OUR CONGRESSMAN CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR.

Says Young and Vigorous Men Should Be Selected.

The Detroit Free Press prints the following very interesting Washington dispatch about the senatorial question. Elsewhere we give some opinion relative to the two distinguished Detroiters, who are ambitious for McMillan's seat. Of course we are in favor of "our Hank"—as Lenawee people generally would be—for this high office.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Representative Henry C. Smith of the Adrian district is at the capital for a day or two to look after some departmental matters and incidentally to consult with Senator I. C. Wm. B. Thompson of Hudson, regarding his candidacy for the vacant United States senatorship in Michigan. Col. Thompson was the treasurer of the Republican congressional committee, is a warm friend of the congressman, and his enthusiastic supporter for the senatorship. After the conference this afternoon, Mr. Smith was asked to define his position and he said:

"Well, I am a candidate for the senate. Beyond that there is very little for me to say, as it would not seem exactly politic for me to say why I should succeed in that ambition."

Mr. Smith claimed that the Republicans would elect a majority of the coming legislature as well as a solid delegation to the next congress.

WHY HENRY C. SHOULD GET IT.

Col. Thompson was asked for his opinion of the senatorship, when he answered:

"My opinion in the matter is simply this. Gen. Alger is a good man and it would be a very nice compliment to pay him to send him to the senate to fill out the unexpired term of Senator McMillan, but Gen. Alger is 67 years old. He could vote with his party, but it is not reasonable to suppose that a man of his age could or would exercise the energy necessary on the part of a new member of the senate to place him in the influential place required for the good of his state. Then, too, it would only be a question of a few years when he would want to retire and the work of breaking in another man would have to be faced by the state and all of this time practically lost."

"This same argument applies equally, if not more strongly, to Mr. Ferry. He is 72 years old, and although a man of prominence and standing, yet it seems to me to be a mistake to put such men into a place where, for the good of the state, a young man should be placed."

"Right on this point I feel strongly that the only policy for a state to successfully pursue in selecting her representatives in national legislature is to get young and vigorous men at the beginning and then keep them in the place until they have acquired the efficiency of long service which is so essential for usefulness of that character."

Church Dedication Postponed.

The dedication of the new German Lutheran church at Farmington, which had been planned to take place on Sunday, September 28th, has been indefinitely postponed on account of other events demanding the attention of the pastor and people. Due notice will be given when another date is decided upon.

FIGURING OUT WHO WON.

—Boston Herald.

Death of Mrs. Adeline Jones.

In the death of Mrs. Adeline Jones which occurred last Friday, Sept. 12, Northville lost another highly respected long-time resident. Mrs. Jones was one of those Christian gentlewomen among whose friends are counted all who knew them and she will be sadly missed in the community where the greater part of her life has been so worthily spent. She was born in Connecticut, Ashabeta county, Ohio, May 30th, 1838, coming to Michigan with her parents when six years old. They settled in Livonia where she lived until her marriage, August 9, 1856, to James H. Jones, when she became a resident of the vicinity where she passed the remainder of her life. She had been a consistent and beloved member of the North Baptist church for thirty-five years. Mr. Jones died a few years ago, and of their three children one daughter, Mrs. Elsie A. Tibbits, of Novi, is now living. One sister, Mrs. Henry E. Murphy of Ashley, Mich., also survives her. The funeral services were held in the North Baptist church Tuesday day conducted by Rev. O. M. Thrasher of Northville. The interment was in the Novi cemetery.

After All Stearns Is Rational At Times.

It must be that Northville Methodists do not believe in the bible. The good book says that "The laborer is worthy of his hire,"—we won't be sure whether that's a bible or democratic platform, but it's a pretty good political economy at all events. The preaching year has about drawn to a close, and the financial statement of the Northville Methodist society treasurer, shows in spite of a year of great prosperity, that there is due the pastor $215, just about $4 per Sunday, for a whole year. They seem to pay everything but the pastor, and attention. If it were not for weddings and funerals, the elder would be on the town. The dominie knows that the bible says "Ask and it shall be given unto you," but that is one of the passages he thinks has not been correctly translated from the "Mosaic" as he has asked and asked, but to no use. Salvation is free, but house rent, food and clothing in Northville are not—Adrian Press.

Hank Wants 'Em to Hurry.

Congressman Henry C. Smith was in Washington last week trying to hurry up some department officials to do work in his district. He has asked the lighthouse board to hasten the construction of the keeper's dwelling at Ecorse and the war department to get to work dredging the Rouge river at Ecorse, and also to begin work in Wyandotte harbor. They promised to do all that could be done to make a showing before the season closes. Mr. Smith also called at the postoffice department to have a few more rural mail routes put in operation in the second district.

Notice to Water Users.

On account of the reduction of the water supply by the long continued dry weather, all users are notified that the use of the water for lawns must be confined strictly to the time between 6 and 7 p. m. All infractions of the rule will be dealt with as provided for by the village council. A. K. CARPENTER, Supt.

Would Not Testify.

Pittsfield Mass. Sept. 17.—It was announced that the notornous, Edward Maduen, and Conductor Kelly would not testify during the Craig inquest. An overture was given the men some days ago to appear on the witness stand if they so desired. They were offered the privilege of having their counsel present, who could decide for them what questions should be answered. It is understood that England's testimony yesterday was about the arrangements made with the representatives of the Pittsfield Car company with reference to the request that cars be stopped during President Roosevelt's visit to the city.

In Close Quarters.

Houlton, Me., Sept. 17.—The Maine and New Brunswick officers who have the Florenceville bank robbers surrounded in the woods, about twelve miles from here, have not captured them. The robbers are expected to make an attempt to leave the woods, and the entire country is being closely watched.

Will Scale the Himalayas.

An attempt to climb the highest Himalayas will be made this year by a party consisting of three Englishmen, two Austrians and a Swiss. They will begin with the Godwin Austen, 28,250 feet high, and Dapsang, 28,655 feet high. If they are successful they will then try Mount Everest, the highest mountain in the world, 29,000 feet high. The Himalaya record is held by Sir Martin Conway, who climbed the Pioneer peak, 21,000 feet high, ten years ago.

A Cosmopolitan City.

Up to the time of the Prussian-Austrian war the old fortress of Mayence of the German Confederation was beyond doubt the most cosmopolitan city in the world. At that time the official language was German, the law French, the government Hesse-Darmstadt, the church Roman Catholic, the administration Austrian, the military commander Prussian, the garrison mostly Italian, the postoffice Thurn and Taxis, the gas works Baden and the telegraph Bavarian.

Undiscovered Cuba.

After more than 400 years it appears that Cuba has not yet been entirely discovered. Much of it and many of its treasures are yet unknown, according to the recent report made by Governor-General Wood. He says that after the centuries of Spanish occupancy there are large portions of the island that have never even been prospected, and practically remain undiscovered, so far as knowledge of what they contain goes.

Demand for Reading Matter.

Some idea of the increasing appetite of the American people for "reading matter" is conveyed by the census bulletin on "Printing and Publishing." The number of newspapers and periodicals published in 1900 was 18,226 and the aggregate number of copies issued in that year was 8,163,148,749. The latter staggering total was an increase of 74 per cent over the corresponding total of the census of 1890.

Disappointment for Abbey.

Among those whose work was much disorganized by King Edward's illness is Edwin Abbey, R. A., the American artist selected to paint a picture of the coronation. He had made rough sketches of what he desired to be a historic picture, designed as it is for Buckingham palace, when the king was stricken with illness.

Snail Youthful at Ninety.

Lawyer Luther R. Marsh, aged 90, once the trusting victim of Editha Lofeta Montez, or Ann O'Delia Doss De Bar, and purchaser of her "spook pictures," writes to a New York paper contradicting the story that he is sick, saying that he is "hunkydory."

THEY FAVOR ALGER.

Barry County Republicans Declare Themselves.

Hastings, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Republican county convention here nominated the following ticket: Sheriff James Brown; clerk, Samuel Valle; treasurer, George Coleman; prosecutor, A. E. Kenaston; commissioners Donald McLeay and J. M. Smith; representative, John J. Perkins.

Cassius L. Glasgow of Nashville was endorsed for senator and will be the nominee for the Fifteenth district, as the nomination is conceded to Barry county.

Strong resolutions were passed in favor of the national administration and General Alger for United States senator.

In the evening the third annual banquet of the Barry County Republican club was held. Congressman Hamilton and William Alden Smith, Hon. P. F. Powers and Hon. W. W. Wells were the speakers. Every available seat had been sold and the campaign in Barry county was opened with a boom.

Out For Ferry.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Kalamazoo Telegraph, of which Hon. E. N. Dickey is the editor, has declared for Ferry for United States senator. In an editorial taking this stand the Telegraph comments Alger, but states that as a matter of expediency the election of Ferry is the part of wisdom. His business qualifications are the chief argument in his favor according to the Telegraph which closed its editorial with the significant statement that "Ferry is no talker, but is apt to have the least failure. Business qualities count more than anything in the senate."

