large number already at the rink many were obliged to stand during the entire evening. The proceeds amounted to $19.05.

The debate between Plymouth and Northville High-schools comes off in this village next Friday evening at eight o'clock. It is probable that it will be held in the Methodist church, although that is not definitely decided. The music will be furnished by a ladies' quartet.

The question is "Resolved, That the interests of this country, looking to the future, will be best served by an Anglo Saxon Alliance. Plymouth takes the affirmative and Northville the negative. The judges for the occasion will be Prof. E. F. Gee of Wayne, Prof. Robt. E. Barbour of Highland Park and Editor H. N. McCracken of Farmington. Chairman for the evening, Dr. A. L. Blanchard. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged to defray expenses and an interesting and profitable time is expected.

DON'T TRUST TO LUCK!

When you go to buy Lumber, or Building Material of any kind, don't trust to luck—to get the kind of material you want. There's a difference, you know, and we say, positively, that unless you examine our stock before buying, you simply can not tell whether you are getting the best value for your money, or not.

We have the largest and best stock of lumber, lath, shingles, lime, cement, sash, doors, building paper, and all such building material in this town and you take no chances when you buy here. You get absolutely the best for your money.

M. S. AMBLER & CO., - Northville, Mich.

"Coughed All Night"

We hear that complaint frequently now. It is one easy to believe as a rule, for the speaker generally shows that his rest has been badly broken. Of course, it is always natural for us to tell of the value of White Pine, and we can recommend this preparation with confidence. We have made and sold it for five years, and have scores of people in the neighborhood who are willing to say a good word for it as the opportunity arises.

White Pine soothes the inflamed bronchial passages and quickly quiets the annoying hack. It's good for a fresh cold or a chronic one; good for the little fellow who coughs and chokes and gasps good for his father if he has a cough. Two sizes, 25c and 50c.

The City in Brief.

The annual village report appears this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ambler celebrated their 14th wedding anniversary last week.

The Record's charge for publishing "Cards of Thanks" is one cent per word and cash must accompany the notice.

The Fisk & Thomas shoe factory is so behind on their orders that they are compelled to run nights for the present.

For the 10 months, April 1, 1901, to Feb. 1, 1902, Supt. Wilkinson has collected $2,350.25 for electric lighting, wiring, fixtures, etc., and has $126.04 yet to collect.

The Michigan Press association meets in Detroit next week Wednesday and Thursday. A banquet at the Griswold house follows the Thursday afternoon meeting.

J. F. Perry & Co. have sold their grocery stock to M. A. Wilson formerly of Cadillac who took charge on Tuesday. After disposing of the grocery stock Mr. Wilson will rearrange the store for a restaurant.

Northville Methodists are shy on cash, and have let the pastor's salary remain unpaid. The minister had faith and charity and some hope, but all these wouldn't stand for $1 potatoes and 15 cent steak, nor pay for the wife's Sunday gown. So last week the ladies gave a supper at the rink and secured from the appetites funds about $20 which they applied to paying the reserved salary. It is in order for the minister now to suggest a church supper about once a week.—Adrian Press.

Now is the time if you want to sell your farm. Call on or address E. N. Passage, Plymouth, Mich. 23w6p.

Myron D. Taylor and Mina E. Garfield, both of Northville, were married this week.

Mrs. J. M. Armstrong is not so well this week and will not be able to come home just yet.

The marriage of Miss Beatrice Clark to Mr. Frank Woodworth, both of Salem, is announced to take place in that place March 12th.

The village's annual report shows that the cash receipts during the year were $12,400 and $111.54 still on hand. The total outstanding indebtedness is $68,344.

The ladies of the Methodist church will hold a handkerchief and apron bazaar in the rink March 18th. Baked goods will also be on sale during the day. Supper will be served from 5 to 8 P. M. for supper, 15 cents.

It is suggested that in case of fire the quickest way to get in an alarm is by the Northville Telephone company. Just ring the "central" and upon an answer from there say "turn in a fire alarm." After that inform "central" where the fire is.

The Northville Telephone company has recently placed new phones in the following residences: Mrs. D. Cable, 603; C. E. Rogers, 434; Albert Thornton, 632; Dr. Frank Ambler, 222; C. M. Wight, Nov. Subscribers will please correct their cards accordingly.

One of Northville's heavy taxpayers says to the Record that in his judgment if properly managed the revenues from the electric light plant and water works system would pay the entire running expenses of the village, including bond interest.

There are about four hundred and eleven—apparently—dogs in town without license tags. Those without tags will probably be disposed of by a sheriff in a short time, sent here from Detroit for the purpose. About half of the dogs in the town are worthless curs and a nuisance at best and ought long ago to have been disposed of.

Northville Commandery No. 39 Knights Templar elected the following officers at their annual meeting March 4th:

E. C. C. M. Joslin
Gen'l—D. F. Griswold
Capt. Gen'l—F. N. Clark
Prelate—Wm. Harlan
Treasurer—L. W. Simmons
Recorder—Wm. T. Gurr
S. W.—B. A. Wheeler
J. W.—O. D. Peck
Standard B.—A. K. Carpenter
Sword B.—W. T. Fisk
Warder—Delos Leavenworth
Sentinel—J. R. Nash.

