ORIENT CHAPTER VISITS PONTIAC

THIRTY-EIGHT WENT ON SPECIAL CAR TUESDAY.

Stars Braved Coldest Weather of the Season.

In spite of the fact that Tuesday brought the coldest weather known in this part of the country for a good many years, thirty-eight officers and members of Orient chapter, O. E. S., were on hand at six o'clock p.m. to take the special D. U. car for Pontiac, where they had been invited to exemplify the work of that order for the brethren and sisters of the county seat of "old Oakland." Notwithstanding many prognostications of discomfort, the trip was rapid and comfortable both ways and after the work the "stars" were banqueted and toasted and given an all around good time, which they will always remember as one of the pleasantest of the many enjoyable fraternal visits in which they have participated. They were restored to Northville all safe and sound sometime in the small hours of Wednesday morning.

FOR TOWNSEND

High Praise from Prominent Washington Paper.

Commenting on the recent passage of the famous railroad rate bill in the national house of representatives the Washington Times says:

"A remarkable feature of the bill which received finally the almost solid vote of the house, is that commonly known as the Townsend bill, being called after its main author, Representative Charles L. Townsend of the Second Michigan district. Such a distinction is rarely enjoyed by a 'new man.' A newcomer in the national halls of legislation, he has put the imprint of his name and individuality on the most famous bill passed by the present house, affecting, as it does all the railroad interests in the country."

Died Suddenly.

Edward Stockman, the nineteen year old son of Mrs. Frank Jackson, died Monday, Feb. 13, after a few hours illness of heart trouble. The funeral services, conducted by Rev. W. G. Stephens, were held at the home Thursday afternoon.

Harvey D. White and Miss Grace Williams both of this place, were married in Detroit last week Thursday, rather to the surprise of their friends.

Father of Mrs. William E. Ambler

Died Wednesday.

Zadock Buck, the father of Mrs. William E. Ambler, died of kidney trouble Wednesday afternoon at the home of his daughter just west of town. He had been failing health for some years, but had only been confined to his bed since Saturday last.

Mr. Buck was born 75 years ago near Quebec and was one of the first settlers of Chatham, Ont., going to that place before its first railroad was built. He had been a resident here for the past eighteen years. He is survived by two daughters and one son. His wife died in 1882.

Suburban News.

Mrs. Payne is the singularly appropriate name of one of the nurses in the center infirmary at Utica.

A South Lyon physician has a record of having officiated at over 500 funerals. It cannot be regarded as a very cheerful experience to be the case.

Rochester people are having troubles of their own over the fact that a good many citizens don't run in the snow plow's way. Some are some and opposed by others. So now who do they run? I want to do along that way.

An Ann Arbor sportsman killed a big gosling in a marsh seven miles from that city the other day, and now a great many of the Ann Arbor girls never go out evenings unless accompanied by some of the brave and husky athletes of the U. of M.—or of somewhere else.

George Shugar will build a new house next summer in Ousted, and is hauling the necessary material therefor. While it will be a Shugar house, it will not be a refinery.—Adrian Press

It will probably have suites of rooms where Shugar loafs, and will surely have lasses in it if he has unmarried daughters.

The Presbyterian church will give an excursion to Bois Blanc park on the steamer Columbia, July 13—Waukegan Herald, February 10.

Nothing like beginning in season to advertise. And besides, the anticipation of the excursion will be awfully warmin' to those Wyandotte Presbyterians such weather as we've been having lately. It would make 'em "bob low" to go now, though.

An unusually enterprising pair of Weary Nilles camped in a school house near Kensington the other night. They broke into the building, broke the school house pump and broke the record for nerve, made a fire, made coffee and made themselves at home by pulling down the curtains for bed covering, rifled the desks of any small articles they fancied, and departed without being caught. They were evidently well schooled in their profession.

Poisons in Food.

Perhaps you don't realize that many pain poisons originate in your food; but some day you may feel a twinge of dyspepsia that will convince you. Dr. King's New Life Pills are guaranteed to cure all sickness due to poisons of undigested food—or money back. Try them.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

[By the Pastor]

The sermon next Sunday evening will be on "Reason—What are its Rights."

A magnificent bouquet of sweet peas perfumed the whole church Sunday, and was an object of much approving comment.

Delegations from the G. A. R. and W. R. C. organizations responded to the pastor's invitation and attended the services in memory of Lincoln on Sunday evening.

The Presbytery of Detroit will meet at Saline next Monday. Mr. Jerome has been invited to deliver the charge to the people at the installation of the new pastor at that place.

In "Methodist Church Notes (by the pastor)" in the Northville Record appears the following: "We regret to state that several of our members are in ill health. We miss them from their accustomed place of worship. We find them quite patient and truthful." As the worthy pastor is not given to sarcasm, it cannot do otherwise than cheer him to feel that next to the presence of the absent members they are "patient" under the protection—Detroit Tribune.