Dickey was turned down in his district for renomination to the legislature.

Walker in the Fifth.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Democratic congressional convention, held here placed in nomination Hon. Myron H. Walker of the law firm of Walker & Fitzgerald of this city. Several candidates proposed declined the honor.

Myron H. Walker, the Democratic nominee, has always lived in Grand Rapids. He was formerly prominent as a prohibitionist, and as such was nominated for several offices on city, congressional and state tickets. He became a Democrat on the free silver issue in 1896.

Youmans Again.

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 17.—Hon. H. M. Youmans of Bridgeport is the Democratic candidate for congressional honors in the Eighth district. He was nominated at a largely attended convention held here yesterday afternoon. The selection of his name was made by a conference committee, composed of representatives of each county in the district, and the committee's report was unanimously endorsed by the convention.

Monroe County Democrats.

Monroe, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Democrats nominated the following ticket at Dundee: Circuit judge, Willis Baldwin, Monroe, sheriff, W. L. Hulse, Ash, clerk, C. A. Maurer, Monroe, register, L. A. Harschman, Summerfield; treasurer, J. S. Knapp, Ida, prosecuting attorney, John J. Kelley, Monroe. Charles B. French of Petersburg was nominated for the legislature.

Quarantined For Smallpox.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17.—H. H. McCormick, a traveling man of this city, went to the office of Health Officer Lupinski Tuesday to find out what was the matter with him. Upon examination the doctor pronounced it a case of smallpox, and ordered him to the city hospital. McCormick had just returned from a trip on the road and had circulated freely among friends.

Will Not Raise.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 17.—The coal dealers here, after a stormy meeting, decided not to raise the price—$7.50 a ton, at which it is now being sold. The rule of only to sell two tons to each customer was also abrogated. It is said there are only 500 tons of hard coal in the city that has not been sold.

Abuse of State Ward Charged.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 17.—Israel Delano and Roland Hill have been arrested, charged with statutory assault, the victim being Lea, the thirteen-year-old daughter of David B. Horton, with whom both men have boarded. The girl was an inmate of the reformatory at Adrian for a couple of years, having returned here in April.

Will Increase Capital Stock.

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Bacon Manufacturing Co., which was incorporated for $15,000 about 1880, is about to increase its capital stock to $80,000. The firm manufactures the Bacon bean packer, and their business has enjoyed a steady growth. It is understood that the firm will erect an up-to-date factory building.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., SEPT. 15, 1902.

The Senatorial Situation.

The senatorial situation has really taken on the status of an embarrassment of riches in the quantity and quality of the "timber" brought forward for the Republican candidate. With four such men in the field as General Alger Dexter M. Ferry, Benton H. Hackett and Congressman Henry C. Smith the ground of fitness and excellence is so completely covered that the choice must of necessity be a delicate and difficult matter. But at any rate with one of such a quartette sure to be chosen for the high office, the people of Michigan certainly have little need for anxiety as to the outcome. There is not a man of the four honorable gentlemen named but would do credit to the position and not one of them in whose hands the interests of the state could not be trusted with perfect safety and with certainty of careful and intelligent handling in any emergency that might arise. The Record has not yet been successful in securing an interview with the representative from this district as to his personal preference, but we are inclined to the belief that if he would consent to express his opinion it would be in the oft quoted words of the poet, "How happy could I be with either etc." We would suggest that he might solve the perplexing problem by dividing his vote impartially between the four, giving each a quarter of it and thus satisfy both conscience and constituency.

Alas, Willard.

A casual perusal of recent issues of the Adrian Press would naturally lead one to the conclusion that there are several editorial pens in use on that paper, expressing the opinions of as many different editorial minds on the Democratic governor question. The writer of this article has always admired Mr. Stearns for his unimpeachable honesty of purpose and his courage in expressing his views and sticking to them through thick and thin, regardless of consequences or considerations, fear or favor, but really it is bewildering to know just what his views are nowadays. His present course reminds one forcibly of the manipulations of the lightning change artists—"now you see it and now you don't see it." The carefully and apparently strongly constructed verbal structure of one issue is ruthlessly kicked into smithereens in the next, with a sublime disregard of the jewel of consistency, the feelings of anxious friends or the comment of esteemed contemporaries. The "Adrian Press man" certainly is drawing a lot of attention unto himself these days, but honest now, Willard, where, oh where, art thou at any way?

And who will protect the President from being kidnapped by the Detroit police.

A RAVING MANIAC

AGED RESIDENT OF WYANDOTTE
CRAZED BY DRINK,

MUTILATES HIS WIFE WITH A BIG BUTCHER KNIFE.

THEN MAKES DESPERATE ATTEMPT ON HIS OWN LIFE.

Wyandotte, Mich., Sept. 18.—The frenzy of drink caused a tragedy at Wyandotte Wednesday afternoon that will likely result in two deaths.

Charles Brooklyn, one of the oldest residents of Wyandotte, returned to his home on Third street a little after noon, apparently a raving maniac from the effects of liquor. Seizing a butcher knife, he set out to murder his wife and before she could escape from the house had stabbed her several times in the breast.

She finally managed to get away from him for a moment and ran into the yard, where she fell bleeding from her wounds.

The old man, still bent on her destruction, followed her and stabbed her again several times in the face. In the struggle her hands were cut and she was so badly injured that she will probably die.

The screams of the old lady were heard by John Lorenz, Sr., a neighbor, who lives just back of the Brooklyn's, and he climbed over the back fence to her assistance. At the moment he arrived the frenzied drunken man had desisted in his attack on his wife, and had just plunged the knife in his own throat. Lorenz grappled with him and succeeded in getting possession of the weapon, but not until the old man had hacked a deep gash in his neck.

Physicians who were called found that Mrs. Brooklyn had escaped a vital wound, although stabbed in all twelve places but it is thought the loss of blood will prove fatal to her, as she is nearly seventy years old.

Brooklyn's one injury is serious and he was taken to Emergency hospital, Wyandotte.

The couple had lived in Wyandotte peacefully together for the last thirty-five years.

Brooklyn, who is about eighty years old, has always been a peaceful citizen and had never in his life before been known to harm anyone.

No one had seen him under the influence of liquor for years, and he was first noticed in an intoxicated condition about 10 o'clock.

Good For William.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—The naval maneuvers were ended by the hostile fleet under the command of the emperor, who was on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, forcing an entry to the Elbe, defeating the German fleet and breaking up a line of submarine mines. The maneuvers were much hindered by stormy weather. Wireless telegraphy was used more completely during this year's naval maneuvers than ever before and with good results. It was seen, however, that the wireless system was not absolutely reliable under all conditions, it being sometimes impossible to get connection owing to the belts of different temperatures in the atmosphere and on account of storms.

Very Important.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.—The supreme court affirmed the conviction of Clayton Voorhis, agent at Gladstone of the Minneapolis Brewing company for selling liquor without $500 license. By this decision, brewers of other states will have to pay $500 annual tax for every cold storage and distributing warehouse maintained in Michigan. Michigan brewers will pay a similar tax for each such warehouse operated away from the brewery, the latter being covered by $65 manufacturers' tax, the court declaring that the right of manufacture carries the right to sell the product at the factory.

Michigan M. E. Conference.

Traverse City, Mich., Sept. 18.—The opening session of the Michigan M. E. conference was held yesterday. The candidates for examination are: A. L. Cook, Charlotte; J. W. Hayward, Coon, L. E. Holmes, Stittville; W. E. Doty, Lansing; Arba Martha, Attawan; Harry E. Walker, White Cloud; W. H. Irwin, Scottville; H. A. Lyon, Lawrence; G. J. Porter, Lisbon; J. Delong, Gladwin; W. A. A. Fortier, Middleville; C. E. Pollock, Stanton. The results are to be announced Friday or Saturday. About 500 ministers are here.

Disease in Michigan.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.—Reports to the state board of health from representative physicians indicate that rheumatism, diarrhea, neuralgia, bronchitis and tonsillitis, in the order named, caused most sickness in Michigan during the past week. Meningitis was reported present at four places, whooping cough at 13, measles at 23, diphtheria at 23, smallpox at 26, scarlet fever at 38, typhoid fever at 75, and consumption at 222.

Killed Himself on Wife's Account.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 18.—A colored man named West committed suicide here because he believed his wife was untrue. He fired one shot at her and then ended his own life. His wife's father, Joseph Kurne, who was standing by, ward off the gunshot and saved his daughter's life. West was twenty-six years of age.

With His Throat Cut.

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 18.—William Healey, who has been missing from his home at Freeland, was found dead with his throat cut on the Hackett road, two miles from the county house. The body was first thought to be that of Rabson, but nothing has been heard of the missing bridegroom.

