"VILLAGE OF PEACE"

And Its "Oldest Inhabitant" is a Philosopher.

NORTHVILLE AS SEEN BY TRIBUNE STAFF REPORTER.

H. M. Nimmo Gives a Fine Write-up in Monday's Paper.

Nature has been very good to Northville in supplying her with the choicest water that flows out of the earth. On a hill within an easy distance of the village stands a large reservoir filled with water from a neighboring spring, clear as crystal cool and pure. The reservoir is 120 feet above the center of the village and by mere gravity pressure will give the firemen a stream of water well over 100 feet. The expense of excavating the reservoir and laying the pipes has been the price of the entire water supply. Never a cent is invested in machinery or paid out for pumping.

A small ginseng farm operated by Stark Brothers and M. A. Porter, is one of the features of the place. The Chinese believe that ginseng is a real panacea and hold it as something sacred. Not everybody is allowed to handle it. The name signifies "man plant" because the root, the valuable part of the plant, crudely resembles the shape of a man's legs and arms and neck, the whole plant growing in a wonderfully symmetrical form both above and below the ground. In China and some parts of Manchuria the plant is freely cultivated, but the Chinese themselves are loath to dig more and more to this country for their supply and impose no duty whatever on it as an import. The United States last year shipped about $1,000,000 worth to the yellow men. Ginseng grows in the virgin forests of the eastern and middle west states, but is fast disappearing with the opening up of the country. The Indians have gathered large crops of it. It takes about five years to mature a crop from the seed, but takes only an ordinary amount of care to cultivate the plant and the crop of one acre is ultimately worth between $25,000 to $30,000. The Northville area has about one-fourth of an acre and others are getting into the business. The price they expect this year is about $9.00 per pound and five cents a piece for seed.

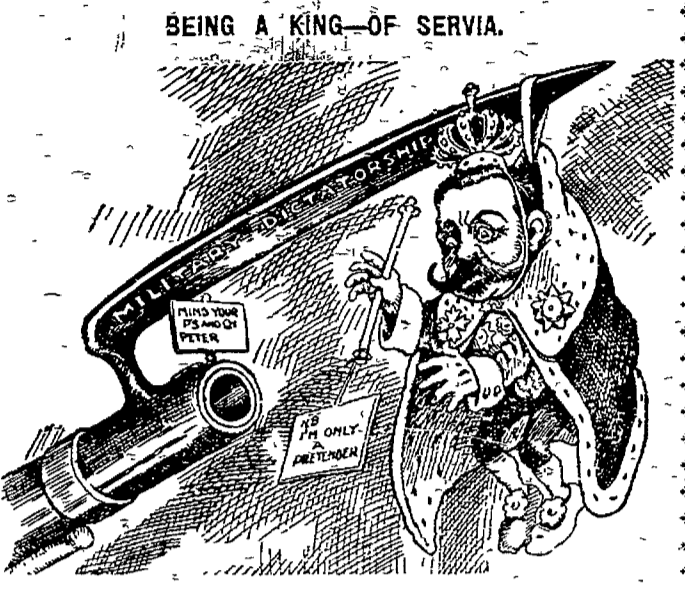

The United States fish hatchery here is being greatly improved and enlarged. It has had a capacity of nearly 20,000,000 trout of different varieties a year, and the propagation of bass will be actively begun next year, the federal government having voted an extra appropriation of $5,000 for the station this year. The trout capacity will also be increased to about 35,000,000. Superintendent Clark argues that the people will get full value for the money invested in fisheries in keeping down the price of fish and in keeping the streams and lakes full enough to supply the markets.

The Northville Ladies' Library association held its annual meeting last week. The annual reports showed the library to be in an excellent financial condition. The institution is self-supporting, the board of managers doing all the work gratis, the fee for subscribers being 50 cents annually. The property of the association is valued at $4,000 and includes the building and site, nearly 2,000 books, pictures, furniture, etc., and is entirely owned and managed by the ladies. The reading list is estimated at over 5,000 volumes annually. Northville feels very proud of having so fine a library and it is one of the show places of the village.

KING'S DAUGHTERS ANNUAL CONVENTION

STATE MEETING TO BE HELD HERE OCT. 22-24.

Two Hundred Visitors Will Be Here from All Parts of the State

The date for the King's Daughters' State Annual convention which is to be held in Northville this year are October 22 to 24 inclusive, and the plans and preparations by the local circle have already been in progress for some time.

It is an honor to our village and a tribute to the bustling qualities of the members of the society here that so important a meeting should be brought to us and our King's Daughters should, and no doubt will, have the hearty co-operation of all the people of Northville.

Of course it will be utterly impossible for the members of the circle alone to prepare for and entertain the large number of delegates and visitors who will attend the convention, and it will be necessary to call upon the citizens for assistance in many ways and this assistance will of course be willingly given. It is expected that a hundred delegates and probably at least a hundred more visitors from all over the state will be in attendance and all the state officers will of course be present. Our people will necessarily be asked to aid in showing the usual hospitalities to the members of this great organization, whose power for good is constantly being exemplified by our local workers and it is to be hoped that none will fail to respond when the request is made for help along any of the numerous lines financial and otherwise in which it will be required.

WASN'T DR. COPELAND

Some Northville People Thought Specs Too High.

A number of prominent and wealthy farmers of this vicinity were recently victimized by a spectacle peddler representing himself to be Dr. Copeland of Ann Arbor, paying in one instance $30 for "specially fitted" glasses. Some one became convinced that Dr. Copeland was not spending his vacation in that manner, and sent inquiries to Ann Arbor. They received the information that the doctor was neither peddling nor had any representative in the business.

