NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

BUSY TIME PROMISED FOR FINANCE COMMITTEES.

Wayne County Is Sure to Have Primary Election Law.

A bill if passed will fix the maximum pay of county agents according to the population. The price per case is $3.

The matter of abolishing the fifty day limit for the introduction of bills is almost sure to be submitted to a vote of the people at the next election. It is figured that the abolishing of the fifty day limit would tend to shorten the session by at least thirty days as there would be no excuse for hundreds of the so-called emergency bills.

The opinion that a general primary election bill will be passed is growing a little of late. One affecting the county of Wayne is almost sure to go through within the next thirty days.

The annual junket billed for next week is not such a bad affair as some Detroit newspapers would have people believe. There are a half dozen state institutions in the upper peninsula which legislative committees must visit and the law provides just how they shall be paid. Whether all the upper peninsula committees go on the same or go on separate trains makes no difference whatever to the expense. Members receive pay for visiting only the institution to which they are appointed and these visits are a saving of thousands of dollars every year to the taxpayers of the state for only by the investigations made by these committees is the legislature able to judge of the real needs of the many state institutions.

A bill has been introduced to compel fire insurance companies to pay the full face value of the policy on any building and depriving them of the privilege of setting up the plea that the property was over valued.

Rep. Combs of Lenawee would increase the compensation of sheriffs for attending circuit court from $1.50 to $2.50, their pay for serving on other days.

Counties should be compelled to take care of their own poor, says Rep. Barnab. His bill provides that the state shall take care of unknown paupers and the poor, incompetents and cripples. But it shall be the duty of superintendents of the poor to notify the county authorities of any county in which the poor person has resided for a year within two years of the time the case came to notice. Said superintendents shall have authority to send back to such county any public charge who comes under these provisions.

Appropriation bills for new state buildings, new normal schools and new charitable institutions are coming in with the usual rapidity, and should everybody get all they wanted it would take an appropriation of something like eight millions of dollars. Three new normal schools are asked for, several hundred thousand dollar additions to the capitol, fifty thousand or more for a soldiers' monument, $75,000 for the St. Louis exposition, besides a million or more for new asylums, etc. The ways and means committee of both houses certainly have a busy task before them.

A bill now before the senate is for $20,000 for the purpose of compiling and printing the records of the soldiers of the rebellion and the late war with Spain.

Teachers' Examinations, for Wayne County, 1903.

AGED CITIZEN PASSED AWAY

HIRAM E. CADY DIED MONDAY AFTERNOON

At the Advanced Age of Eighty-eight Years.

Hiram E. Cady, another of Northville's oldest residents, passed away Monday afternoon at his home in this village after a short illness, having been able to be out as usual until very recently.

HIRAM E. CADY

He was widely known as an owner and lover of fine horses, and had continued to drive despite his advanced age until stricken with his last illness. He had been a familiar figure among horsemen for half a century and was much respected. He leaves a widow.

The funeral was held at the home Wednesday with Rev. W. S. Jerome as the officiating clergyman, and the burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

McKinley Day Observed.

In accordance with a request from the National G. A. R. that the anniversary of William McKinley's birth be observed by the W. R. C. the Northville corps under direction of its patriotic committee entertained guests on Wednesday evening at G. A. R. hall with a program in commemoration of the day. About seventy-five were present, members of the Post, their wives and a number of others having been invited. The speakers were Commander Wade of the local Post, Hon. S. J. Lawrence and W. H. Hutton, who talked on the different phases of Mr. McKinley's life, and President Roosevelt's eulogy of him delivered the evening before at Canton, O., was read. Violin music by Miss Murdock of Novi, graphophone selections and a dainty supper with a pleasant social hour were other features of the evening.

HANDLING OF STATE MONEY

Board of Control to Have Less Liberty.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 27.—Boards of control of Michigan institutions are to have less liberty in the handling of thousands of dollars of state money spent for improvements every year, if Representative Neal, chairman of the house ways and means committee has his way.

