NORTHVILLE, MICH., FRIDAY OCTOBER 17, 1902

$1.00 Per Year in Advance

REMEMBER THE DAY AND DATE.

"Let's see, now. What did I put that fifth string on my finger to remind me of?—One was to have the umbrella fixed, one was to pay the gas bill, one was to get a basket of peaches and one was to get a package of coal for Sunday. Now, what in the world is that fifth one for?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE PRESS CLUB HAD A JOLLY TIME

ENTERTAINED BY THE GOOD PEOPLE OF TRENTON.

Elected New Set of Officers.—Banquet in the Evening.

The Eastern Michigan Press club had a jolly good time on the occasion of its annual meeting at Trenton last week Friday, and from the time they boarded the special car, furnished complimentary by the Detroit United company, that was in waiting at the Russell house, Detroit, at noon, until they left it at the same place late at night, there was not a dull moment. Fun they had in "large caps" and the meeting was pronounced one of the most enjoyable that the association has ever had. T. M. Sheriff, editor of the Trenton Times was principally responsible for the enjoyment of the occasion, and he was ably seconded by President Walter Stokes, Jared Monroe and a lot of other Trentonites.

Mr Stokes met the party as it departed from the car, and informed the editors that the marshal had been ordered from the town and the keys had been thrown into the river. A visit to the Sidley quarry as the guests of Manager K. J. Sundstrum was followed by a lunch ride down the river in Jared Monroe's beautiful launch. Ales and C. C. Smith's Kittie M.

Trenton's a beautiful little village and its many beautiful homes bespoke the industry and enterprise of its hospitable citizens. Its beautiful and well kept lawns fine school buildings, water works system and charming river excited much favorable comment. The banquet at the pretty Hotel Felder was a fine affair and a fitting finale of the day's enjoyment.

At the business session a by-law was passed admitting the editors of city dailies to the association. The election of officers resulted in the following: President F. S. Neil and Secretary W. H. Marvin were re-elected. George W. Kent was chosen vice president, W. H. Houseman treasurer and the executive committee was appointed as follows: W. A. Fox, Rochester Era; George H. Mitchell, Birmingham Eclectic; O. E. Hawkins, Tecumseh News; Edward Beck, Detroit Evening News; Theodore E. Quinby, Detroit Free Press.

Big Time—Heavy Wind Bad for Shooters.

The shoot here Wednesday under the auspices of the Northville Gun Club was a great success though the heavy wind was a bad thing for high scores.

In a 6 men event at $2 each in two monies, George Stanley was first with 14 out of 15 and Carson of Ann Arbor and Osmon good seconds with 13 out of 15.

About twenty shooters were present and they all had a fine time. The visitors were banqueted at the Exchange Hotel, a chicken dinner being the feature.

Suburban News.

The Orion Review folks have been presented with some apples measuring a foot in circumference. They don't tell what appellation the fruit bears, but they'll probably get considerable sass on account of it.

Rheumatism is very prevalent over at Pontiac. The achers could probably trace some of their present discomfort to the aches of dampness they traversed in their attempt to loyally patronize the state fair.

Delray youngsters make so much noise on the streets evenings that a petition in favor of a curfew bell has been placed before the council. The village daddies should be very careful how they engage in any ring legislation.

Plymouth has a young ladies' glee club and a part of the glee seems to be attributable to the fact that no men belong to the organization. Those girls will sing another song when the ice cream soda season opens next summer.

There are only twelve divorce cases on the docket for the present term of Washtenaw circuit court and seven of those are from Ypsilanti. Seems as if the "Slantians" have rather more than their proportionate share of the county's apportionment of infelicity.

Birmingham now has one of those expensive sidewalks. We sometimes hear tell of it. It is not a very good sidewalk either, but a little bit of it has just cost the village $1,000—that is if the proposed appeal to the supreme court does not reverse the verdict.

South Lyon people are up in arms against the school board of that village because the members of the latter refuse to condemn the action of the teacher in the primary department in turning a lot of her charges loose around town for all except an hour in each forenoon and afternoon. The youngsters like the innovation, but the parents don't.

A kind hearted Fenton man stopped his rig one evening recently to "shoo" an apparent cat from under the horse's feet. He did not have the least feling of amusement, however, when the "cat" coarsely demonstrated its right to classification as a Mephitis Mephitis. The result of the interview sent his compassion to zero and his best suit of clothes to indefinite ostracism.

The Farmington Enterprise man is evidently jealous because he has discovered that his townsman, the secretary of state, gave another editor way off somewhere a hunk of cheese and didn't give him any. He alludes to the well known fact that charity begins at home and of course it has a hard time to him that any donations of cheese should do likewise Farmington cheese is not without honor in its own country and neither are the profits thereof.

Sun

Stroke Shattered My Nerves.

Gave Up Preaching For Two Years.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Put Me On Active List.

Are you well? Do you sleep well? Do you get up rested, fresh and vigorous? Is your mind clear and active? If not read the following. See what another has suffered and how he recovered.

Some years ago I was afflicted with sun stroke which left me with a shattered nervous system and exceedingly poor health. I suffered terribly with pain in my head, the top of my head would feel hot. I could not sleep, and after striving for two years to wear the trouble off, I was compelled to give up my pastoral labor and retire to my farm where I spent nearly two years trying to recuperate. It was all in vain. Physicians' treatment and patent medicines failed to restore me. I was exceedingly nervous and irritable and sometimes would shake terribly. I could not bear any noise. At the least excitement the blood would rush to my face and head. Two years ago I was induced to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. After using one bottle I could see improvement in my condition so I continued taking it for nearly a year. I am happy to say I no longer have those pains in my head or nervous spells. My appetite is good and I am able to preach three times on Sunday without fatigue. I consider Dr. Miles' Nervine the most wonderful medicine ever discovered. —Rev. D. Alex. Holman, Pastor U. B. Church, Marion, Ind.

BUSY LOT OF WOMEN

FEDERATION OF WOMAN'S CLUBS AT MUSKEGON.

