SOUGHT DEATH AND FOUND IT

MISS OLIVE SHEPARD DIED FRIDAY BY HER OWN HAND.

Whole Community Surprised and Shocked at Rash Deed.

Our entire community was unexpectedly shocked Saturday morning to learn that one of its respected and well known older residents, Miss Olive Shepard, had passed into eternity by her own act on the previous night. The terrible fact was so hard to reconcile with the entire life and character of the deceased that the many friends of the unfortunate lady refused to believe it until they could no longer avoid doing so.

Early Friday evening, March 24, Mrs. Gorman, who shared Miss Shepard's home, went out for an hour or two and on her return found her sister so frightfully ill that she hurriedly telephoned for her physician Dr. J. M. Burgess, who at once pronounced it a case of strychnine poisoning. He summoned his son, Dr. Claude Burgess, to his assistance, but nothing could be done and the end came about nine o'clock, shortly after the arrival of the physicians.

It is generally believed that a spinal and nervous trouble of long standing which had for years caused Miss Shepard to suffer constantly and often intensely must, with her advancing years, have slightly unbalanced her naturally strong mentality and, coupled with domestic difficulties and the cares of her financial affairs, forced her into a morbid state of mind which made possible an act so utterly at variance with her normal character and long Christian life. Those who had known her during the thirty-seven years she has passed in Northville can find no other solution of the deed possible.

Among her effects was found a sealed letter to her physician and valued friend, Dr. Burgess, which she states explains the reasons which, to her, probably seemed sufficient for thus rashly compelling the gates of death to swing aside and liberate her from the life she had come to regard as an unendurable prison.

The deceased was 67 years of age and is survived by the sister mentioned and two brothers who reside in Battle Creek.

The funeral services, conducted by Rev. W. G. Stephens of the Methodist church of which Miss Shepard had long been a communicant, were held from the late home Monday afternoon and were largely attended. Five or six members of the Woman's Relief Corps to which she belonged, were present in a body and formed in line on each side of the walk as the casket was carried from the house. The interment was in the family lot in Rural Hill cemetery.

"Good Roads" Amendment.

By a unanimous vote the legislature has submitted a constitutional amendment to be voted on next Monday, which means everything to the cause of good roads in this state. Michigan's share of the proposed national appropriation for road building would be $702,000, but if the amendment fails to carry this money if appropriated would go to other states, as without slight change in Section 9, Article 19, of the constitution the state cannot engage in highway improvement. The amendment consists in the insertion of the words "In the improvement of or aiding the improvement of the public wagon roads," in the clause defining the state's powers in regard to internal improvements. Voters should not forget to vote on this important question Monday.

The Next Sheriff.

The voters of Wayne county have had ample opportunity since last fall of realizing the mistake they made in not nominating and electing George Beck to the important office of sheriff when he and a great many others wanted them to, and according to all present indications they are going to rectify that mistake next Monday. Mr. Beck's record will bear any degree of investigation and points unmistakably to the fact that if he is given a chance he will make a sheriff that the county can be proud of.

A Worthy Candidacy.

The vote given at the primaries for Judge Mandell demonstrated conclusively that his record on the circuit court bench has been such as to merit his continuance in the position, and his occupancy of it has demonstrated still more conclusively that the people cannot afford to lose his services yet. He has proven himself a much more than ordinarily competent jurist and the voters who gave him the chance to show no satisfaction in his legal caliber should rally to his support and insure the county the use of his abilities still longer.

IS RIGHT MAN IN RIGHT PLACE

JUDGE FLAVIUS L. BROOKE AN IDEAL CANDIDATE.

Should Surely Be Retained in Circuit Judgeship.

Of the many able men who have served Wayne county as jurists none has won a more enviable place in public opinion than Flavius L. Brooke. During his four years' incumbency he has shown not only a thorough legal equipment and a strong and rapid grasp of the claims of justice under all circumstances, but has administered that justice with such obvious and convincing sincerity as to make even his adverse decisions command the respect of those who least desired to commend them.

His courteous and unassuming manner, his friendly remembrance of the people he meets in a business way—and does not forget as soon as election is over—and his painstaking and minute investigation of the facts in all cases coming under his care, are a few of the many good things about Judge Brooke that have made him such a favorite with the law-loving public and with all others with whom he comes in contact.