In the past appropriation bills have usually contained a clause to the effect that if it was found that more money was appropriated for any certain purpose than was needed the residue might be used for some other work at the institution. Under this rule the various boards could ask an appropriation for one kind of building, use a part in that purpose and the rest for something the legislature knew nothing about and which might not have been allowed if the full intentions had been understood.

It is related that the board of institutions saved out of various appropriations for maintenance enough to construct a new building which, officially, the state knows nothing about.

Said Chairman Neal this morning. "The ways and means committee will this year insist that the change be changed so that such money may not be used for any other purpose by the board of control unless the governor and the state board of corrections and charities give consent. The plan followed in the past has been at all events a very loose way of handling the state money."—Detroit Free Press.

Death of Hart Row.

The body of Hart Row who died at the home of Mrs. Root Friday morning, January 24, was taken to his parents' home in Lansing the same afternoon by his father who had arrived here the day before. Mr. Row had been ill but a few days and the immediate cause of death was paralysis of the heart. He was 32 years of age, and was formerly well known as a successful insurance agent. He had resided in Northville for several years and had many friends here. The funeral was held at Lansing Sunday. His father is a prominent and wealthy business man of that city.

WILLIAM R. DAY.

Interesting Career of the Ohio Jurist and Statesman.

Judge William R. Day, who has been selected by President Roosevelt to succeed Judge Shiras as associate justice of the supreme court of the United States on the latter's retirement next month, was secretary of state in the late President McKinley's first cabinet.

The appointment is somewhat notable in that Ohio, from which state Judge Day will be appointed, is not in the judicial circuit to which Justice Shiras was assigned and from which he was appointed. Justice Shiras is from Pennsylvania.

In selecting Judge Day President Roosevelt is carrying out the intention of McKinley, who, it is said, had prom-posed to place him on the supreme bench. This was intended both as a recognition of his ability as a jurist and as a reward for his services as secretary of state during the Spanish-American war.

Judge Day is a native of Ohio, and his birthplace. His father was Judge Luther Day of the supreme court of Ohio after leaving the country school he entered the University of Michigan.

He made his home in Canton in 1872 and began the practice of law. He soon formed a warm friendship with William McKinley, which lasted until the latter's untimely death. It was Judge Day who fought for McKinley in the latter's contest for a seat in congress in the eighties, and McKinley supported Judge Day when he ran for judge of the court of common pleas in 1886.

Judge Day held this office less than a year, because he could not afford to hold a position that paid him so little. A little later President Harrison appointed him a United States district judge, but ill health forced him to resign almost immediately. In March, 1897, President McKinley made him assistant secretary of state, and he succeeded John Sherman as secretary in April of the following year.

After the war he became chairman of the United States peace commission at Paris. He is now the judge of the federal court of the Sixth circuit, to which he was appointed in 1899 by President McKinley. Judge Day was married in 1875 to Miss Mary E. Shaffer of Canton. They have four sons. Judge Day is in his fifty-third year.

Would Buy Abbotsford.

Alexander McDonald of New York, largely interested in the Standard Oil company, is endeavoring to buy Abbotsford, formerly the home of Sir Walter Scott, with the purpose of presenting it to the Scottish people. The place is now owned by Mrs. Maxwell Scott, a distant relative of the poet and novelist.

most indignant little toss, which was quite lost upon her mentor, who was either so absorbed with her own discourse that she didn't see it or else, seeing it, took it as a matter of course.
"And now one thing in particular I

How 'TET'S LOST SUIT.

Mrs. Archibutee from a Paran-Stevens, who is in Detroit, recently arrived in New York, who is the wife of Major General Paget of the Scots Guards and the eldest daughter of the late Mrs.
Paran Stevens. She is a visitor in London's smartest set. Mrs. Paget's trip to the United States is prompted more by business than social reasons. Although she will remain in New York during the height of the social season and will doubtless receive much attention.

