

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD.

Vol. XXXV. No. 13.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1903.

$1.00 Per Year in Advance

IS FOUR SCORE
AND FIVE YEARS

JULIUS C. NORTHRUP HAS PASSED
THAT MARK.

A Graduate of "Old Stone School House."

Julius C. Northrop, whose many tokens of remembrance and affection from his friends on the occasion of his eighty-fifth birthday a few weeks ago were noted briefly in the Record, is now one of the oldest and was one of the earliest residents of this village, although there are others who have lived here continuously longer than he.

Mr. Northrop, whose portrait accompanied this sketch, was born in Monroe Co., N. Y. Sept. 24, 1818, and was the son of Dr. Elijah Northrop, who was a physician here in the earlier days of the town, practicing his profession here and in the surrounding country for forty years. The family came to this place in 1828 and ten years later the subject of this sketch returned to his native state, where he married Lydia Morris. They settled in Northville permanently thirty-three years ago.

During Mr. Northrop's first residence here he attended school at the the fact that he was a witness of Sam Patch's famous jump in 1829. He also has many relics in the shape of ancient documents and papers which are well worth seeing and reading.

*Twas River Water.

I met Representative Neal of the Northville Record in Detroit last Monday and conversation turned on my reply to his attack on Delray. "Ply said he, "I'm going to answer you in this week's Record. The fact is that we wouldn't need any gold cure institutions in Northville if it wasn't for the number of saloons in Delray. Men drink your beer, then have to come to Northville to get cured." Now that's where the worthy legislator is wrong—all wrong. We've got a brewery and several saloons, and if we needed or wanted a gold cure, we'd have it. We get everything good that's going—that's why we have so many factories. Why, our push and energy (beginning) world renowned that even the old slow, lazy town of Detroit wants to be annexed and in two or three years time Greater Delray will have wiped Detroit and Northville completely off the map.—Paul Pray in Delray Times.

What we really said was that the people went wrong in drinking river water, not beer. Might wipe Detroit off the map, but Northville is there in Indefinite Ink.

Methodist Church Notes.

The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning is "Pretension and Reflection" evening, "Don't sell out too cheap."

The pastor leads the League service next Sunday evening and will give a report of the recent League convention at Pontiac.

The Epworth League organizes a social at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Bert Wilkinson in Beal town Friday evening, Nov. 1. Finch.

A contract has been signed with Sweet Concert Company of Oneida to sing in our church Saturday evening, Nov. 14. This is a troupe of eleven performers on piano, harp and violin and one is a reader. The troupe comes with highest commendation and it is hoped one of the choice musical events of this season is to be enjoyed 25 and 10 cents.

Do you wish to buy or sell a farm or stocks of any kind? Have you money to invest? If so it will do you good to call on E. N. Pasage, Plymouth, Michigan.

Among the recollections of early days which Mr. Northrop can call to mind when telling of "old times" is

MR. J. C. NORTHRUP,
An old and respected citizen of Northville who recently passed his eighty-fifth birthday.

old stone school house, the remains of which still stand but a few rods from his present home. He graduated from that institution of learning in 1840.

Some of the others who were formerly pupils in the old buildings who are still residents of this place are Geo. Bradney, Mrs. Gertrude Dunlap Swift, Mrs. Joseph Yerkes and Mrs. Cornelia Sands.

In spite of his advanced age and of the fact that he is unable to be about among his friends because of an injury by a fall last January, Mr. Northrop is a man of unusually keen intelligence. Being well educated and observant he is an interesting talker and has a fund of interesting reminiscences always on hand and it takes but a few moments conversation with him and his equally entertaining wife to make the visitor realize why the old people are such general favorites.

Among the recollections of early days which Mr. Northrop can call to mind when telling of "old times" is Plymouth, Michigan.

Our Way

Our way is to please our customers by giving them the best of goods and at the lowest price that high grade goods can be had and we are also trying to please ourselves by selling on a cash basis.

NOTE SOME OF THE VERY LOW PRICES:

5 lbs Broken Rice for.....	25c
Catawba Grapes.....	22c
Rio Coffee.....	14c; 2 lbs for 25c
3 lbs Fat Prunes for.....	25c
8 bars Swift's Pride Soap for.....	25c
Ginger Snaps per lb.....	6c
Silver Leaf Lard, per lb.....	11c
Compound Lard, per lb.....	9c
A large bottle Catsup for.....	10c
Picnic Hams, per lb.....	10c

B. A. WHEELER,

NORTHVILLE, MICH.

TELEPHONE

THE SURPRISE ON BUNKER HILL

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

Question to Be Voted on Next
Tuesday Night.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Northville school district was held Monday night, and was again adjourned to next Tuesday evening, Nov. 10, when the proposition to bond the district for $8,000 for a new High school building will be voted on. The tax-payers of the district are now up against a proposition that is of no small importance. The foreign tuition fees here reach nearly $300 and the school board thinks a new High school building will tend to increase that amount while on the other hand if no new building is forthcoming it will mean that foreign pupils cannot be cared for. The Record is inclined to believe that the time has come when a new High school building is a necessity. Taxes will be somewhat increased for a few years to be sure but the benefits to be derived will apparently be more than commensurate.

