SENATOR EARLE'S GOOD ROADS TRAIN

MAY STOP IN NORTHVILLE THIS SUMMER.

Would Build a Mile Sample of Good Roads.

The chances are that the Michigan Highway Commission, of which Senator H. S. Earle is president, will stop its "good roads" train here this year and build a good sample of road providing of course the town board will co-operate. There is no expense to the town except for the board and sleep of four or five men for two or three days, furnish coal for the engine, stone for the state crusher and some gravel. The poorest piece of road within a mile or two of the village will be selected for the sampling. A sample gravel road and a sample crushed stone road would be built.

Every town in Michigan is after this good roads train, but of course only a few of them can be favored in any one year, and Northville will be very fortunate in securing the stop of the commission here.

Senator Earle is probably the best known man in the state on the good roads question and he is just as energetic as he is learned along that line. Until two years ago he was in the employ of the good roads department of agriculture of the U. S. government and among other of his many achievements was the superintending of the construction of the famous Mt. Clemens road out of Port Huron. He will probably again go back to government work when his term of office as state senator expires. Senator Earle is also the president of the national L. A. W. He is a man 50 years of age though he doesn't look to be more than thirty. His "good roads" labor is done for love alone, as he not only draws no pay whatever for his work, but instead pays out for the good cause many dollars every year of his own money, of which he is fortunately well possessed.

NEW ELECTRIC LINE

Prospects Now Said to Be Good for It.

The Northville committee—Atty. C. C. Yerkes, T. G. Richardson, F. S. Harmon and L. W. Simmons—think the prospects good for a third electric line out of Northville, the new one to go west on the base line to South Lyon and Brighton, providing property owners along the route will give the right of way. The line would prove of great value to the farmers along the line, both as a matter of convenience and increasing the value of their property.

A number of farmers have already agreed on Mr. Yerkes and offered to donate not only the right of way but their services as well towards inducing others to do the same.

NORTHVILLE WON IT

Interesting Debate Between Northville and Plymouth Schools.

In the debate between Plymouth and Northville High-schools last Friday evening, the judges rendered their decision in favor of the latter school on a score of 96 to 98. A large number came over from Plymouth to witness the contest, and it was the general feeling that the event was one of the most interesting and beneficial of the season. The Plymouth young people won many compliments from those present while the Northville contestants received as many congratulations. After the decision of the judges was rendered the Northville High-school served refreshments in the church parlors to the contestants, judges, teachers, members of the board of education from Northville and Plymouth, and other invited guests. The ladies quartet consisting of Mesdames Lapham, Long, Martin and Miss Maier furnished the music which was highly appreciated and added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

EASTER MARKET

Presbyterian Society Gives One Next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The ladies of the Presbyterian society will hold an Easter Market at the rink Tuesday and Wednesday March 25 and 26. There will be booths containing domestic goods, fancy work, candy, second hand goods, vegetables and poultry and also a Klondike booth. On Tuesday evening from 5 to 8 a chicken pie supper will be served and Wednesday there will be a baking sale and in the evening an entertainment consisting of a farce and other attractions. The admission to the rink will be free excepting Wednesday evening when five cents will be charged for the entertainment. The price of supper will be 20 cents and it will be well worth the money. Ma Sweet and her backward daughters will serve you at the table and see that you have plenty chicken pie mashed potatoes with gravy, sandwiches, pickles, jelly, coffee and cake.

Auction Sales.

Chas. Tiffin, southwest of town, will have an auction sale of live stock (horses, augs and cows) grain, farm implements, etc., on Tuesday next, March 25, commencing at noon. John Bennett auctioneer.

Chas. Blunk, who lives 2 1/4 miles northeast of Livonia Center, will have an auction sale of cows, horses, hogs, farm implements, wagons, tools, vegetables, etc., on Wednesday, March 26th. John Bennett, auctioneer.

Rocky Mountain Tea taken now will keep the whole family well. If it falls bring it back and get the cash. 35c. Murdock Bros.

A LITTLE CHANGE IN ELECTION LAWS

THE BALLOTS MUST NOW ALL BE NUMBERED.

The Voter Also Has Less Chance of Voting Wrong.

Act No. 214 of the Public Acts of 1901 makes some important changes in the Michigan election law. These changes, however, will not be noticeable to the voter for the "instructions to voters" remain practically the same as formerly. The changes relate to the printing and preparation of the ballots and to the duties of inspectors in handling and counting the same and in making the returns of the result of the election.

The new law requires that the ballots shall be numbered consecutively on the upper right hand corner of the front thereof and that the corner containing the number shall be perforated diagonally across so that the number can be readily torn off.

When the voter is given a ballot, his name and the number of his ballot is entered on the poll list.

Upon leaving the booth with his ballot properly folded with the initials of the inspector outside, the voter gives his ballot to the proper inspector who announces the name of the voter and the number of the ballot. If the number is the same as that given the voter when he entered the booth, the inspector tears off the number and then deposits the ballot in the ballot box. If the numbers do not correspond the ballot is rejected.

When two or more candidates are to be elected to the same office and the elector desires to vote for candidates not on his party ticket he is instructed to erase an equal number of names on his party ticket for whom he does not desire to vote. However, there is a provision in the new law "that if the elector shall not cross off the names of an equal number of candidates for such office on his party ticket he shall be deemed to have crossed off the name of each candidate for such office which is printed on his party ballot opposite of a candidate on some other party ticket in front of whose name he has made a cross (X)."

This tends to simplify the matter from the voter's standpoint as he has many more chances of getting his vote counted than under the old provision.

Republican Caucus.

For the nomination of township officers the Republican caucus for the township of Northville will be held in Princess rink, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 29.

Democratic Caucus.

For the nomination of township officers the Democratic caucus for the township of Northville will be held in the village hall, at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, March 31.

A LIVE ORGANIZATION.

That is What Northville Protective Association Is.

The association is made up of a class of thorough business men and they propose to protect their rights and property against thieving. They held another very enthusiastic meeting in the council room last week and received in a number of new members. The society is in a very flourishing condition and propose to go after the horse thieves in real earnest.

In case of a member losing a horse or horses all that is necessary is to inform the vigilance committee and they will be found at the expense of the society if money and work will do it.

Following are the names of the members, the first three being the vigilance committee.

Good Roads.

In the Michigan farmer there is something quite so dear as good roads. They are dear to him in the same good and they are dear to him in the same way. As President McKinley said in his last and most famous speech at the Pan American last year, "Next in importance to having the thing to sell is the convenience of carrying to market." And so to the Michigan farmer—next in importance to having the farm products to sell is the matter of good roads to convey it to the market at a season of the year when the prices are the highest. During the spring and fall when the roads are usually bad, farmers can at best only draw partial loads and thus year by year lose many times over the cost of building a road that will be good at every season of the year. The farmers and people in general of this section will indeed be favored if the Michigan Highway Commission stops here for a day or two and President Earle gives a practical demonstration of how to build at a small cost good roads. The lesson will be a valuable one, and one in which the residents of this and adjoining townships will certainly be interested. The Record believes the town board's hearty co-operation in this movement will meet the approval of every resident of this part of the county.

Gasoline Should Be So Labeled.

The narrow escape from the loss of her eyesight and possibly fatal injuries of a Northville lady by mistaking gasoline for kerosene this week illustrates the importance of complying with the law by dealers and attaching a printed tag to the can with the word "Gasoline" printed thereon when such sales are made. The can in question used by Mrs. Rich was not labeled and it was not remarkable at all that she mistook one can for another. The law provides a fine of $100 where a dealer delivers gasoline to any person in a can without a printed gasoline label attached thereto. Had this can been so tagged Mrs. Rich would not have met with an accident which has caused her intense suffering, to say nothing of her narrow escape from the loss of one or both eyes and the burning of a building.

Judge Smith must have had in mind some of Northville street dogs.

Wide Jurisdiction of One Officer.
The federal judicial officer who probably has the largest territorial jurisdiction is Andrew J. Balliett, United States court commissioner at Rampart precinct, A. S. He covers over 150,000 square miles in his district. His functions are like those of Pooh Bah. He not only has the regular duties of a court commissioner, which are in themselves multifarious, but he acts as justice of the peace, judge of probate and recorder of all the mining claims in his district.—Chicago Chronicle.

His Christian Principles.
Judge (to prisoner)—Drunk again, Patrick. What have you to say for yourself this time?
Patrick—Sure, yer anner, it's livin' up to me Christian principles Oiam.
Judge—Christian principles, you rascal!

OOM-PAUL IN EXILE

Final Scenes in the Long Career of President Kruger.

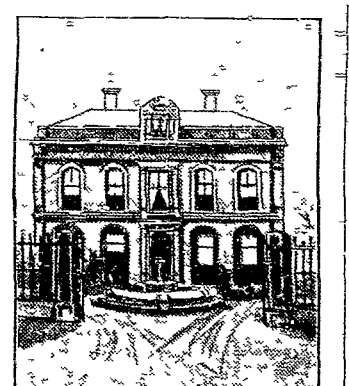

How the Pious Old Man Lives in the Little-Town of Hilversum, Holland—His Spirit Not Crushed.

By Reverses.

The final scenes in the long and adventurous career of the ex-president of the South African republic, now on the point of absorption in the British dominion, are being enacted at a little town named Hilversum, in Holland. According to the latest advices, his end cannot be very far off, and one of the most remarkable men of the last century will disappear forever from the stage of human affairs. Mr. Kruger inhabits a small, two-storyed house, known as Casa-Cara, similar in every way to the residence of the wealthy Dutch merchants, and of the usual type of country houses in Holland. There are grounds surrounding the building in which the president spends a good portion of each day.