For nearly a quarter of a century the will of the late Paran Stevens has been in litigation and has just been settled by a decree of Chief Justice Stines of Rhode Island a part of the rich estate

MRS. ARTHUR H. E. PAGET

which Mrs. Paget hoped to inherit will go to her next sister, Mrs. Ellen S.
Melcher.

Mrs. Melcher was a daughter of Paran Stevens by his first wife. By his second wife there were two children, Mrs. Paget and Henry L. Stevens.
The latter died unmarried.

By the terms of the will of Paran Stevens, who died in 1872 his widow received $100,000, the remainder of the estate being tied up in a trust fund, the proceeds of which were to go to the widow during her life. Upon her death the will provided that the estate should be divided among his three children or their descendants.

Henry L. Stevens, the only son, died ten years before his mother did and consequently did not live long enough to come into his share of the estate, as provided in his father's will. Henry Stevens left a wife, however, bequeathing the share he would have inherited in equal parts to his mother and his sister, Mrs. Paget. Upon her death Mrs.
Paran Stevens bequeathed her share of the estate to her daughter, Mrs. Paget.

When the marriage of Mary Elsie Stevens and Arthur Henry Fitzroy Paget was arranged in the spring of 1878 certain antenuptial settlements were executed. These arrangements figured prominently in the case just decided in the Rhode Island courts.

The decision of the court holds that the real estate involved belongs in equal moieties to Mrs. Melcher and to Mrs.
Paget. The amount which Mrs. Paget loses is considerable, as the estate is now estimated to be worth from $5, 300,000 to $10,000,000.

How Spain Shows Its Respect For the Old Naval Commander.

That Spain has nothing but good will for Admiral Cervera, who commanded the ill-fated Spanish fleet in the naval evidenced by his recent appointment to the post of chief of staff of the Spanish

While in Santiago with a fleet of four

July, 1898, received orders to proceed

BOWSER Pens His Life

Copyright, 1902, by C. E. Lewis.

MR. BOWSER was considerably surprised the other evening when Mr. Bowser got out pencil and paper, after dinner and settled himself down as if he intended to write a 2000 word story. She repressed her curiosity until he had written half a page and then inquired:

"Is it the draft of some important paper you are drawing up?"
 "Rather important," he replied as he leaned back in his chair and looked up at the ceiling in a vacant way. "It's so important that the editor of the Banner is willing to pay $50 for it."
 "But what can it be a story?"
 "Some people might call it that, but it will be headed 'The Autobiography of Mr. Bowser.' It's for the Sunday issue and will be accompanied by a life sized portrait of the undersigned."

 "How queer!" whispered Mrs. Bowser.

"I don't see anything queer about it. In fact, I've wondered that some enterprising journal didn't ask for this very thing long ago."
 "But what can there have happened in your life to interest any one?" she continued.
 "A hundred things—a thousand—ten thousand I will read you what I have got written and perhaps even you will be surprised. Here it is."

"On the night of Mr. Bowser's birth a barn near by was struck by lightning, a horse fell into a pond and was drowned, the postoffice was robbed and a carpenter named Jones was murdered in his bed. It will thus be seen that our hero!"

"Here there was a ring at the front door, and as the girl was out, Mr. Bowser answered the bell. The caller was looking for a family named Green and was directed to the other end of the block.

"That our hero did what?" asked Mrs. Bowser as the historian resumed his seat.

"That is as far as I have got. I will now go on and say that one could have safely predicted a life full of stirring adventures from these early incidents. The subject of our sketch was hardly three months old when he was left in his cradle alone for an hour one day. The doors of the house were open, and while the child slept and smiled—
 "Ting-a-ling-ling" went the bell, and Mr. Bowser answered it to find a woman on the steps who wanted to know if his name was Johnson and if he had thrown a beer keg at her boy Robert that day. It took him five minutes to get rid of her, and as he returned to the sitting room Mrs. Bowser asked:
 "Did a bear come in and devour the baby? I hope it won't turn out so."
 "As I was the baby, and as I am still living, I wasn't devoured. I shall finish that paragraph by saying that a gypsy entered the house to steal me, and he was already carrying me off in his arms when a faithful dog attacked him and defeated his object. Then I go on:
 "Scarcely three months later the mother went down cellar one day after jam, leaving the baby sucking its fingers in the cradle. She was absent for perhaps five minutes, and upon her return she was amazed!"