Hiram Holmes, an influential farmer whose wife had bought glasses of the "doctor," made complaint before Justice Webster and the man was fined $250. During the proceedings Mr. Holmes offered to settle if the money was refunded. The "doctor" was willing, but said he couldn't refund till he had sold a sufficient amount of "specs" to get the cash. An officer was placed in charge of the doctor's "spec" case until he could obtain sufficient money to settle up.

HIGH COURT DECISIONS

SEVERAL IMPORTANT FINANCIAL CASES SETTLED.

GOVERNOR BLISS WINS HIS SUIT FOR $1,000.

PECULIAR TRANSACTION OF A DETROIT MAN.

Lansing, Mich., July 15.—The judgment of the Saginaw circuit court giving Governor Bliss a judgment for $1,000 against the Potomac Fire Insurance company, under a policy issued on the governor's salt block at Carleton, has been affirmed by the supreme court.

The sole question passed upon by the supreme court was whether the Saginaw agents who placed the insurance were agents of the governor or of the insurance company. It was determined that they were agents of the company.

William A. Pungs of Detroit will not get possession of a balance of $5,500 of the $20,000 so-called guarantee fund which he deposited in the Preston National bank as a drawing and advertising fund for the Michigan Debenture company, of which he was president. The company was organized in 1901 at Columbus, O., under a West Virginia charter. Its authorized capital was $20,000, but only $3,724 of the capital stock was ever paid in. At the end of 1902 the balance of the fund was $147,709 of which stock was issued $11,315 paid.

In order to give the company a commercial standing so it could sell its debentures, Mr. Pungs deposited $70,000 to its credit in the Preston National bank, and it was held out to investors and others as a part of the funds of the company.

In 1900 the company was denied the use of the title "Salt" was brought by Charles E. Christian and other investors for the appointment of a receiver. At the end of the first year Pungs attempted to draw $15,000 of the deposit, but the bank refused to permit him to do so, whereupon the company paid him this sum from its reserve fund and substituted $15,000 from the guarantee fund in its place. The company was insolvent at the time.

The complainants asked for a receiver, to be relieved from further payments, for an accounting and that they recover the amounts paid by them less the amounts received on matured coupons and that the transfer of $15,000 to Pungs be declared void. This prayer was granted.

The state will definitely have to pay John Neal a Fox county Sheriff, $75 for notes which were destroyed by Boutwell and lost in the Tin dell.

The deputy seized certain pound nets belonging to Neal and by erection of the warden, destroyed them. Neal brought action to recover the value of the nets and was given judgment in the Bay circuit court. This judgment was affirmed by the supreme court.

The supreme court has reversed the judgment of $10,000 obtained in the Wayne circuit court by the Detroit Salt company against the National Salt company. The judgment represented the purchase price of salt sold by the Detroit company to the National company under a contract which provided for the sale to the latter of the former's entire output of salt, the price to be paid being 31 cents per barrel up to 300,000 barrels per annum, and 10 cents per barrel for all in excess thereof.

Lansing, Mich., July 15.—The supreme court Tuesday decided the following cases:

Affirmed Labarge vs. Pere Marquette Railroad Co., Neal vs. Morse; Emaio vs. Detroit United Railway, Blumenthal vs. Berkshire Life Insurance Co.; Dalavo vs. Richardson; Bennett vs. Carr, Gattus vs. Carr; Christian vs. Michigan Debenture Co.; City of Muskegon vs. Zeery, Bliss vs. Potomac Fire Insurance Co.; McCloskey vs. Detroit No. 1, People vs. Portenga, Haynes vs. Quay, Travis vs. Watson.

KNOW WHO SHE MEANT

Your sister easily recognized his own description. "This fellow," she had just taken to her room, an ex-convict, had been having a long talk with her about the fact that she had seen a man in the street who she thought was her brother. "You know," she said, "I had a brother who was in the penitentiary for some time, and I had heard that he had come out, and I was wondering if it was he."

Now, dear, she said, let us see what you can do about the man who has been in the penitentiary. "You have named all the names of the men who were in the penitentiary, and I have heard that they were all there, and I was wondering if it was he."

REASSURED BY THE SPEAKER

Why He Was Satisfied the Talking Would Soon Cease. Joseph Elkerton, a Philadelphia man, who has been in the penitentiary for some time, was talking to a woman who was in the penitentiary with him. "I beg to say," he said, "that the talking you object to comes not from me, but from the men's side of the house."

"The speaker smiled upon her. So much the better," he said. "It will be the sooner over."—Kansas City Journal. "A woman rising said to him: 'I beg to say to take notice that the talking you object to comes not from me, but from the men's side of the house.'"

Incident of Russo-Turkish War. During the last war between Russia and Turkey, as Mehmet Ali Pasha was retreating from Ostrog with his army, pursued by Montenegro, he halted at Monaca with the intention of destroying the monastery there and placed a battery in position on the opposite heights unknown to the Turks, half a league from Montenegro, were stationed there as garrison, and the pasha, thinking that he had but a handful of men to deal with sent down a small detachment to effect an entrance. The gate was opened and they were entered. Hardly had the last man set his foot within the courtyard when the Montenegrins fell upon them and beheaded them every one. The Turks, deeming all safe, sent a second detachment to assist in bringing out the booty and they met with a similar fate. Then Mehmet began to suspect that something was wrong and made preparations for bombardment, but it was too late. A brigade of pursuing Montenegrins had come up. They fell upon him from flank and rear and a horrid slaughter ensued.

THE NEXT POPE

Some of the Most Prominent Candidates for the Papal Throne

To hundreds of millions of Roman Catholics throughout the world the question of paramount interest is the selection of a successor to Pope Leo XIII. to rule on the throne of St. Peter. More than a quarter of a century has passed since the college of cardinals has been called upon to perform the important duty of choosing one of its number to preside over the destinies of the most powerful religious organization in Christendom, and of all the cardinals who took part in the conclave which elected Pope Leo but one is alive today—Cardinal Luigi Oreglia, dean of the sacred college and camerlingo of the Catholic church, the same office that was held by Leo at the time of his elevation.

