NORTHVILLE'S NEW M. E. MINISTER

REV. J. W. SHANK COMES HERE;
MR. LLOYD TO CLARKSTON.

Other Appointments Which Will Interest Record Readers.

The M. E. conference which closed its annual session at Saginaw this week decided to send Rev. W. H. Lloyd to Clarkston and Rev. J. W. Shank comes here from L'Anse. Mr. Shank some fourteen years ago was pastor of the Plymouth M. E. church and from there was sent to the Upper Peninsula. He is a man of about 45 years and is well spoken of both as a preacher and church worker. He will give his initial sermon here one week from Sunday.

Rev. W. H. Lloyd, who leaves Northville for Clarkston, will take with him the best wishes of Northville people. He has been pastor here for three years and has succeeded in bringing the society out of debt and holding his membership well together for work. The charge at Clarkston is a very nice one and the pay is the same with much less labor. Clarkston's entrance into the summer resort line has brought it into much prominence of late and it has grown into a very pretty little burg.

Other appointments of interest to Record readers are as follows:
Farmington—F. Armstrong
Plymouth—W. & Stevens
Salem—H. C. Whitney
South Lyon—E. A. Coffin
Wayne—S. W. Bird
Walled Lake—W. J. Clark

Rev. Mr. Ward continues as presiding elder of the Bay City district and W. H. Shier of the Detroit district.

LITTLE P. M. RAILROAD WRECK

Big Freight Engine Took to the Highway.

A small wreck occurred on the P. M. railway Sunday night which interfered with the traffic for some hours. A south bound freight engine was derailed near the cider mill and the big engine started up the base-line road. After a hold up of an hour or two a transfer of the passengers of the excursion train coming back from Toledo and those of the regular 9 o'clock evening train going south was made. The accident happened at a rather inconvenient place for the exchange, which took some time as both trains were heavily loaded, a large contingent of Spanish war veterans on their way to Detroit being on the south bound train and a big crowd of returning excursionists on the other. The train which returned north had to be backed to Bay City before the engine could be turned around.

Reception to Mr. and Mrs. Cox.

The Record inadvertently omitted last week to mention the pleasant reception tendered Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Cox on Friday evening of the week before by the members of his Sunday-school class. The reception was held at the Presbyterian parsonage and was very enjoyable in spite of the severe storm which prevented quite a number from attending. Mr. and Mrs. Cox are now nicely settled in their home on High street.

Teddy's By-Word.

The President's favorite by word is "By George" and he isn't afraid to use it whenever an occasion happens to come along where it will fit in nicely and when the President uses it it always seems to fit in very nicely, too. While at the reception at Gen. Alger's beautiful home Sunday noon, the Record heard Teddy "By George" several times as he enthusiastically recalled some interesting incident in connection with those he met.

Employees Want More Beer.

Milwaukee brewers are having trouble with their employees over the quantity of beer each man may be allowed to drink. The brewers are willing that each employee should have two quarts at noon and two more at quitting time, but the men declare that they do not see how anyone can get along with but four quarts of beer a day.

AT IT AGAIN.

School Notes.

[By the Superintendent.]
Motto: "A good book is the precious blood of a master spirit, enlivened and treasured up to a purpose for the use and life."

Miss Sanford resumed her duties in the high school last Monday.

No tardy marks in the high school last week.

Our school expects to observe Pioneer Day, Oct. 10, with appropriate exercises.

Drawing was started in the grade last Monday and the pupils all seem to enjoy the work.

Parents may look for the monthly report cards to be brought home for their inspection and signature next Wednesday evening.

Congressman H. C. Smith has sent the Year Book of the department of agriculture to our library. It is unusually rich in valuable information and beautiful views of gardens, fields, etc. etc.

Our present kindergarten class is composed of twenty nine bright little children. Mrs. Kern, the teacher in that department, reports that the class seems to be one of the brightest she has ever started. They will spend the fall and winter at kindergarten and hand work and begin reading in the spring. If there are any parents who have children nearly five and who expect to start them in the spring we would advise that they be started this fall in order to get this course for "sense awakening." It gives a child his balance in school and makes the entrance into actual school work much easier. The children who spend a few months in this preparatory class take up reading far better than the ones who have missed the training.

We feel that the matter of furnishing a child with a properly written and signed excuse for absence or tardiness cannot be too carefully looked after by parents. It is understood that pupils should present these upon their next return to school, yet, from some families, a special effort must be made by the teacher to get the excuse, while others always see to it that the note is laid on the teacher's desk the next time the pupil returns after the absence. This difference is due to the different ways of bringing up families, the one "can never think of it," or "parents haven't time to attend to it," while the other is systematic, punctual and business like in their dealings with others and require their children to be so. We believe this prompt, accurate, business like education which the children receive from the parents in the latter case will prove of untold value in the formation of right habits and right lives, while the careless, thoughtless, slipshod way of looking after matters of so great importance will not fail of its natural influence in the other case. May we always have the pleasant note, properly written and promptly furnished? That is one of the important ties that connects the home and school and enables them to stand together for the good of the young.

Notice to Water Users.

On account of the reduction of the water supply by the break in the spring pipes, all users are notified that the use of the water for lawns must be confined strictly to the time between 6 and 7 p. m. All infractions of the rule will be dealt with as provided for by the village council.

IMPROVEMENTS AT U. S. FISH STATION

BIG "WILD" POND BEING BUILT FOR TROUT.

Appropriations for Further Work to be Asked of Next Congress.

The work of constructing the large "wild pond" at the U. S. fish hatchery is now in progress and will be pushed to completion by Contractors Taft & Mooney as rapidly as possible. The old wooden ponds have all been torn away in the interest of the determined effort that is being made by the U. S. commission to exterminate the bacterial disease which has caused so much trouble with brook trout in the new pond, which will be used exclusively for this variety, the fishes will be surrounded as far as practicable with natural conditions, and if the war on the bacteria proves successful this station will probably be made the exclusive point for handling brook trout eggs, as its natural advantages in the way of a spring water supply of peculiar purity and excellence cannot be surpassed or even equaled in the United States, while the equipment and work here already have a world wide reputation. The proposed concentration of this branch of the commission's work at one point will be much more desirable in every way than having it scattered all over the state as at present.

The new pond is 175x135 feet in dimensions and is to be paved. It is expected that the next congress will provide a liberal appropriation for the furtherance of the work here and in that event Supt. Clark of the Northville Station says the original plans laid out by the commission will be carried out. These include the introduction of ornamental fountains, driveways and other extensive improvements, which will give the Northville station still further eminence as the finest example of what can be done along the line of fish culture. An additional feature, if the funds are provided, will be the construction of large bass ponds and the extensive development here of that branch of the business.

GROWING FAMOUS

Northville's Bell Foundry Shipping
Bells Abroad.

The fame of the American Bell & Foundry company's work seems to be rapidly extending into the uttermost parts of the earth. An order has just been received from Egypt for a bell, and letters of inquiry regarding the company's product have recently come from West Africa. The concern is simply overwhelmed with work and although more than thirty men are already employed, more help is needed and will be put on as soon as men can be secured.

To close out our buggies we are offering them at wholesale cost. We have 200 buggy cushions to sell at less than the material cost.

DURAND MAY DROP OUT.

Likely His Sons Will Advise His Name
Be Withdrawn.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 24.—L. T. Durand and wife arrived in the city Tuesday afternoon to visit Judge Durand, and immediately afterward entered into consultation with the judge's son, Charles A. Durand, on the condition of the judge with reference to the political situation. By appointment at 2 o'clock they met Drs. Charters, Burr, Murray and Campbell, who laid before them the judge's precise physical condition. Several of them were seen after the conference, but they declined to talk, although it is known that one of them at least is strongly of the opinion that it is useless to longer continue the judge as a candidate, despite the fact that he is gaining in physical condition and his mind appears bright and active.

After the departure of the doctors the Messrs. Durand conferred among themselves and came to the conclusion that the time for action had arrived. The conference was of some length and at its conclusion they left for the judge's residence to lay the matter before Mrs. Durand and the judge himself. They positively stated that an opinion would not be rendered before today and refused to intimate what their decision would be but it is surmised that with that decision Judge Durand will retire from the head of the Democratic ticket.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—The Democratic leaders are dumfounded by the report from Flint to the effect that a consultation was being held at which it would be decided whether or not Judge Durand would remain at the head of the ticket. Chairman Whiting and Secretary Hampton declared the idea to be extremely unreasonable in view of the fact that the judge is gradually improving.

Chairman Whiting was inclined to give some weight to the report and intimated that as soon as he was apprised of the judge's withdrawal he would summon the state central committee and leave the matter of a substitute candidate in its hands. There are now but thirty-seven days before the election and the law provides that twenty days before the election the names of the candidates must be in the hands of the state and county officials and the local judges of probate.

Appointed at M. E. Conference.

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 24.—Detroit conference of the M. E. church kept on grinding until the last minute when the announcement of the appointments for the next year marked the adjournment. The date for next year's meeting was set for Sept. 16. The following appointments were made by the conference. Trustees of Albion college for three years—Joseph F. Berry, Horace Hitchcock, Advisory Board, Wesleyan Guild—George Ellick, S. W. Horner and C. E. Allen. Visitors to Albion college—J. E. Springer and Frank E. Dodds. Visitors to Garrett Bible Institute—Samuel W. Gilchrist and James L. Gardner. Alphonzo Crane—who has been registrar of the board of examiners for fourteen years was presented with a purse filled with gold.