This is Not Sarcasm.

Baptist Church Notes.

Force of Dynamite.

Dynamite explodes so rapidly that its force is exerted in the direction from which the greatest pressure comes. That is, if the dynamite be placed on the ground, the explosive force is down; if it be hung against a wall its force attacks the wall; if it be hung under an object its force is upward.

Labor-Saving Machinery.

A common nail is an excellent illustration of the difference between old and new methods. Formerly metal was cut into strips and forged into shape with hammers, an expert taking one and a half minute for each nail. Perfect nails are now made at an average rate of seventy per minute.

"For Friendly With Hounds."

It is stated that in one country in England foxes are so scarce that most of the hunting is done with one old fox, who has been hunted so much that he and the hounds are becoming friends. The hunters are trying, therefore, to find a new fox.

"Retired Gentleman."

A London court has decided that anybody may call himself a "retired gentleman" without being accused of false pretenses. The decision was in the case of a vegetable dealer who had borrowed 50 cents as a "retired gentleman."

Swedish Bridal Superstition.

The Swedish bride, who is superstitious, fills her pockets with bread, which she dispenses to everyone she meets on her way to the church, every piece she disposes of averting, as she believes, a misfortune.

London Births.

The average of births in London is 11,000 a month. It's computed that a single mom is 1 1/2 times as likely as would be, suffice to replace the men lost by England in the First World War.

Lifting Jacks on Cars.

It is said that in order that each state can be represented at a meeting so that no one state can be left out, there must be 50 states.

This Is No Mystery.

The reason why the state of Wyoming is not represented at the meeting of the Constitutional Convention is that it has not yet been admitted.

Unemployed in France.

The number of laborers in the industry of France is about 5 million. Of these, 1,000,000 are unemployed, and they are not able to find work.

Fresh Air Constantly Supplied.

About 1000 children are distributed in 1000 cot colonies for four hours by means of large electric fans.

A number of early birds occur in the city, and the income is very large.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflames the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

No bill to put the legislature in session instead of as it has made its appearance in either house this year, though it has been the custom in former sessions to at least vote down by such proposition chiefly because the salary proposed was not big enough, or if it were big enough it would be too big to obstruct constituents.

There was no quorum in the senate this morning and barely enough to do business. The representatives worked less than an hour and passed some minor measures.

A dozen bills were introduced including one by Turner to allow an appeal to the circuit court from the order of a township board of the improvement of highways by Breakaway, to provide for the determination of the personal liability of defendants in suits of encumbrance to foreclose mortgages by the original decree in such suit; by agents to provide for the filing of all contract notes, the notes and notes of writings signed by the purchaser of personal property retaining title to such property or action thereon in the seller or purveyor thereof, and making the same subject to the statute relating to fraudulent conveyances.

President Roosevelt will not present the arbitration treaties, as amended by the senate, to the countries with which they were negotiated. Secretary Bay makes this explanation. The president regards the matter of the general arbitration treaties as concurred by the action of the senate on Saturday. He recognizes the right of the senate to reject a treaty either by a direct vote in that sense, or indirectly by changes which are incompatible with its spirit and purpose. He considers that with the senate amendment the treaties not only cease to be a step forward in the cause of general arbitration, but are really a step backward, and therefore he is unable to present them in this altered form to the countries with which we have been in negotiation.

Senators Cullinan, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, after reading Secretary Bay's comment on the action of the senate in amending the arbitration treaties, said "The senator's position is right undoubtedly. If anything is done hereafter the president will have to take the senate into his confidence. It might require a little more time, but otherwise I can see nothing in the senator's course in contradiction with the president's interpretation of his treaty-making power."

Hearst's Grave Charge.

Rep. Sullivan addressed the house Monday in reply to certain statements regarding himself alleged to have been printed in the New York American as an outcome of last week's debate on the railroad rate question, in the course of which he was frequently interrupted and stung up Rep. Hearst was repelled Hearst then sprang a sensation which drew the house in an uproar. He charged that John A. Sullivan was one of two brothers who had kept a saloon in Boston where a murder was committed and that the two Sullivan brothers died for manslaughter.

"I would like to ask the gentleman from Massachusetts," grimly inquired Hearst, "what he knows about that incident."

Sullivan arose and faced Hearst and said "If the gentleman is asking that question of me I will be very glad to answer it."

Things became lively at this point and Mr. Butler shouted "He has intermediately charged the gentleman with this."

Butler was thoroughly enraged and he walked across the aisle exclaiming "This is not fair in the country."

After the excitement had subsided Hearst said he recognized the justice of the remarks of Butler and that he regretted it but did not feel compelled in defense of himself, "to defend the character of men who have made their attacks upon me."