Both by nature and education Judge Brooke is a jurist. He is one who was both born and made for the work and his hosts of friends should look well to it that his unusual gifts in this direction are secured to this county as long as possible and not, as at the primaries, allow their knowledge of his undisputed popularity to make them overconfident. Amid the inevitable dust and disturbance of a bout in the political arena not even such a candidacy as his can safely be trusted to take care of itself.

The Judge has a lot of friends in Northville, both among those who have had business in the courts and those who have served as circuit court jurors, who are anxious to see him a winner. One particular instance of his ability and fair-mindedness was shown in his portion of the affairs of the old Globe Furniture Company of this place, which has before been referred to in this column, which is only one of many cases that might be cited in illustration of the judge's strict adherence to what his judgment dictates as the right course, and repeated tests have shown that his opinions are surely to be relied upon. And all the while he has been making this enviable reputation in matters of law and equity, Judge Brooke has at the same time by reason of his admirable personality been making personal friends by scores, who will not forget him on election day.

In the prime of his life and usefulness, with an unblemished personal and professional record behind him and a future as promising as more than ordinary intellectual force and a talent for his chosen calling almost amounting to genius can make it. It is only fair to himself and the county that he should ask for the well-deserved endorsement of a re-election. The Wayne bench certainly cannot afford to spare Flavius L. Brooke if it can keep him. He is a growing man and added years and experience will continually increase his usefulness and popularity.

Methodist Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)

The Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. Mary Wilkinson Wednesday afternoon.

There will be a meeting of the official Board Monday evening at 7.30 in the Chapel. A good attendance is desired.

Services next Sunday morning and evening by the pastor. A large attendance is desired. Everyone will be made welcome.

Our Sunday afternoon service was one of much profit. The young men from Detroit who had charge of the meeting were much in earnest. The laymen have an important place to fill in the evangelization of the world. Some are filling it.

We were at Plymouth Wednesday to perform the solemn duty of preaching the funeral sermon of Mrs. Jessie Shafer whom we had the pleasure of receiving into church membership. She was very kind and helpful, true and loyal to her Savior and greatly loved her church.

Suburban News.

Mr. Poet is a New Boston farmer. He was born a Poet and made a farmer.

Pontiac has a society called the "Lady Buffaloes." They of course dress in Buffalo robes.

Oxford Methodists celebrated the 68th anniversary of the organization of their church March 19 and 20 with largely attended services.

Daniel Webster is a Pontiac drayman. He has not yet developed any special talent for law or oratory, although his delivery is excellent.

Ann Arbor electors have decided that the high school district shall be bonded in the sum of $200,000 to erect a new school building to replace the one burned last winter.

An Orion gentleman has a cake of maple sugar, which he made 55 years ago. That must be even older than some of the "first of the season" which you can (but don't like to) buy from the guileless grocer or the faithful farmer.

Holly Gremen gave their twelfth annual ball last week and among the wall decorations were ladders, buckets and hose as especially appropriate. All the ladies and most of the gentlemen also wore hose in honor of the occasion.

A new danger confronts those supposed fortunate people who can have furnaces and things. A furnace in an Ann Arbor home exploded last week, wrecked itself and surroundings and did hundreds of dollars' worth of damage. Fortunately no one was killed or injured.

Oxford boasts of an eighty year old lady who gets her washing out on the line every Monday morning at five o'clock, and the Leader propounds a conundrum as to whether "many present day ladies can do as much." "Sure Mike," but they won't. They're too sensible and broodies they don't like to work on Sundays. But that's a remarkably "hip" old girl just the same.

"Parsifal" in English at the Detroit Opera House.

No muddled event in recent years has stirred the public of Detroit and its surrounding towns to such intense enthusiasm as the coming presentation of Henry W. Savage's majestic production of Richard Wagner's "Parsifal" in English, at the Detroit Opera House for one week, commencing Monday, April 10, and matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. Every important railroad and traction line leading into the city is arranging special rates, and large opera parties from adjacent towns are making extensive reservations of the seats. It seems as if the entire section of the country within a radius of 150 miles of Detroit has gone "Parsifal" mad. Too much cannot be said of the excellence of Mr. Savage's production of Wagner's masterpiece, and when one considers the fact that the engagement affords the only opportunity to hear the great work in English, he ceases to wonder at the popular were aroused by the bare announcement of its presentation. Mr. Savage's company is the original and positively the only organization presenting "Parsifal" in English.