OLEO LAW UPHOLD.

Supreme Court Sustains Conviction For Coloring the Stuff.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.—The supreme court has affirmed the conviction of John W. Phillips, convicted of having on hand, with the intent to sell and offering for sale, oleomargarine colored in imitation of yellow butter. The defendant claimed that the anti-colored oleomargarine law is unconstitutional, but this claim was denied in a case decided several months ago.

The defense urged that the statute is only aimed against the imitation of a substance which the legislature recognized as yellow butter, and insisted that the court should take judicial notice that all butter with a trace of yellow in it is not the yellow butter of commerce; that if this contention is not true, and the court can not know it, then the respondent should have been allowed to prove, if he could, that there was such a usage of commerce, and finally that the statute is vague and indefinite in not defining the elements of the statutory crime it attempts to carve out of an act innocent per se, in that it gives no standard for determining what the color of yellow butter is that is not to be imitated.

The opinion filed Wednesday upholds the charge of the trial court to the effect that it was not necessary in order to convict to prove that the oleomargarine was colored to represent any particular kind of yellow butter, it being sufficient if there was enough coloring matter used to make the article look like butter having a perceptible shade of yellow.

ONLY COMMON DEPOSITOR.

Public Funds Get No Preference in City Bank Failure.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—Judge Donovan has handed down a decision declaring the funds of the board of education and the library commission, deposited in the City Savings bank, ordinary commercial deposits, and not invested with the character of trust funds. The board of education had $481,000 in the bank and the library commission $38,000, and the case will be appealed to the supreme court by Corporation Counsel Tarsney.

Judge Donovan's decision cited the same reasons as in the case of the county funds, which he also decided a short time ago commercial deposits after a bitter fight on the part of the county to have the funds paid out dollar for dollar.

The Supreme Court.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.—The following cases were decided by the supreme court:

Affirmed—People vs. Phillips, Morris vs. Morris, People vs. Voorhis; Wickes vs. Putney, Ford vs. McLane, Benton Harbor Terminal vs. Dunbar, Township of Gladwin vs. Township of Bourret, Benton Harbor Railway Co. vs. King, Demary vs. Estate of Burtonshaw; Teakle et al. vs. Moore, Carley vs. Jennings, Snyder vs. Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway Co. Culver vs. Smith; Henderson vs. Detroit & Mackinaw Railway Co., Styles vs. Village of Decatur, Gerow vs. Hyde, Newbro vs. Frizer, Esper vs. Miller et al., Benton Harbor Railway Co. vs. Hall, Hall vs. City of Kalamazoo.

Reversed—Meigs vs. Bromley et al., Merryman vs. Hall, Fischer vs. Fischer; Goodspeed vs. Hildebrand, People vs. Bressler.

Modified and affirmed—in re Crawford, Angell et al., Canney vs. Canney.

Michigan Inventors.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Michigan patents Edward B. Case, Flint, pipe cleaning apparatus, Spencer Clark Northville, wood bending, Harry Cogswell, Lakeview, ball bearing, Joseph Licare, Alpena, spring wheel, Francis E. Fisher, Glen Arbor, vehicle axle, Edward A. Green, Battle Creek, monorailway, Charles E. Mason Grand Rapids, roller bearing for carpet sweeper, Robert D. Mayo, Frankfort, lifeboat, George D. Jackson, Detroit, steam trap, Torbjorn Olson, Manistee, sawtooth tool, Charles Olson, Grand Rapids, steam boiler, Clarence W. Parks, Lowell, cream separator, John B. Sloan, Detroit, toy, Stephen E. Wilson, French Landing, treating garbage, also apparatus for treating garbage.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

The twelfth district senatorial Republican convention has nominated J. Ray Waterburn of Highland for state senator.

Four smallpox patients are quarantined in their homes at Port Huron. Now the city will own a permanent pest house.

Mrs. Alma Siegfried of Detroit, who was struck by an automobile carryall continues in a critical condition at the hospital.

Four fine bay horses will draw the president's carriage next Monday, and Captain Guyman, who will drive, is giving them daily training for the event.

The four days' silence of State Senator Hiram M. High of Ovid has alarmed his friends and wife. He left Chicago last Friday for Guthrie, Okla., and it is feared he has not reached his destination.

Mrs. Nathan Currison, living near Lapeer, has been relieved of a five-inch thousand legged worm by means of a stomach pump, and is now cured of stomach trouble. She believes she swallowed the worm while a child.

Charles H. Crossman, charged with shooting Jerome C. Lewis, has been acquitted by Judge Carr at Paw Paw. Lewis took the stand and swore that he himself was the only one to blame and the judge ordered a verdict of not guilty.

Captain Paul Lino of South Haven nearly lost his life in an endeavor to rescue the dead body of his wife from their burning home in the Kerney building. When the flames were under control it was found that the body was unharmed.

FEDERATION OF LABOR

THE STATE ORGANIZATION NOW IN SESSION.

THE PRESENT COAL STRIKE DECLARED A NECESSITY.

BETTER METHODS OF ARBITRATING LABOR DISPUTES WANTED.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 17.—The thirteenth annual session of the Michigan Federation of Labor is being held at the Light Infantry armory in this city. Thirty-five delegates were present at the opening session and more are expected. The convention will last until Friday afternoon, when officers will be elected and a meeting place chosen for 1903. Saginaw, Port Huron and Manistee want it.

The following committees were appointed: Rules—W. B. Wilson, Grand Rapids; E. J. Heathfield, Detroit; Gustave Dahle, Detroit; A. B. Kimmery, Saginaw; C. A. Bwerly, Owosso. Credentials—G. W. Duncan, Detroit. J. C. Brown, Muskegon; George Johnson, Grand Rapids; B. R. Cushman, Saginaw; G. W. Willis, Grand Rapids.

Mayor V. M. White of Owosso, who is a carpenter by trade and a prominent union man, welcomed the delegates in "behalf of the Central Labor union, the local unions, and the business men of Owosso, who have always been favorable to unionism and who helped to make the recent Labor day celebration an entire success."

President D. G. Boyd of Detroit responded briefly, and presented his annual report, in which he declared the present strike in the coal mining regions emphasized the necessity for a law compelling arbitration of disputes between capital and labor, and their settlement on an equitable basis. He declared for the initiative and referendum, direct legislation, and the rearmament of a Chinese exclusion act. He recommended the appointment of a legislative committee of three to formulate a practical method of arbitration.

Largely through the efforts of President Boyd and Secretary Treasurer Paul Marrin, Jr., of Grand Rapids, the Michigan Federation, for the first time in its history, is out of debt and has money in its treasury. This was shown in Mr. Murrin's report. The sum of $344.80 was received during the year, and $576.97 was expended, leaving a balance on hand of $267.83. During the year closing Sept. 1, 1902, there have been two withdrawals from the federation one organization has disbanded and fourteen have been admitted. Fourteen trades councils and 35 local unions are affiliated with the federation, only about one-tenth of the total union strength in the state. Plans will be formulated at this session to do some missionary work among the other 900 unions to secure new members.

Prosperity Didn't Strike Spencer.

Dowagiac, Mich., Sept. 17.—Ex Representative E. R. Spencer has filed a petition in bankruptcy. Ten years ago Mr. Spencer had a fine 160-acre farm in Silver Creek and was out of debt. Injudicious investments got him into debt, and he ultimately lost all his possessions. He is now an employee at the Round Oak stove factory.

Suit For False Imprisonment.

Charlotte, Mich., Sept. 17.—Suit for $20,000 has been commenced in the circuit court here against Charles E. Cnappell, the head of the Law and Order league, by O. P. Shuler, a druggist, who seeks damages in redress for alleged false imprisonment. Shuler, among others, had been charged with violation of the liquor law.

Co-operative Village Proposed.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 17.—A movement is on foot among operatives in the factories here to buy a farm near the city limits and plat it, making a co-operative village. The land comprises forty acres, and it is intended that forty families shall occupy one acre each.

To Talk Sugar Beet Factory.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Sept. 17.—President Ainsworth of the Business Men's association will call a meeting this week to consider a proposition for the erection of a beet sugar factory, which the promoters say will represent an investment of at least $600,000.

After Slot Machines.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17.—The police have begun a systematic raid against the slot machines. Warrants were issued for violators of the law this morning, and many saloonkeepers were arraigned in court, waived examination and were held for trial.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

The president's party to be entertained in Detroit next week, will consist of thirty-five persons.

Benton Harbor is infested with a gang of burglars that rob at will, and the police force is powerless.

The police incline to the theory that Charles B. Rabson, the missing Saginaw bridegroom, is wandering at large in a demented condition.

Judge Durand of Flint is showing remarkable recuperation powers. He went for a drive yesterday, and his general condition is greatly improved.

