ANNUAL MEETING AND ELECTION

LADIES' LIBRARY ASSOCIATION HELD ONE FRIDAY

Slight Decrease in Membership the Past Year.

The Ladies' Library Association of Northville held its annual election in the library last Friday afternoon, choosing the following officers and trustees for the ensuing year:

President—Della F. Harmon.
Vice President—Prudence Clark.
Secretary—Mary L. Ambler.
Treasurer—Ida E. Joslin.
Trustees for two years: Minnie M. Hutton, Camilla A. Dubvar and Sarah Parsons.

The trustees who compose the remainder of the board are Mesdames, Klutze Harmon, Frances Horton and Sophia Benton.

The annual report of the secretary, Mrs. Ambler, showed that the number of membership cards sold during the year was 107, number of books of 100, and the number of extra books taken 102. The library has been open to the public every Saturday afternoon and evening during the year. A few extracts from the report of the secretary are worthy of the careful notice of all public spirited residents of our village. "Speaking for the board of managers, we have held a meeting the first Saturday in every month, and we feel that we have looked carefully after the best interests of the library. It has been our purpose to legislate for its development and growth, and so want each subscriber to feel, as we do, that it should be given the hearty support of every citizen of Northville. In ranking our summary for the year this last confrontation, compared with last year there is a loss in membership of seven. Why is this? The names of many new subscribers appear on our books, can it be that our old friends are leaving us? We hope for their speedy return. The library needs their patronage and assistance as well as ours."

The report of the treasurer summarizes as follows:

Items	pts
Membership cards	$73.00
Fines	10.40
Extra books	8.10
Paid for damage to book	25
Relate outgo	25
Light	20.00
For candles, not	42.69
for building	22.50
Total	$177.09
Disbursements
For books	$10.00
For	15.50
For	15.10
For	4.10
For	31.60
For	14.28
Total	$130.50

Besides this, the association still has an indebtedness of $45.59 for histories and novels, which is to be paid in installments. When it is considered that the ladies who have so faithfully managed the affairs of this excellent institution have no compensation except the consciousness of doing a work of incalculable benefit to our town, and that they are under no more obligation to give their time and energies in this direction than any other public spirited residents, it must occur to every thoughtful person that the ladies are doing rather more than their share and that every citizen of Northville who cares for the uplifting and development of our standard of public intelligence ought to lose no opportunity to have a part in such a work. If our people could be made to feel an interest in the institution commensurate to its value as an educational

Methodist Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

There will be no preaching service in our church Sunday evening.

Our friends will kindly remember that the Ladies' Aid have a bazaar at Mr. Price's store on Saturday. Don't neglect to call on them.

Our Thursday evening meeting continues to grow in numbers and interest. It is gratifying to see the interest our young people are taking in the meetings.

Another Children's day is past and gone. A good program well rendered, a large and appreciative audience, beautiful decorations and a good collection for educational purposes were the pleasing features of the service.

Old People's day will be observed next Sunday morning. All who can are cordially invited to come and enjoy the service. Those having convalesces will kindly see that our aged friends are brought. We hope all will help to make it a memorable time.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

The treasurer of the missionary societies of our church has sent away $22 this quarter.

The missionary tea held at Mrs. Gilbert's on Tuesday was very largely attended and all present greatly enjoyed the occasion.

Services next Sunday at the usual hours. The baccalaureate sermon before the high school graduating class will be delivered in the evening.

Mrs. B. F. Graves, president of the Detroit Presbyterian Foreign Missionary society, gave an informal address at the meeting at Mrs. Gilbert's Tuesday afternoon, which was very much enjoyed.

Don't forget the 1/2 off sale at Mrs. F. Y. Coates' millinery store from June 19 to June 26.

Orion, also, will have a big Fourth of July celebration.

The Review says that Wayne has a new industry—a boat factory—as a man there is building a row boat for a couple of his fellow citizens. If he has only one boat to build his business will soon be oar.

"Dogs Must Pay License" is one of the head lines of an article on the local canine question in last week's Ypsilanti. It's all right to make the assertion but it falls to a cur to the thoughtful observer how they are going to make those dogs do it.

A new use for telephones has developed over in Oakland county. A lightning bolt struck a house the other day, coming down the chimney and from there jumping across the room to the hello machine and going out without making any particular fuss. Few people want to risk being spoke to in that way, however.