It is well known that this production must have cost a good many thousands of dollars before the curtain rose on the first performance and that the running expenses, from the very nature of the production, must be the largest of any theatrical enterprise now on the stage. The initial expense of producing "Parsifal" in English was something over $70,000. The running expenses, which means salary list wear and tear of properties, and scenery and transportation, amounts to about $15,000 a week. The total number of people carried on the road is 260. To transport the scenery and company there is needed a special train of ten cars and in its traveling the company uses this special wherever it goes, for the nature of the production is such that it must be independent of regular railway schedules. The sale of seats and boxes for the week's engagement at the Detroit Opera House, Detroit, opens at 9 a. m. at the box office of the theatre on Thursday, April 6th. Orders by mail, accompanied by certified check or mail orders, will be filled in order of their receipt. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for return of your tickets. The scale of prices for the "Parsifal" (in English) Festival performance is as follows: $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $1.50 and $1.00 according to the location of seats.

HOT DRINKS FOR SUMMER.

Doctor Considers Important Subject in the Matter of Diet.

A medical practitioner has drawn attention in the London Chronicle to a very important subject in the matter of diet. He points out that the stoker grilling in the stovehole of a Red sea liner and the explorer among the ice floes of the frozen North—provided they are healthy men—have identical temperatures. The automatic heat regulating mechanism in the body, no matter what the thermometer may register outside, sees that the body is kept at a normal temperature of about 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit. In order to assist this wonderful process in extremes of weather, it is necessary to consider the subject of food, and one of the most important items of food in hot weather is water. Water, as the writer points out, is a food, and it should be taken in summer weather as a regular article of diet. The habit of drinking iced water is discountenanced, and the tea cream is barred as the most fruitful cause of innumerable dyspepsias. Better than cold drinks are hot drinks, and tea with a slice of lemon is recommended as the most cooling drink in hot weather.

FAKE TOOTH WAS VALUABLE.

Enabled Missionary to Gain Influence Over Savage Tribe.

A well-known Church of England missionary among the aborigines of Queensland, Australia, gained great influence over a certain tribe in a very peculiar manner.

This tribe had the queer custom of having the front tooth of the upper jaw knocked out. The missionary, by accident had lost this same tooth and replaced it by a false one. When he got talking with the aborigines he would pull it out, point to the hollow place, and say, "Me, brother, belong to you."

In this way he gained the complete confidence of the tribe, converted every member of it to Christianity, and introduced as much civilization as they were capable of assimilating.

Mrs. GEO. TRYON, of WESTPORT, Leeds Co., Tells a marvelous story.

SHE SAYS:—For fifteen years I had suffered agonies from Muscular Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver troubles. I had lost the use of my left arm entirely, could not raise it up at all. Then it went into my right arm until I was almost helpless—could not dress myself without assistance. My feet pained me so that I was nearly a cripple. I found it difficult at times to get around. Very often I had to sleep sitting up on an armchair. The pain was so intense that I could not sleep in bed.

I tried everything in the medicine line I could think of and was also treated by several doctors, but they did me very little good. I had given up in despair when one of our neighbors called on me and said that he had just taken the agency for a medicine which he thought would cure me. He said that if I tried it, he would do me good. He would refund my money. I knew him to be a respectable man, so I took a box of "RIVAL HERB TABLETS" on his word.

I have only used one box of the tablets and I feel perfectly well. I can walk and use my arms as well as I ever could. In fact, I feel twelve years every day. I can't speak too highly of your medicine, and I am sure that word I am saying is true. My case has been a great advertisement for you, agent in the locality and I am glad of it. My appetite is good, I sleep well and have a pain or ache. My object in writing this letter is to benefit others who are suffering as I did.

We have thousands of testimonials from reliable people all over Canada and the U. S. A. whom "RIVAL HERB TABLETS" have cured of:

Rheumatism, Constipation, Backache, Poor Digestion, Failing Appetite, Heart Trouble, Headache, Female Weakness, Nervous Disorders, Catarrh and all Skin and Blood Diseases.