His age is about 85,000 inhabitants, and is half an hour's ride by rail from Amsterdam. It is a quiet, being very healthful and quiet. Oom Paul rises early, according to his lifelong custom, takes a cup of black coffee the first thing in the morning, and when dressed repairs to the garden, where he remains as a rule, till half past nine. During this time he goes through his mail, which has previously been classified for him by his private secretary. He always takes with him on these occasions his two inseparable companions, a large pipe and a large old-fashioned Bible with large metal clasps.

Although he knows the sacred books almost by heart, especially those of the Old Testament, and can always quote an appropriate passage from the Bible suitable for any given emergency, he is nevertheless, as his Bible ever lay under the shade of an large tree in the pleasant grounds of the villa. At noon precisely, for Mr. Kruger is nothing if not methodical, he takes a cold luncheon with his party, which, as a rule, consists of his nephew, Mr. Bloff, who is also his private secretary, and Mr. van Boschoten, ex-chieft of the Transvaal ministry, Messrs. Back van Ven and Breedel, who are in attendance on the aged ex-president. His faithful servant, Lappe, and a Belgian physician, Dr. Heymans, always accompany him. The latter has forbidden him the use of any wine or liquors, his only drink being mineral water. After luncheon Mr. Kruger takes a siesta, which lasts till four o'clock in the afternoon. He then goes for a drive in a carriage bearing the former arms and escutcheon of the Transvaal, and returns to the house by six o'clock. It pleases the old man greatly to observe the general respect which he meets with from all classes of the public, and even the children strike up the Boer national anthem, which every one knows in Holland, as he passes by. He takes supper at half past six, and retires invariably at eight p. m.

His undaunted spirit does not appear to be crushed by the reverses which have overtaken his beloved country, and from time to time he observes, "We are strong as ever were; we can continue this fight right along, and will never admit defeat," brave, but ill-considered expressions from the lips of this most remarkable old man whose name will undoubtedly drift down to the remotest posterity.

The Anointing of Kings.
The question as to whether King Edward should be anointed at his coronation and if so what form the ceremony would take is bringing to light some interesting stories as to the way in which the rite was formerly performed. Edward VI., the last of the former Edwards, had a difficult time, more difficult than that of Richard Crookback, who was stripped to the waist. Edward VI. lay prostrate on the altar while Archbishop Cranmer rubbed his back much in the same way as wives rubbed embrocation on the backs of rheumatic husbands. In former days the holy oil with which the king was anointed was supposed to hedge him with divinity, so in those rough times it was natural that a king should hasten his coronation. Witches were forbidden to attend the ceremony.

Prussia Religious Service.
The Prussian prayer book enjoins that the whole of the service, including the sermon, shall not last above one hour.

THE POLITICAL POT.

Suggestion That D. H. Parry May Run for Vice President Has Set It to Boiling.

D. M. Parry, president of the Parry Manufacturing company and vice president of the National Manufacturing company, of Indianapolis, Ind., is being urged by Indiana and other friends and politicians to stand for the vice presidential nomination in 1904. The National Manufacturers will meet in May and Mr. Parry is booked for president. Senator Beveridge is supporting Mr. Parry's ambitions in the direction named and has already notified his political associates and close personal friends that under no circumstances will he allow his name to be used for the vice presidential nomination.

HON. D. M. PARRY. (He may be Roosevelt's running mate in next campaign.)

A few weeks ago in the private executive chamber of the white house, the president joyfully slapped Mr. Parry on the back and said "Parry, how would you like to go on the national ticket with me in 1904?"

Mr. Parry was much surprised and evidently pleased but only replied: "Mr. President I am only here to invite you to attend the national convention of American Manufacturers, which meets at Indianapolis in May."

The president expressed regret, but said he could not see his way clear to accept the invitation then, but since Mr. Parry's return it has been learned that the president very probably will be there, especially so because he has expressed interest in the dedication of the soldier's monument, probably the most imposing and costly of the kind in the world. It cost almost $1,000,000 and will be dedicated in May when the manufacturers meet.

The Parry establishment has been in progress for several months. It began with Senator Beveridge, in conjunction with several eastern republican politicians. Beveridge may not have originated the scheme, but he was prompt to see its possibilities.

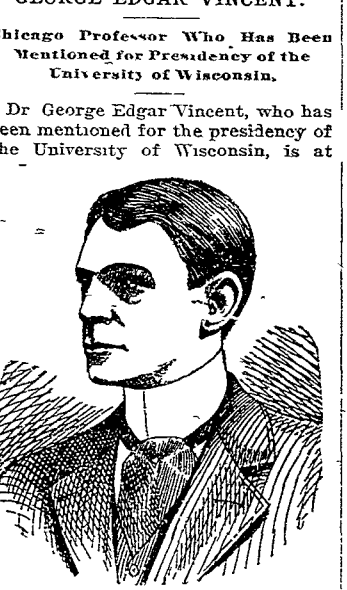

Politicians of New York and Pennsylvania who have the Roosevelt interests in charge have been in Indianapolis recently to confer with Mr. Parry concerning the scheme. What the result of the conference was is not known, but the movement continues. Parry organized a Business Men's Beverage club during the legislative session of 1897, which resulted in Beveridge's senatorial election. Mr. Parry was asked about the vice presidential movement in his favor and replied:

"I intended that nothing be said about that matter now. I am surprised that it is known. I have had nothing to do with it."

Emmons, of Iowa City, State of Iowa, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the County of Wayne on the 9th day of December, 1895, in Liber 362 of mortgages on page 158, and the said William J. Emmons having died on the 31st day of July, 1900, intestate, and Almeron Whitehead having been appointed on the 20th day of January, 1902, administrator of the estate of William J. Emmons, deceased, in Michigan, and having filed the required bond and entered upon his duties as such administrator and now acting as such and holding said mortgage as such administrator, and there being now due and unpaid upon the note secured by said mortgage for principal and interest the sum of two hundred and seventy-nine and nineteen one-hundredths dollars and the further sum of thirty dollars as an attorney's fee provided for in said mortgage together with the costs of foreclosure and no proceedings having been taken at law or in equity to recover the same or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale in said mortgage contained is now operative. Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises therein described will be sold according to law at public auction to the highest bidder at the Grand Street entrance of the City Hall in the City of Detroit, Michigan (that being the building wherein the Circuit Court for the County of Wayne is held) on Tuesday, the 22nd day of April, 1902, at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day. The mortgaged premises to be sold are described in said mortgage substantially as follows: Lot two hundred and sixty-six (266) and the south half of lot two hundred and sixty-seven (267) of Moore W. Field's Subdivision of P. C. sixty-seven (67) north of Fort street according to the plat thereof recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the County of Wayne in Liber seven of plats on page sixty-two (62) all in the township of Springwells, Wayne County, Michigan.

WILLIAM J. EMMONS, Administrator.

Dated January 21st 1902.

"THE TIN SOLDIER"

Is Manner in Which Taryn Referred to Roosevelt.

SPOKE TO PONTIAC DEMS.

Jefferson Banquet Last Night Was Attended by 400 of the Faithful—Many Other Prominent Leaders Were in Attendance.

Pontiac, Mich., March 20.—Over 400 faithful democrats attended the Jefferson club banquet in the Pontiac Opera house here last night. It was an occasion of great interest.

The first speaker of the evening was Hon. William E. Carpenter of Waterford. He spoke on "Tendencies of the times as seen from a farmer's standpoint."

James P. Taryn of Kentucky gave the most eloquent address of the evening on "The true democracy of Lincoln and Albig." He reviewed his early life and told how he had always considered Lincoln as the cause of all trouble in the south.

"However," he said, "I look upon him as the greatest jurist, highest and loveliest character America has ever produced. His democracy was the democracy of Lincoln."

He referred to President Roosevelt as the "tin soldier," and said that the only vote of which he was ever ashamed he cast for Grover Cleveland in speaking of the policy of the democratic party, he said.

"Put aside the best use the talents that God has given you. That is all Bryan contended for—that is all Albig died for, and that is the platform we shall go forth with again in 1904." In reviewing the career of the republican party he said:

"In 1873 the republican congress, by 29 yeas, had in a bill long enough to reach from this platform to the front of this hall, demonized silver. They did it secretly and treacherously, and did it in the night time. They debased silver and left the gold standard. Half of the money was taken away one midnight at Washington with only five members of congress who knew of the transaction."

"Republican legislation," he continued, "doubled the capital of 2 per cent, while 98 per cent had no money. The purpose of this legislation was to enrich a few and impoverish millions."

Mr. Taryn spoke of the death of Albig, and declared that his death was the greatest loss to the country and to democracy since the death of Lincoln. He gave almost a satirical speech of President Roosevelt and his policy.

Judge Taryn was followed by T. E. Tarsney of Detroit, who spoke in the absence of George Monaghan. Mr. Tarsney gave a humorous description of the house of representatives at Lansing. His principal theme was the government as controlled by a few people, and he urged upon the democrats to keep the reins of government in their own hands.

Michigan Pensioners.

Washington, March 20.—Michigan pensioners were granted Wednesday as follows: Original—Anthony Slack, Douglass, $8. Increase—Jona Murty, Clayton, $10. John Grish, Dowagiac, $12. John Elliott, Manistee, $12. Patrick Mitchell, Dickinson, $3. Charles Walker, Adrian, $8. Simon D Carr, Marshall, $72. Francis Webb, Niles, $12. Warren Laffer, Dundee, $3. James Hunt, Benton Harbor, $12. James H. McClelland, Sebawa, $12. George W. Jeffers, Calumet, $17. Widow Elizabeth Lash, Cassadaga, $8. Mary A. Hayward, Hesperia, $8. Abigail Johns, Kinderhook, $12.