INTERESTING PAPERS AND REPORTS RENDERED.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION GIVEN WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 16.—Wednesday's session of the State Federation of Woman's clubs was all that could be wished for in the way of members and business.

The meeting was called to order at 9 o'clock and after an invocation by Mrs. Irma T. Jones of Ann Arbor, the chairman of the several committees read reports. The report of Mrs. Ella Gordon, corresponding secretary, shows that there are 10,000 members in the state clubs.

Mrs. Belle M. Perry, president, gave a fine address, stating that twenty-five clubs had joined the federation in the past two years. "Club women of today must know the life of today, the need of today. The cry of the children is a present cry. The more I know of the club women of Michigan the more I believe in them. I hope every delegate will be an Isabel to encourage and a Columbus to discover. Words feebly express the gratitude in my heart for all the loyalty and co-operation of my coworkers. My labors as your president will soon end, but my interest in women's clubs will continue."

All the ex-presidents were present and were asked to take places on the platform. Mrs. Martha E. Hoyt of Bay City, of the forestry committee, read a very interesting report showing some of the work that had already been done in the state and the interest now being taken throughout the whole land. One hundred and thirty-five thousand packages of seeds had been distributed to school children in the past year. "Our own Pingree sent an idea around the whole world when he advocated the use of waste places for public good. Forestry is becoming an industry distinct as farming and as necessary. There is no substitute for timber. What is to save our country from the fate of the old world, where millions of acres of once beautiful forest lands are now a desert?"

Mrs. Root spoke of the state lands which are reverted back to the state mounting up to thousands of dollars in taxes on the homes.

Mrs. Clara A. Avery of Detroit, the first president of the clubs in the state, read a graphic report as a delegate to the biennial held in California. One of the most brilliant society events that has taken place here in years was the reception tendered the delegates at the Maconic temple Tuesday evening. The magnificent rooms were beautifully decorated with palms, smilax, roses and carnations, and hundreds of elegantly gowned women thronged the parlors and auditorium. Newell's orchestra from Grand Rapids played throughout the evening. Some of the prominent guests were Miss Clara Avery of Detroit, Miss Frances Burns of St. Louis, great lady commander of the L. O. T. M., and Mrs. Belle M. Perry, president of the state federation.

AN ASSEMBLY AT GOGUAC.

Movement on Foot at Battle Creek by Noted Chautauqua Man.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 16.—H. A. Collins of Havana, Ill. a noted Chautauqua man, is in the city, stopping at the sanitarium for his annual vacation. Seeing the advantage of this city and the prospects of forming a Chautauqua association here, he has been in conference for the past week with Dr. J. H. Kellogg, Hon. E. C. Nichols, Hon. E. C. Hinnman, R. N. Wheeler and many other prominent capitalists and business men. The Business Men's association has been approached and is taking a deep interest in the movement. It is proposed to form such an association, buy 500 or more acres of land on the shores of Lake Gogouac, plat it into 2,500 lots, sell them and in the center of the grounds build a pavilion which will accommodate at least 10,000 people. It is estimated that from 4,000 to 40,000 people east of the Mississippi river will come here, buy lots, build homes and during their vacations attend the Chautauqua lecture course, which will be the best money can buy.

Mr. Collins is a founder of the famous Chautauqua at Havana, and has organized many in that portion of the country, which have proven very successful.

ENORMOUS BAIL FOR ANDREWS.

Supreme Court Places Amount at $100,000.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 16.—The supreme court orders Frank C. Andrews, the convicted embezzler of City Savings bank funds and under sentence of fifteen years in Jackson prison, admitted to bail in the sum of $100,000. If the bail is not furnished within fifteen days Andrews must go to Jackson.

The court orders that the sureties to the bonds must be approved by the judge of the recorder's court.

The arguments of the lawyers for the prosecution that the noted prisoner could not be extradited if he once got beyond the jurisdiction of the court, evidently had great weight with the supreme bench in fixing the amount of bail to be furnished.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—Andrews received the first news of the supreme court's action from a reporter. He refused to discuss the possibilities of furnishing the large amount required, saying he first wanted to talk with his attorneys. Andrews, however, was distinctly shocked, as he had confidently expected bail would be almost nominal.

Attorney John W. Beaumont, who has been employed on the Andrews case from the very first, was also informed of the action of the supreme court by a reporter. The information was startlingly unpleasant for him, and he winced under it. When he recovered his composure he said:

"The information is authentic, I suppose. One hundred thousand within fifteen days! He couldn't furnish half of it! It's absurd! I suppose he will go to Jackson if the order stands."

Struck For Higher Wages.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 16.—The men employed on the East Cross street macadamizing job struck yesterday for a raise from $1.60 to $1.75 per day, but all went back to work at the old figure to wait for the next meeting of the common council to act on their request. The sewer diggers struck for $1.75 about six weeks ago, but they were not successful, as their places were quickly filled with men at the old wage. The macadamizing must be completed before cold weather sets in and labor is very scarce, so the present strike bids fair to accomplish its purpose.

Ithaca in Darkness.

Ithaca is now without lights and one of the large stores has strung lanterns through their stock and lamps were conspicuous in all the places of business last night.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 16.—The Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. has discharged nearly sixty men and closed down two furnaces and the cupola at the Lake Linden smelting works. The scarcity of anthracite coal is given as the cause of the action.

Michigan Pensioners.

Manning, Amber, $8; Peter Gray Morrison, Diamond, $24; Robert Ramons, Grand Rapids, $8; James Hamilton, Northville, $14; William H. Decker, Lansing, $17; Charles Weaver, Ionia, $12; William M. Nichols, Cadillac, $8; Lyman Payne, Jackson, $12; Moses Miller, Wolverine, $8; Lewis D. Straw, Concord, $12; Widows—Mary A. Williams, Bessemer, $8; Marietta B. Osmun, Holland, $12.

Wealthy Jackson Man Dead.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 16.—Wiley R. Reynolds died early Wednesday morning, aged eighty-five years. Mr. Reynolds was one of the wealthy men of the city. He came to Jackson in 1849 and engaged in various lines of business for the succeeding twenty-five years. In 1866 he organized the People's National bank and since the death of John M. Root has been its president.