It is said that Barnabaz Eldredge, a sewing machine man formerly of Detroit, will be president of the sewing machine trust, with a capital of $30,000,000, shortly to be announced.

The University of Michigan may adopt a three-year literary course, as Harvard and Brown have done, for students who wish to rush through college. President Angell is not adverse to the innovation.

Papa and Mamma Fix It.

In Hindostan the arrangements for a wedding are made by the parents of the bride and bridegroom, who, when the alliance is agreed upon, very likely behold one another for the first time. Then there is no appearance of reluctance about the bride, who playfully skips toward her future husband and seats herself beside him. The priest's part is to tie a corner of the bride's veil to the bridegroom's shawl, and this simple proceeding makes them legally husband and wife.

Impossible to foresee an accident. Not impossible to be prepared for it. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Monarch over pain.

Woman's Sphere Is Widening.

For the first time since her creation woman has recently won something like a fair chance in the fields of knowledge and practical endeavor. She is proving so well her right to these opportunities and her capacity to use them nobly that they will never be taken from her. On the contrary, there is sure to be a still larger employment of the genius of women in more and more lines of the world's work.

No Substitute Offered.

Say what you will about druggists offering something "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the facts still stand that ninety-nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic and Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when the best remedy for diarrhoea is asked for, and do so because they know it is the one remedy that can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. It is for sale by George C. Hueston.

A Favorite of the King.

King Edward is a great lover of dogs and has many favorites. The present chosen and constant canine companion of his majesty is an Irish terrier named Jack. He came into the King's possession November last and now lives with his majesty, travels with him and lies beside the King's chair all day.

A Boy's Wild Ride for Life.

With family around expecting him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, W. H. Brown of Leesville, Ind., endured death agonies from asthma, but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes, "I now sleep soundly every night." Like marvelous cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Grip prove its matchless merit for all Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Geo. C. Hueston's drug store.

Winning a Bride.

The saving of a young woman's life won a bride for William Sayres of Wilkesbarre, Pa. He detected Lillian May in the act of climbing over the railing of a bridge to throw herself into the river below. He caught her in his arms just as she was about to jump. The young woman insisted that she wanted to die but Sayres pleaded with her and in less than a week they were engaged. A few days later the marriage ceremony took place.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ale of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble."

PE-RU-NA WOMAN'S BEST FRIEND, IS THE So Says Mrs. Rose, of New York City, And Tens of Thousands of Other Women.

Mrs. Jennie Rose, 362 W. Twenty-Second Street, New York City, writes:
The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Gentlemen:—"Peruna is a blessing to suffering women. I suffered with female trouble since I began menstruation, and every month I suffered two and three days of untold agony, and had to arrange my work and duties so as to be in bed every month for two days at least."

"My brother was cured of Bright's Disease from the use of Peruna and so I determined to try it for my trouble."

"Imagine my great joy when I found that it relieved me quite a bit the first month and I was entirely without pain during that period after having used Peruna only four months."

"This is about two years ago and all during that time I have suffered no pain. I can now come and go as I like and consider Peruna woman's best friend and wish that every suffering woman might know that she can find relief through the use of this medicine."

Truly yours,

MRS. JENNIE ROSE.

Mrs. Ellen Thompson, Battle Town, Ky., writes:

"When I wrote you for advice I was very bad off. When I received your letter I commenced using Peruna and it did just what you said it would. I have had a cough for about fifteen years and your medicine has done me more good than anything I have ever used. I am so thankful to you for your advice to me."—Mrs. Ellen Thompson.

Mrs. James Eighmey, Grape, Mich., writes:

"I have been troubled with pain before and during my months ever since I was seventeen. I was also troubled with other female weakness. I took your treatment, and am now well, and thank you for your kind advice."—Mrs. James Eighmey.

Mrs. John Meyers, Erhart, O., writes:

"I have been a sufferer from chronic catarrh for years and have thereby lost the sense of smell entirely. I had four of the best physicians in this vicinity without receiving any benefit whatever. 'Now I am once more a well woman. I find Peruna to be the best medicine in the world as it has done me more good than my physician could have done for me. My friends say I look ten years younger. I tell them that Peruna did it. I can't thank you enough for your free advice.'—Mrs. John Meyers.

Mrs. Ida Baker, Portsmouth, O., writes:

"I am glad to say that I am well. I have taken Peruna and feel better than I have for ten years; have gained twelve pounds and am still gaining. When I wrote to you for advice I had given up all hope of being well again, and I feel that it has saved my life."—Mrs. Ida Baker.

Alice Scott, of Franklin, Ky., in a letter to Dr. Hartman, says:

"For seven long years I had been a constant sufferer from catarrh of the pelvic organs which resulted in displacement of the uterus. I wrote you telling you all my complaints from the beginning to the present, made happy and much encouraged every time by your kind and fatherly letters of advice and instruction. I am now a strong woman weighing 148 pounds."—Alice Scott.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Wolf of Detroit has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Macomber, here for a week.

Mrs. Rose McClelland returned Saturday from a five weeks' stay in Birmingham.

School Notes.

(By the Superintendent.)

Motto—"The education forms the common mind. Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."—Pope.

Beautiful plants in jars and window boxes decorate room 3.

Miss Lorena Gilmore, class of '01 enters the Normal college this fall. School closed Wednesday to allow our children to attend the Plymouth fair.

Jay Van Vickle, a former high school student, enters the Cleary Business college.

Miss Ethel Chapman of Walled Lake entered our high school this week and several other young people took up work in the grades.

Sadie Hughes, Susie Dandison, Zolaide Merritt and Will Sleanor, all students in the high school last year, are teaching this fall in near by districts.

Ray M. Perill, a young man of excellent merit, who has attended the Northville high school for the past three years enters the Agricultural college this fall.

With music, drawing, gymnastics, spelling contests, debates and the recitals for recitations this is a wonder that school work favors so pleasant and agreeable friends.

The best thing young people is to graduate from a good high school and then, if possible, complete a course in some of our excellent colleges. This gives one a finish and advantage that makes the winning of the way more pleasant and profitable.

Michigan's School of Mines at Houghton is becoming more popular. Many young men are striking out for an education in mining engineering. The school ranks high in its class. Only this summer we learned of a young man, who recently graduated from this school being elected mining engineer in one of the western states at a salary of $6,000 per year.

We find the following paragraph in the Michigan School Moderator—"Young people, select your college or school and go. If you are worth educating, the chance is yours. It is with a good deal of satisfaction that we advertise the fine schools of Michigan in these columns. It is also with much pleasure that we record the fine prospects of these schools this fall. More and more it becomes apparent that education pays."

The truant officer will soon be asked to look after all children between the ages of eight and fifteen who live within the limits of our district and who are not attending school. The law requires all children between these ages to attend school at least four consecutive months during the year unless they come under the provisions of the act. Now is the best time to put in the four months while the classes are starting.

Coquelin Aids Brother Actors. M. Coquelin, the elder, is one of the few actors on the Paris stage who has made a fortune. Through his efforts a home of retreat for veterans of the French stage is being established. A fine property has been bought near Meaux, in the department of Seine-Marne, a few hours from Paris. Here a large house will be erected, giving quarters to sixty old comedians.

Abyssinian's Grave Rebuke. While R. Makonnen, the Abyssinian general, was in Paris a reporter undertook to interview him, and among others put this decidedly leading question: "Do you, countrymen like the French or the English the better?" The dark-skinned warrior gravely asked in return: "Is your respected mother still alive?" and on receiving an affirmative answer said: "May she teach you better discretion."

Bey Revives Old Custom. The new Bey of Tunis, reviving an old custom, will repair twice a week to the Palais at Tunis, which is the seat of government. Complying with the custom, which debars him from occupying his predecessor's residence, he will remain at Carthage, while the late Bey's palace will be assigned to his cousin and heir, Prince Naceur. As the new Bey understands French the office of interpreter will be abolished.

The City in Brief.

Nearly everybody has been taking in the Plymouth fair this week.

Marvin Sloan has sold a car load of Osborne corn harvesters since August 5th.

Hon. Charles E. Townsend will speak in the Northville opera house on Sept. 29th.

Among the recent Michigan patents listed is one to Spencer Clark of this village for wood bending.

Annual meeting of Orient chapter, No. 77, O. E. S., this Friday evening. Election of officers. Dues payable.

Special communication of Northville lodge, F. & A. M., Monday evening, Sept. 22, to work third degree.

The incandescent light recently placed at the corner of Center and Cady streets is much appreciated by the people using that thoroughfare. It lights up nicely what was a very dark section of street.

Mrs. Ermina Smith-Clark of Detroit died Tuesday. She was the wife of H. D. Clark, a prominent tailor of that city and formerly lived in Northville, where the family is well known.

The Record recently received a letter from President Roosevelt's private secretary commending an editorial in this paper on the late President McKinley and also one referring to Mr. Roosevelt.