Shot Wife and Self.

Greenville, Mich., Sept. 24.—Hawley Mammacker, aged twenty six, is dead, and his wife mortally wounded as the result of a separation due to long continued domestic troubles. Last week the young wife went to the home of Manuel Man in this city to accept a position claiming that her husband was cruel to her. Mammacker called there Monday evening, and after a few words with his wife shot her twice in the breast, then, turning the weapon on himself he put a bullet through his heart, dying instantly.

Adrian Merchants Duped.

Adrian, Mich., Sept. 24.—Six merchants have reported that they had cashed worthless checks Saturday night for a stranger. It was the old story of a small purchase, change for a $12 check, drawn by the Kells Machine company on the Adrian State Savings bank. The checks were very nicely drawn, and the safety punch used by banks indicated the number of dollars. Butchers were the chief target, and somebody will live high at their expense for a few days.

Injured by Runaway Car.

Rochester, Mich., Sept. 24.—A car belonging to the Detroit United Rail way ran away near the powerhouse Tuesday morning and crashed into a car loaded with excursionists headed for Detroit. The following were injured: Winfield Bird, aged about thirty, a carpenter living at Orion single; internally injured and both legs broken. John C. Henderson of Romeo, cut and bruised; injuries not serious.

Schoolmarm Meets Business.

Bessemer, Mich., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Alcott, the new superintendent of schools, is waging war on youngsters who skip school or whose parents neglect to send them. A batch of twenty-five or more were up before the justice Saturday and two of the most desperate ones sent to the reform school for two years, while the others got off on promise to do better.

To Burn Buffalo's Paupers.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., SEPT. 26, '02

The People With the President.

His Detroit visit this week illustrates that President Roosevelt certainly has the people with him and he is certainly proving himself to be a truly remarkable man. For a person of his strenuous ways, impulsive nature and at times almost reckless manner it is marvelous that he has apparently made no mistakes. He is laboring for the people as president just as he has in the other offices of trust which he has honored and in his unselfish devotion to the public welfare he has almost unconsciously and undesignedly constructed a foundation beneath his feet which has raised him to the highest office in the gift of the greatest nation upon which the sun shines.

It was not considered anything strange when fair associations like those of Redford and Plymouth failed to make proper arrangements with the weather bureau, but it really amounts to a breach of trust when an executive committee working for the whole state of Michigan can't provide a better quality of weather for so great an occasion as the state fair.

All mention so far of presidential candidates on either ticket has been of men from the east and most of them from New York. Pontiac Daily Press.

And so far most of them have been named Roosevelt.

The Gazette intimates Detroit has been robbed of home rule. Ye gods and little fishes! Did the Gazette not see Commissioner Fowle at the head of the president's escort in Monday's parade?

If the Detroit Gazette is the mouth piece of Mr. Marschner in his candidacy for county treasurer he may later learn that mud-throwing tactics are seldom victorious.

And the taxpayers of Wayne county are called upon to pay for the fun indulged in by Detroit's police department in kidnapping a witness in the Andrews case.

After escaping "kidnaping" by the Detroit police it is now safe for "Teddy" to visit Chicago.

But at the same time how can the Ypsilanti and Judson Loth be for Alger.

The equinoctial storm declined to change its date even for the state fair.

It's even getting so that fair days are not fair days any more.

Teddy's weather was all right.

A Miraculous Feat.

"It seemed that nothing short of a miracle could save my little daughter from an untimely death," says City Marshall A. H. Malcolm, of Cherokee, Kan. "When two years old she was taken with stomach and bowel trouble and despite the efforts of the best physicians we could procure, she grew gradually worse and was pronounced incurable. A friend advised and after giving it a few days she began to improve and finally fully recovered. She is now past five years of age and the very picture of health."

Dr. Miles' Nervine

Race Spirit of Boers.

The Boer leaders are exhorting their people to preserve the race spirit, writes a reporter for the New York Sun. At the same time they acknowledge frankly that South Africa is now under one flag. Why should not the Dutch keep up the traditions of their country, as Scotland, Wales and Ireland do? Anyhow, as matters now stand, no other colony has such a glorious past to point to as the former South African republics.

Earns Gratitude of Women.

Representative George H. Fall, who introduced and championed the bill which recently passed the Massachusetts legislature making mothers equal guardians of children with fathers, says that most of the credit for its passage is due his wife, who, after her marriage, took up the study of law. She is a member of the Malden school board and the mother of five children.

For forty years Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been curing summer complaint, dysentery, diarrhoea, bloody flux, pain in the stomach, and it has never yet failed to do everything claimed for it.

Protest Against Favoritism.

There is trouble in Rome over Father Perini's conducting his oratorio "Moses" in a theater. A few years ago the church regulation forbidding priests to enter a theater was revived and the priests were displeased. Now they protest that if the regulation is suspended it should be for all.

Poorly?

"For two years I suffered terribly from dyspepsia, with great depression, and was always feeling poorly. I then tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and in one week I was a new man."—John McDonald, Philadelphia, Pa.

Don't forget that it's "Ayer's" Sarsaparilla that will make you strong and hopeful. Don't waste your time and money by trying some other kind. Use the old, tested, tried, and true Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Ask your doctor what he thinks of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He knows all about this grand old family medicine. Follow his advice and we will be satisfied.

DURAND OUT OF THE RACE

FAMILY REACH CONCLUSION HIS HEALTH WON'T PERMIT.

JUDGE WILLINGLY SIGNED HIS RESIGNATION.

HIS BROTHER MENTIONED AS POSSIBLE CANDIDATE.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 25.—Judge George H. Durand has resigned from the Democratic ticket as the candidate of that party for governor of the state of Michigan. The decision was reached late Tuesday afternoon, but was not made known to the press until Wednesday.

The matter was fully gone over by L. T. Durand and the judge's son, and it was after thoughtful consideration that they proceeded to the judge's home, and after a consultation with Mrs. Durand and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth, that they came to the conclusion that the judge was in a condition to be approached on the subject. This was the first time the question of his withdrawal from the ticket had been broached to Judge Durand.

Charles A. Durand stated what the doctors had said, expressed the wish of the family in regard to the matter and said in their opinion his welfare demanded that he retire from the campaign. Judge Durand signed that it was his wish to retire. He was then shown the letter of resignation which had been prepared some time ago when it was thought that it would be advisable for him to have his name stricken from the ticket. The letter was read to him by his son and then, without hesitation, Judge Durand signed it with a lead pencil. It is as follows:

"Flint, Mich., Sept. 23, 1902.

"To Hon. Justin R. Whiting, Chairman Democratic State Central Committee:

"Dear Sir: The severe nature of my illness constrains me to relinquish the nomination for the office of governor of Michigan, with which I was honored by the Democratic state convention recently held in Detroit. In doing this I express my gratitude for the confidence reposed in me by the convention and for the manifestations of personal friendship which I have received from all parts of the state, irrespective of party politics.

"Yours very truly,

"GEO. H. DURAND."

Judge Durand fully comprehended the nature of the document he had signed, appreciating that in so doing he had thrown away his chances of being elected governor of the great state of Michigan, but after signing it he appeared to feel relieved in a great measure.

Foreigners at U of M.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 25.—More foreigners are enrolling at the University of Michigan this year than ever before, and from every quarter of the globe—China, Japan, Philippines, Persia, Syria, Armenia, Russia, Mexico, West Indies, and the far north and south. The students from Spanish speaking countries have formed a club, La Colonia Espanola, with sixteen members. The Philippine students are sending great numbers of native boys over to the United States to be educated, and the presence of so many Michigan alumni in the islands results in many of the prospective students selecting Ann Arbor. A club has been formed by colored students, and they are now living in their own house.

Disease in Michigan.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 25.—Reports to the state board of health indicate that diarrhoea, rheumatism, neuralgia, bronchitis and tonsillitis, in the order named, caused most sickness in Michigan during the week ending Sept. 20, 1902. Meningitis was reported present at 4 places, whooping cough at 18, diphtheria at 21 measles at 22, small pox at 24, scarlet fever at 60, typhoid fever at 88, and consumption at 222.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Arenac County Fair.—Arenac county fair opens Thursday (today), with every prospect of the best exhibit in all departments ever had. A feature will be 1,000 school children in line and a school exhibit in a building erected for that purpose.

Queer Case of Coma.—Mrs. Florence Cassel of Nashville has lain unconscious since Sunday night, and her case is puzzling the local physicians. She was stricken while at church Sunday night, and some of those who sat near her say she was then eating morphine tablets.

Will Build New Rectory.—Plans are being prepared by a Detroit architect for a $5,000 rectory at Dowagiac for the Catholic society. It will be of brick and modern in every respect. The society is preparing to hold a bazaar, which is always well patronized.

Suspect Incendiarism.—G. T. detectives are in Lapeer working on the stock yard fire case, in which the company lost a pair of scales and other material. At the time of the fire there was said to be a strong odor of kerosene, and shavings were found near the stock yards where the fire originated.

REFUSED TO SEE HIM.