Prisoners Were a Hungry Lot.

Ann Arbor Mich. Oct. 16.—County Treasurer Mann made his annual report yesterday, showing that it cost $217,379 to run the county during the past year. The surprising feature of the report is the very small sum received in fines from criminals, only $504.90 in fines having been collected. Against this, prisoners in the county jail are up in board money $3,570.

MINOR TELEGRAMS.

Journalist Dillon Dead.—John A. Dillon, journalist and leading editorial writer on the New York World, died in Bar Harbor, Me. Wednesday night.

Rear Admiral Seifridge Dead.—Rear Admiral Thomas O. Seifridge, U. S. N., retired, died at the McLean asylum in Waverley, Mass. Wednesday.

Treaty With Portugal Signed.—The treaty between China and Portugal has been signed. By it Portugal has obtained a concession for a railroad from Macao to Canton and a customs station within Macao.

Job For Uncle Sam.—The government of Honduras has decided to have its postage stamps and postal cards engraved abroad this year, and the work is to be done in the United States. The government has also arranged for a supply of after coats to be made in Philadelphia.

"Dios Dios" Fanatics Active.—Dios Dios fanatics are again active in the western part of the island of Samar, Philippines. They have gained in strength and have become more aggressive, levying tribute upon towns and driving the traders away. The constabulary has increased its force by the enlistment of native volunteers and is preparing for an active campaign against the fanatics.

Must Sue the King.

London, Oct. 16.—The Times says the Countess de Lowry formerly Countess of Stenlaine of Ayrshire and the Countess of Bessborough, who are the daughters of King Leopold of Belgium, to obtain their share of the late king's fortune, amounting to $200,000,000, which she left equally to her two daughters. It is believed that the king leaves the money as a creditor for amounts loaned.

CUSTER'S COMRADES

FAMOUS BRIGADE IN REUNION AT DETROIT.

OLD BOYS ON HAND NUMBER TWO HUNDRED.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS TOOK PLACE TUESDAY.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15.—Grizzled, sinewy veterans, with every line in their ageing faces telling of adventure and battle, gathered in the city yesterday to participate in the thirteenth annual reunion of the famous Custer brigade. Among the picturesque crowd of 200 are a number of distinguished soldiers whose names will ever be linked with that of the gallant Custer, who later met a heroic death at the hands of Sitting Bull's bands in the Little Big Horn mountains.

Every veteran cavalryman among them is a raconteur, and the tales they tell are only equalled by their delight in relating them. The famous Custer brigade, whose reunions bring together many noted soldiers from throughout the state, is composed of four regiments, the First, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Michigan cavalry regiments, that fought through the many battles of the civil war under General George A. Custer. The brigade originally mustered 3,244 men. Of these, 1,515 lost their lives in the struggle. The reunions of later years muster only some 300 veterans, whose ranks are thinning with increasing rapidity.

For two days the picturesque Custer brigade will hold court at the G. A. R. building on Grand River avenue. Yesterday afternoon the First regiment was quartered in the G. A. R. building, where an informal reception was held and the election of officers took place. General E. M. Hitchcock of Detroit, whose war record bristles with tales of hardships endured and honors won is the president, George L. Holmes of Detroit being secretary. Some sixty members of this regiment answered the roll call.

The historic Seventh regiment was organized at Grand Rapids in 1862 with 916 officers and men. It was assigned with the other two of equal fame to the Michigan brigade, then commanded by General Copeland, but soon afterwards by the man who was to gain glory for himself and for the brigade, General G. A. Custer. The brigade took part in nearly every engagement leading up to the crisis at Gettysburg, and in that bloody battle lost 223 men.

The Fifth regiment meeting was held at the Belle Isle Casino in the afternoon. Despite the cool weather, the veterans managed to enjoy themselves by cracking jokes and recalling old comradeships and adventures. General R. A. Alger was a member of this body it being from the start a Detroit organization.

Navy Consists of One Ship.

Morocco holds the record for possessing the smallest navy in the world. It consists of only one ship, the Hassan. Until recently a peculiar feature of this vessel was that it had no guns. A short time ago, however, the Sultan purchased four light pieces of ordnance and had them mounted.

Spent More Than $1,000.

W. W. Baker of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife suffered from lung trouble for fifteen years. She tried a number of doctors and spent over $1,000 without relief. She became very low and lost all hope. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and thanks to this great remedy, it saved her life. She enjoys a better health than she has known in ten years." Refuse substitutes. —Murdoch Bros.

America's Famous Beauties.

Look with horror at Skin Eruptions, Blisters, Sores, Pimples. They don't have them, nor will any one who uses Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It glorifies the face. Eczema or Salt Rheum vanishes before it. It cures sore lips, chapped hands, chilblains. Infallible for Itch. 25c at Geo. C. Hueston's drug-store.

Leafless Trees.

There are forests of leafless trees in some parts of Australia. They respond to speak, through a little stem, apparently answering the purpose of a leaf. The tree is known as "the leafless acacia."

Look Out For Fever.

Will Scale the Himalayas.

An attempt to climb the highest Himalayas will be made this year by a party consisting of three Englishmen, two Austrians and a Swiss. They will begin with the Godwin Austen, 28,250 feet high, and Dapsang, 28,662 feet high. If they are successful they will then try Mount Everest, the highest mountain in the world, 29,000 feet high. The Himalaya record is held by Sir Martin Conway, who climbed the Pioneer peak, 21,000 feet high, ten years ago.

Record Coil of Wire Rope.

The largest coil of wire rope ever made in Brooklyn was turned out by a rope company of that city last week. It measured 17,000 feet in length, or over three miles without a break, and weighed 22,000 pounds. It is for use in a bituminous coal mine, was made of forty-two strands of crucible cast steel, took sixteen days to manufacture and was valued at $7,300.

Mahomet's Vacation.

Mahomet, when asked where he would spend his vacation, replied: "Mahomet will go to the mountain." Upon counting his change, however, he found that he was short, so was compelled to stay in two weeks' vacation in the city. Later on he made capital out of the saying, and was also enabled to take a trip to the seashore.