Skated Nearly 100 Miles.

Menominee, Mich., March 20.—Two of the Menominee fishermen who were marooned on Chambers island arrived home yesterday after a hard and perilous journey, picking their way on skates around the southern point of Green bay, a distance of nearly 100 miles. They finally made a landing at Peshtigo and came home by land. They say there are still 15 men on the island. The tug Gagnor will start for them today.

Saved by an Alarm Clock.

Perry, Mich., March 20.—Henry Dunning and wife had a close call yesterday morning from being asphyxiated by coal gas. They were aroused from their stupor by an alarm clock set to ring at 5 o'clock, and groping their way to a door, soon revived in the fresh air. The clock saved their lives.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Michael Magin of Dowagiac, aged 70, while dependent over ill-health, hanged himself.

Bert Colvin was arrested at Cheboygan Tuesday. He deserted from Co. L, United States engineers, at Washington, D. C.

Charles Dean Long of Lansing, justice of the supreme court of Michigan, is seriously ill at the home of his son-in-law, John M. Barton, 237 Lincoln avenue, Detroit.

Numerous eggs stains upon the exterior of Editor Smiley's house at Galesburg seem to indicate the opening of an active campaign on the part of his rebellious subjects.

Charles M. Goodale of Jackson, 50 years old, a carpenter, was taken suddenly ill and died a few hours later Wednesday. Goodale had a weak heart, and it is thought a headache powder killed him.

M. H. Wells of Coldwater, the veteran soldier who undertook to cut and slash an officer last December who attempted his arrest, pleaded guilty to assault and was sentenced to 50 days in jail. He has already been in jail over three months.

ALLEGED INFIDELITY

Are Grounds for Peculiar Divorce Proceedings in Owosso.

Owosso, Mich., March 20.—The divorce case of Eva vs. Gilbert H. Willoughby of Owosso is now in progress at Coranna. The woman daily enters the court room with a crowd of 20 men sympathizers, and Mr. Willoughby has fully 30 women supporters, many of whom are members of the Lady Macabees lodge, to which orders Mrs. Willoughby belonged, but by which she has been expelled.

Willoughby charges his wife with infidelity and claims to have warned her several times to turn over a new leaf. He claims she refused, and one night he left her on her father's doorstep with the words, "Take her back. I don't want her. This is the basis of her suit for divorce."

It is said that Willoughby hired two friends to go on the woman and report her actions. The woman, however, is so confident that they had become her friends and allies. The testimony is so far from being in spots.

WAYLAIN AND KIDNAPED

is Believed to Be the Fate of a Sturgis Man.

Sturgis, Mich., March 20.—Henry Sturgis, a farmer living south of here near L'Ange, has been missing from home a week, and his friends are considerably alarmed. He had sold his farm for $5,000 and was about to be paid when he was summoned to the bedside of a sick sister at Elkton, Ind. He arrived at this destination but upon the return trip, where he was expected to complete the real estate deal, he disappeared. Some of his friends think he has been foully dealt with and his money stolen, while others think he was waylaid, his money stolen and he himself kidnaped.

Michigan Postmasters.

Washington, March 20.—The following Michigan postmasters were confirmed by the senate yesterday: R. J. Ewden, Bessemer; J. Wallace, St. Clair; G. W. Minchin, Ewart; A. L. Deuel, Harbor Springs; T. R. Bailey, Manchester; G. A. Sherwood, Otsego; C. Brebner, Newberry; W. P. McCoy, Mendon; C. L. Bailey, Mancelona; C. W. Brown, Mason; G. W. Dennis, Leslie; G. E. Hilton, Freeland; T. A. Hutt, Grand Haven; H. B. Laing, Gladstone; W. Harwood, Imlay City; R. B. Lang, Houghton; K. R. Smith, Ionia; R. Arthur, Schoolcraft; G. L. West, West Branch; C. W. Emery, Hancock; T. P. McMullen, Cheboygan; G. W. Noble, Buchanan.

Remarkable Escapes from Fire.

Benton Harbor, Mich., March 20.—Several people had a close call from an awful death in the Conkey building, which took fire yesterday morning. Those who escaped through the blazing stairways had their clothes nearly burned off and hair singed. The fire started from a gasoline can in the second floor flat. A roomer threw the can into the stairway, and all the stairways to the fourth floor were ablaze almost immediately. The fire was under control in 15 minutes, but not before damage to the amount of $8,000 had been caused.

Politicians Had Wordy War.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 20.—In an argument over politics in the Morton house, Frank N. Watson of Owosso, a candidate for the nomination for attorney general, accused Deputy Attorney General Chase of working for Charles Blair of Jackson, Watson's rival for the nomination. Chase called Watson a liar and the air was full of fire and brimstone, but no blows were landed. The disputants finally apologized, but there will be no let up in the political fight.

Bay City Water is O. K.

Bay City, Mich., March 20.—According to an analysis of water taken from the city water mains, all the stories of lime in the river killing the fish are declared to be bosh. The analysis shows that there is not an undue amount of lime found, not nearly as much as is usually found in well water, and the University of Michigan chemist who made the analysis says that the water in its present conditions is not unsafe to drink.

Finland's Governor Killed.

Calumet, Mich., March 20.—The Parvatchi, Calumet's Finnish daily, the only one in the United States, publishes an account of the assassination of Bobrikoff, the Russian governor-general of Finland. The news was brought by parties arriving at Calumet from Finland yesterday. The paper claims that the account had never been published, as the Russian government censored the matter.

Car Collapsed, Causing Wreck.

Niles, Mich., March 20.—A west-bound freight train on the Air Line division of the Michigan Central was wrecked near Vandalia yesterday. A car in the middle of the train loaded with engine iron collapsed and seven cars loaded with merchandise and grain were hurled into a ditch. The road is tied up and the loss will amount to thousands of dollars. No one was hurt.

Aged Northville Man Drowned.

Lapeer, Mich., March 20.—"Plann" Bigler of Northville, aged 65 years, was Tuesday night to call upon Otis Blosa, a neighbor, who lives a short distance from the village. As he failed to return, a searching party was formed, and yesterday his body was found a short distance from his home, in the Flint river. It is supposed that he attempted to cross the river, lost his balance and fell into the water.

Smashed His Skull.

Iron Mountain, Mich., March 20.—Louis Southauer, station agent at Waukegan, in this county, assaulted Napoleon Bauden with an iron poker, fracturing his skull and breaking several bones. The victim cannot live. Southauer is under arrest.

MANY VOTES CAST

At the Grand Rapids Primary Election.

WARD CONTESTS WERE WARM

Democrats Only Offered Two Contestants for City Attorney and Police Clerk, While Republicans Had Many—Many Prominent Men Present.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 19.—The city primary election was held yesterday, and an exceptionally large vote was polled. The democratic ticket defeated the republican ticket for city attorney and clerk of the police court, and their vote was light, but the republicans had from two to four candidates for every office on the ticket, and the vote in some precincts represented nearly the whole party strength, with some of the republicans having a view to making the republicans to decide who they wanted for candidates.

On the democratic ticket the candidates at the charter election will be as follows: For judge police court, Lumanus Doyle, major; George R. Peary, clerk of superior court, George D. Bestock. All these were without contest, the city attorneyship being between W. W. Taylor and Hugo E. Wilson, and the clerkship of police court between Theo. J. Hake and Frederick Beran.

The republicans had two candidates each for judge of police court, city attorney and clerk of the superior court; three for mayor and four for clerk of police court. For mayor the contest lies between Arthur R. Rood and John Rowson, with John P. Creswell as a third candidate. Early indications point to Rood's nomination.

In several of the wards the contests for aldermanic nominations were warm. The second ward had five republican candidates, while the democrats had none, while in the fifth the democrats and republicans each had three.

President Featon of the State League of Republican clubs, Homer Warren, Lincoln Avery, John Patton, Charles B. Townsend and others of the state league were here to witness the operations of the law, and all expressed the opinion that the system was all right, although in need of some amendments.

Representatives were also here from Grand Haven, Muskegon and other cities. They made the rounds of several of the voting precincts during the voting hours.

About a dozen county clerks were also here holding a session and observing the primaries. At the meeting, business matters were discussed, but state politics was passed by. The county clerks have come to the conclusion, it is stated, not to mix in the gubernatorial contest for fear it will react on their own renominations.

Michigan Inventors.

Washington, March 19.—Michigan patents were granted Tuesday as follows: Leo J. Burdick, Sturgis, cyclo-meter and register mechanism; Jos. Corville, Detroit, piano player, Merritt C. Gilbert, Battle Creek, valve for gas burners; C. I. Huxley, Athens, artificial stone tank; I. C. Kelly and C. E. Amspacher, Charlotte, fence jack; John E. Lambert, Detroit, air pump; Myron C. Lisle, Grand Rapids, breech loading firearm; John W. Morgan, Detroit, cabinet for displaying merchandise; Gerhart Norstrom, Kearsarge, pipe machine; Hiram A. Rose and W. P. Brockschmidt, Grand Rapids, heating grate; Jacob B. Russell, Delray, carpet stretcher; John S. Sherman and G. H. Harms, Detroit, vapor burner; James T. Smiley, Detroit, shirt.

A Narrow Escape.

Niles, Mich., March 19.—The main line local freight on the Michigan Central, which runs between Jackson and Niles, struck a heavy wagon at a local crossing, and the occupant, Richard Zimmerman jumped and barely escaped with his life. Zimmerman was driving a team of horses and, as he approached the crossing, heard the train whistle, but supposed he had time to get over.