While it is generally believed that the next pope will be chosen from among the Italian cardinals it is of especial interest to Americans that Cardinal Gibbons, the only American member of the college, is considered not to be without a chance for succeeding to the pontifical throne.

That such an event is possible is explained by the fact that many members of the sacred college are said to favor a new pope for the church and the election of a foreigner as pope. Should this plan commend itself to the conclave and a change of policy be agreed on Cardinal Gibbons could be the selected one. No opposition could be the rank of a prince of the church. This ceremony took place in the Baltimore cathedral on Jan. 3, 1896, Cardinal Gibbons placing the red hat on his head.

Francis Satoli, titular bishop of Lepanto and for years as close to Pope Leo XIII. as any member of the college, is a native of Perugia and even as a boy displayed gifts of oratory of a high order, and to this accomplishment he added great powers of original thought and marked facility as a writer. Satoli is about sixty-two years old. Cardinal Giuseppe Sarto, patriarch of Venice, who is regarded as a strong candidate for the papal throne, was born at Riese, northern Italy, in 1835. He is noted for his prudence, having never meddled with politics, and for extreme independence. He is also a patron of the arts.

The cardinal is recognized as one of the most learned men in the church and is a stickler for the truth as between the church and the people. Sarto won much renown some years ago by and was created titular archbishop of St. Hefacles in 1882. He became a cardinal in 1887, taking title from the Church of St. Cecilia, and was made secretary of state in the same year. He is administrator of the property of the holy see and is one of the leading diplomats of the world.

Still another possible heir to the pontificate is Cardinal Gotti. Jerome-Maria Gotti is a Genoese, the son of a dock laborer, and Pope Leo is said to have long favored him as his successor. Cardinal Gotti was born on March 29, 1834, and attended the Jesuit school, but at the age of sixteen was admitted as a novice into that most austere of Carmelite orders, the Order of Barefoot Carmelites. Upon reaching the priesthood he was assigned to the Church of St. Maria della Scala, and just before the death of Pius IX. he became head of the mother house of the Barefoot Carmelites, and in 1881 he was made superior general of that order.

Taking title from the Church of St. Maria del Scala, he was created cardinal in 1895. He is accounted the best authority on canon law in the sacred college, although his tastes are scientific. He is still a Barefoot Carmelite but is not now superior general of the order.

Perhaps the most popular candidate in Italy for head of the church is Car-ferred from any of the European governments and no political complications would arise. It is said to be a fact that many of the cardinals think that the selection of Gibbons would happily solve many difficulties. North America has had but two cardinals—McCloskey, Tascheran (who are both dead), and Gibbons.

James Cardinal Gibbons is one of the most popular and respected dignitaries of the Roman church. He was created a cardinal by Pope Leo on June 7, 1886, at the age of fifty-two. He is a native of Baltimore, but spent his boyhood in Ireland where he received a liberal education. Returning to America he was graduated from the St. Charles college, Maryland, and was ordained a priest in 1861. He is known in Rome as the "democratic cardinal" from his extreme modesty and retirement.

He is full in appearance but endowed with tremendous vitality. As a scholar with a wide and intimate knowledge of men and affairs he has for years and no superior in the Roman college of cardinals.

But when the election of a foreigner as head of the church has been discussed, it is not considered more than a remote possibility, and those in the best position to know are confident that an Italian will be chosen. The Italian cardinals most prominently mentioned for election are Gotti, Satoli, Svampa, the brothers Vanutelli, Sarto, Rampolla and Oreglia, with Capececiatte, Ferrata and Ferreri as remoter possibilities. However, when a choice is finally made it may prove that none of these has been selected and that some cardinal not considered as having a chance has been chosen.

To Americans Cardinal Satoli, next to Cardinal Gibbons, is the best known of any member of the sacred college, for it was in this country, while serving as papal delegate, that he was elevated to the cardinalate and formally vested with the scarlet which marks destroying certain relics of doubtful authenticity.

Cardinal Sarto was not discovered until he had reached middle age. He was a parish priest in the province of Venice for the greater part of his life and finally became a bishop. His high executive qualities and unexcelled learning became known soon after his elevation and were recognized by the church. He was created a cardinal in 1893, at which time he was also named patriarch of Venice.

One of the most striking figures of the group of men whose supreme ambition is to succeed to the papal throne is Cardinal Serafino Vanutelli. He is a power in the church; by lineage as well as by education and achievement. He is descended from one of those old Roman families whose histories have been linked with the Roman Catholic church for centuries. His brother Vincenzo is also a member of the college of cardinals, although of lower rank, being only a cardinal priest. He was born in 1834.

Pope Leo created Vanutelli a cardinal bishop in 1887 and gave him the see of Frascati. Since then he has lived almost continually in Rome and has been one of the closest advisers of the pope. Vincenzo Vanutelli is two years younger than his more distinguished relative. He was created cardinal in 1889.

Another likely candidate for papal honors is Cardinal Rampolla, who is a Sicilian and was born in 1843 at Polizzo. His family name is Mariano Rampolla dei Tindaro, and he was educated in Rome. For some years he was attached to the nunciature at Madrid dinal Domenico Svampa, archbishop of Bologna, and it is said that Leo himself believed at one time that Svampa would be his successor. He is one of the youngest members of the sacred college, being but fifty-two years old. Like Gotti, he is of humble parentage and has risen to high place in the church by force of personal ability. He was made archbishop of Bologna in 1892 and created cardinal two years later.

Cardinal Luigi Oreglia di Stefano, who is camerlingo or chamberlain of the Roman Catholic church, was born in 1828 and created cardinal by Pius IX. in 1873. He is dean of the college of cardinals, archchancellor of the Roman university, prefect of the congregation of ceremonies and a member of the curia.