Canada to Furnish Wood.

It is estimated that Canadian forests will furnish wood for the pulp industry for 84 years. The forests of Norway and Sweden, which furnished the material for European papermakers for many years have become denuded and the United States has about exhausted its supply.

To Try Municipal Telephone.

The city of Evansville, Ind., proposes to construct and operate a telephone system of its own at an initial cost of $250,000. The franchise of the existing company will expire in July next, and there were four bidders for the privilege, but the city will not consider any offers.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25 cents.

School Notes.

(By the Superintendent.)

There are nineteen young people in first year Latin.

Drawing is becoming an interesting feature in the grades, some pupils showing marked ability.

Mr. Randolph gave a very instructive and interesting talk in the high school room during the pioneer exercises.

The high schools of Plymouth, Wayne and Northville hope to join in some sort of a literary contest during the coming winter.

We were glad to see so many visitors at our Pioneer Day exercises. Come and inspect our every day work. You will be welcomed in all departments.

Herbert Sprague, one of the best impersonators in this part of the country, will impersonate Rip Van Winkle at the opera house next week Friday evening for the benefit of the senior class. This will be a rare treat as he is an artist at his work.

Last week the physical geography class constructed a barometer, and at $45 each morning recorded the barometric pressure of the air as indicated by the apparatus. After correcting for distance above sea level and comparing with that sent out by the United States weather bureau, we find our young people differed by only 5 of an inch on an average of the true result during the week.

The observance of Pioneer Day by the school last Friday proved an enjoyable and instructive affair. A large collection of old time articles was brought and many of the children saw for the first time such things as ox-yokes, flails, candle-molds, foot warmers, cow bells, tin lanterns, spinning wheels, reels, flax combs, hatchets, etc., etc. Some very old and rare articles were brought, one being a rolling-pin made by Lord Durham of England in 1781, another a nicely carved wooden bread plate 150 years old, and another being a lamp said to have been taken out of the ruins of ancient Greece and one that was undoubtedly used in St. Paul's time. A very large collection was brought and we wish to thank parents, neighbors and children for the interest manifest.

Wonderland-Temple Theatre—Detroit.

The phenomenal soprano, Jessie Bartlett Davis, will be the feature of the superb vaudeville program that Manager Moore of Wonderland has secured for next week. Others who will appear on the same bill are the following well known performers: Werthington Brothers, Silver and Lamerie, James F. Dolan and Ida Lubar, The Paros Brothers, Will F. Denny, the Baileys and the greatest trained animal act that has ever been sent to this country from Europe, Tschow's trained cats and dogs.

Whitney's Opera House—Detroit.

On Oct. 19 at the Whitney theatre the romantic melodrama "The Flaming Arrow" will be presented. The star of the play, Go Won Go Mohawk, the only Indian actress in the world, for the past two seasons has been meeting with the greatest kind of success. Her present play "The Flaming Arrow" is from the pen of Lincoln J. Carter that past master in the construction of melodramas and novel effects. An interesting feature is a genuine Indian brass band, who are graduates of Carlisle and are fine musicians.

Lyceum Theatre—Detroit.

Among the prominent musical comedies of the present season, none has jumped into popularity quicker than Broadhurst & Currie's "Mr. Jolly of Joliet." This exceedingly funny farce was written by Charles Newman, author of Rudolph & Adolph and other well known successes. The plot deals with the adventures and exploits of Jolly and Jolly, a song and dance team who are performing in the vaudeville theatres after having been prominent for many years in the legitimate "Mr. Jolly of Joliet" comes to the Lyceum for a week's stay beginning Oct. 19.

Educated Japanese Woman.

Miss U. Yone Yamagawa of Japan is an LL. B. of the University of California and an M. D. of the Affiliated Colleges of San Francisco. She is four feet ten inches tall.

Natural Anxiety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. Its attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to One Minute Cough Cure. It quiets the mucous, allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. P. S. McMinion, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an important contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal." ## MEN CAN ALWAYS "BANK" ON TRAVER'S CLOTHING.

No safer styles or better tailoring on clothes, than on those which bear our label.

Quality considered they are the lowest priced of any you can find. But here we are talking strong again, you'll not wonder at it though when you see the clothes.

Wish we could just show every reader of this paper what quality in clothes for men means at this store—wouldn't be long before we would be swamped with business—but one pleased customer is the best advertisement we can have and we are certainly going to please all this fall, same as we've always done—the new suits and overcoats will do it—nothing better than they are, nothing newer and the selections of each one as large as any in Michigan.

Just drop in and take a peep at what $10, $12, $15 and $18 will buy in the way of a suit or overcoat—we've more expensive ones of course but they are not built a bit better than those we've mentioned.

NORTHVILLE.

The City in Brief.

Rain every Sunday in the month so far.

These are truly the days when the leaves begin to fall.

Republican primary election this afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lockwood have moved into Mrs. West's house in Northside.

S. J. Lawrence is making some extensive improvements in his property opposite the Clover condenser.

Supervisor Benton has been placed on the equalization committee and made chairman of the sub-committee.

Loss—On Dunlap street last week, pair glasses, in case. Finder please return to James Davis or leave at Record office.

The Contest Class of Plymouth will give a benefit medal contest in that village on October 21st. A fine program will be rendered.

In honor of Miss Lottie White's birthday a number of her friends spent a pleasant evening at her home Wednesday night.

Mrs. George Hueston has been suffering from a painful ailment of one of her eyes, but is now much better. She was obliged to go to Detroit a number of times for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pinkerton celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary Monday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Wycoff of Pontiac were present and a few other old neighbors.

The L. O. T. M. give the first of their season's series of dances in the rink this evening. These parties are always enjoyable and their resumption for the winter is anticipated with much pleasure.

Rev. W. S. Jerome delivered an able address Sunday morning on the coal strike situation. He roasted the mine owners and their railroad partners to a turn and showed how the miners were ground down by the last forcing. Rev. Mr. Shank gave a fine talk along the same lines Sunday evening.