The bell rang for the third time, and the undaunted lad kept on and finally—

 "That bell for the fifth time! Mr. Bowser clinched his teeth together as he rose up to trot down the hall.
 "Don't—don't hurt anybody," pleaded Mrs. Bowser.
 "But I will! I'll annihilate whoever I find there and toss his dead body over the fence!"
 Mrs. Bowser heard the door open, hot words pass, a struggle and a fall, and by the time she reached it Mr. Bowser lay on his back on the floor, with his legs doubled up under him. She lifted his head and found his neck was not broken. She straightened out his legs and found the knee hinges all right. Then she returned to the sitting room to pick up the pencil and write.
 "Owing to the fact that Mr. Bowser has been struck on the jaw at his own door by a would be assassin and is still wondering where he is at as this paper goes to press we must cut this autobiography short and fill up the space intended for it with Reuben's hair dye, put up in twenty-five cent, fifty cent and one dollar bottles. None genuine unless it smells like stale eggs. Buy at once, and take no other."
 M. QUAD.

Doubting Dennis.
 Judy—Will ye give me yer promise, Dennis, that ye'll love me forever?
 Dennis—Sure, an' O'd like to do that same, Judy, but O'm hardly of the opinion that O'll last as long as that.

WABASH

Follow The Flag.

The quickest way to get from Northville to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, New York and Boston, is via the Wabash, the Banner Route, the pathway of the Continental Limited, which has a record for speed and equipment which is unexcelled. When traveling east, see that your ticket reads Pere Marquette and Wabash.

The Wabash is the only direct line from Detroit to St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha, with direct and fast service to these points. Close connections at St. Louis for Hot Springs, and at Kansas City for all Colorado and California points.

Write to me for information.

R. S. GREENWOOD, M. P. A., Chicago.

"Operator," Not "Chauffeur."

Objection to the use of the French word "chauffeur" in the ordinance regulating the speed of automobiles in Kansas City has led to the substitution of the word "operator" to designate the man controlling the machine.

A LIFE AT STAKE.

Suburban News.

Two $45 per month positions for teachers are said to be going begging for lack of pedagogical incumbents in this county.

A seventeen-year old Orion lawsuit was decided in the Oakland county courts last week. The controversy would have attained legal age in a few years more.

Miss Collar is a young lady in the employ of the postoffice department at Wayne. The matrimonial tie is the one which would best match that kind of a Collar.

An "S" supper was a recent social function at Wyandotte, but it is not supposed that there could be anything really crooked about so letter-ary an affair. S's, u's, are up in g's.

The burning question at Plymouth these days is in regard to a public lighting system. Some say a municipal electric plant and others want somebody to put in a system and rent the illumination to the village. The question will be decided at the spring election.

A big stock raiser in Vernon is shearing his sheep. He ought to be turned out some of these cold nights deprived of his clothing, so that his hide could get a little tougher. Fencer Independent.

The D. P. C. A. ought to have a clip at people who cut such cruel capers as that.

There is evidently "honor" among thieves at Orion. Somebody out there unloaded a few tons of coal from a night freight car and then surreptitiously borrowed a team and dray to haul the fuel away, leaving a generous load of the coal on the dray when the rig was returned to the owner's barn.

The Ann Arbor Courier in telling of a young Episcopalian student, who fell down stairs in his sleep, says: "Her head struck the plaster at the landing place with sufficient force to crack it." As the young lady returned to school of course it wasn't her head that was cracked, so it must have been the plaster.

Ever Copeman of Oxford, an electric railway conductor, knows all he ever wants to know about how it feels to be struck by lightning. He took a dose of 75,000 volts of the extract the other day while having a trolley pole, and still lives to be eligible to another, but from the same mysterious and deadly force.