Shear, the Muskegon Forger, Deserted by His Family.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 25.—The examination of the office of Luther W. Shear, the self-confessed forger, begun Saturday, has been concluded. Among other things discovered was a stock of forged papers. It is said the examination revealed nothing of moment. A number of small notes owing to Shear were found, but these altogether will not amount to $200. It is understood that very few of Shear's creditors who have been to see him are satisfied with what he said in explanation. One said: "Things are worse mixed up now than before Shear returned home. It would have been much better for all if he had not come back."

Mrs. Shear and the prisoner's daughter have not been to see him since his incarceration. On the day of his arraignment in circuit court Mrs. Shear brought to the jail her husband's overcoat, but refused to see him.

Special Orders to G. A. R.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 25.—Commander Anthony of the Michigan G. A. R. has issued special orders regarding the national encampment at Washington next week. The resignation of William S. Green as chief of staff is announced, and the appointment of E. S. Jamieson of Post 384 to the position made public. William A. Jellison of Post 380 is detailed to have charge of the registration at headquarters in Washington, and members of the order are requested to register promptly on their arrival in Washington. The commander quotes Adjutant General Towler of the national organization to the effect that veterans need not worry over the assignment of free quarters at Washington, as all details will be arranged on their arrival.

May Be Heir to Thousands.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Libbie French Moore, a native of Genesee county, and until yesterday a resident of this city, is the possible heiress to a fortune of $150,000. Mrs. Moore is the daughter of Thomas Webb, a former resident of Clayton township, who was disowned by her parents for marrying in opposition to their wishes. Webb's real name was Merwell, and his native state was New York. It is expected to establish the fact that Webb was really the descendant of the deceased Merwell by the testimony of a brother of the wife residing in Texas, who was cognizant of all the facts.

A Red Letter Day.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 25.—Oct. 1 will be a red letter day to the supreme hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, which is a social auxiliary to the supreme tent, Knights of the Maccabees. The supreme hive has a membership of 105,000, with 2,215 hives, organized in forty-nine states, territories and provinces. During the past ten years $2,262,085.32 has been paid into the homes of the beneficiaries. On Oct. 1 members will fly the colors of the order, and at 8 o'clock p. m. the hives will hold simultaneous meetings in their lodge rooms to carry out a specially prepared program.

Bad Fire at West Saginaw.

Saginaw, W. S. Mich., Sept. 25.—The Saginaw Asphalt Roofing company suffered a heavy loss by a fire Wednesday, which originated in a most peculiar manner. While the engineer was thawing out an iron condenser so that the tar would run off there was an explosion and in a few minutes the plant was in flames. There was a succession of explosions following the first one, and debris was thrown several blocks. The company was incorporated for $10,000 and it suffered a loss of about $45,000, fully covered by insurance.

Jackson Boy Admitted.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 25.—The following were among the candidates for admission to the naval academy who Wednesday passed the physical examination and were sworn in as midshipmen: Fred M. Perkins, Salem, Ore.; Luke S. Wunderly, Huron, O.; Frank J. Fletcher, Marshalltown, Ia.; Rich and R. Mann, Ft. McKeon, Mont.; Walter Becker, Jackson, Mich.; Harvey Delano, Arcadia, Mo.

Fell to His Death.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 25.—Martin Verhant, a timberman employed in the north branch of the Tamarack mine, slipped from an ascending cage and fell 4,700 feet to his death. As Verhant fell two miners riding in the cage caught his legs. He traveled a short distance feet uppermost, and then the miners were forced to loose their hold. Verhant leaves a widow and family in Austria.

Killed His Brother.

Reading, Mich., Sept. 25.—Wednesday afternoon the two children of John Zeiman, living three miles west, while playing in the house, got hold of a 32-caliber revolver. In handling the weapon, the elder, a boy of twelve, shot his brother, eight years old, through the stomach. The little fellow died in twenty minutes.

Michigan Pensioners.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Michigan pensioners granted Wednesday. Original—Charles L. Gunn, Muskegon, $8. Increase—William Gilson, St. Johns, $17; Albert Tendes, Benton Harbor, $17; Daniel Harding, Burr Oak, $8. Widows—Mary J. Wall, Detroit, $8.

Irish Leaders Sentenced.

London, Sept. 25.—At Birr, Kings county, Ireland, Wednesday, Edmund Haviland Burke, M.P.; Michael Reddy, M.P. and chairman of the rural district council; William Lowry, chairman of the Birr board of guardians, and Michael Hogan were sentenced to terms of imprisonment at hard labor. They appealed from the sentence and were released on bail.

Messrs. Haviland Burke, Reddy, and Hogan were arraigned at Birr last Monday under the crimes act, charged with intimidating shopkeepers into joining the United Irish league.

BUSY THE LAST DAY

WAR VETERANS ENTERTAINED FAMOUS CLARA BARTON.

DIFFERENT ORGANIZATIONS TO SOON UNITE.

OFFICERS ELECTED AND NEW NAME ADOPTED.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—The Spanish War Veterans got down to business yesterday and finished up all their work in time to allow them to attend the reception that was given at the Russell house in the evening to Miss Clara Barton, Mrs. Flora A. Leary, vice-president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. Allyn K. Capron and Mrs. A. T. Bliss.

The parlors of the Russell house were gallantly decorated with national flags in honor of the occasion, and the house orchestra supplied the music. The veterans were invited, and so were their lady friends and the general public, and the invitation was accepted by hundreds who had never before had a chance of meeting the Florence Nightingale of America.

Amalgamation Question.

The principal business before the veterans' convention outside of the election of officers was to consider a proposal to unite all the different organizations of men who were out of that war. There are two other such organizations, the Spanish-American War Veterans and the Service Men. The Spanish War Veterans claim to have a membership of about 138,000, and the Spanish-American association has about one sixth of that number, and the Service Men are still less numerous. The Spanish-American association is ready for amalgamation and has sent the following telegram to General M. T. Urell, acting commander-in-chief of the order now meeting in this city:

"Committee of five appointed and resolutions adopted for consolidation. Liller deposed. Will you arrange joint meeting?"

(Signed) "J. B. CORVELLI."

In the afternoon the veterans took the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary for a ride on the steamer Tashmoo, but while they were on board they were ungrateful enough to hold a business session, at which they cleared up all the business they had before them.

Dyer's Report.

Adjutant General Dyer reported that during the past year the membership had increased from 12,600 to 138,000. Nearly 200 commands had been organized in the various states and territories, and some even in the Philippines and Porto Rico and over 139 others were in process of formation. The commands were all in good financial standing and had spent $169,000 for supplies, colors and relief work, and the finances of the national organization were also in good condition. The balance on hand being over $5,000. A fraternal feeling existed, he said, between this organization and the other veteran organizations including the Grand Army of the Republic.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

General M. T. Urell of Washington, commander-in-chief; Harold C. McGraw, Indianapolis, senior vice-commander; C. L. Champe S. Andrews, New York, junior vice-commander; Captain H. W. Bird, Buffalo, judge advocate general; Q. N. Kinney, Bay City, inspector general; Fr. W. H. Reaney, D. O. chaplain general; Reaney, D. O. surgeon general; S. M. N. J. surgeon general; Clara Barton, Glen Echo, Md., sponsor re-elected, by acclamation.

Council of administration—George T. Gaston, Detroit; G. Layburn, Shreve, D. C. John T. Hilton, New York; Charles H. Bach, Brooklyn; Capt. Young New York; Karl Gunster, Pennsylvania; Congressman H. D. Green, Pennsylvania; J. H. Wussow, Wisconsin; J. W. Carver, Maine; F. C. Beach, Connecticut; H. L. Sutterly, New York.

Name Changed.

The name of the association was changed to the National Army and Navy Spanish War Veterans. This was done to allow veterans of the war to become members.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

He Lived in Three Centuries.—William Gilford of Memphis Monday celebrated his 104th birthday and is undoubtedly the oldest man in the country, if not in the state. He has lived in three centuries.

Killed by a Premature Blast.—Joseph Cenkoviak, Croatian miner at Phoenix mine, Calumet, was killed instantly by a premature discharge of a blast. He was thirty-five years old and single.

Basket Famine Threatened.—Fruit growers in Kent county narrowly escaped a basket famine Monday. Every basket was used up. Extra trains hurried several thousand baskets into Sparta just in time to save a loss of thousands of dollars.

Sad News For an Invalid.—While Mrs. J. Hamilton of Stone street, Port Huron, was telephoning for a physician she received the information that her son-in-law had died suddenly in San Francisco, and that his body was on its way. Mrs. Hamilton is in a serious condition.

Baby Left on Doorstep.—At 1:30 Tuesday morning the family of Nelson Raub of Albion was awakened by three loud rings at the doorbell and the sound of rapidly retreating footsteps. Mrs. Raub hastened to the front door, where to her surprise she found a three-months-old girl baby lying carefully protected by three porch pillows.

Cause of Steamship Explosions.

Many steamship explosions are due to water-hammer action. A plug of water only six inches long propelled by only two feet, under a pressure of fifteen pounds can exert a pressure of 6,400 pounds on being suddenly stopped.

Used for Pneumonia.

Dr. J. C. Bishop, of Agnew, Mich., says: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." Refuse substitutes.

Record for Slow Shipbuilding.