Begamist Gets Off Easy.

Detroit, Mich., March 19.—Arthur A. Gordon, the bigamist who was locked up with his second wife Monday, is a lucky man. Gordon, convinced that he certainly would have to go to prison for his nery conduct, was prepared to make the best of it. But both of Gordon's wives love him too well to see him locked up, so he'll go free, at liberty to choose for himself which wife he loves the most.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Word has been received at Port Huron that a young son of James Keller was drowned at Harbor Beach Tuesday.

Two tenant houses on the Ira W. Allen estate in Coloma have been destroyed by fire during the past week, both incendiary.

A Chicago firm is after a franchise in Flint for a lighting and heating plant. They plan to put in a plant costing about $150,000.

The Blue Ribbon hotel at Sault Ste. Marie burned Tuesday morning. Proprietor Keller's face was scorched while he was getting out his trunk. Loss, $4,000.

A verdict of not guilty was rendered Tuesday in the case of George Cooper of Detroit, charged with the murder of his wife, which has been continuing in Judge Frazer's court in that city for some time.

The residence of Mrs. Lillian B. Peters at Battle Creek was entered by burglars Monday night while the family were attending the St. Patrick's banquet, and they took a $35 lady's gold watch, gold neck chain and a receiver.

as Pe-ru-na as Being Worth its Weight in Gold.

Hon. John Paulin, Sr., a pioneer of Port Washington, Ws., is held in high esteem by the residents of that place. He is one of the oldest citizens. In a recent letter he says:

"I have used Peruna with good results for coughs and colds. It has also cured my catarrh which always became worse when affected with but a slight cold. I am recommending Peruna because it is worth its weight in gold."—JOHN PAULIN, SR.

Mr. A. Howell, Marietta, Ga., writes:

"I have been troubled with catarrh in head, throat and stomach for several years, and from accounts that I have read in several newspapers of the good effects that many had received from Peruna, and whose veracity could not be doubted, caused me to give it a trial, and I bless the day that I did make a trial. It has made a new man of me."

"I was all my life up to about five years ago a very healthy man, and about that time I was troubled with catarrh. I tried a number of prescriptions from different doctors but none seemed to relieve me until I commenced the use of Peruna, and from its use I can truly say that I have been greatly benefited."

"I am now in my eighty-seventh year and can walk and get about as well as many much younger than myself and attribute it greatly to the use of Peruna. I keep some on hand all the time, and consider it the cheapest medicine in the world."—Mr. A. Howell.

J. R. Prince, East Leon, N. Y., writes:

"Peruna has saved my life, and made a strong, healthy, jolly old man of me. Peruna is just what every family should not be without. I have taken very few colds since I have used Peruna, but when I do catch cold, Peruna is my medicine."

"A minister came to me last summer and said that he had seen my testimonial in the paper, and began taking Peruna. He said that it straightened him right up—he was troubled with kidney trouble and Peruna cured him. I cannot express my thanks for the benefit your medicine has been to me."—J. R. Prince.

Abraham Ziegler, Piedmont, Wayne County, Mo., writes:

"My wife who is now eighty-seven years old, suffered for about sixteen years from severe catarrh of the head, which affected her sight and hearing. I saw Peruna advertised in your almanac, and testimonials similar to her case attracted my attention. I got one bottle and it helped her so much that she is now using the second bottle and she thinks it is something wonderful. Her hearing and sight are both in part restored."—Abraham Ziegler.

In old age the mucous membranes become thickened and partly lose their function. This leads to partial loss of hearing, smell and taste, as well as digestive disturbances. Peruna corrects all this by its specific operation on all the mucous membranes of the body. One bottle will convince anyone. Once used and Peruna becomes a life-long stand-by with old and young.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Methodist Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

The sacrament of The Lord's Supper will be observed at the close of the sermon Sunday morning. Dr. Shier will be present next Thursday evening, and will conduct the third quarterly conference after prayer meeting.

The pastor will speak Sunday morning on "Christ in you, the hope of glory." Evening sermon will be the last of the series on the life and character of David, the special topic being "The Punishment of a King's Sin."

The Sunday school has voted $12.00 of the funds in their treasury to be paid on the church insurance. The Aid society will add $10.00 to this, and the League will probably provide the balance with the exception of the $35.00 collected by the pastor.

Baptist Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

Our pastor will exchange pulpits with Rev. T. D. Cross of Wayne next Sunday morning and evening.

The B. Y. F. U. topic for Sunday evening will be "Our Own for Christ." Borridel Parmenter is the leader for the evening.

Our annual foreign mission offering will be received next Sunday morning. Envelopes will be distributed through the congregation for this object.

The Ladies' Aid will have a home-made baking sale Saturday, March 22, in the vacant store one door east of Newson's bakery. They expect to be open ready for business at 10 a. m.

Quite a notable feature of our Sunday school last Sunday was the absence of several teachers. We hope this will not continue to be so prominent. Teachers, we need your services every Sunday.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

The "Sweet Sisters," though backward in coming forward even sideways, will serve tables at the chicken pie supper in the rink on Tuesday evening, March 25th. They will be superintended by "Ma Sweet" as head-waiter.

Do not forget the great Easter market to be held in the rink Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. An important feature will be the second-hand department. Good second-hand things of every description are solicited, including outgrown and half worn clothing for men, women and children, spring hats, caps and bonnets, shoes, etc. Worthless garments need not be brought unless material can be made over or used as good carpetrags and rug material. All kinds of furniture, dishes and kitchen utensils, in fact anything which could be of use to anybody is solicited. All having such things will please advise Mrs. Joslyn (committee) or bring or send to the rink early Tuesday morning.

Women love a clear, healthy complexion. Pure blood makes it. Burdock Blood Bitters make pure blood.

The Wily Chink.

A lady writing home from Southern China to relatives in South Norwalk says: "A story of the Chinese and their use of the graphophone was told me by Mr. Wishard, who is a representative of the American Board of Foreign Missions, and, at present, at the head of the Student Movement, which undertakes the preparation of young men for the field. Mr. Wishard is now in the United States and you may have heard the story. But I will tell it to you all the same. The officials and diplomats were the first to discover that the graphophone could be used to thwart the rubbering of their messengers, and later it was adopted by several merchants. It was put in use, of course, to checkmate the dilatory Ganymedes of this flowery land of chinks and bovers. They had the bad habit of reading any sealed message that was entrusted to them and turning the information thus obtained to their own account. Perhaps they would rewrite it, just to pass away the time and then reveal the envelope nicely, and deliver the letter in a condition to allay all suspicion that it had ever been tampered with. Verbal messages are never delivered correctly and it would be an extremely credulous person who expected them to be. One day a pair of ingenious Johns found a graphophone and at once instituted a plan by which they could carry on a little private conversation by sending their records back and forth between the towns in which they lived, and their experience resulted in their example being followed by other Celestials who were not anxious to have their private affairs made too public. When Mr. Wishard was last in Peking the machines were being quite extensively used and the messengers were unsuspecting that the cylinders could be made to talk, under certain conditions. If, in the course of time, you hear that the graphophone people in Bridgeport, have received from China an order for a small collapsible machine you may safely infer that some bright Lung Hop has discovered something and that he expects, through the use of a condensable machine that can be hidden away in his kimono, to recover his lost opportunities for keeping in touch with the contents of his master's letters."

COME TO... Lockhart's Mill-End Sale

The greatest trade event of the year is Lockhart's Mill-End Sale. At no other time can good, desirable merchandise be bought so cheap. No other circumstance permits such low priced selling. We began the eighth Lockhart Mill-End Sale last Monday morning. It is the biggest and the best Detroit has known. More goods, wider variety, greater bargains.

"Mill-End" exist only in piece goods, such as Silks, Dress Goods, Wash Goods, Linens, Veilings, Ribbons, Trimmings, Laces, Embroideries, etc., and all these we offer at a mere fraction of their worth, having secured them from the mills through Mr. Lockhart, their agent, at practically our own figures. To make the sale complete, and of financial interest to everybody, we include certain lines in every department:

House Furnishing Goods, Crockery, Glassware, Gas Fixtures, Carpets, Rugs, Draperies, Wall Paper, Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Ladies' Misses' and Children's Cloaks, Suits, Skirts, Waists, Millinery, Muslin Underwear, Corsets, Hosiery and Knit Underwear, Notions, Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Shoes, Men's and Boys' Shoes, Furnishings and Hats, Books and Stationery, Music, Umbrellas, Toilet Articles, Drugs and Medicines.

In fact, you come face to face with bargains at every turn through this, the greatest store in Michigan.

Come with the crowds; supply all your personal and household needs; secure new, fashionable and strictly desirable goods at the lowest prices ever known. You'll be well repaid for your expense and time no matter how far you have to come.

DON'T TRUST TO LUCK!

When you go to buy Lumber, or Building Material of any kind, don't trust to luck to get the kind of material you want. There's a difference, you know, and we say, positively, that unless you examine our stock before buying, you simply can not tell whether you are getting the best value for your money, or not.

We have the largest and best stock of lumber, lath, shingles, lime, cement, sash, doors, building paper, and all such building material in this town and you take no chances when you buy here. You get absolutely the best for your money.

M. S. AMBLER & CO., - Northville, Mich.

"Coughed All Night"

We hear that complaint frequently now. It is one easy to believe as a rule, for the speaker generally shows that his rest has been badly broken. Of course, it is always natural for us to tell of the value of White Pine, and we can recommend this preparation with confidence. We have made and sold it for five years, and have scores of people in the neighborhood who are willing to say a good word for it as the opportunity arises. White Pine soothes the inflamed bronchial passages and quickly quiets the annoying hack. It's good for a fresh cold or a chronic one, good for the little fellow who coughs and chokes and gasps, good for his father if he has a cough. Two sizes, 25c and 50c.