More Free Press Enterprise

With last Saturday's issue the Detroit Free Press made another move forward which establishes yet more positively its right to a place in the very front rank of modern journalism. The Free Press has just installed one of those mechanical wonders of an age of scientific achievement, an immense four color perfecting press and is the first paper in Michigan to own and use such a machine, which can turn out 24,000 twelve page papers an hour, cut, pasted and folded, and in four colors besides black, or can produce the highest grades of maturing work, besides doing many other amazing things in the printing art.

Auction Sale.

Will Thornton is to have an auction sale of farm tools, stock, produce, machinery, etc., on the place known as the Harrison Verlee farm, next week Thursday, November 12. The Thornton milk route will also be on sale at the same time and place.

Accidentally Killed Himself

Millersburg, Mich., Nov. 4.—Frank Ringo, the 13-year-old son of John Ringo of Case, accidentally killed himself. He was carrying a rifle out of the house when the trigger caught in the door, discharging the gun. The bullet passed through the boy's neck. Death was instantaneous.

Shot by Companion.

Lawton, Mich., Nov. 4.—While hunting Colvin Kinney, a young business man of this village, was accidentally shot in the face and shoulder by his companion, Orlando Hall. He will probably lose the sight of one eye, even if his wounds do not prove fatal.

Coal at Culver.

West Branch, Mich., Nov. 4.—As workmen were drilling for water on John Dunn's farm at Culver they struck a fine vein of soft coal at seventy feet. It is believed coal can be found in paying quantities in that locality.

Complaint Against Railroads.

Washington, Nov. 4.—A complaint was filed with the interstate commerce commission Tuesday by Edward J. Ador of Boston, Mass., against a number of anthracite coal carrying roads, alleging that their rates for transportation of anthracite coal—car loads from the anthracite regions in Pennsylvania to New York, New England, Maryland and the District of Columbia are unreasonable, unjust and discriminatory against the independent coal purchasers. The defendants named are the Philadelphia & Reading, Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Central of New Jersey, New York, Susquehanna & Western, Erie, New York, Ontario & Western, Delaware & Hudson, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine and Boston & Albany.

Woman Golf Champion Weds.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Miss Besse Anthony, the golf champion, was married last night at Evanston to Bernard Shee Herne of Pittsburgh. The ceremony, which was held in the First Presbyterian church, was attended by over 1,000 invited guests. The bride, who has been widely known for a number of years as an expert golfer, won both the western and national women's golf championships this year.

Dead Man's Odd Request.

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 4.—The will of John Moore, filed for probate yesterday, is a remarkable document. After bequeathing $1,000 each to Blessing hospital and Woodland home the testator says: "My remains are to be cremated, and for that purpose taken to Davenport, Iowa. My pet dog, Honey, who loves me, is to be cremated at the same time, that our ashes may mingle."

THE IMPROVEMENTS NEARLY COMPLETED

GROUNDS AT U. S. FISH COMMISSION STATION

Will Hereafter Look Even Better Than Ever.

The improvements at the U. S. fish commission station, which have been in progress for some time are nearing completion and besides the extra facilities thus provided for the work of the government bureau of fish and fisheries this particular piece of Uncle Sam's property, which has long been considered at the head of its class will be a more attractive spot for visitors than ever.

The new "natural" ponds for bass culture are five in number and in them the fishes will be surrounded as far as possible by their natural conditions, an experiment from which much is hoped for the successful propagation of this "game" fish. Then the present improvements will enable the hatchery to double its capacity for handling trout eggs. Superintendent Clark having introduced a new idea in the apparatus for handling the eggs which immensely facilitates the work along that line.

Northville has every reason to be proud of the way the government's fisheries business is carried on here and it is a sure thing that the next appropriation for this station will be also well expended.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

By the Pastor.

Remember the bang at the rink this evening beginning at 7 o'clock.

All were glad to see Miss May White at church again last Sunday morning.

Mr. Haddock, our efficient janitor, has the sympathy of all in the recent death of his mother.

Next Sunday evening the pastor will begin a series of sermons on "Our Social Duties." The first sermon will be on "Duties of Parents" to be followed by duties of children, employers, employees, etc.

Baptist Church Notes.

[By a Member]

The B. Y. P. U. are making arrangements for a Hash supper Wednesday, Nov. 18.

Rev. Sidney Dimmock of Harbor Beach will occupy the pulpit next Sunday, both morning and evening and it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

There seems to be an awakening interest in our young people's society. The meeting at the home of Roy Clark Tuesday evening was largely attended and a success socially. A fine musical program, interspersed with readings, was rendered. In the refreshments that followed we had a practical demonstration of the fact that Roy can make fine cakes as well as his sister. This however, is not for the benefit of the young ladies of the town.

For Sale—Fine hen house 11 x 16, roof tar papered and shingled, built of choice material. A bargain! Enquire of J. S. Haddock.

Your family will not be hard to suit if you buy your Groceries at

PURDY'S

It's the cheap kind that makes 'em cranky and ill-natured. We don't handle them.