Mrs. Della Harmon, who has been ill in bed for nearly ten weeks, is now able to be about the house and sit up the greater portion of the day. She expects to be able to take a sleigh ride within a week or two.—Northville Record. Well, that'll be nice, unless she has to put the sleigh on wheels. Perhaps she can keep as now in an elevator—no, in a cold storage building for a while. But we are glad she is better, hope she will keep getting better until she is the best, and able to ride out into the "suburbs" and make notes on the situation.—Adrian Press.

Lost—Pair gold bowled spectacles in leather case. Reward if returned to this office.

Now's the time, spring time. Take Rocky Mountain Tea; keeps the whole family well. A great medicine for spring tiredness. 35c. Murdock Bros.

The Northville Woman's club will meet at the home of Mrs. B. A. Wheeler next Friday, March 14th.

Mrs. Mary Godfrey of Cedar Springs is assisting in the care of Mrs. George Clark of Grace avenue, whose condition does not improve.

The Northville State Savings bank has a flattering report in this issue of the Record. The deposits of the bank have now reached the snug sum of $103,042.

"Old orders, $375" is one item in the village's annual report. What the council should do is to show exactly to whom and for what purpose the $375 was paid.

At the gun shoot at the 8-mile house yesterday afternoon George Stanley of the Northville Gun club won the Fish gold medal, he breaking 24 out of 25. A shoot will be held here in the near future.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Alice E. Roberts of Flint to Mr. Geo. W. Wallace to take place March 13th. Mr. Wallace was until recently employed at the pump station on the P. M. railway here.

These are certainly springy days and the evidence of the breakage of winter's backbone is upon every hand—the birds have come, the boy with his marbles, six inches of mud, the aspirants for public offices, and Dean Griswold has tapped his sugar bush. What more is there to be desired?

The employees of the Fisk & Thomas shoe factory were treated to a next surprise about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday night, when Mr. Fisk ordered the machinery stopped and invited all hands to partake of a warm lunch which he and Mrs. Fisk had so kindly prepared for them. It was a very enjoyable affair.

J. O. Knapp requests the Record to announce that he will be a candidate for the republican nomination for supervisors this spring. Mr. Knapp is one of the well known farmers of this section and for some years was in business in this village. Should he be honored with the nomination and election he would undoubtedly make an efficient official.

The Northville Telephone company will offer to equip a gong fire alarm and maintain free of charge providing the village will purchase the gong. The expense would probably not exceed $5. The gong would be placed just over the engine house door and would be touched off by the operator at the "central" office and would continue to ring until some one broken in the glass and rang the big fire bell.

Robert Yerkes says many people have a wrong idea about the visit of the proverbial ground hog on Feb. 2. "In fact," Mr. Yerkes says "it's a bear instead of a ground hog, and he comes out exactly 10 o'clock a. m., and this year the sun did not shine at that hour and we may therefore look for an early spring"—Northville Record. Well, we have bare ground here, anyway. Yerkes will be awfully sorry though, if spring does not March 4th.—Adrian Press.

A Word to an Editor.

Yielding to importunities from his old constituency, Neal of the Northville Record has reluctantly consented to stand for a renomination by his party for another term in the legislature. The Northvillian was one of the members of the last session whose ermine clad conscience was not matted with unboy gain. Leastwise he wore no more flounces and furbelows than before, and did not turn bank wrecker, so we reckon he has not prospered beyond his means, therefore what in the name of the sub-mundane kingdom he wants another term is hard to discern. Probably he doesn't want it. Just yielded to persuasion because he couldn't say nay. Solomon said: "My son, when sinners entice thee, consent thou not." It was the firm refusal of Bill Nye that saved him from the presidency. We know this to be so, for Nye himself said so. He said, when they came after him to run—we quote his own words: "I said pleasantly but firmly that I could not run," and the rock-rooted stand he took on that occasion commended him to many good people, who won for him an illustration in Puck, where the good humorist was good humoredly waving back the nomination with a repulsive gesture and standing on a pair of feet like a couple of ferry boats, while below appeared the words: "I said pleasantly but firmly that I could not run." If anything in these few remarks shall prove of service to Editor Neal, The Tribune will feel that it has not been written down in vain.—Detroit Tribune.

A young man who works in Detroit would like to get board with private family in Northville. Kindly say how many in family and state terms. Address P. D. Hall, 796 Lincoln avenue, Detroit.

Rocky Mountain Tea taken now will keep the whole family well. If it fails bring it back and get the cash. 35c. Murdock Bros.

The Monday night club will have another party in the rink Wednesday night. The lunch part of the program has been postponed until the farewell party to be given at a later date.

B. J. Cook has secured a position on the big steam freighter, "Morley," for the coming season, and expects to start out of Chicago on the boat about April 1st. Mrs. Cook will accompany him.