Wayne, Milford and Plymouth are all going to "whoop'er up" on the approaching national holiday in the regulation Fourth of July celebration style. It will be an embarrassment of recreation riches for the patriotic people of this section. We will all have trouble to decide which place to go.

The recent "door step-baby" excitement at Orion has led to a new style of joke over there; as per the following from the Review. "The excitement ran high in at least two Orion homes last Friday evening when baskets were found on their steps. Investigation proved both affairs to be fakes—the baskets being apparently fitted out with sleeping babies, but only sticks of stove wood nicely suited to give proper weight to the outfit were disclosed on removing the coverings from the basket."

Foreign Trade.

It is reported from Day City that contracts were closed last week between the industrial works of that city and the Belgium government for a seventy-five ton 1 meg power road wrecking train to be used on the Belgium government lines. The representative of the Belgium government was accompanied by these representatives of the French national railway directorate, and it is expected that contracts for wrecking train equipments with the railroads of France will be closed soon. On the day following the visit of the foreign representatives to the Michigan machine works an important order was received from the Panama canal commission. Evidently there is little need to worry over the question as to whether or not American industries will continue to secure foreign orders. Let it be seen to that home conditions remain satisfactory and American genius and American enterprise will take care of the foreign trade problem.

Revision of Constitution.

It will be pure a fair and thorough discussion of all the proposition involved to best prepare the voters of Michigan to vote intelligently on the question to be submitted in April next, as to whether or not a convention should be called to revise our state constitution. The constitution unquestionably needs revision but the chances are four to one that the action of the convention revising that faulty document would not later be approved by the people, as it would need to be before the work of the convention would have any effect. But however as to that, it is well that the question of holding a constitutional convention should be submitted and it may be best to have such a convention held and the desirable changes proposed whatever may be the final action of the voters in the matter of their adoption.

Difficult Entrance to Church. Perhaps the most remarkable place of worship is the Church of St. Gavan, on the coast of South Wales. The church is entirely surrounded by huge boulders, and access to it can only be had by ascending a number of crude steps cut out of the face of a rock. A Knight of the Round Table is said to have been buried within the precincts of St. Gavan.

Pawnee Bill in Detroit, June 26.

Two of the greatest struggles between nations in modern history, that of the Boers against the English and the Russians against the Japanese, are very graphically reproduced by the Pawnee Bill Historical Wild West and Great Far East that will be in Detroit on Monday, June 26.

No traveling amusement enterprise takes better care of its patrons than does Pawnee Bill's Historical Wild West and Great Far East.

There are no ticket speculators allowed on the grounds, consequently there is no advance in the price of tickets. On the day of the exhibition a down town ticket office is opened, where both admission and reserved seats may be obtained for the same price as sold on the grounds. Two ticket wagons are provided on the grounds so as to avoid confusion. At the red wagon general admission tickets may be purchased and at the white wagon the reserved chairs in the grand stand. One ticket takes the holder through every department and entitles him or her to a seat. Uniformed ushers are in attendance to care for ladies and children. So great have been the crowds attending this show daily that the management requests as far as possible that ladies and children attend the afternoon performance and avoid the rush at night.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: J. C. MISS ESTELLE CAMPBELL.

Miss Estelle Campbell, 140 N. High street, Nashville, Tenn., writes: "Peruna helped me when almost everything else failed. I was run down from overwork, as I had not been able to take a vacation for three years and naturally my nerves were all unstrung and I was greatly in need of rest and a tonic. I went away for two months, but did not seem to get my strength back, although I was taking a prescription which the doctor gave me before I went away. At the request of my relatives, with whom I was visiting, I began to use Peruna, and you cannot realize how glad I was when within a week I found I was feeling so much better. Inside of a month I was feeling splendidly, ready and able to take up my work again."—Estelle Campbell.

A Spring Tonic.

Almost everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question.

We have on file thousands of letters which testify to the curative and preventive value of Peruna in cases of nervous depression and run down condition of the system. We quote a typical case:

Mr. Frank Williams, 324 1/2 11th street, New York City, member First Presbyterian Church and Captain Capital Coal Co. writes: "Last spring I suffered with a run and a run down condition which seemed very difficult to overcome.