You can grind out smiles without turning a crank if Fancy Goods are purchased from

R. H. PURDY

Cost may be a little more than a cheap line but results are worth one hundred per cent more.

ROLLIN H. PURDY

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN.

REMEMBER THE NAME.

Carpenter & Huff Bros.

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN.

SATURDAY'S SURPRISE

FOR THE LADIES.

We will place on sale a line of well known

ROSEVILLE POTTERY

Pitchers..... 10c and 12½c
Pudding Dishes, (6-7-8 in.)..... 10c, 12½c, 15c
Mixing Bowls (6-7-8 in.)..... 10c, 12½c, 15c

REMEMBER—SATURDAY ONLY.

W. L. BECKER

NORTHVILLE, MICH.

THE JEWELER.

Seven

Diseases Caused by Measles.
Dr. Miles' Restorative Tonic and Nervine Cured After Thirty-one Years.

"I was a perfectly healthy young man up to February 1865. When my regiment was in Camp Randall I was taken sick with the measles and I did not enjoy good health up to the time I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Tonic in 1866. Doctors have told me it came from inactivity of the liver. I cannot say how many physicians did treat me but have had all kinds. During has been having aches, stiffness, attacks of headache, rheumatism, neuralgic, catarrh, hay fever, asthma, and chronic diarrhoea have all taken their turn with me. Thanks to the Nervine and Tonic I am completely restored to health. I have also used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills with good results and I think that the Dr. Miles Remedies are perfect." —Rev. Hiram Bender, Sparta, Wis.

"I want to say a few good words for Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I have been troubled very much with insomnia since I made the change to the new paper and on account of this have tried various remedies without relief. I was finally induced by a well-known druggist to give me a small amount to try. Nervine Organza is what he gave me a lot of good. I do not find it necessary to use it regularly now but occasionally when I find that I am excessively nervous and restless I again take it up. I always keep a supply on hand. It has never failed to give me the desired relief." —A. Hinckin, Publisher "Daily Free-Press" Milwaukee, Wis.

All druggists sell and guarantee first bottle of Dr. Miles Remedies. Send for free book on Nervous and Heart Diseases. Address Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

The best calculation that can be made shows that the average number of children to the white native family a century ago in the United States was more than six; in 1830 it had fallen to less than five; in 1860 to less than four; in 1872 to less than three; in 1890, among the "upper classes" in Boston, to less than two.

A Policeman's Testimony. J. N. Patterson, night policeman of Nashua, N.H., writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least a half dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two-thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." —Madison, Wis.

Time A'owance. "What time did that young man leave last night? Jim?" "About 11 o'clock, Jim." "It's ten minutes later than that." "It might have been a little later but I wish I'd faulted you for it. You see I have left a place I don't know about." —Chicago Daily News.

Energy "All gone." Headache! Stomach out of order! Simply a case of temporized. Aardous Pinocchittos will in the new time of weaning to you.

California Oranges for Japan. A commercial agent of the Japanese government is in California to make an experiment in shipping California oranges to Japan.

JUST WHAT YOU NEED Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. When you feel dull after eating. When you have no appetite. When you have a bad taste in your mouth.

When your liver is torpid. When your bowels are constipated. When you have a headache. When you feel bilious.

They will improve your appetite, cleanse and invigorate your stomach and regulate your liver and bowels. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by all druggists.

Just What He Needed. "No," said the fair proprietor of the refrigerator heart, "I cannot be your wife, but I'll be a sister to you." "Thanks awfully," responded the youth who was leaning at the post. "If there is one thing I need more than another it is an elderly sister to look after me and prevent me from making a fool of myself." —Chicago News.

Ayers'

What are your friends saying about you? That your gray hair makes you look old? And yet, you are not forty! Postpone this looking old.

Hair Vigor

Use Ayer's Hair Vigor and restore to your gray hair all the deep, dark, rich color of early life. Then be satisfied.

Ayer's Hair Vigor restored the natural color to my gray hair. —I am greatly obliged to you all you claim for it.

Mrs. J. V. VANDENBERG, Mechanicville, N.Y.

100 bottles
druggists
for
Dark Hair

CLASH OVER FISH RIGHTS

STATE AND FEDERAL AUTHORITIES AT SWORDS' POINTS.

STATE GAME WARDEN MAKES SEVERAL ARRESTS.

EACH CLAIM FISH LEFT AFTER SPAWN IS SECURED.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 5.—The Michigan game warden's department and the United States fish commission have clashed, and as a result of the first encounter several employees of the fish commission are under arrest and other and more important arrests will probably be made.

The trouble between the Michigan game warden's department and the federal officers arose over the question of the fish taken by the fishermen in the employ of the commission for the purpose of securing spawn for the United States hatcheries at Northville and Duluth. It has been the practice of the fish commission fishermen to use gill nets and to sell all the fish taken after the striping process had been completed, the proceeds from this source making the contract for securing spawn for the hatcheries a very profitable one, especially as this work is invariably undertaken in the closed season when the price of fish is high and the only fresh fish that can be shipped to the market are those taken in this manner.