Speaker Cannon's admonition on Tuesday cut short his remarks with a statement that he was proud of the hostility of such as Sullivan, and that he would continue to incur the hostility of that class of individuals, so long as he was in the service of his country.

To Investigate Oil.

The house on Wednesday adopted a resolution "without debate" in committee on the floor calling for an investigation of the Standard Oil Co. The resolution was offered by Mr. Campbell, of Kansas, and is the outcome of the Standard Oil order discontinuing work in Kansas because the legislature declined pipe lines to be common carriers. The resolution requests the secretary of commerce to investigate the cause of the increase of crude oil or petroleum in the United States, especially in the Kansas field, and also the unusually large margin between the price of crude oil and petroleum and the selling price received on oil and its products.

In the senate Mr. Beveridge presented a memorial from the legislature of Indiana and Mr. Berry a memorial from the legislature of Arkansas both praying for the enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Berry expressed the hope that the Senate committee would soon be able to report a bill on the question.

Killing Railroad Legislation.

Everything indicates that the senate will win out in its determination not to pass any railroad rate legislation this session. The method to be followed is to keep the hearings before the committee on interstate commerce going as long as possible, and just before adjournment Senator Keam's resolution providing for a congressional committee to sit during the recess will be passed.

Smallpox among Indians at Saginaw has caused the death of five of them within the last few days and the epidemic is still raging.

Residents of South Forest, Presque Isle, are forming an organization to protect themselves from hunters who come into their county and shoot at everything they see.

Negotiations have been concluded between Gov. Davis, Minister Barratt and the government of Panama under which he can name officials who assume complete charge of the city's sanitation.

Through the will of Frank H. Croker died in an automobile accident at Orange Beach, Fla., his father, Richard Croker, Tammany ex-chairman, left the entire estate of $400,000. Croker wants his son, Richard Jr., to be administrator.

NO BILLS.

The Rivers and Harbors and Public Buildings Bills Dropped.

There was a quiet meeting of the senate committee on appropriations Wednesday afternoon at which it was decided that Rivers and Harbors and Public Buildings bills should be dropped. Senator Allison, chairman of the committee, took the initiative and declared that a half had to be called, or the party would lose the next house of representatives. He told his colleagues that the treasury deficit was daily growing greater and that if these two bills were not cut off it would put the administration in a position that would be hard to explain.

Other members of the committee agreed with him and a decision was reached to scrap all the appropriations very closely. The failure of the rivers and harbors bill will be a hard blow to the interests of the great lakes, where several big projects had been planned by the engineers.

Raging Blizzard.

Reports from Missouri, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, the Dakotas, northern Texas, Indian Territory, Arkansas and Oklahoma say that unusually cold weather prevails. The thermometer ranged from 10 to 32 degrees below zero in places. Cattlemen say that range stock will suffer the greatest loss in years and some place the loss as high as 30 per cent. Great anxiety is felt for the Indian tribes, who are in no condition to withstand the storm.

William Devine, of Lansing, sent from Clinton county to Iola a December last, for not more than five years less than nine months has been employed by Gay Warner. Ex Sheriff Shaver becomes his first friend.

A $100,000 company has been organized at Oxford to manufacture automobile tires. The Crawford Bros. busines factor will be utilized. The officers of the company are President C. H. Crawford, vice-president, E. G. Leipprandt of Pigeon, secretary George Peterson of Detroit, treasurer, John Sibley.

Mary Lush, a well-known angler of Flint had a narrow escape from death by suffocation in her fish house on Saturday night near Ortonville. He built a charcoal fire in the store and the fumes rendered him unconscious, and when he came to he found himself lying with his head outside of the door, indicating that at the last moment he realized his danger in time to make an effort to get out of the room.

THE MARKETS.

Brettell—The cattle market holds steady with prices quoted last week.

For Warner has signed the Kent and the Marquette Oats primary election bills. The latter doesn't provide for numbering the ballots.

The Jeffs olive branch bill, just edited by Journal Clerk Kue of the house offers some interesting items on page 11. The "bulletin column" of the 100 representatives shows that 41 were born in Michigan and 40 in other states. Canada produced 10 of the present members. England 8 Germany 2 Scotland 1 Ireland 1 and Norway 1.

Of the 52 senators 11 were born in Michigan, 11 in other states, 4 in Canada, 1 in England, 1 in Scotland and 1 in Germany.

Probable Route of Russian Fleet to the Neighbored of Japan

(The route is indicated by a dotted line. At the top, it says "Probable route of the Russian Fleet to the neighborhood of Japan". Below the map, it says "Probable route of the Russian Fleet to the neighborhood of Japan".)

TO INVESTIGATE OIL.

The house on Wednesday adopted a resolution "without debate" in committee on the floor calling for an investigation of the Standard Oil Co.