The engagement of Miss R. Grace Daker, a young Detroit artist, to Roswell Howard Porter of Northville has been announced. Miss Daker leaves within the week for New York to enter the Art League. She will be accompanied by her sister, Miss Ella Daker, who will resume her musical studies with Oscar Saenger.—Detroit Journal

She's a radiant young woman, intelligent, that beautiful blushing wife of mine. She is an angel on earth so you can be only take Rocky Mountain Tea.—Murdock Bros.

A Bee Hive Bazaar has opened up in the Kellogg block.

The First District Senatorial convention will be held at Greenfield at 11 00 a. m. tomorrow, Saturday.

Fred Martindale is the only candidate.

Probate Judge Durfee has disposed of the Towle children by turning Martha over to the superintendent of the poor and sending Lewis to the state public school.

It is not sufficient that we must have a coal famine and a wood famine, but we must needs also be confronted with an egg famine. We trust it is not because of a combine among the hens.

Carpenter & Huff Bros. have a liberal offer in their window in the shape of a chunk of coal to go with each purchase. If coal enough can be secured it will mean a large increase of trade.

The early closing movement is again being agitated this week and as a result the dry goods stores, meat markets and hardware stores will be closed at eight o'clock p. m. from October 20th to December 15th and from January 1st to April 15th.

T. G. Richardson is making some extensive improvements in the appearance of the Whitaker farm home, which he recently purchased, at the north end of Center street. It was already a nice place, but it will become much more so now with T. G.'s enterprise and push back of it.

Miss Minnie Gyde was pleasantly surprised at the home of her sisters last Friday evening by twenty of her young friends. Progressive Finch was indulged in Pearl Little and Claude Stanley received first prize and Helen Dole and Charlie Sessions second. Ice cream and cake were served.

The beautiful weather of last week was a godsend to folks who were not well supplied with the wherewith to get warm but the raw, cold days that followed showed up the proportions of the difficulty of getting wood to those who have had to turn to that commodity for heat. There is wood enough in this particular locality, but the visible supply on the local market is very limited.

An impromptu bull fight is said to have taken place on the P. M. R. way the other day between this place and Novi. A passenger train had to be brought to a standstill to avoid making havoc with a herd of cattle, and a loudly and pug-nacious bull seemed to resent the apparently warlike attitude of the engine and charged on it with disastrous results—to himself—losing one horn in the encounter. The engine was unharmed.

Good fortune comes at last to Northville. They've had the fish factory from Washington, the Globe Furniture Co. from Elmhurst, hard copers from all over, a newspaper man from Morristown, a congressman from Adrian, but none of them seemed to eat much of a figure. But now it is different. Henry Fortune, a railroad man, has moved there from Detroit. Everyone should invest in Northville. There's a fortune in it. It will be no trouble to tell fortunes in that place now.—Adrian Press

The Best Business College

In selecting a business training school the best is the only one worth all to be considered. The best business college in America is in Chicago, Chicago, Chicago and proved by success. It is the Detroit Business University, Detroit, Mich. It trains over fifty years of unexampled success.

Tickets for the Presbyterian ladies' banquet in Princess rink next Tuesday evening are selling with gratifying rapidity.

The union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Baptist church this year November 27. Rev. W. S. Jerome will deliver the address.

The chicken pie supper season was opened Tuesday evening at the rink by the Baptist ladies with signal success. The supper was elegant and enough people partook to make the total receipts foot up $20, of which $15 was the net gain to the society.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

The Home Missionary offering lately taken amounted to about $40.

The sermon next Sunday evening will be on John Bunyan, the famous author of "The Pilgrim's Progress."

The banquet by the Ladies' Aid society will take place at the rink next Tuesday evening, Oct. 21, at 7 o'clock.

The Synod of Michigan met at Lansing on Tuesday evening. J. A. Dubar was elected to represent the church at this meeting.

The Ladies' Missionary society met at Mrs. Chas. Yerkes' on Wednesday afternoon. Reports were presented from the late Synodical meeting at Pontiac. The gentlemen were entertained at tea at six o'clock.

The pastor sent out last week a number of circular letters to the business men of Northville asking for information on which to base a series of sermons to young men. He will be glad if those who received the circulars will return them promptly.

SIXTH ANNUAL

King's Daughters Met at St. Johns Last Week.

The sixth annual convention of the King's Daughters was held at St. Johns last week and the following officers elected: State secretary, Mrs. J. C. Rexford, of Detroit, recording secretary, Miss Margaret Reid of Detroit.

The state executive board was chosen as follows: Mrs. Laura Thomas, Ann Arbor, Mrs. B. C. Whitney, Detroit, Mrs. M. R. Steel, St. Johns, Mrs. S. X. Conn, Durand, Mrs. Joseph H. Martin, Van Arbor.

The next year's meeting will be held in October at Northville, the date to be fixed later.

World's Largest Balloon

The largest balloon ever made was by a German named Ganswendt, about twenty years ago. Its capacity was 20,000 cubic yards. It weighed twenty one and a half tons and would raise three and a half tons in the air.

Largest Statue on Earth.

The largest statue in the world is not Barthold's statue of Liberty, in New York harbor, but the Sphinx, at Gizeh, in Egypt. The sphinx is 172½ feet long by 14 feet high.

Generous Coal Dealers.

Northville people are strong in commendation of the fair and honorable course pursued by our local coal dealers. Messrs. Joslin & McKahan, 21, so gentlemen could have readily disposed of their supply of hard coal at figures ranging as high as $15 a ton but they refused to listen to any inducements to leave their customers in the lurch, and have gone right on in the even tenor of their way, supplying their customers at $7.50 a ton or just half what they might have realized had they so chosen. If there were only enough of the kind of practical christianity in the world it would be a good deal better place to stay.

Undoubtedly Mr. Ambler would have been equally generous but he was unfortunate enough to not have any hard coal on hand when the strike occurred.

Good Advice.