It is reported that a Farmington lady said to her sister who had given birth to twins: "Well I want you to employ a homeopathic doctor, and this is what you get for calling in an allopath. Next time you will listen to me."

Stuart Montgomery, who lately purchased the Elliott dray business is proving himself worthy enterprise. Besides improving his dray with bright new paint, he has had a telephone put in his house so that he can be called up by his patrons at any time.

Plymouth High-school pupils are to give an oratorical silver medal contest at Newburg on September 30th under the auspices of the Newburg Epworth League for the benefit of Mrs. Vinton, a needy resident of the last named village.

The entire fifteen members of the Northville band were over Wednesday evening and rendered some of the finest music on the streets that the town has heard in a long time. The boys were well used and it is hoped they may repeat the call again soon.—Farmington Enterprise.

Prof. C. H. Burgess and family have moved to Columbus, Ohio, much to the regret of the many friends they have made during their residence here.

The Detroit United railway will supply extra service on all its inter-urban lines Monday September 22nd, for the benefit of the large crowds that will visit Detroit on the occasion of President Roosevelt's visit and the Spanish war veteran's reunion.

R. N. Francisco has had his meat market thoroughly cleaned and repainted and it will be open for business tomorrow (Saturday) at his old stand, corner Brush and Newberry streets, to be known as Francisco & Johnson's meat market.—Wayne News-Letter.

The repeated breaks in the creek leading from the receiving basin at the big Thompson springs is the cause of the trouble with the water system. The putting in of 400 feet of iron pipe is required to get things in good working order, and meanwhile connection can only be effected with the Hills spring, thus greatly lessening the supply.

A few Northville people were up early enough Monday morning to see at least the trail left by the brilliant meteor which passed across the eastern sky about five o'clock and which has caused much interested comment in various parts of the state. The aerolite must have taken a very eccentric course, as the mark remaining for half an hour or more resembled nothing so much as gigantic handwriting traced across the clear morning sky in a white cloud like line.

The ball game between the business men of Northville and the business men of Plymouth on the fairgrounds Wednesday afternoon was largely attended and was a most decided victory for Plymouth, the score being 20 to 10. Northville brought a fife and drum corps with them to furnish music for the occasion. After the game the visitors were entertained by the Plymouth business men with a supper at the Hotel Plymouth. A return game will be played at Northville the week after the Plymouth fair—Plymouth Mail.

The following from an exchange will be of interest to farmers' wives who are readers of the Record and who would like to simplify the much dreaded job of mending a big pile of grain bags that usually falls to the lot of the housewife when thrashing time comes with its large access of other work for her department: "You can mend more grain sacks in half an hour with paste made of flour and cold water, applied to patches and dried on with a hot smoothing iron than in half a day with needle and thread. The patches will not come off until wet."

The following questions are just now going the rounds of the newspapers and probably can be answered by very few people: "You can any day see a white horse, but did you ever see a white colt? How many different kinds of trees grow in your neighborhood and what are they good for? Why does a horse eat grass backward and a cow forward? Why does a hop vine wind one way and a bean vine the other? Where should a chimney be larger, at the top or bottom? Can you tell why a horse, when tied with a rope always unravels it, while a cow always twists it into a kinky knot?"

Lost Track of Lives Saved. Mrs. Thomas Simpson of Hoboken, N. J., daughter of Major Morton, an English army officer, has saved so many people from drowning, it is said, that she has "got tired of keeping count."

R. J. Darlington of this place has received an increase of his pension to $12 a month.

The Northville U. S. fish station will make an exhibit at the State Fair next week.

The 6:15 D. P. & N. car loaded with returning fair people jumped the track just after crossing the Phoenix pond last night. Fortunately no one was injured but had the car went off a few seconds sooner a serious loss of life would have occurred. The necessity of guard rails at this point is very apparent.

Dan Smith, Plymouth's veteran restaurant man, is making still further improvements on his ever popular eating place by putting a commodious veranda around the whole, both up and down stairs. Dan is certainly the most popular fellow along the Pere Marquette and has the reputation of serving the best lunch.

Baptist Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

Theme for next Sunday morning will be: "The Bible Study for the Twentieth Century. In the evening 'The Conversion of a Critic' will be the subject considered.

Junior meeting again next Sunday evening at 6:30. Those who attended last Sunday evening were greatly interested and are eager to begin the winter's course of study.

The annual offering for Christian Education will be received on Sunday morning next. Don't underestimate this important branch of Christian service. Christian colleges have much to do in equipping the rising generation for future usefulness.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

The next will be on John Huss, to be followed by sermons on Calvin, Knox, Bunyan and Wesley. All are cordially invited to attend.

There will be a ladies' party held at the home of Mrs. F. D. Eatherly on Monday afternoon of next week, Sept. 22, from three to six o'clock, to which all the ladies of the church and congregation are cordially invited. A silver offering will be taken for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Taking It's Dose.

The Monroe Democrat discourses thus about the way John Strong of Monroe was turned down in the Democratic congressional convention and Fred B. Wood nominated.

The democratic congressional convention held in Ann Arbor will go into history as one of the most startling democratic gatherings ever held in Michigan. By "tricks that are dark," undemocratic, unfair and politically rotten, handled by past-masters in the art of gagging and political rule or ruin, John Strong, who had by far the largest number of voters in the convention, was defeated by the bushrangers for no other apparent reason than to revenge some fancied slight, and Gen. Fred B. Wood of Lerawee nominated.

Wayne County Teachers' Meet.

Pres. L. H. Jones of the State Normal will lecture on "Making the Most of Life" at the Wayne County Teachers' meet at Trenton Sept. 27.

Take Care of the Stomach.

The man of woman whose digestion is perfect and whose stomach performs its every function is never sick. Food cleanses, purifies and sweetens the stomach and cures p. s. i. v. e. l. y. and permanently all stomach troubles. It is the most constructive tonic that is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by conveying to their bodies all of the nourishment in the food they eat. Rev. J. H. Holladay, of Holladay, Miss., writes: "Holladay's Kidney Cure has cured me. I consider it the best remedy I ever used for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was given up by physicians. Kidney saved my life. Take it after meals." Murdock Bros.

Odd Cure for Deafness.

One of the most singular cures for deafness ever recorded is quoted by the Independence Belge from the Dutch papers. An old man of seventy, living at Krommeme, who had been deaf for twenty years, got involved in a dispute with some neighbors, and became literally transported with rage. In this semi-demented state he suddenly recovered his hearing, which he has retained ever since.

Feet Swollen to Immense Size.

"I had kidney trouble so bad," says J. J. Cox of Valley View, Ky., "that I could not work, my feet were swollen to immense size and I was confined to my bed and physicians were unable to give me any relief. My doctor finally prescribed Foley's Kidney Cure, which made a well man of me."

Avoid serious results of kidney or bladder disorder by taking Foley's Kidney Cure.

The Oakland Canning company canned about 700 cans of tomatoes in about two and one half hours Tuesday and they can a good many more if they can get them to can, but the farmers can not get the tomatoes to ripen.

YES OR NO?

Northville People are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses? Is there anything in the testimony of one's friends? Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know? Are the opinions of local citizens of any greater moment than those of strangers? Would you sooner be lost a people living in some far away place than citizens of your own city? We think not! For home proof can easily be investigated.

Mrs. Porter of Cady street says: "I have great faith in Doan's Kidney Pills and know them to be a valuable remedy. I was troubled for over two years with a dull aching pain in my back. I could hardly stoop and get up again. If I took cold it always settled in my back, causing much pain and inconvenience. Some mornings I was so lame and stiff that I could hardly get around and had to make quite an effort to dress myself. Learning about Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box at Murdock Bros' drug store. The benefit derived from their use causes me to value them very highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Tablet to Martyred Presidents.

A memorial tablet in bronze of the martyred presidents—Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley—was unveiled on July 4 by a New York branch of the Young Men's Christian association. The work is the tablet of Sculptor E. St. John and was presented to the association by Peter Winchester Rouse.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by catarrh which is nothing but a hardened condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Happily Surprised.

Mr. H. C. Hartman, a well known citizen of Anamosa, Iowa, has every summer for several years been troubled with attacks of diarrhoea, which were frequently accompanied by severe griping pains. "I used to call a doctor," he says, "but it became a regular summer affliction and in my search for relief I became acquainted with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This proved so effective and so prompt that I came to rely exclusively upon it, and what also happily surprised me was that while it stopped the diarrhoea it never constipated." This is a favorite remedy for diarrhoea wherever known. It is not an astringent, hence does not constipate. For sale by Geo. C. Hueston.

Proctor Knott Named Town.