Law is Specific. State Game Warden Chapman, after a careful investigation of the subject, came to the conclusion that the law only gave the United States commissioners employees the right to sell the fish actually stripped, and that all other fish taken were the property of the state and should be turned over to the game warden's department to be sold, the proceeds going into the state treasury. The law is specific on this point, and it also places the operations under the supervision of the state game warden.

Some few days ago Game Warden Chapman noticed the fish commission superintendents of his division in the matter, advising them that he proposed to place a deputy on every fishing tug employed, whose duty it should be to take possession of all fish which under the law were the property of the state.

In pursuance of this policy, Chief Deputy Game and Fish Warden Brewster went to Marquette and Wednesday evening he attempted to board one of the tugs employed by the commission. He was promptly arrested off Huron and once placed the captain and crew of three sailors, to which we were taken out of Marquette in the boat and they were informed the trial before the U.S. Commissioner.

The captain, in return, the chief deputy and the two sailors, to which we were taken out of Marquette in the boat and they were informed the trial before the U.S. Commissioner.

The captain, in return, the chief deputy and the two sailors, to which we were taken out of Marquette in the boat and they were informed the trial before the U.S. Commissioner.

Gross Violations of Law Said to Be Ignored at Bay City. Bay City, Mich., Nov. 5.—This city has a lot of high-toned sportsmen who in years past have offered big rewards for the conviction of persons violating the game laws, and who made an especial effort to get after the farmers and the so-called pot-hunters, who couldn't afford private hunting grounds and high-priced dogs.

This year, however, conditions are reversed. It is alleged that even on the prairie lands in this vicinity such strong was carried on by the owners before the season opened while several hunters have admitted, privately, that they secured rewards of $100 and partake several days ahead of the season. And now to cap it all, the men are slaughtering ducks by the wholesale from their naphtha launches. So far this year the local deputy game warden has paid not the slightest attention to the enforcement of the game laws.

Ned Horseshoe Captured. Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 5.—John Cummins, a noted horsechief, who stole a horse and buggy from Durban's livery in Vassar Oct. 28, was locked up here Wednesday. Officer Cunningham and Constable Burgess of Vassar found the thief Bridgeport, where it had been sold for $15. Cummins was sent from here in 1897 to Jackson for five years for horse stealing.

Fell to His Death. West Bay City, Mich., Nov. 5.—F. R. Williams, for years foreman of the joiner shop at the Davidson shipyard, fell into the hold of the steamer John Craig and was instantly killed.

Farmer Killed by a Fall.

Lawton, Mich., Nov. 5.—Robert Lameaux, about 70 years old, fell from the barn on his farm east of this village and died shortly afterward.

WHAT WILL BLISS DO?

Salsbury May "Peach" if Not Pending by Him.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 5.—Much excitement prevails here among a large number of prominent citizens, who have been informed that Governor Bliss is about to exercise executive clemency in the case of Lant K. Salsbury, who returns to this city from the Detroit house of correction today to receive his sentence for accepting a bribe.

Salsbury's friends are putting forth every effort to save him from a second term in prison.

In connection with the rumors that Salsbury might "peach" on some of his old colleagues, thus implicating them in the famous "water deal" in order to assure himself a mild sentence, a close friend of Salsbury said:

"If Salsbury can rely on a pardon from Governor Bliss, I am inclined to believe he will stand pat and make no statement involving anybody else in the scandal. In the event of no action being taken by the governor, we'd be a great temptation for Salsbury to turn state's evidence to the more or less of reward with a light sentence."

PROCLAMATION ISSUED.

Governor Bliss Sends Out Annual Thanksgiving Document.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 5.—The following proclamation has been issued by Governor Bliss:

To the People of Michigan, Greeting:

— Thursday, the twenty-sixth day of November, 1903, in pursuance of law and custom, is hereby designated as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, that the people of the state, assembling in their respective churches and as circumstances shall admit, may make suitable acknowledgment of their manifold blessings to the Most High through His Son, the Redeemer. God has most wonderfully prospered this great state, not an interest, not a cause has been neglected and in the time of prosperity we must be grateful to Him. Before the altar, every man, woman and child should bow the knee and pray that He will continue His infinite kindness unto this people. The church and the home make to the greatness and the permanency of the nation and Thanksgiving day is a good day to devote to them.

V. T. BLISS, Governor.

WHIPPED HER IN STREET.

Battle Creek Woman Assailed Lady Talking to Her Hobby.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 5.—We're often asked why the police here are so strict with us. Well, the reason is that the police here are strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

On the afternoon of Oct. 21, the police here were strict with us.

NORTHVILLE.*The City in Brief.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Thornton are to move into town soon.

J. H. Steers has been on the sick list part of this week.

C. E. Ryer reports having picked a dandelion blossom this week.

Mrs. John Negus has been quite seriously sick for the past week.

Will Tinham has resumed work for F. N. Perrin after an illness of some weeks.

The O. E. S. are making preparations for their annual ball at the rink Thanksgiving eve.

O. B. Colburn has rented the A. D. Kendrick property and will move in it's near future.

E. V. Starkweather sold a fine pair of Percheron horses to the Scott Milling Co. of Detroit this week for $450.

Mr. and Mrs. Garner who have purchased the Thoms property on Mill street, are moving here from Mt. Clemens.