It is remarked that according to the prophecies of St. Malachy the symbol of Pope Leo's successor will correspond to the words ignis adeas (glowing fire). The escutcheons of Cardinal Oreglia and Gotti, which bear a burning star, and the escutcheon of Cardinal Svampa, which bears lighted torches, are indicated by the words.

St. Malachy was an Irish prelate who lived in the twelfth century. He wrote a book which was discovered after his death and which contained a motto for every pontiff from the year 1143 until the end of the papacy. It is declared that these prophecies have been fulfilled in a remarkable manner. He foretold that the successor of Pius IX. would have the symbol of a light in heaven (lumen in celo), and as a matter of fact the escutcheon which fell to Cardinal Pecci, who afterward became Pope Leo XIII., had as its chief feature a very luminous star in the sky. Whether the prophecies of St. Malachy will again be verified can be known only when the sacred college of cardinals has elected a successor to Pope Leo.

SOLDIERS AND CHRISTIAN WORKERS FILL DETROIT.

ARMY OF SANTIAGO IN ANNUAL REUNION.

INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION OF THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Detroit, Mich., July 15.—The annual reunion of the National Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba is now in full swing, and within her borders Detroit is harboring a vast hoard of the men who fought so valiantly during the recent war.

With this host of brave men have come those who led them in battle and as attendants at the reunion Major-General William R. Shafter, president of the National Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba and General Adna R. Chaffee, who recently achieved notoriety in the Philippines, are here.

Another notable, whose arrival created some interest, was Colonel Webb Hayes, the man who resembles President Roosevelt. He is a son of ex-President Hayes. Among others are Colonel Clark of the Second Missouri; Colonel C. V. Hard of the Eighth Ohio; Colonel C. G. Starr of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, Fort Reno, O. T.; Colonel Arthur L. Wagner, U. S. A., Captain E.

GEN. ADNA R. CHAFFEE, Fourth Vice-President of the National Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba.

Headquarters of the organization is at the corner of Woodward and Monterey avenues, where a small city of tents has been erected.

Captain Breitt's crack cavalry squad, who are encamped at the grandstands, stood in the spot light of general attention all day yesterday.

Several exhibitions of crack horse-manship were given during the forenoon by Capt. F. L. L. and his crack troop, which include the best athletes from the various regiments of the country. This party numbers 110, inclusive of the eleven regiments.

A Grand Parade. The reunion formally opened this morning with a grand parade, General Shafter acting as reviewing officer, General Chaffee being commander in chief.

This afternoon an exhibition was held at the camp grounds, and tonight a similar one will take place, followed by a reception at the Wayne pavilion and a moonlight excursion on the steamer Columbia Friday will be devoted to the convention, which opens at the Cadillac hotel at 10:00. In the evening a banquet will be given at the Masonic temple. A trolley and auto mobile ride and the military exhibition are scheduled for Saturday.

More than 20,000 people are expected to sleep under Detroit roofs tonight in addition to the regular population. Thousands of those who fought in the Cuban campaign will repose under the canvas roofs of the military camp at Woodward and Monterey avenues, and a large quota of electrical workers, who also convene here these days, will, somehow, find quarters.

The sixth International Epworth League convention is on. Everywhere are the white caps of the reception committee's helpers, numbering nearly 1,000, everywhere are men and women, and not infrequently children, with valises, grips and rolls of paper savored of sermons and addresses.

The prominent bishop is here to address the multitude on great and international subjects. The pastor of the humblest chapel in the darkest of America is here to let his light shine. And the missionary, who, for the sake of the evangelization of the heathen domains stayed for decades among the savages of the most remote parts of the earth has also come to tell of the progress of the gospel in those parts which are unknown to many of us.

The largest contingent of leaguers to arrive so far is that from Illinois numbering over 1,500.

One of the largest private receptions ever held in this city will be given Saturday afternoon at 4:30 by George Robinson of 225 Cadillac street for over 600 guests, comprising the members of the board of control of the league, and ten original organizers, speakers and their wives, bishops and church officers, all deaconesses, members of the Detroit preachers' meeting and members of the general convention committee.

Up to midnight 8,000 Epworth League delegates had arrived and registered at headquarters.

Before an audience which completely filled the floor and gallery of the Central M. E. church, the Michigan contingent set the great Epworth wheel rolling last evening. Seven of the ten Michigan delegates who attended the famous Cleveland conference that formed the Epworth League were present.

The principal speech of the evening was delivered by Rev. C. B. Spencer, and during the course of it he paid his respects to those who are advocating the amalgamation of the Christian Endeavor, Baptist Young People's Union and the Epworth League societies, to which union he is opposed, as is Dr. Perry, general secretary.

The meetings of the Epworth League began this afternoon at 2:30 with gatherings at three places of assembly—Tent Ontario, Detroit Opera House and the Central M. E. church. At the first-mentioned place Mayor Maybury delivered an address of welcome, at the second Governor Bliss performed that duty, while at the third Senator Alger made the welcoming speech.

Meetings will be held this evening at the same three places of assembly and also at the Fort Street Presbyterian church, at which notable leaders in the Epworth League will make speeches.

PITIFUL STORY. Young Wife Died in Hospital After Being Deserted.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 16.—The remains of Mrs. Lottie Fitzpatrick were brought to this city from South Bend last night, her death being the sad end of a blighted romance of only two years ago.

In the summer of 1901, on an excursion to South Bend, pretty Lottie Ragoza met Dennis Fitzpatrick, both being lifelong residents of this vicinity. Two months later they were married, but the husband's affections soon cooled, and since then he has deserted her repeatedly, afterwards returning repentant.