NORTHVILLE.

The City in Brief.

Phil Porter has been seriously ill but is now much better.

The voting machines will be used at the township election.

Mrs. H. E. German gave a luncheon Monday to friends from Pontiac, Milford and Northville.

Chas. Blunk has leased Pitt Johnson's house in Bealton and will shortly move here from Livonia.

Frank Coon has secured employment in the cheese factory at Plymouth and will move there soon.

Miss Emma Pinkerton has been very ill for a week past with an attack bordering on peritonitis. She is much better now.

J. O. Knapp has lately added to his stock farm a pair of Improved Chester White hogs from the farm of C. C. Lilly near Grand Rapids.

Married at the bride's home east of this village, March 20th, Mr. Will Elliott of this place to Miss Alvina Schoof by the Rev. O. M. Thrasher.

The Methodist ladies took in nearly $50 at their handkerchief bazaar Tuesday night and have yet unsold about ten dollars' worth of handkerchiefs.

Mrs. T. B. Henry gave a St. Patrick party Monday night. A dozen or more were present and indulged in card playing and the eating of a dainty supper.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Hetley, March 25, at 3:00 p. m. Mrs. Patterson of Plymouth will speak on "Scientific Instruction as it should be taught in our schools."

Now's the time, spring time. Take Rocky Mountain Tea; keeps the whole family well. A great medicine for spring tiredness. 30c. Murdock Bros.

Mrs. E. Miller and Miss Simmons entertained twenty lady friends at cards Saturday afternoon.

The L. O. T. M. card party Tuesday night was largely attended and it was also a highly enjoyable affair.

Frank Lewis who suffered the amputation of his left leg some weeks ago is slowly improving, and is able to sit up a little bit.

Special meeting of Northville lodge No. 186 will be held this Friday evening, March 21. Work in M. M. degree. Final preparation for Detroit visit will be made.

A Northville man recently devoured seven dozen eggs at a single sitting, thus making the extravagance of a $2-a-plate banquet look like positive economy. —Wayne Review.

Must have been fish eggs.

Those balmy days received a sorry set back Sunday night and Monday. The thermometer descended to about 12 above zero and the heavy wind that prevailed made the people think of winter.

The United Railway Co.'s green and yellow cars are being hauled into the company's paint shops as fast as possible and painted a dark red, the same as those on the Shore and Rapid divisions.

B. Cohen of this place has purchased the Penniman block at Plymouth of W. O. Allen. The purchase was made as an investment only and the store will continue to be occupied by Ranch & Son and Mr. Cohen will remain in Northville.

It seems that all the other candidates mentioned for the republican nomination treasurer of this township excepting Marvin Sloan, have withdrawn from the race and that leaves him in the field alone. Marvin is a fine fellow and would make an ideal officer.

Mrs. Abe Rich was severely burned about the face and head on Tuesday by the explosion of some gasoline which she had poured into the stove by mistake for kerosene. At first it was feared she was in danger of losing her eyesight but Dr. Ambler who is attending her now thinks she will come out all right. The can containing the gasoline bore no printed label as is required by law.

The Salem King's Daughters who had planned to give such a nice dramatic entertainment a few weeks ago are playing in hard luck. Their opera house burned just before the play was to begin. Then they were coming to Northville and just then the opera house here was closed up. Their next booking was at South Lyon and last week that date had to be cancelled owing to the death of Mrs. Waterman, one of the leading characters in the play.

The Woman's club promise a very pleasing program for their musicale to be given at the library the afternoon of March 28th under the direction of Mrs. Long and Mrs. Merritt. Miss Blanche Deering, a talented Detroit pianist, will play; Mrs. Merritt of Pontiac and a young lady (so prano) from Normal conservatory, Ypsilanti, will sing, and Mrs. Long and Mrs. E. A. Merritt will each take part. A cordial invitation is extended to general public to attend. Admission, 10 cents.

Few odd style $1.00 Corsets to close at 50c; 50c Corsets to close at 25c at Miss Bovee's.

We sat at the table together. She cast a shy glance over at me. She certainly looked like an angel. Oh Charles! Please order me Rocky Mountain Tea. Murdock Bros.

Geo. Smitherman has purchased the Geo. Wager house on Center street and moved into the same this week.

Mrs. Geo. Hueston gave a party Tuesday night to about twenty ladies in honor of Mrs. Curdy of Milford.

The members of Northville lodge No. 186 F. & A. M. and their ladies will visit Kilwinning lodge, Detroit, on Monday, March 24. All are requested to meet at Masonic temple at 4 p. m.

The ladies societies of the three churches have been raising so much money these days by socials and bazaar that it will soon be unnecessary for the men folks to drop anything in the collection box at all.

Regular meeting of Orient chapter O. E. S. this Friday evening. Members are requested to be present at 7 o'clock sharp as the Masons wish to use the hall after the meeting. By Order of W. M.

Dr. Yarnall has made a nice investment in Detroit, where he purchased a $12,000 brick terrace on East Fort street last week. There are five apartments in the terrace and all are rented for a term of years at good figures.

H. H. Manchie left Saturday for Washington, where he has a nice position in the department of the National Museum. As private secretary to Frank N. Clark of the Northville U. S. fish-commission, Mr. Manchie is succeeded by Ward Bowers.

Married in Detroit on Saturday of last week, Mr. Lee W. Wager, formerly of Northville, to Miss Hattie McHugh of that city. They will make Detroit their future home where Mr. Wager has charge of the Michigan Telephone company's pay stations.

Supervisor Lanning announces he will not be a candidate for re-election this spring. Mr. Lanning has made a most excellent supervisor during his first term—in fact the town never had a better one. The republican candidates so far mentioned now are J. O. Knapp, C. R. Benton and D. F. Griswold.

F. A. Black has resigned his position with the Globe Furniture Co. and accepted a foremanship in the Machine Dept. of the Peninsular Mfg. Co. of Ann Arbor at a good round salary. Mr. Black took his place with the Ann Arbor people Monday and his family will join him in about two weeks. They will be greatly missed from our midst.

Will that Northville Monday night club please hold their meeting on Monday night. They're getting us all mixed up in our dates. By what right does a Monday night club appropriate Wednesday evening any way. —Delray Times.

Well, you see the club is two or three years old and originally was chartered under the name of "Monday Night Club." Therefore while it cannot side-step its old name it can waltz in another date. See?

ARE DOGS PROPERLY

Judge Smith of Pontiac Says They Are Not.

Judge Smith of Pontiac recently made an interesting decision in which case he says:

"The larceny statute of Michigan does not in express term include dogs, and at common law it was not larceny to carry away a dog, cat, fox, bear or any other animal base and vile, in a state of nature. The point has not been decided in the Michigan supreme court, and in but few of the states."

The judge suggested that legislative aid should be invoked in order to protect property rights in dogs. He spoke of there being $10,000 worth of dogs at the recent bench show, and said they are so important a species of property that a special is needed extending the crime of larceny to dog stealing.

The case will go to the supreme court for a ruling.

Do Your Eyes Need Attention?

Dr. J. May, Scientific Optician, will be at Mrs. Macomber's boarding house on Monday, March 24th, and cordially invites all who are suffering with defective vision to call and have their eyes examined free of charge. If glasses are needed, the price will be reasonable. The best of reference given.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woodman of Ypsilanti have been visiting among Northville relatives.

Fred Carpenter's brother died at his home near the Stone schoolhouse, Lyons township, on Monday.

In the Fish Gold Medal shoot here yesterday L. L. Brooks and M. F. Stanley of this place and Giddings of Pontiac each broke 22 out of 25 and tied for first place, but in shooting off the tie Giddings won out. Thirty shooters were present.

School Notes.

[By the Superintendent.] Motto: "The humblest individual exerts some influence either for good or bad upon others." —Henry Ward Beecher.

School closes today for one week's vacation.

Report cards will be sent to parents on Wednesday evening, April 2.

Spelling contest again between grades five and six this afternoon at 2:30.

Eighth grade physiology class is making some excellent drawings of bones.

The seventh grade pupils have been drawing some excellent maps of Australia.

A letter received this week from the authorities of Olivet college announces that the Northville-Public school has been placed on the approved list of the college and all credits will be received.

A very interesting debate was held in the eighth grade Friday afternoon. The question was "Resolved that Washington did more for the nation than Lincoln." The negative side won. Miss Skinner, Mr. Holcomb and Mr. VanSickle from the High school acted as judges.

We would suggest to parents who contemplate starting children to school this spring that they wait until the opening of school next fall. On account of the crowded condition of our primary and kindergarten department it will be quite impossible to give beginners the necessary attention and an extra class cannot well be formed this spring. We believe it will be better for the child and school to begin next fall when a new class will be formed.

Sunshine a Soporific.

No stupor of popples, no tincture of opium, says one of the medical journals, can compare in sleep-producing power with sunshine. The worst soporific is laudanum and the best is sunshine. Therefore it is easily understood that poor sleepers should pass as many hours in the sunshine as possible. Many women are martyrs and do not know it. They shut the sunshine out of their houses, they wear veils, they carry sunshades, they do all that is possible to keep off the sun and yet most potent influence which is intended to give them strength and beauty and cheerfulness.