Gettin' married is a sight easier to them that's been through it once than to others. It's surprisin' to me that she ain't ben snapped up 'fore this time. She was always a likely, pert girl, an' could 'a' took her pick an' choice 'fore she married Alphonse. If you ever take a notion to a widder, Mr. Piggren, don't sit found waitin' for her to forget her first husband. It's right nice to have such feelin's, but somebody else'll get the widder.—Matt Crimm in Lippincott.

A New Educational Factor.

The king and queen of Roumania are about to establish little theaters in all the rural communes of their kingdom. In these theaters the villagers will give once or twice a week, moral plays, having as their object the inculcation of religious and social precepts. The first of the theaters will be built on one of the royal estates.

Has Risen to High Position.

R. E. Cahill, who has just resigned as division superintendent of the Missouri Pacific at Nevada, Mo., to accept the superintendency of the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf railroad, with headquarters at Little Rock, Ark., began railroading as a water boy on a construction train in 1872 at La Salle, Ill.

Picture Postcards Popular.

The extraordinary development of the German mania for picture postcards is attested by the total number of cards which passed through the post in 1900, no fewer than 726,000,000.

Soldier Twice Honored.

Major Sir Claude Maxwell Macdonald is a K. C. B. twice over, having had conferred upon him both the military and civil distinctions of the Order of the Bath.

WILL SEND $4.00 FREE.

Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., the Celebrated Specialist, Will Send a Course of His New Special Treatment Free.

When an experienced physician offers to give away $40,000 worth of a New Treatment for diseases of the heart, nerves, stomach or dropsy, it is conclusive evidence that he has great faith in it. And when hundreds of prominent people freely testify to his unusual skill and the superiority of his New Special Treatment, his liberality is certainly worthy of serious consideration.

That Dr. Miles is one of the world's most successful physicians is proven by hundreds of testimonials from well known people. One patient cured after failure of eleven Grand Rapids physicians, two after being given by six and seven Chicago physicians, another after nine leading doctors in New York City, Philadelphia and Chicago failed.

J. H. Abrams, Denton Harbor, Mich., says: "I had serious heart trouble and dropsy. Obtaining relief from local physicians I consulted Dr. Miles and now am well. Matthew Rice, Benzonia, Mich., writes: 'Had it not been for Dr. Miles Special Treatment I would now be in my grave. Rev. S. E. Warren, Ann Arbor, Mich., states: 'I have had no symptoms of heart trouble since first taking the Special Treatment.'

A thousand references to and testimonials from Bishops, Clergymen, Bankers, Farmers and their wives will be sent free on request.

The eminent Rev. W. Bell, D. D., of Dayton, O., Gen. Sec. of Foreign Missions, writes: "I have been a patient of Dr. Miles' Special Treatment for some time. I have been cured of a long-standing heart trouble and am now in perfect health. I have been cured of a long-standing heart trouble and am now in perfect health. I have been cured of a long-standing heart trouble and am now in perfect health."

This new system of Special Treatment is thoroughly scientific and is infinitely superior to the ordinary methods.

As all afflicted readers may have $4.00 worth of treatment free, we would advise them to send for it at once. Address: Dr. Franklin Miles, 201 to 209 State St., Chicago, Ill.

CHAPTER I.

AMITY.

HORACE OAKFELL, representative from the parish of Avoyelles, was the youngest member of the Louisiana legislature of 1897. Of medium height, broad of shoulder, deep chested and brown haired and brown eyed, with a countenance brave and frank, he was regarded as the Adonis of the house. His dress of milk white cassimere, ruffled shirt and deep Byronic collar gave warrant to the poetic appraisal of the women. But his colleagues set a different estimate upon him. To them he was known as a well trained lawyer, a close student, a young man much given to philosophic research and meditation, one of learning and gravity unusual at his age, true, courageous, but of a seriousness bordering upon melancholy. He was a forceful debater, though his years were but 24, and his utterances were always heard with sincere respect.

Though himself a slaveowner, he had from motives of humanity eloquently but unsuccessfully opposed the bill which enacted:

"That from and after the passage of this act no slave shall be emancipated in this state."

His speech had been published in full by the leading journals, and its peroration was long remembered.

"Can it be," he exclaimed, "that in this part of Christendom, in a time of profound peace and tranquility an American legislative body will from the black cloud of slavery tear the narrow fringe of hope and in its stead inscribe by statute the frightful legend seen by Dante over the portals of hell? Can it be that enlightened citizens will forbid the reward of liberty to the slave who serves the state? Will the law-making power deny to the master the exercise of the noblest virtue of his nature by prohibiting him from conferring the boon of freedom upon the slave who has stood between his life and the knife of the assassin or safely borne his fainting wife through the flames of the burning mansion of plumed to bring back the fair haired child to the frantic mother? Can it be that the flower of civilization will make unlawful that kindness to a faithful human slave which it approves to a dog or a horse? I cannot believe it. But if I mistake the sense of the house then let me say that the logical consequence of this measure will be the stifling of moral growth in the master, the removal of incentives to loyalty in the slave; the one must become more narrow and cruel, the other desperate and ferocious; the sense of justice of other communities will be shocked and their righteous anger will be provoked; a decade cannot fail to bring some frightful catastrophe on our state as the fruit of this unholy measure. I protest against it. I appeal to my colleagues to be true to their better nature and prove by their negative votes that the white race in Louisiana can defend itself and yet be not ungenerous."

His appeal was ineffective. The bill was passed by a pronounced majority, was approved by the governor and became law.

After the adjournment of the legislature Oakfell returned to the parish of Avoyelles, taking passage on the steamboat Red Queen. The vessel was one of those popularly called "floating palaces," of which a score filled the lower Mississippi and its tributaries during the decade preceding the civil war, when no railroads had been laid in that part of Louisiana lying west of the great river. She was a side wheeler with high pressure engines, capable of great speed and with accommodation for over 150 passengers. There were a profusion of white paint upon her exterior and a plenitude of gilding and low hanging chandeliers within the cabin.

The boat carried some 60 passengers, many of whom were planters returning from their annual spring visits to New Orleans factories to settle accounts of the past planting year and arrange credits for the new. Some were accompanied by their wives and daughters and a sociability prevailed among the company which was wholly wanting in the commercial travel of the present day.