NO ESCAPE FROM FATE.

Man of Overmuch Prudence the Play-thing of Disaster.

"These railway disasters," my courage "ermasters" said he: "I won't ride on the train," and starting to travel, over concrete and gravel, fell and broke a large hole in his brain.

"These steamboat explosions" all me with commotions; I will walk if it takes me a week." So he walked all vacation, but nervous prostration completely broke down his physique.

"I wouldn't ride in a phaeton, not if it should weigh a ton; if you ride behind horses you're dead." Then a cyclone came whirling; his house started twirling and thundering down on his head.

"I won't ride a bicycle, break bones like an icicle, and go to those hospital cubs." Then a bicycle-rider, a wheelman named Snyder, rode against him and broke in his ribs.

Then the surgeon inspected his backbone deflected, and found that his back had been split; but young Mr. Snyder, the bicycle-rider—wax, he wasn't injured a bit.

"In no church congregation I'd take up my station—a church may burn down in a minute." But that night a dire unquenchable fire burned down his own house and him in it—London Tit-Bits.

THE FRAME'S THE THING.

Picture But of Secondary Importance in Some Eyes.

Mortimer Menpes, the author of the entertaining biography of Whistler that recently appeared, was talking about the frame's importance to a picture.

"This importance," he said, "no one but a frame maker can exaggerate, and even he cannot exaggerate it very much. There was a good deal of truth in the remark that my frame-maker made to me at one of our last exhibitions.

"He had done me the honor to come to see my picture, and, as he stood before it, I said:

"Well, Horne, what do you think of it?" "Think of it?" he cried, enthusiastically, "why, sir, it's perfect—perfect. Mr. Blank," he went on, "has got one just like it."

"What?" I said, puzzled. "Blank has a picture like this?"

"Oh," said Horne, "I wasn't talking about the picture. I was talking about the frame. Trust me, sir, the frame is the important thing. It's the frames that sell 'em, every time."

Scared the Englishmen.

Two "Colorado beetles" recently caused palpitation of the heart in certain agricultural and scientific circles in England, for a number of worthy gentlemen saw ruined crops and national calamity staring the country in the face until the matter was explained to them. A well-dressed woman called at the Hereford free library and handed an assistant a small, round wooden box, saying that it contained "two Colorado potato bugs" which might be of use to the museum. Knowing the ravages these insects made among potato crops, the librarian informed the chief constable who in turn informed the board of agriculture. Two government inspectors hurried from London and, with the royal police, made diligent inquiries for the mysterious woman who had left the beetles. Finally the mystery was solved. A young man called at the free library and said that the beetles were left by a Mrs. Knotter of Rhode Island. Mrs. Knotter had brought five specimens of the beetle from America as curiosities. Three of them died and the remaining two were taken by her to the free library.

Stylish Women Not Modest.

According to a leading dressmaker of Boston the once sensational "peek-a-boo waist" must give place in transparency to a lace novelty which is now much favored by stylish women in eastern cities. Says this modiste: "Really, some of the work I am obliged to turn out makes me feel like a promoter of immorality. People in my line of business are not easily shocked but, upon my word, at times my sense of modesty has nearly come to me to offer patrons the shelter of an opera cape. My attempts at toning down their ideals have met with ridicule or haughty protest and some of them have even left my establishment in anger because of my protests."

Holiday of Russian Servants.

Every other Sunday the servants in a Russian household are entirely free. Their work stops Saturday night after supper, when the servants leave the house, not to return until the next Monday morning. The employers never ask where or how we free time is spent.

Has Narrow Financial Margin.

The laws of Russia pertaining to banking are very severe. A merchant in Russia can be declared bankrupt if his liabilities exceed $772 and he has not the ready cash to meet them. He can be arrested, and his retention depends on the good will of his creditors.

Overheard at the Furrier's.

"Obsequious Clerk—"Of course, madam, I can't sell you a tail like the one you have on at the same price."—Woman's Home Companion.

Aid to Agriculture.

The Bulgarian government has appropriated the sum of $250,000 for the purchase of modern agricultural machines and implements.

Polite to the End.

