THE VALUE OF GINSENG ROOT

WORTH MORE THAN $16 A POUND AT RETAIL.

Wild Article Worth More Than That Which Is Cultivated.

So much interest has been manifested here in regard to the cultivation of ginseng that the Record has taken pains to investigate somewhat as to the possibilities of the great profits supposed to be obtainable by means of this famous root. From the official statement of the American consul in China—the ultimate market for the entire product from all places where the plant grows—it is found that practically all the ginseng handled by the trade is of four varieties—the native, the Japanese, the American and the Korean.

The first named comes from a comparatively limited section of China—the province of Kirin and vicinity—and is by far the most costly of all, the best bringing from 200 to 600 times its weight in silver, according to the quality and is only used by the wealthiest classes.

The Korean variety comes next in value, bringing from about $2 to $31 for a Chinese weight representing one and one-third pounds avoirdupois.

American ginseng is third in valuation and is said to be gaining wonderfully in popularity, its prices having more than doubled in a few years past. The price for the best last season was $1.04 per ounce at retail.

The Japanese product is the cheapest and finds sale only among people who are not able to buy the better kinds. The demand seems to be inexhaustible, but the cultivated root does not bring anything like so high a price as the wild varieties. It is quite extensively cultivated in the country contiguous to Kirin by the native farmers, but the price is very small compared to that commanded by the wild product, and the same is said to be true of the American cultivated article although the difference is not quite so great.

As to the uses of ginseng, Consul Ragasdale of Tientsin, China, to whose report we are indebted for these facts, says: "Miraculous healing properties are ascribed to the Kirin ginseng though only the wealthy can indulge in this costly drug, but such is the faith of all the Chinese in the life-giving virtues of the plant that even the poorer classes make tremendous sacrifices to obtain it in cases of emergency. In the province of Chinkiang, American ginseng is in special demand. Almost everybody takes it in the spring as a tonic."

The Korean variety is nearly all smuggled into China so that no statistics can be obtained of the quantity used, which, however, is said to be immense. "There is no doubt," says Mr. Ragasdale, "that a profitable business can be done in the article if the trade is properly pushed by Chinese agents of good social standing."

There are many difficulties to be contended with in the cultivation of the plant that cannot be enumerated here, but the conclusion is that while like many other industries there are excellent possibilities in it for persevering workers, it is by no means an Aladdin's lamp, which can bring limitless wealth for a rub and a wish.

MARTINDALE FOR SENATOR.

Nominated by Republicans for First District.

At the first senatorial convention held at Greenfield last Saturday Representative Fred Martindale of that town was unanimously nominated for state senator for this district.

In a neat little speech of acceptance Mr. Martindale said he was in favor of a primary election law, home rule for cities, lowest taxation consistent with good government franchises being submitted to a vote of the people, and he promised to carefully look after the interests of the people of the first district.

HON. FREDERICK C. MARTINDALE of Greenfield

Martindale was a valuable member of the last House of Representatives and there were none more faithful to the best interests of the people in general, and it is safe to say he will make a most excellent senator.

He is a brother of Supt. Martindale of the Detroit City schools and is well and favorably known all over the district.

Teachers' Institute.

The state superintendent has appointed a Teachers' institute to be held at the Western high school, Detroit, commencing on Thursday evening, Nov. 6th, with a lecture by Dr. Jones, president of the State Normal College, and to continue Friday with Jones, Stetson and Loomas and Saturday with Arnold Tomkins of Chicago. The Wayne County Teachers' association will be in session with a wind up banquet Saturday noon. This promises to be one of the most interesting inspiration institutes ever held in this county. Commissioner Yost wants every teacher and person interested in educational work to attend.

Townsend at Plymouth.

Next Monday night Charlie Townsend, Republican candidate for Congress from this district, speaks in Plymouth and a number from here are likely to attend. Some other speakers from Detroit as well as county candidates for the various offices will be present and a rousing big meeting is looked for.

Mr. Townsend addressed a large and enthusiastic audience at Trenton Monday night and made many new friends.

SEC'Y WARNER ON STATE ISSUES

GIVES TAXPAYERS SOME INTERESTING INFORMATION.

State Tax Levy a Million Dollars Less This Year.

Secretary of State Fred M. Warner referring to the state tax apportioned to his own county (Oakland) says: "They are, in round numbers, $61,000 this year as against $82,000 a year ago and $97,000 in 1900. They are $40,000 less than they were in 1899 and only three thousand dollars greater than in 1898, notwithstanding the four years' growth of the state and county. Another thing that is of especial interest to our taxpayers is that owing to the fact that much property which has heretofore escaped taxation, is now on the rolls, the rate of taxation will be considered lower in Oakland county this year than for many years before notwithstanding the new equalization is thirty-four million. Instead of thirty millions, as it was before."