If the right of way can be secured without much trouble there is a good prospect for the extension of the Northwestern line on west from Northville this spring to take in South Lyon and Brighton. Some Northville people will interest themselves in the project.

PEOPLE WE KNOW.

They are Northville People, and What They Say is of Local Interest.

When an incident like the following occurs right here at home, it is bound to carry weight with our readers. So many strange occurrences go the rounds of the press, are published as facts; people become skeptical. On one subject skepticism is rapidly disappearing. This is due to the actual experiences of our citizens, and their public utterances regarding them. The doubter must doubt no more in the face of such evidence as this. The public statement of a reputable citizen living right here at home, one whom you can see every day, leaves no ground for the skeptic to stand on.

Mr. T. W. Wood, painter and paper hanger, of 37 Center St., says: "My wife and I are thoroughly convinced of the curative powers of this popular remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, for we used them some years ago for backache and other kidney troubles. They acted very effectively and promptly, relieving the backache and the other annoyances. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best medicine we ever used and we are pleased to testify to their merits." Just such emphatic endorsement is plentiful in Northville. Call at Murdoch Bros. drug store and ask them what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c per box. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

Too Late.

The neatness of the New England housekeeper is a matter of common remark and husbands in that part of the country are supposed to appreciate their advantages. A bit of dialogue reported by a New York paper shows, however, that there may be another side to the matter. "Martha, have you wiped the sink dry yet?" asked the farmer, as he made the final preparations for the night. "Yes, Josiah," she replied. "Why do you ask?" "Well, I did want a drink, but I guess I can get along till morning."—Youth's Companion.

Practically Starving.

"After using a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure my wife received perfect and permanent relief from a severe and chronic case of stomach trouble," says J. R. Holly, real estate, insurance and loan agent of Macomb, Ill. "Before using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she could not eat an ordinary meal without intense suffering. She is now entirely cured. Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief. You don't have to diet. Put any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you."—Murdoch Bros.

Only Colored Mayor in the Land.

Isaiah T. Montgomery of Mound Bayou, Miss., is the only colored mayor in the United States. He is the wealthiest man in the city named and indeed owns nearly the whole place. At the convention of negroes in this city some months ago he gained prominence because of the clearness of his views on the negro question. Montgomery was born a slave on the plantation of Jefferson Davis.—Chicago Chronicle.

Dickens Had Pecuniary Worries.

Apocryphal of popular authors who leave small estates, the London Truth says: "Dickens did not begin to save money until he was nearly forty, and throughout life he suffered acutely and incessantly from pecuniary worries and anxieties. He was never short of ready money after his great crisis of 1844, but he was never easy about the future, until after his enormously profitable second American trip in the winter of 1867-68."

Would Smash the Club.

Members of the "Hay Fever Association" would use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the club would go to pieces, for it always enters this malady, and asthma, the kind that baffles the doctors, it wholly drives from the system. Thousands of once-hopeless sufferers from Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, owe their lives and health to it. It conquers Croup and Whooping Cough and is positively guaranteed for all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottles free at Geo. C. Hueston's.

Manchuria a Russian Possession.

William Penn Henley of California, who recently returned from the Orient, says concerning the attitude of Russia toward Manchuria: "Manchuria is as surely a Russian possession as the District of Columbia is under the control of Uncle Sam. The agents of the Czar are now collecting taxes, percentages from the gross incomes of mines, and so on, but a Russian subject can own or lay claim to a foot of Manchurian soil."—Washington Star.

Curious Punishment for Servants.

Servants in the Isle of Man who refuse to complete the period of service for which they are engaged are liable to curious punishment. In a case before the magistrate at Peel recently, William Corlett, a farm laborer, was charged with refusing to carry out his engagement. It was stated that the penalty provided by a statute of 1865 is that the servant is to be kept in prison and allowed one cake and a cup of water per day until he returns to service. Corlett was spotted this punishment, as the magistrate was satisfied that he had not engaged to serve a stated period.

Can't Keep It Secret.

The splendid work of Dr. King's New Life Pills is daily coming to light. No such grand remedy for Liver and Bowel troubles was ever known before. Thousands bless them for curing Constipation, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice and Indigestion. Try them 2c at Geo. C. Hueston's drug store.

Cleanliness Next to Godliness.

Warm water softens the skin. The pores relax and throw off their vitiated contents. After an exposure to the dust and foreign matter in the air that lodges in the pores of the skin the face requires washing with warm water and a good pure soap to reject it. I have been told by physicians that three-quarters of the diseases of the skin are caused by uncleanness or carelessness in performing the above duty.—New York Press.

Albert C. Bestwick has decided to compete in the Paris-Vienna motor vehicle race in July next. ## A Severe Cold for Three Months.

The following letter from A. J. Nisbaum of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. Schley: Santia

BY GEORGE EDWARD GRAHAM

The Most Sensitive Book of the Day.

The true story of the famous cruise of the Squadron under Commodore Schley, which won the blockade and destruction of the Spanish fleet by the U. S. Navy during the war.

Contains an autograph endorsement and personal account of the battle by Rear Admiral Schley.