Eight weeks ago he left her and went to Elkhart, where he secured work in the car shops. She followed him, but had been there but a few days when he disappeared again. Without friends, fearing to tell her mother that she had once again been deceived, and with a little baby in her arms, she made her way to South Bend, where she was finally picked up on the streets and taken to a hospital. It developed that she was suffering from appendicitis and she was operated upon, dying Tuesday morning. When the poor girl died she was but 20 years of age.

KILLED IN MID-AIR. Lineman Electrocuted on Streets of Battle Creek.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 16.—Earl C. Hayward of Grand Rapids, Mich., was electrocuted Wednesday night in mid-air. He was suspended in the air by his own hands, which were caught and held in the electric wires.

Hayward was a lineman for the Michigan Bell telephone company. While riding in a car, his hand slipped from the cable, and he was struck by a live electric light wire. Instantly he was knocked senseless, falling across the cable, where he hung in mid-air. His limbs twitching in dying agonies until an aerial truck crew from the local fire department reached him and lowered his lifeless body to the street.

Three or four hundred people gathered on the scene, but in the absence of ladders no one could reach the man, and the watchers were compelled to look on helplessly while Hayward died. Several women in the crowd fainted from excitement and nervous tension.

A Father's Awful Crime. Kalkaska, Mich., July 16.—Frank Herrington, a blacksmith living at South Boardman, is in jail here on a heinous charge involving his 19-year-old daughter. Herrington was brought here Tuesday night by Sheriff Creighton and placed in jail. The little girl is in a delicate condition. She tells a horrible story against her father. Herrington has an invalid wife and four children.

Officers Fear Burglars. St. Joseph, Mich., July 16.—The officers of Berrien county have notified the business men of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor to be on their guard against burglars and violence, claiming that a gang of crooks of national notoriety have dropped into those cities within the past few days, and seemingly laid plans for raids at the big stores and offices.

Case Was Settled. Battle Creek, Mich., July 16.—Ethel Mirehel, the colored girl who charged Richard K. Spinner with being the father of her four weeks-old babe has accepted cash in settlement. No arrest was made and prosecuting attorney Hooper refuses to state the amount paid.

Washington's Crime Record. An Aberdeen, Mich. July 16.—The semi-annual report of prosecuting attorney Duffy shows that during the past six months there have been 50 criminal cases in Washington among which there were 405 plain dressings with fines, 31 vagrants and 24 for larceny under $25.

Colonel Maschin and His Part in Serbia's Tragedy.

One odd phase of the recent Serbian tragedy is the fact that the leader of the assassins of King Alexander and Queen Draga was a brother-in-law of the ill-fated queen, whose insatiable ambition finally led her on to her doom. The name of this chief conspirator against the Obrenovitch dynasty is Alexander Maschin, who became the implacable enemy of Queen Draga when she was still plain Draga Maschin, wife of his brother. As soon as Draga, after years of scheming, captured the affections of the young king and became his queen in defiance of public sentiment in Serbia, she speedily brought about the downfall of her old enemy. Colonel Maschin lost all his appointments, was looked upon with suspicion and disfavour by King Alexander and was in disgrace despite the fact that he still held rank in the Serbian army.

Queen Draga was a good hater, and a dangerous enemy, but she seems to have more than met her match in the person of Maschin. In revenge for the slights that had been put upon him, he seems to have used all his influence to inflame his brother officers against the royal couple, who were none too popular already, and when the conspiracy against them was organized he was its chief. On the night of June 10 he gave his final instructions to the plotters at a tavern named the Serbia Crown and then led them to the palace, where, it is said, he even took a personal part in the butchery of the king and queen. When the couple concealed themselves it was Colonel Maschin who scouted for them with such persistence that they were finally discovered and dispatched in the secret room to which they had fled.

Colonel Maschin is a veteran of both the Serbian army and diplomatic corps. He served with distinction in the army, was military attache at Vienna and also served as Serbian minister at an important post. He is now minister of public works under King Peter Karageorgovich and was a conspicuous figure at the welcome accorded the new king when he reached Belgrade recent ly.

GRANDSON OF A KING.

Charles J. Bonaparte, Special Counsel in Patent Matters. Charles J. Bonaparte, who has been appointed a special counsel to assist the government in the prosecution of a pending case of the United States against Napoleon III, is the grandson of the emperor's youngest brother, Jerome Bonaparte, who married the beautiful Betsy Patterson of Baltimore and who after leaving a career in his American life became king of Westphalia. Betsy Patterson's son, born of her marriage with Jerome, was the father of Charles J. Bonaparte.

Mr. Bonaparte is a graduate of Harvard Law school and since his admission to the bar in 1874 has practiced his profession with distinction in Baltimore.

Throughout his career he has been prominent in the affairs of the United States and has been a member of the Senate and the House of Representatives. He is a member of the Virginia bar and was recently sent to England and France by the French house of lords. He has long been regarded as one of the leading lawyers of his day and would rather be 'Mr. Bonaparte of Baltimore' than 'Mr. Bonaparte of Corsica.'

FOR AIR SUPREMACY

OBJECT OF THE COMING FLYING MACHINE RACES IN PARIS.

Most Famous Aeronauts of the World to Compete—Santos-Dumont's New Balloons—Stable—How the Races Will Be Started.

The coming air ship races which are soon to take place in Paris promise to mark an epoch in aerial navigation.

The most famous aeronauts in the world are to take part in a series of contests in the French capital to decide which has come nearest to a correct solution of the problem of flight.

Santos-Dumont will have three new vessels, and Tour, the Lebaudys, the Spencers and other well-known balloonists will each have one or more ships entered in the contests.

It is not yet known how many air ships will take part in these races, but in Paris alone there are at present building or already built fourteen first class vessels.

Entries are constantly being received from all parts of Europe, and M. Santos-Dumont, who by general desire is to be president of the air ship races, confidently expects that the number of dirigible balloons competing will not be far from forty.