"This is a state issue," asserted Mr. Warner, "that appeals to the intelligence and the pocketbook of every taxpayer. Democrat or Republican. The state tax levy this year is one million dollars less than it was a year ago, the equalized valuation of property, real and personal, is higher than before, because much property is now on the rolls that the assessors had before omitted, so that to $9 of every hundred taxpayers everywhere in the state the burden of taxation will be lower in rate and lighter in dollars and cents than it has been for many years."

"The gross amount of taxes paid by the railroads of Michigan Jan. 1, 1890, was $757,231.94. This amount has increased steadily, except for the years 1893-45, when the whole country was suffering from the stagnation in business. A little later came Republican legislation raising the rate of taxation on railroads and the gross amount paid by those corporations jumped and on January 1 of this year the amount was $1,483,906.81, nearly double what it was 10 years ago. During this 10 years the taxation per mile increased from $113.32 to $167.85. The benefit of this increase in railroad taxation brought about by the Republican party, is felt by every taxpayer in every school district in Michigan. The specific tax paid by railroad corporations goes into what is popularly called the primary school fund and is distributed among the districts according to the number of children. In 1891 the total amount distributed was $916,587.85, while last year the school districts of the state received nearly a million and a half dollars."

Here are some more figures that have a direct bearing on state issues: Jan. 1, 1891—State Treasury revenue balance, $504,426.11

Jan. 1, 1899—State Treasury revenue balance, $237,046.16

"In this same connection it is interesting to remember that on the first day of August, this year, the revenue balance in the state treasury was very close to $5,000,000. Republican officials seem to be managing the business affairs of the people in a business-like manner. The money of the people is economically expended, not squandered.

"It seems to me," concluded the secretary of state, "that the more the people learn about the conduct of their state affairs by the Republican party, the larger will be the Republican majorities on election day."

From the Plymouth Mail.

Congressman Henry C. Smith made the first Republican campaign speech in village hall Saturday evening. Not a large, but a most appreciative audience was present. The congressman, though defeated in the convention for a renomination, is stumping the district in the interest of the successful candidate, Charles E. Townsend, thereby evincing a patriotic spirit. In his speech, frequently interspersed with laughable anecdotes, Mr. Smith paid a high tribute to Mr. Townsend, denounced the trusts and especially the coal barons and declared for a law by Congress that will sweep them from the face of the earth. The speaker also warmly espoused the cause of Frank S. Neal of Northville for representative, as he believed him to be a man of ardor for the people, his record being as clean and his work as thorough as that of the most honored member of the house. Mr. Neal was present but declined to make any extended remarks, but reference to his candidacy by Mr. Smith was accorded a flattering reception. Hon. T. C. Sherwood acted as chairman of the meeting.—Plymouth Mail Thankfulness.

The Presbyterian pastor of Northville sent out circulars to business men asking for information on which to base a series of sermons to young men and now requests through the local paper the return of the circulars. It is always comforting to a minister to find his efforts seconded by the community. In this instance there does not seem to exist cause for gratitude that actuated a colored pastor, who was ever thankful for favors received, however slight, and who when his hat had been passed for the contribution and returned to him without a cent in it, exclaimed with fervor: "I tank de Lawd I got my hat back."—Detroit Tribune

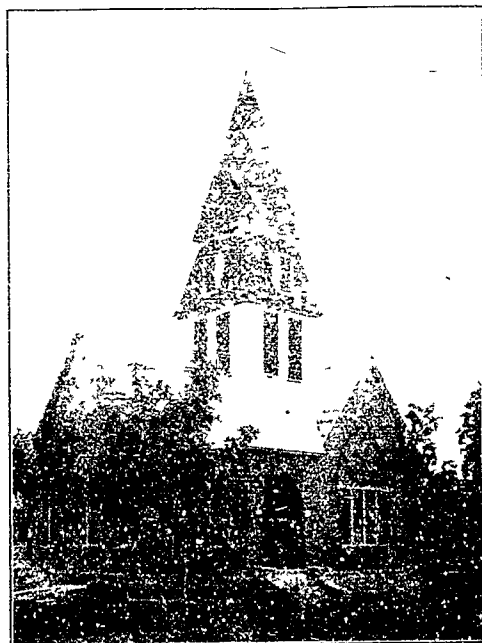

Bought Another Cheese Factory.