Three were planters in Avoyelles, one of whom, Dr. De Roux, added the business of a physician to that of cotton raising. His plantation was near the Houma des Cigues, in the Avoyelles prairie. The second was Constant Quilbert, a low broad, long nosed Gascon Frenchman who had lived on Bayou des Glaives for 20 years, but had never married or become an American citizen. The third was Leonidas Latolais of Bayou Rouge, a man of 60, whose hair was white and whose blue eyes and short chin bespoke a kindly but weak character. Of the three Latolais alone threw any warmth into the salutation of Oakfell. The others referred to the legislative incident in a purely polite manner, as if tenderness for him required that he be quickly passed over. Latolais, however, spoke regretfully of the result, but rather out of sympathy for the young legislator than for the cause he had championed. Oakfell received their different expressions with apparent unconcern and evinced a preference to avoid any discussion of the supposed merits or demerits of the bill.

After the evening meal had been partaken of in the long saloon, with the usual clatter of china-service and scurrying of the numerous yellow and black waiters, the extension-tables were closed and run together, and while music, dancing and conversation engaged the women and young folks in the ladies' cabin the tables in the forward end were arranged for cards and were speedily occupied by the older men and some of the younger, gambling being an unfailing feature of the steamboat travel in the fifties. These card tables were in close neighborhood to the bar, and this was the beginning of the barkeeper's business day.

Oakfell passed the greater part of the evening reading in the captain's stateroom on the hurricane deck. Returning to the cabin at 11 o'clock, he found his constituents from Avoyelles at the table nearest the bar. They were not playing, but cards, ivory chips and half drained glasses of liquor were on the table. None of the chips was on the side where Latolais sat. Some few were in front of Dr. De Roux, and the remainder, in many stacks, were before Quilbert.

The young man sat at a distance from the three, but not so far that their conversation was not audible to him.

Quilbert in a half jocular and half bantering tone had said:

"Leonidas if I were not a man of extraordinary good nature you and I would now be at outs instead of sitting here over a friendly game of poker and clinking our social glasses, because it wasn't neighborly in you to sue me for $2,000 for that old negro of yours when you know that you couldn't have sold him for $700 even on credit."

"No, I don't know that," replied Latolais. "I could have sold him for $750. But that isn't it. I never tried to sell him, I didn't want to sell him, and, although he was 50 years old when you shot him, I wouldn't have sold him for $2,000 cash. I was attached to Baptiste. He was the best judge of horses among my negroes. He was faithful and nursed me and my son through the yellow fever, and, although my son died, I have always believed that had it not been for Baptiste's care and watchfulness I should never have recovered. Therefore I never thought that $2,000 could have at all repaid me for his loss. Moreover, it would have been the set of a good neighbor in you, to have complained to me of any offense Baptiste had given you and allowed me to correct him. Instead of that you shot him dead."

"I admit that," said Quilbert, "but when he struck my pointer dog with that ox whip and I saw the blood red den the white skin of the poor brute I was so enraged that I couldn't help shooting the infernal negro down in his tracks, and you would have done the same."

"But had not the dog bitten the negro before he struck it with the whip?" Latolais inquired.

"I have heard something of that sort," said Quilbert curtly.

"It was a fact," insisted Latolais, "and the wounds inflicted by the dog's teeth were found upon the dead man's body. But as we never quarreled about that," Latolais continued, "let's not quarrel now. Of course, when you destroyed my property you owed me something, and, since we couldn't agree upon the amount, there was nothing to do but leave it to a jury, so I brought the suit. I was willing to abide by the award of the jury, although it was only $1,200; but you have seen fit to carry the matter on appeal to the supreme court and prolong this only cause of difference between us."

"I think," Dr. De Roux remarked, "that you both made a mistake by letting the matter go into the courts. Litigation always begets bitterness. The longer it is drawn out the more inveterate becomes the ill feeling. I think yet you ought to take it out of court and settle it as friends and gentlemen."

"I am afraid it is too late," said Latolais, "as Constant perfected his appeal yesterday and employed a city lawyer to argue his cause for him in the supreme court."

"No, it is not too late," Quilbert exclaimed; "it is never too late to do good. Let us have another toddy, and when we drink that to friendship I will make a proposition to you."

Their glasses were filled and drained with expressions of good feeling.

"Now," said Quilbert, with a knowing leer in his eyes, "you say, Latolais—at least I have heard you say many times—that you are the best old sledge player in the parish of Avoyelles. I know you play that game better than you do poker."

And he significantly glanced at the bare space on the table in front of Latolais, then at the piles of red and blue chips on his own side, and continued: "I will offer to play you 11 games of old sledge. If you win six out of the 11, I will pay you $2,000 as soon as we reach home. If I win six out of the 11, you will give me a receipt in full for the judgment and costs in your suit against me for killing Baptiste. If you agree, I will now write to my attorney in the city instructing him to withdraw the appeal, and deliver the letter to the captain to be mailed when the boat stops at Bayou Sara."

"That certainly is a liberal proposition," said Dr. De Roux. "You would do well to accept it, Leonidas."

Latolais looked down, and his face assumed an expression of doubt and trouble. Oakfell watched the workings of his countenance intently.

"Let's have one more toddy before I decide."

"Agreeable."

With this Latolais accepted the proposal. Calling for writing material and a new deck of cards, Quilbert wrote the message to the lawyer in New Orleans, passing it to Latolais to be read, addressed, sealed, and handed to the captain of the boat, with the request that he mail it at Bayou Sara. The cards were shuffled and the game was begun, Dr. De Roux keeping score.

The play was silent. Victory went alternately from the one player to the other through ten games. The eleventh was close, but by turning a knave as trump and scoring a six spot as low Quilbert won by a point. Latolais took pen and paper, wrote and signed a receipt in full of the judgment, principal, interest and costs which he had obtained for the killing of his negro man Baptiste and gave it to Quilbert, also a receipt for the sum of $300, representing his loss in the game of poker they had previously played. Forcing a smile, he ordered three more glasses of whiskey, and when these had been tossed off bade his companions good night and retired. Quilbert and Dr. De Roux strolled to the hurricane deck to soothe their nerves with cigars before seeking sleep. Oakfell repaired to his stateroom, sickened by what he had witnessed.