A record in slow shipbuilding is reported from Spain. Ten years ago a cruiser, the Prince Sade Asturias, was put on the stocks, and a few days ago the minister of marine informed King Alfonso that the vessel would be ready to take part in the forthcoming naval review in the Mediterranean.

Impossible to foresee an accident. Not impossible to be prepared for it. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Monarch over pain.

Demand for Reading Matter.

Some idea of the increasing appetite of the American people for "reading matter" is conveyed by the census bulletin on "Printing and Publishing." The number of newspapers and periodicals published in 1900 was 18,226 and the aggregate number of copies issued in that year was 8,168,148,749. The latter staggering total was an increase of 74 per cent over the corresponding total of the census of 1890.

No Substitute Offered.

Say what you will about druggists offering something "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the facts still stand that ninety-nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when the best remedy for diarrhoea is asked for, and do so because they know it is the one remedy that can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. It is for sale by George C. Hueston.

Effect of Fire on Diamonds.

None can tell where the diamond goes to in combustion. Burn it, and it leaves no ash; the flame is exterior, like that of a cork, and when it has blazed itself out there remains not even so much as would dust the antennae of a butterfly.

A Boy's Wild Ride for Life.

With family around expecting him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, W. H. Brown of Leesville, Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." Like marvelous cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Grip prove its matchless merit for all Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Geo. C. Hueston's drug store.

Went Too Close to Danger.

One of the victims of the St. Pierre disaster was a French painter, Paul Meurt, who was at Martinique on an artistic mission from the government. He ascended to the crater of Mont Pelée as late as April 28.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake of Wood Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble."

Baptist Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

On account of the Methodist pastor attending conference a large number of his flock worshiped with us last Sunday.

Theme for Sunday morning sermon
"The Mountain of Ascension." The evening subject will be "The Good Shepherd."

Last Sunday evening the usual order of service for the BYPU was laid aside and the leader, Miss Estella Angell, read Drummond's
"Greatest Thing in the World." It was a very pleasing change.

The BYPU will be led by Miss Blanche Dunham. The topic is "Our Missions in Sweden, Norway and Denmark." This is our monthly Conquest meeting and it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

The Sixty Second annual meeting of the Wayne Baptist association is to be held with the First Baptist church of Plymouth next week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.
Several from this church both delegates and visitors will attend.
Pastor Thrasher is serving his second year as Moderator of the association.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

Next Sunday is Home Missionary day.

We were glad to see a number of our Methodist friends in our congregation last Sunday.

The pastor officiated at the funeral of Clark R. Cogsdill at Farmington last Saturday afternoon.

The sermon next Sunday morning will be on John Calvin. Come and hear what we owe to the best-known man in Christian history.

The Ladies' Synodical Missionary meeting will be held at Pontiac on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, October 1 and 2. Mrs. S. A.
Parsons and Mrs. Wm. Pinkerton are the delegates from our society.

On Monday evening of next week,
Sept. 29 there will be a meeting of the 1st division of the Ladies' Aid society at Mrs. Jerome's. All the ladies in the church and congregation whose names begin with letters A to L inclusive are cordially invited to be present, whether having worked hitherto or not. Let us have a good rally.

The ladies' party at Mrs. Eastherly's Monday afternoon was a great success. At least seventy five were present and a delightful time was had. One hardly knows whether it was a garden house, porch or thimble party so beautifully were all these ideas combined in the delicious gathering at beautiful "Braeside."

The muslin gowns, the croquet and ping pong on the lawn, the guessing contest on the veranda in which Mrs. A. C. Hall was victorious, all went to show that the summer was not yet ended. The ladies were served on the many sided porch to rolls, chicken salad, olives, cake and coffee. A silver offering amounting to about sixteen dollars was received for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid society. Heart thanks were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Eastherly for their charming hospitality and to the other members of the household for their very kind service.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Dickerson of Plymouth were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore Sunday.

HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED.

A Noted Author Who Has Changed
Her Opinion of Mere Man.

Lillian Bell Bogue, the clever writer who has written and made many pungent remarks about the sex masculine, recently revisited Chicago and while there took occasion to revise some of her previous views on men.

Possibly the fact that Mrs. Bogue has assumed the matrimonial fetters since she wrote "The Love Affairs of an Old Maid" and kindred works accounts for her change of heart.

In the "On Matrimony and the Bringing Up of Children" part of her first book Miss Bell sagely remarked that

LILLIAN BELL BOGUE.

old maids' theories in regard to these important questions must ever hold good because they remain unproved.
Having satisfactorily settled the first half of this subject, Mrs. Bogue has tried in "Hope Loring" to settle the second. Different methods of child training are strongly contrasted, along with a powerful love story, in the new novel.

In speaking of her future plans Mrs.
Bogue now refers to them as "our plans." Even the forthcoming new novel seems bound up with "The Angel," as Mrs. Bogue some time christened the young husband in the "Tales of a Young Housewife" series.

Since Lillian Bell married Arthur Hoyt Bogue, the fortunate young Chicago man, they have not been separated for more than four or five hours at a time in all the two and a half years. Everything they do and enjoy in common, from gardening to shopping, and everything they find "more fun" than the ordinary mortal can imagine. Allowing for which facts it is by no means astonishing to learn that Mrs. Bogue believes the "happy rough married" problem quite simple of solution and would not for worlds go back to her maiden state.

FORCED TO BE RULER.

How Prince Arthur of Connaught
Ruled the Duke of Albany.

An interesting story comes from London regarding the succession to the ducal crown of the German duchy of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. The story goes that on the day the death of the reigning duke of Saxe-Coburg was announced Prince Arthur of Connaught, the rightful heir met the young Duke of Albany, now Duke of Saxe-Coburg
and Gotha, and said:

"Look here. You have heard, I suppose, that they want me to go off to Germany and be Duke of Coburg?"

"Yes," said Albany.

"Well," continued his cousin, "I am going into the British army, and I am

DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG.

not going to turn German. You can go and be Duke of Coburg."

"But," said Albany, "I do not want to go to Germany."

"Look here, young chap," said Connaught, who is a year or two older,
"you've got to be Duke of Coburg. Next Sunday you are going up to Windsor to lunch with grandmamma, and mind you tell her it's all right and that you agree. If you don't, look out for squalls and take care I don't kick you jolly well all around the schoolyard."

So of course Albany had to give in and is now the ruler elect of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

A Valuable Specialty.

"Yep, he's gettin' rich hand over fist."
"Don't look so plucky smart neither.
How does he do it?"

"It's a baseball lawyer an' knows all the terms."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The L. O. T. M. quilt drawing took place Tuesday evening, the holders of the lucky tickets proving to be Jake Kimmel and R. R. McKahan. Mr. Kimmel, who got the best quilt, only bought his ticket late that afternoon at the urgent solicitation of one of the ladies.

It will pay the readers of the Record to read our advertisement in another column.

NORTHVILLE MILLING CO.

The largest line of robes and blankets outside of Detroit at less than Detroit prices at Cattermole & Scher's.

Mrs. T. H. Turner has her beautiful collection of hand painted china on exhibit at the state fair.

Miss Mary Freeman of the Baseline is taking a course of study at the Cleary Business college of Ypsilanti.

D. E. Cole and family who recently came here from Toledo are the new occupants of Mrs. Blackwood's house on Main street.

All members of Northville camp M. W. A. are particularly requested to be present at the next meeting, October 21. J. Earle Brown of St. Johns, general lecturer, is to be present and will speak on "Readjustment."

F. S. Power and family of Novi township are to be the occupants of Prof. C. H. Burgess' house on Mill street. Mr. and Mrs. Power will be welcome additions to Northville's population. The son and daughter are already attending school here.

Samuel Lawrence of Glenwood, who is well known by many Northville people and who will be remembered by many others as the Memorial day speaker here last spring, has bought the Gordon farm near the fish hatchery and will move here this fall. He is going extensively into the raising of poultry.

The Wayne County Teachers' association meets tomorrow, Sept. 27, at the Trenton high school. There is to be a program of much interest to the profession and a boat ride and banquet between the afternoon and evening sessions. Prof. Loeffler, formerly of the Northville schools, is down for an address on "The School Library."

A rather peculiar case of disappointment was experienced last Friday by a Mr. and Mrs. Thompson who came from England to visit Mrs. Sanderson on the base line just at town. When they arrived at the farm they found it occupied by strangers, Mrs. Sanderson having sold it and gone to Canada for an extended stay.

R. H. Purdy's house had a narrow escape from electrocution one day last week. The animal, which was being on the delivery wagon, stepped on the rail of the electric car track when a car was approaching and was knocked down as suddenly and thoroughly as by any other form of lightning, but no damage was done except a little to the wagon.

Women who allow their gowns to wipe up the streets are confronted with a heretofore unsuspected danger. A woman was crossing a trolley track in Hartford, Conn., with a baby in her arms when her wet dress dragging across the rails acted as conductor for an electric current of sufficient power to knock her down and to kill the child she was carrying.

A letter to the Record from George Dickerson of Richmond, Va., a former Northville resident, speaks very highly of the climate of that region which he describes as delightfully cool in summer and mild in winter. Mr. Dickerson has visited many historical points in and around Richmond. He is working at his trade as a moulder and doing extremely well as to wages. William Chrysler is prospering finely on a farm, and both are in excellent health and enjoying Virginian life extremely well.