Secretary of State Warner is still enlarging his cheese making interests. He has purchased the factory of Jolliffe Brothers at Plymouth for $2,000 and will tear down the old building and construct a new one on the same site, and make other necessary improvements on the property.

Mrs. Howland Dead.

Mrs. Howland, mother of Mrs. W. J. Little, died 79 years, died yesterday afternoon at the latter's home where she had lived for some nine months past. Brief services will be held from the Little home tomorrow morning, and the remains will be taken to Springfield, Oakland county, for burial.

My Friends Know Heart Cure Cured Me.

Mrs. C. O. Hurd, 118 W. Third St., Muscatine, Ia., is well known throughout her section of Iowa as an ardent worker in the M. E. Church. She says: "LaGrippe left me with a severe case of nervous depression and nervous dyspepsia, which soon affected my heart. I suffered from sleeplessness, headache, extreme nervousness and twitching of the muscles. The slightest exertion would cause shortness of breath, a numbness of my body and hot flashes with pain. I will tell you what I am constantly telling my friends—that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me so that all these disagreeable symptoms left me. I may add that for severe pain I have never found anything to equal Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and today he is sound and well. In fact he passed a physical examination since his sickness and is with the Army in the Philippines. I desire to add that Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have certainly been a boon to me. I am frequently troubled with sick and nervous headaches, and I have never found anything that would relieve me so quickly and leave me feeling so well thereafter."—Mrs. A. H. Moad, Buffalo, Mo.

President's Strike Arbiters

Who They Are, What They Have Done and Why
They Were Put on the Commission

OF the six men who are arbitrating the issues of the great coal strike at least three are typical new century Americans and earnest, vigorous lovers of the strenuous life. All are men who have done things successfully, who are still doing things and who may be depended upon to have ideas of their own as well as the courage of their convictions.

Some of them know what it means to earn a living with their hands. Some of them don't. Most of them are just the kind of men one would expect the president to select for such a task, men of the Roosevelt stamp. Collectively they make a body to be respected. Individually they are most interesting.

The special representative of organized labor on the commission is E. D. Clark, chief of the Order of Railway Conductors, began trailblazing as a brakeman and for twelve years twisted brakes on various roads in the west, until in 1884, when he became a conductor on the Denver and Rio Grande. Since 1890 he has been head of the and Kingston railroad. The building of this road was a part of a movement by the individual operators to fight the coal barons. This enterprise forced the big roads to purchase at a large price. Mr. Watkins is said to have made a fortune in the transaction.

Mr. Watkins' friends have often likened him to President Roosevelt.

GENERAL JOHN M. WILSON

He is about forty five years old and does not look unlike the president. He is tall, has broad square shoulders and wears a short cropped gray mustache.

Right Rev. John Lancaster Spalding, bishop of Idaho, is a son of a great sacerdotal family linked with the early days and best traditions of Catholicism in America. He is the scholar, philosopher, conductors' organization, an experience that will fit him for the services to be performed.

Mr. Clark's qualities and experience specially commend him to the miners. That was undoubtedly one of the considerations that induced the president to select Mr. Clark. Moreover, the president, in selecting Mr. Clark, acted upon personal knowledge of the man. At the convention of railway engineers and firemen held at Chattanooga a few weeks ago at which President Roosevelt was present Mr. Clark made an address which impressed the president with his ability and personality.

Mr. Clark is well known in Washington to many public men, including members of the interstate commerce commission, by whom his selection is highly commended. The mediation and arbitration act, which became a law in 1898 and which provides for a permanent board of arbitration and conciliation to handle all disputes between railways and their employees, is credited largely to the efforts of Mr. Clark. Mr. Clark is a native of New York and is forty-six years old.

BISHOP JOHN I. SPALDING.

The man selected as a practical coal miner, Thomas H. Watkins of Scranton, started life as a digger of coal. Tiring of the pick, he secured employment in a miners' company store. He managed to save some money and organized the firm of Simpson & Watkins and opened a company store under an agreement with the operators. In this way Mr. Watkins made money enough to buy coal lands, which returned golden profits.

Mr. Watkins, it is said, was the real promoter of the short lived Wyoming and educator of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States.

Bishop Spalding is a native of Kentucky and his uncle under whose care he was named was the great Martin John Spalding, archbishop of Baltimore, one of the church's intellectual giants of the last century.