"The facts of the story of the movement and operations of the Flying Squadron as the author tells them in this book are correct."—W. S. SCHLEY.

An interesting narrative of facts explains the "Retrospect Movement," the "Loop," the "Coal War," and other events of the war.

THE NEW YORK HERALD says: "Mr. Graham, in the telling of facts, leaves the reader free to make the deduction that several naval officers read a Court of Inquiry to re-establish their reputations, if they can be re-established."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, when Governor of New York, said: "Mr. Graham's story is the best account I have heard or read of the naval fighting during the war. It needed just as much courage to go about taking photographs as it did to work the guns."

No subject has ever been before the public that has interested everybody so much as the full recognition of the Hero of Santiago. This book tells every thing just as it occurred and as the eye-witnesses saw it. It is a story of a great naval battle, and it is a story that will be read and read again.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL
WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Who Pays the Printer?

When you go around from printer to printer getting bids on a job and then giving it to the lowest bidder, you get an indifferently good job—one that sells no goods for you, then who pays the printer?

By CUTCLIFFE HYNÉ.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The story of the Lost Continent is the translation of an ancient manuscript found in a cave in the Canary Islands and opens with the installation of Atho, as viceroy of Yucatan, a province of Atlantis, the latter a continent situated in the Atlantic ocean. Atho succeeds Deucalion, who is recalled by the queen, Phorenice, to help her in the overthrow of the tyrant, Phorence, of whom she has heard that he is a crafty and very beautiful woman, having been born the daughter of a swineherd, she claims to be a daughter of the gods. She is adopted and raised by Zaemon, governor of the province, and one of the high priests. She is possessed of a great ambition to rule and while still young deposes him. All attempts to capture her are unsuccessful and she finally deposes the old king and takes the throne.

CHAPTER II.—Atho is much surprised when next day Deucalion asks the use of a ship to take him home, believing he had grown rich during his reign as king. He would have done, but Deucalion is a poor man, having ruled only for the good of the province. Atho is different, he is greedy and selfish, and he is the universal rule.

CHAPTER III.—When near home they are halted by enemies of Phorenice, who demand the custody of Deucalion. The captain, refuses, and a fierce fight ensues, in which he is victorious.

CHAPTER IV.—Deucalion upon his arrival is met with much pomp and ceremony by Phorenice. Although women have had no influence over Deucalion, he readily realized her powerful influence over others, and he felt that he was not free to do as he pleased. He is in love with her, but she is in love with the high gods whom she has named against. She faces him with tumult of passion and orders the guards to have him whipped before her. He warns them not to touch him, and when one of them does he falls to the floor writhing in agony, stricken with a fatal leprosy. Zaemon then silently leaves.

CHAPTER V.—Deucalion is taken to the palace and a magnificent feast is spread in his honor. While they are eating, a frail old man passes the guards and approaches the queen, declaring that she must undo the evil she has caused, and the starting and restore Atlantis to its former greatness. It is Zaemon, her old guardian, who tells her that she is a swineherd's daughter and that she is a curse to the city. She is overthrown by the high gods whom she has named against. She faces him with tumult of passion and orders the guards to have him whipped before her. He warns them not to touch him, and when one of them does he falls to the floor writhing in agony, stricken with a fatal leprosy. Zaemon then silently leaves.

CHAPTER VI.—The same evening Deucalion decides to resign the throne and goes to one of the gates of the city and there finds a captain amusing himself and the populace by throwing prisoners to two party by in the city. He is a swineherd's son. Soon after his arrival a girl, entirely stripped, is placed in the circus, but with the exception of the emperor, no one looks at her. She is the daughter of the swineherd, and she is a curse to the city. She is overthrown by the high gods whom she has named against. She faces him with tumult of passion and orders the guards to have him whipped before her. He warns them not to touch him, and when one of them does he falls to the floor writhing in agony, stricken with a fatal leprosy. Zaemon then silently leaves.

CHAPTER VII.—While seeking robes for her in the captain's chamber, she is surprised by the arrival of Zaemon. He is a swineherd's son, and he is a curse to the city. She is overthrown by the high gods whom she has named against. She faces him with tumult of passion and orders the guards to have him whipped before her. He warns them not to touch him, and when one of them does he falls to the floor writhing in agony, stricken with a fatal leprosy. Zaemon then silently leaves.

CHAPTER VIII.—When night comes and they are waiting to go to the blowing of horns announcing the arrival of some great event, Zaemon and he addresses the people. Nais and Deucalion listen and the latter is observed by Zaemon. Zaemon, who is the tyrant, is the only hope for the saving of Atlantis and that he must return to the city and become husband to Phorenice. For the sake of the people, he agrees to return and Zaemon then leads him to a secret entrance to the city.

CHAPTER IX.—Inside the city he notices everyone hurrying to the great altar in the circle of the Lord of the Sun. He follows and there witnesses the arrival of the queen. A small horse is placed on the altar as a sacrifice and the queen speaks to her people, telling them of her wondrous birth, and calls upon her high father, the Sun, to acknowledge her by sending down fire to light the offering. Immediately a flash of lightning lights the woodpile and priests and the people proclaim her a goddess. Deucalion, standing among the people, witnesses this.