Trunks, Valises and Telescopes at reduced prices at Cattermole & Scher's.

Mrs. Colquhoun, formerly of this village, who lives on the Rogers farm east of town, is suffering from serious injuries received by falling on a fence while climbing over it.

At the Plymouth fair last week Hiram Cady's horse came out a star winner in Wednesday's race. It was entered in a race with ten starters and won out in three straight heats. Mr. Cady is to be congratulated.

For the reason that many of the members of the Northville lodge, F. & A. M., will wish to hear Charles E. Townsend next Monday evening, our lodge will confer the third degree on Tuesday evening instead of Monday. By order of W. M.

Henry Fry has secured a position in the transportation department of the P. M. railway in Detroit. He will continue to reside in Northville going to and from his work on the train. Henry has the making of a good railway man and his many Northville friends will be glad to know of his good fortune.

Mrs. Carrie Nolan was up before Judge Webster Tuesday on the charge of being one of the principals last Friday night in one of the periodical disturbances of the peace in the "Pietty Hill" district. She was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and spend thirty days in the Detroit house of correction. Warrants have been issued for the other participants in the affair.

New Use for Refined Paraffine Wax.

A new and important use for Refined Paraffine Wax seems to have been discovered by a prominent resident of Ohio, living near Lancaster, who had two trees badly damaged by storm, one being a maple and the other an apple. In each case a large limb was broken down from the trunk, but still attached to it. The limbs were propped up and fastened securely with straps, very much as a broken leg might be fastened with splints and then melted refined wax poured into and over all the cracks. The "surgical operation" was entirely successful. The Paraffine prevented the escape of the sap, kept out the rain and moisture which would have rotted the trees, prevented the depredations of insects, and the limbs seem thus far to be perfectly reattached to the trees.

Sunday Magazine Supplement of the New York Times.

"Brander Matthews and F. R. Richardson, publisher of the International Monthly, were walking down Broadway from Fourteenth Street discussing some late philosophical essays. Suddenly the litterateur stopped with a smile.

"Read that sign," he observed. "What policeman will dare take up arms against the hypothesis of evolution now?"

"Mr. Richardson looked and laughed. He read the sign aloud. 'The Herbert Spencer Club—Have One.'"

"If you insist," replied Mr. Matthews. "I hope his cigars are not inferior to his synthesis."

Above is quoted in the Man in the Street department. It is the kind of advertising that one cannot buy.

Daffy Over Indoor Baseball.

Houghton Mich., Sept. 24.—Indoor baseball will be all the rage in Houghton county the coming winter. Teams have been organized at Houghton, Hancock, Dollar Bay, Lake Linden, Calumet and Kearsarge. Several hockey teams will also be organized. The Portage Lake team defeated nearly everything last year and gained a world-wide reputation.

Senator High Still Missing.

Ovid, Mich., Sept. 24.—Nothing has yet developed showing which direction Senator H. H. High took when he left this place so abruptly Sept. 4. His wife has received no word from him and the investigation into the location of his affairs continues. A Prolific Inventor.
A. E. Dolbear, who has just received the degree of LL. D. from Tufts college, first came into prominence forty years ago, when he invented a writing telegraph. In 1874 he invented a magnetic telephone, in 1879 the static telephone and as long ago as 1881 a system of wireless telegraphy.

Happily Surprised.
Mr. H. C. Hartman, a well known citizen of Anamosa, Iowa, has every summer for several years been troubled with attacks of diarrhoea, which were frequently accompanied by severe griping pains. "I used to call a doctor," he says "but it became a regular summer affliction and in my search for relief I became acquainted with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This proved so effective and so prompt that I came to rely exclusively upon it, and what also happily surprised me was that while it stopped the diarrhoea it never constipated. This is a favorite remedy for diarrhoea wherever known. It is not an astringent, hence does not constipate. For sale by Geo. C. Hueston.

A Natural Barometer.
A piece of camphor gum is a very good indicator of what the weather is going to be. If, when the camphor is exposed to the air, the gum remains dry, the weather will be fresh and dry, but if the gum absorbs the moisture and seems damp it is an indication of rain.

A Parson's Noble Act.
"I want all the world to know," writes Rev. C. J. Budlong, of Ashaway, R. I., "what a thoroughly good and reliable medicine I found in Electric Bitters. YES OR NO?

Northville People are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of our senses? Is there anything in the testimony of one's friends? Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know? Are the opinions of local citizens of any greater moment than those of strangers? Would you sooner believe people living in some far away place than citizens of your own city? We think not! For home proof can easily be investigated.

Mrs. Porter of Cadiz street says: "I have great faith in Doan's Kidney Pills and know them to be a valuable remedy. I was troubled for over two years with a dull aching pain in my back. I could hardly stoop and get up again. If I took cold it always settled in my back, causing much pain and inconvenience. Some mornings I was so lame and stiff that I could hardly get around and had to make quite an effort to dress myself. Learning about Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box at Murdock Bros' drug store. The benefit derived from their use caused me to value them very highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Jay Cooke's Peaceful Old Age.
Jay Cooke, formerly looked upon as the greatest financier of the country, is 81 years old, but is one of the best preserved men of the day and is as interesting in his reminiscences of the times when he dealt with enterprises in which billions of dollars were involved as he ever was. His life is a quiet one at Ogontz lodge.

Not Doomed for Life.
"I was treated for three years by good doctors," writes W. A. Greer McConnelville O., "for Piles and Fistula, but when all failed Bucher's Anca Salve cured me in two weeks." Cures Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Corns, Sores, Eruptions, Salt Rheum, Piles, or no pay 25c at Geo. C. Hueston's drug store.

Good for Insect Bites.
Common yellow soap moistened slightly and spread over a fresh mosquito bite, will, it is said, quickly relieve the stinging pain. The same application is good for bites of other insects.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running ear, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; none comes out of ten are caused by catarrh which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will cure One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

An ostrich can see all around him without moving his head. A person standing behind an ostrich can see the pupils of the fowl's eyes, and, of course, he is seen by the fowl.

A Sad Disappointment.
Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cure biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever. PREPARING FOR WAR.

HOW CANADA IS GETTING READY FOR POSSIBLE TROUBLE.

What Rifle Practice Has Done For Our Neighbors Across the Border. Lord Dunderdale, New Commander of Canadian Militia.

Major General the Earl of Dunderdale, who has just arrived in Canada from England to assume command of the Canadian militia, intends to tune up the troops of that British colony to the highest pitch of efficiency in warfare.

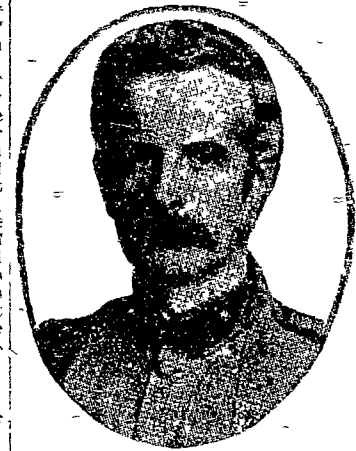

As a result of the Boer war Canada is rapidly becoming a nation of sharpshooters, and the noble earl will foster that idea as well as perfect the troops in all the latest and approved methods of modern warfare.

The Canadian government will join heartily with General Dunderdale in his endeavors. Already marksmanship has been developed to an extraordinary degree. Every village in Canada sports a rifle range, and every province is a school for sharpshooters. It is not a fact, but has seized upon the Canadians with a firmness that promises to leave an indelible stamp upon the people for a generation. Of Canada's 6,000,000 people there are 500,000 capable of bearing arms. This vast army is developing into a fighting machine of colossal proportions.

The lessons of the South African field indicated with frightful force just what a body of sharpshooters can do when opposed to armies trained in the old school of war. Imagine an army of 500,000 Canadians invading the United States; every man of them capable of doing execution that Cronje and his Boer warriors wrought along the Modder river, Colenso and the other death-traps of South Africa! That is what the Canadian Militia will be capable of doing if this enthusiasm continues for another year.

This work is not confined to the regular troops nor the militia, but business and working men generally have caught the fever and have become experts at the ranges. These are the very men from whom the fighters must be drawn if Canada is ever called upon to defend her frontiers or to invade some other country.

The government supplies all the ammunition, rifles, equipment and special instructors. Many of the cities where large rifle ranges are located provide part of the transportation of rifle teams, and the railroads give a very low rate.

MAJOR GENERAL DUNDERDALE
[Commander of Canadian militia.]

So popular has range shooting become that it has been made a part of the national sport. A good marksman in Canada is a man of accomplishment wherever he goes. Indeed it is the popularity of the work among people outside of military life which promises to make the Canadians so formidable as a fighting force. They shoot at all distances, known and unknown, such as a field of battle presents.

Thus men all over Canada are being taught daily not only to shoot, but what is more important, as proved by the deadly work of the Boers, to estimate distances and wind. In this is nine-tenths of the work of the marksman.

Joined to this proficiency with the rifle will be the instruction in the style of fighting which was so effective with the Boers. General Dunderdale fought in South Africa and is a capable instructor in this style of fighting.