C. A. McGillough has accepted a position with the Globe company here. His family will remain in St. Clair for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stanley of the Exchange hotel have given up their rooms at the Pitt Johnson residence and now live at the hotel.

Harvey Naylor is the proud possessor of a fine new bicycle presented by his grandmother, Mrs. Naylor, of Northville.—Edu Cor. Courier.

The Rural Hill Cemetery association has had the cemetery restaked using vitrified posts for the purpose thus making a permanent job of the work.

The club party held in the rink Friday evening was well attended. There were several present from Plymouth and other neighboring towns.

Wibur Harrington has become a regular line book agent. Within a month or two past he has taken orders for 50 books and has dead loads of customers still on the string.

Mrs. Willis and family have moved from the old Thornton house at the corner of Center and Cody streets to the Blatz house on Wing street lately vacated by Frank Moore and wife.

Several croquet experts came down from Salem Saturday to do things to our local players, but the "boys" of the Northville club were too much for the visitors in leaving out victories.

Mrs. Mary L. Ambler of this place was elected District president at the W. H. C. district convention at Aspinwall last week, and Mrs. Minnie M. Hutton was appointed district secretary.

The annual Sunday school convention for the townships of Northville and Plymouth is to be held next Sunday, November 8, afternoon and evening, in the Presbyterian church at Plymouth.

The weather man was evidently somewhat conscience stricken about the sort of weather he gave us throughout most of the summer, and is trying to make it up by the magnificent autumn we have been enjoying.

The preparations are nearly completed for the Presbyterian ladies' banquet in Princess rink this evening and the affair promises to be even more enjoyable if possible, than the one last year. The tickets have sold with gratifying rapidity.

The man "Ott" who was credited in last week's Detroit dailies with belonging in this place when arrested in Adrian for appropriating a livery rig, turns out to have hailed from Norwell instead of Northville, as the Adrian Press explains, and adds that he "Ott" to have stayed there.

In discussing Plymouth's conspicuous need for street drainage, the Mail remarks: "We would recommend a comparison of cement gutters in Wayne to the cobblestone gutters of Northville by our council and citizens generally and be prepared to build one or the other with the least delay."

Halloween was very quietly observed by Northville "spirits" Saturday night, and no particular damage to property is reported. Marshal Taft and his deputies kept watch and ward very effectively, and beyond the overturning of a few movable structures, decorating of roofs and chimneys with portable property and some transposition of signs, the ghosts were kept generally within bounds. One Plymouth sign very mysteriously made its way over here, appearing next morning in front of a Main street residence.

For ease and comfort buy Worcester corsets at Miss Kovee's.

It adds spice to dreary life; encourages the human heart, lifts one out of despair, breathes new life and confidence. That's what Rocky Mountain Tea does. 35 cents. Murdock Bros.

R. H. Purdy still continues seriously ill.

Johnson & Taft have completed their excavating contract at the U.S. fish station.

Mrs. James Dunham is suffering from a severe attack of erysipelas in her face.

Benton's milk wagon was run into by an electric car Wednesday.

Damages slight.

M. S. Ambler & Co. have finished their new dam and are now ready for the 1904 ice crop.

Two new endowment members were added to the L. O. T. M. M. last Wednesday evening.

Fred Fenn has rented the Holk farm to Mr. McGilvray, who has already taken possession.

Mrs. N. F. Allison was taken to Grace hospital, Detroit, Tuesday for a very critical surgical operation.

Charles Burch of Plymouth is working in Herman's barber shop while Mr. Herman does a little cutting.

Mrs. Haddock, mother of Jesus Haddock of this place, was buried in Woodmere cemetery, Detroit, Wednesday.

The Methodist Society's Hallowe'en social Saturday evening at Mrs. Kern's was a great success. The net proceeds were about $2.

The King's Daughters will hold no fair this year, but anyone wishing the Circle to make aprons is requested to inform one of the members.

The interior of the Porter building occupied by Parsons' grocery has been handsomely redecorated. Bert Clark was the artist in charge.

The Tinham-Stanley-Burch-Becker hunting party returned Saturday from a week's shooting in Ogemaw county. They bagged 91 partridge and 60 quail.

Rev. Lee S. McColister of Detroit will preach in the Universalist church at Farmington next Sunday at 3:15 p.m. on "Our Reasons for a Belief in a Life after Death."

John Waterman, an old and respected resident of Salem, and a near relative of Charles Waterman and Mrs. P. E. White of this place, died Thursday, at the age of 74.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Predmore have purchased Mrs. Sarah Palmer's property at the corner of Church and Cody streets, now occupied by John Negus and wife, but will not move there until next spring.

The Northville High school football team went to South Lyon Tuesday afternoon to play against the High school team of that village. The Northville boys were victorious to the tune of 20 to 6.

Mrs. Maud L. Greene of Colorado, national chalotiker, will give an entertainment in the Baptist church on Monday evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the I. T. L. Her gift with the cravon is exceptional and delightful. Doors will be open for her at 7. Admission 50c.