An interesting feature of the races will be the contest between M. Santos-Dumont and M. Lebaudy, for a $20,000 prize. M. Lebaudy will sail his famous Yellow One, a large vessel, capable of carrying three people, while his opponent will try a smaller vessel, probably his new No. 9.

M. Santos-Dumont's new air ship station is one of the most interesting buildings in the world. The huge stable, as he calls it, covers nearly an acre at Suresnes and is divided into seven sections each capable of housing the largest air ship.

During the races three of the sections will be occupied by M. Santos-Dumont's own ships but the other four will be at the service of any of the other contestants who desire to make use of them.

Each section is furnished with double doors opening outward and the method which the inventor has adopted for releasing the air ships is ingenious. Running out from each stall is a single line of rails about 200 yards long by means of a strongly built truck.

From the stem and bows of the air ship ropes will connect the vessel to this truck, which will be held in position by four men.

On race days the doors will be flung open and each truck, with the air ship attached, will run out and made to "go the way" so that all may have an equal start.

At a given signal the ropes will be cast off, and the fight for the supremacy of the air will begin.

Whatever one may think of the steerable balloon as a vehicle for aerial transportation, there is no denying that both M. Lebaudy and M. Santos-Dumont are really traveling through the air not as the wind lists, but to points determined by their own inclinations.

Of course the navigators of the latest air ships have to select their weather for flying with the greatest care, their powers are within narrow limits and the dangers great, but they do fly. The problem so long unsolved is surely beginning to yield, and the conquest of the air can no longer be considered an idle dream even if not yet an actuality.

Recent feats of flying by both M. Lebaudy and M. Santos-Dumont prove that they have a considerable degree of control over their ships. It is only a few days since the latter made a trip in his newest air ship from the balloon shed at Suresnes to his residence in the Champs Elysees, alighting in front of his house. After breakfast at home he remounted his machine and made the return trip in safety notwithstanding that the wind was unfavorable.

Still more recently Santos-Dumont descended in his machine among a group of children who were having a fête on the Polo club grounds. At the invitation of the aeronaut several of the youngsters were taken for aerial trips above the trees of the Bois de Boulogne and returned in safety to the polo grounds.

Santos-Dumont by reducing instead of increasing the size of his machine seems to be working in the right direction—in the direction of the motor driven aeroplane. Some time ago he stated that the gas bag feature of his contrivance was its weak point and that he only used it temporarily as a means of softening familiarity with the conditions of true flight.

Most aeronauts are now working in the direction, believing that it leads to the solution of the problem of aerial navigation.

A Healthy Spot.

The healthfulness of a certain summer resort is advertised by this story. Recently a visitor began to talk to an old resident of the town in question and asked him his age, whereupon he said "I am just over seventy."

"Well," said the visitor, "you look as if you had a good many years to live yet. At what age did your father die?" "Father dead?" said the man, looking surprised. "Father isn't dead, why, he's upstairs just now putting grandfather to bed!"

People should be very careful about repeating gossip that touches the fair name of any man or woman. It is said that some people may be brought into court to prove some of the stories that are being floated about the village and that it may not then be quite so funny.

Attorney Orville B. Cragg, has instituted habeas corpus proceedings on behalf of Frank Swoop, a 17-year-old boy who is serving a 90 day sentence in the house of correction for being drunk and disorderly in Northville June 27. Cragg claims that conviction was illegal because Justice Webster, who tried the boy, did not grant him a jury trial.

Rev. Erasmus Clump, a superannuated Methodist clergyman died very suddenly Monday at the home of his adopted son here. Lavern Calkins brought home with him a specimen of his handwork in the art of modeling in clay which is a gem of its kind. It is a copy in relief from a sketch of a "Gibson Girl" and exhibits a facility of treatment worthy an artist of far more extended experience. In profile it is especially fine, a part of the work which in this case depended entirely on the skill of the modeler as it was copied from a full face only. The beauty and expressiveness of the face attest unmistakably to the natural talent of the young artist.

DRIVE OUT STEVEDORE.

Longshoremen Take Determined Stand on the Question.

Bay City, Mich., July 15.—The convention of the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' association Tuesday took an other determined stand against the Stevedore question, seeking to eliminate the system entirely at the only place it now exists on the lakes—Chicago. A resolution was adopted directing that hereafter all local unions make contracts with the vessel interests directly. This it is claimed, will do away with the stevedore and be a more satisfactory method of transacting business.

That a widespread demand exists on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts for organization was made manifest yesterday, when applications were received from points in Oregon, California and British Columbia that an organizer be sent through those sections to gather the marine workers into the main organization. A request came from New York for a salaried organizer to be permanently stationed there. The K. of L. of Boston sent an application for affiliation in the international body.

Delegate McKittick of Detroit asked that the convention take steps to include the marine engineers in the organization. The convention deferred action on the request.

Pleasure in Doing Good.

Rev. A. P. Doyle of New York remarked the other day: "A woman who has an abundance of the good things of this world appreciates them all the more when she tries to uplift the fallen or bring comfort to the heart-broken, and it sweetens her enjoyment of God's gifts. On the other hand, there is no more useless creature on God's earth than the woman of wealth who lives for herself alone."

LAUGH AND BE WELL.

Effective Prescription That Should Be Easy to Fill.

Be jolly by all means. The latest is the "laughter cure," which has the merit of being rational if nothing else, for from time immemorial the effect of a good hearty laugh has been regarded as a healthy tonic for the melancholic and a restorative for the depressed.

Another ancient physician recommended a good laugh as a powerful means of "despoiling the spleen," whatever that may mean; while a third writes of laughter as "a mighty stimulant to the liver and a lifter-up of the heart." Coming to more recent times, Foussegives believed mirth to be the most powerful lever of health, while Tissot claims to have cured scrofulous children by tickling them and making them laugh.

Science Above Jury Duty.