Tons of Dutch Cheese.
In the Dutch town of Alkmar, on the great northern canal, about twenty miles from Amsterdam, which is noted for being one of the biggest cheese markets in the world, not less than 5,000 tons of cheese are disposed of in the course of twelve months. The Dutch cheeses are made in specks of three sizes, respectively, of four pounds eight pounds, and twelve pounds in weight, and the best quality fetches about twenty guilders, or about thirty-five shillings, per 100 pounds. Immediately after being weighed and marked off the barrows are taken to the canal boats nearby, and then the cheeses which they contain are rolled one by one into the hold, through a wooden chute, to be transported to their various destinations. Before exportation they are given a coating of vegetable red, and it is in this guise they are known and recognized the world over.

Can't Keep It Secret.

The splendid work of Dr. King's New Life Pills is daily coming to light. No such grand remedy for Liver and Bowel troubles was ever known before. Thousands bless them for curing Constipation, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice and Indigestion. Try them 25c at Geo. C. Hueston's drug store.

Second-Hand Corks.

No more second-hand corks may be sold in Paris, as the public health committee has discovered that such articles are being collected from all sorts of undesirable places by ragpickers, who after a more or less perfunctory cleansing dispose of them to the dealers.

Could Not Breathe.

Coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, other throat and lung troubles are quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure. One Minute Cough Cure is not a mere expectorant, which gives only temporary relief. It softens and liquefies the mucus, draws out the inflammation and removes the cause of the disease. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. "One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it," says Justice of the Peace J. Q. Hood, Crosby, Miss. "My wife could not get her breath and was relieved by the first dose. It has been a benefit to all my family."

London-Made Clothes in Gotham.

London tailors make a fortune in New York every spring and fall. They send their representatives over from London and the latter put up at the best hotels in New York City and take innumerable orders for suits of clothes from the younger members of the well-to-do who cannot go over and who desire to own English clothes with the English mark in the neck of the coat.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c. and $1. all druggists.

Who Pays the Printer?

When you go around from printer to printer getting bids on a job and then giving it to the lowest bidder, you get an indifferently good job—one with no particularly good points—one that sells no goods for you, then who pays the printer?

YOU DO.

When you pick out a good printer, giving him all your work, educating him to an idea of your needs, and paying a fair price for the work you get, your printer (when secured at the Record Printing) necessarily creates a favorable impression for you and for what you offer, and becomes a factor in selling your goods. Then who pays the printer? Your customer.

The Lost Continent

By CUTCLIFFE HYNE.

Published by Harper & Bros. Copyright, 1902, by Cutcliffe Hyne.

"Why, this. That it is not my wish to leave the continent of Atlantis. If you will put me down on any part of this side that faces Europe, I will commend you strongly to the gods. I would I could give you money, or (better still) articles that would be useful to you in your colonizing; but as it is, you see me destitute."

"As to that, you owe me nothing, having done vastly more than your share each time we have put in shore for the hunting. But it will not do, this plan of yours. I will shamefully confess that the sound of that king-ship in my Tin islands sounds sweet to me. But no, my lord, it will not do. You are no mariner yet, and understand little of geography, but I must tell you that the part of Atlantis there—he jerked his thumb towards the line of trees and the mountains that lay beyond the fringe of surf—is called the Dangerous Lands, and a man must needs be a salamander and be learned in magic (so I am told) before he can live there."

I laughed. "We of the Priests' clan have some education, Tob, though it may not be on the same lines as your own. In fact, I may say I was taught in the colleges concerning the boundaries and the contents of our continent with a nicety that would surprise you. And once ashore, my fate will be still under the control of the most high gods."

He muttered something in his profane seaman's way about preferring to keep his own fate under the control of his own most strong right arm, but saying that he would keep the matter in his thoughts, he excused himself hurriedly to go and see to somewhat concerning the working of the ship, and there left me.

But I think the sweets of kingly rule were a strong argument in favor of letting me have my own way (which I should have had otherwise if it had not been given peacefully), and on the third day after our talk he put the ship inshore again for re-ventuating. We lurched into a river-mouth, half swamped over a roaring bar, and ran up against the bank and made fast there to trees, but booming ourselves a safe distance off with oars and poles, so that no beast could leap on board out of the thickets.

Fish-spearing and meat hunting were set about with promptitude, and on the second day we were happy enough to slay a yearling river-horse, which gave provisions in all sufficiency. A space was cleared on the banks, fires lit, and the meat hung over the smoke in strips; and when as much was cured as the ship would carry, the shipmen made a final gorge on what remained, filled up a great stack of hollow reeds with drinking water, and were ready to continue the voyage.

With sturdy generosity did Tob again attempt to make me sail on with them as their future king, and as steadfastly did I make refusal; and at last I stood alone on the bank among the gnawed bones of their feast, with my weapons to bear me company, and he and his men and the women stood in the little old ship, ready to drop down the river with the current.

"At least," said Tob, "we'll carry your memory with us, and make it big in the Tin islands for everlast- ing."

"Forget me," I said; "I am nothing, I am merely an incident that has come in your way. But if you want to carry some memory with you that shall endure, preserve the cult of the most high gods as it was taught to you when you were children in Atlantis. And afterwards, when your colony grows in power, and has come to sufficient magnificence, you may send to the old country for a priest."

"We want no priest, except one we shall make ourselves, and that will be me. And as for the old gods—well, I have laid my ideas before the fellows here, and they agree to this: We are done with those old gods for always. They seem worn out, if one may judge from their present lack of usefulness in Atlantis; and, anyway, there will be no room for them on the Tin islands.

BEHIND ME I HEARD THE RUSTLE OF SOME GREAT BEAST THAT HAD SCENTED ME.

"Let me plead with you," I said. "This must not be."

The ship was drifting rapidly away with the current, and they were hoisting sail. Tob had to shout to make himself heard. "Aye, but it shall be. For I, too, am a strong man after my kind, and have ordered it so. And if you want the name of our hero that some day shall be god, you wear it on yourself. Deucalion shall be god for our children."

Solitary I stood at the brink of the forest, looking after them and musing sadly. Tob, despite his lowly station, was a man I cared for more than many. Like all seamen, I knew that he paid his devotions to one of the obscure gods, but till then I had supposed him devout in his worship. His new avowal came to me as a desolating shock. If a man like Tob could forsake all the older gods to set up on high some poor mortal who had momentarily caught his fancy, what could be expected from the mere thoughtless mob when swayed by such a brilliant tongue as Phorenice's? It seemed as if I was to begin my exile with a new dreariness added to all the other adverse prospects of Atlantis.

But then behind me I heard the rustle of some great beast that had scented me, and was coming to attack through the thickets, and so I had other matters to think upon. I had to let Tob and his ship go over the rim of the horizon unwatched.

CHAPTER XIII.

ZEAMON'S SUMMONS.

Since the days when mad was first created upon the earth by gods who looked down and did their work from another place, there have always been areas of the land ill-adapted for his maintenance, but none more so than that part of Atlantis which lies over against the savage continents of Europe and Africa. The common people avoid it, because of a superstition which says that the spirits of the evil dead stalk about there in broad daylight, and slay all those that the more open dangers of the place might otherwise spare. And so it has happened often that the criminals who might have fled there from justice have returned of their own free will and voluntarily given themselves up to the tormentors rather than face its fabulous terrors.

To the educated, many of these legends are known to be mythical; but withal there are enough disquietudes remaining to make life very arduous and stocked with peril. Everywhere the mountains keep their contents on the boil; earth tremors are every day's experience; gushes of unseen evil vapors steal upon one with such cunningness and speed that it is often hard to flee in time before one is choked and killed; poisons well up into the rivers, yet leave their color unchanged; great cracks spit across the ground, reaching down to the fires beneath, and the waters gush into these, and are shot forth again with devastating explosion; and always may be expected great outpourings of boiling mud or molten rock.

Yet with all this there are great somber forests in these lands, with trees whose age is unimaginable, and fires among the herbage are rare. All beneath the trees is water, and the air is full of warm steam and wetness. For a man to live in that constant hot damp is very mortifying to the strength. But strength is wanted, and cunning also beyond the ordinary, for these Dangerous Lands are the abode of the lizards, which of all beasts grow to the most enormous size, and are the most fearsome to deal with.

There are countless families and species of these lizards, and with some of them a man can contend with prospect of success. But there are others whose hugeness no human force can battle against. One I saw, as it came up out of a lake after gaining its day's food, that made the wet land shake and pulse as it trod. It could have taken Phorenice's mammoth into its belly, and even a mammoth in full charge could not have harmed it. Great horny plates covered its head and body, and on the ridge of its back and tail and limbs were spines that tore great slivers from the black trees as it passed among them.

Now and again these monsters would get caught in some vast fissuring of the ground, but not often. Their speed of foot was great, and their sagacity keen. They seemed to know when the worst boillings of the mountains might be expected, and then they found safety in the deeper lakes, or buried themselves in wallows of the mud. Moreover, they were more kindly constituted than man to withstand one great danger of these regions, in that the heat of the water did them no harm. Indeed, they will lie peacefully in pools where sudden stream-bursts are making the water leap into boiling fountains; and I have seen one run quickly across a flow of molten rock which threatened to cut it off and not be so much as singed in the transit.

In the midst of such neighbors, then, was my new life thrown, and existence became perilous and hard to me from the outset. I came near to knowing what fear was, and indeed only a fervent trust in the most high gods, and a firm belief that my life was always under their fostering care, prevented me from gaining that horrid knowledge. For long enough, till I learned somewhat of the ways of this steaming, sweltering land, I was in as miserable a case as even Phorenice could have wished to see me. My clothes rotted from my back with the constant wetness, till I went as naked as a savage from Europe; my limbs were racked with aches, and I could find no herbs to make drugs for their relief; for days together I could find no better food than tree-grubs and leaves; and often when I did kill beasts, knowing little of their qualities, I ate those that gave me pain and sickness.