I. D. Fisher lost two valuable cows last week by poison. The animals got into a field where some substance had been put on thistles to kill them, and six of the cattle ate of the poisoned plants. Four of the cows were saved, but the other two died from the effects of the poison.

Next week Friday evening, Nov. 13th, Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Jerome are to receive their friends in commemoration of their twentieth wedding anniversary. An invitation was extended from the pulpit Sunday to the members of church and congregation to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Jerome will be assisted in receiving by those at the heads of all the departments of the church work.

After the order of business at the meeting of the L. O. T. M. M. Tuesday night a very hearty lunch was served and Miss Angie Smith with a few very fitting remarks presented Mr. Brigham and Mrs. Armstrong each with a beautiful Macabee pin as a gift from the order. These ladies are soon to move to Virginia and their loss is regretted very much by their friends and members of the life.

Mrs. S. E. Cranson entertained about thirty ladies Saturday evening at a Hallowe'en card party in honor of her cousin, Miss Whipple, of Novi. The rooms and tables were very prettily and artistically decorated with Hallowe'en "fixin's," and even the witch's tent was not forgotten, where the participants could have their fortunes told with true clairvoyant skill. The winner of the first prize at cards was Mrs. T. B. Henry and the "consolation" went to Mrs. Bert Phillips.

Order your hard coal now of M. S. Ambler & Co. Telephone or drop card.

Letters for the following persons are advertised at the post office this week:

Mr. W. H. Beacher

Miss Basilia Yerian

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Larative Bromo Quinine Tablets.

All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25 cents.

Michigan Inventors.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Patents were granted Michigan inventors Tuesday as follows: Mark E. Bacon and C. H. Bacon, Flushing, gearing; John M. Biggerstaff, Kalamazoo, show case; J. W. L. Bashford, Benton Harbor, churn; A. G. Boone, Detroit, cooking utensil; Cyril P. Brown, Spring Lake, folding bed; Wilford G. Cooper and J. T. Bradley, Jackson, wood-turning machine; Oscar B. Danier, Allegan, mechanical amusement; Michael Garland, Bay City, conveyor chain; Sam Herbert, Detroit, car roof; Alfred H. Humphrey, Kalamazoo, Bunsen burner; H. H. Humphrey, Detroit, separator; Julius Kahn, Detroit, composite structural member; John U. Lassell, Flint, display cabinet; J. C. Loucks, Grand Rapids, foot valve; Cornelius Ridderhoff, Grand Rapids, drill grinding machine; Francis E. Shaw, Ewart potato planter; Howard D. Sherman, Battle Creek, machine for expanding ferrules or rings of metal (also means for attaching hose to couplings); Frederick L. Smith, Detroit, vehicle spring; Elliott J. Stoddard, Detroit, spark plug coil for gasoline engines; Anne E. Taylor, Min. Tanner Sturgis, washboard (also combined hay and stock rack); Adelbert C. Waterman, Athens, railway and

WE

Keep everything that a good drug store should keep. We charge no more than we have to for anything bought here. We realize that a drug store has a great deal of power for good or evil. We realize its responsibilities. If you are after this kind of a drug store we want your trade.

Murdock Bros.

City Drug Store
NORTHVILLE, MICH.

Hard coal at Ambler & Co.'s Lots
New Big in Town Telephone Connection
F. N. PERIN, Prop.

Tell Your Friends to Trade at Frasier's... Home Bakery for they will find the fine complete. We aim to please, as a satisfied customer is a trade winner. Everything fresh and up-to-date.

E. L. FRASIER,
NORTHVILLE Proprietor
Telephone 812

Perrin's
Every, Feed and Sale Stable.
Loc. Bus to and from all Trains.
New Big in Town Telephone Connection
F. N. PERIN, Prop.

SALE STARTS AT 8:30 SHARP SATURDAY MORNING

SALE STARTS AT 8:30 SHARP SATURDAY MORNING

...A...

Reorganization Sale

Foreshadowing a New Era In Detroit's Clothing Trade.

S. L. BIRD, for five years manager of the clothing department of The Hub—Chicago's greatest and largest retail clothing store, and late manager of the clothing department of Mandel Brothers, the most exclusive retail house in the West, has purchased a half interest in the business of R. H. TRAVER CO., and prior to the opening of the store under the name of the new firm there will be held an

Unusual Sale Planned to Get Ready for New Goods, New Prices and New Ideas

In order to prepare for the greatest clothing sale Detroit has ever known, this store will be closed for two days, Thursday and Friday. The entire stock will be rearranged and repriced, and without a doubt will afford Detroit's smart followers of fashion the rarest saving opportunity presented in the annals of the clothing trade of Detroit.

This Store Will Be More Than Ever the Home of Men's and Boys' Exclusive Apparel

A store where quality is never slighted to gain a low price point—a store where every garment sold will equal in every sense of the much abused term, the very best custom made work, in style, exclusiveness and workmanship.

Wait for the Great Sale; it Will Prove A Price Revelation
Every Dollar's Worth of Our High Grade Merchandise will be Disposed of Regardless of Cost or Former Selling Prices.