Proctor Knott, Minnesota, is a town which recalls Proctor Knott of Kentucky, and his famous Duluth speech of twenty-five years ago, in which he asked where and what Duluth was. This speech, though intended to cast ridicule on an item in an internal improvement bill in congress, in the early seventies, was afterward printed as a "boom" leaflet by Duluthians, and now they have named a small city for him also.

A Sad Disappointment.

Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cure biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever. Murdock Bros.

Advantages of an Amerer.

The Amerer of Afghanistan recently selected six husbands for his six daughters and married them all off in a batch, but whether he did this for social effect or for economical reasons does not appear. An Amerer of Afghanistan can do many things, however, which a mere ordinary father would not find it possible to do.

Not Doomed for Life.

"I was treated for three years by good doctors," writes W. A. Greer, McConnellsville, O., "for Piles and Erysipela, but when all failed Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me in two weeks." ## Patti, at Sixty, Still Young.

While Adelina Patti was shopping in London recently a gentleman overheard the young woman who served her at the counter address her as "Miss." He says: "What a tribute to her perennial beauty to be still taken for a 'young miss' at the age of sixty."

What We May Come To.

An architect of New York says that with the modern steel frame a building can be carried to a height equal to seven and one-half times the diameter of the base. By this rule, on an ordinary city block could be erected a building 1,500 feet high, 500 feet higher than the Eiffel tower. It would have 125 stories and cost about $30,000,000.

Ethel—He doesn't see anything in you. That is why he objects.

Earth's Need of Mankind.

Every earthly scene is imperfect, as Eden was without man's presence. Hill and tree and clouds, waves on the seashore, willows by the river's side, fields with their broad green beauty stretching out of sight, lack with all their loveliness one element of poetry, gain it only when a human frame stands in their midst, and the signs of human work are seen among them.—Phillips Brooks.

SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

Who Pays the Printer?

When you go around from printer to printer getting bids on a job and then giving it to the lowest bidder, you get an indifferently good job—one with no particularly good points—one that sells no goods for you, then who pays the printer?

YOU DO.

When you pick out a good printer, giving him all your work, educating him to an idea of your needs, and paying a fair price for the work you get, you printed matter (when secured at the Record Printing) necessarily creates a favorable impression for you and for what you offer, and become a factor in selling your goods. Then, who pays the printer? Your customer.

HE DOES.

"What is the matter?" "My trunk," I had forgotten all about them. They've been out on the prairie all this time, and everything will be ruined or stolen."

Lisle smiled. "They are here in the house," she said. "I gave orders last night about them. Shall I have them brought here?"

"No. If they are safe, that is all I care. The clothes we have on are all we need. We will change. You shall wear these, and I will try yours. Take them off."

"In your presence?" "Certainly."

"I have been taught by my father never to—"

"Bother your teaching! I am your teacher now!"

"Well, at least you need not put these on," said Lisle. "I have other apparel here. You shall have a much better suit than this one."

The extra suit was soon forthcoming, and after that the two girls worked on in silence, with here and there an interjection from Erna. Lisle did not offer any remark, and every question that she would have asked during the process of removing their outer garments was nipped in the bud by vehement protests from her companion.

The interjections came when the work of adjusting Lisle in feminine apparel was in operation. The "instruments of torture" were made to fit by altering the lacing, and when at last they were clasped around Lisle's waist so tightly that she found it difficult to breathe, Erna believed that the most heroic part of the work was done.

Nothing about the costume came together, but woman's ingenuity is ever equal to feminine emergencies of dress, and the difficulties were surmounted one by one, so that at last Lisle stood before her instructor, having successfully donned everything except the tight fitting waist and skirt and the footgear.

"There!" exclaimed Erna, stepping back a few paces and viewing with undisguised admiration the consummation of her toil. "You are simply glorious!" she added. "As a boy you were unmistakably handsome, but as a woman you are simply out of sight! Here, let me pin this skirt on to you. It won't meet, and it's too short, but I can make it do. The waist will never come together in the world, and we'll have to do without that. Oh, dear, what a ravishing creature you are! There! I can talk to you now without feeling that every drop of blood in my body had gone to my face. I could not get rid of the idea before that you were a man after all. Now I know that you are not. Look at yourself in that glass. How do you like it?"

"I don't like it. This steel jacket is the worst of all. Aren't you going to dress in my clothes?"

"No. I don't want to. Come here, Lisle, and sit down beside me. Aie you so very uncomfortable?"

"I feel as though I were in a vise. Must I wear clothing like this always?"

"Always!" with a vehement nod. Then, with sudden emphasis and wisdom, Erna added, "But not at once. The people on this ranch must not know of the discovery we have made—at least not now. You must be to them as you have always been."

"Why?"

"Because you would not be safe here if they knew that you are a woman."

"Why? Do all men hate women so? Would they seek to kill me?"

"Kill you? No; but you would not be safe."

"Bah! I do not fear them."

"Of course not. That isn't the question. I do not exactly know what is the question, only that it would not be just the thing to do now. When Craig Thompson comes, we will take him into our confidence. He shall tell you what to do; papa shall tell you what to do."

"You are sure, very sure, that I am a woman, Erna?"

"Goodness gracious, yes! I hope so. Heavens, you almost frighten me! Don't you see that, as small as I am, my instruments of torture needed but very little letting out in order to reach around you? Don't you see how they bring out your shape, so that it is like mine, only a little more so? Don't you see that we are alike in a lot of other ways?"

"Yes."

"Well, don't that settle it?"

"Yes, I suppose that settles it," said Lisle slowly. She stood for a moment as though turned to stone, but her eyes became fierce and her lips drew together ominously.

"Yes, I am a woman, one of the outcasts of the world—the cursed of all mankind! Oh, God, how I hate myself; how I loath myself; how I despise everything about me that makes me a woman! My father is dead. So be it. I am glad that he is dead. He knew, and he deceived me. I asked him, and he lied to me. If he were not dead, I would kill him! I would kill him, I say, as I killed Jim Cummings—as I would have killed others had they dared to call me a woman. I—I, Lisle Maxwell, am that despicable thing called a woman. My God! You, Erna, do not know the horror of it. You have never known what it is not to be a woman. You have done me a service, and I thank you, for I would not live a lie any more than I would tell one. Richard Maxwell is dead. I will never think of him as my father again. Perhaps he also lied to me about that; perhaps

"Look at yourself in this glass. How do you like it?"

His whole life was a lie, like the one that he made me live. It may be that my name is not Lisle Maxwell. I do not know who I am. I only know what I am not. You thought because I was calm that my heart was not breaking. I only waited for proof, for I suspected before you spoke. Now I know! Take off these garments or I shall tear them off and burn them. Quick! I am going mad. I think! Off with them! I will not live to walk forevermore hand in hand with my own shame! I will kill myself as yesterday I would have killed a man who had dared to tell me what I now know to be the truth! Off with them!"

CHAPTER XII.

"HE MADE ME LIVE A LIE."

FOR a moment Erna was stupored by the outburst of passion from Lisle. She had begun to think that her new friend would accept the change in her destiny as a matter of course and that in fact she was secretly glad that fate had created her a woman. The repressed passion which Lisle had suffered without manifesting any sign was a phase of character entirely foreign to her understanding. All her life Erna had without restraint expressed every emotion that possessed her, and she could not comprehend a nature which concealed the impulses of the heart until they were swollen to such an extent that they burst all bounds and swept everything before them, just as a raging torrent, held in check for years, at last demolishes the solid wall of masonry which holds it and rushes downward to engulf and destroy everything that lies in its path. She did not know that Lisle's calmness in view of the discovery made was the result of pride of will, which dominated her every act. She could not understand a woman who could endure with calmness agony that was consuming her like fire within, and instead of assisting Lisle, as she had been requested to do, she stood with clasped hands, parted lips and bated breath, terror-stricken by the revelation of a depth of passion which she had not believed existed.

Not until Lisle had torn the "instruments of torture" apart and flung them savagely to the far end of the room did she regain her composure, then, using much better judgment than would have been expected of her, she sprang to the assistance of her friend, but without offering any protest against what she had said and, better still, without venturing to give advice at a moment when it could neither be appreciated nor followed.

Lisle kept silence also while being divested of the costume in which Erna had dressed her. Not until she had resumed the masculine attire, the one laid out for Erna and not the one previously worn, did she utter a word, but the struggle was raging within her with the same savage fury with which it had announced itself, and Erna, watching her furtively, became more and more dismayed.

When Lisle was fully dressed in the garments to which she was accustomed, she walked to the window and with her back turned toward the room said quietly:

"Dress yourself, Erna, as you were last night. While you are busy I will think. Do not speak to me, please, until you are dressed."

Erna hastened to obey. Lisle's demeanor averted her into silence. She felt instinctively that she was in the presence of a character which dominated everything. She was, without being sensible of it, afraid, and she worked in silence, rapidly.

"I am ready, Lisle," she said at last, but the girl at the window did not hear, and she approached timidly and touched her upon the shoulder.