But as man is born to make himself adaptable to his surroundings, so as the months dragged on, I did learn the limitation of this new life of mine, and gather some knowledge of its resources. As example: I found a great black tree, with a hollow core, and a hole into its middle near the roots. Here I harbored, till one night some monstrous lizard, whose sheer weight made the tree rock like a sapling, endeavored to suck me forth as a bird picks a worm from a hollow log. I escaped by the will of the gods—I could as much have done harm to a mountain as injure that horny

"Translator's Note.—Prof. Reeder, of the Wyoming state university, has recently unearthed the skeleton of a Brontosaurus, 130 feet in length, which would have weighed 50 tons when alive. It was 30 feet in height at the hips, and 25 feet at the shoulder, and 40 people could be seated with comfort within its ribs. Its thigh bone was eight feet long. The fossils of a whole series of these colossal lizards have been found.

tongue with my weapons—but I gave myself warning that this chance must not happen again.

So I cut myself a ladder of foot-holes on the inside of the trunk till I had reached a point ten man-heights from the ground, and there cut other notches, and with tree-branches made a floor on which I might rest. Later, for luxury, I carved me arrow-slit windows in the walls of my chamber, and even carried up sand for a hearth, so that I might cook my victual up there instead of lighting a fire in all the dangers of the open below.

By degrees, too, I began to find how the large-scaled fish of the rivers and the lesser turtles might be more rapidly captured, and so my ribs threatened less to start through their proper covering of skin as the days went on. But the lack of salads and greens I could never overcome. All the green meat was tainted so powerfully with the taste of tars that never could I force my palate to accept it. And of course, too, there remained the peril of the greater lizards and the other dangers native to the place.

But as the months began to mount into years, and the brute part of my nature became more satisfied, there came other longings which it was less easy to provide for. From the doorway of a fair-house's tooth I had endeavored to carve me a representation of Nais as last I had seen her. But, though my fingers might be loving and my will good, my art was of the duller, and the result—though I tried time and time again—was always clumsy and pitiful. Still, in my eyes it carried some suggestion of the original—a curve here, an outline there—and it made my old love glow anew within me as I sat and ate it with my eyes. Yet it did little to satisfy my longings for the woman I had lost; rather it whetted my cravings to be with her again, or at least to have some knowledge of her fate.

Other men of the Priests' clan have come out and made an abode in these Dangerous Lands, and by mortifying the flesh have gained an intimacy with the higher mysteries which has carried them far past what mere human learning and repetition could teach. Indeed, here and there one, who from some cause and another has returned to the abodes of men, has carried with him a knowledge that has brought him the reputation among the vulgar for the workings of magic and miracles, which since all arts must be allowed which aid so help a cause—have added very materially to the ardor with which these common people pursue the cult of the gods. But for myself I could not free my mind to the necessary clearness for following these abstruse studies. During that voyage home from Yucatan I had communed with them with growing insight; but now my mind was not my own. Nais had a lien upon it, and refused to be ousted; and, in truth, her sweet trespass was my chief solace.

But at last my longing could no further be denied. Through one of the arrow-slit windows of my tree-house I could see far away a great mountain-top whitened with perpetual snow, which our Lord the Sun dyed with blood every night of his setting. Night after night I used to watch that ruddy light with wide-afraiding eyes. Night after night I used to remember that in days ago when I was entering upon the priest-hood it had been my duty to adore our great Lord as He rose for His day behind the snows of that very mountain. And always the thought followed on these musings that from that distant crest I could see across the continent to the Sacred Mount which had the city below it where I had buried my love alive.

So at last I gave way and set out, and a perilous journey I made of it. In the heavy mists which hung always on the lower ground, my way lay blind before me, and I was constantly losing it. Indeed, to say that I traversed three times the direct distance is setting a low estimate. Through-out all those swamps the great lizards hunted, and as the country was new to me I did not know places of harbor, and a hundred times was within an ace of being spied and devoured at a mouthful. But the high gods still desired me for their own purposes, and blinded the great beasts' eyes when I sought to cover as they passed. Twice rivers of scalding water roared boiling across my path, and I had to delay till I could collect enough black timber from the forests to build rafts that would give me dry ferriage.

It will be seen then that my journey was in a way infinitely tedious, but to me, after all those years of waiting, the time passed on winged feet. I had been separated from my love till I could hear the strain no longer; let me but see from a distance the place where she lay, and feast my eyes upon it for awhile, and then I could go back to my abode in the tree and there remain patiently awaiting the will of the gods.

The air grew more chilly as I began to come out above the region of trees, on to that higher ground which glared down on the rest of the world, and I made buskins and a coat of woven grasses to protect my body from the cold, which began to blow upon me keenly. And later on, where the snow lay eternally, and was blown into gullies and frozen into solid banks and bergs of ice, I had hard work to make any progress among its perilous mazes, and was, moreover, so numbed by the chill that my natural strength was vastly weakened. Overhead, too, following me up with forbidding swoops, and occasionally coming so close that I had to threaten it with my weapons, was one of those huge man-eating birds which live by pulling down and carrying off any creature that their instinct tells them is weakly and likely soon to die.

But the lure ahead of me was strong taken oath on the walls of the Ark of the Mysteries itself, that always, come what might, you would be a servant of the high council of the clan without fee and without hope of advancement. But this is the age of broken vows, and you are doing no more than trim with the fashion. Indeed, brother, perhaps I should thank you for being no more greedy in your demands."

"You may spare me your taunts. You, by self-denial and profound search into the highest of the highest mysteries, have made yourself something wiser than human; I have preserved my humanity, and with it its powers and frailties; and it seems that each of us has his proper uses, or you would not now come to me. Rather you would have done the generalizing yourself."

"You make a warm defense, my brother. But I have no leisure now to stand before you with argument. Come to the Sacred Mountain, fight me this wanton upstart empress, and, by my beard! you shall have your Nais as you left her as a reward."

"It is a command of the high council which shall be obeyed. I will come with my brother now, as soon as he is rested."

"Nay," said the old man, "I have no tiredness, and as for coming with me, there you will not be able. But follow at what pace you may."

He turned and set off down the snowy slopes of the mountain, and I followed; but gradually he distanced me, and so he kept on, with speed always increasing, till presently he passed out of my sight round the spur of an ice-chill, and I found myself alone on the mountainside. Yes, truly alone. For his footmarks in the snow, from being deep grew shallower and less noticeable, so that I had to stoop to see them. And presently they vanished entirely, and the great mountain's flank lay before me trackless and untrodden by the foot of man since time began.

I was not shaken by any great amazement. Though it was beyond my poor art to compass this thing myself, having occupied my mind in exile more with memories of Nais than in study of those uppermost recesses of the higher mysteries in which Zeamon was so prodigiously wise still I had some inkling of his power.

Zeamon, I knew, would be back again in his dwelling on the Sacred Mountain, shaken and breathless, even before I had found an end of his tracks in the snow, and it behooved me to join him there in the quickest possible time. I had his promise now for my reward, and I knew that he would carry it into effect. Beforetime I had made an error; I had valued Atlantis most, and Nais my private love, as only second. But now it was in my mind to be honest with others even as with myself. Though all the world were hanging on my choice, I could but love my Nais most, and serve her first and foremost of all.

(To be continued next week.)

The Voice Of Nagging.

Clouds the happiness of the home but a nagging woman often needs help. She may be so nervous and run-down in health that trifles annoy her. If she is melancholy, irritable, troubled with loss of appetite, headache, sleeplessness, constipation, or fainting and dizzy spells, she needs Electric Bitters, the most wonderful remedy for ailing women. Thousands of sufferers from female troubles, nervous troubles, backache and weak kidneys have used it and become healthy and happy. Try it. Only 50c. Geo. C. Hieston guarantees satisfaction.

Prince Henry and Admiral Dewey. In connection with Prince Henry's visit the story that he and Admiral Dewey were not very good friends at Hong Kong when the prince gave a dinner to foreign naval officers in March, 1898, bobs up again. Secretary Long now says he had never heard the story and does not believe that the reported incident of the prince's slighting of this country in the toasting of his guests ever occurred.

A Severe Cold for Three Months.

The following letter from A. J. Nushbaum of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me." Refuse substitutes. Murdoch Bros.

It is reported that the Pere Marquette is seeking a plan to extend a branch to Pontiac. The big manufacturing interests there make it a very important freight center, and at present the Pere Marquette is shut off from participation in the profits of the traffic. It is said that a route is being planned from Wixom to Pontiac, that being the nearest point to Pontiac that the Pere Marquette reaches.

One of Milford's most accomplished school teachers is suffering from the effects of a nervous shock received last week. She was explaining in simple language the human anatomy and ended her discourse as follows:

"The eyes are to see with, the nose to smell and the feet to run with."

At this juncture one of the students brought grief to her heart by saying: "That isn't the way with my paw; his nose runs and his feet smells."

Over in Washtenaw county a few weeks ago, says the Wayne Review, a straw stack heavily laden with snow fell over on a cow that was feeding from it. The farmer who owned the cow thought she had been killed so made no effort to dig her out. But 21 days later he detected a movement in the stack and forced the straw away with the result of finding the cow very much alive with a new born calf by her side. On getting her liberty the cow ran bawling to the creek for water, but was headed off before she got there and was then given warm water in small quantities. In a few days she was as well as ever.

Surgeon's Knife Not Needed. Surgery is no longer necessary to cure piles. ## Lyceum Theatre—Detroit.