CHAPTER X.—Phorenice notices him and she asks him to escort her back to the castle. By gentle hinting on her part he learns what she would like to hear. He tells her of the subject of marriage. He does so and they agree to marry. Phorenice then learns that Zaemon had saved Nais' life and for various reasons believes they are in love. This greatly angers her and she proclaims Deucalion shall build her throne around the body of Nais as a wedding gift.

I came out from under the stone and gave the sign to the engineers who stood by the rams. The fires were taken away from their sides and the metal in them began to contract, and slowly the vast bulk of the throne-stone began to creep down towards its bed.

But ah, so slowly! Gods! how my soul was torn as I watched and waited.

Yet I kept my face impassive, over-looking as any officer might a piece of work which others were carrying out under his direction, and on which his credit rested; and I stood gravely in my place till the rams had let the stone come down on its final resting-place, and had been carried away by the engineers; and then I went round with the master architect with his plumb-line and level, while he tested this last piece of the building and declared it perfect.

It was a useless form, this last, seeing that by calculation they knew exactly how the stone must rest; but the guilds have their forms and customs, and on these occasions of high ceremonial they are punctiliously carried out, because these middle-class people wish always to appear mysterious and impressive to the poor vulgar folk who are their inferiors. But perhaps I am hard there on them. A man who is needlessly taken round to plumb and duly level the tomb where his love lies buried living may perhaps be excused by the assessors on high a little spirit of bitterness.

I had gone up the steps to do my hateful work a man full of grief, though outwardly unmoved. As I came down again I had a feeling of incompleteness; it seemed as though half my inward had been left behind with Nais in the hollow of the stone, and their place was taken by a void which ached wearily; but still I earned a passive fare, and a memory that before all these private matters stood the command of the high council which sat before the Ark of the Mysteries.

So I went and stood before Phorenice, and said the words which the ancient forms prescribed concerning the carrying out of her wish.

"Then now," she said, "I will give myself to you as wife. We are not as others, you and I, Deucalion. There is a law and a form set down for the marrying of these other people, but that would be useless for our purposes. We will have neither priest nor scribe to join us and set down the union. I am the law here in Atlantis, and you soon will be part of me. We will not be demeaned by profane hands. We will make the ceremony for ourselves, and for witnesses there are sufficient in waiting. Afterwards the record shall be cut deep in the granite throne; you have built for me, and the lettering filled in with gold, so that it shall endure and remain bright for always."

"The empress can do no wrong," I said, formally, and took the hand she offered me and helped her to rise. We walked out from the scarlet awning into the glare of the sunshine, she leaning on me, rushed, and so radiantly lovely that the people began to hail her with rapturous shouts of "A goddess! our Goddess Phorenice!" But for me they had no welcoming word. I think the set grimness of my face both scared and repelled them.

We went up the steps which led to the throne, the people still shouting, and I sat her in the royal seat beneath the snake's outstretched head, and she drew me down to sit beside her.

She raised her jeweled hand, and a silence fell on that great throng, as though the breath had been suddenly cut short for all of them.

Then Phorenice made proclamation:

"Hear me, O my people, and hear me, O high gods from whom I am come. I take this man Deucalion to be my husband, to share with me the prosperity of Atlantis, and join me in guarding our great possession. May all our enemies perish as she is now perishing above whom we sit!" And then she put her arms around my neck and kissed me hotly on the mouth.

In turn I also spoke. "Hear me, O most high gods, whose servant I am, and hear me also, O ye people! I take this Empress Phorenice to wife, to help with her the prosperity of Atlantis, and join with her in guarding the welfare of that great possession. May all the enemies of this country perish as they have perished in the past."

And then I too, who had not been permitted by the fates to touch the lips of my love, bestowed the first kiss I had ever given a woman to Phorenice, that was now being made my wife.

But we were not completely linked yet.

"A woman is one, and man is one," she proclaimed, following for the first time the old form of words, "but in marriage they merge, so that wife and husband are no more separate, but one conjointly. In token of this we will now make the symbolic joining together, so that all may see and remember." She took her dagger, and pricking the brawn on my forehead, let her red lips to it and took it into herself.

"Ah," she said, with her eyes sparkling, "now you are part of me indeed, Deucalion, and I feel you have strengthened me already." She pulled down the neck of her robe. "Let me make you my return."

I pricked the rounded whiteness of her shoulder. Gods! when I remembered who was beneath us as we sat on that throne, I could have driven the blade through to her heart! And then I, too, put down my lips and took the drop of her blood that was yielded to me.

My tongue was dry, my throat was parched, and my face suffused, and I thought I should have choked.

But the empress, who was ordinarily so acute, was misled then. "It thrills you?" she cried; "it burns within you like living fire? I have just felt it. By my face! Deucalion, if I had known the pleasure it gives to be made a wife, I do not think I should have waited this long for you. Ah, yes; but with another man I should have had no thrill. I might have gone through the ceremony with another, but it would have left me cold. Well, they say this feeling comes to a woman but once in her time, and I would not change it for the glory of all my conquests and the whirl of all my power." She leaned in close to me so that the red curls of her hair swept my cheek, and her breath came hot against my mouth.