"I am ready, Lisle," she repeated, almost fearing that the words would call forth another tirade of passionate anger, but Lisle turned calmly, and there was a pathetic smile upon her lips when she spoke.

"Forgive me, Erna, for giving way as I did a few moments ago. I will endeavor not to repeat the offense. Such evidences of weakness cannot benefit me, and certainly you are not to blame. The only person who is responsible for this moment lies dead in another room, and my vengeance cannot reach him. I am calm now and cold, too, as cold as death and I think, as unforgiving. You do not understand me. Nobody does; nobody ever can. I fear if I am revengeful, it is because I inherit it and because I have been taught to be so ever since I can remember. If I hate and despise the memory of that dead man who taught me to call him father, as he taught me to believe myself to be a man, the sin rests upon his soul, not upon mine or yours. If I am unreasonable in my anger and rebellion against something that I cannot help or avoid, it is because that insane man wronged me so, not because you discovered and revealed the truth. The truth I am glad to know. I am angry only because it has been denied to me all these years. Can a human being commit a greater sin than to seize upon and defy a law of Almighty God and with his puny strength dare to make the effort to alter it? I think not. Just heaven! Cannot you, my friend, imagine something of the horror of the position I am in? I realize the danger which surrounds me without knowing what it is. I know that there are bottomless pitfalls in my path, but I cannot locate them or recognize them when I see them. I know that there is something left for me to do, but I have no means of knowing what that duty is, for that despicable dead man, while he lived, was far too cunning to have left behind him evidence which will direct me. Think how he fooled me! Think how he has misled me! Think of the lie that he lived and compelled me to live? Where shall I find truth in his career? And, if I find it, how shall I recognize it? Do you wonder that I am beside myself? Do you wonder that I fear to speak lest I will strike aloud with a rage that is as impotent as a particle of dust in a whirlwind? Tell me, Erna, who besides yourself is aware of this secret that we share?"

"Nobody, Lisle," gasped Erna. "Does not your father know?"

"Nobody knows but me," she told the falsehood tremblingly, but with a decision, for she already stood in more awe of this strange woman than she feared the consequences of a harmless lie.

"I am glad of that," commented Lisle, and Erna breathed a sigh of relief for the lie that she had told and in recollection of the fact that she had already warned her father that he was not to appear to know the truth until informed that he could do so. She had attended to that when she ran to him just before Lisle went out with her to the grove of pines. "I am very glad of it. I will tell him the truth myself after a little, when I have become calmer."

"Calmer? You are calm now, Lisle, frightfully calm," exclaimed Erna. "True, I am frightfully calm. That exactly expresses it. It is the calmness of despair, of rage, of rebellion, of a torrent of water, mightily deep, which runs smoothly upon the surface, but which is carrying the universe along with it in its silent depths. That is the calmness that I feel. Do you think that your father will consent to remain here with me for a few days?"

"He shall do so whether he consents or not. I'll make him do it!" Then, noticing the expression of wonder that came into Lisle's eyes, she added, "Of course he will consent. He never refuses me anything and in this case I think he will propose it anyway."

"I will be very grateful. Tomorrow or the day after I must tell him what I am. I must be able to advise me, and—"

"I know what you must do. You must leave this ranch and all that concerns it in the care of your men and return to Kansas City with me. There in my home—"

Lisle raised one hand in protest. "It is hard," she said, "but it cannot be so at present. I have much to learn before I will consent to face the world. You forget the long years of training that must be overcome before I can hope to acquire the rudiments of the new life that I must live. Already I know much that you have not told me. The life that I must begin is entirely different from the life that I leave behind me when I assume the garb that you wear and appear before the world for what I really am—a woman. God, how I hate it! What would happen if I should go with you now? I would discover insults in compliments; I would mistake deliberate offenses for favors. Ever since I was old enough to hold a pistol in my hand I have been taught to resent affronts with bullets. Would you have me murder your best friends? No; my place is here until I can go elsewhere with the freedom that knowledge alone can impart. I am neither one thing nor the other now. I am neither man nor woman. I am a monstrosity—a freak—a thing! Here you respect me; there you would despise me. Here I am master; there I would be nothing! Here, for awhile at least, I can still be a man; there—fugh! Let us go to your father. Then, when I have talked with him, I will ride out to meet Craig Thompson."

Mr. Thomas walked out upon the veranda with Lisle at her request. "Everything has been attended to, or is being done, Lisle," he said, adopting the given name in preference to using a pronoun which he did not know how to select. "Your men—that is, those who have not been sent out on errands—have proved themselves extremely efficient in every way, and in an hour—I thank you, sir. I do not care for the details. It is very kind of you to oversee everything. Perhaps later I will know better how to express my appreciation. Just now—"

"Not a word! Not a word, Lisle. Why, I feel already as if I had known you always. I'll go ahead just as though I had, and now, if you will take my advice, you will get on your horse and go for a good ride. It will do you good—lots of it! Take the word of Thomas O. Thomas for that."

CHAPTER XIII.

"DON'T GO BACK ON THE DEAD MAN!"

CRAG THOMPSON, with the blade of a led horse in his grasp and with three men similarly provided accompanying him, was riding with all speed toward Maxwell's ranch. Already half the distance of 30 miles had been covered, and already he had changed horses twice, urging them to their utmost effort, impatient, silent, dogged. Before him, not half a mile away, was a rise of ground, more lofty than the others, and as he spurred his animal toward it a horseman emerged from the blank beyond and halted upon its crest, silhouetted against the sky. Even at that distance Craig recognized the rider, and, rising in his stirrups, he waved his hat in greeting. The salutation was returned. The half mile which separated the men was quickly traveled, and the galloping party came to a halt.

"Ride on ahead, boys," ordered Craig, addressing his companions. "I'll trail along behind with the kid. We'll get there soon enough, I reckon, since Lisle is out here to meet us. Is it true, Lisle, that Tom Thomas and his girl are there?"

"Yes. They are at the house."

"That's all right. You skip along, boys, and don't mind us. We'll jog along at a slower pace. Lord, kid, but it was lucky that I was home. I hadn't been there more than an hour either when Lisle rode up with the news. No fool play, was there, Lisle?"

"No."

"Just turned up his toes without a word, eh? Broke your heart too, eh?"

"Pull up here and let me look at you. What's the matter with you, lad? That ain't all grief that I see in your face. There's something else there. What makes your eyes blaze so? You look just as you did when you drew that bead on Jim Cummings while your other arm was held fast to your body by the rope."

"I feel very much the same as I did then, Craig," responded Lisle. "I am in very much the same position with the difference that I cannot see an enemy to fire at. Let us rest here awhile. I have something to tell you."

"They did not leave their saddles, but sat vis-a-vis, Lisle with her back toward the ranch, Craig facing it and studying with manifest care the loping of the horses which bore the three men who had ridden on ahead. He considered it best not to speak again until his young friend had told what there was to say."

"Craig," said Lisle presently, "you have regarded me as rather a queer specimen of a boy ever since we first met. There is something concerning me that must be told, something that I wish to tell you, something that just now I could not tell to any other person—something which you must retain as a secret in your own heart until I give you permission to reveal it and, above all, something concerning which you must advise and direct me."

"Let it go, lad, I'm listening."

"I am a woman, Craig."

Thompson did not move a muscle of his body except those which controlled his visual organs. He turned his eyes slowly until they rested upon the face of Lisle, and then, with marked deliberation, but undoubted emphasis, he said:

"You don't mean it?"

"I am a woman, Craig."

"Who told you?"

"Miss Thomas."

"How did she know it?"

"I do not exactly know. When my—when Richard Maxwell died, I fainted. She revived me, and—"

"I know the rest. Does Tom Thomas know?"

"Not yet."

Thompson did not speak again for a moment or two. The muscles of his face were working, however, as though he were thinking words which he did not care to utter.

"Did you know it, Craig?" asked Lisle suspiciously.

"Know it? No! How should I know it? What do you think I am—a clairvoyant?"

"But you believe it now, do you not?"

WILSON'S CARBON FACTORY is at last doing business and now they can sell all they can.

The old question "Is marriage a failure?" is to receive considerable attention over in Oakland this month. There are 37 divorce cases on the September court docket at Pontiac.

A Birmingham couple who were wedded thirty-five years ago just took their bridal tour last week. And yet there are lots of folks who have an idea that Birmingham is not a "slow town".

It must be so often appropriate to the emotions of that season, that it is quite refreshing to find that Miss Gann is one of those who are not "going to the town" to see the show.

Yesterday's not named by the strictures of press and people in various places against the street fair idea but is going to have a street fair and carnival with all the stereotyped attractions and more too on October 3 and 10.

Many had a little call "I had better go to college," but stayed at home and attended. And given in boyish knowledge. But oh! what is that bossy now so sleek and plump and round? It went, with trust, to meet its fate. At fifteen cents a pound.