One of the most famous criminals the old Tombs has held in many years has just been placed in his cell. The delinquent in this case has always been friendly with the newspaper men, and when he was arrested several of the reporters who had known him hastened to the Tombs, confident of obtaining an interview. He refused to be seen, and his message to them, which is a tradition of the Tombs, was eminently characteristic: "Tell them," he said to the warden, "that I am not in."

Real Wealth.

There is no wealth but life—life, including all its powers of love, of joy and of admiration. That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy human beings; that man is richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has also the widest helpful influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others. —John Ruskin.

Makes Fortune on Diamond.

The famous diamond, Star of South Africa, belonged originally to a Dutch doctor. A farmer named Nieuwoudt traded a wagon and several oxen for it, and sold it for $57,600.

Memorials to Americans.

Many American boys and girls visit Europe nowadays, but perhaps few even of these fortunate young folk are aware that the greatest of English cities contains memorials to five distinguished Americans—a President, a patriot, a poet, a preacher, and a philanthropist. These five great men are Abraham Lincoln, James Russell Lowell, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Matthew Simpson and George Peabody—five names written high in the Hall of Fame, names immortal in life and letters, names forever illustrious in character and achievement. —St. Nicholas.

Persian Remedy for Extortion.

They have curious methods in Persia of insuring law and order. A failure of the crops had resulted in a dear loaf, which much enraged the populace. In order to quell the tumult the Shah ordered a number of bakers to receive several hundred strokes with a rod, besides a few minor little attentions, such as the amputation of an ear or two.

Moon Can Turn Meat.

From time immemorial the moon has been popularly credited with the power of turning raw meat bad, and Mr. F. T. Bullen in the "Sunday at Home," asserts that there is truth in the belief.

Objected to a Ride.

An old colored woman slipped and fell on the sidewalk way out in Indiana avenue last night. Two patrolmen hurried to her assistance, got her on her feet and prepared to take her in a nearby store. The old woman was very much excited as she was being assisted along. "See heah, Miss Philemon," she cried, "don't you go fuh to sen' fur no avalanche! I ain't done hurt bad enuf fur no avalanche!" So no avalanche was sent for, and friends took her home—Indianapolis News.

About Books.

But for the art of reading, there never would have been any books. The wide diffusion of that art accounts for the immense increase in the quantity of books. The lack of direction cultivation and discrimination of that art accounts for the decline in the quality of books. Like readers like authors. The great need of the world of letters is the promotion of the habit of reading with judgment and the love of reading with taste.—Henry van Dyke.

India's Coal Output.

The output of coal in India has increased sixfold since 1880. It now exceeds 6,000,000 tons a year, and the supply is considered practically inexhaustible.

The March weather this year has been anything but ideal for the maple sugar makers, who are now complaining that the season has been all too short for profitable business in that line. The necessary frosty nights for good "run" have been lacking.

Twenty of our young ladies forgot—on purpose—that "1905" is not divisible by four, and invited a score of their young men friends to a delightful little dance "from 5 to 12" in the library last week, the hostesses paying all expenses, despite protests. The entertainers were mostly members of the high school and Miss Lou Young, teacher of the eighth grade, acted as chaperon.

Berne Schoonover of Rochester, an employe at the Hall-Carr factory was seriously hurt Monday by being drawn into an automatic lathe by his sleeve catching in the machine. The presence of mind and quick action of Foreman Axford, who instantly cut the young man's clothing loose, saved Schoonover's life. Some deep gashes were cut in the victim's head and face.

Eight "traveling men" were entertained at the municipal hotel by Marshal Taft Sunday night. They were "allowed" to do what odd jobs could be found for them around the establishment before their departure in the morning. Unquestionably the town was at least as safe with that number of "transients" under lock and key as it would have been with them left to their own devices.

The will of Miss Olive Shepard which was filed for probate Tuesday makes her sister, Mrs. A. A. Gorham the largest beneficiary giving her $1,500 and one-half the residue of the estate. It hardly looks like just the right thing to see quantities of groceries shipped into Northville that have been bought by our citizens from traveling solicitors, as was done last week. It doesn't help or boom our home town a bit to patronize big wealthy dealers somewhere else who would not, if asked, give a cent toward anything for the improvement or benefit of our village.