Union Nationality is the key-note of Clyde Fitch's work in "The Cowboy and the Lady," which S. Miller Kent will produce at the Lyceum theatre, March 23. The cowboy in question comes from the east, being a Harvard graduate. He dresses in the height of fashion and is derided as a dandy by the lady with whom he falls in love. Behind his polished appearance, however, is as brave and strong a nature as that of any typical man of the plains. The cowboy heroically assumes the guilt of another, but is finally acquitted and the real murderer brought to light.

Whitney's Opera House—Detroit.

A melodramatic astonisher this year is the successful English play "Sporting Life." Some idea of the magnitude of the presentment of this play may be gained from the statement that, despite the great area of McVicker's Theatre stage, where the piece has recently been presented, it was necessary to remove therefrom every stick and canvas of the house scenery to accommodate the vast investiture. It abounds with astonishing possibilities of stage production and illusion. "Drury Lane out-Drury Lane" is the epigrammatic description of this great achievement in stagecraft bestowed by the New York Journal. At Whitney's next week.

SPEAK OUT.

The Searchlight of Publicity is Pleasing Northville People.

Publicity is what the people want. Let the public speak on the subject. There has been too much clamor—too little proof. There is only one kind of proof for a Northville citizen. The experience of people who endorse, who friends and neighbors endorse, who question about such evidence. This kind of proof backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a case of it.

Mrs. J. Palmer of Cadz street, husband employed in the lumber yard, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were used in my family some time ago for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble and they proved to be all that is claimed for them, for in a short time the annoying backache was a thing of the past and the other symptoms of either excited or weakened kidneys disappeared. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. They are a wonderful medicine and one that everybody should know about."

Just such emphatic endorsement is plentiful in Northville. Call at Murdock Bros. store and ask them what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Wilburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never a laxative or distress. Safe, thorough and gentle. The very best pills. Murdock Bros.

SHOOK THEM UP.

Supreme Court Got After the Justices on Tramp Question.

Lansing, Mich., March 19.—The supreme court, in its opinion in the cases of Frederick S. Hutchinson and James Curry vs. the board of supervisors of Ionia county, sat down hard upon the tramp industry, which reaches aggravating proportions in that county.

Hutchinson and Curry, justices of the peace, presented bills for services in the alleged trials of tramps. The supervisors refused to allow the bills, claiming that the justices had not complied with the statutes, and furthermore, that there was collusion between the justices and the police officers. The circuit court found that the justices were entitled to their fees, and so ordered, whereupon the supervisors appealed to the supreme court. The officers and police officers of Ionia city, it appears that the prosecuting attorney refused to give a written order allowing these arrests, and the justices, therefore, bonded security for costs. The bonds were signed in blank by one surety and left with the justices. The constables made the complaints, and when a prisoner was arraigned the justice would simply fill out one of the blank bonds and proceed to send the prisoner to jail.

The court holds that where bonds in criminal cases are signed in blank by a surety and left with the officer of the law to fill in and use as he sees fit, they are not a compliance with the statute providing that "no warrant shall be issued without said justice" and the Ionia county custom is declared to be a clear evasion of the statutes.

Another important feature of this case was that in their reports to the prosecuting attorney, the justices made a statement of their own fees, but did not make a statement of the fees of the officers making the arrests, claiming that the latter was not required by the statute. The court holds that both fees must be set forth.

It further appeared that the justices did not examine their dockets to ascertain whether the offenders had been previously convicted, but treated them all as first offenders, whereas the statute provides longer sentences in case of second or third offenses. It was evident that the justices ignored this important statute, which, if enforced, would, in the opinion of the court, do much to prevent drunkenness and the various disorders and evils which are made criminal under such statute.

The opinion of the circuit court was reversed, and a judgment entered here for the supervisors.

Drank Seven Glasses of Alcohol.

Detroit, Mich., March 19.—Adam Enlin, a sewer digger, whose cottage is at 320 Tillman avenue, is now green and moaning in bed, crying "Water, water, give me water." He is almost dead from the effects of drinking seven glasses of alcohol in the saloon at the corner of Linden and Williams avenues. It was on a silly wager, Adam, who had already taken a couple of glasses of alcohol grew bolder and declared he'd risk his silver watch against $1 that he'd drink five more. One after another the contents of the last glass rushed down his throat, he fell in a stupor on the floor. The men in the place dragged him into a rear room, where, it is alleged, he lay stretched out in the cold for nearly ten hours. When found his body was like ice.

Kept it Secret a Long Time.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 19.—Arthur Morse, aged 21, of Ovid, Mich., who until yesterday has been a student for the last year at the Kalamazoo high school, and Miss Jessie Clark, wife of Ovid, were married in this city early last December, but kept the fact a secret until now, not even their closest friends knowing it. They will reside in Ovid, where the bride's father is a wealthy merchant. Mrs. Morse has been at the head of the china decorating department in a Kalamazoo concern, and drew big pay.

A Would-Be Murderer.

Stephenson, Mich., March 19.—Actuated by a desire to murder, Myron Seymour, a well-to-do farmer of this place, drove to the residence of his cousin and, entering the house, shot Seymour without a word of warning. The bullet struck her in the face and the wound is considered mortal. Seymour at once drove away at great speed and the officers were notified. They are in pursuit, and it is thought the man cannot escape.

Shot at His Reflection.

Niles, Mich., March 19.—Officer Metcalf found the side door of I. Harris's store open at an early hour Monday morning. The officer entered the store and as he did so saw his form reflected in a large mirror. Thereupon three shots rang out in quick succession and the mirror was shattered into fragments before the officer discovered his mistake. Harris had forgotten to close the side door when he left the store.

Picture for Bryan.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 19.—The Washington birthday celebration committee announces a surplus of $50 from the funds collected, and it will be used for the purchasing of a steel cutting of Washington to be presented to William Jennings Bryan, who was the speaker of the day.

Conscience Bothered Him.

Port Huron, Mich., March 19.—One of Dow's converts appeared yesterday in the customs house and as a result the United States is richer by $24.75. The man stated that he wished to pay a little conscience money for goods smuggled several years ago. His money was accepted.

More Suits Against Wabash.

Chicago, March 19.—The public administrator of the estates of the Italians who perished in the wreck of the Wabash last November has begun suit in the superior court here for $40,000 damages. Eight of the dead immigrants are mentioned in the suits, $5,000 being asked for the heirs of each.

HEAT OF EARTH'S INTERIOR.

Its Energy, May Some Day Be Transformed Into Electricity.

New methods of utilizing nature's energy constantly are being discovered and doubtless the future has in store greater discoveries than yet have been made. T. C. Mendenhall, in Casier's Magazine writes of the stored energy of the heat of the earth's interior and the possibilities of using it as a source of power. He says: "The stored energy of the heat of the earth's interior is beyond power of calculation, and some not entirely unsuccessful attempts to utilize this have already been made. From a short distance below the surface the temperature increases downward at an average rate which indicates that at a depth of fifty miles it is not less than 5,000 degrees Fahr., and there is abundant reason for believing that the earth is an intensely hot body with only a thin layer of poorly conducting, cold surface matter. These are the essential conditions of a heat engine of enormous capacity, and as in many parts of the world comparatively high temperatures are found very near the surface, while in all parts considerable differences of level, the interior heat of the earth, which has an origin more remote in time than the sun or its own axial rotation, is worthy of most serious consideration as a possible and reasonable source of power. Its importance will be greatly enhanced when we are able to transform heat energy directly into electricity on a large scale and with economy, avoiding the great waste which necessarily accompanies the use of the steam engine, and this must soon come about."

Artificial Island.

A scheme is on foot to create an island in the center of the Lake of Neuchatel, in Switzerland. In the middle of the lake there is a submerged mountain six or seven feet below the water, and it is on this mountain that the island will be constructed. A large hotel will be constructed on the island. The capital, which is already subscribed, will come from England and America.

Potatoes from Alaska.

Two farmers at Dyea, Alaska, raised 25,000 bushels of potatoes this year, and will receive for them $2 a bushel. The potatoes are described as large, solid, mealy and palatable, and contain more sugar than potatoes grown in lower latitudes.

La Grippe coughs yield quickly to the wonderful curative qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar. There is nothing else "just as good." Murdock Bros.

Jay Cooke's Historic Relief.

Jay Cooke has at his home at Ogontz a number of historic relics, including a fine painting of the celebrated old Indian chief after whom the place is named, and who many a time carried him, when he was a boy, on his back in rambling along the shores of Lake Erie.

Practically Starving.

"After using a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure my wife recovered perfect and permanent relief from a severe and chronic case of stomach trouble," says J. R. Holly, real estate, insurance and loan agent, of Macomb, Ill. Before using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she could not eat an ordinary meal without intense suffering. She is now entirely cured. Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief. You don't have to diet. Put any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you. Murdock Bros.

Malamutes of Alaska.

Alaskan dogs are called malamutes and are a cross between a dog and a wolf. About two months after birth they are trained to draw little wagons, and soon become very useful. They do not bark, but utter a melancholy howl. They have long hair and can sleep in the open air with the thermometer 60 degrees below zero. They are fed once a day, usually at night.

Every family should have its house hold medicine chest, and the first bottle in it should be Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, nature's remedy for coughs and colds.

ABOUT AUCTION BILLS!

A Good Auctioneer likes to see his name on a neat, attractive auction bill. "Any old thing" won't do. A neat, attractive bill with new type and cuts brings a crowd, and a good auctioneer can do the rest. Poor and unattractive bills bring a poor, no-money crowd and the auctioneer is blamed when in reality it is the printer's fault. We're up-to-date. We put up the attractive kind of bills and they cost no more than the other kind. We also give the auction and the auctioneer a good "send off" in The Record—that's free.