R. H. TRAVER CO.

171-173-175 Woodward Ave.

DETROIT.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pound airtight jar of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in jars which does not cost 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers. The Chattanooga Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Roswell, Ga., Jan. 30, 1902.
Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is the best advertised. Our stock was looking bad when you sent me the medicine and now they are getting so fine. They are looking 20 percent better.
S. P. BICKINGTON.

British Guiana.
British Guiana is said to be the most cosmopolitan of British colonies, the population consisting of an admixture of Dutch, French, British and American colonists, East Indian coolies, Chinese, Spaniards, Portuguese, Germans, Scandinavians and the aborigines of the country.

TONSILINE CURES Sore Throat.

Before and After using Tonsiline.

TONSILINE
CURES
SORE THROAT.

TONSILINE
CURES
S

AUTHOR OF
"MISER HADLEY'S SECRET"
"THE MYSTERY OF THE STRANGE
"BY WHOSE HAND?"
"THE OLD MILL MYSTERY"
ECT ETC

COPYRIGHT 1903 BY THE AUTHOR

"That is an insult, Sir Jaffray, and a wrong which you at least might have spared me," she cried.

The words struck him like a slap in the face.

"An insult? A wrong? To ask you to be my wife?" His tone was still calm enough, but it rang with the note of angered pride.

Twice she turned to him impetuously, as if to speak, locking her fingers tightly together as if fighting with her feelings and unable to utter the words which rose to her lips. Then she clutched the rail of the veranda tightly with both hands, and, leaning back, as though at bay, she appeared to compel herself to break the silence, which once broken was followed by a flood of words poured out with rapid, vehement rushes. She was like one wrung by the deepest passion.

"Why do you say this to me? Why do you torment me? Why tempt me in this cruel, heartless way? Yes, heartless. You know this thing can never be."

You know—who better?—that between us stands the bar of your unfulfilled promise to your cousin, Beryl Lester.

You know that all the world looks on that as settled. You have known this all through. You must have known, and yet you come to me and press me to be your wife. You half pledged to another woman, can ask me to help you break that pledge by winning from me another, because you think you can do with me as you will.

"You hold me for a child, a toy, a plaything, to be used for a season and tossed aside. You know your strength with me. You think because you have made me, love you—what do I say? Made me hate you, maybe, for heaven help me, I know not what I think or feel, say or do, where you are. But this will not do—I will not help you to play that girl false. Go to her. She will make you happier than I ever can. It is not love that makes happiness. That comes far more readily from the easy content of even flowing, placid

"Beryl had you, and you had Beryl," he answered with a roving slowness. "And you had?"

"Myself, of course," he returned, getting up.

She got up, too, and stood in his way.

"I don't see why you should want to hide what you're up to doing."

"That would be difficult from your sharp eyes, wculn't it?" And he smiled down at her go-a-hemmedly.

"Why don't you tell me all about it, then?"

"There's so little in it, you know. Only two letters—and another."

"I see. You would rather I learned it from the other, then. I can ask her."

"I never said there was anything to ask."

"Do you know that Beryl has had letters from the man?" asked Mrs. De Witt, changing her line suddenly, irritated at his fencing with her.

"How in P! I haven't seen her since the game."

"Your mother has written to her."

This was said as though with special significance.

"That dear mother! She has the best heart in the world," he replied.

"But she doesn't like the second letter of that little 'it'." And she sought his eyes with a challenge in her own.

"If she has a fault, I am afraid she's too fond of the first letter. I've had my own way with my life," he answered, returning to his look and smiling.

She made a pretty gesture of irritation.

"You're more than traveling today, Magog. At the time you didn't keep secrets from me."

"There are some secrets that are not worth keeping from anyone, little woman," he replied. Then he changed his manner and tone completely, and laying his hand on her shoulder, earnestly and kindly. "Don't worry; wait. I'm only teasing."

"I know that, you great-boy," she answered. "But I want to know more."

"All right; I understand. Well, Beryl," he said, breaking off in a different tone, as his cousin came out and joined them. "I hear you have letters from home."

The girl started slightly at this, and her usually calm and rather cold features flushed somewhat, as if the words had some embarrassing reference known to herself.

"Yes, I have had one from the mother." The two always spoke of Lady Walcott as "the mother," Beryl being motherless.

As she passed she touched him again, and he drew back as if afraid of losing all self-control.

"One moment," he said, keeping his voice as steady as he could. "I understand now. You are right. I will do what you wish, and till then I will not say a word more."

He stood back and let her pass without another word, watching her with burning eyes till the last trace of her dress disappeared and the soft curtain from the desk was lost in the room.

Then he turned his face to the light, and a smile of proud triumph lighted his face and gazed at the sea and the woods, and the landscape, though seeing nothing, lost in the thought that he had won her, a queen among women.

CHAPTER II
LADY WALCOTT INTERVENES.

Sir Jaffray was still on the veranda, smoking all day dreaming, after his interview with Lola, when Mrs. De Witt and her cousin Beryl returned to the hotel from the walk on which he ought to have accompanied them, and the former surprised him on the balcony and before he could escape. Her shrewd instinct scented mischief.