I tried several different tonics but did not seem to get much better until I began using Peruna. My recovery was slow, but I was improving and I was glad to continue using it.

"At the end of two months my health was restored and I looked and felt much better than I had for years. Your remedy is well worthy of a recommendation and I am pleased to give it mine."—Frank Williams.

Peruna never fails to prevent spring catarrh or nervous prostration, if taken in time.

Pe-ru-na is the Finest Tonic For a Weary Woman.

Miss L. Inez Silvera, 189 W. 136th street, New York City, Grand Recorder Daughters of American Independence, writes: "Nine years of work, without a vacation, wore out my nervous system. I lost my appetite and felt weak and exhausted nearly all the time. 'Peruna' restored me to perfect health in five weeks. It is the finest tonic for a weary woman that I know of. I gladly endorse it."—B. Inez Silvera.

Peruna is the most prompt and permanent cure for all cases of nervous prostration caused by systemic catarrh known to the medical profession.

MISS B. INEZ SILVERA.

Peruna Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature. All correspondence held strictly confidential.

Those Awful Ham Sandwiches.
The careful hostess happened casually to follow with her eyes a guest who had just taken a ham sandwich. As he took the first bite she noticed an expression on his face which she had not hitherto associated with the consumption of ham sandwiches, and her glance immediately ceased to be casual. The guest, unconscious of observation, made his way slowly but surely to the fire, and with infinite dexterity cast away the ham sandwich. In great agitation, the hostess watched the remaining sandwich, and with deepening emotion saw another and another guest execute the same maneuver. She had the rest of the sandwiches removed, and tried to forget them for the time being. Afterwards a searching investigation revealed the awful truth. One of her small children had abstracted all the ham from the sandwiches, and substituted pieces of an old red flannel garment carefully trimmed to sandwich size.—Exchange

Theodore's Black-Draught is the standard, never-failing remedy for stomach, bowel, liver and kidney troubles. It is a cure for the domestic ills which so frequently summon the doctor. It is good for children as it is for grown persons. DANVILLE, ILL., Dec. 23, 1902.
Theodore's Black-Draught has been our family doctor for five years and we want to say that when any of us feel badly we take a dose and are all right in twelve hours. We have spent lots of money for doctor bills, but get along just as well with Black-Draught. IRA H. BADER.

TWO OPEN LETTERS

IMPORTANT TO MARRIED WOMEN

Mrs. Mary Dimmick of Washington tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well.

It is with great pleasure we publish the following letters, as they convincingly prove the claim we have so many times made in our columns that Mrs.

Mrs. Mary Dimmick

Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., is fully qualified to give helpful advice to sick women. Read Mrs. Dimmick's letters.

Her first letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"I have been a sufferer for the past eight years with a trouble which first originated from a cold, but which has since become a permanent condition. I have tried every remedy, but have not been able to get well. I have been told that I should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have done so, and I am now entirely well. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I wish every suffering woman would read this letter and realize what you can do for them."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 504 and East Capitol Street, Washington, D. C.

Her second letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"You will remember my condition when I last wrote you, and that the doctor said I must have an operation, or I could not live. I received your kind letter, and followed your advice very carefully, and am now entirely well. As my case was so serious it seems a miracle that I am cured. I know that I owe not only my health but my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to your advice. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I wish every suffering woman would read this letter and realize what you can do for them."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 504 and East Capitol Street, Washington, D. C.

How easy it was for Mrs. Dimmick to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and how able it was for her to do so, is a fact which is very valuable to every woman. As Mrs. Dimmick says—'I owed her life.' Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of just such letters as the above, and offers aiding women helpful advice.

New York Street Specialists.

There are specialists of various sorts among the New York street merchants, men who sell collar buttons, men who sell shoe laces, and so on, but as odd a specialist as any is the man who sells 'small boys' (knee pants). He displays his wares in a basket on the edge of a downtown thoroughfare that leads to a big park, and he is for his trade on foot, and he is for his trade on foot, and he is for his trade on foot.

Olive Oil and Bruises.

In the treatment of contusions where there is extensive discoloration of the skin, if olive oil be freely applied without rubbing, the discoloration quickly will disappear. If the skin be broken, a little boracic acid should be applied over the abrasion. A black eye thus treated can be rendered normal in a few hours, especially if the oil be applied warm.—New York Review.