The Fenton Independent, man tells this one on himself and never even grows about it. "A lady who lives in the South, gave the editor of this paper a most urgent invitation to call at any time he happened to be in that part of the country. 'Do not fail to look us up,' she said 'for we are so homesick for Michigan, that we would be glad to see a yellow dog from that state.' We faithfully promised to do the looking up at, and at the same time wondered if we were properly classified." Brother I ought certainly to steer his back that way at the first opportunity and take a bite with those friends, after dog days.

The Wayne News Letter last week gave the following unique write-up of a social event down there: "A farewell social dance was given Friday night at the opera house in honor of George Brewer. About twenty couples danced from nine till one to piano music. The party was remarkable for the facts that most of the dancers chewed gum, that Brewer was detained out of town arriving in time for only the last three dances, and the parties given were sent out, but that he bore no malice whatever is perfectly evident from the concluding sentence.

Rev. F. I. Beckwith, the young man who has bell down—or rather held up—the Baptist pastorate at Plymouth for the past two and a half years, has gone to Kalamazoo college to absorb some supplementary knowledge, although Plymouth folks thought his theology was already plenty good enough for them. He was ordained there, married there, and has hustled for the church to the extent that an old debt of $500 has been wiped out, the church edifice rebuilt at a cost of $4,000, all paid up and a large increase of membership secured. A union meeting of all the churches was held to give the young clergyman a "send off," but it wasn't because the folks were glad he was going. His successor will be up against a rather tough proposition to live up to the precedent Mr. Beckwith has established, but such is ministerial life, sure's preaching.

A Parson's Noble Act.

"I want all the world to know," writes Rev. C. J. Budlong, of Ashaway, R. I., "what a thoroughly good and reliable medicine I found in Electric Bitters. They cured me of jaundice and liver troubles that had caused me great suffering for many years. For a genuine, all-around cure they excel anything I ever saw." Electric Bitters are the surprise of all for their wonderful work in Liver, Kidney and Stomach troubles. Don't fail to try them. Only 50 cents. Satisfaction is guaranteed by Geo. C. Huxton.

A letter is advertised in Hudson for Frank Colon. He should command and get it within the period allowed by the department or it will be a dead letter—Adrian Press.

Maybe he is a semi-Colon and only comes for his mail twice a month, but when he sees that letter addressed he will dash into the office and with an exclamation-point to the left and pause till he gets it.

One by one our time-honored traditions are going to pieces before the relentless march of modern inconceivable. Even lightning has got so it strikes twice in the same place. The new barns of Willard Beach of Brighton township, built to replace those burned by electric bolt a year ago, were struck and burned last week.

There seem to be a good many instances of didn't-know-it-was-loaded in regard to monkeying with the situation of occupying the running board on the open electric cars. Perry Prindle of Farmington is the latest conductor to nearly get his head demolished by bumping against a trolley pole while not keeping himself close enough to the safety line on a rapidly moving car.

ELECTING THE 58TH CONGRESS

How a Congressional Campaign Is Conducted—Leaders of the Fight.

NEXT in importance to a presidential campaign is the fight just beginning between the two great political parties for control of the house of representatives in the United States congress. Every two years the contest is waged, on presidential year and once in between, which is known in common parlance as the "off year."

This being the "off year" and the first election under the new apportionment of congressional districts, by which twenty-nine representatives are added to congress, makes the present battle for supremacy of more than usual interest.

JAMES M. GRIGGS

The Fifty-seventh congress contains 357 representatives, while the Fifty-eighth congress, the members of which will be elected next November, but will not take their seats until December, 1903, will have 386.

As in a presidential campaign, the general management of the congressional canvass for each party is vested in a national committee. This committee, under the direction of its chairman as executive head, maps out the general plan of campaign and the lines on which the contest is to be made and assists the various candidates with literature, speakers etc.

It is easy to see that the chairmen of the committees of the two big parties are busy men this fall. On their keenness and foresight may depend the control of the next national house of representatives. The opposing forces are led by Congressman James M. Griggs of Georgia for the Democrats and Congressman Joseph W. Babcock of Wisconsin for the Republicans.

The present contest is the first in which Mr. Griggs has taken part as chairman of the Democratic congressional committee while Mr. Babcock is a veteran in the business, having been chairman of the Republican congressional committee since 1894.

While the work of the respective committees is directed mainly to carrying the "close" districts, none is neglected, and requests for literature and other campaign aids are also supplied to state and county committees where the result is at all in doubt.

From the headquarters at Washington will go forth from now until election day millions of campaign documents, and speakers by the hundred will be assigned to various parts of the country.

James Matthew Griggs, representative in congress from the Second Georgia district and chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, who has just made his bow as a national character, is a large framed, blue eyed and quiet mannered son of the south. He has no political worries at home, his district being safe by a large majority.

Judge Griggs is a native Georgian and is forty-nine years old. When he was twenty-two, he was admitted to the bar of his state as a lawyer. Two years later he was elected prosecuting attorney of the Putnam judicial circuit. Next came his appointment as judge of the same circuit and two elections without opposition. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh congresses. The last time there were only twenty-four votes against him in his whole district. He has been renominated, and if he does as well for the Democratic nominees to congress as he will for himself in his own district a landslide will be the result.

Joseph Weeks Babcock, who represents the Third Wisconsin district in congress and is chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, is one of the most prominent Republicans in the national legislature and a member of the ways and means committee. He is an indefatigable worker and has labored hard for the success of his party. He has had a long and successful experience as a campaign manager.

Mr. Babcock comes of sturdy Yankee stock. He is a native of Vermont, where he first opened his eyes fifty-two years ago. As a boy he went to Iowa with his parents. In 1881 he removed to Neenah, Wis., where he has since made his home. His political career began as a Wisconsin legislator. In 1892 he was sent to congress and has since been re-elected to each succeeding congress. Mr. Babcock is a lawyer and has a thorough understanding of commerce and trade in general and politics in particular.

By the apportionment of congressional districts under the census of 1900 each district is supposed to contain approximately 194,182 persons. While that is the ratio for the Union, it is, in point of fact, not necessarily the ratio for any state, since, by the illegal method now in vogue by which the country is divided, so that no state shall lose any of its representation from one decade to the next, each state has a ratio of its own. The number named is the largest which would give a state like Maine three districts and the majority fraction, and upon this basis the rest of the country has been divided. Within the states the population by districts is left to the legislature's sense of fairness, with results that often are not gratifying. Several districts in the new apportionment contain more than 300,000 people and these are usually in localities which are rapidly growing.

The new apportionment also strikes a new present the wide diversity in density of population and the resulting social conditions in the different parts of the country. There are districts in lower New York so small that one could pace their boundaries in two hours and districts in the west so large that it would take twelve hours to cross them by the fastest express train and as many days to visit their chief posts by any available conveyance. The state of Montana, for example, is a single district, and yet it contains more than double the area of the New England states, with their thirty representatives.

Besides the congressional campaign, there is considerable interest in the coming battle of the ballots in several state elections. Perhaps the contest in Ohio attracts the most interest because of the personality of Tom Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, the new leader of the Democracy in the Buckeye State.

Although no governor is to be elected in Ohio this year, Mr. Johnson has started out to make a warm campaign for the state ticket. He has provided himself with a circus tent which will seat 3,500 people and has a gang of circus canvasmen, laborers and cooks to accompany the outfit in regular circus style. His caravan moves from place to place, and meetings are held almost nightly. The itinerary includes most of the big towns in the state.

Johnson's candidate for congress in Cleveland is Edmund G. Vail, a blacksmith employed by the American Shipbuilding company and well known among the laboring classes in the state because of his prominent connection with the Knights of Labor and other union organizations both as a speaker and organizer. He has had very little schooling and is entirely self educated, but has been an omnivorous reader, a close student of economic problems and has written a great deal upon the labor question. Several years ago he was the head of a commission sent to Europe by the daily press of Cleveland to investigate the conditions and wages of the working classes in England and elsewhere, and his report won him a considerable reputation.

The contest between the rival chairmen of the national committees will be watched with interest. Whether victory will perch on the banners of Griggs, the novice, or Babcock, the veteran, cannot be foretold and will remain a mystery until the ballots are counted on the night of Nov. 4.

Too Much Virtue.

If the average man were as good as he thinks other men ought to be it wouldn't be long until his vanity made him topheavy.—New York Press.

Proper Treatment for Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. For sale by George C. Huxton.

Phenyldimethylpyrazolone.

When your physician writes phenyldimethylpyrazolone on your prescription do not despair. Your case is not necessarily hopeless. The good man has simply used the correct scientific name for antipyrin.

Population of Alaska.

The last census gave Alaska a population of 40,000. The people were scattered so badly that it was impossible to count them, and it is likely that the number was much greater.