"Tasted you ever any sweet so delicious as this knowledge that we are made one now, Deucalion, past all possible dissolving?"

I could not lie to her any more just then. The gods know how honestly I had striven to play the part commanded me for Atlantis' good, but there was a limit to human endurance, and mine was reached. I was not pitiful towards her. I had some pity for this passion of hers, which had grown of itself certainly, but which I had done nothing to check; and the indecent frankness with which it was displayed was only part of the livery of potentates who flaunt what meaner folk would coyly hide. But always before my eyes was a picture of the girl on whom her jealousy had taken such a bitter vengeance, and to invent spurious lover's talk then was a thing my tongue refused to do.

"Words are poor things," I said, "and I am a man unused to women, and have but a small stock of any phrases except the driest. Remember, Phorenice, a week ago I did not know what love was, and now that I have learned the lesson, somewhat of the suddenness, the language remains still to come to me. My inward speaks; indeed they are full of speech; but I cannot translate into bald cold words what they say."

And here surely the high gods took pity on my tied tongue and my misery, and made an opportunity for bringing the ceremony to an end. A man ran into the square shouting, and showing a wound that dripped, and presently all that vast crowd which stood on the pavements and the sides of the pyramids and the roofs of the temples took up the cry and began to feel for their weapons.

"The rebels are in!" "They have burrowed a path into the city!" "They have killed the cave-tigers and taken a gate!" "They are putting the whole place to the sword!" "They will presently leave no foot soul of us here alive!"

There then was a termination of our marriage coolings. With rebels merely biting at the walls, it was fine to put strong trust in the defenses, and easy to affect contempt for the besiegers' powers, and to keep the business of pageants and state craft and marryings turning on easy wheels. But with rebel soldiers already inside the city (and hordes of others doubtless pressing on their heels), the affair took a different light. It was no moment for further delay, and Phorenice was the first to admit it. The glow that had been in her eyes changed to the glare of the fighter as the fellow who had run up squaled out his tidings.

I stood and stretched my chest I seemed in need of air. "Here," I said, "is work that I can understand more clearly. I will go and sweep this rabble back to their burrows, Phorenice."

"But not alone, sir I come too. It is my city still. Nay, sir, we are too newly wed to be parted yet."

"Have your will," I said, and together we went down the steps of the throne to the pavement below. Under my breath I said a farewell to Nais.

Our armor-bearers met us with weapons, and we stepped into litters, and the slaves took us off hot foot. The wounded man who had first brought the news had fallen in a faint, and no more tidings was to be got from him; but the growing din of the fight gave us the general direction, and presently we began to meet knots of people who dwelt near the place of irruption running away in wild panic, loaded down with their household goods.

It was useless to stop these, as fight they could not; and if they had stayed they would merely have been slaughtered like flies, and would in all likelihood have impeded our own soldiery. And so we let them run screaming on their blind way, but forced the litters through them with but very little regard for their coward convenience.

Now the advantage of the rebels, when it came to be looked upon by a soldier's eye, was a thing of little enough importance. They had driven a tunnel from behind a covering mound, beneath the walls, and had opened it cleverly enough through the floor of a middle-class house. They had come through into this, collecting their numbers under its shelter, and doubtless hoping that the marriage of the empress (of which spies had given them information) would sap the watchfulness of the city guards. But it seems they were discovered and attacked before they were thoroughly ready to emerge, and as a fine body of troops were barracked near the spot, their extermination would have been merely a matter of time, even if we had not come up.

It did not take a trained eye long to decide on this, and Phorenice, with a laugh, lay back on the cushions of the litter, and returned her weapons to the armor-bearer who came panting up to receive them. "We grow nervous with our married life, my Deucalion," she said. "We are fearful lest this new-found happiness be taken from us too suddenly."

But I was not to be robbed of my breathing-space in this wise. "Let me crave a wedding gift of you," I said.

"It is yours before you name it."

"Then give me troops, and set me wide a city gate a mile away from here."

"You can gather 500 as you go from here to the gate, taking 200 of those that are here. If you want more, they must be fetched from other barracks along the walls. But where is your plan?"

"Why, my poor strategy teaches me this: these foolish rebels have set all their hopes on this mine, and all their excitement on its present success. If they are kept occupied here by a Phorenice, who will give them some dainty fighting without checking them unduly, they will press on to the attack and forget all else, and never so much as dream of a sortie. And meanwhile a Deucalion with his troop will march out of the city well away from here, without tuck of drum or blare of trumpet, and fall most unpleasantly upon their rear. After which a Phorenice will burn the house here at the mine's head, which is of wood, and straw-thatched, to discourage further egress, and either go to the walls to watch the fight from there, or sally out also and spur on the rout as her fancy dictates."

"Your scheme is so pretty, I would I could rob you of it for my own."

