TELLS WHY INDIANS PAINT.

Apache Relatés Legend Which Ac counte for His People's Custom. Once an old Apache Indian, when asked the question why his people painted their faces, told this little le-

"Long ago, when men were weak and animais were big and strong, a chief of the red men-who lived in these mountains went out to get a deer, for his people were hungry.

"After walking vill day he saw t deer and shot at it, but the arrow was turned aside and wounded a mountain-lion, which was also after the deer. When the hon felt the sting of the arrow he jumped up and bounded after the man, who ran for his life "He was almost exhausted and, when he fe't his strength giving way, he felt to the ground, calling on the big bear, who, you know, is the grandfather ot men, to save him.

"The big bear heard-the call and saw that to save the man ke had to act quickly, so he scratched his foot and sprint led his blood over the man

"Now, you must know that no ani-mal will eat of the bear or taste of his blood. So when the lion reached the man he smelled the blood and turned away, but as he did so his foot scraped the face of the man, leaving the marls of his claws on the bloodsmeared face.

'When the man found that he was uninjured he was so thankful that he left thechicod dry on his face and never washed it at all, but left it um i it peeled off.

"Where the claws of the lion scraped it off there were marks that urned brown in the sun, and where: the blood stayed on it was lighter. Now all men paint their faces that way with blood and scrape it of in streaks when they hunt or go to war."

The only states in this union that have adopted the extreme phase of primary -nominations demanded by Florida, Mississippi and Texas, states that certainly nobody in Michigan excepting the democrats would want to accept as models in anything In those states it has not by any means been adopted for the purpose for which it is urged by its sincere advocates here, but quite the reverse. Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indiges-tion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of theart desease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the somach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and sa ells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Kauble, of Nevaga, O., says: I had storact trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspeps's Cure for about four mooths and it cured me.

deserts. On the high scas there are vast spaces whose waves have never been parted by the prow of a sailing esset or lashed by the propeller of a steamer; immense solitudes where the flap of a sail is herer heard nor the strident cry of a siren; veritable deserts, whose silence is broken only by the howling of the wind and the roar of the waves which have been ainly pursuing one another since the day of creation

These deserts lie forgotten berwixt the narrow ocean highways traveled by vessels. In such waste places of the sea a disabled ship, driven out of its course by a hurricane, may drift for months, tossed by the ceaseless ground swell, without being able to hail assistance; her only chance of escape is the possibility that some oceánic current may drag her into a mere frequent region.

The gradual but constant disappearance of Sailing ships made the ocean more of a desert than before. Sailing ressels bac their established foutes in accordance with winds, currents and seasons; the gaps between the routes perceptible difference in their own taken by outward-bound and home ward-bound ships were often considerable; moreover, the capricious elements not infrequently played the mischief with mautical instructions, and, were, with a disagreeable shock, says ocean-shipping was vastly expanded. lec'Net Tork Tribune. - . This is no longer true to-day. The "Where have you come from?" said liner goes straight ahead, in defiance man to a college chum whom he of wind and wave; the ports between numberless railways, serving as pro- i for of sea-fairing men.

Oceans, like continents, have their longations of the lines of navigation. The ocean highways are, therefore, anything-but numerous. The most frequented of oceans is the Atlantic. Apart from the polar seas, we see that in its northern part there is only one desert zone—a dreary waste of waters between the route from Europe to the United States or Canada and those from Europe to the Antilles.

In the south, between the routes from South America or the western American coast and the routes from South Africa, extends a desert occasionally traversed by the steamers of the lines from Cape Town and Mozambique, which, when the coffee season is at its height in Brazil, cross the Atlantic for cargces at Rio Janeiro or Santos.

The Indian ocean is frequented only in the north, by lines cut of India and Indo-China, and a little in the west by liners from Oceanica, which call at Colombo and then make straight for Australia. Two lines, each with a steamer a month, follow a slender lane from Australia to Cape Town.

The Pacific is the Sahara of great seas. Saving only the steamships from the far east to California and British Colombia, a line from Sydney to San Francisco, and a one-horse line (with sailings four or five times a rear) between Tahiti and the Umted States -- save for these mere ribbonlike streaks the Pacific is a desert.

Reliable parties from Westphalia report that a number of Mexicans with teams, plows and scrapers are excavating in that vicinity, claiming to have in their possession maps and charts showing treasure to be here to the amount of $100,000 in Mexican doubloons.

They say that the treasure is buried near what is known as the Buil Tank, and have agreed to pay the owners of the land on which they are at work dertain per cent of the find for the privilege of excavating This treasare is said to have been buried during the Texas and Mexican war. It is raid a tradition has existed that a arge sum in Mexican doublooms was buried somewhere on the banks of Pond creek and another that there was trêasure of considerable amount in Mexican money bur ed at some point along the banks of the Brazos nver near Marlin.

Many excavations have been made to locate the buried treasure, both on Pond creek and the Brazos river. These efforts were not only made by home people, but strangers have gone in and excavated, among whom were Mexicans A few years ago it was no uncommon thing to see deep holes dug along the banks of these streams. presumably by parties in search of the lost treasure, but if any money has ever been found in this manner the fact is not known.—Galveston News.

Miss Nellie Holmes, treasurer of the Young Woman's Temperance Association of Buffalo, N. Y., strongly advises all suffering women to rely, as she did, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkhan:—Your medicine is indeed an ideal woman's medicine, and by far the best I know to restore lost health and strength. I suffered misery for several years being troubled with menor-hagia. My bock ached, I had bearing-down pains and frequent headaches. I would often wake from restful sleep, and in such pain that I suffered for hours before I could go to sleep again. I dreaded the long nights as much as the weary days. I consulted two different physicians, hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, I tried your Vegetable Compound on the recommendation of a friend from the Last who was visiting me.

"I am glad that I followed her advice, for every ache and prin is gone, and not only this, but my general health is much improved. I have a fine appetite and have graned in flesh. My carnest advice to suffering vomen is to put away all other med cines and to take Lydia E. Pinkhum's Vegetable Compound."—Miss Nellin Holmes, 540 No. Division St., Buffalo, N.Y.

Miss trene Crosby, prominent in Social Life in East Savanah, Ga., adds her testimonial to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

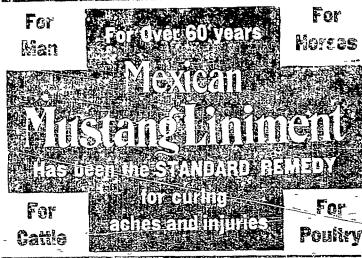

Dear Mrs. Perrials:—"It always gives me pleasure to find an article of real viting and unquestioned merit. I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound well calculated to relieve and cure the various troubles arising from irregularities and menstrail pains.

"Much suffering could be spared if we only paid more attention to proper fixing and dict, but as long as women do not do this, year Vegetable Compound have come to the front as a true friend in no d. I have been very pleured irdeed with the relief the bas brought me. I and that I have perfect health now, and that my mind's also more clear and active since I used your Vegetable Compound. It has been of greate brooks to me, and I gladly recommend d. Very sincerely yours. Miss linuxe Enoswy, 313 List Chaiton St., East Savannih, Ga."