The resolution was offered by Mr. Campbell, of Kansas, and is the outcome of the Standard Oil order discontinuing work in Kansas because the legislature declined pipe lines to be common carriers.

The resolution requests the secretary of commerce to investigate the cause of the increase of crude oil or petroleum in the United States, especially in the Kansas field, and also the unusually large margin between the price of crude oil and petroleum and the selling price received on oil and its products.

Turner Confesses.

Judge A. H. Parker, United States Senator Mitchell's law partner confessed in Fort and One Court Saturday to perjury in his evidence given before the federal grand jury in connection with the investigation of the Standard Oil Company in the state, when testimony was being taken in the case against Senator Mitchell and I will tell the whole truth with the conspirator to defend the government.

"Do you expect to testify again?" Senator Mitchell was asked.

"Yes, I expect to be called again in the case against Senator Mitchell and I will tell the whole truth regarding the business of the firm without regard to consequences."

It is not because these organs are not subject to catarrh, nor that catarrh of these organs is not a very common one, but simply because it is not generally known that afflictions of the

THANKFUL PEOPLE.

THEY ARE FOUND IN EVERY PART OF NORTHVILLE.

Many citizens of Northville have good reason to be thankful for burdens lifted from aching backs, which they bore patiently for years. Scores tell about their experience publicly. Here's a case of it:

Mrs. H. E. Kellogg, of Cady street, says: "I have had some experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Murdock Bros' drug store and it has been exceedingly satisfactory, in fact just as satisfactory as anything possibly could be, for they stopped a dull, aching pain in my back that had annoyed me some time. I don't know what more I could ask, consequently have no hesitation in recommending them as a remedy on which the public can depend."

"I recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this disease. It is my household friend." —Henry Schroeder.

At Work on the Farm.—Praises Pe-ru-na.

Geo. H. Thompson, Raleigh, Miss., writes:

"I have been cured of catarrh by your medicines, Pe-ru-na and Manalin. I had been affected with catarrh of the stomach about all my life, and was taken bad every spring and summer.

"I used several kinds of patent medicines, but they did me no good. I then took a treatment under an M. D., which did me but little good. By this time I had got where I could eat nothing but a little soup. I had severe pains, had lost in weight and could not do anything.

"I began taking your medicines, Pe-ru-na and Manalin. I then weighed 125 pounds, but after taking 17 bottles of Pe-ru-na and one bottle of Manalin, I weighed 160 pounds.

"I am now at work on the farm and feel well all of the time. I eat all I want to and my friends say that I look better than ever before. I will ever praise Pe-ru-na for its healing power." —Geo. H. Thompson.

SQUIRE JOHN

A TALE OF THE CUBAN WAR

BY J. GEORGE RUTHERFORD.

Surrounded by Fire.

True words were never spoken than when Travers declares they had hot work before them.

As the others comprising the bold party of defenders come tumbling out of the compartments which they have defended so bravely, they, too, discover the advance of the guerrillas marked as it is by a dozen waving flambeaux hastily snatched from the trees.

Jack is by instinct a leader of men. His quick mind grasps a problem and almost on the instant solves it. He seems to know by intuition as it appears, just what sort of action suits an emergency.

Speedily he places his men where they can do the greatest execution, and in the darkness they crawl alongside the carriage, awaiting the coming of the enemy.

There is hardly a breathing spell before those who come running along the railway track will be close enough to invite an opening of the engagement.

The guerrillas of course cannot see the carriage since all lights have been extinguished, but knowing the nature of the ground, they are able to guess its present position with some degree of certainty.

Jack is there in the van ready to give a good account of himself. He has regulated matters so there may be no great waste of ammunition. Smithers and himself are to open the ball, and if it becomes necessary, the others will chime in.

The two comrades are close together, and have time for the exchange of a few scowls ere the nearest torchbearers come within the range where they have marked an imaginary gun-line.

Then the ball opens.

Doubtless the advancing guerrillas understand the situation as soon as the gleam flash cleaves the darkness up the tree for their range should seem to increase in volume.

Those in the van are unable to the ones to suffer when meeting with such an oblique.

Two torches are seen to plunge downward, and those who carry them will hardly glen further from the hill.

High, behind passes a strong the catastrophe has not failed. Those on the hill but rather whetted the snap pistol for revenge.

Again Jack and Smithers let loose. They are as cool and collected as though花瓣ing at another's face. Such a composure is useful for a double discharge, and the necessity of this death dealing repeat comes in. If upon the hand with awful judgment.

Lured by Travers' two loud voices, he turned at the noise window. An overjoyed man is to see the news of the day, but he is overjoyed. The right and less, and the Spanish side to thus endeavor to save the scene.

They discover the advancing torches, and hear the shouts of the assailants, then came the roar of firearms and the terrible curse of that ensues down the track. Secretly one of these gentle hearts is praying for the safety of the man who has offered his body as a bulwark between those gas吃ate men, and herself, for Jessie Cameron has indeed made a stirring discovery. Though she does not as yet perceive his name even to her sopher.