CHAPTER II.

THE FERRY AT BAYOU DU LAC

FROM FORT DE ROUSSY, on the Red river, to Pointe Miff, on the Bayou Claire, near which "L'Esperance," the Oakfell plantation, lay, was a distance of some 20 miles. The dignifying name of fort was given to a small earthwork which had been thrown up by direction of the United States government under the supervision of Colonel De Roussy at the first rise of Avoyelles prairie abutting on the low alluvial river bottom. Four miles inland from the fort the highroad ran through the little town of Marksville, the parish seat or seat of justice. The courthouse and two magazines for cotton were the only brick structures of which it could boast. All the other edifices, including the church, were of wood, painted white or yellow, ranged on either side of a long main street and two lateral and four cross streets intersecting at right angles. The situation of the village was a genuine dip in the prairie, the two sides of which, where the thick foliage of umbrella china, pecan, fig and oak trees was at its full and softened by the sprinkling of rosy flowered myrtles, gave the resemblance to the trough between waves of a great green sea. The population of 600 or 700 souls was almost entirely Gascon French and French creole, of whom but few spoke English. The exceptions were the families of four American lawyers, who had acquired the French language and used it more frequently than their mother tongue.

Nine miles southward from the village the smooth surface of the prairie broke suddenly and the land declined sharply to a broad belt of stiff soil, incalculably fertile, bearing a thick growth of cypress, gum and oak and terminating at Bayou du Lac wide and deep, on the farther side of which lay the Magnolia hills. These latter were a series of gentle undulations, rising somewhat above the general level of the alluvion and extending quite eight miles to the fine, sandy soil of that perfect agricultural country formed by the network of bayous Rouge, Houff, Houff and Claire. Here the stately magnolia tree dominated, its evergreen leaves of olive hue and varnished freshness preserving to the landscape throughout the year the warm sprays of tints of summer and its big blossoms of creamy white lading the air with the fragrance of combined jasmine and lemon and imbuing with sensuousness the luxuriant spring. Robed in gown of woven vines, which curled to the ground and flowered in yellow, red, blue and white, the magnolia was truly queen of the forest.

The day had been sultry, overcast by low hanging clouds, from which fell a steady, soaking rain from noon until midnight. An intense darkness succeeded the day, and the rain became frequent, while the lightning was frequent and blinding in its lurid brilliancy. The public road leading from the rope ferry of Bayou du Lac to the Magnolia hills and which constant use had worn to a deep gully in the soft ground was reached by a ram almost to a state of ooze, the being travel arduous and slow. The dwelling of Valsin Mouillot, the ferryman, stood in an enclosure near the road and 50 paces from the bayou. Valsin was short and muscular, of middle age and scant education, but blessed with a clear mind. He was a widower, with three little girls dependent upon him, and his resources were the public ferry and the field of 30 acres of cleared land, which he operated with the aid of three slaves—an old man and woman and a boy. This last drew the ferryboat along the wide stretch of rope more frequently than did the ferryman and on such nights as this occupied the lookout, shied on the bank to respond to the calls of travelers.

Notwithstanding the warmth of the night and the open doors of the house, a bright fire of cypress bark burned on the hearth of the largest room to resist the moisture with which this low region reeked. In front of the fire sat a stout, broad faced, dark skinned man of advanced years, whose garb of black and turned down head of white about his neck discovered the Catholic priest. His hair was thick and as yet untouched by the gray of age, eyes large and strong, and his countenance, though confessing to good living, advertised a spirit of benevolence and charity. This was Father François Grhe, cure of Mansura, whose ecclesiastical dominion extended southward to the Bayou Beuf. He had heard a call to the ferry, and later, when the sound of rushing hoofs and wheels in the road fell upon his ear, he had peered out into the darkness, but, notwithstanding the illumination of a lightning flash, had discovered nothing. Valsin entered the room, twisting the rain from his broad felt hat and, stamping his wet and muddy boots upon the floor, said:

"I don't like a night like this, father—hot and dripping and heavy. It always makes me feel that something bad is going to happen."

"Keep your soul clean, Valsin," said the priest, "and whatever happens on a night like this cannot be bad for you."

"Oh, it is not for myself—that I am uneasy, but I think that persons traveling abroad are sure to meet with accident and if a man is hurt in the Magnolia hills on such a night he may be there until morning and no one know of his suffering."

"I have just heard some one drive up from the ferry," observed the priest, "and pass on toward the hills. Who was it, Valsin?"

"I do not know," replied Valsin. "I did not go to the ferry. The boy Pierre is there tonight. But come, father, your supper of chicken, eggs and coffee is ready. You must be very hungry after a long ride."

"Thank you, Valsin. I have an appetite, you may be sure, although I am not impatient, for, you know I am practiced in fasting."

As the priest rose to follow his host to the supper table a voice came from without, calling:

"Hello, Valsin! Hello! Hello!"

The dogs of the yard set up a furious barking.

Both men stopped, and Valsin, stepping out on the veranda of his house, responded:

"Hello yourself! Who is it? Come in."

"I can't until you call your dogs off."

"Wait, I will be there in a minute. Here, you rascal, Jacques; get away! And you, Rosa; go off! Do you want me to kick you? Now, sir, they won't bite. They know I am here. Who is it I see?"

"Oakfell, Valsin. I have to claim shelter of you."

"Why, bless my heart, Mr. Horace! How do you do. I am glad to see you. Sir, come right in." And he grasped Oakfell's hand and shook it warmly. "What happened? Where's your bag?"

"Never mind the bag, Valsin. Let us get out of this rain and mud," said Oakfell, "and then I will tell you what happened."

"To be sure, to be sure," said Valsin. "How foolish of me to keep you here at the gate to tell me about it when you can just as well come inside and get dry and comfortable and then tell me and take your own time."

And he led his unexpected guest into the house. (To be continued next week.)