"By yourself, Magog?" she said. She generally had a pet name for her male intimates as a sort of compromise between the Christian and surnames. This was chosen in reference to the baronet's seat size and strength. "I thought some deus with you—Mrs. Villyers, of course"—this dryly—"had perhaps enjoyed your coming with us."

"No, I think she's in her rooms some," he answered, looking at her you with her, talking over all your plans with the frank innocence of childhood, and it will be pleasant to travel with—dear Mrs. Villyers."

A dry little smile passed over Sir Jaffray's face.

"You are a keen thought reader," he said.

"What plot are you two hatching now?" said Beryl, looking from one to the other. "I hoped you were going to stay," she began to Sir Jaffray, but then checked herself.

"I had intended to stop, Beryl," he said, looking at her steadily, "but I am compelled to go home to see the mother after this letter," holding it up. "If you wish it, of course, I'll come back. You know I always like to do what you wish if possible. The mother knows that too."

Beryl so rarely showed her feelings that the deep scarlet blush which now rushed over her face, coloring it a vivid red from the roots of her rich brown hair downward as she rose and made an excuse and went indoors hastily, surprised both her companions and especially Mrs. De Witt, who did not see anything in the baronet's words to cause it and did not understand the reference in them.

"Where are we all this afternoon, Magog?" she asked in perplexity.

"Where we were not last week and shall not be tomorrow," he answered sententiously and with a smile.

"Are you turning sphinx?" she asked, a little irritably.

"No, I'm only the soothsayer, waiting to see what I ought to say and acting on instructions." And with that he went into the house.

"If I don't read that very clever Miss Lola's hand in this, may I never flirt again!" exclaimed Mrs. De Witt to herself as soon as she was left alone. "But I'll find out from her what passed this afternoon, if I have to ask the question point blank."

Meanwhile Sir Jaffray had gone to read over again and answer the letter from his mother, and he encircled his self in a corner of the smoking room.

"I wish she hadn't gone so soon," he said—he wasn't thinking of his mother then, however. "It makes it look as if I was following her, but by Jove, it can't be that—it can't be that, she's in earnest and means to put altogether."

The bare thought of this filled him with a foolish fear. "Would I have had this business about Beryl if the baronet before he left had been such a stanch friend and dear companion in the past and had taken such a strong interest in all that concerned him that he was profoundly grieved at the thought of bringing sorrow to her?

He wished, indeed, that he could have laid the whole thing before her as he often done with other and lesser puzzles and just have talked it out quietly like friends.

He missed the help which the girl had often been to him, and he was thinking of this as he sauntered on to the veranda at the end of his stroll and saw her sitting there alone, just in the corner and in the chair where Lola had sat in the afternoon.

He went to her and sat down in one of the creaky basket chairs near her.

"Well, walking about to think Jaffray," she said pleasantly, "after the old habits?"

"Yes, I was thinking about my going off tomorrow. I'm going to see the mother, you know."

"I thought so from what you said today," replied Beryl quite calmly.

"What train do you go by? Shall you come back?"

This commonplace way of meeting what he had meant as an advance rather disconcerted him, and he answered tamely:

"I haven't had the time yet," adding after a short, uncomfortable pause, "I'll come back if you wish, you know."

Bat at that he blamed himself lest she should misunderstand him.

The girl laughed softly, but quite without sign of restraint. She was an excellent actress.

"You don't seem to know your own mind very clearly; not like you."

"Some people seem to think I know it too clearly," he answered, thinking of his mother's letter.

"Oh, people often make blunders trying to guess one's wishes, I think."

He thought he could detect a little nervous fidget in her voice, suggesting an unconscious meaning, but before he could say anything she added.

"Of course you'll just do as you like about coming back."

"Do you mean you want to release me from my promise to stay a fortnight here?"

"I don't remember any direct promise," Jaffray, he said to the baronet as soon as he had taken his seat at the table, "we are puzzled. The dear little woman didn't understand why you are leaving suddenly. I did not know you were leaving till she told me, you know, and she wants hardly to know why you are going. Will you tell me?"

There was not a gesture or expression in her face or manner to suggest that she could know anything about it. Her attitude toward him was precisely what it had always been, and her perfect self-command and composure pleased him. He took his cue from her readily. He smiled, she answered.

"Is she asking you? Just now on the balcony, at the window, she wanted to suggest that it was something about you Miss Crawshay."

Lola laughed a soft, low, sweet laugh that made the man who wore it the tiptoe within her look up and turn red and feel suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both perplexed by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both

surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both

surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both

surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both

surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both

surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both

surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both

surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

"Mrs. De Witt and Beryl were both

surprised by the conduct of the other two, and the former glared quickly up to the facts of them both as if to find there an explanation, but she found nothing.

"In here she hinted, as I think very unluckily, that there was some love-making at the bottom of it, and that you were running away with her from Mrs. Villyers."

Lola laughed again, and the man who wore it the window who were at the table within her looked up and turned red and suddenly interested in the doings of the group which sat at three such pretty women and the distinguished-looking man.