Meanwhile, the first blade has borne fruit. Each time the sun might be cool before such a fierce a fire. The stars continue to ring on as by machine work each discharge

Turn the ball opens, might be the pulsation of a mighty heart capable of sending a dead man's soul through space.

From incarce rage the shouts blend into cries of alarm—yes, even of terror.

The advance is not given up, but a new system of tactics brought into play.

One man gives his torch a toss into the surrounding jungle. Another sees the point and follows suit. For a brief interval the air seems filled with flambeaux, each describing a parabola and landing in the thicket.

Jack understands what it means and has no time for the advance that must follow, since it means the possible arrival of the guerrillas at been able to hold out this far, and give a good account of ourselves, and, with the favor of Heaven, will continue to do so."

"We are under heavy obligations to you!" she says; and Jack smiles grimly at the way Fate manages his case.

"I hope you will not think so. No man could stand by and not lift his hand to defend ladies," is what he manages to say.

"Pardon—you are not a Spaniard, sir?"

Travers suddenly remembers that he no longer holds the rebble in his cheek; he has been taking in his natural tones.

"Only an American, lady," he replies.

"I thought so," he hears her say, as though to herself, and immediately follows by asking aloud: "You appear to be more anxious than before, and I imagine we are threatened with some new danger. You see I am brave. I would know the worst. So please let us understand what is coming next."

"It will come from the fire," he says quickly.

"I understand what you mean," she says, as she leans out of the door,

"Is the danger over?"

surrounded by the arm—the forest is fire. We are in danger of being burned alive. Well, sir, that is a bear's fate to face, but I had rather meet it than fall into the hands of those who have so little respect in the forest and Jaci's afterburn being called to this fact, be awakend to a new danger that confronts them.

"The dead leaves and brush catch fire easily at this time of the year since the opening of the rainy season has been delayed."

Already in, half a dozen flames before the descending torches alight, can be seen a rapid spreading flame. The breeze seems to be increasing with the number of each minute of time and frankly the flames into vigorous life.

Jack looks better than any of the others the full measure of the new danger menacing them.

Still, what can be done?

There is a fire for every man, some of them about to burn so fiercely that it would tax the ingenuity of a single individual to encompass the destruction of the blade.

Should they attempt to extinguish the fire that already begins to sweep and crackle, they will naturally become a target for those of the La Guadalquivir who may hit them.

Hence nothing can be done.

The other idea is to ride the fire.

They comment on the fact that presently they will either fall before the fire or be consumed by it.

Jac's heart is burdened with the thought of the La Guadalquivir who may hit him.

"Can rolling be done?" The heat is already becoming so dreadful. Perchance the carriage may take fire and we will be our refuge? Is what they say just behind them.

Jack has been considerate of the matter and trying to decide which of the two is the lesser.

He realizes that whatever is done must be accomplished quickly else the intense heat may cause the old undercarriage of a rickety carriage to give way.

Before Travers can make any further remark upon the subject, he hears Smithers calling aloud for the doctor in the next compartment, and it suddenly dashes across his mind that it was as well he should pass under the name of Dr. Jim.

Evidently his presence is needed.

Smithers shows some trace of exertion in the tone of his bark, and it may be set down for certain that all the efforts his will not nerves a little holiday there is good reason for alarm.

PANAMA CLIMATE NOT DEADLY.

Temperature and Rainfall Not Worse.

Than in the United States.

There is a widespread belief that the climate of Panama is so fatal that the construction of the canal can only be accomplished at an enormous sacrifice of human life. Both malaria and yellow fever may be said to be practically under control, and these are the two diseases, says the Scientific American, which are most to be dreaded when the great construction camps are assembled and work is in full swing throughout the whole length of the canal. According to Gen. Abbott, the records of the hospital of the old Panama canal company show that the total death rate among the laborers was far less than is commonly supposed, being in fact from 44 to 67 per 1,000.

It seems, moreover, that the rainfall has been the subject of as gross exaggeration as the diseases. It varies from about 130 inches on the Atlantic to 85 inches on the Pacific, a record that can be duplicated in the United States where the average rainfall on the Atlantic coast is about 50 inches and the fall on portions of the Pacific coast compares in total precipitation with that of the Atlantic terminus of the canal. Furthermore, it will be news to many residents of our more northerly latitude to learn that the temperature ranges at Panama from 70 degrees to 85 degrees Fahrenheit, and that it is very rarely that the thermometer reaches the high temperature which is experienced when a hot wave passes over the United States.

That would be hard to say," he replies, softly. "These men are desperate characters, and although we have temporarily beaten them off, they may return. I hope you will not be alarmed, however. We have

A poor man may be a crank, but a rich one is eccentric.