Col. Wamsley of Randolph county, Virginia, was excused from jury duty, to which he had been drawn on an original and unique excuse. The colored keeps a ground hog and is testing its reliability as a weather prophet and coming to court in Elkins would greatly interfere with his study of the natural history of ground hog. Col. Wamsley claimed that science would probably lose more by breaking into his course of study than justice would gain by his jury service and he was accordingly excused from serving on the jury.

Proposed Electrical Laboratory.

An appropriation of $275,000 for a New York state electrical laboratory at Union College, Schenectady, is recommended by a commission appointed to determine the necessity for such an institution. The laboratory is to supply information on questions of electrical science, and an official standard for electrical measuring instruments and apparatus, together with standards for electric wiring of buildings for the protection of municipalities and the general public. Germany has such an institution.

A Sydney (N. S. W.) firm has ordered $1,600 worth of American flags and 2,000 gross of fourth of July buttons. Looks as if they intended to have a good time down there this year. Suburban News.

Major's village marriage has registered that position after a few months of service. It is not stated whether the position was too high or too low for him.

One of the correspondents of the Michigan State Gazette reports that the state of Michigan is now in a state of panic. The panic is caused by the fact that the state is now in a state of panic. The panic is caused by the fact that the state is now in a state of panic.

The Michigan Times told last week of a commoner boy who was "littered" in the boat by a gentleman. The Times stated that the boy slathered "promptly" the poison from the wound and embedded it. This was the sole chance for the boat if not the last resort and we trust it will be heeled in good shape.

The Ann Arbor Courier Reg. still in speaking of the recovery of a member never patient says the house has been raised from quarantine. Usually the quarantine is raised from the house but it is said to have been raised. It is said to have been raised.

Libe Spinks, state representative of Michigan, has been elected to the office of state representative. He is said to have been elected to the office of state representative.

A gentleman in town got up one morning this week at two o'clock to see potatoes. How's that for foolishness?—Farmington Enterprise.

The "incuriousness" of the act does not strike us so noticeably as the good sense of it in view of last week's unspeakable temperature of day and brilliant moonlight nights. The man with the hoe at Farmington evidently has a head on him.

HAVE YOU CURVED NECK?

If So, You Are Coquetish, Declares Man Who Observes.

Wise individuals are always discovering some occult key to feminine character. This is applied to the shape, texture and color of a woman's hands, feet, hair, eyes and shortcomings in her nature. Some one has lately been reading a study of various threats and has derived from a certain author's observations of various threats. The woman with a curved neck is said to be a coquette.

The threat that a woman's neck is curved and that it usually belongs to the girl with athletic shoulders and not many inches in stature. The girl with anatomical traits of this sort is extremely good natured, though she obtains her own way by persistence. She is also noted for her executive ability and on this account does not mind mounting platforms or organizing for causes that will help her next step forward on the road to complete emancipation.

All curves and white satinlike softness of the throat of the horn enchantress, upon which the head is set as exquisitely as was that of Helen of Troy. Consistently or unconsciously the coquette invariably makes good use of her beautiful and simple neck.

THE PRACTICE OF CREMATION.

Was Common Among People of the Ancient Races.

Cremation has been practiced by most of the races of the earth from the earliest ages and although in pagan times it has been taken the form of fire was long the case and no color that is a station by the ancient was for cremation. Prompted by other than religious reasons Greece accepted its introduction to her shores, having sworn to transmit the body of Argus to his father, thought this the most convenient way of fulfilling his promise. According to Homer the burning of the dead was a common practice among the Greeks long before the Trojan war, but the earliest record of it is among the Egyptians, who inhabited the vast region known under the name of Tartary. Sander accounts landed down concerning the manners of some of the ancient natives of Hindostan also allude to the custom. The idea of purification by fire was in all ages universal, and with good reason. Some believed that the body was unclean after the departure of the soul and it was therefore deemed necessary that it should be purified by fire. Ovid expressed the general opinion of his time when he said that the soul was not completely separated from the body until the latter was consumed on the pyre. The Athenians invariably after a battle, burned the slain.

THE DANGER OF PNEUMONIA

Disease Disease is Declared to be Highly Contagious.

We have seen in our text that patients and their friends ignore the contagiousness of pneumonia is often due to professional negligence says American Medicine. An exaggerated conception of the contagiousness of tuberculosis is held by the lay world but pneumonia is, of course, far more contagious. And patients and profession alike have not realized the new fact that the mortality of pneumonia is in some cities and parts of the country higher than that of tuberculosis.

Pneumonia is a highly contagious disease, the cause of which is a micro-organism in the sputa of those suffering from the malady, and contracted by inhaling this germ. Therefore the same care should be taken to collect and destroy the sputa that is taken in pulmonary tuberculosis or in diphtheria or influenza.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE OF TODAY, AND ITS FUTURE

DO not say that the Monroe doctrine would DISAPPEAR if Europe ceased to oppose it. I do say that under a show of European opposition it would be likely to last indefinitely; and that in a long absence of such opposition it MAY HOLD TOGETHER LESS TENACIOUSLY. The things that made the Monroe doctrine have disappeared. Under such circumstances it may be easy after awhile for us to look over the Monroe doctrine again in the light of the present situation of the American continent and of our present necessities. WE WILL CERTAINLY NOT ABANDON IT; but we may find, if nobody is opposing us, that perhaps its extension quite so far beyond the original purpose of Mr. Monroe and Mr. Adams as the fervor of our patriots has carried it may prove to be attended with wholly UNNECESSARY INCONVENIENCE to ourselves.