NAMES BEST DOCTOR

MR. BAYSSON PUBLISHES RESULTS OF VALUABLE EXPERIENCE.

A Former Prominent Doctor of the New Republic in the East, Dr. Baysson from Mexico of Indigestion.

Thousands of sufferers know that the reason why they are unable to digest food is that their food does not digest, but low to get rid of the difficulty is the puzzling question.

Good digestion calls for strong digestive organs, and strength comes from a supply of good rich blood. For this reason Mr. Baysson took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the cure of indigestion.

"They have been my best doctor," he says. "I was suffering from dyspepsia. The pains in my stomach after meals were almost unbearable. My sleep was very irregular and my complexion was sallow. As the result of using eight boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, about the merits of which I learned from friends in France, I have escaped all these troubles, and am able again to take pleasure in eating."

A very simple story, but if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it might have been a tragic one. When discomfort begins with eating, fills up the intervals between meals with pain, and prevents sleep at night, there certainly cannot be much pleasure in living. A final general breaking down must be surely a question of time.

Mr. Joseph Baysson is a native of Aix-les-Bains, France, but now resides at No. 2439 Larkin street, San Francisco, Cal. He is one of a great number who can testify to the remarkable efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of obstinate disorders of the stomach.

If you would get rid of nausea, pain or burning in the stomach, vertigo, nervousness, insomnia, or any of the other miseries of a dyspeptic, get rid of the weakness of the digestive organs by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are sold by druggists everywhere.

Proper diet is, of course, a great aid in forwarding recovery once begun, and a little book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," may be obtained by any one who makes a request for it by writing to the Dr. Williams Medical Co., Schenectady, N. Y. This valuable diet book contains an important chapter on the simplest means for the cure of constipation.

JOAN OF THE SWORD HAND

By S. R. CROCKETT, Author of "The Raiders," etc.

(Copyright, 1898, 1900, by S. R. Crockett.)

Suddenly there passed a wave over the people who crowded the spacious Dom Platz of Courtland. The many-headed, part-colored throng of women's tall coils, gay fluttering ribbons, men's velvet caps, gallants' white feathers that shifted like the permutation of a kaleidoscope, all at once fixed itself into a sea of white faces, from which presently arose a forest of arms, flourishing kerchiefs and tossing caps. To this succeeded a deep mouth-roar of burghensia welcome such as the reigning Prince had never heard raised in his own honor.

"Conrad—Prince Conrad! God bless our Prince-Cardinal!"

The legitimate ruler of Courtland, standing where Joan had left him, with his slim-waisted Muscovite mentor behind him, half turned to look.

And there on the highest place stood his brother in the scarlet of his new dignity as it had come from the Pope himself, his red biretta held in his hand, and his fair and noble head erect as he looked over the folk to where on the slope above the city gates he could still see the sun glint and sparkle on the cuirasses and lance heads of the four hundred riders of Kernsburg.

But even as the Prince of Courtland looked back at his brother, the whisper of the tempter smote the latter's ear.

"Had Prince Conrad been in your place and you behind the altar rails, think you that the Duchess Joan would have fled so cavalierly?"

By this time the young cardinal had descended till he stood on the other side of the Prince from Ivan of Muscovy.

"You take horse to follow your bride?" he queried, smiling. "Is it a fashion of Kernsburg brides thus to steal away?"

Louis of Courtland broke out in a sudden overbearing frown.

"This is your doing!" he cried. "I know it well. From her first coming my bride had set herself to scorn me. My sister knew it. You know it. You smile as if at a jest. You would have all—the love of my wife, the rule of my folk, as well as the acclaim of these city sages. Listen—The good Prince Conrad! God save the noble Prince! It is worth living for favor such as this."

"Brother of mine," said the young man gently, "as you know well, I never set eyes upon the noble Prince Joan before. Never spoke word with her, held no communication by word or pen."

"You were constantly with the old fox beneath the canopy of Muscovy, hurrying him from Kernsburg, bringing with him that slim secretary, by my faith, now, when I think of it, Prince Ivan told me last night he was as like the fox as a pig to a pea to pea!"

"Conrad told his lord. His brother had confidence gone, none but a traitor to betray him."

"Nay, deny it not! And smile no, then! At it! I will the symmetry of that face for your matrimony and progeny. Ay, if I have to underlie ten years' indenture for a room from the most holy Pot of Rome!"