Pontiac's police department has issued a prohibitory notice in regard to the practice of coasting on side walks in that city and hereafter the youngsters there will have to let the authorities run their own. A general application of parental slippers would perhaps be a good thing to assist in the enforcement of the order—the parents constituting a sort of reinforcement to support the majesty of the law.

Rev. John Rowe of Carleton has been having rather a hard row to hoe of late. After two of his children had been sick with scarlet fever and he had been quarantined for the regulation period, he had his house invaded and had enjoyed liberty and the pursuit of happiness for a week when another child was attacked with the disease and the whole program, quarantine and all has to be gone through with again. And yet he still looks on life through Rowe's colored spectacles in any color.

Lyceum Theater—Detroit.

George Sidney, the funny little comedian to be seen at the Lyceum Theater next week, is an actor who has no counterparts on the American stage. There are many comedians who essay the Hebrew role. Sidney has created a Jew which amuses those of the Hebrew faith who witness the comedian's work. His characterization is not a burlesque, neither is it an imitation of any of the many types of that much abused character. A company of forty comedians and pretty girls will aid Mr. Sidney in his funmaking. Matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Whitney's Opera House—Detroit.

The excellent comedy drama "The Minister's Daughters," which will be seen at the Whitney Theater next week, tells the story of two country girls, daughters of the widow of a country minister, who go to New York in search of employment so that they may be able to keep the little home where their aged mother resides. The many trying ordeals in which they are placed are correctly drawn by the author. The company is a large one and thoroughly capable. Matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

In Bed Four Weeks with La Grippe.

We have received the following letter from Mr. Roy Kemp, of Angola, Ind.: "I was in bed four weeks with la grippe and I tried many remedies and spent considerable for treatment with physicians, but I received no relief until I tried Foley's Honey and Cathartic. Two small bottles of this medicine cured me and I now use it exclusively in my family." Take no substitutes. For sale by Murdock Bros.

The New Style In Marriage

The other day a man and a woman called on a house agent about taking a house. The woman did all the talking and turned to the man for confirmation or corroboration. He always agreed with her and did it very meekly.

"Well," said the woman, "we're willing to take the house at £30 a year. Ain't we, John?"

John replied, "Yes."

"And we'll pay the rent promptly too. Won't we, John?"

"Yes."

"And we'll take good care of the house. Won't we, John?"

"Yes."

"And we don't mind taking it for three years. Do we, John?"

"No."

"By the by," the agent inquired, "of course you are man and wife?"

"Man and wife!" exclaimed the woman sharply. "Indeed we are not. Are we, John?"

"No, my dear."

"What?" said the agent. "Not man and wife?"

"Not exactly," she retorted. "I'd have you know in this instance we are wife and man. That's so, isn't it, John?"

And John meekly agreed—London Spare Moments.

He Was a Bit Shy.

At a circuit court in a provincial county town a young countrywoman was under examination.

"Now, my good girl," said the advocate, "you say you were near the spot when the prisoner at the bar committed the act. Was any one with you at the time?"

"Yiss, yiss, my lord and advocate, my sweetheart was vis me."

"Courting, I suppose?" was again asked. "Is he here? We want corroborative evidence."

"Yiss, my advocate and lord, aboust outside."

"We had better call him into court," here remarked the judge.

"No no my lord," cried the witness. "Goodness no! I can hardly get him to court me when we are alone and I am sure he won't court me here afore you all."—London Answers.

Concerning the Sausage.

"What time of the year does a sausage come out of the ground to look for its shadow?"

"A sausage? You mean a ground hog?"

"Well isn't a sausage ground hog?"

The above is taken from the sketch of the Golden Gate quartet—five negroes, who successively impersonate Chinamen and various other character types.

A Mutual Wish.

Mr. Drypatte—I should like to take a scapshot at you, sir.

Red Hubs—Ditto, pard.

Where She Was Vaccinated.