China, or at any rate China and Russia combined, hold a position in Asia far more commanding than that of the United States in the three Americas. In both cases the governments are as absolutely committed to the despotic as we are to the republican idea, and there is no obvious proof that the overwhelming majority of their people do not believe in their system as much as the corresponding majority of our people believe in ours. Suppose China, or CHINA AND RUSSIA TOGETHER, had taken ground that the Asiatic continent—being entirely occupied by the existing governments, which were mostly in form and principle like their own—was no longer a field for colonization or conquest by any American power, and on that ground at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war had warned us off Manila and the Philippines?

If no foreign interference arises suddenly to affect the national judgment, it is clear among the possibilities that we may find TWO CHANGES taking place in the national view of the ideas grouped under the popular term of the Monroe doctrine. We may see a considerable increase in the stringency of their application where our interest clearly calls for them within the natural sphere of our influence. We may see them slowly moderated as to remote countries which under changed modern conditions are no longer exclusively within that sphere.

Toward the rest of the American continent, beyond the gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean sea, IT MAY SOME DAY PROVE MORE CONVENIENT FOR US TO ASSUME LESS RESPONSIBILITY. A railroad through the three Americas will draw us more closely together. The currents of trade will change. The legitimate sphere of our influence will thus widen throughout those nations with the years, and it might be INCREASED RATHER THAN DIMINISHED by a moderation of our extreme claim to interfere now with any exercise of their own sovereignty as to territory, government or otherwise, to which their own judgment of their own best interests may bring them.

The Passing of Simplicity

By Dr. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS of Brooklyn

WANT to say that WE ALL GO TO THE DEVIL ON $50,000 A YEAR. At least a great many men I know are going to the devil on that sum, and few are escaping it.

But how many men ever went to the devil on simplicity? I VENTURE TO SAY NONE.

Today we are raising pampered sons and daughters in this new system, surrounding them with every luxury and idle satisfaction of desire, and THEY ARE ROTTEN BEFORE THEY ARE RIPE. I repeat it, they are rotten before they are ripe. And the boys in many cases are sinful before they are bearded.

SUNDAY HAS TO A GREAT EXTENT CEASED TO BE A DAY OF WORSHIP. Men rise at 10 o'clock, drive until 12, eat a dinner of twelve courses and in the evening hold a reception for their friends. The women and children follow much the same plan.

LET ME TELL YOU THAT AMERICA, THIS AMERICA OF OURS, IS GOD'S LAST OPPORTUNITY TO SAVE THE HUMAN RACE, BUT IF WE FAIL BY DESERTING THE TEACHINGS OF OUR FATHERS HER INSTITUTIONS ARE LOST.

MAN'S LIFE A MEANS TO AN END

By President TUCKER of Dartmouth College

EVERY man's life, when viewed as a means to an end, is a series of actions. ACTIVITY IS NOT ACTION. Activity is not a necessary means to an end.—Action is always a means to some end. A clear and well defined act never leaves a man as it finds him. It urges him on his way TO SOME END.

Every man's life, if viewed as a means to an end, is a growth through the limitation of desire. The strength of a man is in his desires, but strength could not have been located at more precarious sources, for desires are so many and so imperious and SO CONFLICTING that so soon as they begin to act a disintegrating process begins. We are broken up by our desires and our powers are scattered.

Every man's life, if viewed as a means to an end, is a search after truth. The search after truth—I do not speak now of scientific or of philosophic truth, which has its own reward, but of truth within any man's reach—the SEARCH AFTER TRUTH is the MOST NECESSARY of all the means to the ends of life.

THE ORIGIN OF "FUDGE."

Expressor New Common Fit Not Easy to Trace

Where did that very common word "fudge" come from, and what does it really mean? The antiquarian of the Boston Journal says the first appearance of the word in literature is the description of the call of Lady Blarney and Miss Carolina Wilhelmina Amellu Skoggs on the Year of Wakefield's household. "But previously I should have mentioned the very impolite behavior of Mr. Burchell, who during this discourse, sat with his face turned to the fire, and at the conclusion of every sentence would cry out 'Fudge!' an expression which displeased us all, and in some measure damped the rising spirit of the conversation." Does the word come from the provincial French "fuch" or the Low German "fuch"? Or shall we trace it to the story of 1766 quoted by the elder Disraeli. There was, in our times, one Captain Fudge, who always brought home his officers a good cargo of fies, so much that now aboard the ship the sailors, when they hear a great he told, cry out, "You fudge it!"

His Task Too Hard.

The Austrian infantry was in a deplorable condition when the war with France broke out in 1859, and when Baron Bruck, who had charge of the national finances at the time, was called up to report to the toast, "May God defend the army," the minister replied that his fervent prayer was that God would, for he himself would not be able to do so much longer. The baron found his task even more difficult, evidently, than he expected, for he took his own life before the war was over.

Lunatics' Bones Are Brittle.

A curious medical fact was elicited lately at an inquest on a man who died from injuries received in falling out of bed in Hoxton House Lunatic Asylum, London. The bones of a lunatic, stated a doctor, are far more brittle than those of a person of strong mind.

Matrimonial Ages.

A statistician has published the results of his investigation of the relative ages of husbands and wives in the various capitals of Europe. According to the "Family Doctor," he discovered that marriages are most frequent where the husband is two or three years older than the wife. Women under twenty years of age, however, usually take unto themselves husbands six or seven years older than themselves. The excess in which the man was a year younger than the woman were almost as numerous as those in which he was six or seven years older.

To Clean a Sewing Machine.

Place it near the fire to get warm, that the congealed oil about it may melt, and then oil it thoroughly with paraffin. Work it quickly for a few minutes, then wipe off all the paraffin and dirt and treat it to a little more clean paraffin. Wipe it again, and after the application of a very little of the ordinary lubricating oil it will be ready for use. People often shirk the trouble of thoroughly cleaning their machines like this, but a clogged and "heavy" machine under this treatment will become like new, and its easy working will be an ample reward for any trouble incurred.

Munsey's famous pictures are painted in oil colors, so is your sign. There is a difference in the men who applied the color