It has been stated that Bishop Spalding was the special selection of the president, and, although not personally known to the president, there has long been a bond of sympathy between them because of the strongly similar sentiments expressed in their writings notably the intense Americanism of both.

In the bituminous coal strike of 1900 Bishop Spalding, through the Rev. J.

Y. Power, a priest of his diocese at Spring Valley, Ill., where John Mitchell lives, exerted a potent influence in the preservation of order among the miners and in the final settlement of the strike. Bishop Spalding is especially noted as a clear and logical thinker, possessed of great lucidity of expression, and has frequently been styled the "modern Emerson."

General John M. Wilson, the military member of the commission, started out to earn his own living when he was little more than twelve years old. He was born in the District of Columbia sixty-five years ago and became a page in the senate in 1849. He thus knew Clay, Webster and Calhoun. Thomas H. Benton, Stephen A. Douglas and Salmon P. Chase as a popular boy knows such men and is able to recall some of their tests of oratory.

General Wilson entered West Point in time to graduate in 1860. He fought through the civil war and was several times decorated for gallantry. He became chief of engineers in 1897, which position he held until 1901.

Judge George Gray of the Idaho States court is a native of Idaho. He was sent by President McKinley as a member of the Paris peace commission to draft the treaty with Spain. After his return to this country he was appointed United States circuit judge. Judge Gray was sent to the Delaware from 1884 to 1890.

Judge Gray was graduated from Princeton in 1879 and studied law at Harvard. He practiced law in his native state and served as its attorney general. He was a delegate to the Democratic national conventions of 1876, 1880 and 1884. When the present chief justice of the United States supreme court was appointed Judge Gray's name was mentioned for the place, but President Cleveland decided to select an older man.

When it was announced that the operators had agreed that one of the members of the proposed board of arbitration should be a United States judge, Judge Gray's name immediately suggested itself.

Edward Wheeler Parker, although the youngest member of the commission, is regarded as one of the principal authorities on coal conditions in the United States. For twelve years he has been engaged in gathering coal statistics in connection with the United States bureau of geological survey. Mr. Parker is the editor of the Engineering and Mining Journal. He is forty-two years old and lives in New York city.

Carroll D. Wright, the recorder of the commission, has spent years in the study of the relations between capital and labor. He has been United States commissioner of labor since the organization of the bureau in 1885.

These are the men who have before them the task of adjusting the differences of a contest between capital and labor which for more than five months caused us a lot of domestic perplexity and almost disorganized the business of the nation.

Employs Woman Detective.

Capt. Desmond, chief of detectives in St. Louis, is said to have a woman among his regularly employed sleuths. In a recent raid on gamblers she was of especial value in locating the exact place where the game was in progress.

Spent More Than $1,000.

W. Baker of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife suffered from lung trouble for fifteen years. She tried a number of doctors and spent over $1,000 without relief. She became very low and lost all hope. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and, thanks to this great remedy, it saved her life. She enjoys better health than she has known in ten years." Refuse substitutes. Murdock Bros.

Irrigation Experts Report.

The government bulletin on irrigation investigations for 1901 reports the results of measurements and studies in many sections. Figures show that the average depth of water being applied to irrigate fields is more than four feet. These measurements are necessary to determine how much land can be irrigated from the reservoirs which the government is to build.

Furniture Talk!

Of course it will be no news to our many friends throughout this and adjoining counties to know we have a fine lot of Furniture on exhibit—and of course for sale also. We always have got that but what we wanted particularly to say was we have an unusually large stock of Stands, Extension Tables Combination Book Cases and Sideboards.

We bought them before the prices all advanced 15 per cent and so our prices are now 15 per cent less than other dealers. We didn't advance with the other. See? Come in and see them and take advantage of our

REDUCED PRICES

Of course we have a fine line of Couches, Rockers, Bedroom Suites, Mattresses, etc., but we want to talk Tables, Cases and Sideboards now.

Death Failed Her Four Times.

Detroit Mich. Oct. 22.—Mrs. Cordelia Willis aged twenty-eight years of 11 Flex her street has made four unsuccessful attempts at suicide where she took a dynamite and the same number of times she used the revolver. The fourth effort was made Monday night and again provided a failed to allow the woman to carry out her intention. She endeavored to shoot herself in the heart but a steel bullet in her dress averted the bullet and on a wound was inflicted.

Small Crop of Sugar Beets.

Saginaw Mich. Oct. 22.—The beet crop threatens to be a failure for the present season and the farmers who had given large tracts of land to grow the saccharine tubers are feeling very depressed. On some sides it is asserted that the crop will not be as large as last year.