"Do not fret! There is another church in my country, which will have no trencher upon you, Prince Louis," laughed Ivan of Muscovy. "But to horse—we lose time!"

"Brother," said the Cardinal, laying his hand on his brother's arm, "on my word as a knight—as a Prince of the church—I knew nothing of the matter. I cannot even guess what has led you thus to accuse me!"

The Princess Margaret came at that moment out of the cathedral and ran impetuously to her favorite brother.

He put out his hand. She took it, and instead of kissing his bishop's ring, as in strict etiquette she ought to have done she cried out, "Conrad, do you know what that glorious wench has done? Dared her husband's authority at the church door, leaped into the saddle, whistled up her men, cried to all these Courtland gallants, 'Catch me who can!' and lo! at this moment she is riding straight for Kernsburg, and now our Louis must catch her. A glorious wedding! I would I had been by her side."

"So, then, madam, you knew of this?" said her elder brother growling upon her from beneath his heavy brows.

"Nay!" trilled the gay Princess, "I only wish I had. Then I, too, would have been riding with them—such a jest as never was, it would have been. Good-bye, my forsaken brother! Joy be with you on this your bridal journey. Take Prince Ivan with you, and Conrad and I will keep the kingdom against your return with your prize gentled on your wrist."

So, smiling and kissing her hand, the Princess Margaret waved her brother and Prince Ivan off. The Muscovite turned often in his saddle as if to carry with him the picture she made of saucy countenance and dainty figure as she stood looking up into the face of the Cardinal Prince Conrad.

"What in heaven's name is the meaning of all this—I do not understand in the least!" he was saying.

"Haste, Ivan, and unrobe, Brother Conrad," she said; "this grandeur of yours daunts me. Then, in the summer parlor, I will tell you all!"

"I cannot go back to Courtland dishonored," said Prince Louis to Ivan of Muscovy, as they stood on the green bank looking down on the rushing river, broad and brown, which had so lately been the Fords of Alla. The river had risen almost as if seemed upon the very heels of the four hundred horsemen of Kernsburg, and the ironclad knights and men-at-arms who followed the Prince of Courtland could not face the reasty swirl of the flood.

Prince Ivan stood a moment silent. Then his eyes glanced over his companion with a certain severe and amused curiosity. If there was anything so contemptuous as that eye-blink in the open scorn of all the burghers of Courtland, Prince Louis was to be excused for any hesitation in facing his subjects.

The matter of Prince Wasp's meditation ran somewhat thuswise: "Thou man, fashioned from a scullion's nail paring, and cowed upon a horse, what can I make of thee? Thou, to have a couple, a crown, a wife! Gudgeon eats stickleback, jack-pike eats gudgeon and grows fat, till at the last the surgeon in his armour cuts him. I will fatten this jack. I will feed him like the hound of Kernsburg and Robert Lord, dined with a dainty of indeed black-tipped, with sleeves gay as cranes' wings, and answering to the name of 'my lady Joan. But wait—I must be wary, and have a care! I shadow his water!"

So saying within his heart, Prince Wasp became exceedingly thoughtful and of a demure countenance.

"My lord," he said, "this day's work will not go well down in Courtland, I fear me!"

Prince Louis started quickly as the Wasp's sting touched him.

"And, pray, Prince Ivan," he said, "what could I have done but behave left undone? Speak plainly, so you are so puffed of snails' suppers, so witty with covert words and should deride tipping!"

"My lord," said Prince Wasp, laying his hand upon the arm of his companion with an adulation of tenderness, "I think you not—I rock, you not. And if I speak harshly, it is only that I love you to see you in your turn shouted, mocked, scorned, made light of before your own people."

"Ever since I came first to Courtland with the not dishonorable hope of carrying back to my father a princess of your house, not a mere daughter, but a daughter of your house, I have been even as David and Jonathan."

The Prince Louis put out a hand which apparently Ivan did not see, for he continued without taking it.

"Yes, what have I gained either of solid good or even of the lighter but not less agreeable matter of my lady's favor? So far as your sister is concerned, I have wasted my time. If I consider a union of our peoples, already one in heart, your brother works against us both; the Princess Margaret despises me, Prince Conrad thwarts us."