THE FELLOW WHO HAD RUN UP SQUALED OUT HIS TIDINGS.

credit's sake; and as it is I must kiss you for your cleverness. But you got my word first, you naughty fellow, and you shall have the men and do as you ask. Eh, sir, this is a sad beginning of our wedded life if you begin to rob your little wife of all the sweets of conquest from the outset."

She took back the weapons, and target she had given to the armor-bearer, and stepped over the side of the litter to the ground. "But at least," she said, "if you are going to fight, you shall have troops that will do credit to my drill," and thereupon proceeded to tell off the companies of men-at-arms who were to accompany me. She left herself few enough to stem the influx of rebels who poured ceaselessly in through the tunnel, but, as I had seen, with Phorenice heavy odds added only to her enjoyment.

But for the empress, I will own at the time to have given little enough of thought. My own proper griefs were raw within me, and I thirsted for that forgetfulness of all else which battle gives, so that for awhile I might have a rest from their gnawings.

It made my blood run free to hear once more the tramp of practiced troops behind me, and when all had been collected we marched out through a gate of the city and presently were charging through and through the straggling rear of the enemy. By the gods! for the moment even Nais was blotted from my wearied mind. Never had I loved more to let my fierceness run madly riot. Never have I gloated more abundantly over the terrible joy of battle.

Nais must forgive my weakness in seeking to forget her even for a breathing space. Had that opportunity been denied me, I believe the agony of remembering would have snapped my brain-strings for always.

CHAPTER XII.

AGAIN THE GODS MAKE CHANGE.

Now it would be tedious to tell how, with a handful of highly-trained fighting men, I charged and recharged, and finally broke up that horde of rebels which outnumbered us by 15 times. It must be remembered that they grew suddenly panic-stricken in finding that of all those who went in under the city walls by the mine on which they had set such great store none came back, and that the sounds of panic which had first broken out within the city soon gave way to cries of triumph and joy. And it must be carried in memory also that the wretched rebels were without training worthy of the name, were for the most part weaponed very vilely, and, seeing that their silly principles made each the equal of his neighbor, were practically without heads or leaders also.

So when the panic began to spread like a malignant murrain through all their ragged ranks, and there were none to rally the flying, none to direct those of more desperate bravery who stayed and fought.

My scheme of attack was simple. I hunted them without a halt. I and my fellows never stopped to play the defensive. We turned one flank, and charged through a center, and then we were harrying the other flank, and once more hacking our passage through the solid mass. And so by constantly keeping them on the run, and in ignorance of whence would come the next attack, panic began to grow among them and ferment, till presently those in the outer lines commenced to scurry away towards the forests and the spoiled cornlands of the country, and those in the inner packs were only wishful for a chance to follow them.

It was no feat of arms, this breaking up of the rebel leaguer, and no practiced soldier would wish to claim it as such. It was simply taking advantage of the chances of the moment, and as such it was successful. Given an open battle on their own ground, these desperate rebels would have fought till none could stand, and by sheer ferocious numbers would have pulled down any trained troops that the city could have sent against them, whether they had advanced in phalanx or what formation you will. For it must be remembered they were far removed from cowards, being Atlantean all, just as were those within the city, and were, moreover, spurred to extraordinary savagery and desperation by the oppression under which they had groaned and the wrongs they had been forced to endure.

Suburban News.

The Birmingham Eccentric calls for police regulations to protect the women of that town from being tobacco-juiced by reckless spitters.

The village of Plymouth's flatter ing annual report shows a snug balance in the treasury of $3,453.9. The receipts from water works account in that village last year alone was $2,560.

A year ago last July Edgar J. Little while climbing a tree lost a watch and chain, not knowing where he lost it he gave up finding it until a few days ago workmen were trimming the trees they found the watch hanging on a limb. Edgar now has the watch and it runs all right. The finder was rewarded—Plymouth Mail.

Claud M. Murdock of Wayne clasped the hand of his wrist and laughed, while his mother turned her back and wept. This happened in Justice DeGaw's court room yesterday afternoon, just after the justice had found the young man guilty of stealing his mother's watch and had fined him $25 with the alternative of thirty days in the Detroit house of correction. The mother, Mrs. Clara L. Murdock, was the plaintiff. Detective Lombard testified yesterday that Murdock confessed to the stealing, but Murdock himself denied the charge on the stand.—Free Press

A lot of boys down at Willow, who each had a revolver tucked into the hip pocket, were arrested lately and prosecuted for carrying concealed weapons. The justice was given all kinds of reasons. One wanted to keep away tramps. Another was afraid of Dan Barbers' bull dog. One was going to buy fish stock and was afraid he would be robbed. Another wanted to shoot Trenton mosquitoes, while another said that M. E. Bacon's supporters were trying to make him wear a Bacon badge, though he was not yet 18, and he was bound to protect himself. The justice fined each $20 and costs then quietly slipped a big "Colt" out of his own pantaloons pocket and shoved it into the wood box. The justice office was a regular armory for a time, but after a while the pistols all went off. Wayne county girls are demoralized, when told that the young men must be disarmed.—Adrian Press

Lyceum Theatre—Detroit

"Lost River," written by Joseph Arthur, author of Blue Jeans and its thrilling last saw episode, proves to be the best story of Indiana life ever staged. The plot is intricate, but the main theme is the potent one of Gladys, a rich, spoiled and high headed woman, attempting to spoil the romance of Bob Fleming with whom she is infatuated, but who loves Ora, a simple country girl. The play ran six months in New York and will have all the original scenery, properties and effects when it appears at the Lyceum March 9.