Discussions in Convention.

Officers of our state dairy associations may profit by an action of the American Warehousemen's Association at their convention in Washington last week. It was there decided that hereafter all such portions of committee reports as invite discussion by the members at the annual convention shall be printed and distributed to the members before the meeting.

In the conventions of associations formed to forward the mutual interests of the membership by improving methods of business, devising and urging legislation, etc., a full discussion by the assembled members is, if properly conducted, the most potent force. This is generally recognized and yet in a great majority of cases the time of the sessions is so largely taken up by the reading of addresses upon various subjects that discussions are cut short and very often have to be left out altogether.

At the meetings of dairy associations and butter and cheesemakers' associations there are usually a number of papers prepared upon subjects designated by the officers the reading of which takes much time. If these could be forwarded to the secretary in advance they might be printed and distributed to the members before the meeting with very little additional expense to associations which print their reports in full because the type forms could be kept standing for use in the full report. The advantages would be three fold: First, the members would be much better prepared to discuss the subjects brought up if they had time to consider them before the meeting; second, the time of the convention could be more largely devoted to the discussion, and third, the full report of the proceedings could be published much more promptly after the convention had closed.

We commend this plan to the consideration of all such associations as would be benefited by its adoption—N. Y. Produce Review.

Alfalfa and Corn.

Up to the last ten years alfalfa and corn did not grow generally in the same region, the alfalfa clinging to the drier regions, where corn does not flourish. But during the last decade the corn growing area has been pushed steadily westward by dry farm culture and methods that pack the soil to make the moisture there most available for the corn crop. Alfalfa, on the other hand, has been moving eastward and northward till now it has swung away entirely, so to speak, from the arid regions and grows both in humid and in arid lands. Where the two crops can be grown in the same locality, there is probably no better combination of feeds for cattle. The corn is rich in fattening material and the alfalfa rich in material to make muscle. The one furnishes a great overbalance of carbohydrate and the other a still larger overbalance of protein. It is easy to compound from the two a ration that is in every sense profitable and easy to feed.

Some farmers think they are making money feeding corn and prairie hay, but there is still more profit in feeding corn and alfalfa. Alfalfa and corn and clover and corn are combinations that cannot be excelled for cattle feeding and fattening, provided they can be obtained at a reasonable cost. The fact that several crops of alfalfa can be grown the same year greatly reduces the per ton cost of alfalfa and gives it a certain advantage over common hay.

Before Travers can make any further remark upon the subject, he hears Smithers calling aloud for the doctor in the next compartment, and it suddenly dashes across his mind that it was as well he should pass under the name of Dr. Jim.

Evidently his presence is needed.

Smithers shows some trace of exertion in the tone of his bark, and it may be set down for certain that all the efforts his will not nerves a little holiday there is good reason for alarm.

Dairying in Michigan.

Michigan is not considered a dairy state, and yet, according to a recent census, there are in that state 14,116 farms deriving their chief income from dairy products. On these dairy farms there are 14,643 cows, which makes an average of a little over five cows to a farm. The number of cows in the state used for the production of milk principally is over $75,000, according to the census of 1900. About 60,000,000 pounds of farm butter are made yearly, and this has a value of $9,600,000. In addition, over 26,000,000 pounds of butter are made in the creameries, and the value of this swells the aggregate value of the butter made to over $14,000,000. This is a good showing when it is considered that in the enumeration of the cows must be a very large number that produce little or nothing. How much greater would be the production if every poor cow were replaced with a good cow!

Unstrained Milk.

At the Illinois State Dairymen's Association one of the speakers said that if milk were produced as carefully as it should be there would be no necessity for straining it. There would then be nothing to strain out.

Under a rigid course of procedure it is entirely possible to have the milk as clean as indicated. The calf takes the mother's milk unstrained, and it is clean, not even a microbe getting in.

In the main we have not yet been able to do by ourselves quite as well as nature does by the calf in the way of giving it pure milk.

PEOPLE ENTIRELY WIPE OUT.

Cruelty of Russians Blamed for Island's Depopulation.

When Cabrillo coasted along the shores of California in 1542, Santa Cruz island was densely populated; but in 1790, the early part of the mission period, only a few inhabitants remained, and these were gradually removed by the padres to the vicinity of the Santa Barbara mission. The cause of the depopulation was this: The Russians and Aleuts on their annual seal hunts, continued through more than a century, villages the island massacred the men and children and carried off the women. Only the relic hunters now find traces of the number and character of these islanders in the stone dishes, mortars, arrow heads and ornaments of bone or shell scattered thickly throughout the island—Heatherwick Kirk in Sun-set Magazine.

Heir to Great Income.