Canada will thus be a formidable enemy even without the support of the mother country. England, it is now claimed, can draw enough sharpshooters from Canada within a year to overwhelm any ordinary European army. The Earl of Dunderdale is the twelfth to hold the title. He entered the British army in 1870 and first saw active service in the Nile expedition of 1884-85. In 1895 he was in charge of the mounted troops of the south Natal field force and was present at the battle of Colenso.

Subsequently he commanded a cavalry brigade and led the way into Ladysmith when the siege was raised. He was then engaged in clearing Natal and also operated in the Transvaal. His present military rank was awarded him in 1900 for distinguished services in the field.

Lord Dunderdale succeeded to the earldom in 1885 and is now fifty years old. His wife was formerly Miss Winifred Hesketh, daughter of an officer in the Life Guards.

Miniature Court in Paris.
The Duc d'Orleans, not being able to enter France and carry on the royalist propaganda himself, is doing it by deputy. The Duchesse d'Orleans has been spending some time in Paris and holding a kind of miniature court at Hotel Continental. Deputations of various kinds were received, but the indifference with which the whole affair was regarded proves how harmless the move really was.

Not Worry, but Slumber.
They were discussing suicides and the proneness of different peoples to depart in that way, when one of those engaged in the conversation turned to a colored man and asked: "Why is it that so few of your people take their own lives?" After scratching his head a moment the person addressed responded: "Well, I tell you, boss, when a nigger sits down he don't worry, but goes to sleep."

Who Pays the Printer?

When you go around from printer to printer getting bids on a job and then giving it to the lowest bidder, you get an indifferently good job—one with no particularly good points—one that tells no goods for you, then who pays the printer?

YOU DO.

When you pick out a good printer, giving him all your work, educating him to an idea of your needs, and paying a fair price for the work you get, your printed matter (when secured at the Record Printers) necessarily creates a favorable impression for you and for what you offer, and becomes a factor in selling your goods. Then who pays the printer? Your customer.

HE DOES.

NOT LIKE OTHER MEN

By Frederic Van Rensselaer Dey,

Quality of a Sin," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by Frederic Van Rensselaer Dey.

"Of course I believe it. How could I help believing it? The only wonder is that I was such an idiot as not to see it at once. I ought to have seen it and now, viewed in the light of understanding, I suppose I did see it without recognizing it. When I first came to this God forsaken country, I used to prospect for gold over there in the Sierras, and I've picked up pay dirt and chucked it away again a good many times without knowing what it was. That's just how it was this time. Well, kid, before we go any deeper into this subject, I've got just one thing to say—I'm going to be father and mother and brother and sister and the hull-bling lot of relatives to you from this on, without regard to conventionalities, and for the present, while I turn this thing over in my mind two or three times, I'm going to think, and while I'm thinking I'm going to treat you as I always have—just as if you were a boy—and lastly, before I speak very decidedly on the subject, I'm going to have a talk with Miss Erna Thomas. She's a whole team with a boss behind and a dog under the wagon. Let's ride on."

There was silence between them after that, neither speaking until the ranch was before them; then it was Craig Thompson who spoke.

"I brought Hank Smith along with me," he said. "He's handy with tools and can make a coffin in a jiffy. Where shall we break ground?"

"It makes no difference to me."

"I mean where do you want the old man buried?"

"I understood you. I do not care. Bury him where you please. It is all the same to me."

"Humph! Look here, Lisle, I understand how you feel, but you don't want to do anything now that you'll be sorry for later on and it ain't fair to try and convict a man without hearing him in his own defense. Dick Maxwell's gone where he can't be heard and I don't believe that you are made of the sort of stuff that's going to hit a man when he's down—leastwise that ain't exactly the way that I sized you up."

"What do you want me to do?"

"Your duty, not to him particularly. If you don't like it that way, but to yourself and to others—to me, to the cowboys on your ranch and to the world. It's the worst kind of a coward that turns tail at a time like this. You go to your room and wait for me. Think it over. A man may have lots of reasons for doing things, and they may be of the sort that he can't explain, but there's one thing that is dead certain, and that is that every son and every daughter in the world has got a credit as well as a debit account in the names of the old folks, and anybody who won't study both sides of the ledger before making out the balance sheet ain't fit to be mentioned in polite society, and Lisle, the only really polite society in the world is the one that's made up of honest people."

Lisle reached out one hand and rested it upon the arm of her friend.

"You are right, Craig," she said. "There is no need for me to think of over. You have done that for me in the few words that you have uttered. Before you leave me, however, there is one question which I must ask you."

"What is it, kid?"

"Do you despise me because I am a woman? Tell me truly—do you despise me?"

"Lisle, the man never ved who honestly despised women as a class. Here and there one man may have despised and hated one woman or two or a dozen—but all of 'em? Not much! 'Tain't natural, and God Almighty never made one of us that way."

"My father did."

"Not on your life, Lisle. The best proof that you are wrong is the fact that he hid himself away from 'em all the way he did. He did that because he loved 'em so that he didn't dare go where they were for fear that his pride would give in to human nature. It's more than likely that one woman has deceived him somehow, and he got on his ear, just as you have done at him. There wasn't any old critter like Craig Thompson around to tell him the difference 'tween tweedledum and tweedledee. You just make out that balance sheet and look it over, and if you don't find more to your dad's credit than you've got ag'in him I'll eat it."

"But you have not replied to my question, Craig."

"Ain't I? Well, I'll answer it now. It don't make no difference to me or to any other man whether a human critter's a man or a woman. It's the critter, not the sex, that we look at. Nobody will ever be despised by anybody if he or she is honest and true. Those are the biggest words in the dictionary of human conduct, 'cause they mean the most. As for my despising you because you're a woman, the idea is infernal rot. When I despise a person, that person's pretty apt to know it 'thout asking questions on the subject. Look here, Lisle, I wasn't intending to talk any more to you till after I had a chance to turn things over in my mind, but I'll say this: You're facing a situation that looks a heap sight bigger to you than it does or ever will to anybody else. You have found out that you are a woman without knowing what a woman is, and you sorter feel as if you was walking round arm in arm with your own ghost. You've met a stranger that you can't git away from for the rest of your life. You've got to get acquainted, and the sooner you get on familiar terms with yourself—the better for all concerned. If you had been picked up and carried away and suddenly put down again on another planet, you couldn't have been in a much worse fix than you are now, but I reckon you'd find the inhabitants of the other place sort of decent, and you'd find 'em so here. I think that between Tom Thomas, Erna and me we can set you on the right road all right, but you've got to remember that you can't jump on to your horse and ride from here to my ranch in half an hour. If you do it in three, you're riding mighty fast, and you know it. So you see you can't expect to know everything that concerns this transformation of yours in a holy-minute. It ain't the future that's puzzling me; it's the present. I'll have a talk with Tom and his daughter, and bimeby we'll look over Dick's papers and things. The dominion'll be here about sundown, and we'll have the funeral and plant your guy-nor in the morning, and tomorrow night after the rest have gone to bed you and me and maybe Tom will sit down in the library and talk it over. In the meantime I'll be doing some thinking, and you can tote Erna around the place and show her things and talk. Tom and I will manage everything. You jest leave that to us. You keep

"You are right," said Lisle. "Your head up and be a man yet awhile. Don't let anybody see that things are any different, and for the rest put your elbow on Craig Thompson's shoulder and lean there, and, lastly, don't go back on the dead man."

He turned away abruptly and left Lisle alone, for they had brought their horses to a halt close beside the corral.

CHAPTER XIV. LISLE'S RESOLUTION.

LISLE MAXWELL followed the advice given to her by Craig Thompson, and during the remainder of that day and the one succeeding it she kept much in the society of Erna, save at those intervals when her presence was required elsewhere. The friendship began so strangely ripened rapidly, and at Erna's request they occupied the same room, so that their opportunity for the exchange of confidences was manifold. The servants were quartered in an adjacent building, and from them and from the cowboys employed upon the ranch the secret of Lisle's identity was kept, nor were the minister and the doctor made more wise.

After the funeral Craig called Lisle to him and conducted her to the library.

"We've been through Dick's papers," he said, "and everything is as ship-shape as it could be. I found a letter addressed to me, written the same day that I went away from here after the round up. I reckon maybe Dick thought he might shuffle off without much warning, and he did. Something that I said to him that day weighed on his mind, I reckon, and he appointed me guardian pro tem. His will and everything concerning his business is in the hands of a lawyer in the east—in New York city—a fellow named Dan Maxwell. Did you ever hear of him?"

"Never."

"Well, I suspect he's some relation, though I don't know. Anyhow I'm to notify him of Dick's death, and he'll do the rest and the old man wanted me to stay here with you till Dan Maxwell's arrival. The letter tells me about your being a girl and says that I can use my own judgment about telling you before Dan Maxwell gets here, but it doesn't say a word about any reasons for the way he brought you up, and it doesn't explain a thing except what I have told you, only that the lawyer has full instructions how to act and that you are rich enough to do as you please for the rest of your life."

"Let me see the letter," said Lisle quietly.

It was given her, and she read it through to the end, finding no more and no less than Craig had told her. But when she returned it to him she said:

"It is my wish, Craig, that you should all go away and leave me here alone for a time. I do not even want you to write to this lawyer until I give you permission to do so."

Thompson shook his head in a decided negative, but the calm, clear voice went on unheeding.