"I think not so," answered Prince Louis—"I cannot think so of my brother, with all his faults. Conrad is a brave soldier, a good knight, though, as is the custom of our house, it is his lot to be no more than a prince-bishop!"

The Wasp laughed a little, laugh clear and inhuman as the snap and rattle of Spanish castanets.

"Louis, my good friend, your simplicity, your lack of guile, do you wrong, most grievously! You judge others as you yourself are. Do you not see that Conrad, your brother, must pay for his red hat? He must earn his cardinalate. And the clear ambition of your brother is to make you chief cat's-paw pontifical. Consider it, good Louis!"

And the Prince of Muscovy twirled his moustache and smiled condescendingly between his fingers. Then, as if he thought suddenly of something else, and made a new calculation, he laughed a laugh, quick and short as the bark of a dog.

"Hail!" he cried, "truly we order things better in my country. I have brothers, one, two, three. They are grand dukes, highnesses very serene. One of them has this province, another this shire, yet another waits for my father. My father dies—and I—well, I am in my father's place. What will my brothers do with their serene highnesses then? They will take each one of the clearest road and the shortest for the frontier, or by the Holy Icon of Moscow, there will very speedily be certain new tablets in the funeral vault of my fathers!"

The Prince of Courtland started.

"This thing I could never imagine of Conrad my brother. He loves me. He ever cared but for his books, and now that he is a priest he hath forsaken knighthood and tournaments and wars."

"Poor Louis," said Ivan, sadly, "not to see that once a soldier always a soldier. But 'tis a good fault, a generous blindness of the eyes. He hath already the love of your people. He has won already the voice that speaks from every altar and presbytery. In a little, when he has battered away your power for his cardinal's hat, he may be made a greater than yourself, an elector of the empire, the right-

FANS BROUGHT FROM ITALY.

English Traveler of 1608 Describes

Them as Curiosities.

The following description of fans by Thomas Coryat goes to prove that paper fans were not used in England at the time of his tour (1608), and that we borrowed them as well as forks from the Italians.

"Here I will mention a thing, that although perhaps it will seem but frivolous to divers readers that have already travelled in Italy, yet because unto many that neither have been there, nor ever intend to go thither while they live, it will be a mere novelty, I will not let it pass unmentioned."

"The first Italian fannes that I saw in Italy did I observe in this space betwixt Pighinton and Cremona; but afterwards I observed them common in most places of Italy where I travelled."

"These fannes both men and women of the country doe carry, to coole themselves withall in the time of heat, by the often fanning of their faces. Most of them are very elegant and pretty things."

"For whereas the fanne consisteth of a painted peece of paper and a little wooden handle; the paper, which is fastened into the top, is on both sides most curiously adorned with excellent pictures, having some witty Italian verses or fine emblems written under them; or of some notable Italian city, with a briefe description thereof added thereunto."—Exchange.

San Francisco's Destiny.

Statistics derived from the highest possible authorities are sufficient to establish the claim of San Francisco that it is the financial New York of the Pacific coast. They also point clearly to the observing person the fact that much greater things are in store financially for San Francisco. Many prominent persons in all parts of the world believe that San Francisco is destined to become eventually one of the great money centers of the world. There are sufficient facts to make interest in and possibly assist in, a consideration of the possibilities of the future in this direction.—Daily Worker in Sunset Magazine 6 June.

Heart Weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has made many hearts well after they have been pronounced hopeless. It has completely cured thousands, and will almost invariably cure or benefit every case of heart disease.

Short breath, pain around heart, palpitation, fluttering, dizzy, fainting and smothering spells should not be neglected. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and see how quick you will be relieved.

It cannot make a new heart, but will restore a sick one by strengthening the heart nerves and muscles, relieving the unnatural strain, and restoring its vitality.

"I had a very bad case of heart trouble. For six months I could not work. Last July I was plowing corn and feeling bad all day. In the afternoon in plowing one row I had to lay down, or fall down, three times. My heart throbbed as though it would burst through, and I had difficulty in getting my breath. I purchased a bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and before I had used half of it I could lay down and sleep all night. Previously I had to get up from five to ten times a night. I have taken several bottles, and my heart is as regular as clock work. I feel like a new man, and can work considerable for an old man, 52 years old."

H. D. McCall, Frost, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.