The young heir to the Duke of Westminster, if he lives, will be one of the wealthiest men in Great Britain. His income will be more than a million and a quarter dollars a year. He will inherit, among other possessions, 35,000 acres, including 600 acres of the most valuable land in the West End of London, which as years go on and leases fall in, increases constantly in value. There are also 28,400 acres waiting for him in the country.

Within and Without.

How often, while women and girls sit warm at sweet firesides, their hearts and imaginations are doomed to divorce from the comfort surrounding their persons, forced out by night to wander through dark ways, to dare stress of weather, to contend with the snow-blast, to wait at lonely gates and stiles in wilder storms, watching and listening to sea and hear the father, the son, the husband coming home—Charlotte Bronte.

About Coquetry.

Men, said Victor Hugo, are women's playthings, women the devils; and it was somebody we do not know who said that "women know a point more than the devil." Life, said Addison, is not long enough for a coquette to play all her tricks in, and the poet would perhaps have faltered in this saying. "A coquette is a woman who places her honor in a lottery, ninety-nine chances to one that she will lose it."

IT'S THE TERROR OF ALL WOMEN.

Backache Quickly Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mrs. W. H. Ambrose tells how her pains vanished never to return when she used the Great American Kidney Remedy.

Dover, Ky., Feb. 13th.—(Special)—So long has Backache been the bane of the women of America that the numerous reports of the complete and permanent cures of this ailment now being made by Dodd's Kidney Pills are causing wide satisfaction and not the least remarkable of these cures is that of Mrs. W. H. Ambrose of this place. Mrs. Ambrose says,

"I had such pains in my back at times I could hardly move and other symptoms showed that my kidneys were affected. One box of Dodd's Kidney Pills drove away all the pains and I have no more trouble since."

Cost of Capital Punishment.

France was on the verge of abolishing capital punishment because of the expense. Yet the salaries of the executioner and his assistants amount to only $8,500 a year, with fees of $4 for each execution outside of Paris, and its cost $300 a year to "stable" the guillotine.

WOMEN WHO CHARM

HEALTH IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL

It Helps Women to Win and Hold Men's Admiration, Respect and LoveWoman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect, and love.
There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

Mrs. Charles E. Brown

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study.

painful or irregular menstruation,
headache or backache, secure Lydia E.

Mothers' Club, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:For nine years I dragged through a miserable existence, suffering with inflammation and swelling of the womb, and worn out with pain and weariness. One day noticed a statement by a woman suffering as I was, but who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I wasAt the end of three months I was a different woman. Every one remarked about it, and my Lord Bacon on Tall Men.

When King James asked Lord
Bacon one day what he thought of the new French ambassador, Bacon answered evasively that he was a tall and thin man. "Yes," continued James, "but what do you think of the headpiece?" "Sure," said the ever-all-wise, "are like high horses who run neck-in-the-neck the upper most you can see with I turn bed."

Deserted Assistance.

A friendly fire brigade recently perceived that a neighboring town was being swept by a big fire, hurried over and helped to beat out the fury of the flame.When the local fire chief came up and formally added the result of the long battle. "Come now, is this your fire or is it ours?"

Irish Inscription.

In the old court house at Kilkelty, Ireland, is a stone with the following inscription: "Here lie the remains of John Nichols, who died in Philadelphia, March, 1781. Had he lived he would have been buried here."

WAS CURED RAPIDLY

RHEUMATISM IN TWO SEVERE CASES MASTERED IN FEW WEEKS.The Remedy Used by Mr. Schreppel and by Captain L. L. Lafford in Great Demand in Vicinity of Their Homes.In the winter of 1902-3 Mr. Schreppel was confined to his bed by a severe attack of rheumatism. His doctor's treatment proved unsuccessful, but he subsequently regained his health by means which he describes with great enthusiasm."After five or six weeks of helplessness and pain," said he, "during which I was receiving regular visits from the doctor, I felt as bad as ever. Just then my mother, a woman eighty years of age, paid me a visit. She had received great benefit from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and she was confident they would help me. At her solicitation I gave up the doctor's treatment and took the pills in its place.""And were you cured as the result of taking her advice?""Yes, quickly and thoroughly. Before the second box was finished I felt very manifest improvement, and within two weeks I was able to leave my bed and take up my neglected farm work. I continued to use the pills, however, until eight boxes had been taken, although long before that I felt that every vestige of the disease had been eradicated.

"Are there no traces left?"

"Absolutely none. For a year and three months there has never been the slightest return of the old trouble. For this happy result I and my family freely praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."Within the bounds of Custer township, St. Clair county, Mich., there is no better known farmer than Mr. Henry Schreppel. His cure has therefore naturally attracted a great deal of attention. One of Mr. Schreppel's neighbors, Captain George Balfour, after learning of the valuable results in Mr. Schreppel's case, decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for an attack of rheumatism from which he was himself suffering. He took eight or ten boxes and now declares himself free from the painful ailment."It is little wonder that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are much in favor in the community where Mr. Schreppel and Captain Balfour are so well and favorably known. They are sold by all druggists and are equally successful in curing neuritis, sciatica and partial paralysis.