Whitney's Opera House—Detroit.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you—weep and you weep alone" is an axiom trite as old earth itself. It is verified in the fifth edition of "A Hot Old Time" which will be produced at the Whitney Opera House all next week. Go and you won't be lonely, no tears except those coursing down the cheek from excessive risibility. Those popular favorites "The Rays" will be the attraction, Johnny and Emma and they bring with them the famous aggregation of acrobats, the Brothers Bright, fresh from European triumphs. Positively the farewell tour of this aggregation of fun-makers.

Could Not Breathe.

Coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, other throat and lung troubles are quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure. One Minute Cough Cure is not a mere expectorant, which gives only temporary relief. It softens and liquefies the mucus, draws out the inflammation and removes the cause of the disease. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. "One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it," says Justice of the Peace J. Q. Hood, Crosby, Miss. "My wife could not get her breath and was relieved by the first dose. It has been a benefit to all my family."

Bank Refuses Deposits.

"We don't want any more deposits," is the sign an Inman (Kan.) bank has posted on its front door. The owners say they have more money now than they can place and they don't care to run the risk of keeping a lot more money which they can't make earn them something.

A RANGER EXPLOIT.

With Two Guns a Sergeant Slays His Enemy.

As in pursuit of other classes of offenders the Rangers clinched their efforts with a killing whenever it was necessary. One night a sergeant and a private went out to watch a watering place known as Green Lake water hole, where the fences had been cut repeatedly. They lay in wait all night and in the early morning three men rode up to the spring, cut the fence surrounding it and drove their cattle into the water. The Rangers, who had observed the whole proceeding from their ambush, sprang up at this juncture and ordered the men to surrender. Instead of doing so they fired upon the Rangers, bringing the private down at the first volley. The sergeant returned their fire, felling one man and wounding the other, who was nevertheless able to run away. The third man jumped behind a rock, and the sergeant, noting his movement, did likewise. From their entrenched positions the two men began a duel that lasted for hours. They lay in the sand firing at each other whenever the movement of an arm or leg displayed the slightest target, but neither one venturing to raise his head except just after his enemy had fired. The first sergeant finally turned to his advantage. His comrades rifle lay where it had fallen near his feet and by careful efforts he was finally able to draw it to him. Carefully aiming both guns across the rock in front of him he fired one. The force-cutting rained his head for an instant to take him and in that instant a rifle ball from the sergeant's reserve battery struck him squarely in the center of the forehead. That was the last of the fence cutting at Green Lake—Leslie's Monthly.

A Strenuous Student.

There was a wild scene at Buda Pesth University, a few days ago. Twenty students had undergone oral examinations and eighteen had been badly "plucked," owing, as they thought, to the unreasonable severity of the test. One of the twenty, whipping a revolver from his pocket rushed up to the examiners' table, and brandishing his weapon yelled at the terrified professors: "You may thank your stars I've no cartridges. If I had I would have put lead into you all." Amid the hubbub the professors fled the room.—Buda Pesth Correspondence London Chronicle.

Bee's Venom for Rheumatism.

A physician of Vienna advocates as a remedy for rheumatism the saturating of the patient's body with the venom of bees. For the purpose he extracts the venom, applying it artificially in the way of punctures. He found this treatment on his discovery that rheumatic patients do not suffer from a bee's sting.

A Devotee of Three Arts.

Weeden Grossmith, besides being an excellent actor, is a clever portrait painter and has several times been hung on the line at Burlington house. He is, indeed, a devotee of three arts—those of music, painting and the drama, for, in addition to his painting and his acting, he is a violinist of no mean order. It is fifteen years since he made his debut on the stage, his adoption of it as a profession being the result of many amateur performances.

Crusade Against Needless Noise.

The crusade against unnecessary noise, started in various parts of the country, has been taken up by the Lackawanna railroad in the form of a general order to employees requiring them to desist from noisy conversation and loud calling around passenger stations at night. The object of the order is to obtain a minimum of noise about trains and stations, especially at times when sleeping passengers are likely to be disturbed.—New York Times.

Woman Lacked Cosmopolitan Culture.

The rather strenuous wife of a western congressman met Wu Ting-fang at a dinner and eagerly sought to engage him in conversation. She was compelled to lean out over the table and greet him at a distance of several covers from where she sat. "Mr. Wu, we all think you are so clever," she declared. "Isn't it such a pity you are only Chinese!"

Hives are a terrible torment to the little folks, and to some older ones.

In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials from Sold by Druggists, price 75c per bottle.