Billy Clifford the monologist tells the following about his girl:

"Why, she asked me what I was vaccinated for," he says, "and I told her for common sense. She said, 'It didn't take.' Then I asked her where she was vaccinated, and she said, 'Why, right here in New York.'"

He Dropped to Earth.

"How did Subbubs come to his death?" asked the citizen in those days, i. e., the year 1925.

"Oh," replied the other, "some careless fellow traveler, it is believed, dropped a lighted cigarette stump on the gas bag of his flying machine."—Philadelphia Press.

A Wild Guess.

Little Clarence (who reads and ponders)—Pa, who was Peppy's?

Mr. Calipers—I don't know, my son—in fact, I do not know anybody who does know; but I fancy he was the man who first invented dyspepsia.

Cheap Household Goods.

Tan Bo Wo, a Chinese merchant, filed a schedule in bankruptcy in the United States District court the other day. He included under the heading "household effects," two women and ten children, besides chopsticks and other articles, the whole lot being valued at $15.

The many friends of G. H. Hausan, Engineer, L. E. & W. R. R., at present living in Lima, O., will be pleased to know of his recovery from threatened kidney disease. He writes: "I was cured by using Foley's Kidney Cure, which I recommend to all, especially to those who are usually similarly afflicted."

Patent kidney and bladder troubles can always be prevented by the use of Foley's Kidney Cure. For sale by Murdock Bros.

The Important Question.

"What do you think of our new cook?" "I hope she'll consent to remain," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "I've been so busy worrying over what she might think of us that I never stopped to think about what we thought of her."—Washington Star.

Don't let the little ones suffer from eczema, or other torturing skin diseases. No need for it. Doan's Ointment cures. Can't harm the most delicate skin. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Not Yet Ready to Retire.

Dr. Samuel Willard, a venerable school teacher in Chicago though now in his eighty first year is about to start on a trip to the Mediterranean, expecting to "do" Greece especially in a very thorough and satisfactory manner.

Croup.

The peculiar cough which indicates croup is usually well known to the mothers of croupy children. No time should be lost in the treatment of it, and for this purpose no medicine has received more universal approval than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Do not waste valuable time in experimenting with untried remedies. No matter how highly they may be recommended but give this medicine as directed and all symptoms of croup will quickly disappear. For sale by George C. Hueston.

Confirmed Globe Trotter.

Miss Celeste J. Miller of Chicago has just started on her fifth trip around the world. She has visited every country in the world except Siberia, which she is now on her way to visit. She always travels alone, and has never missed a train or boat connection, never met with an accident, and has refused 300 proposals of marriage.

FINDS WAY TO LIVE LONG.

The startling announcement of a discovery that will surely lengthen life is made by editor C. H. Dowsey, of Churubusco, Ind. "I wish to state," writes Dowsey, "that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is the most valuable remedy that I have ever known for Coughs, Colds and Grippe. It is valuable to people with weak lungs. Having this wonderful medicine no one need dread Pneumonia or Consumption. Its relief is instant and cure certain." Geo. C. Hueston guarantees every 50c and $1.00 bottle, and gives trial bottles free.

Monks Ascend Mont Blanc.

Two Franciscan monks, dressed in the robes of their order, have just made the ascent of Mont Blanc, accompanied by three guides. They are stated to be the first priests who have ever accomplished the feat.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Filbridge, West Cornwall Conn.

Boots Made from Donkey Hide.

A novelty in footwear is to be seen in the window of a Strand (London) boot maker. This is a pair of boots made of donkey hide, tanned in Spain. It is stated that they are the only pair of the kind in London.

PNEUMONIA AND LA GRIPPE.

Cough cured quickly by Foley's Honey and Tar. Refuse substitutes. For sale by Murdock Bros.

Rattlesnakes' Venom.

A rattlesnake that is five or six feet in length will yield a tablespoonful of venom two or three times a month. It takes its poison sacs at least a week to fill again after they have been emptied.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy it. It her a bottle of it which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Geo. C. Hueston.