Selected Another Site.

Washington Oct. 22.—Owing to the inability of the government to select a site for the federal building at Traverse City Mich. the secretary of the treasury has made another selection, the property being located on the southwest corner of Cass and State streets directly across the street from the property originally decided upon.

Acid Chamber Collapsed.

St. Louis Oct. 22.—Sulphuric acid chamber No. 1 of the St. Louis Chemical company plant, collapsed while twenty men were at work. Two had narrow escapes being pinned beneath timbers and lead pipes. The disaster was caused by the weight of the lead plates which line the frame. The loss will reach several thousand dollars.

William Hess Discharged.

Flint Mich. Oct. 22.—William Hess arrested July 6 on suspicion of murderously assaulting William Lockyer who was found unconscious under the railway bridge, was discharged in the circuit court here, the officers not having a case against him.

Farmer Tired of Life.

Averill Mich. Oct. 22.—Last evening Hank Wismer living in township of Hope, shot himself over the heart. The reason for the deed cannot be learned. Doctors say he cannot live.

Exploring a Chicago Slipper.

A Chicago woman had two painters arrested for stealing $2,000 from her, and then found the money in an old slipper. Knowing the size of the Chicago foot, one can imagine what an exploring job there was before that money was located. Talk about exploring the Mammoth cave!—Los Angeles Times.

School for Factory Employees.

The Hoe printing press works at New York has a school in connection to which attendance is compulsory upon the part of the boys leaving a trade. It is considered necessary by reason of the highly skilled labor required.

School Notes.

(By the Superintendent.)

Grand weather for school.

The chemistry class is studying oxygen.

Elizabeth Mooney was recently promoted from grade 3 to 4 and Leo Dunham from grade 5 to 6.

The teachers' gymnastic books have arrived and the work will be begun at once. We hope to do a good deal of good by way of correcting bad habits of standing, walking, etc.

The Misses Kate and Ira Hubbard classified in the high school last Tuesday. They will prove a great credit to our nice class of non-resident pupils.

In behalf of the little people of the first grade, Donald Lewis presented the superintendent with some nice ripe strawberries, which were grown in Master Donald's garden.

We are pleased to meet so many visitors at the school. Scarcely a day passes that does not bring some one and best of all a large number of these visitors are parents who have children in school.

Our junior foot ball team played with a Plymouth team last Friday after school. Although our boys averaged younger and lighter than the visiting team, they made a fair showing when the scores were counted. The game closed with 11 to 5 in favor of the visitors.

A Friday night German club has been organized to which those who have had at least one year's work in German are admitted. Miss Evelyn H. Bryant, the conductor, reports that the class, numbering about a dozen, are enthusiastic and expect to gain much that will mutually benefit each other.

Parents may look for the monthly report cards to be brought home next Wednesday evening. Much of the good that these cards bring about is due to the attention you give them. We hope both parents will look over the standings. We want the cards each month to convey to your minds our estimate of the quality of work done by your boy or girl.

Just after our seniors had put up the bills announcing the "Top Van Winkle" entertainment for this evening a telegram was received stating that the company would not be able to meet the date. This caused some disappointment as the class had expected not only to furnish the public a pleasant evening's entertainment at a small expense, but incidentally to come into possession of a senior "nest egg" with a double volk.

WATSON RESIGNS

Great Record-keeper Couldn't Agree With Boynton

Port Huron Mich. Oct. 22.—Thomas Watson, great record keeper of the great camp Knights of the Modern Maccabees tendered his resignation to Major N. S. Boynton, great commander of the order Tuesday to take effect Nov. 1, 1902.

While the resignation comes as a great surprise to members of the order, it has been an open secret for some time that there has been a great deal of friction between Watson and Boynton. Ever since the issue of expansion first came up Boynton and Watson have been arrayed against each other and at Marquette the feeling grew bitter. When Boynton won out and Watson was re-elected it was thought that there would be harmony in the order and when the two men came back to Port Huron it was thought that their differences had been settled and that there would be no more trouble.

On the first night, however, when a public reception was given them, it was noticed that the breach was still wide and since that time they have been growing further apart.

Singular Coincidences.

Twice in his long military service of forty years has the number nineteen figured prominently in the life of Col. Edmund Rice of the United States army. Back in the sixties, when he won his medal of honor at Gettysburg, he was in command of the 91st Nineteenth Massachusetts, which he brought home. He has recently won his star as colonel of regulars and is now in command of the Nineteenth infantry, which will be stationed at Royal Sear's, San Francisco.