"It must be so, Craig, whether you approve of it or not. I will have it so. I wish to be left here utterly alone until I send for you to come, and I command that you do not communicate with the lawyer in the east until I tell you to do so.

"It's all nonsense, Lisle. Don't you see that it is?"

"No, and it would make no difference if I did."

"Well, let me stay here with you anyway."

"No."

"Keep Erna Thomas with you, then."

"No."

"Let us both stay, or, if you don't want me, I can prevail upon Tom to remain with his daughter."

"No, Craig, no. If I permitted anybody to remain, it would be you, but I must be alone. I will be alone."

"I'll ride over to see you once in the while anyway."

"No, not at all unless I send for you."

"You're a headstrong critter if you are a gal, Lisle."

"Perhaps so. I do not mean to be unfilial, Craig. There is nobody in the world in whom I have as much confidence as I have in you, but even you must leave me alone for awhile. I have learned that leopards can change their spots but they cannot change them all at once."

"Humph! What are you up to anyhow?"

"I do not know—yet."

"You won't go away? You'll stay here on the ranch, won't you?"

"I will do nothing of which you will not ultimately approve."

"Promise me that you won't go away," persisted Craig, who was in despair. For almost the first time in his life he found himself in the presence of a person whose will was stronger than his own. Instead of dominating, as he had expected to do, he was dominated.

"I will make you one promise and only one," replied Lisle calmly. "With that one you will have to be satisfied, or I will end the discussion here. I will, at the end of two months from now, go to you or send for you on condition that during that time you will make no effort to see me or to send a messenger to me. It must be as I have said. Tomorrow morning you will take our friends to your ranch, leaving me here as if nothing had happened. At the end of two months, if not before, you will hear from me or see me—two months from today."

"Well, Lisle, it's got to be done, I suppose, but I call it blamed damned. I'll have a bit that'll last two solid months, you see, and God knows how many dead men you'd have to answer for in that time, for I'll have to shoot somebody just to let off steam, and if you are so anxious to get rid of us we can start tonight, there'll be a moon."

He turned to leave the room, and Lisle's brows contracted with pain. She sprang to his side and detained him with a gesture that was more nearly feminine than anything she had ever done.

"Don't leave me in anger, Craig," she said. "You promised out there on the plain to be father and mother to me. I never needed you so much as I need you now, but for the present, until I have learned to know myself, you must remain at a distance. I do not know why I feel that it must be so, but I do, and it must be, even if you are angry. You won't go away before morning, Craig?"

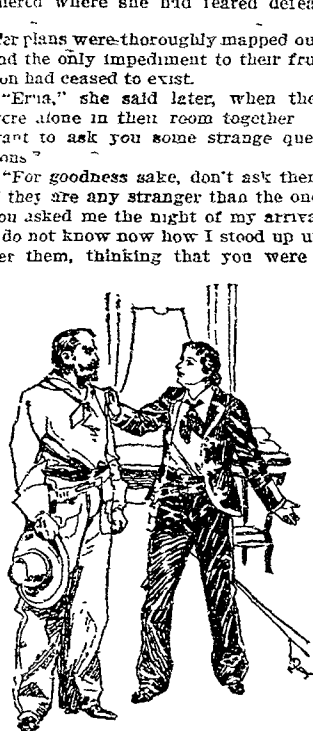

"No."

He left her alone then, not in anger, but in something that so closely resembled an outward appearance that any other than Lisle would have been deceived, but there was a smile upon her face for she knew that she had conquered where she had feared defeat.

Her plans were thoroughly mapped out, and the only impediment to their fruition had ceased to exist.

"Erna," she said later, when they were alone in their room together. "I want to ask you some strange questions."

"For goodness sake, don't ask them, if they are any stranger than the ones you asked me the night of my arrival. I do not know how I stood up under them, thinking that you were a

"Don't leave me in anger, Craig," man. But, then, you were not like other men even then. What have you got on your mind now?"

"How do you get your clothes?"

"Eh? Papa gets them for me—that is, he pays for them."

"I mean where do you get them?"

"At the dressmaker's, of course."

"Do they cost much?"

"Ask papa. He says they cost a fortune."

"What is a dressmaker?"

"Why, a dressmaker is a woman who makes dresses and things. You have to go to the stores and do your shopping, you know, and it's great fun. Then you take what you have bought to your dressmaker, and she cuts and fits and makes. There are men dressmakers, too, but I prefer a woman."

"Dressmakers live in cities, do they not?"

"Certainly. You'll find them everywhere where women live, but you must be sure to get a good one. Heavens, what a figure you have got to fit! It's just perfect. Mrs. Gusset would go wild over it. But if I were you I wouldn't worry about dresses. I've got a plan in my head for you."

"What is it, Erna?"

"I'll take your waist and bust measure, and so forth, and when I get back to Kansas City I'll have something made up that will do. I'll send the things on, and then you come to me. They'll do to travel in, you know, and when you get to Kansas City I'll put you in the hands of Mrs. Gusset, and she'll fix you out in no time."

"Very well, Erna," replied Lisle, with a sigh. "I will write to you when I am ready."

In the morning Lisle bade her new friends goodby. Mounted on her favorite horse, she rode part of the distance with them, and after they separated she sat upon her horse, shading her eyes with her hands and watching them for a long time. At last she wheeled her horse and dashed back again toward her own home, and for the first time in her life she felt utterly alone.

The following day, alone, she rode away from the ranch.

CHAPTER XV. PROUD TO BE A WOMAN.

RAIG THOMPSON went away with a heavy heart, but his faith in Lisle was infinite, and deep down in his own mind he knew that she was right. He was a firm adherent to the principle that personal perplexities are best fought out in solitude, and in reality he admired Lisle for her determination and upheld her in it.

While Mr. Thomas and his daughter remained with him he was content to let things go on as they were, but when the week of their stay came to an end and they had departed he soon became moody, a condition which always immediately preceded one of his fits. Just before the guests left him Erna brought him to ride or send over to Crescent and Cross for information concerning Lisle, but the old frontiersman was obdurate.

"I won't do," he said gruffly. "When Lisle wants me, she'll send for me, and I agreed not to bother her until she did. She's got sand, Lisle has, and if you'd do to cross her in the mood she's in just now. She wouldn't stand it. She'd take the bit in her teeth and get to buck jumping so's she'd throw the whole gang of us. You and your pop mosey right along to Kansas City and say nothing and when Lisle has her stampede out she'll quiet down and go to feeding all quiet and serene. After that I'll take her to Kansas City to see you, and there we can fix her up and regulate matters."

Nevertheless his restlessness increased as the days passed. The one week swelled itself into two, and the two lengthened into three and then four, and Craig developed a habit of riding off alone on the plains and being absent all day. At such times he inevitably rode in the direction of Lisle's ranch to a spot that was situated a little more than half way between the two places and sufficiently high so that from it he could with the aid of his binoculars quite plainly see upon the veranda of the ranch house where he believed Lisle was still engaged in "fighting it out." He used to dismount from his horse, turn him broadside to ward the ranch, and resting his arms upon the saddle study for an hour at a time every moving object that came into his range of vision. Sometimes he thought he recognized the figure of Lisle, and during the ensuing 24 hours there was always an appreciable lifting of the cloud that rested upon him. But he never went farther than that particular point, and he never permitted one of his men to do so.

"If I don't keep my word with her now, she'll never trust me again as long as I live," was his mental comment whenever the inclination to obtain information on the sly proved almost too strong for him. But he became more and more morose as the weeks passed, hoping all the time that she would not permit the entire two months to come to an end before she communicated with him; but at last, when only two weeks remained until the time would be up, he began to count the days, convinced that he would never hear from nor see her until the expiration of the time.

When the morning of the great day arrived, he was up with the sun, his moroseness had vanished, and Craig Thompson was himself again. He possessed implicit faith that Lisle would keep her word, and he felt as certain that he would have news of her or see her before the sun set as he was that he would live until that hour. That day he did not ride out, as usual, but he roamed restlessly about the place and, much to the astonishment of his men, whistled gayly while he "inspected things."

As the day advanced and began to decline he became uneasy, and at last, when the sun glowed like a ball of fire in the west preparatory to hiding itself behind the Sierras, he began to talk to himself, swearing under his breath in a manner which, if he had uttered the words aloud, would have horrified the most accustomed ears.

The sun dropped out of sight, and still there was no sign of Lisle.

"The day won't be up till midnight," muttered Craig. "I'll wait till then, but not a minute longer. When the clock strikes 12, I'm going to light out for Crescent and Cross."

No profession has advanced more rapidly, of late, than surgery, but it should not be used except where absolutely necessary. It is of no use, for example, it is seldom needed. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures quickly and permanently. Unequalled for cuts, burns, bruises, wounds, skin diseases. Accept no counterfeits. "I was so troubled with bleeding piles that I lost much blood and strength," says J. C. Phillips Paris, Ill. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me in a short time." Soothes and heals. Murdock Bros.

Avenue Theatre, Detroit.

Next week the Avenue theatre, Detroit, will have one of the biggest shows of the season. It will include three of the best headline acts in vaudeville. The Russell Brothers, in the Irish Servant Girls. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Royle in "Captain Impudence" and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy in "Why Don't you see off the Avenue" always out in time at night to catch all suburban cars.