THE LAMENT

By PERCY BYSSHE SHELLEY

Swifter far than summer's flight,
Swifter far than youth's delight,
Swifter far than happy night,
Art thou come and gone;

As the earth when leaves are dead,
As the night when sleep is sped,
As the heart when joy is fled,
I am left alone, alone.

The swallow, Summer, comes again;
The owl, Night, resumes her reign;
But the wild swan, Youth, is fain
To fly with thee, false as thou.

My heart each day desires the morrow;
Sleep itself is turned to sorrow;
Vainly would my Winter borrow Sunny leaves from any bough.

Lilles for a bridal bed,
Roses for a matron's head,
Violets for a maiden dead—
Pansies let my flowers be;

On the living grave I bear,
Scatter them without a tear,
Let no friend, however dear,
Waste one hope, one fear for me.

OLD BOSTON WHIPPING POST

Instrument of Punishment Had Permanent Position Near Famous State House.

Fresh impetus has been given to the discussion of President Roosevelt's recommendation of the establishment of a whipping post in the District of Columbia by the report of the Washington grand jury indorsing the president's recommendation, and in the action of prominent citizens of Boston favoring the re-establishment in that city of its famous whipping post.

Colonel Treat Fahey, an eminent should be given a taste of the rods

LEARNED LESSON TOO WELL.

Customer of Book Agent Had Read Up on Etiquette.

Henry James, the novelist, who,
after an absence of twenty years, has returned to the United States, tells of a book agent driving many miles to a farmhouse where on a previous occasion he had sold a book. He found the daughter at home and discussed fluently and impressively on the merits of his book. For each chapter he had a word of commendation. The pictures received detailed explanations. When he had concluded his argument and stated the financial proposition the girl opened her mouth reluctantly and said: "Papa brought that book home with him the day before yesterday." After the agent had exhausted his supply of polite yet emphatic words and condemned the girl for letting him discourse when his time was so valuable, the daughter ventured the following explanation: "Sir, last year you sold me a book on etiquette. That book says that the art of being agreeable consists in knowing how to be a good listener. I did not wish to be discourteous."

The Woman and the Dog.

If the average Belgian farmer were deprived of the services of his wife and dog he would soon succumb. The women and dogs do very nearly a full half of all the work done on the farm.
Here on cold days when an overcoat and gloves are very highly appreciated by a pedestrian taking a brisk walk, on all sides are seen women working like beavers in the fields weeding turnip fields, hoeing out potatoes, doing all sorts of work. In some instances, the man is by her side, but she is generally alone, excepting for the companionship of from one to four or five little "tots," boys or girls, who gather up the potatoes or pile up the weeds.

Not Information to Her.

Senator Nelson W. Aldrich was traveling from Providence to his summer place at Warwick a while ago, and as the train was somewhat crowded he sat down beside a bright little girl of about eight years who went to and from school on the line five times a week. She was a pretty blue-eyed, fair-haired little thing and the senator,
by way of pleasant conversation remarked: "What pretty eyes you have."

The small damsel looked at him calmly and responded, "So I've been told before." The conversation stopped right there.—New York Times.

SLOWEST OF ALL ANIMALS.

Scientists Unanimously Award Palm

to the Loris.

Scientists say that the slowest-moving mammal in existence is the slow-paced loris, an animal more or less closely allied to the monkeys. Its technical name is "hyenochus tardigradus," the last part of which might be translated "lazy-footed." One of them, when timed, took exactly thirty-two minutes and three seconds in moving across a space of four feet toward a roach that it was endeavoring to capture. The animal belonged to an Asian genus that extends from Java and Sumatra through Borneo and quite possibly some of the Philippine islands through parts of Hindustan.
When its progress was timed, it advanced "within ten or twelve inches of its quarry, rested upon its hands drew its hind feet gradually forward until almost under its breast, very slowly and cautiously raised itself upright into a standing position, balancing awkwardly with uplifted arms, and then threw itself bodily—not upon the insect, which was off like an arrow from a Tartar's bow, but upon the spot the roach had occupied half a second before."

Strengthening the Nerves.

Self-control or nerve force is the great lesson of health, and, therefore of life itself. To understand how to relax is to understand how to strengthen nerves. Heavy laughter is a source of relaxation, as are also all the thoughts, as those of hope, beauty, trust or love. Relaxation is found in diversion. An occasional outing or holiday is necessary. As there are conscious and unconscious thoughts there are conscious and unconscious nerve tension. Women when shor-ping do not know the very tight they give their nerves until, on reaching home their hands fall relaxed in the laps and they say they are so tired.—Health Culture.