Wonderland Temple Theatre—Detroit.

The following strong acts compose the strong bill that Manager Moore of Wonderland has booked for next week: Josef Coleman's wonderful educated dogs and cats, Ryan and Reichfield in the splendid sketch entitled "Mag Hargreaves' Father," the Motogirl the latest European novel, Conway and Leland, Sisters Laurence, Elora, etc.

Whitney's Opera House—Detroit.

"For Love and Honor," the stirring comedy drama is the attraction at Whitney's next week beginning with matinee Sept. 28th, presenting a powerful and thrilling dramatic story of modern times. Dr. McDowell under whose management the attraction is presented has spared neither expense nor research in securing the strongest cast and greatest wonders in scenery ever before on the road.

Lyceum Theatre—Detroit.

Ward & Vokes will bring their new edition of "The Head Waters" to the Lyceum theatre next week beginning Sept. 28th (matinees Wednesday and Saturday) and this means that an evening's treat is assured to lovers of musical force. This organization enjoys the confidence of the theatre-going public, and this has been gained by years of faithful catering to the tastes of their clientele. The yearly offerings of the old favorite comedians bear a similarity in style only. The musical and specialty features are all new and the whole is served in a most sightly manner. This year's chorus is forty strong and the usual big bouquet of pretty girls is promised.

Lingering Summering Colds.

Don't let a cold run at this season. Summer colds are the hardest kind to cure and if neglected may linger along for months. A long sick like this will pull down the strongest constitution. One Minute Cough Cure will break up the attack at once. Safe, sure, acts at once. Cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. The children like it. Murdock Bros.

Mahomet's Vacation.

Mahomet, when asked where he would spend his vacation, replied: "Mahomet will go to the mountain." Upon counting his change, however, he found that he was short, so was compelled to stay his two weeks' vacation in the city. Later on he made capital out of the saying, and was also enabled to take a trip to the seashore.

Pot's Honey and Tar is peculiarly adapted for chronic throat troubles, and will positively cure bronchitis, hoarseness and all bronchial diseases. Refuse substitutes. Murdock Bros.

Claim Discovery of a Large Tree.

The largest tree in the world is said to have recently been discovered in Africa in the region of the upper Nile. Its height is said to be half again that of the tallest trees in California, and its thickness double that of the largest giant redwoods. The particulars are, however, suspiciously vague.

REARED AS BY MAGIC

HOW AN OKLAHOMA TOWN WAS BUILT IN A SINGLE DAY.

Stores and Dwellings Sprang Up on the Prairie—Newspaper Issued on First Day of Town's Existence. Three Banks Do Business.

When the sun rose on the morning of Aug. 21 last, it shed its glancing rays on piles of lumber, steel, etc., and a collection of canvas tents in an Oklahoma cornfield. That same evening before sinking in the west its golden light illumined a town of 2,000 inhabitants comfortably housed in buildings of wood and metal. Such was the birth of the town of Thomas, Okla., built in a day.

This remarkable town, although erected in so short a time, is built on a solid basis. It is situated in Custer county and is peopled by upward of 2,000 stalwart men and women from Missouri, Iowa and Illinois.

The town owes its birth to the fertile minds of Henry Wetstein, president, H. W. Roh, vice president and business manager; R. M. Cook, treasurer, and George H. Rice, secretary, of the Oklahoma Railway Town Site company of Trenton, Mo. Mr. Wetstein is a capitalist and at present is mayor of Trenton. The other three are men of abundant means.

In May, 1901, these capitalists and speculators conceived a novel plan for populating a new country and turning an investment for small capital lots were sold to investors at a uniform rate, but without the use of chart or survey. It was announced that at the time of the location of the new town a drawing would occur in which each purchaser would be allowed an equal chance at a desirable location. The company promised that all receipts from the sale of "lot certificates" would be used to induce manufacturers etc. to enter the new town, the managers reserving their profits afterward in the sale of the alternate lots reserved from the drawing. The location was left to a committee of five persons, three being of the purchasers and two of the company.

The scheme prospered and the town has been built. On the evening of Aug. 19 several excursion trains carrying nearly 1,000 of the purchasers of the town that it is to be, Little Kansas City on board were men of all trades and

THE FIRST BANK IN THOMAS, OKLA. PROFESSIONS AND various pursuits in life, bound for the beautiful Oklahoma land, where each was to help the other to build a city in the cornfield.

The townsmen reached the site of Thomas the following evening. A's and beds were provided for all in tents. The next morning the town building began. Steel and wooden buildings and business houses had been shipped in advance, and the putting together of these was practically completed before sunset.

When the town idea was first started, it was laid out on paper, with 4,000 lots, parks, avenues and streets. Just 2,000 lots at $20 each were sold, and 2,000 were reserved for sale when the town was opened. It had already been incorporated, and three banks had been chartered to begin business at once.

There was great excitement when the lots were drawn for on the arrival of the lot holders. Every one had to take chances on getting a valuable location in the center of the town or otherwise. Since the town has opened up some of the lots held in reserve have brought $1,500.

Of course, a live town could not exist without a newspaper, and within a few hours after the excursionists landed on the prairie the first number of the Thomas Tribune was issued from a tent and has since appeared daily.

The promoters spent $50,000 for the location, and they will expend a larger sum for improvements and public buildings. The lot holders have a grained liberal spirit to help financially in any enterprise for the good of Thomas. It was a brilliant scheme and as brilliantly executed. It was cooperative in a measure and was bound to succeed.

More than 400,000 people have found homes in Oklahoma since the territory was opened. In thirteen years the people of Oklahoma have accumulated real and personal property to the extent of $200,000,000. Nor have the moral and intellectual interests been neglected for the material, a statement that is evidenced by the existence of 700 houses of worship and over 1,500 schoolhouses. There is room for many more in its 32,000 square miles of territory, but it is doubtful if even Oklahoma will see another town built complete in a day.

AN EXPLORER'S DAUGHTER

Marie Peary, the Only White Child Born in North Greenland.

When the good ship Windward returns to these shores from the arctic regions, bringing home the explorer, Lieutenant Peary, from his long quest for the north pole, she will also bring back the lieutenant's wife and daughter, who went north to meet the wanderer.

Little Marie Ahmigto Peary, the explorer's daughter, is almost if not quite as interesting a figure as Mr. Peary himself. She bears the distinction of being the first and only white child ever born among the glaciers and ice peaks of northern Greenland.

Little Ahmigto, "the snow baby," the Eskimos called her, was born

LITTLE MARIE PEARY (The snow baby.)

Sept. 12, 1899, at Bowdoin bay, Ingfield gulf. That is on the west coast of Greenland, 77 degrees 40 minutes north latitude. At that time of the year it was light up there from 5 a. m. to 9 p. m. The days rapidly grew shorter, however, and finally disappeared, and little Ahmigto did not see daylight for 112 days during the first year of her life.

She prospered and grew amazingly nevertheless and took her outings whenever the weather permitted. Her father provided a little Eskimo sledge drawn by two dogs and had a fur suit made especially for her. When the temperature was only 20 degrees below zero, her other boots were put on, and, clothed in her furs and wrapped in a deer skin, she would go for a ride of three or four hours on the frozen bar. At ten months of age, when she reached the settlements, she weighed twenty-five pounds.

Since then Ahmigto has spent considerable time in the arctic regions with her parents. She returned from her last previous trip north in 1899. She loves the ice and snow amid which she was born and has a warm affection for the people of that desolate region. She speaks Eskimo as glibly as the natives themselves.

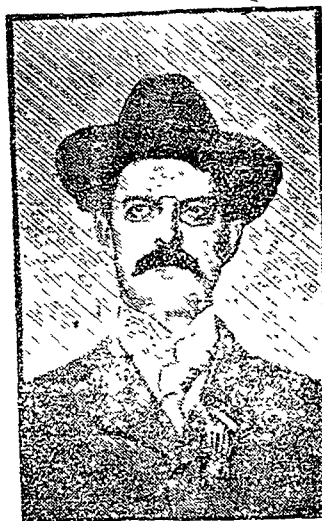

Her full name is Marie Ahmigto Peary the first for an aunt and the second for the Eskimo woman who made her first suit of furs.

NOTED DESIGNER OF SHIPS.

Lewis Nixon, Former Tammany Chief, Who Heads Ship Combine.

Lewis Nixon, who has just been elected president of the United States Shipbuilding company, though still a young man, has made an international reputation as a shipbuilder. He designed the battleship Oregon, which made the phenomenal run from Seattle to Key West during the Spanish war.

Mr. Nixon also designed what is known as the Indiana class of battleship and personally superintended the construction of the Indiana and Massachusetts.

Mr. Nixon is a Virginian by birth and is forty-one years of age. When he was eighteen, he entered the Naval academy, and on his graduation in 1882 he stood at the head of his class.

In 1891 he was married to Miss Sally Lewis Wood. When Ricard Croker resigned as leader of Tammany Hall last year, he named Mr. Nixon as his successor. After four months in office he retired from the position.

Proper Treatment for Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks, after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he is fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. For sale by George C. Hueston.

Leafless Trees.

There are forests of leafless trees in some parts of Australia. They respire, so to speak, through a little stem, apparently answering the purpose of a leaf. The tree is known as "the leafless acacia."
